

Many Military Men Figure On Atomic War In 1954; Russia Ready

By Harry Ferguson
Foreign News Editor

The two questions Americans most frequently ask one another these days are:

1. Is there going to be a world war?
2. If so, when?

Almost all Americans join President Truman in hoping there won't be a World War. But it is the business of our military men to prepare for war and to figure out when war is likely to break out. The most popular choice is 1954.

The next war, of course, will be an Atomic war, and one reason 1954 is the choice of so many persons is that they believe Russia will have a stock pile of atom bombs by then. They don't think she has many bombs now despite the fact that there is no doubt she produced an atomic explosion. But much work must be done between the time an atomic explosion has been produced and the day when the loaded planes take off for Detroit, Pittsburgh, New York or wherever.

Everybody assume that in event of World War III Russia will choose the time and place. And in the meantime her satellite nations can keep the United Nations powers busy combatting aggression in a series of small wars in such places as Iran, Finland, Malaya, and Indo-China. The United States, and presumably the UN is now committed to defending free peoples everywhere.

Rear Admiral Ellis H. Zacharias, U.S.N. (Ret) has just published a book, giving his views on when Russia will set the world aflame. It is called "Behind Closed Doors: The Secret History of the Cold War." He was a high-level intelligence agent in World War II and says he bases his present calculations on information collected from authentic sources, including refugees from behind the Iron curtain.

Russia's decision that there was going to be a World War III was made, he writes, in January, 1948.

At that time the Politburo met in the Kremlin and formally voted that Lenin's thesis that war between Communism and Capitalism is inevitable was a valid one. Thereafter, according to Zacharias, the only question was what date the Russians would choose for the start of hostilities.

First, he says, they picked a broad period—some time between 1952 and 1956. But the most likely time in that period is 1954, he adds, because Stalin is convinced there will be a major business depression in the United States at that time. Stalin reasons that America will have to start a war to pull itself out of the depression and that this country can be provoked into becoming the aggressor.

Trying to read Stalin's mind is a hazardous undertaking. Like other persons, he sometimes changes his mind. And the Kremlin is not so firmly in control of contemporary currents of history as Zacharias so blithely assumes. Other capitals besides Moscow can make decisions and take action that will change the entire picture.

The problem of the United States and the peace loving nations is to try and persuade Russia that it must abandon the prime tenet of Communism—that Capitalism must be swept from the earth. The Reds would do this by peaceful means, if possible, but of not, by war.

Eastland's Girl Scout troop is steadily making progress under the direction of Mrs. Steve Potts and her assistants.

They have worked hard to make a good, progressive local girl scout organization, and their progress has been considerable.

An example of their hard work is the square dance which they are sponsoring on August 12, the day of the Old Rip Horned Toad Derby.

The girls and their sponsors are working hard to make this the largest square dance Eastland has ever had.

They hope to line up a large group of square dancers to participate in the event. Charges will be $1.00 per couple for dancers, 25c and 15c for spectators.

The street will be blocked off across from the softball park for the dance. Top callers and a good square dance band will be present for the affair.

Proceeds from the affair will go toward the improvement of the local girl scout troop and its activities. The girls are looking to the Eastland citizens to lead the way in making the affair a big success.

Other events are also shaping up for the Derby. Entries are very near the 300 mark, which was set as the goal when the event was first planned this year.

Officials are now aiming at about 350 entries, however, and are confident that they will reach that mark.

Committeemen met with Herb Tanner, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce, last night to discuss the final shaping of plans for the big day.

Lydia Faye Houston, representing Eastland in the county Home Demonstration Clubs' "Queen For A Day" contest, has fallen behind in the voting for that honor.

Lydia Faye is sponsored by the Morton Valley and Flatwood clubs who are working hard in her behalf.

Taking the lead was Adele Fairbetter of Gorman, sponsored by the Bass Lake, Howard and Salem Clubs. Her large vote was largely through the efforts of Gorman citizens.

