Fire Sweeps Gorman Business District

THREE STORES DESTROYED; BLAZE LASTS ALL NIGHT

Three stores were destroyed and several others damaged by a raging fire which swept the Gorman business district last night. Origin of the fire was unknown and the amount of damage had not been determined today.

The fire began about 9:30 last night and quickly spread across the wooden business stores. Firemen were hampered by frozen fire hydrants, the freezing weather and a frozen fire station siren which couldn't be used to summon voluntary firemen immediately.

The fire started in an old frame building which housed the City Tailor Shop and Maupin Barber shop. Both stores were destroyed.

A warehouse operated by W. G. Baker, located behind the building and containing fertilizer and peanut seed, was also destroyed by the fire. The fire cracked the walls of the Gorman Hotel, located alongside the burning building and smoke and water damaged the Texas Electric Co. building across the alley. Heat scorched a nearby cafe.

Firemen fought the fire all night and their efforts prevented the entire business district from being destroyed by the fire. No one was injured.

Glenn McCarthy's Daughter Works For Rival Co

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 15 (UP)—Glenn McCarthy Pontikes who incurred the wrath of her multimillionaire father, oilman Glenn McCarthy, when she eloped with a shoemaker's son last fall is now working for an oil company which competes with him.

The unorthodox 18-year-old blonde bride disclosed today that she is working for the Humble Oil and Refining Company as a hall girl, at a salary of $180 per month, the amount she probably used to get from her father as an allowance.

Close friends said McCarthy, as in the case of the elopement, didn't know about the job until Glendale went to work.

She eloped last December with George Pontikes, 20-year-old football player son of an immigrant shoemaker. They were married by a justice of the peace at Waco, Tex., last Dec. 2.

The elopement incurred the displeasure of McCarthy who refused to even admit the marriage for a week after he found out about it.

But George and Glendale said they intended to "make our own way" in life and stayed with young Pontikes' parents in their modest home some 30 blocks from the $700,000 McCarthy mansion. Recently, they moved to a small apartment "so we can be alone."

There was no fanfare when Glendale applied for the job with Humble. Officials of the firm said she applied "like anybody else would and received the same sort of examination."

Glendale applied for a secretarial job. None was open, but she hopes to move into one as soon as she can.

George also has a part-time job at the Federal Steel Company, working in the shipping department.

"We just want to live our own lives," Glendale said. George added, "yes, we do, but you had better talk to her father before you publish anything about Glendale's job."

Senior Play Tryouts Set

The Senior play for 1951 will be, "A Lucky Penny," a comedy the Senior class has announced.

Dates for the play are March 15 and 16.

Tryouts for the cast of the play will be held Thursday night at the high school auditorium.

Mrs. Virginia Wewer Russell, Mrs. David Owen, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Francis will cast the play. About 30 seniors will try out for parts.

DALLAS LOCKED IN ICY GRIP—Winter returned to Dallas with icy, slick streets coated over with three to four inches of frozen sleet and rain. Congress Decides To Delay Tax Increase Until Summer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (UP)—Congress today virtually guaranteed taxpayers that taxes won't be increased before June or July.

After that, all bets are off. The odds at present favor a hefty tax increase by mid-summer to help pay climbing costs of rearmament.

The decision to delay the imposition of higher taxes was made late yesterday by the revenue-raising House Ways and Means Committee. It came in the face of strong pressure from President Truman and other administration spokesmen for a quick $10,000,000,000 increase.

Exchange Building Offices Burglarized

Several offices in the Exchange Building were burglarized today, including some doctor's offices.

Dr. James Whittington reported that some cocaine had been taken from his office. He said that the burglar evidently was very experienced in his work, since he did an expert job in opening the drawers and locks in his office.

The committee didn't say in so many words that it was going to delay things, but that was the effect of an agreement it reached.

Under the agreement, the committee will proceed with exhaustive hearings before it sets out to draft a bill. Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder, who outlined President Truman's $10,000,000,000 program to the committee 10 days ago, will be invited to make any further suggestions.

Under the administration program, the first $10,000,000,000 would be raised through higher taxes on individuals and corporations, and through increased excise taxes. Neither Mr. Truman nor Snyder has yet said where the other $6,500,000,000 was to come from.

