U. S. SABREJETS DOWN NINE RED MIG'S IN RECORD RUN

8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS Korea, Oct. 15 (UP) — U. S. Sabrejets shot down a record nine Communist jet fighters and damaged five more in mass air battles which raged the length and breadth of "MIG Alley" in northwest Korea today.

Eight of the Soviet-built MIG-15 jets were destroyed in a single battle lasting only 15 minutes. It was the biggest one-day and one-battle bag of enemy planes in the history of jet air warfare.

No American losses were reported in the 175-plane battles. On the ground, bayonet-wielding United Nations forces pushed within five miles of the big Communist base of Kumsong and hacked out limited gains in a new assault to the west.

Maj. Gen. Paik Sun Yuk, commander of the 1st South Korean Corps and a former member of the UN truce delegation, said the Chinese and North Korean armies have been so badly battered in recent weeks that they will have "to seek some sort of peace."

"We know the enemy has been badly hurt," Paik told UP War Correspondent Robert C. Miller at the eastern front. "We are taking more prisoners than we have in months and all of them are thoroughly demoralized and ready to quit."

There were two big air battles in "MIG Alley," which runs from Sinuiju on the Yalu River Manchurian frontier to Sinanju, 75 miles to the southeast.

Twelve sabrejets missing a photo-reconnaissance mission near Sinuiju ripped into an estimated 30 MIG jets in the morning battle.

One enemy jet was shot down by Col. Benjamin S. Preston of Hollywood, Calif., commander of the 4th Fighter Interceptor Group.

Baptist Group Meeting Held Monday Night

Regular Brotherhood meeting was held at the First Baptist church Monday night with a fairly representative group of members in attendance. Following a covered dish "feed" the men enjoyed a splendid program.

Guest speaker for the evening was H. H. Harvey, DeLeon banker. His address was enjoyed by the entire group.

Brotherhood officers elected a month ago took over their new duties last evening. They are: Lee G. Ham, president; Aubrey Shaughnessy, membership vice president; Earl O'Brien, program chairman; H. A. Blevins, Jr., activities chairman; James Fields, treasurer; and Dee Burleson, secretary.

Next month the group is planning an extra special program, and hope to have some outstanding speaker present.

Three Enter Pleas Of Guilty On Liquor Charges And Are Fined; Kimbrough Acquitted

Five cases were disposed of in criminal district court Monday. Three entered pleas of guilty and one was convicted an acquittal resulted in the last, and liquor case tried before a jury.

Dan Bachis, charged with possession of whisky with intent to sell, entered a plea of guilty and was assessed a fine of one hundred dollars and cost.

Henry Melton (col) charged with possession of whisky for the purpose of sale, was also fined $100.00 and cost.

Absher Hartfield, charged with possession of whisky for the purpose of sale entered a plea of guilty, and was fined $150.00 and cost. He also faces trial on another similar case.

The case styled State of Texas vs. Robert Dwight Townsend, charged with negligent homicide, was continued until December 10th. Townsend also faces another case in which he is charged with possession of liquor for purpose of sale to be called Dec. 10.

and the rest fled across the border into Manchuria. All American jets returned safely to their base.

In the afternoon, 33 American Sabrejets accepted three-to-one odds and took on more than 100 Communist MIG-15s. They sent eight of the Communist sweptback wing jets crashing to earth and damaged five others.

Two UN ground offensives on the east-central and west-central fronts touched off some of the bitterest fighting since the fall of "Heartbreak Ridge" last week.

The Communist battled fiercely and launched several sharp counter-attacks to save their mountain defenses on the approaches to Pyongyang, the North Korean Capital, in the west, and the port of Wonsan in the east.

Carbon Joins Eastland On Hospital Work

Hospital workers Monday night were more numerous than usual, and considerable work was accomplished. It may be that the extra "feed" had something to do with the attendance.

Five residents of Carbon registered for work, which goes to prove that the entire county is interested in the erection of the new hospital. They were: T. E. Robertson, Sam McAfee, Collier Campbell, Charges Stafford, and W. J. Greer.