The Morton Valley and Flatwood clubs feel that it will take the same kind of co-operation from Eastland citizens and business men to win the contest, and they are appealing for that help in the light of the fact that their candidate is also representing Eastland in the event.

Also in the contest are Virginia Weiser of Cisco and Sally Hicks of Sabanno.

No reports have been given on the progress of voting on those candidates, but it is felt that they will be heavily supported, and it will take an all-out co-operation

County Comes Through; Buys Quota Of Bonds

Eastland Never Has Failed To Beat Its Quota Since War I

Eastland County was one of 103 counties in Texas that exceeded their quotas in the recent Independence Savings Bond drive, Cyrus B. Frost, county Savings Bonds chairman, announced today after receiving final sales figures from Nathan Adams of Dallas, state chairman.

Sales in this county were $137,442.50, or 126.44 per cent of the $108,700.00 quota.

The Independence Drive was held May 15-July 4, with sales through July 17 being counted toward the quota.

Total sales in Texas for the drive were $25,383,274.75, or 105.37 per cent of the state's $24,088,000 quota. The goal was reached and exceeded during the last week of the drive, with a final burst of bond buying accounting for over $7,000,000 in sales.

"You and the people of your county can be proud of your record in this drive," Adams told the local chairman. "By exceeding their quota they have helped the state preserve an unblemished record of always going over the top in bond drives. At the same time the people of your county have added substantially to their savings and, consequently, to their personal financial security."

Eastland County maintained its reputation in making and over-subscribing its Independence Savings Bond drive quota. Beginning with World War I up to the present, Eastland County has never failed to over-subscribe its quota.

Committeemen met with Herb Tanner, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce, last night to discuss the final shaping of plans for the big day.

Car, Garage Of Mrs. Cliatt Are Damaged By Fire

The garage and car of Mrs. Mattie Cliatt, 213 N. Connellee, were damaged by fire early this morning.

Damage to the car was to the paint and window lights, but the garage was badly damaged.

The garage of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Parker adjoins the Cliatt structure, but was not damaged to any great extent, Mrs. Parker said. The Parkers removed their car from the garage before any damage was done.

Firemen answered the call at about 5 a.m. and quickly brought the fire under control.

The fire started in the top of the garage.

Cause of the blaze was not determined. Mrs. Cliatt believed that it may have been lightning. A sharp clap of thunder was heard just before the blaze was discovered.

Committee Plans For Derby Day; Expect 400 Frogs

Committeemen for the Old Rip Horned Toad Derby met last night to make final plans for Derby Day Aug. 12 at the McGraw Motor Co.

L. E. McGraw was in charge of the meeting which was attended by Parks Poe, Neil Day, George Lane, Joe Stephens, H. J. Tanner, and McGraw.

Individual designations were made for assignments on Derby Day. Plans to erect bleachers, select judges, work up programs and other subjects were discussed.

Another meeting is planned for the near future.

McGraw stated that the entry total was near the 300 mark and that "we are ready to ring the bells and sound the whistles just any time."

He said that it was now apparent that the total would reach 400, and plans were made for that number of frogs. Twenty heats are planned at the derby, with the 20 winners participating in the sweepstakes race.

Eastland Rain Totals .80 Inches

Eastland received .80 inches of rain last night, J. A. Beard reported.

The rain started after midnight, and the measurement was taken at 8 a.m.

Light rain had fallen after that time, but not enough to change the measurement to any extent at 10 a. m.

Prospects were for more rain throughout Thursday and Thursday night, with overcast skies.

Annual Meeting Of Production Credit Slated

100 From County Planning To Attend

Production Credit stockholders will hold their 16th annual meeting at the city park in Stephenville, August 7.

Richard Wesson, Eastland production credit manager, said that about 100 Eastland county stockholders were planning to attend the meeting.

Purpose of the meeting is to elect two directors and transact other business. Directors whose terms expire at this meeting are R. Cal McCurdy of Deatur and R. E. Seay of Comanche.

Directors are elected for a three year term.

Directors whose terms carry over are F. B. Shannon, Stephenville, W. B. Starr, Cisco and T. W. Winters, Evant.

