'Agriculture' Focus Of Special Week

around Muleshoe

Ted Barnhill, president of Muleplex Production Co., Inc. has called a general meeting of the membership for Thursday, March 21, 7 p.m. at First Bank. Those attending are asked to enter through the back (west) door.

At the general meeting, several major items will be addressed, said Barnhill, including motions to amend the Articles of Incorporation and the By-Laws of the corporation.

If you cannot attend, and wish to vote by proxy, contact Phil Kent at First Bank, 272-4515.

Parents of junior and senior students will have a meeting on Thursday, March 21, 5:30 p.m. at the Muleshoe State Bank community room concerning the Junior-Senior prom and Project Graduation.

They said it is important that one or both parents attend this meeting.

Dr. George L. Graham, former teacher and superintendent in area schools, will celebrate his 80th birthday March 22.

Pat Sullivan of Canyon is asking a shower of cards and letters from former students and friends would be a great surprise to him as he leaves his seventh decade.

The address is Route 1, Box 261, Blowing Rock, NC 28608.

Sand Blows

In Respiratory Ailments

Most local and area residents were very happy when the hospital re-opened in Muleshoe, but for a long time, not that many people used the Muleshoe Area Medical Center.

These days, however, a lot of people have re-discovered the advantages to being able to obtain medical care 'at home.'

On Monday, virtually every bed in the hospital was occupied and that trend has held for most of the week.

As the week went by, two to four beds were available, with the rest of the hospital full of patients.

Friday morning, MAHD Administrator Richard Murphy said he attributed the sudden increase in patients to "the pneumonia bug riding in on the dirt from the southwest."

Actually, this breaks down, he said, to respiratory ailments and pneumonia, caused by the severe sandstorms that have inundated the area for the past couple of weeks.

"Folks are beginning to use the hospital again," said the administrator. "This reflects the high confidence level the people have in their local hospital. And, we're tickled to death they are using the hospital again as much as they are."

With spring sandstorms that are showing up on a consistent basis, it is expected that the hospital will be continuing to see a rise in patients.

Texas Exempted

From Cover Crop

On ACR Land

The Texas State ASC Committee on Wednesday exempted Texas from the fifty percent cover crop requirement on Acreage Conservation Reserve (ACR) acres according to Jerry Harris, chairman of the Texas State ASC Committee.

The Food, Agriculture, Conservation and Trade Act of 1990 required that half of the acreage set-aside under the commodity programs be planted to a cover crop. The legislation also allowed for the exemption of those areas determined to be arid by USDA.

The determination to exclude Texas was based on meteorological data that shows the line between non-arid and arid regions running from North Dakota through Texas. All states east of the line are not considered arid and must comply with the fifty percent cover requirement. Most states west of the line are considered arid and do not have to comply with the fifty percent cover requirement.

"Since the line runs through Texas, the Texas ASC Committee determined to exclude all of the state from the fifty percent cover requirement," Harris said.

Local Soldier Part Of 'Patriot' System

By: Marshall B. Wilkins

FORT BLISS, Texas--An eerie white light streaks across the horizon, the fiery sphere illuminating the gloomy darkness above barred desert terrain. In what has become almost a nightly ritual, the piercing wail of an alert siren drones on with monotonous persistence.

The siren's wail is disrupted by two thunderous explosions as the white light continues on a circuitous path. But seconds later, after an even louder blast, the white light breaks up into hundreds of tiny flames. The slivers of light fall earthward showering the desert like some gala Fourth of July display.

Another of Saddam Hussein's SCUD missiles has been intercepted by U. S. Army soldiers operating Patriot Anti-Aircraft/Anti-Missile systems. Patriot crew members receive their training at Fort Bliss where U. S. Army Pvt. 1 Paul C. Chamberlin, 22, son of Bettie C. Gatewood, 914 South 1st, Muleshoe, is learning to maintain and operate the air defense system.

"I've learned how to drive the 10 ton trailer truck which carries the Patriot system. I know how to set up the launcher station, reload it with missiles, and synchronize the launcher with the engagement control station," said the 1987 graduate of Muleshoe High School.

The Patriot system made a successful debut in combat when it was thrust on to center stage in Operation Desert Storm to defend Saudi Arabia and Israel against Hussein's sporadic missile attacks.