Local workers included M. A. Perry, F. M. Spurlen, Gordon Taylor, Otto Marshall, Wendell Siebert, Joe Lee Williams, Neal Seabourn, W. G. Womack, C. J. Germain, L. L. Black, L. T. Fowler, Wayne Jackson, Milton Fuller and Wayne Brock. The Highway Department's roller operator, L. P. Quarles was also in attendance.

Sub-Deb Club sponsors were: Mrs. Dan Doyle and Mrs. Jack Frost, sponsors; Mmes. Gene Griffin, Sarita Seale, Frances Van Geem, Ann Day, Zena Grissom, Gale Greer, Heidi Throne, Maxine Harbin, Gale Parrock, Claudine Lasater and Jan Mayfield.

Missionary To Argentina To Speak In City

Reverend C. Lester Johnson, missionary to Argentina, will speak Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the Church of the Nazarene. Prior to sailing to Argentina in 1946, Rev. and Mrs. Johnson served pastorates in the Church of the Nazarene at Ogden, Utah and Filer, Idaho.

In Argentina Rev. Johnson was pastor of the church at Rosario where he built a church and parsonage during his first term of service. The local church invites your presence at this special service.

Rotarians Get Facts About Our New Hospital

Bob Vaughan of Western Auto Supply store, was main speaker at the Rotary luncheon Monday. Mr. Vaughan has been very active in hospital promotion work, and is probably as well versed in facts as any man in the city.

No particularly figures or facts were mentioned, though he gave a rather complete resume of what has been accomplished to date.

Concerning work and workers, who are active each evening, he stated that more than 1,200 work hours have been donated to date. This does not include work done by electricians and plumbers. In the short time workers have had, they have dug more than 900 feet of 7-inch holes—some in rock. Also they have dug more than 500 feet of deep trenches for the foundation, moved a lot of sand and gravel and did other work, that was assigned to them.

He also mentioned some of the donations of material that have not been mentioned. For instance steel that was donated to be used for reinforcing the concrete. Several thousand feet of sucker rods were donated and some 2500 ft. were used. The balance was traded for regular reinforcing steel. All sand was donated as well as the hauling, and the same trucks brought in the necessary rock at a greatly reduced price.

An Abilene firm was asked to bid on certain electrical materials. They didn't have the items in question in stock, so they donated quite a bit of other materials free of charge. On every hand people have been very considerate and generous, Mr. Vaughan said.

While additional money will be needed in the future, he stressed the fact that construction, so far, has not been hampered because of lack of funds.

It seems that if no unforeseen hindrances arise, the floor will be poured and completed within the next two weeks, and by December 1st, the roof should be completed.

Turkey Crop In Eastland Is Valuable

The poultry industry in Eastland county is something we should know more about.

A few days ago while driving out the highway south of town we saw a large number of white turkeys. We admired them and when we got back home we inquired about the owner. It took only a few minutes time to learn from Marvin Hutto. He took us to the owner, Sid Arthur, who in connection with his sons own the Arthur Produce Co.

Mr. Arthur readily admitted ownership and also pled guilty to ownership of another bunch of similar size. In other words he owns more than 1000 turkeys—all white, and with the holidays just around the corner, and at present prices, 33c to 38c they represent a small fortune.

During the past summer Mr. Arthur has been dressing and shipping from 8 to 10 thousands broilers each month and during the next 60 days approximately 10,000 turkeys will be prepared and shipped to Eastern markets. Mr. Arthur explained that the turkey industry in this country is growing by leaps and bounds. He likes the Beltsville White, but admits that Bourbon Reds and the broad breasted Bronze are mighty good, also.

There are several large growers in this country, and among them are Hardy Tidwell of near Desdemona who grows about 2,500 birds each year. Alvin Kincaid of near Eastland is another large grower. Next year Mr. Arthur plans to grow some 3,000 birds. His sons, Bill and Tip, will devote their attention to the produce business, and the dressing of birds, while the father plans to devote his time to outside activities.

And farmer, according to Mr. Arthur, can grow a few birds. If they get the pullets or baby chicks a plan has been worked out where by they can make arrangements to finances the feed, etc. There has been some talk about a poultry association, and such an organization may come into being at no distant date. Already Eastland county poultrymen are producing many thousands of birds annually, and this number can be increased materially.

THE WEATHER

By United Press

A cold front, described by weathermen as the chilliest so far this season, howled toward Texas today and the Panhandle was warned temperatures probably would drop to as low as 34 degrees by tomorrow morning.

