

Feds approve pesticide to fight blight

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

Local farmers were granted a crisis exemption Wednesday for a pesticide used to fight a fungus on grain sorghum.

The Environmental Protection Agency approved a fungicide known as propiconazole (going by the trade name of Tilt) to control northern leaf blight now making a rare attack on grain sorghum because of the continuing rains and unseasonably cooler weather.

The fungicide has proved effective on corn crops but has never been tested on grain sorghum.

Leaf blight has attacked milo in northern Bailey County and Parmer County, according to Bailey County Extension Service Agent Curtis Preston.

"We've seen (blight) in almost every field," said Fred Locker of Ag Aviation in Muleshoe.

Locker said one variety, Pioneer, seems particularly susceptible. He reported one field in which the blight had destroyed the milo.

The disease has not been seen in Southern Bailey County, where many dryland farmers are expecting to harvest their first crop in three years.

Baring help from Mother Nature, the all-purpose fungicide is the only way to fight the northern leaf blight, according to Locker.

AG NEWS

An extended period of warm, dry weather would help alleviate the problem.

Grain sorghum cannot be sold for food consumption until the EPA establishes a tolerance.

The Texas Department of Agriculture estimated losses to commercial grain sorghum producers without Tilt would be more than $14 million.

The fungus affects the top three or four leaves of the plant, creating cigar-shaped brown and tan lesions, causing a premature death resembling frost or drought injury.

In damp weather, large numbers of spores are produced on the lesions of the susceptible varieties. The disease overwinters in affected leaves and other plant parts. Spores are windborne over long distances.

Disease development is favored by moderate temperatures and heavy dews during growing season.

"Without the option to fight the rapid development of leaf blight on sorghum, up to half the crop would be lost," said Rep. Larry Combest (R-Lub-

District gangs up on social problem

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

Rap videos and recent movies have spawned gang wannabes in almost every town in America big enough to sport a spotlight.

Even in Muleshoe.

Rarely taken seriously, shrugged off as kids being kids, gang wannabes are the first sign that a community is ripe for gang activity.

The Muleshoe Independent School District is taking a proactive stance toward potential gang activity.

The district instituted a stricter dress code this year in part to combat clothing and fashion styles worn by gangs and gang wannabes.

An in-school seminar on juvenile gangs was given to Watson Junior High School administrators and teachers in August. The seminar given by two speakers supplied the Lubbock County district attorney's office focused on warning signs that indicate gang activity.

"It really did make us aware," said Watson Junior High School Principal Sheila Joyner. "A lot of teachers said that they had seen some of the things they talked about in their classrooms but didn't know that's what they were."

The junior high age group is most susceptible to recruitment, according to most experts.

Signs that indicate gang affiliation include hair styles, clothing color, hand signs and homemade tattoos.

"We're trying to be proactive in approaching the problem," MISD Superintendent Bill Moore said. "We wanted to find out what the warning signs were and how to combat it."

"We don't want to overreact," Moore said. "But we need to spend time looking forward at what the issues are. And accent the positives and eliminate the negatives."

Kids want to belong. And with the continuing breakdown of the family structure in more and more homes, they look elsewhere for acceptance.

"We try to provide a variety of activities at school so they can feel like they are part of a group," Moore said. "It kind of reminds us school has change so much in the things we are asked to do. It's not just reading, writing an arithmetic anymore. Now we're involved in the social side of it by trying to implant values and discipline."

Acting Muleshoe Police Chief Jay Livingston said the gang activity he's seen has been limited to wannabes, but they do

Special needs course revamped at WJHS

BY SAMUEL VILLARREAL
Staff writer

An abnormally high number of non English-speaking students this year at Watson Junior High has led to the creation of a new program.

An English as a Second Language (ESL) program has been in place for years at all campuses in the Muleshoe Independent School District to accommodate the needs of such students.

The program consisted of bilingual classes to help integrated such students into regular classes. The ESL program at WJHS was revamped over the last week of August to accommodate the needs of non-English speaking students.