National Agriculture Week, March 17-23, will again honor America's providers -- the farmers and ranchers who provide food and fiber for domestic and global needs.

In addition, National Agriculture Day on March 21 will be marked by many special programs that increase awareness of the role of agriculture today and the challenges it faces in continuing to meet the world's food and fiber needs.

Farmers are efficient producers. U. S. farmers today produce more than 80 percent more crop output on one acre of land than did their fathers. One hour of farm labor today also produces 16 times as much food and other crops as it did 70 years ago.

New technology has made these gains possible. The productivity of the land now depends on the skill and knowledge with which capital is applied. The larger the volume that farmers can raise and sell, the lower the product cost per item. Thus, consumers gain from the increase in farm production efficiency.

The productivity level of U. S. farmers and ranchers, when compared with those of other countries, also illustrates their high efficiency level.

For example, one American farmer provides food and fiber for 114 people. This compares with one farmer who provides food and fiber for 3.5 people in China, three people in Japan, eight in Argentina, four in Brazil and 11 in the Soviet Union.

Consumers spent $361 billion for foods produced on U. S. farms last year, about 4.5 percent more than in 1985. This amount includes purchases of farm foods in food stores, or roughly two-thirds of the total, and at away-from-home eating places.

About 25 percent of last year's food spending went back to farmers, who received about $89 billion. The remaining $272 billion, the marketing bill, went to food industry for handling, processing and retailing foodstuffs after they left the farm. Direct labor costs for food marketing represented 45 percent of the marketing bill, and all labor costs were about two-fifths larger than the farm value of food commodities.

For each dollar's worth of food bought in food stores, 31 cents was paid for processing, retailing charges added 23 cents. Another 10 cents was spent for wholesaling and six cents for intercity transportation. The farm share was about Cont. Page 6, Col. 1

Volunteers Are Needed To Deliver

Muleshoe Meals on Wheels, Inc., is once again in need of volunteers to deliver meal. Sharon Plott, of the Bailey Community Services office, said those who have volunteered in the past, and those who continue to work as volunteers, will tell you that it is a very worthwhile and rewarding service.

Meals on Wheels is presently serving meals to approximately 30-35 people, five days a week. The deliveries are divided into three routes, and enough volunteers are needed so that no one is required to make deliveries more than once a week.

In addition to regular delivery drivers, volunteers are needed who will be 'on call,' to make deliveries on short notice. These people would be called on to deliver when a scheduled driver can't make the deliveries for one reason or another. This doesn't happen often, said Ms. Plott, but when it does, it is imperative that someone be on standby.

If you would like to volunteer, or for more information, please call Doris Wedel at 272-4187, or Sharon Plott at 272-3647; or go by the Community Services office in the courthouse.

Just The Facts Ma'Ma'

"No State...shall deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." 14th Amendment, U.S. Constitution (1868)

Volumes have been written concerning the Constitutional rights of a person accused of a crime. For purposes of this article only a brief explanation of the more basic rights will be mentioned here.

1. Right to Counsel--Each person charged with a crime has the right to hire a lawyer of his choice. If the crime is serious and a jail sentence is possible, any person who cannot afford a lawyer may make application to the Court to have a lawyer appointed.

2. Right to Notification of the Charge--Each person has the right to have the criminal charge (indictment information or complaint) against him specified in clear and understandable language so that he can properly prepare his defence.

3. Right to Indictment by a Grand Jury--An indictment by a grand jury is required for all felony offenses unless the defendant chooses to give up this right.

4. Right to Jury Trial--Each person has the right to a trial by jury, and the Texas Constitution requires a verdict of all 12 jurors in a felony case (or all six jurors in a misdemeanor case.)

5. Right to be confronted by Witnesses--Each Defendant has the right to be confronted in open court by witnesses. This includes the right to examine or cross-examine the witness in accordance with the rules of evidence.

6. Right to Bail--A bail bond

(or an appearance bond) is a contract in which one makes certain promises such as to appear in Court for trial. If the conditions are not met, the person and his bondsman will forfeit a particular sum of money (the bail). Every individual, except those charged as habitual felons (persons who have already been convicted of a felony) or those charged with capital offenses where the death penalty will probably be given, has the right to make bail. Bail is set in accordance with the seriousness of the crime and the person's ability to make bail.

