Doc Caldwell's "Medicine Show" plays to a packed house

Tower Theatre called a smash hit, entertainers call Post the next Branson, Missouri

Next show to be announced

by Bill Galusha
After many months of work and planning the "Tower Theatre" opened its doors to a packed house Saturday night. Doc Caldwell's medicine show headlined the entertainment along with Shanna VanWinkle, Texas Dust Devils, Travis Ware, Jack Woody and many more talented performers.

Micky Miller a Post school teacher sang the old Patsy Cline smash hit "Crazy" to an audience that could hardly wait for the song to end before applauding. "The Heartbeats" of Lubbock played their fiddles in more than the normal fashion. Aaron and Jevon Hart ages 19 and 12 (respectively) have been trick fiddling, singing, acting and dancing for audiences professionally for the last four years.

The Heartbeats have played to audiences in Nashville, the Palace in Lubbock and in the state of Louisiana. They plan on taking their show on the road. "If we can get a sponsor we'd like to play in Branson, Mo., or in Nashville again, Heck I'd even settle for Vegas," Aaron said with a smile.

Travis Ware and his 10 year old daughter Amanda delighted the crowd by singing a duet. Amanda was not in the least bit bashful about her plans for her future. "I plan on singing and acting professionally. This is not the first time I've been on stage," said Amanda. Travis Ware takes his singing very seriously. For the last 11 years he has been performing at the "West Texas Opera" in Lubbock and has missed only two shows.

here. This (meaning Post) has the potential of becoming the next Branson Mo., that's what Cecil says and I agree with him," said Travis.

The entertainers all donated their time and talent for Saturdays "Medicine Show." Many are professional entertainers, but there are many who perform just because they enjoy it and earn their living in many different ways.

"South Plains College was represented by several of the entertainers. Lead guitarist Tim McCasland is a music instructor at South Plains. Drummer Stuart Moody is an instructor of sound reinforcement at South Plains. Rusty Huddelson did an excellent job playing the key board and teaches piano and voice at the college. Bass guitarist Barbara Raines of Lubbock has been a recording artist for years.

Two local Post residents, Noel White and Jane Mason showed their talents by performing in their home town.

During intermission the performers mingled with the audience in the lobby and shared their past experiences and future plans with many of the crowd. There was one thing that all of the entertainers and audience alike agreed on, The Tower Theatre is a success and everyone was already looking forward to coming back for the next show.

"The next show will be announced in plenty of time," said Cash.

54th Post Stampede Rodeo Aug 11, 12, 13

by Julie Hudman

The bright lights will soon glow, and the music will hum as the 54th annual Post Stampede Rodeo calls attention once again to the rodeo action on the Lubbock highway. Books for entries close at noon on Wednesday, August 10. The rodeo office phone number is 495-2501.

Rodeo days are August 11, 12, and 13. Each of the three performances will begin at 7:45 with a Grand Entry and introduction of directors and stock producer Terry Walls. Each night features cowboys and cowgirls racing against the clock in their respective events. For the grandparents' enjoyment the 12 and Under Flag Race will be a highlight.

