Fights Break Out At Union Meeting

A peacemaker, center between the slugging contestants, takes an unappreciated left to the face as opposing factions in the National Maritime Union express their opinions in a meeting in New York. Exchange of views took place at general membership meeting in which president Joseph Curran returned dramatically from Texas to take charge of the intra-union squabble concerning dismissal of 14 minor officials. Carbon Students Overcome By Fumes In Bus

Three students of Carbon High School were treated at the Kurger were evercome by gas fumes in Clinic last night after they a bus while enroute home from Strawn, where they had attended a football game.

According to reports of the incident, the bus stopped at the Ranger Hill Filling Station and T. J. Chick who operates the station summoned Dr. Harris and the students were taken to the clinic. It was stated that five had fainted on the bus but only three, two girls and one boy, were treated and revived. At least one was unconscious when Chick called the doctor.

Dr. Harris stated today that the bus was closed tight and that the fumes and heat had been too much for some of the students. He said that all were all right when they left his clinic. He instructed them to open the windows and "freeze" if necessary rather than inhale the fumes.

Superintendent Robinson of the Carbon school, when contacted this morning stated that all of the students were all right. A report had been circulated that 11 more of the students had been overcome farther down the line.

Ranger Lumber Firm Burglarized

Burglars struck again in Ranger Friday night and relieved the Roy D. Martin Lumber Company of about $75, $45 in cash and $30 in checks. They failed to disturb about $10 in silver in the safe.

The smooth working burglars pried open a side door to gain entrance to the office. The knob to the safe was knocked off and the safe opened. After the burglars had finished riffling the safe they closed the door and on leaving the building closed the door through which they entered. For this reason it was sometime after Wayne Trout, manager opened the office before he discovered the burglary. He stated that when he opened the lock on the door he thought it a little difficult to turn but paid slight attention to it. Since the safe door was closed as usual his attention was not brought to the robbery immediately.

On discovering the burglary he summoned Chief of Police W. G. Pounds who with Policeman Bill Hinman investigated. Chief Pounds later notified Sheriff J. B. Williams who joined the investigation.

This is about the fifth robbery in Ranger in the past few weeks.

Carbon Loses To Strawn, 39-12

STRAWN, Nov. 18 — Strawn's Greyhound football team scored a decisive 38 to 12 victory over Carbon here tonight to bring its season to a close. It was a district 10-B game.

Weldon Smith, Greyhound back scored four touchdowns and one extra point to pace the Strawn eleven in its touchdown parade.

Dale Elmore, right end, scored the initial touchdown early in the first period on an end-around play that was good for 30 yards and a tally. Jim Kiebe caught a pass for the extra point. Charlio Salazar, on a quarterback sneak through right tackle, added the second Strawn touchdown in the first quarter. Kiebe's try for extra point was good.

Smith made two second-period touchdowns to put the 'Hounds' out front 26 to 6, at halftime.

Smith scored twice more in the third quarter. R. Clack took a long 20-yard pass to score Carbon's first touchdown, and L. Clack added another in the fourth period. Both extra point tries failed.

100 Junior High Students Attend Educational Movie

Approximately 100 students of Eastland Junior High School began their observation of National Book Week by attending a visual education movie of a favorite library book, "The Secret Garden," at the Majestic Theater Thursday after school. They were accompanied by their reading teacher, Mrs. Joe C. Stephen.

The students held open house Wednesday to all high school students and teachers in their library, where 80 posters depicting the books and their influence were viewed. Some of the posters were unusual including: "Too Busy Reading 'Little Women' to Make a Poster," a map of the United States with an appropriate book with the corresponding locale in each state, with the caption "Books State A Fact."

Mavericks Shine In 1st Half, But Cisco Dominates Balance

In their final game of the 1949 season, the Eastland Mavericks and Cisco Lobos fought to a 13-13 tie Friday night in an inter-district game at Cisco.

For the first half, the Mavericks had the ball game won, completely outplaying the Lobos and running up 13 points to Cisco's big round gooseegg. But in the last half, it was a different story, with the Lobos catching fire and burning up the gridiron for 13 points to tie the game.

The District 8-A Mavs scored in the first quarter with Jimmy Spalding, halfback, going all the way for 51 yards on a quick-opener. Edwin Aaron booted the extra point.

Fullback Roy Lee Smith went for the double stripes in the second period, in a 3 yard power plunge over the line. The TD was set up on a 51 yard pass play from Spalding to Right End Glenn Garrett. Conversion attempt failed.

