Election returns indicate that something over 6,350 Eastland county voters participated in Saturday's primaries.

Which make Virgil Love, county clerk, a pretty good turnout predictor.

Love stated last week that he believed that about 6,500 would vote Saturday. That is guessing pretty close.

The turnout was a large percentage of the eligible voters of the county, with a total of slightly more than 5,900 poll taxes paid this year.

This indicates that the county citizens are taking an interest in who fills the offices of their government, which is a very good sign of a well governed county, with a progressive people.

The greatest interest seemed to be in the county judge's race where incumbent P. L. Crossley was opposed by John Hart and C. S. Eldridge.

Crossley gained the runoff with Hart by getting 2,078 votes. Hart polled 2,348 and Eldridge, 1,905.

The outcome was very much in doubt, and Eldridge was leading Crossley until the vote in the large West Range box came in about 1 a. m. Sunday morning.

Another run-off is due in the sheriff's race where J. B. Williams, incumbent, and J. F. Tucker will be the opponents. John Barber was the third man.

Other county officials, with the exception of Neil Lay, tax assessor and collector, and Oscar Lyerla, county Democratic chairman, were returned to office.

Stanley Webb was elected over Day, and J. C. Allison won over Lyerla.

H. J. Tanner, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce, is searching for a picture of the old courthouse building of Eastland county.

He wants the picture to use in the program for the Old Rip Horned Toad Derby, August 12. There is to be a picture of the old and new courthouses in the program, Tanner said.

He has the picture of the new structure, but has been unable to locate one of the old building.

Anyone having the picture, or having information concerning a print of the picture is requested to contact Tanner at the chamber of commerce office.

Don Anderson reported to members of the Rotary Club Monday on his trip to the National Boy Scout's Jamboree at Valley Forge, early this month.

Don said that if he had gone prepared he could have made a fortune.

Seems some of the boys from Texas carried some horned toads with them, and sold them at pretty good prices. Don said that the distance the buyers lived from Texas decided the price of the toad sold.

Boys from Alaska were paying $5 each, while those a little closer to the state could get them for $8 a pair.

Also on the market were cockleburrs, painted white, which sold swiftly as porcupine eggs.

Don didn't say what the price was on the cockleburrs, but we would wager that many is the time we have had enough of them on our pants legs to have made a fortune up there.

Funeral arrangements were pending Tuesday morning.

President Will Ask Tax Hike

WASHINGTON, July 25 (UP)—President Truman will ask Congress this week to boost individual and corporation income taxes, Secretary of Treasury John W. Snyder announced today.

Speaker Sam Rayburn said Truman will send his request to Congress "very soon," probably late today.

Snyder told a news conference that Truman probably will request a stop-gap tax bill now and send up a "more comprehensive" measure later this year.

Snyder ruled out the possibility of an excess profits tax at this time because of delays in getting such legislation through Congress.

He said the individual income tax boost, if voted by Congress, would result in increased withholding levies "as soon as possible."

Congressional tax spokesmen already have indicated they will give early consideration to an interim tax bill.

Snyder refused to predict how big the President's tax request will be. But he said that in the long run "we must pay as much as possible of the cost of the Korean situation out of taxes."

Truman asked Congress late yesterday for $10,500,000,000 in new military spending.

Snyder predicted that excise taxes, which would have been trimmed by an earlier bill in Congress, would remain at the present level.

He said he also hoped the tax loopholes, which would have been closed by the original measure, would be plugged in the new tax program.

Hubbard Not Optimistic

HOUSTON, July 25 (UP)—Federal mediator James O. Hubbard refused today to express optimism for a truce in the 114-day strike against the Texas company in Port Arthur, and announced that further negotiation sessions "are not definitely set."

ADVANCE U.S. HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 25 (UP)—"They just kept right on coming," the Lieutenant said.

He returned to headquarters after three days of fighting with the 1st Cavalry Division against the Communists on the embattled front around Yongdong.

"One of our machine-guns fired on them and kept on firing and firing," he said. "But that didn't even slow them down."

"They just kept right on coming. We called for mortar fire and got it. We withdrew to our previous position again. This time we stayed there."

91st District Grand Jury Is Discharged

The Grand Jury of the 91st District court of Eastland county was discharged last week.

The jury had been in session seven days and examined 69 witnesses, returning 47 indictments.

In a statement to District Judge George L. Davenport asking discharge, the jury recommended that the merchants and other business people be more careful in accepting checks in payment of merchandise, requiring more and better identification before accepting same. It was further recommended that the practice of using the criminal courts to collect such worthless checks be discouraged.