A corporation tax increase might be made retroactive to cover part of the time past, but individual income tax increases are not

Charles Kincaid Funeral Held In Abilene Wed.

Funeral for Charles Kincaid 76, retired drilling contractor, were held Wednesday at 3 p.m. in the Episcopal Church of the Heavenly Rest, in Abilene, with the rector Dr. Willis P. Gerhart, officiating.

Burial was in Cedar Hill Cemetery, where graveside Masonic rites were conducted. Kiker-Warren Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Kincaid died Monday night in Hendrick Memorial Hospital, in Abilene, after suffering a heart attack in the driveway of his home Monday afternoon.

He had been in the oil business since 1895 and was active in Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana oil fields.

He moved to Abilene in 1925 from Eastland.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, Knights Templar and Shriner's.

He married the former Zona Furrey on No. 16, 1898, and she died March 11, 1934. On May 15, 1944 he was married to Mrs. Wood W. Plummer of Abilene.

Mom Who Drowned Child Will Go To State Institution

FORT WORTH TEX., Feb. 15 (UP)—Mrs. Robert H. Taylor, 30-year-old mother who admitted drowning her three-year-old daughter in a dishpan, will be sent to a state institution, the district attorney's office announced late yesterday. The murder charge against her, however, will not be dropped at this time, the D.A.'s office said.

likely to be made retroactive. Excise taxes cannot be made retroactive.

The Ways and Means Committee disregarded a plea from economic stabilizer Eric A. Johnston yesterday in deciding to take its time on the tax program.

"I cannot urge too strongly that Congress act with the greatest possible speed in voting these higher taxes," he said. "Delay will eat our economic strength."

Johnston said he'd like to give the taxpayer a break by rolling back prices to pre-Korea levels, but didn't believe that feasible.

Leaflets Jibe At North Koreans After Slaughter

ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Feb. 15 (UP)—"Count your men," the American propaganda leaflets told North Korean Communists Gen. Kim Beng Moon.

The Americans had counted the dead North Koreans. They thought Kim would be impressed by the toll taken of his men, fighting in the vanguard of the Chinese Communists.

The leaflets were from U.S. 3rd Division troops. They killed 1,338 North Korean soldiers Wednesday when the Reds tried to overrun the division command post southeast of Seoul.

The Americans captured 362 others, and sent another 3800 fleeing across the Han River.

U. S. planes dropped the propaganda leaflets behind Communist lines in Seoul, advising the North Koreans that United Nations forces knew the enemy was coming, in what strength and when.

The leaflets jibed at the North Koreans for pulling chestnuts out of the fire for the Chinese Communists.

"Ask them (the survivors) if they ever saw artillery like this," the leaflets said. "Did their bayonets make holes in the UN army tanks? Where are the guns and tanks and planes the Chinese Communists have promised you will come to help you? Who sent the first regiment into this trap? Who stayed on the north bank of the Han River while the first regiment died?"

General Almond Promoted

ON THE CENTRAL FRONT, Korea, Feb. 15 (UP)—U. S. 8th Army Commander Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway flew to the front today to promote Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond to the three-star rank of Lieutenant General.

Low Of 21 Is Registered Here

Temperatures dropped to 19 in Eastland Wednesday night, and a general warm-up was expected through the day.

At 8:30 a.m. the temperature had risen 2 degrees to 21. A maximum of 25 was registered Wednesday.

Schools were still dismissed Thursday because of the bad weather.

Icy roads caused a number of accidents Wednesday and driving was still hazardous Thursday in the city and on the roads.

Freezing temperatures are expected again tonight, with Friday due to be warmer.

By United Press

A vast storm eased up in West Texas today, but the eastern portion of the state faced another day of sporadic freezing rain, sleet and light snow.

The lower Rio Grande Valley, its farmers and laborers still reeling from a crushing ice storm of two weeks ago, escaped a predicted freeze in today's early hours. The lowest Valley temperature was 37 in the McAllen-Edinburg area—10 degrees above the forecast.

Highway officials said all main highways were listed as open, but they discouraged all but emergency traffic and said conditions were hazardous on highways from border to border.

At least three deaths were attributed to crashes on glazed highways since the storm first hit the state Tuesday.