T. R. Timm, farm and ranch economist with the Texas A&M Extension Service at College Station, will be the main speaker. His subject will be world changes which affect the individual farm operator.

War bonds will be given as prizes to the stockholders who hold lucky numbers at the meeting.

The annual barbecue dinner will be served immediately following the business session.

The association serves a ten-county area of the following counties: Hamilton, Comanche, Erath, Eastland, Hood, Parker, Somerville, Johnson, Tarrant and Wise.

Loan offices are located at Stephenville, Comanche, Eastland, Cleburne, Deatur and Ft. Worth.

The nominating committee met in Stephenville July 13 to recommend nominees to the stockholders. The following were nominated: James Crouch, Tarrant county; R. C. Luker, Comanche county; Cal McCurdy, Wise county.

Stewart urged that one or more high school bands be brought, members of which will be admitted free of charge. The band would play at the gathering and march and play in the Parade of the Decades at 7:30 p. m.

He also stated that the publicity department would endeavor to arrange a salute to Eastland on Dallas radio and papers on the day selected.

Parade To Mark 300th Toad Entry A parade signifying the arrival of the 300th toad entry in the Old Rip Horned Toad Derby will be held at 10:30 Friday morning. The parade will feature the fire truck and the police truck.

As many persons in cars who wish may participate in the parade. "We want a lot of noise," Tanner said. Cars will gather for the parade at about 10:15 by the courthouse, Tanner said.

TOKYO, Friday, July 28 (UP)—Reports from the Korean front said today that an all-out Communist effort to crack the center of the allied line was expected within 24 hours.

Massed enemy forces already were striking strong feeler blows at the positions of the two American divisions and the South Koreans manning the defenses 100 miles northwest of Pusan.

The South Korean first division drove forward five to seven miles in the Hamchang sector of the central front. The Republicans knocked out four heavy tanks and partly enveloped troops of a Communist division.

To the southwest, Americans newly revealed to be in action along the South coast pushed the North Koreans back two miles in the Hadong sector and occupied Ham-Yang to the north.

But along the central front, the Communists slugged away at the American strong points. Correspondents reported that a supreme effort by the North Koreans to crack the line seemed imminent, if it had not already begun with the widespread attacks.

The tempo of North Korean feeler punches at the American positions already was being stepped up. Field reports suggested that the biggest battle of the war was shaping up, or already had begun.

The Communists were putting more and more pressure on the entire front line northwest of Taegu where the U. S. First Cavalry and the 25th Divisions, flanked by South Koreans, were bracing for a full scale assault.

From the First Cavalry sector, United Press Correspondent Robert Bennyhoff reported that U. S. and North Korean artillery traded light punches on Yongdong front late Thursday, and a heavy Communist attack was expected within 24 hours.

On the right flank of the First Cavalry sector, several hundred North Koreans tried a localized frontal assault, but were driven back by artillery. Three of four Communist tanks shelled the American left flank. Fighter planes called to hunt them out but were unable to spot the mauling armor.

Symonds said the Communists apparently were probing for a weak spot in the 25th Division line through which they could plunge to Kumehon, transport junction 18 miles east of Yongdong and only 34 miles northwest of Taegu, the big communications center controlling all transport north of Pusan.

Communist artillery and mortar fire fell into the 25th Division positions throughout the day. Right up to nightfall U. S. Air Force and Navy planes plugged away at the North Korean concentrations facing the Americans.

Wave after wave of Fanatical Communists charged the foxholes of the U. S. 25th Division east of Yongdong throughout Thursday, United Press Correspondent Gene Symonds reported from that sector. Late last night, he said, the men of the 25th were holding their ground "against what observers here already considered a major attack."

"The force of the Communist attack suggested that the Reds were launching their supreme effort to crack the center of the United Nations line before these forces can get set for the long delayed counter-blow," Symonds reported.

Services for Mrs. Francis E. Thompson, 85, will be held at 3 p. m. Friday at the First Baptist church, Ranger. Interment will be in the Breckenridge cemetery.

