It seems as though everybody is crazy but us, and we have doubts about ourself. We do pull such synthetic stunts, and so needlessly. We make a big job of labor when all we had to do was some minor detail. We are prone to do it the hard way. We don't want it easy, for we might get an idea it was no good because of the ease. We could take a thousand dollars worth of good lumber, get a good saw and hammer, and when we got through we wouldn't have anything but a poorly constructed dog house, and about nine hundred dollars worth of mutilated lumber. On the other hand we heard of a fellow who sawed a chunk out of an old lightning struck log and made a fiddle out of it. The fiddle was worth more than a forest of "trees in the rough." He was a mechanic, we a lumber butcher. That's all the difference.

And the sad part is we have more butchers than we do mechanics. We spend our entire lives half-doing everything we touch. And we are crazy for doing it. We need treatment here crutches won't do any good.

We are not altogether to blame for this, for here in America we have an easy time, as compared with people in many other countries. We are prone to take everything for granted, for we just don't let people go hungry over here, if we know it, whether they are worthy or not.

Since we started writing this column we have decided that maybe we are the only crazy one. As we look back over our life we find that we have not made any history. We have never done our very best, but have tried to get by the easy way. We have an idea many others are doing the same way. The world remembers men and women who do things. Tom Edison continues to live in our minds and we see the fruits of his labors every day, though he departed this life many years ago. America will never forget Washington or Abraham Lincoln. We have lawyers, doctors, ministers and merchants whose names will be on the tongues of thousands of people for hundreds of years after they are gone. They did something other than exist while on earth. They did not seek the easy way, but the right way, and they made history—pages and pages of it.

Weight doesn't mean everything. John D. Rockefeller ate a lot of sardines and crackers before he knew what a K. C. Sirloin was. He amassed millions in money, but he didn't quit work because he had a few million dollars. He lived to be almost a hundred years old and worked all his life. Children born a hundred years from now, will be able to tell you about him. Henry Ford started with the Model-T, but he didn't quit there. His name is world-wide and will be for a thousand years. Henry Ford left a permanent imprint on the rate of time and will ever be forgotten. We could name others, but why do so? The thing is, every important man and woman all down history has been a worker—not a loafer.

It is not how much you have but what you do that counts.

People do not care how much money, you make, but you are a failure if you have failed to make the world a better place in which to live.

Some of the world's greatest characters have lived and died as paupers, but the world honors them for what they did. Edgar Allen Poe didn't have much money, but he left us "The Raven" and other poems that will live forever. Do something if you would have the world honor you.

Maybe none of us are crazy. We did know enough to move to Eastland, U.S.A.

LBS Reformed To Operate On West Coast

HOLLYWOOD Calif., May 21 (UP)—The Liberty Radio Network, an outgrowth of the defunct Liberty Broadcasting System, will begin operations in four western states in June with 26 affiliated stations.

Benton Paschall, former LBS vice president and west coast manager, announced yesterday that the new network would begin operating in California, Oregon, Washington and Arizona the first week of next month.

The announcement followed a meeting of representatives of west coast stations formerly affiliated with LBS which ceased operations two weeks ago.

The new network will be incorporated in California, with former LBS president Gordon McLendon of Dallas as president. Paschall will serve as executive vice-president.

Paschall said the network would offer six hours of daily programming, featuring re-creation of major league baseball games, commentaries and newscasts.

"We will add to the 26 charter stations and expand to other states later but will concentrate on the west coast at the outset," he said.

Hospital Worker Group Will Pose For Photograph

If you have aided in the construction of Eastland's new hospital, we trust you will make it a point to be at the hospital Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. At that time we plan to make a big group picture of all workers, and this picture is to appear in our special hospital edition which is to appear a little later.

Texas Still In Spelling Bee In Washington, D. C.

Twelve-year-old Louis Hatfield of Liberty, Texas, is one of 51 finalists from across the nation in Washington for the championship round of the 1952 Spelling Bee.

It is the second trip to Washington for Louise who was eliminated last year while Irving Belz of Memphis, Tenn., won the contest.