7. Right Against Unreasonable Searches and Seizures--No one can have his home or place of business searched unless he consents or unless a judge issues a search warrant based on sufficient facts to justify the search. The search warrant must be very specific as to the items to be seized and the reasons for the search.

8. Right Against Double Jeopardy--No person shall be tried twice for the same criminal act.

9. Right Against Self-Incrimination--No person shall be forced to give evidence against himself. A suspect has the right to be warned of his right to remain silent and of his right to a lawyer prior to making any statement.

10. Right to Habeas Corpus--Anyone held in custody has the right to be brought before the Court so that the Court can determine if he is being legally held. This is a safeguard against illegal detention in jail.

MICROWAVE TIPS

Can franks and buns be microwaved together?

They can. Don't microwave more than four at one time. Set power on 10 (High) and heat for 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 minutes--one to two minutes for two.

Place a napkin or paper towel under the bun--to absorb moisture. If this isn't done, buns will become steamy or moist underneath.

Passenger Safety Project Expands To Target Youth, Seniors

By Sandra Avant

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has launched a statewide effort to help increase the use of safety restraints in automobiles.

The Passenger Safety Education Project focuses on reducing deaths and injuries among young children, teens and older adults involved in automobile accidents, said Janie Harris, Extension specialist and project coordinator.

The project, funded by the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation, originally focused on child passenger safety education in rural areas.

Surveys taken two years ago in 34 rural counties pointed up the need: 73 percent of more than 4,000 toddlers observed riding in vehicles were not being buckled up or restrained correctly in child safety seats. After extensive safety education programming in 1989 and 1990, follow-up surveys in the same counties showed that use of restraints had increased to 42 percent last year.

The safety education project now takes a broader aspect, Harris said. "Our goal is three-fold--to provide educational material on child safety restraints to all 254 counties, educate teens on occupant protection and unnecessary risk taking, and inform senior citizens on proper use of safety restraints."

Harris is counting on the Extension Service's statewide network to help make the safety program a success. Extension county agents have helped establish coalitions of people and agencies concerned with the welfare of their counties. Safety education can be included in programs that cover parenting, strengthening families and health.

Teaching packets that contain a skit script, videos and a resource list on safety education are available to county agents and 4-H'ers. Key chains, book-marks and T-shirts with the logo,

"Buckle Your Bod," also have been designed to promote the use of seat belts, she said.

The skit, "URT Alert," focuses on teens considered unnecessary risk takers (URTs) and discusses three factors that continue to contribute to injuries and fatalities, Harris said. Drunk driving is the chief killer of teens in motor vehicle crashes, followed by speeding and failure to wear seat belts.

As a way of getting the message across to youth, Extension is targeting young leaders, Harris said. Already, programs have been presented to more than 300 4-H members at an annual retreat.

"We're focusing on 4-H'ers and hope that they take this information back to their communities and work with school groups and other organizations," she said.

"The No. 1 killer and crippler of teens in Texas is the motor vehicle crash," Harris said. "Many tragic deaths can be prevented if youth recognize and reduce the unnecessary risks they are taking."

The Texas Department of Public Safety reported that 78 percent of the 412 young people (ages 13-19) killed in motor vehicle accidents in 1989 were not wearing seatbelts.

During the rural survey of children, observers also noticed that older adults had a high incidence of seatbelt misuse, she said. The Texas Department of Public Safety reported that 52 percent of the 378 seniors (ages 55-80) killed in motor vehicle accidents during 1989 were not wearing safety belts.

"The main problem with seniors," Harris said, "is that they don't buckle up correctly. Many wear their seatbelts too high, the shoulder straps too loose, or sometimes push the straps behind them."

A teaching packet on safety education that targets older adults also is available to county agents, Harris said. One of several programs, "Belts And Bags Are In," takes a fashion show approach, but delivers vital information on the correct use of seat belts and the function of air bags.

"We emphasize that air bags are supplemental," she said, "They do not take the place of safety belts, but they are even more important for seniors because the older we get the more we are susceptible to injuries."

An air bag adds more to the cost of a vehicle, but it's like a spare tire, Harris said. "You would never go anywhere without it, even though you may never have to use it."

