Up The Canyon

By TOM
RUSSOM

More rain has come to the Canyon the last few days. The late rains have caused the milo to sucker and slowing down harvest for quite some time.

Livestock is so high farmers and stockmen can't buy them to stock their places, and yet there's more pastures on the farms than I have ever seen.

The early oats have been completely destroyed by a plague of worms that came in early and ate the oats up. Then, a big wheat crop to sow.

Some of the farmers have plowed up their cotton recently.

We haven't said much about the deer hunting and the season opens in about 30 days from now. The deer looks good and healthy this year and they would have to be fat due to having so much to eat. The dove hunting has been wonderful: a lot of birds killed and a lot of birds left.

B. H. Riney has been on the sick list this week. Mrs. Ray Orsborn, daughter of the Rineys, has been very dear in seeing after her parents.

The Rev. E. H. Phillips and a layman from his church in Big Spring were here this week doing some fishing. The fishing was real good. Phillips said crops are good around his area.

There was a record crowd turned out for the Annual Farmers Union meeting and barbecue in Merkel last Thursday night. The state president Jay Naman of Waco, spoke to the group.

We received word here that a very good friend to a lot of Merkel friends and some relatives paid a visit to Merkel, her hometown, where she was raised. She is Mrs. H. O. Coit of Dallas, and a sister of Booth Warren. She is a reader of the Merkel Mail and says she enjoys reading our news column. Mrs. Coit owns a beautiful cabin up in the mountains of Colorado.

World - Wide Communion Day will be observed at Pioneer Memorial Church this Sunday, and the Rev. James Merrell, pastor of the Merkel United Methodist Church, will assist in the service.

PUNT, PASS & KICK IS THIS SATURDAY

Boys ages 8 through 13 in the Merkel area have begun registering for the ninth annual Punt, Pass and Kick Competition to be held at Badger Stadium Saturday, Oct. 11 and to begin at 10 a.m.

"Boys may continue to register either at the Elementary School or at Gene Stewart Ford at North 7th and Kent the rest of the week," said Merkel's head coach, Wendell Robinson.

WWI Veterans To Meet Oct. 14

The regular meeting of World War I Veterans and Ladies Auxiliary of the Merkel - Trent Barracks, will meet Tuesday, Oct. 14 at 7:30 at Taylor Electric Cooperative, according to Mrs. Karl Bonneaux.

Mrs. Bonneaux said that a good attendance is urged in that members "will make plans to attend the District Meeting at Snyder Oct. 18."

Refreshments will be served by committee hostesses.

PLAQUE OF APPRECIATION — Coy McDougald, field representative with the Rural Electrification Administration, presents a plaque of appreciation to retiring Taylor Telephone Cooperative board member, Clark Perkins, for his years of service to TTC. Also, receiving a plaque was Charlie Myatt. Mrs. Myatt received a plaque of appreciation for her husband, who was absent due to illness. (Staff Photo)

FARMERS UNION MEMBERS HEAR STATE PRESIDENT NAMAN SPEAK

"The Taylor County Economy will be denied almost $2,000,000 in government farm payments if present commodity legislation is phased out," according to Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco.

Naman who is on the executive committee of the National Farmers Union and is one of the five Texas members of the National Cotton Board, addressed the annual meeting of the Taylor County Farmers Union at the school cafeteria in Merkel Thursday night.

The large crowd at the annual meeting heard Naman refer to Secretary Hardin's proposal for new farm policy.

"It appears that Secretary Hardin recognized the value of the present farm programs, because his recommendations follow the general principles established under the 1965 Farm Act," said Naman. "We are disappointed that he was not more specific in stating the income objectives which he hopes to achieve under his program guidelines."

The Farmers Union president praised Congressman Omar Burleson for co-sponsoring the recently introduced Purcell Farm Bill. This legislation has been endorsed by 22 national farm, commodity and cooperative organizations.

Naman told the Merkel audience that "the unity shown by the farm organizations in support of the Purcell Bill to extend permanently the present commodity programs disclaims as a myth once and for all the accusation that farm groups will not work together for a common objective."

Resolutions approved to be introduced at the State Convention Dec. 4, 5 and 6 at the Windsor

MHS BADGERS TRAVEL TO HASKELL FRIDAY

By CONNIE HARRIS
Every team in district play has but one goal — to win district — and if they haven't got what it takes to be number one, their next goal is to "knock off number one."