District attorney Elzo Been was commended "for his conscientious and able assistance to us during our session and for the efficient performance of the duties of his office."

Sheriff J. B. Williams and his deputies were also commended by the jury in the statement, "for the efficient performance of their duties and the splendid cooperation they have given us."

The jury reported that it had investigated all law violations that were brought to their attention by both law enforcement officers and individuals.

It was reported that the jury inspected the county jail and found it in excellent condition, with the prisoners well cared for and general operation well taken care of by the jailer.

Rotarians Hear Reports On Boy Scout Meeting

Don Anderson reported on the Boy Scout Jamboree to members of the Eastland Rotary Club at their regular meeting Monday in the Connellee Hotel.

David McKee, president, presided at the meeting.

Anderson reported that the trip was very educational and enjoyable, with visits in several cities of the U. S.

Starting from Eastland, the train on which the scouts rode went to Fort Worth, Oklahoma City, Kansas City, Chicago, Washington, D. C. and Philadelphia.

Eastland scouts were in the Comanche Trail Council which was called by a Philadelphia newspaper the most picturesque group at the jamboree.

Included on the trip, Anderson said, were trips to New York City, Philadelphia, Niagara Falls and Canada. The Texas scouts traveled through 13 states, the District of Columbia and Canada.

Everything at the camp, Anderson stated, was based on stopping Communism and the final program was on strengthening liberty.

To illustrate how many scouts attended the jamboree, Anderson told that they entered a large arena from four entrances, four abreast, and it took one and one-half hours for the entire group to enter.

The group took the same route back which they went, Anderson concluded.

Congress Moves

Congressional Leaders Predict Truman Will Get What Wants Fast

WASHINGTON, July 25 (UP)—Congressional leaders predicted today that the House and Senate would act quickly on President Truman's request for an additional 600,000 men and $10,517,000,000 for the armed forces.

Some said Congress would give Truman everything he asked for in a matter of days, probably by the middle of next week.

Truman told Congress yesterday the armed services need the extra manpower and finances to win the Korean war and to be ready to thwart Communist aggression elsewhere. The Korean forces, he said, have "top priority" under his program.

The President's program calls for an expansion of the armed forces from 1,500,000 to 2,100,000 and a stepped up procurement program for airplanes, ships, tanks, guns and ammunition.

Elsewhere in Congress: Communists — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R., Wis., gave the Senate what he called a "complete and air tight case" proving that an important state department official is a Communist. In a speech prepared for Senate delivery, he identified the man only as "X" but he said the individual was born in Moscow. He quoted an FBI undercover agent as saying this man and another department official were members of the Communist party.

MacArthur Says In Communiqué That More Withdrawals On US Center Front May Be Necessary

TOKYO, Wednesday, July 26 (UP)—Seven Communist divisions today continued the heaviest offensive of the Korean war which already has driven the Americans out of strategic Yongdong on the road to Pusan. Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in the midnight war summary that "further withdrawals may be necessary" on the American west and central fronts.

Maj. Gen. Hobart Gay's First Cavalry division gave up Yongdong, 23 miles southeast of Taejon, under terrific Communist pressure and infiltration. The GI's fell back three to five miles to avoid a closing trap.

To the right of the First Cavalry, Maj. Gen. William B. Dean's 25th division was under heavy attack late Tuesday night from Communist forces of undetermined strength. The North Koreans had been hammering at the U. S. positions in the flinty hills northeast of Taejon for two days.

Far to the southwest units of the North Korean Fourth division roamed at will in the tip of the peninsula less than 100 miles due west of Pusan, the base for the whole American campaign in Korea.

American and British carrier-borne planes threw a punch at the Communists in Southwest Korea in a bid to bolster the morale of the South Korean constabulary units who had been unable to check the enemy.

Dues, Green Fees Now In Effect

Playing dues and green fees are now in effect at the Eastland country club golf course, Hubert Westfall, has announced.

Dues are $28 a year, payable quarterly, annually or semi-annually, in advance. Westfall said.

Green fees for those who do not pay dues are 50c on weekdays and 75c on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Students who are enrolled in Eastland Public Schools may play free of charge on weekdays, but must pay the regular green fee of 75c on Saturday, Sunday or holidays, Westfall stated.

MacArthur's summary said that on the East coast, friendly forces attacked and pushed the enemy back one mile north of Kanggo, near Yongdong. It added that the final outcome of the fighting there had not been reported. Naval forces also were supporting the troops in that area.