The Loves of Carmen

By SOPHIE KERR. Copyright 1948, NEA SERVICE, INC. THE STORY: Don Jose, young officer in a fashionable Spanish regiment, falls victim to the charms of the bewitching gypsy, Carmen. He kills his commanding officer in a sword-fight over her and is forced to flee to a mountain hide-out, where he joins the band of gypsy rogues who are Carmen's associates. He becomes a thief, smuggler and murderer with a price on his head. Victim of one his single-ouch robberies is a young dragon, right of the soldier, reminder of his past, engages him.

XXIV A SHORT distance from the hold-up, Carmen rode up silently on her little mule. She dismounted and slyly viewed the proceedings from behind a rock, taking great care that Don Jose might not see her. She watched with a pleased vicarious excitement, moving noiselessly toward the group. As she drew near, Don Jose dragged a handsome shawl from a frightened middle-aged woman. He did not see Carmen and she, having escaped his notice, could not help swaggering up to a passenger and relieving him of his watch and chain.

The Loves of Carmen

By SOPHIE KERR. Copyright 1948, NEA SERVICE, INC. XXV DANCAIRE and Pablo removed from their pockets the valuables he had taken from the stage coach passengers and piled them on a blanket. The furious voices of Carmen and Don Jose could be heard from inside the cave. The words were undistinguishable but the yelling left no doubt as to the ferocity of their quarrel. Pablo gave a thin smile of pleasure as he listened.

disappearing from his face, his eyes sullen. Dancaire laughed at him. "What is the matter, Pablo?" Pablo looked at him defensively. Dancaire taunted him, amused. "You enjoy listening to the quarrel, but you can't stand to listen to their silences, can you, Pablo?" THE next day, Carmen on her mule came riding leisurely along the high road. She had large empty baskets slung on either side of the mule for the intended to buy provisions in the city. A carriage with a driver and a footman overtook her and was forced to stop because she held blithely to the center of the road, blocking the way.

new idea of lady-wife. "Yes," she agreed. "It was very humiliating. I think you should ask my pardon." "I did." To see how far this device would work, she said, "I think you should ask my pardon several times." Don Jose said, "You are right. I should."

CARMEN sat sulkily in front of a natural cave opening which gaped in the side of the bare, gaunt cliff. She looked up without interest as the men rode in and dismounted. She held her ankles and rocked back and forth, as angrily restless as a caged hawk. She pretended not to notice when Don Jose came onto the scene and stood looking down at her.

"Carmen, where have you been? Cordova hasn't seen you in months." "Well, I have been a little busy. Lucas. A few killings, a wedding here and there. And what about you?" "Also a few killings, but no weddings. But many hours thinking of you, my Carmen. Where are you going?"

THE leave in the face of the cliffs looked as though it were settled in the heart of purgatory; its flinty sides were rough and dirty. They are burned smokily, the rocks going out through an opening above. Don Jose slouched at the entrance, looking out at the pouring rain with weary eyes. Pablo was a little drunk and watched him slyly. "Other times when she went into Cordova for supplies, she came back the same day," he said. Don Jose looked obliquely at the other man. "It is the rain. The rain is keeping her away."

Yep, There's Lots Of Similiar Place Names In Korea; And They Bother Correspondents Some Too

By Murray Moler
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 TOKYO, July 27 (UP)—One of the most confusing aspects of the Korean war for correspondents—and soldiers, too—is the similarity of the place names of many Korean cities and towns.

It's a nightmare, for example, to a correspondent who sits down to a map to look for Chungju and passes over Chongju, Kongju, Chonju, Sangju and Kwangju before he arrives at his objective.

Then, of course, there are Wonsan and Nonsan, Pyongyang and Pyonggang, and Jongdak and Yangdak.

Some are tongue-twisters, but then there's the utterly simple little gem or Iri.

Y. Y. Lim, the affable third secretary of the Korean mission here, said today that the main reason for the confusion was in the pronunciation.