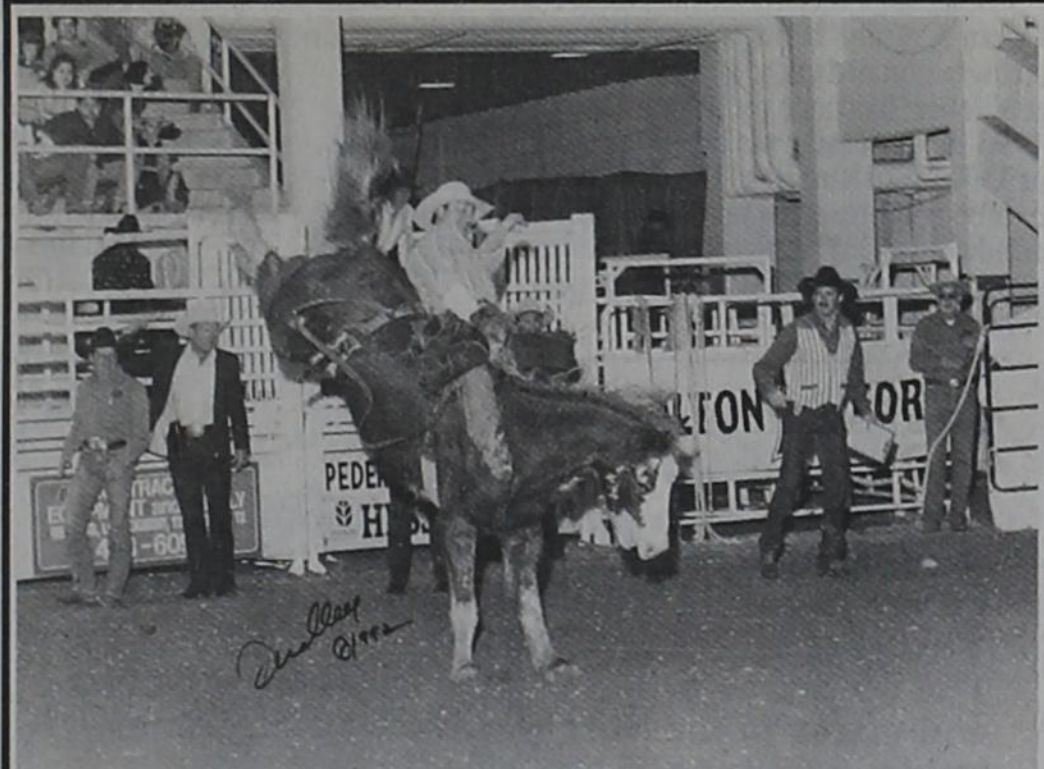

Jody Nix and his talented band will provide dance music nightly on the covered slab.

On Thursday, August 11, the opening parade will wind through downtown Post at 5:30 p.m. Bil Hendrick is this year's Parade Marshal. Bil is a well known area horsewoman and a lover of the western outdoors. She will lead the riding clubs and organizational floats who help kick off the festivities.

This year's Stampede promises all the aura of the robust and exciting sport. There is a myriad of reasons which attract spectators to the arena. Some fans simply enjoy the social atmosphere, the western dress, and the chance for casual visit. They attend the rodeo because it's fun and they can join the lively activities.

Other people are intrigued with the limelight of rodeo stars. They easily identify the leading names who perform well under the lights and the bucking stock who can make a name for his rider. They attend the rodeo because they're aware of the charisma of certain stars.

Finally, there are the fans who prefer to study the techniques of the event. There is a special art to the performer who can work as one with his or her mount. These fans are intent upon the skills of the rider and appreciate what timing goes into a run or loop or tie-down. They attend the rodeo because it's uplifting to watch that rider who can make what he or she does look easy, and know that here is a true rodeo talent.

Stampede rodeo days offer many events for rodeo fans to watch and enjoy during the three day celebration Aug 11, 12 and 13.

Local youth compete in Junior rodeo

by Julie Hudman

Young rodeo competitors from Post participated in the High Plains Junior Rodeo finals last week. The year-end finals were held in Lovington, New Mexico from July 27-31. The association numbers around 480 members from Texas and New Mexico. The HPJRA is one of the largest junior associations in Texas, and holds three-day rodeos every weekend from April through July. All the traditional rodeo events are held for ages 20 and under.

Lovington has hosted the finals for several years in the spacious Jake McClure Arena. The Lovington Chamber of Commerce, along with the Lea County Junior Rodeo Association donates prizes and an award banquet for the youth. Hi Pro Feeds donates jackets to the members of this organization. Money and other awards are also paid back by HPJRA to those who place in the standings for the year-end and for the average in the final two go rounds.

Post youngsters who enjoyed the competition were:

9-12 girls:
Emily Smith: barrels, 10th; poles, 5th; breakaway roping, 5th; and goat tying, 8th for the year.
Camie Payne: barrels and poles.

9-12 boys:
Wacey Moore: steer stopping, 10th for the year.

Clint Johnson: steer stopping, 11th for the year.

Casey Short: steer riding, 12th for the year.

13-15 girls:
Talina Bird: barrels, 3rd; Poles, 3rd in the average for the finals, 2nd (tie) for the year; goat tying, 2nd (tie); breakaway roping, 1st in the average for the finals, 1st of the year; ribbon roping, 6th for the year and All Around 13-15 Champion.

Cassie Short: poles, 2nd (tie); goat tying, 11th; breakaway roping, 5th (tie); ribbon roping, 3rd for the year and 4th place All Around.

13-15 boys:
Clay Johnson: team roping, 8th for the year.

Sky Moore: breakaway roping, 6th; ribbon roping, 8th for the year (NOTE: Moore finished this high even though an accident prevented him from competing in last month's rodeos.)

16-19 girls:
Lori Hudman, barrels, 4th in the average for the finals, 10th for the year and poles, 12th for the year.

Heather Dickson, barrels and poles.

