AMERICANS FLANK ENDANGERED

G. I. Generals To Know Korea Outcome Soon

By Harry Ferguson
United Press Foreign News Editor
Today and tomorrow are the days of decision in Korea. The biggest battle of the war is under way. It may go on for another 24 hours or longer and when it's over the American commanders will know whether they can hang on or whether they had better start assembling shipping for a Dunkirk evacuation of the Port of Pusan.

"The enemy seeks a decision," a spokesman at Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said. "He will do anything at all at this time for a breakthrough."

Every dispatch from the front indicates the American position is critical. What the American commanders in Korea are trying to do is to keep their position from changing from critical to desperate.

We now hold a beach head consisting of roughly one-fifth of the territory in the Korean peninsula. Our forces are outnumbered by a ratio of four to one. The Communists opened their offensive in the rain which means that the United Nations were deprived of the one weapon in which they have absolute superiority—planes.

The Communists have attacked with some 45,000 men, and have made an end run around the American left flank to a south coastal highway that runs straight into Pusan. At last reports the Reds were some 50 miles from Pusan with a force of about 1,000 men equipped with tanks and artillery. The Americans, hard pressed in the center of their line, are going to have to do something quickly about that flanking force before Red reinforcements change it from a big raiding party into an Army.

We now have a semi-circular line protecting Pusan, but it is a thin line. If it cracks seriously at any point, the Communists can pour through the breach, get in behind our troops and start isolating comparatively small units. Then there will be not one "lost battalion" of Americans, but a dozen or so.

One of our difficulties in this war is that we have never been able to organize what soldiers call "defense in depth." We haven't had enough troops. Once the Communists jabbed through our front lines, we were encircled. It would be a different story if we had not one defense line, but two or three. Then the enemy would not be able to roam at will behind our battle line, cut our communications and isolate combat teams.

As our beach head shrinks, our chances of getting "defense in depth" improve. That may be what Gen. MacArthur had in mind when he said he was confident of the ultimate outcome of the war. Our best chance at the moment seems to be to hold off the enemy in the big battle that is now raging until we can throw two or three protective lines in a smaller semi-circle around Pusan. Then if the enemy breaches the front line, he still has another fight on his hands.

Myrick Announces Dairy Association Meeting Thursday

A called meeting of the Eastland County Dairy Association has been set for Thursday, Aug. 3, in the chamber of commerce office at Ranger, according to A. Z. Myrick, Cisco, president of the organization.

M. D. Fox, Eastland vocational agriculture teacher will lead a discussion on the testing of milk and butter fat production of dairy cows under the DHIA plan, Myrick stated.

Forrest Boone, Rising Star dairy man, who recently spent a week at A&M College taking a course to qualify as a cow tester for the county association, is also expected to be present to answer questions about the testing work for dairymen who wish to participate in the plan.

At least ten dairymen have already signed up for the testing work, it was announced. He is expected to get started in the work in the near future.

Dairymen as well as others interested in the progress of the dairy industry of the county are invited to attend the meeting, Myrick stated.

Texas Quota Hiked Military Hopes Draft Push Joining

By Dean W. Dittmer
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 28 (UP)—Military leaders hoped today that their new draft call would spur voluntary enlistments. They said enlistments have increased substantially since the outbreak of the Korean war, but still are "not enough" to meet the manpower needs of the expanding armed forces.

The defense department yesterday asked selective service to furnish 100,000 men in September and October, 50,000 in each month.

Texas Call
AUSTIN, July 28 (UP)—Texas has been ordered to increase its initial draft call from 1,005 men to 2,513, State Selective Service headquarters announced today.

Under orders from Washington, the men must be delivered, ready to military training, "not later than Sept. 30."

Commencement Set For School
Commencement for the Bible School which was held this week at the First Baptist Church will be held at 7:30 p.m. today, Rev. L. M. Chapman, announced.

Exhibits in boys and girls handwork will also be given, Chapman said.

Attendance for the school has been 165 to 167. There were seven departments; two for beginners, two primaries, two juniors and one for intermediates and young people.

Beginners, primaries and juniors held their school from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. each day. The intermediate and young people met at 7:30 p.m. daily.

Those attending studied the Bible and made ceramics.

President Truman signed legislation extending all enlistments for another year.

Heaviest Attack Made Within 100 Miles Of Pusan

By Earnest Hobrecht
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO, Saturday, July 29 (UP)—American troops were fighting desperately today to hold their lines against an all-out Communist attempt to smash their positions and drive them out of Korea.

U. S. forces bearing the brunt of the North Korean assault less than 100 miles northwest of Pusan had given some ground. And the enemy has driven a wedge in between the American 25th division and the South Koreans fighting on their right.

The biggest battle of the Korean war was on. It was being fought on a blazing arc, the south end of which had been thrust within 50 miles of the vital base of Pusan.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur in his midnight communique described the fighting as "savagely" in contrast with the usual restrained language of his formal statements. MacArthur reported that the massed Communist forces, who apparently had thrown everything they had into a showdown battle, were "continuing heavy pressure all along the front." But he added that, in general, our lines were holding.