Harris said more education is needed throughout the state to increase the level of restraint usage to 70 percent by 1992--the goal of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. The federal agency's surveys indicate that compliance by automobile drivers only is now at 49 percent.

"Statistics show that safety restraints save lives," Harris said. "We hope that people will develop a habit of using them, starting by correctly buckling up their children."

Money Talk

A number of industry groups have jumped in recent trading, many in the defense sector. The war in the Gulf has been a shot in the arm for defense stocks, which had been weak.

On one hand, the high visibility television is giving to the military and the apparent success of much equipment--is a plus and will likely provide some bargaining leverage in order to maintain certain contracts.

However, the war in the Gulf is almost over and attention will soon turn to cutting the defense program, or at least slowing its growth.

The American consumer is more health conscious today than at any previous time in history. But convenience is still a top priority in the consumer's selection of food products.

Agriculture and the food industry are working hard to respond to these needs.

Research progress had been made in developing leaner meats and lower-fat dairy products. Food processors have developed high-fiber products and items with low sodium and less sugar. Ingredient labeling is another response to consumer needs.

Foster Home Orientation Date Set

The Texas Department of Human Services, traditionally referred to as "Child Welfare" has a continuing need to locate families to provide temporary care for pre-school and school age children, sibling groups, minority children and children with special physical and emotional needs. Families that can provide for up to 30 days, and families that can provide long-term care, for up to six months, are needed.

In order to be a foster parent, you need to be 21 years of age or older, and single or married one year. You must not have any health problems which would interfere with caring for a child. You need to be able to meet your own financial needs and you home must pass a fire and health inspection. Both parents may work as long as adequate child care arrangements are made. You must also be willing to provide a positive family experience for children.

Preservice orientation and training sessions are available to provide detailed information about how the Foster Home Program works and how to deal with children placed in foster care. A home study is conducted after the training to permit you to examine your interest in the program and evaluate the types of children that would work best for your family.

One of the primary factors stressed throughout the training and home study is that you are not committed to become a foster parent until you have enough information to make your own decision. In short, you may obtain all of the available

Breast Cancer Detection Unit Will Be Here

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of every ten women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime during her lifetime. Every year over 37,000 women die as a result of breast cancer.

According to a spokesman from the Regional Breast Care Center at Women's and Children's Hospital in Odessa, "The death rate from breast cancer could be drastically reduced if women would have mammograms done before a problem exists."

By using modern state of the art x-ray equipment, breast cancers can be found when they are about the size of a grain of rice and well before the cancer can be felt.

A woman who is diagnosed with breast cancer at this early stage has a 90-97 percent survival rate. However, a woman who is not diagnosed until a lump can be felt has approximately a 50 percent survival rate in five years.

In an effort to find cancers at the earliest possible stage and prevent unnecessary deaths, a mobile breast cancer detection unit will be made available to local women on Wednesday, March 20.

The mobile unit will be parked at Muleshoe Area Medical Center, 708 South First, Muleshoe. Appointments may be made by calling 272-4524.

For more information you may call the Regional Breast Care Center at Women's and Children's Hospital at (915) 334-8888/561-9999.

information and decide that it is not a good time to become a foster parent, based on your current family situation.

You need accurate information to make a realistic decision, however, and the Department of Human Services encourages you to find out more about the program before deciding.

An orientation meeting is scheduled for March 19 at 7 p.m. The location of the meeting is the DHS office, 209 Ave. B, in Muleshoe. Should you desire more information about the program in general or the above mentioned sessions, please call your local Department of Human Services office at 894-9606 or 385-6481 and leave your name and telephone number. A representative from the Foster Home Unit will return your call.

Re-Districting New Focus Of Hearings

The House Committee on Redistricting will conduct public hearings in Austin and strategic locations throughout the state to gather public input on the redrawing of appropriate Legislative, Congressional, and State Board of Education districts.

The Texas Constitution and federal law require the Texas Legislature to undertake redistricting after the release of the 1990 United States Census figures in order to protect the principle of "one person, one vote." The federal Voting Rights Act Requires that the Redistricting Committee take special steps to ensure that the rights of minority citizens are not abridged during the process of redistricting.

