

Mavericks To Play Dragons In Bangs District Legion Convention Opens Here Tomorrow

Moore... ABOUT Eastland

Remember Joe Cook? Joe is another newspaperman. In fact he got his start in the business right here in Eastland, his old home town. We understand he started out sweeping out the newspaper office here when he was a boy. The way the story was told to us Joe just took to newspapering and newspapering took to Joe. He learned lots about the business right here in Eastland and then went to the University of Texas to get some book learning on the subject.

Now Joe is Editor and Business-Manager of the Mission Times—the number one semi-weekly newspaper in this nation. We know Joe strictly as one newspaperman knows another while we were in the Valley. He is rated way up on our list, by the way.

What brought this all about? We just picked up the latest edition of The Publishers' Auxiliary, "the most thoroughly-read newspaper publication in this country", the editors say, and saw old Joe's picture on page one. Then we looked over in the left hand top corner of the paper and saw where old Joe had just made a speech before the National Editor Assn. in Chicago. It was a good enough talk to deserve 11 precious inches of that newspaper's front page. Joe had lots of things to say on how to put out a good, profit-making newspaper. And he knows, believe us, he knows.

Just thought the story of another hometown boy making good would interest you.

Henry Pullman's talk before the Lions Club last week really received some fine compliments. Henry as you know, was born in Lithuania, which was then and is now under Russian rule. He came to the United States in 1913 and moved straight into Dallas. From there he went to Amarillo in 1914 and came to Eastland in 1923 after serving three years in the Army. We like what Henry has to say about Eastland. He told Lions "I have enjoyed every moment of my life in Eastland."

Henry still has that zeal that you usually find only in first generation Americans. He is ready for anything and enjoys everything. It's hard to leave a family behind and leave for a new country. Henry did, we are sure. It is still when you lose your mother, five sisters and two brothers during a "war to end wars" which apparently didn't end anything.

You know, Eastland just would not be the same without Henry—would it?

Our thanks, our obligation and our best wishes go to the Eastland Quarterback Club. The Q-backers are building a large, glassed-in press box at Maverick Stadium. It will be three times as large as the one that did dot the skyline at the field, and will be one of the few high school fields with a glassed-in box.

We might mention the fact that just a lot of the larger newspapers won't send press representatives to cities which have inadequate press facilities. Usually they find that if they send them they can't work the game right away.

Nuessle Asks Cities To Pass New Ordinances

County Attorney Joe Nuessle has recommended that the three largest cities in Eastland county—Eastland, Ranger and Cisco—pass ordinances which would require all second-hand merchandise and "junk" dealers to keep files of all purchases of goods, wares or merchandise of a kind.

Nuessle forwarded a proposed ordinance to each city Wednesday. He said he had already received favorable comment from Ranger and Eastland, but had not received word from Cisco.

The proposed ordinance would mean that dealers in scrap iron and second hand dealers would have to keep records of all purchases. It also would mean that they had to keep second hand merchandise three days before they could re-sell it.

No juvenile could sell goods under the ordinance unless his parent or guardian was with him at the time.

The proposed ordinance would carry a penalty of a fine of not more than $50, nor less than $10 for conviction of breaking the ordinance.

Something Else Needed

Those Who Deal With Juvenile Delinquents Say Laws Adequate

(This is another in a series of articles regarding Juvenile Delinquency. This article regards laws that govern juveniles.)

The Criminal Statutes—says the purpose of the act is to "secure for each child under its jurisdiction such care, guidance and control, preferable in his own home, as will serve the child's welfare and the best interest of the state."

The Juvenile court has exclusive original jurisdiction over proceedings governing any delinquent child.

When a youth is declared a juvenile delinquent he does not lose any of his rights as does an adult criminal. In fact the state does not consider the law one of punishment, but rather, one of correction.

Under a law passed in recent years, the state has ceased to operate any reform schools. Now a juvenile delinquent is turned over to the Texas State Youth Development Council which decides what shall be done with a youth.

Most law enforcement officers, judges and attorneys say the laws governing juveniles are adequate. New laws are not the answer to the juvenile problem, they agree.

EASTLAND ELEVEN FAVORED IN DISTRICT 7-A GRID CLASH

Eastland's Mavericks, with only one loss in district 7-A play, will be in Bangs Friday to take on the Dragons in search for their third win of the season.

The Mavericks, with both of their two star backs, who have been on the injured list, back in the ball game and two weeks of practice back of them since their last start, are top-heavy favorites to drop Bangs.

Coach Ed Hooker will have both J. D. Hanson and Jamie Jessop back in the line-up.