Sheila Joyner, principal of WJHS, approached MISD administrators (at the start of the school year) about restructuring the old program, due to an unusually large group of students who speak little or no English. Most of these students are the children of migrant farm workers. The students also lack basic literacy skills in Spanish due to the fact that most have had no formal steady education.

The average day for the 18 students in the new program consists of four hours of English courses, taught by Shirley Aguirre, head of the new ESL program. The rest of the school day includes classes where teachers can give lessons even with limited English, such as math, art, band, and P.E.

"This is an excellent program," Aguirre said. "It benefits a lot of kids that are missed (by the old ESL program.) We are able to integrate the students back into the regular classroom sooner."

"The students are excited about participating in a few regular classes so soon. We are taking these classes a day at a time. Our goal is to have the

Big-play Rams bounce Mules in opener, 41-0

By RICK WHITE

PORTALES — David Wood expected to take his share of lumps when he accepted the challenge of rebuilding the Muleshoe football program.

He just didn't expect to get the first lump on the first play of his head coaching career.

Chris Horton returned the opening kickoff 94 yards for a touchdown and the Portales Rams exploded for 27 second-quarter points Friday en route to a 41-0 win over Muleshoe at Greyhound Stadium.

"Whew, that's heck of a way to start," said Wood. "Coming in, we (the coaching staff) knew things like this were going to happen. It's just going to take time to get things established."

"I told the kids there's going to be a lot of obstacles along the way and we're just going to have to find a way to overcome them," Wood added.

At times, Muleshoe gave glimpses of a bright future.

The Mules showed they could move the ball, finishing with 203 total yards and 10 first downs.

■ Sophomore quarterback Matt McClanahan completed 11 of 21 passes for 95 yards, including six-straight completions in the second half. Twice he scrambled for first downs.

■ Junior tailback Louis Hines gained 59 yards on 10 carries, including a 38-yard run on his second carry.

Portales (2-0) just had too many weapons:

■ Senior scatback Ryan Hightower scored on runs of 69 and 55 yards on back-to-back runs in the second quarter, finishing with 135 yards on 7 carries.

■ Senior quarterback Charlie Sotello completed 7 of 14 passes for 135 yards and a touchdown. He kept three scoring drives alive by converting fourth-down plays.

students on a regular schedule by the end of this semester."

The enhanced ESL program will most likely be temporary.

Since such a large number of students who do not speak English is rare, administrators do not foresee a need for such a highly structured program in the future.

Bilingual classes, which are the basic format of ESL programs at other MISD campuses, should be sufficient once this year's students have learned enough basic English skills, according to Aguirre.

Among the specific challenges with this year's group of ESL students, Joyner pointed to a limited education held by some of the students.

Reading and writing skills of the students in Spanish range from a first to seventh-grade level, according to Joyner.

Many ESL lessons incorporate Spanish literacy to integrate English literacy Aguirre hopes to solve this problem by incorporating oral teaching into the class.

Lessons will start from the rudimentary level, teaching all the English skills necessary to succeed in a regular classroom.

Tuesday's storm packs powerful winds

Anna DePalma heard a loud thump, and then the power went out.

She checked the houses around her to see if anyone else had lost power during Tuesday night's violent thunderstorm that packed heavy rain and high winds.

But all her neighbors across the street from the northeast edge of the new city park still had power.

A little later, a Southwestern Public Service repairman helped solve the mystery when he came to restore the power.

High winds from the storm apparently lifted the 15-foot circular trampoline that normally sits in her front yard, tossed it over top of the house, and into an alley more than 130 feet away.

In its path was the powerline that ran to her house, which was lying in the alley when SPS repairman Danny Kelley arrived.

DePalma said she heard a loud thump like something huge was hitting the house, but didn't think much of it. She figured lightning had knocked out the power.

The heavy downpour, dumped about an inch of rain throughout the city in a half hour. Other parts of the County got little to no rain.

Something is missing

Cassidy Lowe, 3, of Muleshoe leans on what's left of a trampoline after Tuesday's storm sent it flying more than 130 feet.