Early today the front had moved across Montana and on into Colorado, along nature's traditional route between the north pole and the Texas Panhandle.

The weather bureau in Dallas said that with temperatures as low as 34 degrees, isolated spots in the Panhandle would experience light frost.

Although moving at a good clip across Colorado, the front was expected to slow up once in Texas and get no farther east than the northwest corner of East Texas by tonight.

Most of the north and west portions of the state tomorrow will feel the cold blasts which may go even lower as more cold air, still in the Yukon but moving this way, reaches Texas.

The cold front was preceded last night by gusty, 20-25 mile per hour winds in the Panhandle though little change in temperature was noted.

Monday temperatures over the state were generally warm with a top of 95 reported at Presidio. The low maximum was 78 at Galveston but most maximum readings were in the 80's. Dahlhart's 44 was the overnight low and galveston and Laredo had the overnight high minimum of 69.

The Weather Bureau said the latest front gave little promise of easing the State's autumn drought. Only widely scattered showers were forecast as the cool air approached.

UNOFFICIAL REPORTS SAID EIGHT PERSONS WERE KILLED

CAIRO, EGYPT, Oct. 16 (UP) —British troops sent into action in the Suez canal zone against Egyptian rioters and unofficial reports said eight persons were killed.

In Alexandria, Egyptian police fired on rioters who hurled stones and bottles and overturned and burned two private cars. Police reported several casualties.

The unofficial reports said six Egyptians and two British nationals were killed at Ismailia, just south of Port Said British troops were reported earlier by a military spokesman to have gone into action there to quell disorders. Reports said Egyptian troops were being rushed to the area.

The British spokesman said British troops sought to quiet riots which began when a mob set fire to a British Services Post Exchange.

The spokesman said earlier when announcing the troops, action he had "no idea of the number of casualties, if any."

Egyptian police were standing by passively during the disorders he said.

Travelers from Ismailia said the situation was under control.

(In London a British way office spokesman said a British soldier had been stabbed in daylight yesterday in Ismailia. It was not known if the stabbing was fatal. The war office said it had no reports yet on British troops being in "action" there.)

The spokesman said the British troops were members of the 1st Lancashire Fusiliers. The Cairo newspaper Al Balagh, organ of the governing Wafdist party said the Ismailia rioters set fire to some British Army equipment. Trucks also were overturned and fired, it said.

An Egyptian army unit was sent to Ismailia to reinforce security forces, the newspaper said.

The rioting followed the Egyptian parliament's approval last night of the government's plan to junk the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian treaty under which Britain keeps forces in the canal zone.

The parliament also approved government action to put the Sudan under the Egyptian crown of King Farouk. This would end an 1899 agreement under which Britain and Egypt shared in the administration of the Sudan.

Other developments in the hectic hours following last night's meeting of parliament included: 1. Some 70,000 Nationalists defied a police ban on demonstrations and a state of emergency to surge through downtown Cairo in anti-British demonstrations.

2. The newspaper Al Balagh said the government had cut off communications between the British Embassy in Cairo and Alexandria and the British mid-eastern command posts at Fayid and Ismailia, both in the canal zone.

3. Other newspaper reports from the canal zone said Egyptian railway men, telegraph and telephone operators, and taxi drivers had begun a "voluntary" boycott of British troops there.

The demonstrators in Cairo pressed through streets shouting: "Down with Britain! Long live Farouk! One Nile, one nation, one King!"

CHAMBERLAIN NO. 2 ALLMON COMPLETED; GOOD SHOWING

Jack Chamberlain's Allmon No. 2, located in the extreme northwest outskirts of Olden, was completed last night. This well is being closely watched, for it gives promise of being something out of the ordinary.

Drilling ceased at the depth of 1,520 feet. The drilling crew knew several days ago that it was no ordinary test. At a depth of 1,480 feet they began preparing to bring in a real well, and they were not surprised when they penetrated a 30-foot strata of oil saturated sand.

Today, according to Mr. Chamberlain, a Schlumberger picture will be made and pipe will be set. Oil producing sand in this locality is seldom more than 15-feet, while the No. 2 Allmon sand is slightly over 30-feet. This might mean most anything, but all comments are very favorable.