In the Korean pronunciation, the names sounded different than in the English pronunciation.

Lim explained that the Korean spoken languages goes back 4,000 years, compared with 2,000 years for the Japanese. But, in setting up a written language, the Koreans, like the Japanese, adopted Chinese characters—more than 10,000 of them.

When American missionaries and traders began writing home from Korea they had to devise a system of putting place names into English, Lim said. Consequently, two so-called standard systems evolved and eventually even Korean-produced maps with English lettering showed two names for many places.

The Japanese occupation of the last half century in many instances added a third name to many towns.

The captured South Korean Capital of Seoul, Kim said, is a prime example.

The Koreans originally used the Chinese character for "capital" which under the best systems was spelled Seoul and pronounced "So-wool" with an owl accent on the last syllable.

The Japanese used a different character since the city was no longer a capital and translated into Keijo. But the Korean translation of the Japanese character came out Kyongsong.

Some parts of place names, Lim said, have definite translatable meanings but others are "proper names with no excuse."

Roughly, he said, names ending in Bong, Pong, San or Sansong are names of mountains or towns near mountain peaks. Bu and Pu stand for city. Dong or Tong means village. A settlement is Li, Ni or Ki, depending on its location.

A mountain pass is designed by the suffix of Lyong or Nyong. An island made of rock is So, but when the island is a sand bar it is Ju or Chu.

Hang is a harbor, Kang and Gang mean river, Pando is peninsula and Po means harbor inlet or port.

"Pohangdong, where the U. S. cavalry division landed a week ago, means "inlet harbor village."

Cattle Disease Spreads

CHICAGO (UP)—A serious malaria-like disease of cattle is spreading north, the American Veterinary Medical Association reported. The disease, known as anaplasmosis and once considered mainly a problem of the southern part of the United States, now has been reported as far north as Michigan, the association said.

Wife Wants to Know

MILWAUKEE (UP)—A resolute woman called the sheriff's office here and asked if she could borrow a lie detector. She explained that her husband had agreed to submit to a test on his claim that he had been "out with the boys the last few nights."

General Siebert Takes Bride In Austin Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Irene Carter, daughter of Mrs. Ernest G. Carter, Garden Valley, became the bride of General L. Siebert of Seymour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Siebert of 211 South Connellee Street in a double ring ceremony at the University Presbyterian Chapel, at seven o'clock p.m. July 23, 1950 in Austin.

The Chapel was decorated with palms and carnations. Dr. Harry M. Moffett officiated. A short organ recital was played by Mrs. Malcolm Beall who also accompanied Wendell Siebert in singing "Yours."

The bride wore a white organda gown, fashioned with full skirt and fitted bodice. Her fingertip veil was caught by a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, Jack Carter and was attended by Mrs. Jimmie Bailey, Matron of Honor, who wore a white organza over gold, full skirt, ballerina length, and carried a bouquet of gold carnations.

Wendell Siebert attended. His brother as best man. Ushers were James M. Faulkenberry and Joe Albright of Lamesa, Texas.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Parham, 1104 West 22 1/2 Street immediately after the ceremony. The house was decorated with tube roses and carnations. Mrs. Jess Siebert, mother of the groom, served the cake and Mrs. John Kelly, Jr., served the punch. Mrs. Wendell Siebert attended the brides book.

The three tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The bride wore a white waffle pique two piece dress with white accessories for her wedding trip to Tampa, Florida. The couple will live in Seymour, where he is employed by the Texas State Department of Public Welfare.

He is a graduate of Texas A&M College and the bride is a graduate of the University of Texas and for the past year has been employed as a teacher of speech and English in public schools of Crane, Texas.

A Pledge to the American People

by

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company

We will resist all unwarranted price rises with all our might.

We will make every effort to hold our inventories at the lowest point consistent with good service to our customers, because hoarding, whether by wholesalers, retailers or consumers, will cause higher prices.

We will continue to maintain the lowest profit rate generally prevailing in the entire retail industry. Our net profit now is less than one cent on each dollar of sales.