The summary said the North Korean 3rd, 2nd, 15th, 8th, 7th and part of the 5th Divisions were in action on the western and central fronts.

The fiercest Communist offensive of the month-old Korean war forced a general American retreat at Yongdong and adjoining fronts. But the Reds paid heavily for the

Eastland Linksmen Begin Qualifying For Ladder Spot

Eastland country club golfers will start qualifying for positions on the ladder immediately, Jimmy Harkrider, manager of the course, has announced.

The ladder is a rating of the players by their qualifying scores. Low scorer will be at the top of the ladder, and the names will be listed progressively down to the highest scorer.

Deadline for qualifying is Sunday afternoon, Harkrider said. Ladies and girls will have their own individual ladder, as will high school players, Harkrider said.

Harkrider stated that ladies and girls should also begin qualifying immediately, as should the high school players.

As soon as a ladder is worked up, Harkrider reported, an inter-city handicap tournament will be worked out in each group. Players will be handicapped according to their qualifying score, so that all matches will be as even as possible, giving all players a good chance to win.

Harkrider requested that all golfers start posting their scores as soon as possible.

Continuing Story Of Korean War—few miles of territory. Air Force observers counted 1,000 enemy dead in the hills north and west of the town.

Maj. Gen. Hobart Gay, commander of the 1st Cavalry Division, confirmed the American withdrawal from Yongdong.

A front dispatch said North Korean forces 1,000 strong immediately occupied the town. But late reports from military officials said the Communists had not yet moved into Yongdong. The Americans pulled out to escape Communist encirclement.

Some 130 miles to the southwest, the Communists completed the conquest of the west coast and the southwest corner of Korea against little more than token opposition from South Korean police.

The drive to the south coast threatened to turn the Allied line now hinged in the mountains southeast of Yongdong and put the Reds in a position to strike from the rear at the American supply road from Pusan on the southeast coast.

Outnumbered, battered 1st Cavalry Division units pulled out of Yongdong, 23 miles southeast of Taejon, to escape encirclement after beating off nearly four days of savage North Korean attacks.

Communist troops and guerrillas did surround two American units, but they were reported fighting their way slowly back to the new American defense line southeast of Yongdong.

Front dispatches told of the severity of the fighting. Twice the enemy threw roadblocks up behind one American unit and twice they were broken.

Guerrillas put U.S. artillery positions temporarily under mortar fire. One artillery unit stopped a Red infantry attack only 25 yards from its gun emplacements.

Low-flying spotter planes reported the hills in front, on the sides and sometimes behind the American positions were honeycombed with Japanese-styled caves in each of which six to eight North Koreans were hiding.

Some guerrillas were found carrying collapsible rifles which they hid beneath their pants or undershirts.

Word of the American withdrawal from Yongdong was flashed by United Press War Correspondent Robert Bennyhoff, with the 1st Cavalry Division at the front, at 7:40 p. m. (5:40 A. M. EDT).

He said the Communists "continued to advance along other fronts in the same general area." He did not say whether this included the U. S. 25th Division front northeast of Yongdong, where the Reds have been hammering at the American line in "reinforced division strength" for the second straight day.

An 8th Army communique, based on information behind the front dispatches, said an enemy force 800 strong was stopped on the 25th division front by "friendly" artillery fire. "Friendly" tanks were sent in to clean up and "friendly" planes strafed the area, the communique said.

"No ground was lost in the en-agement," it said. "In another sector of the same division, two platoons of enemy forces attempted to infiltrate our lines, but they were dispersed and driven off by artillery."

South Korean units on the central front attacked at 7 a. m. (5 p. m. Monday EDT), gained some ground, and killed or wounded 500 enemy troops, the communique said. Some enemy material also was captured.

Far to the South, the Communists completed their conquest of the west coast and southwest corner of Korea and struck out east to within 88 miles of the U. S. base of Pusan on the southeast coast.

Among towns swept up in the virtually unopposed Communist drive were Haenam, in the southwest tip of Korea 130 miles south west of Yongdong, the west coast naval base of Makpo, the highway and railway junction of Namwon, 55 miles southwest of Yongdong, and Kurye, 14 miles south east of Namwon and 88 miles west of Pusan.

This flanking drive put the Communists some 235 miles south of the 38th parallel border just one month after they invaded South Korea and threatened to undermine the whole Allied line anchored in the west in the mountains around Yongdong.