The 31 girls and 20 boys are finalists from local spelling contests in which four-million 500 thousand grade school youngsters competed.

A cash prize of $500 and a free trip to New York this weekend awaits the youngster who walks off with the title.

Three Tug Crewmembers Missing After Collision

CHESTER, Pa., May 22 (UP)—Three crewmembers of a tug boat are missing after the collision between the tug and an oil tanker in the Delaware River at Chester, Pennsylvania.

Four members of the tug Patco and three men working on barges being towed by the tug were rescued. No one was injured on the tanker Atlantic Dealer.

Plans Furthered For Sing Fest, 1st Sunday June

The Kendrick's Quartet, regularly featured over a local radio station each Sunday morning, will take part in the first Sunday singing to be held in Ranger at the First Christian Church, 2:00 p.m., June 2.

Other singers, or singing groups that will participate in the singing will be the Kenneth Mayhall Quartet, Clyde Fisher Quartet of Eastland, the Ladies Quartet of Eastland, managed by Mrs. Hollenbeck, Spradlin Quartet of Caddo, Rhythmaires of Stephenville who are heard over the Stephenville radio, and others.

Frank Stamps, president of the Stamps Music Co., will be among those at the singing, which is free to the public.

Kenneth Mayhall of Ranger is president of the singing association, and he says indications are that a well rounded program of singing will be heard at the singing, the first Sunday in June at the Ranger First Christian Church.

Chicago Group Protest Radio, TV News Ban

CHICAGO, May 21 (UP)—The Chicago News Broadcasters Association has protested a proposal by Sen. Pat McCarran to ban radio and television news coverage of Senate committee sessions.

Association President Spencer Allen of WGN-TV wrote the Nevada Senator, asking that the group's views be considered during judiciary committee hearings on the proposed legislation.

Allen's letter says the bill "would encourage the present trend to withhold or suppress at both national and local levels."

The association said the bill "also is discriminatory in favoring other media of news reporting over radio and television."

Betty Gay Allen Club Treasurer

COMMERCE, May 21—Betty Gay Allen of Eastland has been elected treasurer of the Zeta Mu chapter of Kappa Delta Pi at East Texas State College.

Miss Allen, the daughter of Mrs. Nell St. John, is a junior elementary education major. She is past president of Toanoove social club for women and is a member of Women's Recreation Association.

American GI Is Found Guilty Of Killing Germans

A judge in the famous court-room at Nuernberg, Germany, read a verdict this morning—guilty.

But this time, the man facing justice is an American, a 19-year-old GI stationed in Germany. In the same room where the top Nazis were tried, 10 army officers found private John Vigneault guilty of the murder of two German civilians and of stealing the car of one of his victims.

Canadians Put Record Price On Newsprint

The price of newsprint topped all records in history Tuesday and threatened to add fifty-million dollars or more each year to the costs of United States publishers.

Two of the big Canadian producers announced price increases of $10 a ton bringing the New York cost to $126.

Consolidated Paper Corporation, second largest producer, and Abitibi Power and Paper Co. third largest, notified their customers of the increase, effective June 15.

What effect this will have on American producers of newsprint is not known. Any relief similar to the Canadian action they might want would have to be sought in Washington.

The price of the newsprint varies according to the point of delivery. Using the New York base, the increase brings the newsprint to $126 a ton.

The local paper purchases its paper from Abitibi, and in a telegram to the publisher the paper concern said, "The Canadian government has decided not to prevent an increase in the price of newsprint. In view of this we are hereby advising you that effective June 15 our price for newsprint will increase by ten dollars per ton."

Increased cost of labor, materials, pulpwood and the "depreciation in the value of the American dollar."

The June 15 price will compare with a depression low of $40 per ton during the early thirties and with a previous high of $120 in the early 20's.

Thundershowers May Break Heat

Wide-scattered thundershowers may lessen the heat today in Texas. And the weatherman says cooler weather will move in from the northwest today and reach across the entire state by tomorrow.