The well drilled as a water flood project may never require any water. At least at the present time other plans are being made. Possibly the well will produce a large quantity of oil without outside assistance, it is thought.

Chamberlain's No. 1 Allmon has been temporarily abandoned. The No. 1 is only a short distance from the No. 2, and while it has attracted considerable attention, it is nothing to be compared with the latest strike.

THE STORY: Captured by Sioux after the Fetterman massacre, John Clayton, who served with the Confederate forces in the Civil War, meets and falls in love with Star of the North, Indian holy woman. He goes to see her, confesses his love, but she tells him that "no man may wait outside my lodge." However, Clayton, known as Walking Hawk, challenges her to a race which if he loses he agrees to bring her the heart of a great enemy. Star jumps on Clayton's horse and wins the race.

XIII

A MORE gentle reception of an emotional outburst was never given a love story than was given mine by Crazy Horse, that very Indian who shall probably go down through white legend as the bloodiest red wretch of them all.

"My brother," he answered, soberly, when my tale of the morning's events had spilled out, "I am my people's leader. What I say now is thus spoken. You cannot have this woman so long as she will not have you. But in our eyes, holiness is a personal thing. That of Star's being hers to keep or abandon as she sees fit. So long as she wills to remain pure, so long will the price of her holiness be held at the last drop of Sioux blood on these prairies."

It is fair to set down here the fact I respected the Sioux beliefs and taboos so long as I was among them without, at the same time, sharing them. At no time was Star anything to me but a woman, the most desirable in the world, true, but always and simply a woman. Could I take her in compliance with Dacotah custom, I would. If not, I meant to have her anyway.

Crazy Horse signified the council was over. Casting about for some means of strengthening my contact with him, hence increasing my chance I might come upon to win Star honorably, I resolved to tell him of the plan which caused me to quit the Army at Fort Phil Kearney; the plan on which Carlington had turned thumbs down. Briefly, I did so.

He listened gravely. When I had done, his answer was clear and succinct. "The Little White Chief was right. Whiskey has done the Indian harm, as have all white customs, but it is in my heart to know when he comes the white man brings death for the Indian, whether he comes with whiskey or with hands empty. They will have the land."

Slatemeyer, to Tashunka Witko, constituted, with all his kind, but a delaying action in the white man's determination to extirpate the red. The main action would be the destruction of the Indian's commissary, the buffalo. Without this free-roving food supply the Indian was done. The war chief could see it. He knew it. His people were doomed.

BUT whiskey was still big business. To protect it, the whiskey trader not only supplied the Indian with liquor but in case after documented case, incited him to attack white settlements and wagon trains. To keep the country free of whites and full of Indians added up to profits for the whiskey runner. Men like Slatemeyer never neglected looking to their profits.

Where the reactions of certain of the Sioux to my plan brought all these old suspicions to mind, the enthusiasm of the other confused me. The young braves and sub-chiefs were full of interest.

Upshot of the session was that I should have my way, with the added recommendation that I start "when the short grass was up and the first fat showing on the ponies." This suited my impatience well enough. Winter was already far gone; spring not more than three moons away.

Crazy Horse was away much of the time traveling the winter circle of war camps, laying out the spring

Take A Tip From The Girls; Get A New Hat Today

Men, this fall take a tip from the girls—"Get That New Hat Feeling!" More than ever before as soon as you see the exciting new designs your hatter has to show, you'll quickly realize that not only is your hat the keystone of your entire ensemble, but also wearing a becoming new hat does more to give you a feeling of self-confidence than any other new piece of clothing you buy.

And the good news about all this, is that not only is there a hat for every face but also for every occasion. To illustrate it more clearly, let's take you through a day's activities:

In the morning for work, you'll probably choose the latest narrow brim, center crease, tapered crown style. These are gaining in popularity because they're an excellent choice for both younger and older men. They give a youthful appearance to the wearer, and help the young man avoid the possibility of "too much hat." Although they're available in a color range of greys, browns, blues and greens, the newest and smartest combination is the medium brown with contrasting blue band. By the way, this style is also just as campaign for the coming wagon-train season along the Boreman Trail. When he traveled I went with him, meeting most of the famous Sioux chiefs and warriors.