The Reds crumbled the American positions at Yongdong with a combination frontal and flanking assault buttressed by attacks from the rear by Communist guerrillas, some of them wearing American-style fatigues.

Once the town was in imminent danger of encirclement, the 1st Cavalry Division made no attempt to hold it. There was no street fighting. Instead, the Americans executed a planned withdrawal to new positions to the southeast.

The Americans gradually were falling back along the highway and railway toward Pusan, 100 miles to the southeast. As they retreated, the Americans blew up two bridges over branches of the Kum River in an attempt to delay the enemy advance.

The loss of Yongdong marked the 1st Cavalry Division's first retreat. It took over from the 24th Division after the latter's loss of Taejon Thursday.

A 1st Cavalry Lieutenant said the North Koreans attacked in swarms like bees and kept coming, no matter how many were mowed down by American machine guns, artillery and mortars.

U. S. fighter plane supporting the ground forces strafed 1,000 Communist troops and large warehouses in Muju, 13 miles south southwest of Yongdong, in addition to blasting enemy positions on the fighting front itself.

This was the first word that Muju was in enemy hands. The fall of Muju posed another enemy threat at the American left flank. Gen. Douglas MacArthur had reported in his afternoon communique that the enemy was rushing reinforcements from his Fourth Division into the whole area stretching from Muju south to Kurye.

Two North Korean planes strafed American positions around Yongdong and another circled the area without firing. The strafing attack was the first by North Korean planes against U. S. forces.

There were unconfirmed reports that Allied planes destroyed six Red tanks on the 25th Division front northeast of Yongdong. At last reports, the Division had stopped the North Koreans cold there.

Foreign observers believed the Communists would try to drive east from Namwon and Kurye in a swift bid to seize the important communications center of Chinju, only 53 miles from Pusan.

The Reds also were in a position at Namwon to strike north toward Kumchun or northeast toward Taeju astride the main supply highway and railway from Pusan serving both the 1st Cavalry and 25th Infantry Divisions.

The Communist column in Southwest Korea was estimated at 2,500 to 3,000 men. However, MacArthur reported in his afternoon communique that the Reds are reinforcing it with units of the Fourth Division.

Never Without It

Popular Fighter Proves Hadacol Great 'Builder-Upper' For Athletes

who also get tired, run-down because of deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in Their Systems.

Orris Lee Story is a very popular figure in Wichita fight circles. His gameness and hard punching ability have won him the acclaim of sport writers and fight fans throughout Kansas. And it's most interesting indeed to hear this young boxer's comments about the great HADACOL everyone is talking about.

Here is Orris Lee Story's witnessed statement: "Last year I was just another run-of-the-mill flyweight fighter. My coach couldn't put his finger on just what my trouble was. My best punch was a hard right cross, but try as I would it was falling inches short of my opponent.

"Also the last rounds of a fight usually found me completely washed out, my arms feeling like lead. Then last October I had a talk with an Arkansas fighter to whom I had dropped a decision. I told him I couldn't tag him with my right because of a painful stiffness across my shoulders that caused me to pull up short of my full reach. He said it was probably an aching due to neuritis and he recommended HADACOL. I tried it with a lot of doubt in my mind. But there is no doubt today. Today I hold a state boxing title. I exchanged that neuritis pain and 'all-gone' feeling for pep, stamina and a whole of a swat—thanks to HADACOL!"

Take HADACOL Everywhere

Orris Story continues, "If I leave town even for 24 hours to take part in a tournament, I pack my bottle of HADACOL along with my trunks, shoes, hand wraps and mouthpiece. I can't recommend HADACOL too strongly to athletes—or anyone else suffering from neuritis pains or that listless, tired feeling that prevents a person from punching until the final bell."

Be Fair To Yourself
What HADACOL did and is doing for this great young boxer—it should do for you if you are weak, nervous, run-down—have neuritis pains or stomach disturbances due to lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin. HADACOL not only supplies your deficient system with extra quantities of these vital elements but also beneficial amounts of precious Calcium, Phosphorus and Manganese—so important to maintain good health. And HADACOL's wonderful Vitamins and Minerals come in special pleasant liquid form so that they're more quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood—ready to go to work at once.
Start today. Get that wonderful HADACOL feeling everyone is talking about. Trial-size bottle, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50.

US Air Force Starts Round Clock Bombing

By Charles Corddy
United Press Aviation Writer
U. S. 5th AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS IN KOREA, July 25 (UP)—The U. S. Air Force put the air war against North Korea on a round-the-clock basis today.