The trampoline now lies in pieces in her front yard while she gets a part of the aluminum frame fixed.

Ag Chemical Conference Sept. 11 in Lubbock

LUBBOCK — A hands-on approach to better production of grains, peanuts, alfalfa and cotton will be presented during the 44th annual Agricultural Chemicals Conference here Sept. 11.

Practical information on the latest materials and regulations regarding insecticides, herbicides and fungicides for all the major crops of the area will be presented during the one-day educational conference at the Lubbock Plaza Holiday Inn, South Loop 289 at Indiana Avenue exit.

More than 400 producers, chemical dealers and agribusiness representatives are expected to attend. Participants can receive up to six continuing education units (CEUs) required by the Texas Agricultural Code for certification of commercial and non-commercial pesticide applicators. Crop consultants can receive up to five CEUs toward their professional requirements.

The conference is sponsored by the West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Institute (WTACI). It is an organization of scientists, educators, industry representatives and agribusiness leaders formed here in 1953. Since then it has sponsored educational and research programs dealing with safe and effective use of agricultural chemicals.

Conference registration will begin at 7 p.m. Tuesday, September 10, and resume at 7 a.m. the following day. The opening session will be at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, September 11.

Proper ways to deal with controversies in agriculture will be the opening presentation. Dr. Jeff Goodwin, Dallas County extension agent for natural resources, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will address the topic.

Ways today's herbicides work will be explained by Dr. Peter Dotray, weed scientist with Texas Tech University and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Extension Service. Dr. James Leser, Extension Service entomologist, will discuss today's insecticides.

Following lunch, WTACI will present awards to an educator, a chemical industry leader and a leader in environmental stewardship. The organization also will present scholarships to several students from universities in West Texas.

Dr. Dan Krieg, plant physiologist at Texas Tech, will discuss crop water use and water management.

Three concurrent sessions will provide the latest information for producers of peanuts and alfalfa, cotton, and grains.

In the grains session, disease management will be covered by Dr. Harold Kaufman, Extension Service plant physiologist, Lubbock. Dr. Travis Miller, Extension agronomist, College Station, will discuss plant physiology. Dr. Pat Morrison, Extension entomologist, College Station, will discuss insect management. Weed management will be covered by Dr. Brent Bean, agronomist, and Dr. Clay Salisbury, plant physiologist, both with the Extension Service and Experiment Station, Amarillo.

The peanuts and alfalfa segment will open with Dr. Richard Lee, weed specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service, New Mexico State University, Las Cruces, N.M., discussing weed management. Dr. Mark Black, Extension plant pathologist, Uvalde, will cover disease management. Dr. Mike Schubert, Experiment Station plant physiologist, Lubbock, will discuss plant growth and development.

Fresh Reyes shines in Muleshoe's 34-0 win

Scores 4 TDs in first high school game

Jesse Reyes scored four touchdowns in his first high school game Thursday, leading the Muleshoe freshmen to a season-opening 34-0 win over Portales at Benny Douglass Stadium.

His crowning moment came late in the game when Reyes turned a short pass on third-and-eight into an 83-yard touchdown jaunt.

Reyes took the pass from quarterback James Barrett in the left flat, evaded a couple defenders to get to the first-down marker, then cut back against the grain and into the clear.

His leaping catch Barrett's pass in the left corner of the end zone gave Muleshoe a 22-0 halftime lead.

Reyes also returned a partially block punt 30 yards for a score in the second quarter and bolted 55 yards for a touchdown on the game's third play.

Clint Black scored the Mules' other touchdown on an 8-yard run that made it 28-0 in the third quarter.

Mitch Mason recovered a fumble for Muleshoe and Kyle Hahn was credited with partially blocking the punt Reyes scored on.

Ram JV overpowers Mules, 28-0

The Portales High School junior varsity used a ball-control offense and a hard-hitting defense Thursday, shutting out Muleshoe, 28-0, at Benny Douglass Stadium in the season-opener for both teams.