We will continue to strive for more efficient distribution.

We will fight waste of food, or time, or money all along the line so as to narrow the spread between wholesale and retail prices.

We will devote all our energies to giving you the most good food for your money every day of the week.

We will strive always to do what is honest, fair, sincere and in the best interest of our country and our customers.

As most of you know, this company and the low cost, low profit policies that built it are under attack.

We are defending ourselves against a suit brought by the anti-trust lawyers to put A&P out of business.

But the greater conflict in which our country is now engaged takes precedence over all else.

Today, with our boys fighting in Korea, we believe that all citizens and all businesses, big and little, should devote themselves wholeheartedly to the public interest.

We promise the American people that we will cooperate unhesitatingly with our national government in the present crisis.

We promise you that we will continue to do everything in our power to put more buying power in your food dollar and more good food on your dinner table.

TRUMAN COMES CLOSE TO PAY AS WE GO PLEDGE ON FINANCING HOT-COLD WAR

WASHINGTON, July 27 (UP)—President Truman came close Wednesday to a pay-as-you-go pledge for the hot-cold war in a mid-year economic report to Congress which foreshadowed record-smashing new taxes.

His council of economic advisers in their own report urged that most or all of the deficit be wiped out.

Estimates that the new tax load would be around $10,000,000,000 annually probably will have to be revised upward in view of the two reports submitted to Congress today.

Truman asked Congress for a quickie $5,000,000,000 tax boost largely on the income of corporations and individuals but that is just the down payment.

The President's report to Congress said immediate action on his stop-gap request was vital but that it would not be enough.

"It will be necessary," the President continued, "when the necessary studies can be completed and when the extent of our new obligations can be more clearly determined, to raise still additional revenues to avoid a deficit during times when economic policy and budgetary policy call for a balanced budget."

The council's report to the President which he relayed to Congress warned of the dangers of inflation and called for "a prompt and drastic increase in taxes."

"The heavier expenditures which we are now undertaking," the council said, "will not end when the mandate of the United Nations has been enforced in Korea."

"We are striving to avoid a major war, but there may be other alarms and possibly other attacks, and we must be prepared to meet them no matter how long the period before full peace is established."

"Economic policy must now be adjusted to the prospect of this long pull. If the pull proves to be short, we shall lose little by being prepared; if it proves to be long, we shall gain much."

The council said the first and most important step against inflation was the use of fiscal and credit policies as a brake.

"On the fiscal side," the report continued, "this means that we should seek to reduce the size of the cash deficit or, better, still to remove it entirely. For the maintenance of a large deficit creates and aggravates inflationary pressures in a time like this."

"The economy is strong enough to bear the burden of financing the needs which have now been outlined, without deficit financing and extensive increases in the money supply."

"The program of other restraints, now being recommended, will prove woefully inadequate without a prompt and drastic increase in taxes."

The quickie tax boosts proposed by Truman would lift government revenues to levels never before dreamed of—upwards of $50,000,000,000 a year. But it still would not be enough to get the treasury out of the red.

Truman already has asked Congress for a $10,500,000,000 emergency appropriation. That is only a starter. Federal spending in this fiscal year will approach $50,000,000,000 and may exceed it.

The full stream of the new tax revenue will not reach the treasury this year. A pay-as-you-go policy for Korea and the cold war would require a January tax hike even greater than $5,000,000,000.

But pay-as-we-go or not, the American standard of living will sag as the nation re-arms. The Nazis used to call it "guns before butter."

Congress seemed willing to give

Truman his first $5,000,000,000 but there was scattered objection to some of the details. Some Congressmen said we should cut non-defense spending to help establish a war chest.

Congressional leaders believed they could pass the tax bill before Sept. 1. Both the Senate Finance and House Ways and Means Committees planned to push it through without public hearings.

The President asked Congress to establish corporation income taxes at 25 per cent on the first $25,000 and 45 per cent on the balance, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1950.

He also asked for an increase in individual income tax rates to the 1945 levels effective Oct. 1. On that date, the withholding rate would increase from 15 to 18 per cent.