The first large-scale night mission was followed up in daylight today by planes which took off in good weather. Light bombers and F-51 Mustang fighters hit targets near Yongdong, in Taejon and in Suwon, inaugurating the large-scale night attacks.

They swooped down through mountain passes, strafing Communist forces and dropping 500-pound bombs. One of their main targets was the Taejon corridor, which runs Northward from Yongdong, where the major fighting now is underway. But actual results of their mission will not be known until reconnaissance photographs are studied.

The 24-hour air war began immediately after 5th Air Force headquarters moved to this advance base. Maj. Gen. Earl E. Partridge, commander of the 5th Air Force, said the move would mean closer cooperation between air and ground fighters and be one of the most important steps in the Korean fighting.

"We are shifting more emphasis to our night fighters," Partridge said. He explained that the Communists had been using the highways at night to keep their supply lines open. He said they sent convoys speeding over the highways with their lights on but that the night raids would put a stop to it. "We are pecking away all the time and it is beginning to show," Partridge said.

Until last night the Air Force had been confined to occasional medium level bombing by B-26's and raids by F-82 night fighters. Now the North Koreans face the prospects of air attack all along their front line at night as well as day.

Because of the shattering they have received in the daylight hours the Reds have been confining large movements to darkness. Today's daylight raids were staged by planes in force from bases in Japan and South Korea.

A spokesman at a bomber base in Southern Japan, commenting on the good weather said "we should really be able to get through and give them the works." A 5th Air Force spokesman said Allied planes flew 64 missions and 191 sorties yesterday. They destroyed 10 tanks, 42 trucks, two bridges, 10 buildings, two locomotives, five railroad cars and other targets. They also damaged 11 tanks, 37 trucks, 18 buildings and other targets.

Australian Mustangs were given credit for turning back a breakthrough by North Korean tanks & weapon carriers North of Yongdong yesterday with rocket fire. B-29 bombers concentrated on the North Korean transportation network behind the battle lines. Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said a preliminary analysis indicated they seriously damaged between 12 and 15 bridges and also hit others.

Much Trouble For Little PITTSBURGH (UP)—Police investigating the broaching of four sealed freight cars in the railroad yards found that only one package was missing, a bag of cornmeal dog food.

Roy Justice, brother of the bride, was best man, Neil Hurt and James Reed were ushers. A reception followed the ceremony and was also held in the garden.

The bride's table was laid with an imported white linen cloth and was decorated with an arrangement of tube roses. Appointments were of crystal. Mrs. Daisy Kissenger of Lovington, N. M., cousin of the bride, ladeled the punch. Mrs. Donald Tow of Temple served the cake, which was three tiered, white decorated with pale pink rosebuds, and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Others in the house party included Misses Betty Ferruson, Betty Gay Allen and Bobby Shero.

It Almost Reads Your Mind!

Oh, how restful and easy and relaxing it is to sit at the wheel of a 1950 Cadillac—and cruise down your favorite highway!

Men write from all sections of the country to say that they drive their Cadillacs hundreds of miles each week—for the sheer joy of driving.

You'll never believe it until you try it—for it's an unbelievable experience.

The moment you get behind the wheel, you sense that something out of the ordinary is about to happen.

And then you're away—so quietly, and smoothly that only the objects along the road give you a sense of motion.

The great motor—so miserly of gasoline that a single tankful is usually enough for a full day's drive—sends back a thrill each time you touch the throttle. You ride as if on a magic carpet. And you hear only the soft rush of the wind—streamlining past like a lullaby.

And how easy it all is! The steering wheel seems to foresee the curves and turns. The big, powerful brakes are as soft as velvet. And the marvelous balance imparts a sense of security that puts you completely at ease.

Yes—it's a wonderful experience—which you ought to try for yourself. One hour at the wheel—and we're sure you'll feel—that it almost reads your mind!

Mexican Judge Studies Ochoa Testimony

MEXICO CITY, July 25 (UP)—A Mexican penal court judge today studied testimony of George Ochoa in an effort to reach a decision on the Laredo customs broker's fight against extradition to the United States.

Judge Antonio Fernandez Vega called Ochoa in yesterday to question him, reportedly in Ochoa's version of the twin slayings for which he was indicted in Laredo.

The hearing was held behind closed doors.

Ochoa asked an "Amparo" (injunction) against being removed to the United States to face the indictment.