The purpose of the hearings is to gather information for the re-alignment of State House and Senate, Congressional, and State Board of Education districts. This is one of several opportunities for individuals to testify on these issues. The regularly scheduled time for the Committee to meet is Monday mornings, and testimony on any area will be accepted.

The Committee's next public hearing will be held on Monday, March 25, 1991, in Room 401 of the John H. Reagan Building, located at 105 W. 15th Street in Austin. The Committee has invited individuals from the region covered by Congressional Districts 13, 17, and 19 to offer comments and testimony on the redrawing of districts in their area. The hearing will last from 8:30 AM until approximately 11:30 AM and will reconvene upon adjournment of the House until testimony is completed.

If you have any questions regarding the hearing for your area, please do not hesitate to call the Redistricting Committee office at (512) 463-9948. For information regarding the time and location of upcoming meetings, call the Information line at (512) 463-0713. This number is answered 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Lamb County Petitions For County Hospital

The Advisory Committee to the Lamb County Hospital Authority met Wednesday, Feb. 20 to lay out plans for acquiring the petition signatures required to call an election to establish a county hospital.

The Hospital Authority passed a resolution on Feb. 14, calling for circulation of the petition.

The petition requires that registered voter's signature printed name, address and voter registration number, all be included. Approximately 850 qualified signatures will be required, and the qualified petitions will have to be presented to the County Commissioners Court prior to March 20th to put the proposal on the May 4 ballot.

"This is one of the most complicated petitions I've seen," said one county official Wednesday. "It covers the most demanding of petition requirements."

Signing the petition is not an indication of support for or against the proposal; it is only an authorization for the proposal to be placed on the ballot to give voters the chance to vote on the issue, the Advisory Committee noted.

The Hospital Authority Board decided to take this action in order to give county voters the opportunity to put a financial base under the hospital assuring viability, to provide resources which could be used in recruiting physicians to the county, and to extend services throughout the county.

If an election is called and voters approve the proposition, Lamb Healthcare Center could be transferred to the Lamb County Commissioners Court.

"The approach being taken by the Hospital Authority is a very prudent and reasonable course. If the county voters approve, it will assure that the hospital remains open, enable doctor recruiting and extend services throughout the county while at the same time assuring prudent management of county tax dollars through the County Commissioners Court," hospital administrator Jum Bone told the Advisory Committee.

Petitions are circulating throughout the county. People in the Sudan area can contact the Red Cross Recruiting

"Close Encounters Of The Best Kind" is the campaign for recruitment of volunteers needed to provide emergency and educational services in every community. A nationwide recruitment drive is now underway in communities across the country served by local Red Cross units. Each unit urgently needs additional volunteers to continue necessary emergency and educational programs.

George Brewer, South Plains Regional Chapter Board Treasurer, states, "Some of the most rewarding experiences in my life have been in my work for the Red Cross. I believe a sincere commitment to the Red Cross can protect human life."

Red Cross volunteers are trained and dedicated individuals who are close by to help our neighbors prevent, prepare for, and cope with emergencies. Volunteers in emergency situations work closely with families, helping before, during, and after disasters. The Red Cross trains volunteer caseworkers who keep servicemen and servicewomen in communication with their families worldwide. Other volunteers teach the life saving courses offered.

Brewer notes, adding, "Red Cross volunteers learn that their contribution in the community in time and talent is appreciated everyday by their neighbors, and volunteers learn more about themselves and their community."

Report From U.S. Representative Larry Combast

U.S. Representative Larry Combast (R-Texas) today announced his cosponsorship of legislation to ensure maximum flexibility of planting options for grain sorghum and corn producers. H.R. 980, "The Corn and Grain Sorghum Base Clarification Act of 1991," allows sorghum and corn producers to continue to interchange base acreage. A farmer establishes base acreage in order to participate in farm programs.

"Together, corn and grain sorghum produced in our area account for half of the state's feed grains," said Combast. "Our producers in the 19th District grow an estimated $135 million dollars in corn and more than $76 million dollars in sorghum. I believe ensuring base acre flexibility for corn and sorghum producers reflects confidence in their outstanding management practices," said Combast.

New regulations from the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) unintentionally took away the flexibility that grain and corn producers have since 1985. The USDA returned flexibility to those producers only for the 1991 crop year. The legislation cosponsored by Combast clarifies that producers will be allowed to combine their corn and sorghum base acres through the 1991 crop year covered by the Farm Bill.