The Merkel Badgers were rated 8th (last place) in district competition. In last week's Abilene Reporter - News they were called "the surprising Badgers." The Badgers have set their goal high and that's to "knock off" the Indians of Haskell who are at the top of the totem pole. Game time is 8 p.m. at the Indian Stadium.

School Conferences Scheduled This Week

Merkel Public Schools first Parent - Teacher Conferences this year are scheduled for this Thursday and Friday according to school superintendent, Mack Fisher.

"We are expecting and preparing for an unusually large turnout, since this is our first one for the school year," said Fisher. "Invitations to parents to visit school and to take advantage of the conference times have already been sent home, and we sincerely hope that parents will take advantage of this time."

School will be dismissed at approximately 12:30 p.m. both Thursday and Friday, with conferences scheduled to begin immediately, and to continue through 3:30, said Fisher.

School buses will run at the 12:30 dismissal time.

Edwin Read, high school principal, explained that teachers are to be in their rooms during the entire time and that parents may schedule conferences.

"A directory is on display in the front hall of the high school building, showing teachers' subjects taught and room numbers," said Read. "Parents may use the directory in contacting the teachers who instruct their children."

Parent - Teacher Conferences are also scheduled for the primary - elementary schools at the same time.

Leon Walker, primary - elementary principal said, "This is a time for parents to meet with teachers and get a first hand report on children's progress.

"This is the first opportunity of the school year for parents and teachers to visit and to have questions answered concerning pupil progress," said Fisher. "A letter or a telephone conversation is good, but nothing takes the place of person to person conferences."

Fisher also extended an invitation for parents to visit the Merkel Schools "at any time during the school year."

"We heartily welcome your visits," said Fisher, "and we know that when you come to visit us you are interested in your children and your school."

Celebrate with Spaghetti.....

What's to celebrate? National Macaroni Week, of course! The dates of this annual event—October 16th through the 25th this year—have just been announced by the National Macaroni Institute. Maybe the week coincides with a promotion, a birthday, an anniversary or arrival of a new neighbor which calls for an informal supper. Or perhaps you'll just use National Macaroni Week as the excuse for entertaining a group of your friends. In any case, the macaroni makers suggest spaghetti (simply a thin spaghetti) as the main dish. But put a new topper on it; try this zingy sauce made with Italian hot sausage.

SPAGHETTINI WITH HOT SAUSAGE SAUCE (Makes 12 servings)

- 1 pound Italian hot sausage, cut in chunks
- 1/4 cup hot water
- 1/2 pound medium mushrooms, sliced
- 1/4 cup shredded carrot
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/4 cup chopped parsley
- 2 pounds ground beef chuck
- 1 can (1 pound, 12 ounces) plum tomatoes
- 2 cans (6 ounces each) tomato paste
- 1 cup dry red wine or water
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon basil leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper (optional)
- 3 tablespoons salt
- 6 to 9 quarts boiling water
- 1 1/2 pounds spaghetti or spaghetti

In Dutch oven or kettle, cook sausage in water 10 minutes, tightly covered, stirring occasionally. Remove sausage with slotted spoon. In same kettle, saute mushrooms, carrots, onion, celery and parsley in sausage drippings until crisp-tender. Remove and add beef; cook stirring frequently, until lightly browned and all liquids are cooked down. Remove any excess fat. Return sausage and vegetables; add tomatoes, paste, wine, bay leaf, 2 teaspoons salt, basil and pepper. Cover and simmer 1/2 hour; uncover and simmer 1 1/2 hours, stirring occasionally.

Meanwhile, add 3 tablespoons salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Serve with sausage sauce. Pass grated Parmesan cheese, if desired.

the Pipers to a scoreless first quarter. Robert Bolden, Pipers' halfback ace, scored twice early in the second quarter. Bolden drove 71 yards in 2 plays for the first TD. Tommy Carson blocked the extra point attempt.

Bolden scored with 5 1/2 minutes left in the second quarter after quarterback Robert Branch threw deep in the end zone. Earl Webb, fullback, ran the extra point conversion.

After a snap for the center, and a roll out of the end zone on a punt attempt Hamlin added two more points on a safety.