The Mavericks hold wins over AA Cisco and Wylie. They were defeated in District 7-A play by Ranger, the team in the district which is heavily favored to capture the crown and who is rated as their third best team in the state, and in non-district play by Coleman.

Bangs upset Wylie last week and may have more of a team than their record indicates. The Dragons, were facing an injury ridden team when they met Wylie, however.

The Mavericks went through rugged workouts Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, but are expected to taper off today. Eastland had an open date last week and have had two full weeks of practice.

Kick-off time for the classic has been set at 7:30.

Eastland must win the game if the Mavericks hope to keep a chance of winning the district crown. Dublin is rated a good chance to beat Ranger and if the Mavs could in turn beat Dublin the picture would change somewhat.

Coach Hooker and his assistant, Carroll Shelton, have worked the Mavs hard for this one, and the extra week may have given the coaches time enough to whip Eastland into a district contender after their one-sided loss to Ranger.

Reserves—George Harris, 160, and Neil Van Geem, 153, tackles; Paul Herrera, 152, guard; John McAllister, 155, Clyde Evtatt, 125, and Neal Tankersley, 145, ends; Terry Warren, 142, center; and Fred Williams, 125, and Charles Cook, 151, backs.

BANGS—Bobby Sikes, back, 130; James Segrest, back, 163; Ronald Hallford, back, 160; J. C. Fitzgerald, tackle, 207; Ronny Bauer, 155, end; Bobby Prince, end, 165; Peewee Eason, back, 130; Carrell King, center, 150; Randall Grooms, guard, 158; Rex Bell, tackle, 160; and Tommy Snow, guard, 140.

Reserves — Lyndon Richmond, back, 130; Tody Denhart, back, 106; Larry Casey, end, 170; Wayne Lewis, back, 150; Ross Atkinson, back, 155; Johnny Greer, guard, 160; and Tommy Nelson, tackle, 185.

In the Woman's Missionary Union group, Mrs. Arthur Brown, president, presided and gave the opening prayer. Mrs. Rosa Beth Nicholas led in the singing of the hymns.

Mrs. Odell Tucker gave the devotional based on scripture from book of Psalms.

Mrs. Mable Jernigan talked on the need for more missionaries to be sent to preach the Gospel of Christ, to the Spanish people of Old Mexico. She based her talk on scriptures of Matthew and Romans.

Twenty three members and ten visitors were present. Mrs. O. C. Marton gave the benediction.

Refreshment table, decorated with autumn leaves. Other decorations included fall flowers and colorful posters announcing the Glen Lake meeting.

The Friendship Ring closed an evening of fellowship, fun, and inspiration.

BLANTON BACK IN RANGERS LINE-UP AGAINST PLOWBOYS

Despite ever present injuries, things looked bright Thursday as Ranger Junior College ripped through another day of rugged practice in preparation for their second Pioneer Conference clash of the season Saturday. Coach Dick Henderson's charges will journey to Stephenville this week-end to take on the Tarleton State Plowboys.

The return of Charles (Sonny) Blanton, 170-pound halfback from Newcastle, to the line-up was causing most of the smiles around the Ranger's camp. Both Coach Henderson and Coach Sam Aills were optimistic. Henderson said "Things sure look good."

The good showing against the Midwestern B team last Thursday also was bringing some smiles to the faces of the Ranger coaches. Almost the entire squad saw action in that game. But Blanton caused most of the smiles. You will remember he was the star of the Ranger eleven last season and was named on the all-conference team. Add the fact that Jimmy Cole will be back in his familiar man-under spot and things do look up.

Injuries still hamper the Rangers, however. Quarterback Alvin Hulcey and tackle Ross Nall will definitely be out due to injuries. Then halfback Fred Sanders and center Cecil Gilstrap are on the probable list.

A death in the family may also keep Jerry Harvey, fullback, out of the game.

Top stars for Tarleton are Maurice Hodges and Gene Ward as far as ground play goes. In the air the Rangers will have to keep an eye on the passing of Roy Sawyer and Clayton Roberson.

The Rangers may do a bit of passing themselves, however. They lead the conference in passing.

In another league game scheduled for Saturday night Arlington State will engage Schreiner Institute at Arlington.

The setto at Arlington could easily be one of the most colorful contests of the season. The Schreiner Mountaineers, who have allowed four opponents only 19 points this year, will stake their fine defensive record against the awesome ground attack of the ASC Rebels who crashed highly-touted Del Mar of Corpus Christi, 30-7 last week.

The San Angelo Rams with one conference victory over Ranger already in the bag, tackle Del Mar, a non-conference foe, at Corpus Christi, Thursday. The Rams dropped out of the unbeaten class last week when they were nudged, 14-22, by Compton Junior College of Compton, Calif.