16-19 boys:
Russ Bird: tie down, 6th for the year; ribbon roping, 2nd in the average for the finals, 4th for the year, chute dogging, 5th and 4th place All Around.

Ryan Hart, team roping.
Casey Hart, team roping.
Monica and Erica Scholer are HPJRA members, but were not able to attend the finals.

Three local students awarded scholarships

Three local high school graduates have been awarded scholarships by the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation. Sara Sue Hodges, Alissa Leigh Mitchell and Amber Kay Little participated in University Interscholastic League (UIL) Academic State Meet contests.

Alissa Leigh Mitchell placed second in News Writing at the 1994 UIL Academic State Meet. She was a member of the National Honor Society, Student Council, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Youth Exchanging with Seniors and the school band.

Mitchell plans to attend Baylor University and major in journalism and marketing.

Amber Kay Little placed first in Poetry Interpretation at the 1994 UIL Academic State Meet. She was salutatorian of her graduating class and a member of the National Honor Society, Student Council, Youth Exchanging With Seniors, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Choir and the varsity tennis team.

Little plans to attend Texas Tech University and major in pre-occupational therapy.

Sara Sue Hodges placed second in the UIL Academic State Meet in 1994 and third in 1993 in Spelling and Vocabulary. She was valedictorian of her graduating class and a member of the National Honor Society, Student Council and Youth Exchanging with Seniors Program.

Hodges plans to attend Hardin-Simmons University and major in psychology.

Expanded calling one step closer

by Bill Galusha

On July 26, 1994, the General Counsel filed Commission Staff's recommendation that this petition be deemed sufficient and that the requirements of P.U.C. SUBST. R. 23.49 (1)-(3) have been met. The Examiner finds that the petition is sufficient, that no exemption under P.U.C. SUBST. R. 23.49 (C) (4) has been granted and that balloting should proceed.

As of July 26, 1994 the petition filed with the Public Utility Commission by the city of Post has been accepted as sufficient. The petition is for expanded calling to within the Lubbock city limits from the Post exchange. The next step in the process will be voting on the issue by the general public of the Post exchange.

The voting ballots could be sent with local phone bills or they could be mailed separately. According to the requirements of P.U.C. SUBST. R. 23.49 (c) (8), the ballots must be distributed to all subscribers in the petitioning exchange by September 19, 1994, though it is subject to delay.

By September 26, 1994, the petitioning LEC shall file a publisher's affidavit attesting that notice was given in compliance with P.U.C. SUBST. R. 23.49 (C) (8).

"Although there are several more steps that remain before expanded calling can become enacted", Rick Hanna said, we are doing fine up to this point, as long as GTE doesn't try to stop it."

"Chief" Frank Runkles

"Taba'na Yuan'e" predicted bad year

by Bill Galusha

The Taba'na Yuan'e predication of a poor year for producing crops appears to be accurate. Chief Frank Runkles who performed the annual ritual on March 22 read the south, southwest wind as an indication of an upcoming poor year.

According to Indian lore the Taba'na Yuan'e ritual first originated with the Comanche Indians in the 1800s. The ritual was performed to give the Indians an indication of the food conditions for the year. This ritual was carried over to the early Post settlers and has continued to present times.

Around 1906 when the early settlers first began arriving in Post City the area was a wild and desolate. The first settlers were not familiar with weather conditions or which types of crops would grow in the area. The barren land had never been turned or cultivated before and the precious seeds that were to be planted were the life-blood of the settlers. Pioneers in Garza County had

"Chief" Frank Runkles heard an Indian legend of a ceremony that would tell of the impending conditions of the forthcoming year. The farmers and ranchers would get together and with the information relayed to them by the Indians would perform the Taba'na Yuan'e ceremony. Taba'na Yuan'e translated means

Sunrise Wind. Each year on March 22, at the exact moment of sunrise the ceremony is performed. According to legend the wind must be checked at sunrise on the day after the sun reaches the halfway point in its journey from south to north (which is the day after spring begins).

The ceremony calls for the building a fire, made of only natural materials arranged in the form of a teepee and filled with dry prairie grass. The sticks and grass are set fire only by rubbing two sticks together. A tribal prayer of thanks is sung and a Four Winds dance in which a pipe of peace is presented to Mother Earth and to Wakantanka the Great Spirit Above to seek their blessing.

It is said that if the wind is out of the east or northeast it would mean a "very poor year." If it is from the north or northwest it translates into an "average year." If the wind is from the west or southwest it will be a "poor year," if it Dog days of summer! I don't know who first said that, but it seems appropriate with these long dry days doesn't it? Rain, or lack of it, affects all of us whether we live in town or in the country. Whether the farmer is successful has an effect on the prices of our food and clothing. All of us have an investment in the success of others because ultimately it makes a difference in our attitudes and our pocketbooks.