"Putting management decisions in the hands of producers has provided an ample supply of these feed grains for livestock, dairy, and poultry," said Combast. "The 1990 Farm Bill never intended to prevent feed-grain producers from the flexibility that has worked so well."

As the new ranking member of the House Small Business Subcommittee on Exports, U.S. Representative Larry Combast (R-Texas) is opening business opportunities for the owners and employees of local companies in the rebuilding of Kuwait. "After devastation by the invadador from Iraq, seven months of brutal occupation in Kuwait have left nearly every road, hospital, school and oil producing facility in need of repair or replacement," said Combast. "The free Kuwaiti people can now welcome the talent and drive of American workers. Kuwait's offer of contracts provides many opportunities for American business to help reconstruct that country."

To further small business opportunities, the House Small Business Subcommittee on Exports, Tax Policy and Special Problems will hold a subcommittee hearing in Washington, D. C. on Monday, March 11 to make American small businesses aware of how they can participate in the rebuilding of Kuwait. Representatives of the Kuwait government, U.S. Department of Commerce and Army Corps of Engineers will testify concerning contracts with Kuwait, according to Combast.

Congressman Combast has already assisted several businesses seeking information about contracting with the Government of Kuwait. "Kuwait's reconstruction will cost between $60 billion and $100 billion dollars, with Kuwait stating that U.S. companies will be favored in the five-year rebuilding process," said Combast.

"The actual reconstruction work will be done by the private sector, not the U.S. government," said Combast. The contracts awarded to American companies will be financed by Kuwait's estimated $100 billion in foreign assets and by restored oil revenues. Members of Kuwait's government-in-exile began developing detailed rebuilding plans shortly after the Iraqi invasion of August 2, 1990.

Congressman Combast is also an original cosponsor of a House Concurrent Resolution urging the Small Business Administration, Commerce, Defense and State Departments to cooperate with other federal agencies in providing assistance and advice to small businesses interested in contracting with the Government of Kuwait. The resolution also encourages U.S. companies to subcontract with American small businesses and hire veterans of the Armed Forces for the jobs created by the Kuwait contracts.

Firms interested in counseling or referral services may contact the U.S. Commerce Department at (202) 377-5767.

Three Way News

by: Mrs. H.W. Garvin

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kindle were in Lubbock Wednesday on business.

M.T. Gant, a 54 year resident of our community died Monday in Lubbock. Funeral services were held Friday at Three Way Baptist Church with burial in O'Donnell Cemetery.

Mrs. H.W. Garvin visited in the Bill Dolle home Saturday were their daughter, Belendi Austin, Mrs. Dolle's parents, the Ralph Davis', and Mrs. Dolle's sister, Charlsie Parker, all from Lubbock.

The community had a lot of sand the past week with land blowing in spots bad.

Two of the Three Way students attended the F.B.L.A. convention with their sponsors in Austin the past week. Mrs. Anglin was the girls sponsor who was Millisa Bennett. Parker sponsored Wade Wilson. They visited the State Capitol and other things while in Austin.

Mrs. Jack Lane and Mrs. Obie Standard and son were in Muleshoe Thursday and took their mother and grandmother out to dinner to celebrate Mrs. Quesenberry's 88th birthday.

We wish to welcome Mr. and Mrs. David Crafford and boys from Big Springs, to our community.

The Three Way school is out for spring break this week.

Mrs. W.T. Simpson spent the weekend in Albuquerque, N.M. visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Butch Tucker and Marc spent the weekend in Ruodoso, N.M.

Things in the community are very quiet just waiting for moisture.

Spring makes everything young again, save man.

Spring is sooner recognized by plants than by men.

Garden Urge

Each year about this time those nursery catalogues start the saliva flowing--pictures of lush tomatoes, beans, corn, potatoes, onions, carrots, etc.

Millions will soon be investing in plants, seeds, fertilizer and peat moss. Tillers will be checked and oiled or new ones bought. Some will rely on the hoe, or mule.

Great expectations will last until about June, when the bugs, storms, blight, ground moles, and diseases--plus very hot weather and weeds--attack from the flank (and frontally and from the rear).