FISH TALE
WATERVILLE, Mo. — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jensen of New York were fishing at Great Pond but it was their bait that got the catch. They said a hellgramite they were using for bait seized in its claws a four-inch small-mouth bass it still held when lifted from the water for another cast. The Jensens freed the tiny fish.

The scout drive went over great, thanks to the nearly 100 volunteers who took time out long enough from their work to see that it did. We like to see such a large number of workers. Only thing about it almost every family in town was represented at the meet and there wasn't to many people left to call on. Believe each volunteer had three names, including his own.

Bill Collings was presented a big present at the kick-off breakfast for having the most volunteers under his command. The present was presented to Bill by Frank Sayre, who acted as emcee at the breakfast. Bill was really surprised when he opened the package and found a big red rooster. He thought it was a rattlesnake.

And we are sure that you have heard about the big 12 pound crane that flew into the new dam. The crane fell to earth badly scorched and quite dead. He broke the line in his last earthly performance, however.

That picnic can wait until after church. See you there and again in Tuesday's edition.

Negro Choir To Sing In Eastland Sunday

A special group of singers from Southwestern Christian College of Terrell, Tex., will present a program at the Church of Christ, Daugherty and Plummer in Eastland, Sunday, Oct. 25, at 2:30 p.m.

This group has been selected from the larger a cappella chorus of the Negro school and consists of quartets, sextets, and other special arrangements. The chorus has attracted favorable attention in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico and Louisiana.

The college is fully approved for the training of veterans. Founded in 1950, the Terrell school is directed by a board of trustees composed of both white and Negro members. Primarily it seeks to train young people for active church service, while at the same time providing a standard junior college education. Singing is emphasized in all of the activities of the college, and over half of the students of the past year were in the college chorus.

S.W.C.C. has a faculty staff of some twelve persons, and has articulated over 120 students in its short history. Many of the graduates of the junior college are now enrolled in standard colleges and universities, and others are receiving a terminal third year of work at Southwestern.

Water Now Big Problem In State

"It's later than we think" can well be the theme of the Ninth Annual Convention of the Texas Water Conservation Association which opens a three day session in Dallas, Sunday, October 11 and continues through Tuesday, according to the Association's president, Judge Guy C. Jackson of Anahuac.

On the eve of the opening of the convention Jackson said "we in Texas now know that we have been talking about our water problems for several generations but we are running out of time. Many of our cities have reached a saturation point and can expand no further until they solve their water problems.

"This not only applies to our big metropolitan industrial centers but to many of our smaller cities. Not only industrially but agriculturally, has Texas reached the point where we must decide, and quickly, what we are going to do about our water situation. The best political, business and financial brains of Texas have no alternative but to get together and work until we come up with a plan that will conserve Texas waters" the Association president declared.

Beamed at working out such a solution, the annual program of the Water Conservation Association has assembled an impressive group of speakers for the three day meet. These include United States Senator Lyndon Johnson, Congressman Lloyd M. Bentsen, Attorney General John Ben Shepperd, Speaker of the House Reuben Senterfitt, Army Division Engineer Col. Herbert D. Vogel, U. S. Reclamation Commissions Wilbur A. Dexeimer and others.

A 15 man resolutions committee headed by Charles E. Simons of Dallas, will meet a day in advance of the convention to outline resolutions to be presented at the convention.

Convention arrangements are in charge of Judge J. E. Sturrock of Austin, executive director of the Association.

Lone Star Gas Gives Two Writers Oscars

Taking a cue from fashion and motion picture industries, Lone Star Gas Company has established its own "oscar" for national women's magazine editors and writers who perform "distinguished service to American homemakers and to the gas industry."

First to receive such awards were Mrs. Elizabeth Sweeney Herbert and Mrs. Mary Davis Gillies, McCall's magazine editors in Dallas for opening of the State Fair of Texas where three of their McCall's kitchens are on display in the Lone Star exhibit building.

The awards were presented by Lone Star vice president Chester L. May at a press luncheon held in the Dallas Athletic Club during their State Fair visit, and included engraved, antique silver buffet dishes and certificates as honorary citizens of Dallas signed by Mayor R. L. Thornton.

Texas Highway Dept., Texas A&M Studying Highway Improvement

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, (Spl)—A canvas of industry's precise transportation needs for the future is being made by researchers in one part of a comprehensive research program in which the Texas Highway Department and the Texas A. and M. College System are cooperating.

This part of the program is appraisal study of which the aim is to find ways and means of progressively improving highway aspects of needs and interpreting them in terms of service potentialities. Such forthcoming data to be provided the planners of our transportation future will not be limited to the highways as a separate field, but will also deal with them in coordination with other means of travel and shipping.