Because of these wide rangings up and down and across the Sioux homeland, my name and new tribal status became familiar throughout the Indian nation.

But somewhere in the red hierarchy was a warrior who loved his whiskey better than his native land. The whiskey runners had a full report of my intentions before I moved a micaceous in their direction. So efficient was Slatemeyer's intelligence he not only had my plans but my complete history since joining the Sioux, my capture, convalescence and subsequent journey to Star.

MY scouts had located the barges of the whiskey runner frozen in on the Missouri, just south of Fort Kiowa. Slatemeyer, it appeared, had tried to squeeze in a last trip the season before, being caught by early ice. I had no idea he would be so close, assuming that this time of year would see him in Kansas City outfitting for the spring trip up the Big Muddy. I made another wrong assumption: that he had been caught by the ice on his way out, with empty barges.

So I started south for Fort Kiowa six weeks ahead of the expected spring break-up on the Missouri, having changed my mind about waiting for spring. Figuring now to find his barges still frozen-in sitting ducks for the shooting. With me went my first Indian command, 10 young Oglala men, hand-picked by Crazy Horse. My plan was simple; find the barges and fire them.

There were three of these, all small ones without living quarters aboard. This meant the crews would be winter-camped ashore, possibly at Fort Kiowa, but more likely in the vicinity of the boats. Even with the Army's sub rosa compliance, the runners usually observed surface precautions. They would hardly dare in this case, I thought, to winter in an Army post where their presence would need some explanation.

wearing some sort of ornament—a miniature brush or replica of some piece of sporting equipment. These not only add color to your entire ensemble but also have great appeal on the sports side. And if you're young executive, "fresh out of school," you can still wear your old favorite telescope crown. This has been the young man's favorite for many years, and no wonder—its narrow brim and low crown fit a youthful face perfectly.

Safe Braking Margin Varies

Importance of driving in accordance with highway conditions is illustrated by this diagrammatic view prepared by Chevrolet in the interest of traffic safety. Standard braking tables reveal 190 feet is required for a stop at 50 miles an hour, allowing three-quarters of a second for a driver's reaction to an emergency. When the pavement is wet, however, the distance increases to 238 feet. On icy pavement 472 feet will be covered before a car brakes to a complete stop.

On the other hand, if instead of watching, you're going to participate in a round of golf, play tennis, skeet shooting, fishing or one of the many other popular American sports, you'll want to wear one of the smartly styled 1951 caps. These have enjoyed a tremendous revival in the past couple of years, and this fall's crop promises to be bigger than ever. They're made in a variety of challis wools, tweedy mixtures, plaids, nylon and many other favorite materials. Colorwise, you'll find just the right one to highlight any fashion right sports ensemble you may be wearing. They look especially well with the new sport shirts new featured in stores throughout the country.

And for your date in the evening, you're always sure to be properly dressed when you wear a Homburg. This hat, which for many years was worn mostly by diplomats and older businessmen, is becoming more popular with young men too. It looks well on most any type face—youthful or old full or trim—and really marks its wearer as a man of good taste.

So no matter what your choice of clothes, go out and prove to yourself that a new hat on top of your head, gives you that "top of the world" feeling. And believe

Grow Christmas Flowers From Bulbs in Water

Growing flowers for Christmas in the modern home is not easy, but it can be done if Paper White Narcissus bulbs are started Nov. 1, and grown in carefully regulated temperatures. Without such care the flowers are likely to be inferior, and the stems weak, because the bulbs have not matured to the degree most favorable for "forcing."

"Forcing" is the florist's word for making a plant flower out of season; and the formula for accomplishing this is much the same with all bulbs. Bulbs develop, even in storage; and take time to reach the stage where they are ready to grow. If planted then, they first must produce roots, since top growth without good roots is weak, and seldom flowers.

Paper White narcissi, planted in bowls filled with gravel or pearl chips, should be kept in a temperature below 60 degrees for four weeks; preferably in dim light. When root growth is sufficient, top growth will begin, and then they should have all the light possible. Best flowers will result when the temperature never exceeds 70 degrees; keep them away from radiators and steam pipes, and out of overheated living rooms.