The 9-AA Lobos snapped to life early in the third quarter on a 75 yard pass touchdown play from Doug Johnson, tailback, to James McGowan, left end. Don Watts kicked the extra point.

In the last period on a 90 yard sustained drive with Johnson and Hub Harwell alternating, Harwell went over from the 4. As the crowd waited in hushed silence for the all important kick which would have put Cisco in the lead, Watts booted the ball, which was low and the score remained a 13-13 stalemate.

Outstanding in the line for Eastland was the work of Bill Sikes and Kenneth Williamson. Some fine defensive work, especially in the last half, when the Lobos were breaking in the secondary, was turned in by Dickie Evtatt, right half. At one point in the fourth period, Evtatt made four consecutive tackles.

Johnson was the sparkplug of the Lobo eleven, along with Hub Harwell in the backfield. McGowan was outstanding in the line.

Eastland kicked off to open the game. Unable to advance the ball, Cisco quick kicked to the endzone. Operating from their own 20, the Mavericks garnered two 15 yard penalties for illegal use of the hands on the offense to stop their drive cold and the Mavs kicked to Cisco on the Lobo 47. A fumble on the first snap resulted in a recovery for Eastland by Williamson. Seconds later, Spalding in a sensational quickie, went all the way for 51 yards to paydirt. Aaron kicked the point to make the score Eastland, 7 Cisco 0.

Cisco was unable to advance from scrimmage, following the kick by Eastland. The Lobo punt was called back and a 5 yard penalty assessed Eastland for roughing the kicker, giving Cisco a first down on Eastland's 45. Cisco got down to Eastland's 31, where they were forced to kick on downs. As the second quarter opened, Right Half Larry Falls and Spalding alternated in advancing the ball. Spalding then shot a 35 yard pass to Garrett, and he scampered 20 yards before being hauled down from behind on the 3. After several attempts by the Mav backfield men, Smith went over in a line plunge. The conversion kick was no good, making the score Eastland 13, Cisco 0.

Following the kick, Johnson got off on a 25 yard run to Eastland's 47, before finally being hauled down by Evtatt.

The Lobos kicked on downs to Eastland's 31, after the drive bogged. Eastland had advanced to the 50, when the half ended.

As the Mavericks took the kick to open the last half, it appeared they were to continue their domination of the field as Smith steamrolled through the Cisco line. But the Lobos began to tighten their defense and the Mavs were forced to kick. At this point, Johnson exploded with a 35 yard pass that hit McGowan, who raced the remaining 40 yards to a tally. Watts booted the point, making the score, Eastland 13, Cisco 7.

JOE COLLINS NEW HEAD OF PARALYSIS CHAPTER

Joe Collins of Eastland will head the Eastland County Chapter for Infantile Paralysis the coming year, having been elected to that place at a meeting of the executive board of the county chapter at a meeting held in the county court room in Eastland Friday, November 18. Mrs. Merle Barthelmy of Eastland was elected secretary and Mrs. Ida Plummer also of Eastland, was elected treasurer.

The resignations of R. V. Galloway, as county chairman, Mrs. Ella White as secretary and Miss Helen Dawley as treasurer, all of Ranger, were accepted by the board. These have served the chapter for the past two and a half years. These resignations to take place on Jan. 1st.

Collins is also the present county chairman of the March of Dimes drive to start Jan. 16th and the meeting of the executive board was held in conjunction with a meeting of March of Dimes workers from the various towns of the county, and plans were made and supplies distributed to the representatives for the drive.

The new executive board consists of the following: Mrs. H. N. Lyle of Cisco, R. V. Galloway of Ranger, W. G. Kirk of Gorman, Dr. P. M. Kuykendall of Ranger, Dr. Addy, Cisco; Dr. Burl Rodgers of Gorman, Dr. T. G. Jackson, Gorman; Dr. Ben Bradley, Rising Star; Henry Collins of Carbon, Judge P. L. Crossley, Eastland; E. M. Howard of Rising Star and Victor Cornelius of Eastland.

A financial statement of the county chapter was read by Galloway, which showed that at the present time there was a balance of $676.00 in the treasury. It was brought out at the meeting that the average case of polio usually cost from $1,000 to $1,500, and for this reason it is imperative that special stress be put on the March of Dimes campaign in January in order to be able to take care of the victims in Eastland County.