Guiding the research program are three prominent highway authorities—D. C. Greer, state highway engineer, Austin; Thomas H. MacDonald, for many years head of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, and presently distinguished research engineer, in the Texas Engineering Experiment Station, College Station, and Gibb Gilchrist, former state highway engineer, and most recently retired chancellor of the Texas A. and M. College System, College Station.

The research program is being administered from College Station where offices are being maintained. Faculty members of A. and M. College and staff members of the Texas Engineering Experiment Station are serving as researchers.

As a first step in the study appraising needs, virtually every sizeable industrial or business concern in Texas will be surveyed as to its present and future use of transportation facilities. This survey will be accomplished by means of questionnaires prepared by L. S. Paine, research economist, and Hugo G. Meuth, research assistant, Texas Engineering Experiment Station, who urge industrial and business firms to cooperate wholeheartedly in order that an adequate sampling might be obtained.

By means of the questionnaires inquires are made as to (1) major commodities shipped and received (points of origin, tonnages, size of units and shipments, and type of carrier); recent changes noted in type of transportation; and (3) mode of shipping considered for the future. Inquiry is also made as to the manner and extent of travel by personnel in the course of business and personally.

Returned questionnaires are identifiable by code numbers known only to the immediate researchers to assure secrecy of their informational contents.

The leaders and researchers of shipping and travel needs of the future cannot be efficiently served unless transportation technologists responsible for today's designing have a knowledge of the changes and trends that are likely to occur in the future.

Southwest Area Needs Rain, If Fall Crops Grow

A serious shortage of moisture still exists in large areas of Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas, even in many of the places where it has rained recently, Regional Director Louis P. Merrill of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service said today.

Merrill made the statement after receiving reports from the 41 SCS area conservationists whose combined work areas cover the three states.

Of the 23 Texas area conservationists reporting to Merrill, only 11 were able to say that there was enough moisture everywhere in their areas for normal farm and ranch operations. None of these 11 areas are in West Texas. Four of the eleven said that more rain must fall very soon if this condition is to continue.

Wind erosion is expected on some southwest Texas sandy range land due to lack of grass cover as a result of prolonged drought. There is concern, too, everywhere range cover is sparse, that much moisture will be lost from future rains because of run off from bare soil.

Goering Yacht Sails Long Island Sound

A yacht built for Nazi Hermann Goering, but completed while he was contemplating suicide in an Allied jail, is now sailing the waters of Long Island Sound.

The 53-foot craft, Groote Beer (Great Bear) was built by Dutch shipwrights to Goering's specifications. But the craftsmen found every excuse to delay its completion, and when it was finally finished, the war was over and Goering was in custody.

Wind erosion is expected on some southwest Texas sandy range land due to lack of grass cover as a result of prolonged drought. There is concern, too, everywhere range cover is sparse, that much moisture will be lost from future rains because of run off from bare soil.

SOLUTION OF POSSUM KINGDOM BASS PROBLEM APPEARS FOUND

Apparent solution of a problem costing Possuum Kingdom State Fish Hatchery half of its bass production was announced by the Chief Aquatic Biologist of the Game and Fish Commission.

He said the damage has been traced to a fungus growth and that now a treatment seemingly has been found to treat the water to destroy the infection successfully.

According to the Chief Aquatic

Biologist bass production at the big Possuum Kingdom Hatchery has been hampered ever since operations were begun four years ago.

Hatchery workers observed that part of the eggs in almost every bass nest would be ruined. Commission aquatic biologists then traced the cause to a fungus growth which seems to thrive in this particular water.

Finally, it was convincingly shown through microscopic study that the fungus was most damaging when the water was cool.

Thus, previous suspicion was dropped that the loss of eggs might have originated from toxic effect of the volcanic clay used to seal the ponds or sudden drops in the water temperature due to late northers.

The Chief Aquatic Biologist said the deciding discovery was made with the aid of the Midwestern botanical staff. Examination made at the Wichita Falls school disclosed fungus spores actually attacking bass eggs.

In the course of the study, it was found that a copper sulphate solution checked the infection without damaging the bass fry or eggs, but killed the plankton in the ponds and caused the surviving baby bass to die from starvation. Now, a weaker mixture has been concocted and tried in the laboratory that will destroy the fungus but spare the plankton which is indispensable for fish nourishment. This treatment will be applied to the hatchery ponds early next spring.

The Fellow Who Sees Flying Saucers—

... may reason somewhat like the man who doesn't carry insurance. He gazes at the creatures from his window and believes them to be real. But he has never been hit, so why worry? Neither has he ever had a fire or windstorm, so why insure? That line of reasoning is fine for the dreamer but it is dangerous business. True, the law of averages is with the saucer man until the law goes haywire. Then the saucers disappear, so does the saucer man and out the window go his empty dreams.