Wingback Spencer Ford carried the pigskin over a drive play attempt for extra conversion failed.

The Pipers' final TD came when Charlie Shira charged over from the 14 with seconds left in the game. Webb kicked the extra.

Whisenhunt will be out for this coming Friday's game at Haskell, due to a knee injury received in the Aspermont game two weeks ago. Tommy Anderson, tailback, will also be "watching from the sidelines," due to a wrist injury.
With all that, we can bet that the Haskell Indians will know that the Merkel Badgers "have been there."

The Bible... A Book of Definitions

The Bible is a book of great but simple definitions. Here we find it answering, in a wonderful way, the great queries and questions of the human heart.

WHAT IS SIN? "Sin is the transgression of the law." I John 3:4.

WHAT IS RELIGION? "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world." James 1:27.

WHAT IS GOD? "God is a Spirit; and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth." John 4:24.

WHAT IS THE CHURCH? People! God's saved people! Acts 2:47.

WHAT IS YOUR DUTY? "Fear God and keep His commandments: for this is the whole duty of man." Ecclesiastes 12:3.

WHAT DO THE LORD REQUIRE OF THEE? "To do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God." Micah 6:8.

WHAT IS FAITH? "Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." Hebrews 11:1 (Also it is the same as the whole of Christ's doctrine — Sph. 4:5; also in Romans it refers to — trust and reliance.

WHAT IS ETERNAL LIFE? Living with God. Rev. 21, & 22.

Intersection Yields Explained

Merkel Chief of Police Mike Briley, this week called attention to House Bill 84, which pertains to Vehicular Right of Way at Intersections.

"This bill, relating to right of way for vehicles at intersections was signed by the Governor June 14 and it became effective Sept. 1," said Chief Briley. "Section D is of special importance to our city."

Section D of House Bill 84, as it appeared in the magazine, The Texas Lawman, follows:

"The driver of a vehicle approaching the intersection of a different street or roadway, shall stop, yield and grant the privilege of immediate use of such intersection to any other vehicle which has entered the intersection from such driver's right or is approaching such intersection from such driver's right in such proximity thereto as to constitute a hazard and after so stopping may only proceed thereafter when such driver may safely enter such intersection without interference or collision with traffic using such different street or roadway."

"The question of yielding has come up many times in our city," said Briley, "and it simply means that a driver of any vehicle must when approaching an intersection where signals or stop signs are not up must yield to driver on the right."

Fallout Shelters Are Discussed

The third in the series of "In Time of Emergency," appears this week on page six.

The U.S. Department of Defense, Office of Civil Defense is discussing this week Fall Out Shelters and how they can "be built into homes as a practical way to survive attack."

"The article on fallout shelters appearing this week is most informative," said Merkel Fire Chief Waymon Adcock, also spearheading civil defense in the area. "We are most vulnerable in Merkel and surrounding area in case of an attack or warning, and the article gives some very clear cut ideas for saving lives — the fallout shelter way."

The article suggests basements as one means of shelter, and also discusses shielding material to be used.

A diagram, showing methods of constructing a fallout shelter in a basement or outside building is found on the same page.

In Time of Emergency

Fallout Shelter Built Into Home Seen As Practical Way to Survive Attack

The public fallout shelter system which has been developed in the United States would protect tens of millions of Americans from fallout resulting from a nuclear attack. However, few public shelters exist in locations such as suburban and rural areas that lack large, heavy structures. In places with inadequate or non-existent public shelters, a home fallout shelter could be a life saver.

The basements of some homes are usable as family fallout shelters as they now stand without any major changes, especially if the house has two or more stories, and its basement is below ground level.

Most home basements, however, would need some improvements in order to adequately shield their occupants from the radiation given off by fallout particles. Usually, householders can make these improvements themselves, with moderate effort and at low cost.
Millions of homes have been surveyed for the U.S. Office of Civil Defense by the U.S.
Census Bureau, and these householders have been given information on the fallout protection their present basements would provide, and how to increase this protection by making specific improvements.

Shielding Material Is Required

In setting up any home fallout shelter, the basic aim is to place enough "shielding material" between the people in the shelter and the fallout particles outside the home.

Shielding material is any substance that would absorb and deflect the invisible rays given off by fallout particles outside the house, and thus reduce the amount of radiation reaching the occupants of the shelter. The thicker or denser the shielding material is, the more it would protect the shelter occupants.