About July or August several crops will turn out reasonably well; that makes it all worth while, even if the euphoria of spring has by now turned to reality. One enjoys better-tasting vegetables, fresher vegetables, more vitamins and avoids shopping.

Many plantings offer reliable and generous returns, but over the years it's hard to beat the rate of return of potatoes, corn, tomatoes and beans. They're among the best and easiest producers. New potatoes, plus August corn and tomatoes, make life a little better.

"To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven."

THE HIGHEST POINT

A steeple was first built on the town church so that anyone anywhere in the village could look out and locate the house of worship. The steeple on the church was the highest point in town. This was a physical fact and the people of the Lord knew it was a spiritual fact also.

Although a church's steeple is no longer the highest physical point in the city because of all the many-storied buildings and towers, the church itself is still filled with people who have reached the highest point of Godly maturity and who are filled with the highest degree of Christian love for God and man.

*EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE*

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Baptist Children's Home Renovate Six Residential Cottages

Buckner Baptist Children's Home has begun taking steps to renovate the six residential cottages on the 11-acre campus at Loop 289 and West 4th Street. The home is part of Buckner Baptist Benevolences and offers assistance to West Texas families and children whose lives have been disrupted by abuse, neglect, abandonment and other factors beyond their control.

According to home administrator Moe Dozier, the renovation project will cost approximately $300,000, which will have to be raised through contributions and grants before the renovation can begin. "We have qualified for challenge grants from the Abell-Hanger Foundation in Midland, the J.E. and L.E. Mabee Foundation, Inc. in Tulsa, Okla. and the M.S. Doss Foundation of Seminole," said Dozier.

"We are very pleased that these groups think highly enough of Buckner and the work we are doing here in the West Texas to place their confidence in us," said Dozier. "But it also means we will have to work hard at meeting our part of the goal." The total sum of the challenge grants is $250,000, leaving Buckner to raise the remaining $50,000 in matching funds by May 1991.

Dozier explained that all six cottages need new furniture, and the kitchens need to be updated and remodeled after over 20 years of use. New cabinets, flooring, paint, lighting and storm windows will make the cottages safer and more energy efficient. All furniture in the cottages will be replaced. "New desks, beds, couches and dining room furniture will help us continue to provide a safe and positive environment for our children," he said.

Most people in West Texas have heard of Buckner Children's Home. They have driven by and noticed the blue Buckner signs at Loop 289 and West Fourth Street. Perhaps some of them have wondered what kind of help Buckner provides.

When Buckner Children's Home began, it primarily provided long term residential care. Most of the children who lived there stayed through high school graduation. "Twenty years ago there were no specialized programs for children with emotional or learning disabilities. There was no need for those kinds of programs at that time," said Dozier. "But today we are helping more kids who may have been physically or emotionally abused and many who have developed problems as a result of a broken family."

Over the years, Buckner has changed its programs and services in order to meet the changing needs of the families and children they serve. Specific adjustments have been made to address the needs of children with behavioral and emotional problems, as well as those with special academic needs.

Some things at Buckner have remained constant, however. "Creating a positive, home-like environment has always been important to us," said Dozier, "one that is safe, comfortable and reassuring, as well as functional. The least we can give our kids here is a place they can call home."

"Preparing Buckner kids for the future by providing an encouraging, Christian environment and a home they can take pride in is what we are striving for," said Dozier. "We are proud of all our children and their progress over the years. I know this progress would never have been possible without the numerous people and churches here in this area who have given unselfishly of themselves to support Buckner Children's Home."

New Name For Range Program

The department of rangeland ecology and management is the new name for the department of range science at Texas A&M University.

But department head Dr. Joseph Schuster said the new name is merely a more accurate description of the department's direction for the past 10 years.

"We teach ecology and conservation of natural resources," Schuster said. "Range management is the application of ecological principles for the husbandry of rangelands and range resources and their sustainable use by people."

Rangeland, which is neither cropland nor forest, occupies more than 50 percent of the land area in the United States and 43 percent of the world, Schuster said.

He said that range management originally was geared toward livestock production and conservation. But for the past 10 years, range managers have become increasingly interested in multiple uses that also include recreation, wildlife and water conservation.