Most schools in the worst part of the ice-covered belt around Dallas and Fort Worth closed, including the city public schools.

Skies turned clear in southwest Texas and over the South Plains, the first indication that a warmup process was about to begin, but the ice, snow and sleet cap that covered at least three-fifths of Texas was due to hang around for another 24 to 48 hours.

Southwestern Bell said at least 22 of its exchanges, including Greenville, Commerce, Rockwell, Bonham and Paris, were isolated from outside telephone communication.

The disappearance of a cloud cover in the Plains allowed temperatures to dip sharply during the night hours. Lubbock and Plainview reported lows of 8. Farther north, in the Panhandle where the clouds held overnight, low temperatures were 12 at Childress, 13 at Amarillo and 14 at Dalhart.

For Central and South Texas, the sleet and freezing rain that came with the Arctic-born storm was a blessing. It was the first appreciable moisture bone-dry farm fields had in those sections since last September.

Farmers everywhere agreed, however, that "we can use more."

Chinese Reds Use Flamethrowers For First Time

ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Feb. 15 (UP)—The Chinese Communists used flamethrowers against United Nations forces in Korea for the first time yesterday.

A company of U. S. infantrymen storming a hill north of Ichon ran into the fire weapons near the crest of a ridge.

The first man to top the hill was cut down by machinegun fire. The six men who followed him ran into a solid crossfire of flame thrown at them from flamethrowers dug in on top of the hill.

The GI's said they did not get a look at the flamethrowers or the men firing them and could not tell whether it was captured American equipment or Russian-made.

Odessa Man Killed

ODESSA, Tex., Feb. 15 (UP)—One Odessa man was killed and three critically injured today when their car crashed into a truck loaded with old field pipe about five miles north of Odessa.

Three Professors And Local Student Working On Project

Complete architectural plans for a hospital in Eastland may be made available without cost by the architectural school of Texas A & M College, Mrs. John Turner told members of the Civic League and Garden Club at a meeting Thursday.

Ted Howard, an architectural student at A & M, agreed to undertake the making of some plans as a laboratory project at school. During a recent visit here he visited the Caton Clinic and sketched it to scale.

Since he returned to school, Howard has sent word to his father here to send him a map of the city and a plot of the sewage system.

He stated that the hospital project had been welcomed in the architectural department of A&M and that three of the professors of the department are helping him on the preparation of several different plans.

Plans are being drawn up not only for a hospital to be built by adding onto the present Caton Clinic, but also for a completely new hospital building which would be located on the Daugherty street lot.

It was emphasized that all the information on building materials, their costs and merits is available at the school. Many books of hospital plans are available for reference work on the project.

Plans and sketches will be displayed at some public place when completed. If any are approved, fifth year (graduate) students of the A & M architectural department will be put to work to adapt them to the requirements.

It was stressed that nothing is to be done without the approval of the entire community.

"It seems to be a great opportunity to get expert advice," Mrs. Turner said. "How else could we get the services of so many architects without paying the price of one?"

Mrs. Turner also reported on the meeting of the hospital committee with the City Commission, Saturday.

She explained that they came away with a promise that the city would sponsor a hospital on a limited basis if allowed the management. It was explained that in this agreement, a manager for the hospital had been acquired as well as limited financial support.

Mrs. Grady Ross Services Sunday

Funeral services for Mrs. Grady Ross have been scheduled for Sunday afternoon in Norman, Okla.

Mrs. Ross, sister-in-law of Mrs. Ita Parrish was killed in a car accident in Montana, while on the way to the funeral of a relative. Mr. Ross was hospitalized for injuries received but was thought he would be able to accompany his wife's body to Norman.

73-Year-Old Poetry Writing Texan Hunts For Former Sweethearts To Give Them Copy Of His New Book

VERNON, Tex., Feb. 15 (UP)—A poetry-writing Texan who ran newspaper advertisements in an effort to find three former sweethearts wanted it understood today he's not in a marrying mood.

Charles Early Cole, 73-year-old retired Vernon druggist, said he wanted to contact his old flames because "I'm getting out a book of poetry and the pictures of all three are in the book."

Poems dedicated to the ladies will be under their pictures, he said.