The broker bases his battle on his claims to Mexican citizenship. If he can prove his point, he may be tried in Mexican, rather than American, courts.

Story Tells How To Get Defense Work

By Vincent J. Burke
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON July 25 (UP)—A businessman who wants a share of the multi-billion new defense business is just wasting time if he hires a "five per cent" Washington agent.

Defense department officials passed that word today. Manufacturers throughout the country have been flooding the pentagon with requests for information ever since the Korean war broke out.

"Telephone calls from businessmen have increased, mail has quadrupled and the number seeking personal interviews has doubled," an official said.

The businessmen want to know how to do business with Uncle Sam's military men.

According to defense officials, here is what they should do:

1. Get copies of three booklets. The booklet lists the 55 military procurement offices in the country and tell what sort of items each buy.

"Follow me, a guide for selling to the United States Air Force" can be obtained free by writing the commanding general of the air material command at Wright Field, Dayton, O.

The government printing office here will sell for 15 cents the booklet "Selling to the Navy." The Army booklet, "Purchased Items and Purchasing Locations" can be obtained free by writing the procurement information center of the Army at the Pentagon in Washington.

2. Arrange with the proper procurement offices to be notified whenever that office is buying products which you manufacture. This can be done by mail.

3. If you want to keep watch on other items that the armed forces may be buying, arrange to get a look at the consolidated daily list of all items on which the military is seeking bids.

The list is compiled daily and mailed to some 1500 locations in cities throughout the 48 states. A commerce department office in any one of 48 major cities can show it to you and tell you the nearest point to your plant to which it is mailed daily.

The bid lists do not cover classified (secret) material. If you want to manufacture those items, you must arrange with the defense department to get your employees cleared for security first. Then, you can be invited to bid or negotiate for such contracts.

Midshipman Gets Into Combat; Is First Since 1898

WITH U.S. 7th FLEET OFF KOREA, July 25 (UP)—Gordon E. Strickland, a 21-year-old midshipman, flew combat flight yesterday and thus made 20th century U.S. Naval history.

When Strickland put his Corsair fighter down on the carrier deck, he became the first midshipman to take part in a combat operation since Spanish-American war days.

A blond, tousled youngster, Strickland joined the fleet a few weeks ago for a peacetime cruise and found himself in the thick of war.

He was sent aloft yesterday in a fighter to fly combat air patrol over the fleet while it was in enemy waters. And he did a good job.

Strickland required two waves-off from the landing officer when he returned to the carrier. But the third time he landed smoothly.

The ship's senior officers gathered about Strickland, handing him "well done's", and the ship's executive officer ordered him to the officer's wardroom.

There a huge cake was presented to him.

The executive officer explained that Strickland not only had completed the first combat action by a midshipman since before the turn of the 20th century but also had made the 21,000th landing on the carrier.

naval air stations at Dallas and Corpus Christi and the naval station at Orange, Texas.

Waves belonging to organized or volunteer units were asked to apply for active duty through their commanding officers. Others should apply by letter directly to the district commandant, district headquarters announced.

Volunteers must have at least one year's obligated service remaining in their enlistments. Accepted volunteers will be ordered to one of the three Texas examining activities or to the naval station here.

Pentagon Says Southwest Move Not Important

WASHINGTON, July 25 (UP)—A military spokesman today described the Communist dash into Southwest Korea as an apparent attempt to provoke Americans and South Koreans into diverting troops from the fighting fronts around Taejon and Yechon.

He said the Communists in the Southwest should not be overlooked, of course. But he said they appear to be few in number.

He said there probably are some South Koreans in the area, possibly accompanied by American advisers, but he had no idea of their strength.

This spokesman said the Communist strategy apparently is designed to provoke American commanders into sending troops into Southwest Korea, thus thinning out the defense line from Taejon to Yechon. A move into the Southwest also would present new supply problems to U. S. tacticians and permit Communist to cut off and annihilate U. S. troops in small units, he said.

The spokesman conceded that it is possible the North Koreans may build up their forces and attempt to swing to the east and come up behind American troops in the combat zone. But he said such a maneuver would be extremely difficult.

He noted that a high mountain range runs between West Korea and the major fighting sector. An east-west railroad through the mountains apparently is not suitable for hauling enough troops for a major assault on the U. S. lines, he said.

Instead of trying to meet the southwest drive, this spokesman said, it would be far more desirable for the Americans to hold the eastern perimeter of South Korea. He said defense positions there have more natural advantages and shorter defense lines.