Instead of gravel, bowls may be filled with bulb fibre, or potting soil. Containers should be deep enough to allow two inches of gravel, fibre or soil below them. Set the bulbs close together but do not let them touch; and only the necks should emerge from the soil.

Yellow Paper Whites (soliel d'or) and Narcissus Early Perfection can also be grown by these methods; but they take longer to make flowers. The best time to start all these is Dec. 1, for mid-January flowers.

Large bulbs of hyacinths can be grown in water in special glasses; and both bulbs and glasses are available this year for the first time since the war began. The glasses support the bulbs just above the water, so that their roots drop. It takes 10 to 12 weeks for the roots to develop. In a dark place, in cool temperature. When roots fill the glass and top growth begins, acustom the plant gradually to light, and grow slowly in a temperature below 65 degrees. The water should not be changed, but merely replenished.

When top growth begins, these bulbs must have all the light you can give them. They should be kept near windows, in a sunparlor or room where ventilation can be given and temperatures kept down. By arranging shelves in front of a window on which the plants can stand, an attractive display is made.

Lily of the Valley pipes can be flowered in bowls of moss and water.

SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE WILL OPEN TITLE FIGHT SATURDAY

By United Press
 Four Southwest Conference schools get their first taste of title competition this weekend as the scrap for the championship begins in earnest.

For two of the six teams involved in the three conference games—Texas Christian and Arkansas—the impending battles will be their second and third conference tryouts.

But Texas, which plays Arkansas, and Rice and Southern Methodist which meet in Dallas, along with Texas A&M which goes against TCU at Fort Worth, all get their baptism into 1957 play-keeps.

Patricia.
 When King announced his engagement to the Auburn haired dancer, whom he met in a Paris night club, early this month, his mother announced she was disowning him.

"Things seem brighter between my mother and us," King said today.

The Texan changed his name to Abdullah, which means "slave of Alla," and became a Moslem in order to marry the curvaceous 27-year-old Egyptian known for her "Virgin of the Nile" dance.

"I know my mother can't help liking Samia when she meets her because she is so wonderful and has such a kind heart."

Samia said she was "very happy about the news because I want my fiance's mother to like me and I know I'll like her in turn."

Texas, proud victors over Oklahoma last Saturday, will take a full complement to Fayetteville barring further injuries in practice this week.

Coach Ed Price said that only end Tom Stolhandske and center Jack Barton were injured seriously enough Saturday to miss the workouts Monday. Both are expected to be in shape by Wednesday, Price said. The coach went to Douglas, Ariz., today for the funeral of Gilbert Dawson, Sr., father of halfback Gib Dawson.

The elder Dawson died Saturday while talking to his son in a Dallas hotel a few minutes before game time.

Arkansas, which has shown unexpected offensive power despite its two conference losses to TCU and Baylor, is also expected to be at full strength—and fired up—for the Longhorn encounter.

At Houston, Coach Jess Neely gave his 25 Rice varsity crewmen who saw action against Navy a rest yesterday, but sent the remainder of his squad through scrimmage with the freshmen team.

Neely reported no injuries in the Owl upset over the Middles.

Coach Rusty Russell also gave the Southern Methodist varsity a break, allowing those who saw action against Notre Dame to limber up bruised muscles without pads, then hear a scout's report on Rice and view movies of last year's Rice-SMU game.

The Texas Aggies, hardly tired from Saturday's breather with Trinity, went to work for their TCU encounter, devoting much of the day to plotting defense against the Horned Frogs' spread formation.

The Trinity game wasn't without cost to the Aggies. Halfback Augie Saxe, a prime mover in the defensive lineup, suffered a broken arm.

End Walter Hill also was out, because of knee surgery last week, and backs Bob Smith and Billy Tidwell skipped contact work, but participated in other drills.

The Frogs also went to work preparing for the Aggie game despite their bruising, upset loss to Texas Tech last week. Coach L. R. (Dutch) Meyer was something less than optimistic, though, in reporting that quarterback Malvin Fowler is definitely out and Gil Bartosh, whose place Fowler took is a doubtful starter.

The only bright spot, Meyer said, was the return of fullback Bobby Jack Floyd who has been out with a broken hand.