"I'm not gonna marry any of 'em," Cole explained. "I just wanted to give them a copy of the book because I thought so much of them a long time ago."

Cole's quest for his former women friends came to light yesterday when the United Press found Margaret Coltart, sweetheart of Cole "about 45 years ago," in Memphis, Tenn.

The elderly Texan had advertised in the Memphis Press-Scimitar seeking to learn the whereabouts of Miss Coltart and explaining he wanted to give her a "most unusual gift."

Miss Coltart, who is not married, said hearing from Cole was "almost like Christmas."

"We were mighty good friends way back yonder when he lived in Memphis," she recalled. Miss

Coltart said she would write him a letter "right away."

Cole, however, quickly threw cold water on any idea that he was interested in matrimony — with Miss Coltart or his other old flames.

"I'm content to remain a widower," he said. "Besides, I'm sure they are all married. I got wedding invitations from them years ago."

When Cole was notified that his ex-sweetheart had been located, he quipped:

"Which one? I've got ads out for three girls."

Cole said he has been unable to locate Miss Lucille Leigh, whom he knew "about 25 years ago in Pratt, Kan."

The septuagenarian said he already had found Mrs. Phillip Baldwin of Little Rock, Ark., through an advertisement in the Arkadelphia, Ark., paper.

Cole's book, entitled "Poetry off the presses for three or four months."

"I just thought they'd like to have a copy," he said. "I didn't think matrimony would enter into it."

Starry-Eyed Youngsters Advised To Be Careful In Storming N. Y.

By John Rosenburg
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Tilli Dieterie, a comely young pianist, says Hollywood is an easier nut to crack than New York for America's stage-struck youngsters.

She advises "the country kids with stars in their eyes" to think twice before buying a bus ticket to the Big Town to try a career in show business.

"New York is 'Big League,'" she said. "It's no place for amateurs. Anyone who comes here should have at least five years experience. Nowhere else in the country—perhaps the world—is competition keener. Nowhere else are agents and editors harder to impress.

She said entertainment-minded youngsters could get experience in and around their home towns.

They should work with an agent near home, too, she said, one who has affiliations with New York agents.

Experience Needed
"The thing to do is get a good backlog of experience and make Broadway and Radio City contacts," she advised. "Then, before coming, send photos and publicity."

She said it was "virtually impossible" to make a "cold" approach and receive any attention.

"The people who do the hiring won't even talk to you, no matter how much talent you may have, unless they have seen proof of your work," she contended. "It's a hard-boiled business and the big shots don't have time to listen to dreams."

She said Hollywood, her home town, is a less difficult place for the aspiring entertainer to get a start because "you can be an out-and-out phony and get by."

New York, she also points out, offers economic as well as professional problems.

Living Cost High
"The would-be actors and actresses who come here had better be prepared to handle a side line job," she said. "The cost of living is very high and they've got to eat. They certainly can't count on jumping right into a job, or even getting a job that guarantees any sort of steady income.

"That also means that the kids who want to crack Broadway must make up their minds that they'll have to work and work hard. The girls, of course, have the toughest time. If they're pretty—and most of them are, or they wouldn't want to be entertainers—they'll get the 'rush act' and they'll meet a lot of guys with a fast line."

To get to the top in New York, she's convinced, no one can afford to waste time.

Miss Dieterie, although a veteran performer at 26, with experience in films, night clubs, television and legitimate theater, apparently believes what she says.

She's playing and singing at the Forest Hills Inn, a Queens night spot. She models. She does television work and writes articles on music. She also cooks for herself and teaches piano and harmony.

The smallest Democratic representation in the U. S. Senate occurred in the 39th Congress in 1865-67. There were only 10 Democratic members. The smallest Republican representation—15 occurred in the 34th Congress in 1855-57.

Crime Probers Call Costello For Hearing

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (UP)—Senate crime investigators called a reputed underworld overlord Frank Costello today for more information on crime in politics.

They told the mystery man of New York's underworld to appear at Foley Square Federal Court House (at 9:30 a.m. EST) with his books and records on "many transactions."