Field reports sent from Korea before the midnight communique said the Americans, outnumbered four to one, fell back 20 to 25 miles on the south coast and up to five miles near Yongdong under the blows by some 45,000 Communist troops.

The North Korean 15th division drove a wedge between the Sixth South Korean and the U. S. 25th the communique reported. It happened in the area of Ichon-ni, 27 miles Northeast of Yongdong.

The Communist threw about 800 troops through the breach in to the rear area of the American lines.

"Friendly troops are now holding firm, and are trying to close the breach to restore their defensive positions," MacArthur reported.

He said the main weight of the Communist onslaught was along the Taejon - Kumchon axis. Southeast of Yongdong massed enemy troops and armor were pressing "concentrated assaults" against the U. S. First Cavalry Division.

"After losing some ground in the Hwanggan area, the determined troops are holding their positions in a savage fire fight," the communique said.

At least three Communist divisions were reported fighting in the west-central sector, "determined to overwhelm the locally inferior United States troops," MacArthur reported.

Allied air forces gave the ground troops close support. Late reports did not say what turn the weather had taken, but the Communist drive was launched in a heavy rain. With the Korean rainy season still going strong, the Air Force effort was hampered.

Allied Naval forces continued what MacArthur described as saturation bombardment along the east coast, "and the results were considered effective."

A spokesman at MacArthur's headquarters said earlier that the Communists seemed bent on forcing a decision before the United Nations forces could get set for a counter-offensive.

Russia Reappearance

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 28 (UP)—Russia's dramatic decision to return to the United Nations Security Council touched off diplomatic speculation today that the Soviet Union may follow any of five courses, ranging from a move for peace in Korea to establishing a cover for a new aggressive move elsewhere by the Kremlin.

The survivor was an American soldier, but headquarters refused to identify him. He was picked up by a Japanese fishing craft shortly after the crash and taken to a nearby island. A helicopter brought him to Tokyo today.

New Feature Is Added To Dublin Rodeo

This will be the pony show for children under the age of ten years. All ponies will have to be 55 inches in height or under. Prizes totaling $200.00 will be offered.

Each year the rodeo directors and Everett Colburn have had at least one feature of the rodeo that people of this area could participate in. This year's pony show should be tops.

The hundreds of small ponies and small riders of Texas will have an opportunity to be given due recognition, both of the animals and the ability of the riders to handle their mounts.

There will be four place awards. The judging will be made on the following basis: 75 per cent on the pony and ability of the rider, and 25 per cent on the dress of the rider. Anyone may enter regardless of where they live if they are under ten year of age and their pony does not exceed 55 inches in height.

Your Health

AUSTIN (S.J.L.)—When a state health authority says there is no such thing as a natural resistance to impetigo, parents of small children know exactly what he means. Those parents know, perhaps from bitter experience, that the same individual can suffer repeated attacks from what State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox calls an "offensive, annoying skin infection."

Although children are unusually susceptible, impetigo can be found in any age group, Dr. Cox said. It is most prevalent during the summer months, but has been augmented in view of Congressional action yesterday. The House authorized the President to have all foreign ships entering American waters searched. The measure now goes back to the Senate for approval of minor changes.

The Geiger counters would be a big precaution, Heavey explained, against smuggling of any A-bombs, bacterial warfare supplies, or other vital war material.

known to occur at any month.

Impetigo, according to Dr. Cox's explanation is a purulent skin infection. It isn't too serious, except in new born babies. An invasion of a hospital nursery ward calls for extreme attention to keep uninfected babies from getting it, for it spreads like fire in dry grass.

Impetigo is caused by a pus-forming bacteria called staphylococcus—the same sort of germ found in boils and sores where pus is present. Usually it forms an unsightly crust over wide areas of the body. The pus underneath the crust is highly infectious if allowed to get on any other skin surface.

The infection is easily transmitted when a non-infected person uses the towel of someone infected, since the towel moisture permits the germ to survive.

Children living in the most hygienic homes frequently get impetigo, although it is perhaps more common among children living in homes where personal sanitation isn't considered too important.

Dr. Cox says soldiers are often infected, because they have small chance for keeping consistently clean. It may involve a whole arm, or a side of the face and neck.

Seymour Marks Has Lots More Pep—Gives Credit to Hadacol

Was Troubled With Lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in His System!

Seymour Marks, 1229 Morrison Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri, feels like a different man now due to HADACOL. He writes: "I started taking HADACOL a few weeks ago, and I feel much better. I felt tired all the time and couldn't sleep at night. Since taking HADACOL, I have lots more pep. I'm on my second bottle and feel like a different man."

So many weak, run-down, nervous men with stomach disturbances—due to lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in the system—are telling how this great new HADACOL has helped build them up, has filled them full of the joy of living—has given them that wonderful HADACOL feeling. Be fair to yourself! Start taking HADACOL at once. A big improvement in physical well-being is often noticed within a few days. Trial size, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50.