Faylog, meanwhile, heard scouting reports of unheralded offensive strength on Texas Tech's Red Raiders who produced five touchdowns against TCU. The Bears, too, will be without the services of all conference end Harold Riley as well as guard Walter Bates.

King Thinks His Belly Dancer Can Win Mother Over

CAIRO, EGYPT, Oct. 16 (UP)—Sheppard W. Abdullah King III was certain today the "kind heart" of sloop-eyed shimmy dancer Samia Gamal will win over his wealthy mother.

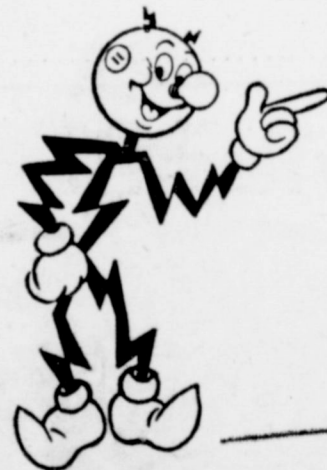

King said he was "happy and extremely surprised" to hear his mother, Mrs. Boner King, of Houston, Tex., had changed her mind and would not disown him when he marries King Farouk's favorite belly dancer.

King, 26-year-old wealthy former Marine, said he had not expected his mother would "soften up" her attitude toward Samia, as reported by his 19-year-old sister

Former Envoy Claims Britain Wrong On Oil

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (UP)—Henry F. Grady, recently-retired U.S. Ambassador to Iran, said today that Great Britain had made a "great mistake" in taking the Iranian oil controversy to the United Nations.

By appealing the oil nationalization issue to the UN, Grady said, the British have given Iranian Premier Mohammad Mossadegh "the chance of a great forum to tell the world how this (Anglo-Iranian) oil company has oppressed the Iranian people, how western capitalism is tending to control and possibly destroy other countries in the undeveloped part of the world."

In a sharply critical attack on British strategy during the oil controversy, Grady claimed in a copyrighted interview with the weekly magazine, U. S. News & World Report, that the British should have continued to negotiate with Iran.

Two Oklahoma Mentioned To Succeed Boyle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (UP)—Two Oklahomans have been mentioned among possible successors to William M. Boyle, Jr., as chairman of the Democratic National Committee:

Sen. Robert S. Kerr and former governor Roy J. Turner. They had big parts in Mr. Truman's 1948 campaign.

More prominently mentioned was former Secretary of Navy John L. Sullivan of New Hampshire. Sullivan now practices law here.

James A. Farley, who master-minded Franklin D. Roosevelt to his triumphant first and second nominations, doubtless could have the job if he would take it.

Price Daniel To Help Try Test Case On Slots

AUSTIN, Oct. 16 (UP)—Attorney General Price Daniel prepared today to join Galveston County officials in prosecuting what he called a "very important test case" on slot machines.

Daniel said he offered his assistance to Galveston County Attorney Raymond E. Magee in a suit seeking confiscation of 106 slot machines.

Justice of Peace James L. McKenna of Galveston ruled Oct. 8 that the 106 machines, from which pay-off mechanisms had been removed, had not been proved to be gambling devices.

The Attorney General said the head of Texas' Department of Public Safety, Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., agreed with him that the suit would be a good test of the new, tough anti-slot machine law.

MIAMI, Fla.—High tides battered the Virginia and North Carolina coasts today as a late season tropical hurricane rolled slowly up the Atlantic seaboard some 230 miles offshore.

LONDON—The Pakistan high commissioner announced today that Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan of Pakistan had died after being wounded by an assassin in the town of Rawalpindi, Pakistan.

WASHINGTON—Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R-O) formally announced today that he will be a candidate for the 1952 Republican presidential nomination.

Oldest B-29 Crew Of Korea Returns To United States

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 16 (UP)—The oldest B-29 combat crew, in Korea, from point of service, returned home yesterday and kissed the earth beside a McClellan Field runway after alighting from its battle-scarred plane, a veteran of two wars.

The crew was headed by Capt. John D. McClung, 28, of Amarillo, Tex. It included another Texan, Cpl. William E. Gray, of Houston.

Their plane, the "Sarasota Queen," had dropped 1,600,000 pounds of bombs on Communist targets. It was purchased by the citizens of Sarasota, Fla., in a World War II bond drive.