Two Farm Experts To Speak At Texas Livestock Pest Clinic

It has been announced that W. S. McGregor of the Bureau of Entomology at the Kerrville Experiment Station and C. L. Smith, assistant superintendent of the Kerrville Experiment Station will report on research of internal medication of animals for the con-

Entomologist for the State of Louisiana in 1942 and 1943. In 1948 he joined the Bureau of Entomology at the Kerrville Experiment Station. Much of his time has been devoted to the Cattle Grub.

C. L. Smith joined the Bureau of Entomology in 1931. He has worked on cotton insects, screw worm larvae and control of lice and other poultry parasites. His research into poultry parasites has proved the basis for many new poultry insecticides.

The portion of the program devoted to new insecticides will begin at 2:15. Clinic sessions begin at 9:30 a.m. Ranchers and others interested in livestock pest control are invited to attend the meeting sponsored jointly by the West Texas Ranchers Association and the Association of Texas Manufacturers and Distributors of Veterinary Supplies.

Leo Martin, President of the A. T. M. D. V. S. will preside. A. S. Kimmell is President of the West Texas Ranchers Association. Dr. R. L. Rogers is program chairman.

D. A. V. Fund Drive Gets Underway

Calling attention to the annual appeal of the Disabled American Veterans Service Foundation, which comes immediately after National - Employ - The - Physically - Handicapped Week (observed during the first full week in October each year), Milard W. Rice, executive director of the foundation and a member of the Executive Committee of the President's Committee on the Employment of the Physically Handicapped, issued the following statement:

"Our country recently observed National - Employ - The - Physically - Handicapped Week. Only a comparatively few of us can actually provide jobs for the handicapped. But all of us can assist materially by helping to support the vital service program which is sponsored by the Disabled American Veterans Service Foundation. This program is maintained by the Disabled American Veterans (D.V.A.), for which the foundation is the incorporated trustee. The D.V.A. is the only Congressionally-chartered organization which devotes itself entirely to counseling and assisting America's maimed veterans and their dependents. The D.V.A. has been serving them, free of charge, for the past 34 years. Each year it assists scores of thousands of distressed ex-servicemen to become self-sustaining.

"The D.A.V. helps America's disabled defenders to help themselves by assisting them in obtaining whatever benefits they are entitled to under the law, expediting medical treatment, hospitalization, vocational training and employment in which they can utilize their remaining abilities.

"This is done through the D.A.V.'s nationwide staff of full-time, trained and experienced National Service Officers located in all of the Veterans Administration regional offices and hospitals.

"This annual appeal of the Disabled American Veterans Service Foundation offers an opportunity for every American to contribute toward the maintenance of these vital services for those who sacrificed parts of their bodies or their health for our country. Please send your contribution to the D.A.V. Service Foundation, 11 West 42nd Street, New York 36, N. Y."

Want To See Your Senator? Tell Him So

The easiest man to get in to see is your Senator. Although many people think of a U. S. Senator as a man cased behind heavy doors of a suite in the Senate Office Building, the man you helped elect to the U. S. Senate (or even voted against!) is easier to see than a small town mayor.

To convince people that seeing their Senators is a lot easier than most of them think, Pageant magazine sent a reporter to Washington to do a story on the "who, how and why" of cornering a Senator. The November issue of the magazine, in an article entitled "Look Here, Senator . . ." explains the procedure for visiting a Senator.

Right off the Senate Chamber, in the north wing of the Capitol is a long, high-ceilinged hall called the Senate Reception Room. In one corner near the entrance is a small desk. Visitors who come in on a desk, fill out a white card and sit down to wait. A page takes the card into the Senate Chamber and soon some distinguished-looking gentleman steps through the doorway at the far end of the room. The visitor spots him, walks over, shakes hands and starts talking. It's as simple as that.

Who comes calling on the Senators? Although the leading group are lobbyists (822 currently registered) whose job it is to try to get certain laws passed, a lot of Very Average Citizens come calling on the men who represent them.

Why do they come? The lobbyists, who present everything from foreign powers to the NAM, the CIO and regional cotton growers, hope to talk the legislators into voting for laws that will help their special interest. Average Citizens have requests too — a son who wants an appointment to Annapolis, teachers who need better wages, widows who want higher pensions. There are the schemers and the crackpots, too, but the door is always open.

The Pageant reporter visited the Senate Reception Room during the busy last week of the 83rd Congress, while the Senate worked overtime to finish up and go home. Crucial tax and budget bills were up for debate. Yet with almost no exception, each time a visitor's card was taken in, out came the Senator. It's a wise servant, public or otherwise, who knows his master, concludes Pageant.