The cool spell will be particularly welcome to Presidio residents who simmered in 102 degree temperatures yesterday. In West Texas, Big Spring reported dust which cut visibility to four miles yesterday afternoon. And winds hit a peak gust of 38 miles per hour at Dallas and were strong over all but the southern part of the state.

The weatherman says today will be windy again and more dust may be raised. But clouds which moved into the Panhandle yesterday will spread across Texas today and tonight with the rain and the cold front.

The mercury got down to 49 degrees during the night at Dalhart while the high minimum was 75 degrees at Brownsville.

Doctor Says Mrs. Parson Should Be In Mental Ward

EL PASO, May 22, (UP)—A psychiatrist has testified that Mrs. Mary Jean Parsons was so uncrisp about marrying that her mother moved into her room and stayed with her until the marriage ceremony came out in El Paso in the sanity trial of the 21-year-old Tulsa woman who is charged with killing her husband, Lieutenant Richard O. Parsons.

Doctor A. B. Cooper, the psychiatrist, says he got the impression that Mary Jean would have great difficulty in facing life outside the home. Mrs. Parsons will be tried on the murder charge if she is found to be sane.

High School Students Riot

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn., May 23, (UP)—A demonstration by 30 high school students in International Falls, was stopped by tear gas and fire hoses last night after violence broke out at a recreation center.

The students pelted passing autos with eggs after they were ordered out of a restaurant used by the teenagers as a hang out.

The students re-assembled after being dispersed by fire hoses and police finally were forced to shoot tear gas into the mob. The students threatened to demonstrate again tonight.

Ridgway Says Reds Blocking A Truce

Truman Expected To Return Rails To The Operators

President Truman is about to hand one key industry he seized back to private ownership.

The President took over the railroads 21 months ago when a nationwide strike was threatened. But the barriers and three rail unions finally settled their differences last night and Mr. Truman is expected to take quick action to end government seizure.

Actually, the seizure is a "paper" one, railroad presidents were sworn in as Army colonels and American flags were flown over their offices.

Other Labor
The North American Aviation Company in California is threatened with a strike. Most of the 16,000 CIO Auto Workers at the plant have voted to walk out if the company refuses to meet their wage demands.

In Michigan, two labor disputes. Contractors and representatives of the AF of L carpenters union will get together in Detroit again today, in an attempt to settle the 13-day old carpenters strike which has halted construction in the Detroit area.

In Saginaw, Michigan, it's up to the city council to end a 16-day old bus walkout. Striking drivers and mechanics have accepted a company wage offer. The agreement hinges on whether the Saginaw city council approves a bus rate increase and a cut in service.

Abilene Police Chief Resigns

ABILENE, May 21 (UP)—Assistant Police Chief Tom Summers of Abilene has been appointed acting chief succeeding Raymond Eakin who resigned yesterday.

The Abilene City Commission held a special meeting to accept Eakin's resignation from the $399 per month job, but his resignation was a surprise.

Eakin had been a member of the police force since 1941 and city hall sources say if he was under fire "nobody knew about it."

TRUMAN DOESN'T THINK COURTS OR CONGRESS CAN TAKE AWAY EMERGENCY SEIZURE POWER

WASHINGTON, May 22 (UP)—President Truman says he doesn't think the courts or Congress can take away his power to seize fundamental industries in a national emergency.

Mr. Truman told his news conference that he doesn't believe this inherent, constitutional right of his is at stake in the steel case currently before the supreme court.

However, the President promised to abide by the supreme court decision on steel and said his comments today do not constitute pre-judgment of the court decision.

North Carolina Democrats Name National Voters

North Carolina Democrats are making up their minds.

State Democratic leaders are convening at Raleigh to pick 40 delegates to the nominating convention.

Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia said he expects to win most of them. His followers are trying to pledge the slate to him, but North Carolina normally sends its delegation uncommitted.

President Truman told his news conference today that he'll be happy to campaign for any of the announced Democratic presidential candidates, including Sen. Kefauver. Mr. Truman denied a report that he is not very enthusiastic about the Tennessee Senator.