Two Hunters Die Of Heart Attacks

COMFORT, Tex., Nov. 19 (UP) — Heart attacks proved fatal yesterday to two deer hunters, hunting only a few miles apart on Kendall County leases.

William M. Stanley, 57, retired paint products company executive of Beaumont and Hunt, Tex., and Ogburn D. Butler, 63, county tax collector of Orange County, were the victims.

Stanley was found at his hunting station by members of his party. He had apparently died instantly. Butler collapsed in the field.

Stanley recently retired as sales manager of the Socony Paint Products, Company a subsidiary of Socony-Vacuum Oil Company.

Butler had been tax collector of Orange County for 15 years. He was a native of Troup, Tex., but had lived in Orange 30 years.

Doctors gave Fitzgerald a blood transfusion in an attempt to save him. They said he "rallied a bit" after the transfusion. But they warned that he might be paralyzed and may lose the use of his legs.

The gambler made a verbal will to his attorney just before entering the operating room. He remained conscious from the time he was shot until he was operated upon.

Fitzgerald's attractive brunet wife, Meta, 37, accompanied him to the operating room door and then waited outside, sobbing violently.

Sullivan and Fitzgerald operate the "Nevada Club," one of the fanciest on famed North Virginia Street's "gambling row."

Reno Gambler Shot In Ambush

RENO, Nev. Nov. -9 (UP) — Bigtime gambler Lincoln Fitzgerald, 57 year old co-owner of a big Reno casino, was wounded critically in a midnight ambush and doctors said that a shotgun blast apparently shattered his spine.

An unknown assailant fired two shots at Fitzgerald as he opened his overhead garage doors to drive to the sumptuous resort he operates in partnership with Danny Sullivan, who came here with him from Michigan after police "put the heat" on their gaming resorts in that state.

Fitzgerald fell in his tracks as shotgun pellets poured into his back and peppered the garage. The would-be killer made his escape in the darkness without being seen.

Police said the ambush apparently was the same type of gangland shooting that killed gambler Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel and wounded mobster Mickey Cohen in Southern California during recent months.

Doctors gave Fitzgerald a blood transfusion in an attempt to save him. They said he "rallied a bit" after the transfusion. But they warned that he might be paralyzed and may lose the use of his legs.

By United Press The CIO United Steel Workers announced a virtual end to the nationwide steel strike today, and a threatened shipping tie-up was postponed for almost a month.

Meanwhile, coal mine operators claimed they hold the upper hand in their dispute with John L. Lewis, and planned no settlement overtures of their own.

Frank Amos chairman of the northern coal industry's wage committee, said, "to hell with him."

The White House said no action would be taken in the coal dispute during the weekend. Lewis has threatened to renew the walkout Dec. 1.

Leaders of the CIO steel workers at Pittsburgh announced settlement with Crucible Steel Corp. the last major hold-out in the industry, and with American Rolling Mill Co., with 8,685 workers in six plants.

Settlements called for the controversial non-contributory pension.

MAVERICKS

their 35. Spalding advanced the ball to the 50. A penalty and Sikes sidelined because of an injury seemed to take the starch out of the Mavericks and the tide turned to the Lobos. On top of this, Harwell intercepted an Eastland pass on his 12, giving Cisco possession. In a sustained drive, the Lobos marched to a touchdown with Harwell going over. The conversion failed with the game tied up, 13-13, and only two minutes to play.

As the Lobos started to kick, they tried a stunt which the Eastland Junior High Dogies used to advantage several times this season—an on-side kick. But the ball failed to go at least 10 yards down the field and it was Eastland's ball on the Lobo 40. An incomplete pass, a recovered fumble and a scrimmage play stopped cold marked the Eastland offense, just before the final whistle.

SEARCH INTENSIFIED FOR MISSING AIRPLANE

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Nov. 19 (UP)—Scores of planes and seven ships shuttled today across the region northeast of Bermuda where discovery of debris gave hope for the survival of at least some of the 20 airmen aboard a ditched B-29 Superfortress.

The weather improved somewhat over the search area, and with it the chance of finding any of the 20 still alive and afloat three days after the lost airplane went down at sea.

But weather conditions still are far from ideal. A Navy pilot radioed that the ceiling was 3,500 feet, with occasional rain clouds and showers.

Capt. George C. Welch, commanding the search, said 55 planes expected to criss-cross a 90,000-square mile region northeast of Bermuda during the day.

Here is the list of B-29 crashes in 15 days in which 35 persons were killed and 20 still are missing.