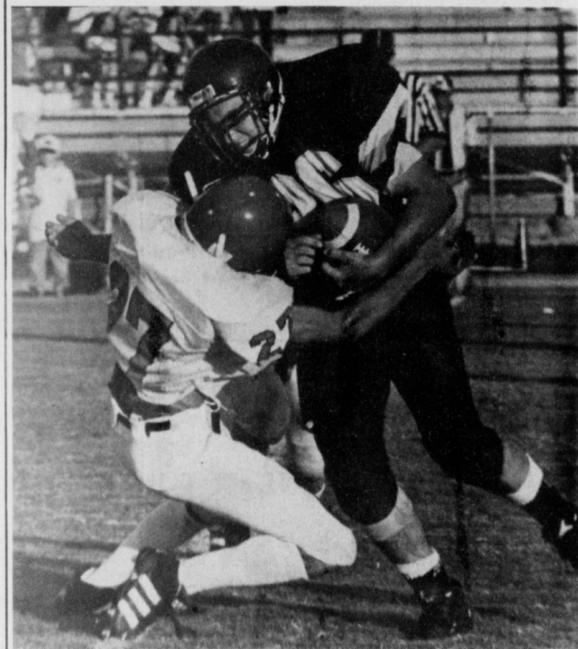

James Elms scored twice for Portales behind an offensive line that carved huge holes in the Muleshoe defense.

Elms got the Rams on the board with a 33-yard run on the first play of the second quarter. He scored again on a 5-yard run late in the fourth quarter.

The Rams also scored on a 5-yard run by Ricky Ekert in the third quarter and on a 7-yard pass from Kevin Crane to Raymond Herrera.

Boosters urging community pride

The Muleshoe Athletic Booster Club is stepping up its efforts to develop community support.

The Boosters are again urging city businesses to decorate store front and windows in the Muleshoe Mules' colors in the coming months to show their community spirit and support.

"When people drive through town, we want them to know its football season in Muleshoe, Texas," said Booster Club

President Dr. Barry Cowart.

For the second year in a row, the Boosters will award the "Community Spirit Award" trophy each week to the business or group that shows the greatest spirit.

The Boosters are also asking businesses to display photos of both the team and an individual player to show support.

New this year are customized cow bells. Fans can purchased cow bells from the booster club, complete with their favorite player's number and name.

The Booster is holding a meeting at 7 p.m. Monday night in the high school cafeteria.

Mule head coach David Wood will discuss and show a highlight film of Friday's Portales game. The public is invited.

A business meeting will follow.

WJHS 8th, 6-0

PORTALES — Chris Vela scored the only touchdown on a 25-yard run in the third quarter Thursday, leading the Watson Junior High 8th-graders to a season-opening 6-0 win over Portales.

The Mules moved the ball against the Rams, but two fumbles inside the 20-yard line and penalties prevented WJHS from scoring more.

Lindy Pineda and Danny Ramirez had interceptions for the Mules.

Mules

Senior all-state line-backer/fullback Ricardo Anaya. Anaya gained 68 yards, scored two touchdowns and had a game-high 11 tackles, including a sack.

Muleshoe bounced back quickly from the first-play-of-the-game shocker.

Hines scampered 38 yards to the Ram 21-yard line in the Mules opening drive before being dragged down from behind. But the Mules fumbled on the next play, one of four first-half turnovers.

Twice more in the first quarter the Mules were in Ram territory, but failed to capitalize.

The first time the Mules gave up the ball on downs after starting at the Ram 28 following a three-yard punt.

The second series ended with a fumble after the Mules reached the Ram 46.

Then Hightower and Sotello took over.

Sotello marched the Rams 54 yards in nine plays, keeping the drive alive with a 32-yard pass to Ross Hampton on third-and-12. Portales went up 12-0 when Sotello hit tight end Josh Warren on fourth-and-goal from the 5 on the first play of the second quarter.

On the next series, Hightower bolted 69 yards untouched down the right sideline on a sweep.

Every playbook contains a power sweep, the Rams have a patent on it.

Portales scored twice more in the half.