On the Republican side, Sen. Taft of Ohio has returned to South Dakota to campaign for votes in the June 3rd primary, his last pre-convention battle with Gen. Eisenhower. He arrived at Sioux Falls by plane this morning to begin a five-day speaking tour of the state.

Pay Levels Up Over Last Year

The nation's 13-million factory workers, according to the Labor Department, earned an average of $1.66 an hour in April. And that's eight cents an hour more than last year.

With wages up, the government's cost-of-living barometer also is expected to go up. The increase probably will be about one-half of one per cent, figured between mid-March and mid-April. The official report will be made later today.

In Congress Senate Democratic Leader Ernest McFarland said he will push for a watered-down controls bill. The bill would carry over wage and price controls until next March, and rent controls until June 30th, 1953. President Truman had called for a two-year extension.

Today the president authorized the release of 22,000 tons of copper from the strategic stockpile. The order will keep essential production rolling until imports start coming in at the higher prices approved yesterday.

General Doesn't Mention Koje Island Incident

WASHINGTON, May 22 (UP)—The former United Nations Commander in the Far East says an armistice in Korea is up to the Communists.

General Matthew Ridgway told a joint session of Congress that "there rests in Communist hands a logical, reasonable and honorable settlement on equitable terms." And, he said, if the Reds want to end the war, they will accept it.

Ridgway's speech was broadcast nationwide, it will be rebroadcast. Up to now, Ridgway charged, the Communists have been stalling the truce talks with "blind hatred, vituperative venom and vicious falsehoods" . . . his words.

The former Far Eastern Commander did not say what steps the UN might take if the Reds fail to agree to our terms in Korea.

But he expressed faith that Allied troops can defend themselves against any Communist attack. The Eighth Army, he said, stands "proud, defiant, and confident of accomplishing any mission it may be assigned."

Talking up the recent Communist charges that the Allies are carrying on germ warfare in Korea, Ridgway said these charges are a warning that the Reds, themselves, may be planning germ or gas warfare.

Ridgway denied the Red charges and hinted that the Communists will be in for bitter retaliation if they try germ or gas warfare. Ridgway did not mention the recent violence at the Koje Island prison camp.

On Koje
On Koje Island, Communist prisoners of war are setting up their own guard system, inside the barbed wire fences.

The Reds in the notorious Campound 76 apparently are out to prevent fellow Reds from escaping and causing more bloodshed.

In the fighting, American and Australian fighter-bombers have carried out one of the biggest raids of the war on Red installations near the North Korean capital of Poyngyang. The allied bombs flattened at least 117 buildings.

At the truce camp in Panmun-jon, Vice-Admiral Turner Joy turned over his job as chief Allied negotiator to Major General William Harrison. Joy accused the Reds of blocking a truce at every turn and said there was nothing left for him to negotiate.

He turned over his post to General Harrison with these words: "May God be with you."

Game Warden Arrest Total Slumps Again

AUSTIN, May—The Director of Law Enforcement for the Texas Game & Fish Commission said the downward trend in arrests by game wardens continued during April.

He said the monthly statements shows 130 arrests for a total of $3,470.20 in fines and court costs. This contrasts with 294 cases and $6,667 in fines and costs for April last year, and 236 cases and $5,377.42 for this year.

More than one fourth of the violations involved infractions of the fishing code, since 58 arrests were made for failure to possess proper fishing licenses.

Shooting out of season, involving 156 cases for hunting deer, brought some heavy fines. A Three Rivers father and son caught headlighting netted a penalty of $150. A San Antonio man paid $200 on a pollution count.

MORE PRECIOUS THAN RUBIES

By Nina Wilcox Putnam

Copyright 1951 by NEA Service, Inc.

SUDDENLY all their years together were there with them in the familiar room: all the lovely things they had done together, all the shared precious thoughts, the small quarrels which now seemed so unimportant.

Mysteriously Tommy had become in reality the man she had mistaken him for when they first met.

The offices of Trumbull & Co were closed on the day of Bright's funeral, which was held very quietly and in private. And on the day following Tommy received the long-expected summons to an interview with Mr. Muncie in his private office.