Costello already had appeared before the committee—at the opening of the closed hearing Tuesday—but refused to answer a "864 question" on the grounds it might incriminate him.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D. Tenn., committee chairman, lost patience with another witness yesterday and announced he would institute contempt proceedings against him. The recalcitrant witness was Albert Anastasia, a Brooklyn underworld leader who refused to answer committee questions about a "series of Murder, Inc., murders."

In addition to Costello, the committee ordered Michael Lascari, former associate of Charles (Lucky) Luciano, and Joseph Profaci, Brooklyn olive oil importer, to testify today.

Kefauver said the name of Luciano, exiled rackets boss, was mentioned yesterday but would not elaborate.

The committee also admitted it was hunting for connections between Costello and Tammany Hall, New York's Democratic political machine.

Sen. Charles Tobey, R. N. H., a committee member, advised newsmen to expect a "very revealing picture" when a public hearing by the committees open here next month.

Kefauver refused to say how many Tammany leaders he suspected might be linked to Costello. He noted, however, there "are some good officials and our observation is that conditions in New York are better, and not worse, than in other cities."

Tex. Lawyer Believes Complicated Terms Can Be Explained Simply

BY HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (UP)—Paul D. Page, Jr., is a government lawyer who thinks that complicated legal matters can be explained simply.

He is an enemy of such words as "aforementioned," "whereas," and simple word "said" when it doesn't mean what it says.

Page is solicitor for the Maritime Administration, under the Department of Commerce. He looks upon law as an instrument which is supposed to accomplish something and "not dump in a monkey wrench to paralyze progress."

"My idea," he said, "is to express the facts, rather than to conceal them behind a lot of meaningless syllables."

Page started as a country lawyer in Texas and remains one at heart after many years of throwing the language of the common man around—to the distress of many of his colleagues of the bar.

He was born in Bishop, Tex., in 1900, and stands a pint-sized 5 feet 4. But his opponents will tell you he can pump up his chest and blow flame at you if he makes up his mind to nail down a point of law. He got on L.L.B. in 1924 at the University of Texas.

He takes fiendish glee in appearing before a group of lawyers friends and taking a shortcut across the fuzzy snarl of legal language.

Usually, when lawyers get into a chin-fest they talk the language of the set.

Not Paul Page. Not long ago he gave a talk before a bar association about maritime in times of stress—a job he knows forward and backward. He gave it to the learned audience, in one and two syllable words, like this:

"It is fatally easy to forget the time when our cotton rotted on docks. It will not be so easy to face it if it comes again. We (the maritime) have scarcely a dozen ships capable of keeping up with the navy's convoys to police the 7,000 miles of coastline and 60 harbors."

Then, in the salty tradition of an old-time Texan, he gave the gentlemen a Lone-Star double barrel:

"I think it is time for Americans to chew over what my old daddy taught me. He used to say:

"In time of trouble carry your voice and your gun loaded."

You can't put it plainer than that.

Page has a competent legal staff to write his legal briefs, but he writes all of his speeches himself—and lets the shock of simplicity settle on his audience—if his audience can take it.

He has great respect for the Supreme Court. A lawyer, he says, gets no place there when he doesn't know his case.

"Fourth of July speeches will get you no where," he said. "A lawyer who appears before that august body must come down to earth or he is wasting his time. I like that sort of thing."

Donuts Make It Easy To Make Desserts Delicious

Donuts have always been popular for breakfast, in lunch boxes, and between meals. These versatile favorites are wonderful, too, "dressed up" in quick, easy-to-make desserts (as illustrated above).

Especially recommended for flavor and freshness are Jane Parker Donuts. Dependably fresh, because they're dated fresh right on the package, these plump, golden-brown nuggets are being enjoyed at the rate of over 2 million every day. For a real dessert treat, try Sleeps Like a Log!

BY CORRECTING LACK OF VITAMINS B₁, B₂, IRON AND NIACIN

Insomnia from upset stomach, aches and pains, due to a deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin, is no fun. It drags you down, wears you out, leaves you peopless and out of energy. But Henry Duke, Route 1, Diamond, Missouri, as so many thousands suffering from such deficiencies, has found the answer in today's great HADACOL.