Anaya pranced 20 yards up the middle on a draw play with 5:36 left in the half following a Muleshoe turnover. Sotello kept the drive going with a 27-yard scramble on fourth-and-eight.

Hightower made it a one-play drive on the Rams' next series, again hugging the right sideline en route to a 55-yard run that gave the Rams a 33-0 lead.

"I think we just lost focus in the second quarter," Wood said. "We were waiting for things to happen instead of making things happen."

Sotello, who had some big shoes to fill in replacing graduated all-state quarterback Raul Anaya, has thrown for 385 yards and four touchdowns in two games.

Sotello, considered a little on the short and slow side, is more school-yard scrambler than prototype quarterback.

"I wouldn't coach that for a $1 million," said Portales head coach Bobby Crane. "But I don't care what it looks like, he gets the job done."

Portales scored on its first possession of the second half on Anaya's 5-yard run. Anaya kept the drive alive with a 15-yard run on fourth-and-6 from the Ram 46.

Muleshoe put together a 15-play drive following the score, reaching the Ram 5-yard line. But couldn't punch it in.

McClanahan completed six-straight passes in the drive.

"We didn't score, but we moved the ball most of the night," Wood said. "That was one of the positives. I'm proud of the kids."

Denver City whips Coahoma 35-0

ODESSA — Fullback Nick Archer ran for two touchdowns and Denver City returned two Coahoma fumbles for scores en route to a 35-0 season-opening win Thursday at Ratliff Stadium.

Denver City, which plays at Muleshoe next Friday, broke open the game with a pair of third-quarter touchdowns.

John Kelly threw a 44-yard touchdown pass to Jay Ocheskey and Braughn Curtis returned a fumble 24 yards to put the Mustangs up 28-0.

Working for Us in the Texas Legislature

“It's been a great privilege representing you in the Texas House of Representatives. I've tried to listen carefully, to work hard, and to use good judgement in deciding on the policies that best serve our families. I hope I've earned your trust and support for another term.”

field position and had trouble moving against the Rams' massive defensive line.

Muleshoe's Carlton Lewis caught a pair of passes from Breck Brown. Tight end Joe Garcia hauled in a 23-yarder from Brown late in the game.

Lewis and Jacob Villa had interceptions for the Mules.

Brown injured his right leg late in the game, but is expected to return in a few weeks.

Muleshoe plays at Denver City Sept. 12 (7:30 p.m.).

A friendly reminder about having blind faith

BAXTER BLACK
ON THE EDGE OF COMMON SENSE

I was sittin' in the back row of a beautiful little church in a mountain town in the Rockies. I was there for the wedding of a daughter of good friends.

As the service progressed, my attention was drawn to a banner that hung on the wall. It was handmade, cut from cloth and intended to be inspiring. It read, Mount Up With Winos.

Many thoughts went through my mind as I tried to absorb the full meaning of this elaborate banner. I had come to realize over the years that many Protestant churches have become more liberal in their teachings. Acceptance of alternative lifestyles, less moral brow-beating, less blatant emphasis on money, more convenient schedules and greater tolerance of lesser sins; i.e. fall football, alcohol, sex and non-Christian religions.

And there is something to be said for that religious creed, after all, Jesus himself never discriminated.

Bein' a thinker myself, I began to concoct other potential banner slogans that might be acceptable in this New Age congregation;

Ride with the Risque, Sail with Sinners, Lie Down with the Licentious, Commune with the Immoral, Huddle with the Homeless, Do Lunch with the Offender.

The wedding audience was mostly ranch people, men with sunburned faces wearin' new jeans and uncomfortable in their ties. The women wore their best dresses and the kids were glad to be anywhere off the ranch.

We all squirmed quietly in our pews as the preacher read the vows, told them marriage was forever and lent dignity and tradition to what we all hoped would be a union made in Heaven. We were happy for the parents and appreciated the page turning in their life. We'd all been there or soon would be.

I'd come with my family to pay tribute to the parents... my friends. But I admit my distraction with the banner had consumed a good part of my attention during the service. I began to think that it was inappropriate.