The increase in the amount taxpayers would have to pay would

72 PER CENT AD VALOREM TAX LEVIED

AUSTIN, July 27 (UP)—State-wide levying of an ad valorem tax for general revenue purposes was assessed for the last time Wednesday.

The state's three-member automatic tax board, headed by Gov. Allan Shivers, met to levy an overall property tax of 72 cents per $100 valuation.

However, under a constitutional amendment voted in 1947, a 30 per cent rate in the lower brackets to 10 per cent in the higher brackets. The Republican controlled 80th Congress made approximately such reductions in its tax bill.

Cashes In At Age 96 On Life Insurance

SEATTLE, Wash., (UP)—William T. Whitney, 96, has collected his life insurance.

Whitney signed a $2,000 policy with Mutual Life 59 years ago. The company's mortality tables say that when a person reaches 96 he outlives the life span of the policy.

Given the choice of collecting or leaving the policy to earn interest, Whitney decided to collect. The policy and proceeds came to $2,426.

Kendrick C. Hawkes, manager of Mutual's Seattle agency, said only about three persons in 1,000 now living can expect to reach the age of 96.

Whitney is still active in a real estate business and his wife is still living.

Illinois produces about three per cent of the world's annual supply of coal.

Korean War Catching Newsmen Too Plane Crash Gets More Reporters

TOKYO, July 27 (UP)—A Far East Air Force twin engine C-47 courier plane bound from Tokyo to South Japan with 26 persons aboard fell into the ocean about 90 miles South of Tokyo today.

A headquarters announcement 14 hours later said one survivor had been pulled from the sea eight to 10 miles off O Shima island. Air and sea rescue units are searching for the remainder of the 23 passengers and three crewmen.

Although the passenger list was not disclosed, it was understood that four of the passengers were newspaper correspondents on their way to the Korean war zone. Newsmen heading toward the battle areas customarily fly to South Japan bases, then transfer to planes flying to South Korea.

If the four correspondents are lost, it will bring the toll of newsmen in the month-long war to six known dead. Two others are missing on the battlefields.

The C-47 left the big Haneda airport just outside Tokyo at 4:05 a. m. (2:05 p. m. Wednesday EDT). It apparently was in the air only a little over a half hour when it ran into undetermined trouble.

The weather over the Tokyo area was good. O Shima is off Sagami bay, immediate West of Tokyo bay.

At least four other newsmen have been killed or are missing in action in the Korean war.

Ray Richards of the International News Service and Ernie Peeler of Stars and Strips were killed on the battlefield. Wilson Fielder of Time and Life magazines has been missing since the fall of Taejon a week ago.

The INS bureau in Tokyo said today that it had a report that one of its special writers, Mike Gigantes, was missing around Yondong. This report said an American tank crew member who was captured by the Reds but escaped saw Gigantes being marched off by the North Koreans.

Gigantes, who writes for the London Observer and Greek papers under the name of Philip Dean, last reported to the INS three days ago, the bureau said.

Feelings Soothed

FALLS CITY, Neb. (UP)—Mrs. Ida M. Niemeyer was angry 17 years ago when one of her tenants skipped out owing her a $30 rent bill. The tenant came back to town recently, handed her $30, then an extra $5 for making her wait so long. Her anger vanished.

The channel span of the Golden Gate suspension bridge at San Francisco is the longest in the world. It is 4,200 feet.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions. If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

It'll Take 8 Months To Train Guard

By H. Smith Johnson United Press Staff Correspondent IN THE FIELD WITH THE 49TH ARMORED DIVISION, NORTH FORT HOOD, Tex., July 27 (UP)—Texas' own National Guard armored division has taken giant strides toward combat readiness during maneuvers in the past 10 days, but it would need eight months of intensive training before it could be shipped overseas.

The average citizen soldier, from Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, Temple, Cameron, and points east and west, doesn't think he will be called to active duty anytime in the near future.