Nov. 3: Ten Air Force men aboard a B-29 weather reconnaissance plane were killed when their plane crashed in the sea about a mile off Bermuda.

Nov. 11: Two crew members were killed and the rest jumped to safety when their B-29 exploded in midair and crashed on a farm near Brownsburg, Ind.

Nov. 14: A B-29 crash-landed on the West Utah Salt Flats after one of its engines caught fire. Ten of the 13-men crew bailed out. The other three were injured.

Nov. 16: A B-29 crashed in the sea off Bermuda and its 20-man crew still is missing after four days of air and sea search.

Nov. 17: Two B-29's collided in midair over Stockton, Calif., killing 18 persons.

Nov. 18: A B-29 searching for the missing 20 men in the Bermuda crash, caught fire and plunged into the low tide muck of Tampa Bay killing five crew members.

HIS HONOR AT WORK—The new mayor-elect of Haverhill, Mass., Joseph L. Willett, above, will steer not only the city government, but his passenger bus as well. Willett says he has no intention of quitting his job as a bus driver. For one thing, he can't live on the mayor's $2500 yearly salary, and besides his job keeps him "close to the public."

IN THE PINK—Twenty-month-old Tony Green, of Atlanta, Ga., shows his delight at being a "pink" baby after heart surgery saved him from almost certain death as a "blue" baby. Tony underwent the operation Oct. 23 and has surprised the doctors with his rapid recovery. He should grow to be a normal boy, they say.

DENTON, Tex., Nov. 18. As pledges to the 11 literary and social clubs on the Texas State College for Women campus, over 200 students have ended the informal initiation period and are now considered active members. Miss Mary Halkias, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Halkias, 106 E. Sadosa, is included in the group.

Chores imposed upon the lowly pledges during the initiation period included the usual "maid service" for old members, carrying loaded suitcases to classes, counting all the steps on the campus while holding an egg in a spoon, and obtaining faculty autographs.

Purpose of these clubs is to stimulate interest in literature, art, music, to promote social activities for members and to encourage the achievement of high scholastic standing.

Only a few persons in the audience knew that it was not "part of the act." Few knew that Vogel was fatally injured as other circus hands carried him from the ring and shouted for first aid.

Few knew, until today, that Vogel died an hour later in General Hospital.

BISHOP MANNING TO BE BURIED IN ST. JOHN'S

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (UP)—The Rt. Rev. William T. Manning, retired Protestant Episcopal Bishop of New York, will be buried next Tuesday in the nearly-completed Cathedral of St. John the Divine which he was instrumental in building.
The 83-year-old "fighting Bishop" died yesterday afternoon at St. Luke's Hospital after a three-week struggle against a bladder and kidney condition complicated by old age. He entered the hospital Nov. 4.
Manning will lie in state in the Cathedral from Sunday evening until Tuesday noon when the burial office will be conducted by his successor, Bishop Charles K. Gilbert, and his assistants. He probably will be entombed in one of the Cathedral's Chapels, Church officials said.

The sparse, strong-willed churchman was consecrated bishop in 1921 and retired in 1947. Soon after his consecration he started a $15,000,000 fund to complete construction of the Cathedral which was begun in 1892 and was only a fraction finished.
Manning insisted that the Cathedral was to be "a house of prayer to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We must destroy the false belief that life and intelligence are in matter, and plant ourselves upon what is pure and perfect" (page 222).

er for all people" and was successful in soliciting funds from Protestants, Jews, and Catholics alike. When he retired the Cathedral was two-thirds completed and ranked as the longest Gothic Cathedral in the world and one of the most beautiful.
The British-born Bishop was essentially a high churchman and believed the Episcopal church shared apostolic succession with the Catholic church. He was a bitter opponent of divorce and hailed Edward VII's Abdication as a victory for the British people's support of "Christian moral ideas."

Methodist Set Sunday Service

Rev. J. Morris Bailey, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will preach on "Thanksgiving Unto God" in the Sunday morning service at 10:50. The choir will sing the anthem "Harvest Hymn" by Elvi with Robert L. Clinton, Jr., directing and Miss Martha June Morehart playing the organ.
The Sunday evening worship service will be at 7:30. The pastor will preach on the theme "Examining our Faith." The congregational song service will be led by Homer Smith and the Men's choir, with Mrs. T. J. Haley at the piano.