When the soloist rose and sang the final George Strait love song while the bride and groom escaped, she was positioned right below the banner. Poor planning, I thought, or at least in poor taste.

As we were filing out I asked my daughter what she thought of the banner.

"Which one?" she asked.

"The one right above the singer," I answered.

She studied it and read aloud, "Mount up with Wings. Kinda cool, I guess. Why?"

"Oh," I said, vowing silently to start wearing my glasses more often, "Just curious."

Some Lessons Can Be Learned Along the Journey

I have been doing some morning jogging lately, and I've really been enjoying it. Both facts surprise me.

That I'm writing about it surprises me, too, because I'd promised myself I wouldn't. I'm trying to avoid the non-convert fervor so often found among folks who've, say, lost thirty pounds on a miracle prune juice diet, or who've just quit smoking and falling, and he won't be able to get up" type than the "Michael Johnson sets a new Olympic record" variety. Kind souls who see me trudging along wonder, "Should I call 911 now and save time or wait until he collapses?"

Anyway, I've learned that jogging does wonders for my appetite, but here are a few more important lessons from morning meandering. Both in walking/jogging in a park and in the more important journey through life:

A steady pace will take you farther than a sporadic sprint. A dedicated tortoise plodding consistently along will beat a hyperactive hare with mood swings any day. Count on it.

Keeping a long-term goal in mind is productive; fixating on obstacles on the road is not. Focusing on a landmark 100 yards away is deadly to what little jogging energy I have; I get to my goal in much better shape if I keep my eyes focused on the next two or three steps just ahead and take them as they come.

It's good, though, to keep in mind that you're going somewhere. For Christians, the "end" of this journey is the beginning of a far better one filled with the essence of the best joys we've experienced here magnified beyond imagination. Christians who keep the heavenly goal in mind are of a great deal more earthly use than those who don't.

I wish you joy in the journey!

Focus On Faith
Curtis Shelburne

taken up bragging, or who've discovered the latest "pyramid" scheme. I figure it's task enough for my friends to remain my friends without me going out of my way to make it more difficult.

I'm not sure how "converted" I am anyway. I've enjoyed the morning "jogs" ("running" would be far too strong a term) largely because I like sunrises and the calm, cool quietness of the morning. Those things are at least as fine a benefit for my attitude as any physical benefit I receive from a trip around a park. For that matter, I'm pretty sure that a good walk produces the same (and maybe better) mental benefit, and almost the same physical benefit, as something faster.

My jogging is more the "He's

House, Watkins are wed June 22

Page Elaine House, of Levelland and Jon Robin Watkins, of Lubbock, were wed in a doubling ceremony, June 22, at 7:30 p.m. at the Sixth and Gaines Church of Christ in Tulia, officiated by John Francis and Gary House.

Parents of the couple are Gary and Lori House of Levelland and Glen and Marsha Watkins of Lubbock, formerly of Muleshoe, and Cleon Wylie of Amarillo.

The couple were wed before a heartshaped arch swathed with white tulle. White bows with baby's breath and leather leaf greenery accented the arch and pews. Large Swedish ivies enriched the decor. The unity candle and hand dipped toppers, lit by the couples' mother, were adorned with baby's breath and greenery. They were atop an ivory Battenburg Cloth used at the bride's parents wedding and at her great-grandparents' fiftieth wedding anniversary.

The bride wore a floor length gown made by her mother. The dress, an Alicyn design, had a dropped, fitted waist with a gathered skirt, long sleeves with a point over the hand and a sweetheart neckline. An applique, hand beaded with pearls by the bride, covered the center panel of the dress. A large bow accented the back waist below a line of small covered buttons. The white brocade fabric used for the dress had a rose design. The dress and train were edged in embroidered lace, hand beaded with pearls by the bride's mother and sisters. The pearl embellished head piece was complete with a fingertip length tulle veil.