Alma carried the incriminating piece of jewelry over which she had once labored with so much love, in the inner compartment of her purse, in case it should, for any reason, be needed.

After all, she thought, they, neither of them, had any idea of what lay ahead. None of the many rumors which permeated the shop grapevine ever arising from the inner sanctum, and consequently there had been no gossip about what The Head intended to do so where the Conroys were concerned.

AT the third floor they were joined by Old Victor Blinchard who announced his intention of accompanying them.

It was I who advised Bright's placement, and so it was also I who, indirectly, sent the boy to his death. If there is anything bad I will face it with you!

The private office was beautiful, severe, and carefully unpretentious; and from behind the big desk the most legendary Mr. Muncie arose for a second as they came in and then, indicating chairs for them, resumed his own. To Alma The Head's face had the same detached familiarity as the faces in a history book—Washington, Lincoln or General Lee; it was something she knew well but only as an axiom for good behavior.

"My friend," said Old Victor. "I can say nothing. What has happened is the will of God. But there is left to one a splendid memory..."

"Are you sure, Victor, that it is a splendid memory?" His voice, though a stupendous effort, was low and controlled.

"And are you positive that I have been given all details?" For a moment Alma felt panic-stricken. Now it had come, the moment of decision. But how

NEWS FROM CHEANEY

Mrs. Bill Tucker

Today, for a change, we simply do not have a news item handy. No one is sick—that we've heard. No one has had visitors this past week.

We missed church again—just because the rain was too torrential for the comfort of baby pigs, so better quarters had to be built, even if we got sopping wet.

We have been called all kinds of names, but for the first time "one of the Gold Dust Twins" has been tagged on us.

What Bonnie Highsmith doesn't know is that "Gold Dust" went with the Arbuckle Coffee company. We'd even bet that he's been using pure Eastland County blow sand tintured with some of that Dawson County element which blew over last March for shaving soap.

Why, the Republicans have him so lulled to sleep he dreams of could anyone tell these two suffering old men the truth? After all, Bright was dead. That was all that really mattered.

"I have nothing further to tell you," Tommy said. "But I would like to say that Bright died gallantly. If he failed to come back to prove his worthiness of the trust which was put in him, it was only because he gave his life when he might have bargained for it."

Tommy had been speaking to the immovable man behind the desk but he was also watching Papa Victor, who listened with fire in his eyes—the fire of faith renewed—as Tommy comforted his life-long friend and hero, his impeccable superior, The Head of The House of Trumbull.

THERE was a moment of complete silence. Then Mr. Muncie cleared his throat and he assumed a business-like manner.

"Mr. Conroy," he said briskly, "your recent magnificent performance in the recovery, with my son's aid, of those stolen jewels, puts a new light on your character. We want men of your caliber, and we'd like to keep you with us. I understand that you are a good commercial photographer. We have an opening for you as head of that department. Would that be agreeable to you?"

"Would it?" said Tommy, startled out of his formal manners. "WOULD IT—OH BOY!"

"Now at last it arrives!" said Old Victor delightedly. "Now we carry on, and maybe the next born of Blanchard blood shall carry on some day, as for the 100 years past—a good workman for a good master!"

Outside the snows were melting at last under a warmer sun. At the corner of the street an angry torrent rushed along, carrying bits of refuse and the grime of many winter months down the gutter grating. As she passed, Alma opened a surreptitious hand and something golden flashed as it fell into the hurrying waters and was rapidly sucked down out of sight.

QUESTION: I wish to divide my apartment into four rooms, and have had cement blocks such as are used in offices can be utilized as dividers. These walls would then be plastered. Can you let me know what materials can be used for this purpose? —S. T., Flushing, N. Y.

ANSWER: Among materials used for this purpose, where no load is carried on the partition, are 4-inch cement blocks, gypsum blocks, hollow tile. These are cemented together and can be plastered over later.