Reading Matter

BAR HARBOR, Me. — Most people can read without interruption for 6 hours without suffering eye strain or fatigue, according to a report by Dr. Leonard Carmichael, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, at a seminar at the Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory here. He based his findings on an experiment in which eye movements of 40 persons were studied during two six-hour reading periods.

New Vaccine May Banish Polio

After 15 years of concentrated and costly research, medical authorities now know that polio can be controlled by a vaccine, according to a report in the November issue of Pageant Magazine.

For the first time, says Pageant, medical authorities talk with open confidence of the coming victory. For, at last, they have a vaccine, developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk, brilliant professor of research bacteriology at the University of Pittsburgh. The vaccine has passed all the laboratory tests and the step now is to make it work in nature.

Here, in capsule timetable, is what they hoped for:

1. Late this year or early next year, the Salk vaccine will probably be introduced in experimental field tests.

2. The subjects will be carefully followed through next year's May-September polio season.

3. If the results warrant, work will begin to place the vaccine into mass production, and make it available in quantity during the 1956 polio season.

Understandably, observes Pageant, top polio men discourage over-optimism. They are aware of the thousand and one "variables" which haunt all research exploration. They won't even set a target date, although 1956 is generally conceded to be the hoped-for year. VIPS in the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis back up these hopes — having seen the tremendous results of research since 1938.

Says Dr. Harry M. Weaver, director of research for the foundation, "It would seem we are now in possession of the scientific principles and tools required."

Dr. Clair E. Turner, assistant to Basil O'Connor, head of the foundation adds this optimistic note: "It looks as though there will be a basic solution in the next two or three years."

Laboratory tests indicate three outstanding characteristics of Dr. Salk's vaccine:

1. It is safe.

It will immunize against all three known types of polio.

3. It can be mass-produced in the tremendous amounts necessary to protect all 46,090,000 young Americans in the susceptible childhood and teen years. Even if Dr. Salk's work by any chance fails in the fields, points out Pageant, there is every reason to believe that some vaccine will do the trick.

Doctors' Outlook Bleak

CONCORD, N. H. — It's estimated that 174,300,000 apples will be picked in New Hampshire this season. The crop, of approximately 1,162,000 bushels, is the third largest in New Hampshire's history. The harvest will provide enough apples to allow 348 for every resident of the state.

NEWS FROM CHEANEY
Mrs. Bill Tucker

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Freeman attended the meeting of the Texas Peach Growers at College Station Tuesday, Oct. 13 and Wednesday, Oct. 14.

An informational program by one of the leading horticulturists from Texas A&M, South Carolina, Georgia, Louisiana and Arkansas as presented to orchardists interested in the latest culture and development.

Insect and disease control methods were discussed by entomologists and a spraying demonstration was given.

The Freeman orchard in this community is one of the finest small tracts in this area. His method of care and culture is by up-to-date standards and his varieties are well adapted to this area.

Freeman also specializes in the Burkett variety peach.

His orders which are booked to capacity every year are shipped to every section of the United States. Modern methods of culture of his peaches, as well as peaches, insure top quality products and a good source of income.

Mrs. J. H. Freeman, mother of Ben, accompanied the Freemans as far as Georgetown and visited an old-time friend, Mrs. John Coffee, who resides in that city.

Recent visitors in the Joe Butler home were Mr. and Mrs. G. Y. Gillispie, of Goodlet, Tex. This son is a rancher and wheat grower in Hardeman county.

Billy Anthony Highsmith and wife, Doris, are here from Camp Chaffee, Ark., on a 20-day leave before sailing for Germany. They are visiting the parental B. A. Highsmiths and in Ranger with Mr. and Mrs. Squyres.

Bob Revel was home for several days, harvesting peanuts for himself and helping his father, Jack Revel.

"Snips and Snails"—have you read this hilarious book? A person not many days ago, told us she read this book to her family and they decided the writer surely must have them in mind when citing all the funny, hectic and diabolical things that three boys can think of and do—so we read the book, too.

Believe you me, one boy or three, they are all made of "Snips and Snails and Puppy Dog tails," we know—we have one.

Every now and then you like to mention someone whom, to you, is another shining example of this or that. We are thinking of a person who has given up smoking after year and years of this carnal indulging. Don't you think this is a shining example of mind over matter? We think she agrees with us.

Making hay while the sun shines was never so true for the past several sunny days. Hay balers are in every field and busy as can be.

Henry Perrin and Mrs. Virginia Franklin have received word that their sister, Mrs. Mattie Allen, has undergone surgery in a Lawton, Okla., hospital. Last reporting she was doing nicely.