He writes: "Will recommend your HADACOL I have used it for some time. Guess I have taken 12 bottles or more and it's great. I couldn't eat or sleep. So, now, I eat plenty and sleep like a log. I really think it's wonderful. I buy a bottle every week. But, I won't be without it. It has helped me all over, and I do praise it. I work at the marble and rock quarry and since I have been taking HADACOL I feel more like working. My age is 56. I would like for everyone to know what HADACOL is and how it helps people who take it."

Last War's Widows Favor Re-Marrying

CHICAGO (UP)—Most World War II widows would like to marry again, but the right man is hard to meet, officials of the Gold Star Wives of America find.

The organization's national board met here.

"Most of us are in our thirties now and the men old enough for us to marry already have wives," said Mrs. Ann Reinke of Philadelphia, president of the 6,000 Gold Star Wives.

"Those men who are our age and are single—there's something wrong with them or they'd be married."

Mrs. Reinke denied that sentiment or grief keeps most war widows from marrying.

"We believe it would be fine to be married if we could find the right man," she said. "But most of us had wonderful husbands and we aren't any less particular now than we were the first time."

DID YOU KNOW?

That the balance wheel of a watch turns 432,000 times each day—That the balance wheel screws are so tiny a thimble holds more than 14,000—That some parts in a watch are thinner than a human hair.

As you can see, it is important that you have a competent watchmaker to repair your watch. At Beskow's your watch is electronically timed on a machine that is accurate to less than one millionth of a second.

Valentine Sweetheart Banquet Honors Young People Of Church

The Rev. Joe Smith spoke on "The Romance of the Ages" Tuesday evening at the Sweetheart Banquet given for the young people of the First Baptist Church at the church.

The Fellowship room of the church, where the heart-shaped table was laid in white linen and beautifully decorated in the Valentine Theme, was the scene of the festivities.

Margie Roe was chosen for the Queen and Bobby Womack was elected King and were escorted by J. L. Waller and Aubrey Shafer, and crowned by A. J. Blevins, Jr., master of ceremonies.

The king and queen headed a group of boys and girls in a musical quiz, in which the group were to name the sweetheart in a group of songs presented by Mrs. Ed French. Mrs. French also sang two solos, "I Love You Truly", and "Tea For Two", accompanied at the piano by Helen Lucas.

Places were laid for 55 young people. The head of the table seated the sponsoring group and was decorated with an arrangement of red and white tulips. The lower table seated the young people and was prepared as a picture valentine.

Housewife Has Plan To Stop Rising Prices

FORT WORTH, TEX., Feb. 15 (UP)—A flashing-eyed Ft. Worth housewife, irate over rising food prices, today called on other homemakers to help her in "freezing the freeze."

Mrs. Ruth Weis, a diminutive mother of three, asserted that the price freeze wasn't doing much freezing. Food prices still are going up, she said. Particularly meat.

Mrs. Weis then offered her plan for combating the situation, an idea that she calls "freezing the freeze." It's based on a substitution process.

"We just don't buy a darned thing if the price rises as much as a half cent," she said.

"When hamburger meat goes up, we eat frankfurters. If frankfurters go up, then we eat beans. From beans, we go to spaghetti."

The hazel-eyed Mrs. Weis said that "if our stomachs can stand it long enough, hamburger will be cheaper."

Then, she said with a wry smile, "In our weakened condition, it might faintly resemble steak."

Mrs. Weis centered her attention on food, she said, because it's her heaviest expense on her budget. Food prices, she declared,

Shifting Insurance Burdens—
... has long been a custom of the American public, and it's a good custom. Don't try to carry the load of financial risks against loss yourself, but shift it to your local agent and let insurance do it. Your losses may be hours or years away but meanwhile insurance will give you mental peace that is worth far more than it costs. Loss or no loss, you win either way—with insurance.

Navy Drops 'R' From Class Of Active Reserves

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15 (UP)—Ladies, don't get excited if your husband or fiancé starts signing his mail as USN instead of USNR. It doesn't mean he's gone off and joined the regulars to stay away from home.

Eighth Naval District headquarters here today said the Navy and Marine Corps have removed the "R" designation from its traditional USNR and USMCR classifications for active duty reservists. A reservist who reports for active duty from now on will be USN or USMC. The "R" still applies however, the Navy said, for reserves on training duty and in matters pertaining to personnel records.