"About 60 percent of the water used by industry and the public in the state comes from rangelands," he said.

With the name change comes more options for students. The rangeland resources option now includes emphasis areas such as ecology, range-soil conservation, environmental science, wildlife, watershed resources, pre-veterinary medicine and teaching.

"The new name reflects the management and conservation that we are known for, while emphasizing ecology as the fundamental science applied in rangeland management," Schuster said.

Work hard and complain less.

Go to church next Sunday--it's a good habit.

State Sales, Franchise Tax Exemptions Save Taxpayers

State Comptroller John Sharp said Tuesday that in fiscal 1991 state sales and franchise tax exemptions will save taxpayers and cost the state $12 billion.

In a report to the Governor and Legislature required by state law, Sharp said of that figure exemptions from sales tax will total $11.8 billion and franchise tax breaks will reach $200 million. Sharp's report did not make any recommendations for keeping, eliminating or modifying any exemptions.

The sales tax--at $7.6 billion in fiscal 1990--is the largest source of revenue for Texas state government. About 56 cents of every state tax dollar comes from the sales tax.

Basic necessities, such as groceries, prescription medicines and residential gas and electricity are among those items exempted from the state's 6 1/4 percent sales tax. Farmers and ranchers receive exemptions for machinery, livestock, feed, seed and other agricultural purchases.

In Texas, sales tax is also not due on most services. In 1991, these service exclusions will be worth an estimated $1.7 billion--an amount equal to almost 21 percent of expected total sales tax collections.

The highest-dollar service exclusions are professional services, such as medical, dental and other health care ($445 million); legal services ($178.5 million); accounting and adult services ($75.4 million); engineering and architectural services ($86.5 million); real estate agencies and brokers ($74.3 million); financial securities brokerage ($46.4 million), and veterinary services ($22.7 million).

Of the $200 million in franchise tax exemptions in 1991, $101 million will go to profit-making businesses. The largest exemption for these corporations--$55.2 million in 1991--will go to insurance companies that already pay the Texas insurance gross premiums tax.

New Members To Be Elected From Borrowers

A group of farmers and businessmen will meet March 18 (Monday) at 10 a.m. at the Lubbock Plaza Hotel. The meeting will cover FmHA county committee elections.

Any active farmer or their spouse may run for FmHA county committee, and those interested are urged to attend this free seminar.

An effort to elect thirty local FmHA borrowers to FmHA county committees has begun. Seventy-five percent of adverse FmHA loan decisions are eligibility decisions made by the county committee.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
I made the mistake of getting married the month after I finished high school. The boy I married had one more year in college.

We are getting along very well at the present, financially, but I have a big problem. All of Jim's friends are educated people and half of the time I don't know what they are talking about. This embarrasses me and makes me feel left out of things.

We live in a college town. Do you think it would be a good idea for me to finish my courses at the college?
R.M.-NY.

Answer:
Some of the best educated people I know never attended college but while a college course is not always necessary for a person to become educated, it is a great help and a means of getting a better paying job, if the occasion arises.
Taking up your studies at the local college seems to be an ideal solution to your problem.
-Louisa

Dear Louisa,
I am a sophomore in college and the boy I am engaged to is also in college. Our parents want us to finish our education and we plan to do that. But I see lots of young couples who are married and keeping on with their school work and I wonder if we could not do the same thing. I would like to know what you think about such an idea?
Mary I-Utah

Answer:
Some young people seem to come through such a situation very well, but many of them fail. It is tough going unless you have financial independence. Adjusting to marriage is something that requires tolerance, patience and emotional stability and when these needs are added to the pressure put on students in school today, it takes a great deal of love and will power to come through happily and successfully.
-Louisa

Flattered
"This robbery was carried out very cleverly," said the judge.
"Come now, judge, no flattery, please," replied the blushing prisoner.

Wrong Advice
The worried patient was visiting his doctor for a checkup.
Said the doctor: "Do you smile at your troubles as I advised?"
The patient replied: "Yes, and the boss warned me three times to wipe that silly grin off my face and get to work."

It Depends
"I'm a dollar short on my pay check this week," the employe complained.
"We overpaid you a dollar last week and you didn't say a thing," his boss reminded him.
"One mistake I can overlook. But a second is inexcusable."