Some radiation protection is provided by the existing, standard walls and ceiling of a basement. But if they are not thick or dense enough, other shielding material has to be added.

Concrete, bricks, earth and sand are some of the materials that are dense or heavy enough to provide fallout protection.
For comparative purposes, 4 inches of concrete would provide the same shielding density as:

● 5 to 6 inches of bricks
● 6 inches of sand or gravel ● 7 inches of earth
● 8 inches of hollow concrete blocks (6 inches if filled with sand)
● 10 inches of water ● 14 inches of books or magazines
● 18 inches of wood

Some of the materials listed above may be handled more easily if they are packed into bags, cartons, boxes or other containers already placed where the additional shielding is desired.

A home shelter can be either a permanent basement shelter, or a permanent outside shelter.
Plans for each type may be obtained without charge by writing to Civil Defense, Army Publications Center, 2800 Eastern Blvd., Baltimore, Md.
21220. In writing for either type of basement shelter, mention whether Plan A, B, C, D, or E is wanted.

Permanent Basement Shelters
The following 3 shelters are probably the best type to build in homes with a full basement or one corner below ground level. The required shielding material would cost about $100 to $200. Persons with basic carpentry or masonry skills could probably do the work themselves. Shelters of this type should always be built in the "best" corner of a home basement—the corner which is most below ground level.

CEILING MODIFICATION (Plan A) calls for increasing the overhead shielding against "downward" radiation by screwing plywood sheets securely to the bottom of the ceiling joists, then filling the spaces between the joists with bricks or concrete blocks. An extra ceiling beam and a screw-jack column may be needed to support the extra weight.

If 12 inches or more of the basement wall is above ground level, this plan should not be used unless two interior partitions are added to form a shelter area and protect the shelter occupants against radiation coming from the side.

ALTERNATE CEILING MODIFICATION (Plan B) is similar to Plan A, except that new extra joists are fitted into part of the basement ceiling (over that section of the basement which will be used as shelter). The new joists will help support the added weight of the overhead shielding material, and the extra ceiling beam and screwjack column will not be needed.

CONCRETE BLOCK OR BRICK SHELTER (Plan C) is a plan to build, out of concrete blocks or bricks, a separate 5 x 11-foot shelter in the "best corner" of a basement. It requires construction of only two walls and a ceiling for the shelter, since the regular basement walls will serve as the other two walls of the shelter. Built low, this can serve as a "sit-down" shelter, or by making the walls higher, a shelter can accommodate people standing erect. The shelter ceiling, however, should not be higher than the outside ground level.

If a home has a basement but a permanent-type basement shelter is not desired, the next best thing would be to arrange to assemble a "pre-planned" home shelter. This simply means gathering together, in advance, the shielding material needed to make a basement (or one part of it) more resistant to fallout radiation. This material could be stored in or around the home, ready for use whenever it is decided to set up a shelter.

PREPLANNED SNACK BAR SHELTER (Plan D) is a snack bar built of bricks or concrete blocks, set in mortar, in the basement corner that is most below ground level. Over the snack bar build a strong, hollow "false ceiling" that is hinged to the wall.

In a time of emergency, the false ceiling is lowered so that one end rests on the snack bar and the hollow sections of it are filled with bricks or concrete blocks (which should be stored nearby) to provide overhead shielding.

PREPLANNED TILT-UP STORAGE UNIT (Plan E) involves construction of a simple storage unit out of lumber. The unit is like a free-standing bookshelf or storage bin, 6 feet high, 8 inches deep, and either 1 1/2 or 3 feet wide. At the top, it is hinged to the basement wall.

In peacetime, the unit could be used to store books, canned goods or other things. In event of attack warning, the storage unit would be tilted so that the bottom would be resting on an unmortared wall of bricks or concrete blocks that have been stored nearby. Other bricks or blocks would then be placed in the compartments of the storage unit, to provide an overhead shield against fallout radiation.

The information in this story was furnished by the U.S. Department of Defense, Office of Civil Defense, to help people prepare for a nuclear attack and learn what actions to take in case an attack should occur. Local authorities are responsible for applying the public with more detailed survival instructions for this area.

drawn from the OGD publication "In Time of Emergency" (11-14), which is fices.