Mrs. Pauline Blackwell visited Sunday afternoon with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Herman Nergler, at Alameda.

For several centuries at least, mothers have wistfully wondered during the Easter season, why a hen couldn't be found which laid eggs already colored.

Such a hen has been found. In fact, a whole breed of chicken which lays such eggs now exists. Several chickens derived from this breed are at Texas A. and M. College, where they are subjects of scientific research.

So far as is known, the chickens which lay blue eggs are natural mutations of South American origin. Their eggs were obtained from a Cornell University researcher so they could be used in a different research program.

However, the blue and green eggs which the hens lay are of little interest to the Texas researchers as anything but curiosities.

The chickens are being used in genetic research on blood-groups under direction of Dr. Briles, geneticist with the Poultry Husbandry Department of the college.

Dr. Briles' research uses another characteristic found in many of the Easter-egg-laying hens—their naked necks. For some of the hens which lay the colored eggs have no feathers whatever on their necks, and this lack is noticeable earlier in the life of the chicken than the fact that its eggs will be colored.

Both characteristics are inherited, and it is here that Dr. Briles centers his study. All inherited characteristics depend upon the action of "genes" which are handed down from parents to their off-spring.

Working with these "genes" and certain known and prepared "antigens", Dr. Briles can cross specific blood-groups and cause a predictable percentage of the chicks to be hatched with induced anemia.

In his blood-group studies, he is beginning to find that the hatchability of eggs from in-bred lines is influenced by the blood-groups present in the developing embryo.

Blood-groups in the chickens under research are very similar to blood types in humans, Dr. Briles says, and are determined in the same manner. More individual factors have been discovered, however, and Dr. Briles feels that many more remain to be discovered.

He is optimistic about current research in the field, although he would like to be able to push ahead more rapidly in search of new factors.

Such research, he feels, will be invaluable to science in providing more information about how genes act in influencing the development of inherited characteristics.

Dr. Briles was born in Italy, Texas Agricultural College—now Arlington State College—to study Agriculture. He became interested in the chemical and biological side of animal life and received a degree in zoology from the University of Wisconsin for his advanced degree.

He discovered the induced anemia phase of his work accidentally while working on his doctorate and immediately realized its significance as a signpost in his more important contribution, that of describing and identifying the blood-groups in chickens.

"The basic information obtained on the effects of blood-group genes may have some fairly immediate practical applications," Dr. Briles says.

"For example, it looks as if it may be helpful in producing more highly inbred lines of chickens. These lines in turn would permit more uniformity in the final hybrid chicks."

Homecoming At SMU To Be On Modern Theme

"Mustang Futurama" will be the theme of Southern Methodist University's homecoming Oct. 30-Nov. 1.

The "Buck Rogers" look at the school's future will be featured in all the events during the three-day reunion spree of SMU ex-students.

The schedule ranges from the traditional undergraduate contests and pep rallies to a fashion show for the ladies. To highlight the busy weekend is the football struggle in the Cotton Bowl Saturday, Oct. 31, between the University of Texas and SMU. Religious services Sunday morning end the program.

Pre-game ceremonies Saturday will include a mass picnic for alumni in Fair Park's Agricultural Building. A giant homecoming dance in the Science Building on the fair grounds Saturday evening will cap the day's activities.

There will be a parade through downtown Dallas Saturday morning, with SMU's fraternity and sorority floats being rigged in out-of-this-world motifs. The homecoming dance will be called the Solar Hop, and the homecoming queen nominees will be the beautiful Heavenly Bodies on display for the earthly event. Identity of the homecoming queen is to be revealed at half-time of the SMU-Texas game.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday conditions, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. with Traction-Slots.
FOR SAFER, QUICKER STOPS

The Seiberling Claw-Grip Tread has over 250 "Traction-Slots" scientifically spaced at regular intervals in the tread design. When brakes are applied, these slots react similar to a windshield wiper. The keen edges spread out . . . "wiping" away moisture on a WET pavement, providing a better "grip" on DRY surfaces. The Seiberling Safe-Aire is the SAFEST, most comfortable riding tire on the market today!

STRONGER SIDEWALL
Flexing area is confined to a small area. Severe bending action weakens cords.

SAF-FLEX CORD CONSTRUCTION
Seiberling Saf-Flex cord (the fabric which forms the body or "carcass" of the tire) is "pre-stretched." This means longer mileage, less tread separation and cracking. A tough "breaker strip" provides more protection against bruises and shocks.

SCUFF-BAR
Seiberling's "Modern Design" now provides practical protection against white sidewall scuffs . . . the Safe-Aire "Scuff-Bar". This specially designed rib of tough rubber helps prevent scuffing, keeps sidewalls clean longer . . . reducing maintenance costs and insuring longer wear.