Something old was the fifty year old white Bible given to the bride for the occasion by her great-aunt, Nora Errington, of Amarillo. Something new was a cross pendant given to her by a friend, Shana Schaffner of Slaton; something borrowed was her grandmother's cameo necklace originally belonging to her great-grandmother. The cameo was worn by her grandmother and mother in their weddings. A ruby ring was borrowed from a friend, Tiffany Nowlin. Something blue was her garter made by her great-aunt, Judy House, of Amarillo.

Serving as maid of honor was Katherine Tucker, of Tulia, friend of the bride. Other bridesmaids were Leah House, sister of the bride, and Lana Dupree, they wore navy linen tea length dresses accented with pearl necklaces, given them by the bride.

The flowergirl was Lauribeth House, of Shallowater, cousin of the bride. She wore a navy linen sundress and carried a basket filled with tiny white satin bows. Cara House, sister of the bride and Angela Johnson, cousin of bride, lit the candles. Their a-line, tea length dresses were navy and made of linen.

Music selections were played before and during the ceremony by His Image of Tulia. Krystal Helton of Plainview sang "Somewhere in the World."

The bridegroom wore a navy Oscar Dela Renta cut-away tuxedo with tails, which included a matching navy vest and bow tie. His boutonniere was made of a single bridal white rose, fashioned by his aunt, Sandra DeJarnett of Hale Center. She also fashioned all the boutonnieres and corsages.

Mrs. Jon Robin Watkins (nee Page Elaine House)

Mark Moore, friend of the bridegroom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Sammy Watkins, of Lubbock, nephew of the bridegroom and Casey Criswell, of Levelland.

Ushers were Jeremy Silva of Lubbock and Jonathan House of Shallowater. Jonathan Johnson greeted the guests at the door. Tye Watkins of Lubbock nephew of the bridegroom, was the ring bearer. He carried a pillow made of the bride's dress fabric, embellished with silk ribbon roses and pearls. April Silva, sister of the bridegroom, made the pillow.

The bride's mother wore a fitted tea length dress of ivory crepe. The groom's mother chose a two-piece suite of sage green brocade. Both mothers wore corsages of bridal white roses and baby's breath.

A reception followed the ceremony in the fellowship hall. The bride's table was covered in an ecru linen cloth. The three tiered cake, made by Lesa Johnson and Lena Powell, was decorated with tiny pink roses, baby's breath and greenery. Servers were friends of the bride, Anissa Ellis, Tay Cannon, Jamie Chapman and Amie Carlisle.

The bridegroom's table was covered with a navy cloth topped with a ecru runner. The coffee was served from a silver coffee service belonging to Wanda House, grandmother of the bride. German chocolate cake and sausage balls were served from crystal dishes. Richelle Watkins, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, served.

Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, the couple are at home in Lubbock. They both attend Texas Tech University. The bride is employed in the biology department at Tech and the bridegroom is employed at Builders' Square.

Ona Berry has lived in Muleshoe since 1943. She was married to T.W. Berry. She had 2 children—the late Glen Berry and Allen Berry of Amarillo. She has 6 grandchildren and 8 great grandchildren.

They started Berry Electric in 1944. They ran the business until 1971 when they let their son Allen take over. They did all kinds of electrical wiring, refrigerator and small appliance repair.

Mrs. Berry belongs to the Muleshoe Rebekah Lodge 114, the First Baptist Church and the Jenny Slippers. In her extra time, she makes dolls and napkin holders from plastic canvas and yarn.

She likes all the girls from the Muleshoe Area Home Health Agency.

By Joy Stancell

Happy September Birthday to Billy Crouch, 9/16; R.B. Cunningham, 9/23; Lillian Hazel Riddle, 9/19; Adele Tompkins, 9/8; Ruth Lackey, 9/26; Aline Locke, 9/10.

The September birthday party will be held Thursday, September 26, at 3 p.m. Please come and join the celebration.

Visiting Nettie Quesenberry, Monday, was her daughter, Anna B. Lane, granddaughters, Janna Bennett, Danetta Hatcher and Michelle Standard. Also her great grandchildren, Cynthia, Melissa and Jonathan Bennett, Lakin and Kalee Hatcher and Creston and Tiffany Standard.