He knows that he needs additional time in the field. He knows that he needs more hours in the "gut" bucket of the General Patton tank, and in the field before he fights a war.

His morale, that feeling that means the difference between a "hot" outfit and a poor one, is high. There are some 5,900 Texas farmers and clerks turned summer soldier in the dirty, heat-encased 1,000 acre pastures of Fort Hood.

The 49th soldier is trying hard to learn how to fight. That spirit was displayed often in high humor, by tanker, infantryman, artilleryman, and medic.

Take the example being set by Capt. (Dr.) J. C. Hofh, 32, of Temple. He is in charge of a small medical detachment attached to 649th anti-aircraft artillery battalion.

He has seven men, all employees of the veteran's hospital at Temple. All are trained medics, but they aren't sitting down in the field. They are learning how to defend themselves against an enemy and Dr. Hofh is teaching them.

Example: Hofh called Pvt. Arthur Timaeus, 22, (1210 West Ave.) Temple, over. "Look, Timaeus," Hofh said. "What would you do if an enemy came at you with a knife while you were bandaging a wounded soldier in the field?"

Timaeus braced himself as the doctor rushed him. Suddenly, the chunky soldier grabbed Hofh's outstretched arm and turned his hip. Using the Captain's momentum as a propelling force, he twisted the doctor over and dumped him to the ground. A tiny dust cloud arose, and when it cleared, Timaeus had the "knife"—a small stick—in his hands.

The doctor said, "We are not armed—we have to learn to protect ourselves with our heads and our hands."

He turned away and began the game all over again with another soldier.

That is the spirit of the 49th. It is a "hot" outfit.

NUMBER UP IN DRAFT?

Who is supposed to register for the draft under the present law?

All men between the ages of 18 and 26. Only those 19 through 25 can be called for active duty.

How many are being called? Selective service has called up 20,000 so far.

What age groups are affected? Men 24 and 25 are being called for the most part.

Are veterans and reservists whose enlistments have expired required to register? All men 18 through 25 who are not active on duty must register.

If present law is broadened to take in older men would re-registration be necessary? Anyone who registered before June 21, 1948, would have to register again. Those who registered since that date would not be required to re-register again.

Truman Says Wage Controls Not In Sight

By Rex Chaney
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 26 (UP)—President Truman said today that wage-price-rationing controls are not now in sight but that if they become necessary, they should be imposed simultaneously.

Truman said at a news conference that he still has no plans to ask for authority now to clamp such drastic controls on the economy.

is the time for the all-out mobilization advocated by Bernard M. Baruch.

Baruch gave his views to the Senate banking committee yesterday. He asserted that prices, rents, and wages must be frozen now and taxes boosted high enough to pay for the war and preparations for future wars.

ASKED FOR HIS REACTION to Baruch's proposals, the President referred reporters to his own limited mobilization recommendations sent Congress last week.

The President said he feels his proposals are the right ones to meet the situation. He added that if he had not thought so he would not have sent them.

Truman Says No When Asked If A-Bomb Slated

WASHINGTON, July 27 (UP)—President Truman said today that he is not at this time contemplating use of Atomic bombs against the North Korean Communists.

TRUMAN MADE THE DISCLOSURE in response to a question at his news conference.

Solemnly he told reporters that he still hopes fervently for world peace. In this connection he said he will ask Congress for more money with which to arm free nations that are in danger of Communist aggression. He said the request is being drafted by government agencies and will go to Capitol Hill before this session of Congress adjourns.

Progress On Road For Morton Valley Slowed By Rain

Progress on the Morton Valley road has been hampered badly by the rains of recent weeks, E. M. Pritchard, residential engineer for the State Highway Department, reported yesterday.

Pritchard said that some of the concrete had been poured, but the amount was much smaller than they had planned for this time.

Most of the work being done at the present time is on extending the structures, Pritchard stated.

The original date of completion was set as October 1, and Pritchard was of the opinion that the operation would be completed by that time despite recent handicaps.

Excessive rains in the next two months, however, would hamper operations to the extent that the Oct. 1 completion date could not be met.