QUESTION: I am purchasing a shell home and wonder if you can tell me if a footing is necessary. Everyone tells me this is needed, but the contractor showed me charts to prove it is not needed. —E. D., Chicago, Illinois

ANSWER: Ordinarily a footing is required to distribute the weight of the building over a larger area where the soil is loose. However, a poured concrete foundation does not always require a footing, especially when reinforcing is used. Such a foundation, as a solid mass, is not apt to crack at any one point, even though a corner or short length may be undermined by rain-acted erosion. This type of foundation distributes its load over the entire bearing surface evenly.

QUESTION: I have two tree stumps 12 inches in diameter in my front yard. Can you tell me how to remove them without breaking my back or tearing up half the lawn with a pick and shovel? —E. N. K., Pittsburgh, Penna.

ANSWER: Digging and blasting being impractical, there are two possible methods of removal. Blue holes with a 1/2-inch auger or larger, straight down through the heart of the stump, and angling these holes into the base of the larger roots. Pour in kerosene daily for several days until the stump is saturated. Then set fire to it. Another way, without smoke, is to pour one of the compost-producing chemicals into similar holes and then let the stump rot rapidly away. This process requires several weeks.

elephants, but that's not to be wondered at, poor fellow, he has been sleeping in the turkey house brooding that 1000 turkey poulters for the past ten days.

He went to DeLeon Monday, after 2 jugs of butane—maybe he will wake up, come election time in November.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Galloway did tell us they had recent visitors—their preacher uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Galloway of Abilene.

The Alameda church dressed itself up with a few used pews last week. It seems that these were purchased from the Eastland Methodist Church.

We saw Glenna Moody the other day and waved at her—also Mrs. Sarah Wilson and granddaughter, Beth Wilson, enjoying a morning swinging on the front porch.

Mrs. Ann Love, who has had two medical checkups the past ten days so was happy about the diagnosis, she decided not to consider

WONDERFUL STRAWBERRY JAM IN FIFTEEN MINUTES

This new, easy method and how-to-do photos courtesy of Jean Porter, C and H Homemakers' Bureau

1 • Wash 2 pint-baskets of ripe berries. (No, don't hold them under running water from the faucet! That drives the sand right into them. Instead, dunk the berries quickly in a bowl of cold water; lift out with fingers; drain in strainer or colander. Hull berries after washing.

2 • Measure 1 quart hulled berries; 1 quart C and H pure Cane Granulated Sugar; 2 tablespoons strained lemon juice. Put berries and 2 cups of the sugar into a large, broad kettle or saucepan. The jam will cook more evenly in a broad pan than in a deep, narrow pan.

3 • Heat berries and sugar to boiling, stirring constantly; boil 2 minutes, stirring. Add remaining 2 cups sugar, again heat and boil, stirring, 3 minutes. Add lemon juice. Pour into shallow bowl and stir occasionally while cooling. Leave overnight. (This plumps berries, keeps them from floating.)

4 • Spoon the cold jam into hot, sterilized small jars, and seal at once. Makes 2 pints of rich, bright jam, thick but not too stiff. Label jars and store in a cool, dry, dark place. Make additional batches rather than double the recipe. Pour them into the same bowl to cool, if you wish.

The little man signaled a private car that looked like a taxi... He was not merely flustered, he was panicky.

IT wasn't a routine case that I came to Basil Willing's desk in the District Attorney's office through channels. It was a personal adventure that he walked into blindly one cold, wet evening in early April.

A lamp glowed softly through the fog on Third Avenue, spotlighting a small shop window. Basil opened the door and four Swiss cowbells tinkled in a tremulous chord.

Basil asked for two packs of his favorite cigars. Again the bells tinkled as the door opened. The newcomer did not look like a stubbornly individualist amateur of tobacco. He looked just the opposite—the Eternal Sucker who will buy anything or vote for anybody with trace-like obedience to the hypnotic pressure of a strident advertising campaign.

"Your change, sir?" "Never mind!" The bells jangled as the door slammed behind him. The tobaccoist looked at Basil. "Odd. First he says too expensive. Then he doesn't stop to pick up his change."