HANDY HOME HINTS

Cranberry Relish

Easy-to-make cranberry relish goes well with either fish or meat. Peel two large oranges. Remove seeds and the white membrane beneath the skin, but save the peelings. Then put the rind and pulp through the medium blade of your food chopper along with 4 cups of raw cranberries. Mix thoroughly with 1 1/2 cups of granulated sugar. Store in a covered jar in your gas refrigerator.

Hair Care

Wash your hairnet, comb and brush with warm soapsuds a few hours before you shampoo your hair, home economists of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association suggest. Then when you're ready to set your hair, everything will be clean for ready use.

Sunday Special

Her's a hearty economical meal for Sunday supper: Mix 1 cup of grated American cheese with 1 teaspoon of prepared mustard. Add this mixture to 1 1/2 cups of medium white sauce. Stir until cheese is melted. Break in 6 eggs. Cover them with remainder of cheese sauce. Bake in oven of your gas range at 325 degrees for 20 minutes.

Waxed Rods

The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association suggests that when you change your curtains, wash the enameled rods in hot sudsy water, wipe dry and apply a thin coating of wax. Dries, polish the rods and you'll find that the curtains slip on easily.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Langlitz and Mrs. Eva Dick, of Olden, and Mrs. Ida Siever of Goldthwaite were guests Sunday afternoon in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Hazard and Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Pope.

Colorful Spring Bulbs Better With Contrasting Color Plants

Colorful Spring Bulbs

You can get more out of your spring bulb effects if you set off their colors. Also, the right plants will clothe the dying bulb foliage after the blooms are gone.

Among the best camouflage plants are: pansies, violas, snapdragons, primula malaodes, calendulas, stocks, and forget-me-nots. There are scores more, but these lead the list.

Using the bedding plants as ground covers and color foils for the bulbs, makes it possible to pep up any spring gardens.

Here are a few suggestions: red or pink tulips with blue forget-me-nots as a ground cover. Orange tulips with ivory or white stocks. Golden yellow tulips with pure white English daisies. Bronze tulips with blue pansies. Golden yellow daffodils with blue forget-me-nots or baby blue eyes. (Seeds of the latter can be broadcast in the open ground right after the first fall rain).

White daffodils interplanted with blue violas.

These are just suggestions and other color harmonies can be worked out to fit particular situations.

Be sure to give all of the bulbs, at planting time, a protective coating of lindane. This wards off attacks of soil pests and insects. It takes only a few tablespoonfuls of lindane to treat several dozen bulbs. The bulb investment, which usually represents many dollars, is thus protected for a few pennies.

Full bedding plants are more subject to the attacks of snails and slugs. For that reason, scatter metaldehyde bug pellets in between the bedding plants when they are first set out. These will protect the plants up to a couple of weeks. Usually another baiting will help keep the plants free well into the season.

Plant Natives

Gardening with native Western plants is the answer for those pressed for time and weary from fighting budgets. Wildflower gardening needs little or no water, no fertilizer, no cultivating and very little care. You can go away and leave a wildflower garden and come back to find it none the worse for your absence. That's why no expensive upkeep is needed!

Improved Planting
Plant your herbs close to the kitchen door so they'll be available quickly. The spot should also be sunny and free from winds. Good background herbs: dill, fennel, angelica, borage, and hollyhocks. Ground covers: creeping thyme, chamomile, violets and sweet woodruff. Partial shade: chervil, lemon balm, parsley, sweet cicely, and penny royal. Low hedgers: rue, santolina, hyssop, and rosemary.

Carnations Misbehaving?
So many carnations have been yielding split blooms, that backyard gardeners are pitching them over the fence. In many cases, this is the right thing to do. Some varieties are notably weak, and for that reason split their calyxes. These should be replaced with some of the varieties introduced in recent years which are bred to resist this trouble.

Resistant strains are not complete answer to the problem however. Three other possible causes: Sharp drop in temperature or a cold, windy spot in garden; improper feeding, due to sharp fluctuation of nitrates high to low or the reverse; lack of moisture uniformity in soil. If your carnations are misbehaving, check these points.

This is the greatest labor saving development for 1953. It is a self feeder for trench silos which permits cattle to empty the silos themselves. One of the most discouraging features of the trench silo has been the gruelling labor required in hauling silage from the trench to the feed troughs. Now, it is no longer necessary for men to do this. Cattle go into the concrete-floored silo and eat the silage as they push the stanchions forward along an iron rail. Silage rates next to pasture for its low cost, and now the cost can be still further reduced by this labor saving feature. Plans can be obtained from the county agent.

Some habits are good habits, especially when they are saving habits. Start the habit of saving regularly now.