Guy Kendall had lunch and a visit Wednesday with his wife, Elsie, and his granddaughter and new little great-grandson. "Hey Guy, where did he get those good looks?"

Our sympathy goes to the family and friends of Blanch Awbrey. We too shall miss her.

Bill Maddox returned to the care center after being hospitalized in the local hospital. Welcome back Bill!

Dorothy Bowers made and delivered several nice lap robes for the residents, Friday.

The Calvary Baptist Church came Sunday for a singing service. Billie Downing played the piano for them.

The Baptist pastor from Circle Back, visited the residents Sunday. He sang a special song for us in the day room.

Mr. J.C. Shanks comes every Saturday to give hair cuts and shaves to our men.

Pearl Helmer and Rosa Sneed attended services at their church, The First Assembly of God, Sunday.

Rosie Toscano was visited by several of her family members Sunday.

Naomi Black went out for lunch with her son Sunday. Later in the day her daughter from Lubbock visited. Maxine and Clinton also visited her.

Thursday morning, Nancy Lemons, from High Plains Ceramic Shop, made and brought ceramics for the residents to paint. Residents participating were: Hazel Riddle, Jackie Davenport, Pearl Helmer, Rosa Sneed, Kathrine Rogers, Kathryn Hancock, Lora Dale, Lillie Wuerflein, Florence Harvey and Naomi Black.

Pastor David McIntire directed our devotional/Reflection time Thursday morning.

Friday morning the residents council met with Robin Dickerson, D.M. to plan one dinner menu for September. The group decided on baked sweet potatoes, German sausage, green beans, Waldorf salad, hot rolls and ice cream.

Friday afternoon the Joy Choir, from the First Baptist Church, came for a gospel singing service. The service was dedicated to the late Odessa Shanks. J.C. Shanks, Gerald and Lula Maye Shanks, Mrs. Shanks brother and sister-in-law, were special guests for the service. Scott Pace and Buster Kittrell led the singing. Karen Cook sang two songs for the Healthcare Center friends, in Mrs. Shanks memory.

The Followers Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church made a donation to the Healthcare Center.

Claudine Embry, Mary Jo Burge (welcome back Mary), Beverly Wagnon, Cindi, L.V.N. and Joy shampooed and set the residents hair Tuesday.

Mrs. Gibbs daughter-in-law, shampooed and set her hair and Mrs. Quesenberry's Tuesday morning.

Glenda Jennings and Jonessa Brockman came Wednesday afternoon for our sing-a-long/puppet show. Jean O'Brien also participated.

Hazel Riddle has 36 grandchildren and 30 plus great-grandchildren. Happy Grandparents Day!!

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

WHEN THE GREAT PROPHET ELISHA LAY UPON HIS DEATH BED, JOASH, KING OF ISRAEL, CAME TO MOURN HIM AND ELISHA BADE HIM PICK UP A BOW AND ARROW AND POINT IT IN THE DIRECTION OF SYRIA AND SHOOT IT OUT THE WINDOW. JOASH DID AS THE PROPHET DIRECTED. THEN ELISHA TOLD JOASH TO TAKE THE REST OF HIS ARROWS AND STRIKE THEM UPON THE FLOOR....

...JOASH DID SO, BUT IN A PERFUNCTORY MANNER, FOR HE COULD SEE NO IMPORTANCE IN THIS ACT, LAZILY STRIKING THE FLOOR THREE TIMES. ELISHA BECAME ANGRY AT THIS DISPLAY OF LAZINESS FOR, HAD JOASH STRUCK THE ARROWS SIX TIMES, HE WOULD HAVE COMPLETELY DEFEATED SYRIA TO SAVE HIS KINGDOM, BUT, SAID THE PROPHET, NOW HE WOULD ONLY DEFEAT SYRIA IN THREE BATTLES - NOT ENOUGH TO SAVE ISRAEL! ALL THIS WAS BORNE OUT AFTER ELISHA'S DEATH - SURE ENOUGH, JOASH WON ONLY THREE BATTLES AS THE PROPHET HAD DECLARED!