Someone to Love

By IRENE LONNEN ERNHART Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

JENNY was waiting on an important customer. When one of the girls told her she had a call, she took up the phone rather impatiently. "Jenny?" It was Tod's voice. "Yes," she said in a husky whisper.

The faintest pause. "Jenny, I—well, I was thinking about Christmas. I mean, do you think an electric train for the boys would be too—that is, do you think they'd like it?"

She must keep her voice steady, be casual. "Yes, Tod, they'd like it, I'm sure."

"I'll have it sent then. I'll be gone over Christmas. Would it be asking too much to let me see them sometime before then?"

"You know perfectly well you were to be allowed to see them any time. Mrs. Drew is still caring for them."

"I see. Well, I hope everything's all right with you—"

"Everything's fine." She was proud of herself, the crisp business-like tones, cool and clipped. She had made a wonderful success.

"Hope you have a fine Christmas."

The phone clattered back into its cradle. She got up, murmuring something about being excused and went back into the office she and Nina shared.

Yes, she thought, I'll have a wonderful Christmas. Just wonderful! Duck!

She read in the Sunday papers that Mr. Jamison Conover and daughter Elizabeth, and Mr. Todhunter Duncan and some others were leaving soon to spend the holidays at Sunrise Valley. And it was about then that she decided to give Rick a definite answer.

SUNRISE VALLEY was a paradise for the well-to-do. You met the most exhilarating people there, everyone from Indian princes to movie stars. Everything was done in style. Those pictures and write-ups you saw in magazines were not exaggerated, Tod thought.

If they could just have left those irritating little Christmas bells off the doors of the hotel, and not made such a fuss over the holiday.

He kept thinking, in spite of himself, of that miserable trailer near the Markwood campus, red candles in the tiny windows, three silver bells on the front door, that idiotic artificial Christmas tree on his desk, and Jenny wrapped in that pink chenille robe he'd bought her. Rick had given her a musical powder box that played Rockabye Baby.

Liz got furious with him once when he tried to tell her about it. Of course, you couldn't blame her, could you? Only Liz seemed to be impatient with him quite often of late. Or maybe her natural petulance was more apparent to him since they were together almost constantly.

Or was he critical of Liz on account of the contempt he secretly felt for himself? Liz's words that day fell in September had a way of popping into his head at odd times. "You were hired for me, not because you have any advertising talent. You don't have talent for anything."

Had Jenny suspected why Mr. Conover had hired him?

In January they started home. Mr. Conover was anxious to get back. Liz was already planning the wedding which would be in March.

"Do you think people would disapprove too much if I had a lovely church wedding? You really aren't supposed to make so much of a second marriage," she said, "but the first one really doesn't count, being a silly elopement, does it?"

No, he supposed the first one didn't count much. Only, if it hadn't happened, things would have been a lot different now.

"Father suggested that we honeymoon in Mexico City, Tod. They say it's lovely, and there's lots to see and do, bullfights and so on." "Yeah, sounds great." He was thinking of that shiny garnet bangle of the justice of the peace, the threadbare carpet, the framed mottoes on the walls, the bouquet of dusty paper roses on the upright piano, the soiled lace curtains at the windows. Jenny in a pink suit and a funny, adorable pink hat.

HE remembered that honeymoon with Jenny, when the car broke down and they had to stay in a dingy, one-room tourist cottage. Funny how you remembered some things so clearly, like that sleazy blue spread on the white iron bed, the old insurance calendar on the wall, the smoked cracked mirror on the dresser, and Jenny laughing because she wasn't tall enough to see any higher than her nose above the smoked part.

He hadn't wanted to hurt Jenny, but this was the way it had turned out. Anyway, she'd probably marry Rick eventually, and he would be good to her.

"You haven't been listening to a word I've said," Liz cried out suddenly. "For heaven's sake, Tod, what's the matter with you?"

She sat upright, glaring at him, her dark eyes burning with anger. His glance fell away. He hated seeing her like that, her lovely face twisted. He rubbed a fist into the palm of his hand. "I don't know, Liz," he said quietly. "Nothing really."

"You've been morose this whole trip. It's been embarrassing, having you turn into a deaf mute when people expect you to be pleasant. Really, Tod, you seem changed. I'd like you to be at least halfway amusing!"

"Is that why you want to marry me, to be amused?" He said it abruptly and quite without thinking.

A dangerous glint came into her dark, slanting eyes. And she reached over and slapped him hard on the cheek. He didn't move. Just sat there for a few moments, feeling the stinging sensation in his cheek and the rush of blood across his face.