BASIL went out into the street. The hackstand nearby was deserted. The little man stood at the curb, signaling a private car that looked like a taxi. As it flashed by, he caught sight of a real taxi across the street. He shouted and stepped off the curb. A truck, roaring between two elevated pillars, missed him by inches. Basil looked at him curiously. He was not merely hurried or flustered—he was panicky.

CONTROL OF SEPARATE, COMMUNITY PROPERTY EXPLAINED

Generally speaking, each spouse has the right to control and dispose of his or her own separate property. You will recall that the separate property of a husband or wife includes property owned by her before marriage, and that which is acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved.

Aside from the ordinary community estate, there is a class of property known as the wife's special community, which includes all the income from her separate real property, and probably the interest on bonds or notes, and dividends on stocks owned in her separate right. While the husband may have similar assets, the law accords them no particular distinction from ordinary community property.

Although the history of the matter is somewhat confusing, it appears that under present day law the husband has control of ordinary community property; but control of the wife's special community property is reserved to her.

Certain restrictions are imposed upon both husband and wife in exercising and control. For instance, the husband cannot legally dispose of community property in such a way as to defraud the wife, nor can he sell the homestead without her signature and acknowledgement. And the wife's sale or mortgage of her separate real estate, stocks or bonds is not valid unless her husband joins with her in the transaction—he must sign and execute the necessary legal papers along with her.

Such limitations appear to be a product of those earlier and more chivalrous days in which the sheltered married woman had little or no contact with the business world. They indicated a desire to protect the little woman from chiseling outsiders, and even against an unscrupulous husband. A similar intent appears in the laws exempting the wife's separate and special community property from liability for debts incurred by the husband. Such liability is restricted to his separate property and the ordinary community property.

On the other hand, debts incurred by the wife in obtaining necessities for herself or the children bind all property belonging to either party, including the husband's separate property. For other debts which she has power to incur, only her separate and special community property are liable.

All of these distinctions emphasize the advisability of keeping proper records. By doing so the various classes of community and HOLLYWOOD UP—For reminiscences of Wallace Berry, one of the true "characters" of cinematic history, the place to turn is to "Handsome" Harry Wilson, known as the ugliest man in pictures.

Wilson was Berry's stand-in and double for almost 25 years. He also lived with the late star for four years, after Berry's short-lived marriage to Gloria Swanson.

"Berry was a hard man to direct," Wilson recalled, "once when he was playing a German submarine captain for one of his earlier films, the director asked him to read several lines in German for authenticity.

"The heck with it," Wally cried. "I'm doin' it in English. I won't speak German."

"Directors usually were afraid to take him on in an argument," Harry recalled. "Can you blame them? When he got to scowling and shouting he was a plenty tough guy. He never to my knowledge had the same director twice."

Suited Himself One of Berry's habits was to change the dialogue to suit himself. He rarely read his lines the way they were written, a fact which sometimes non-plussed his acting friends as they waited for cues.

"He always said he played the scene the way he felt it should be," Harry said.

Once at MGM a director got up to question this procedure. "How come you don't read the lines the way we have them written in the script?" the director asked.

"Cause if I said it the way it's written I'd still be working for $10 a day," Berry bellowed.

Wilson was full of such reminiscences for his fellow players at Warner Bros., where he is working in the Woodley Productions, Inc. film, "Abbot and Costello Meet Captain Kidd."

Producer Loses The next time anyone questioned Berry's license with the script, Wilson recalled, it was an MGM producer.

The producer said that kind of nonsense had to stop and if anyone was going to change the script, he was the one to do it. He started making frequent changes, and Berry immediately objected. The producer paid no attention.

With a bull-like rush, Berry plunged to the sound-stage telephone and called the resigning studio executive.

"Come down and get this palooka off the set, or I don't work," he roared in a voice audible to everyone on the set.

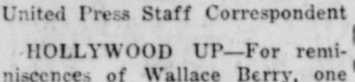

"The producer was yanked," Harry said.

Everyone on a Berry picture knew he was the star.