Speaking of pocketbooks, I have just returned from a Financial Management Seminar. We received instruction and ideas about budgeting and cash flow basics, debt and credit problems, short term and long term financial objectives, life insurance, and estate planning. These topics are just a few of the many that were covered by Wayne Hayenga, an Economic specialist from Texas A & M.

We discussed community property laws in the State of Texas as well as pre-nuptial agreements. It's an interesting subject, especially if you're contemplating a second marriage! Unless your financial affairs are organized, your death could cause confusion for your loved ones for years to come. That is why we should all prepare now to help them avoid problems later. Some ideas on getting things in order are to have your birth certificate, marriage license, divorce decrees, policies and Social Security number in a safe place where a family member has access to them. Also have a paper showing the location of your will and the name of the executor, the location of keys to your safe deposit box and the parties who have access to them. Finally, you should have on hand income tax returns for the past four years. Someone once said, "The only things we can be sure about are death and taxes"...it seems this is still true!

My thanks to Howard, Brad and Jose, and Arthur Kelly for working the recycling trailer. Now that the Job Source program is over I will be enlisting volunteers again. Tonya Kirkpatrick readily volunteered to work today, and I appreciate her enthusiasm. Please, recyclers, don't leave recyclables outside the barn. Wait until someone is there to open up and help. When newspapers are left out in the sun, they bleach and scorch and are unacceptable at the recycling center. Also, even though we are taking corrugated cardboard boxes, we are NOT taking food boxes, produce boxes, or anything that is slick with colored wording. ONLY THE REGULAR THICK CORRUGATED BOXES. Do NOT bring milk cartons, cereal boxes, dress boxes, etc..

Get your calendars out and start marking some dates. Post Stampede Rodeo, August 11-14; SPS Kids Cooking School, August 23, and the South Plains Fair the last week in September. For the 4-Hers that will be working the concession stand, find out which night your club is responsible and volunteer. Remember this is your major fund raiser for the year and everyone needs to do their part. Also, any of you that want to make and embellish a recycled jean vest call the office so we can set up some dates and volunteers. A completed vest could be modeled in the Fashion Follies at the South Plains Fair on the 27th of August. John and I are getting a 4-H Newsletter out this week. Keep your eyes open!

We want to congratulate all the 4-H'ers who submitted record books and completed project record forms this year. It was obvious that many hours of effort went into these records. Several of the books went on for further judging on the District level. The following participants won awards for their books: Matthew Ramsey in Shooting Sports, Barrett Scrivner in Beef in Junior I Division and Laci Williams in Beef in Junior II Division.

is from either the south or the southeast it predicts a "very bad year."

In 1973 "Chief" Frank Runkles, a longtime student of Indian lore was recruited to perform the ceremony for Garza County. Runkles, who lived with the Dakota Sioux, in South Dakota as a child continues to perform the ceremony in the traditional Indian fashion.

Since the beginning of the ritual by Garza County residents in 1906 a string record of the accuracy of the prediction has been recorded. "As of 1993 the accuracy has been recorded at 93%," said Runkles. The ceremony can be performed to predict weather conditions, crop conditions or even prosperity of the forth coming year for a merchant.

Dear Friends,

Bill and I are so grateful for your care and concern for us at this time. We are truly blessed by such a caring community.

The Lord says, when you have shown goodness and mercy to the least of mine, you have shown it to Me. Matthew 25:40.

God bless each of you.

Humbly yours,

Tax 'n Facts

by Terri S. Cash, CPA

PAYING MORE FOR SOCIAL SECURITY

Taken a good look at your pay-stub lately? The amount taken out for Social Security has gone up again this year.

The wage base--the amount on which Social Security taxes are taken--has jumped $3,000 to $60,600. And, thanks to the new tax law, there is no longer a $135,000 cap to the Medicare tax. The FICA rate remains 6.2 percent for both employers and employees and (gulp!) 12.4 percent for the self-employed. The Medicare tax adds 1.45 percent to the bill for employers and employees, 2.9 percent for the self-employed.

As one hand taketh, the other giveth more: Social Security beneficiaries got a 2.6 percent raise in benefits as of January 1, but premiums for Part B Medicare rose to $41.10 a month.

There also has been an increase in the amount that recipients earn before benefits are reduced. Those under 65 can earn up to $8,040 before benefits are cut $1 for every $2 earned. Those between 65 and 69 can earn $11,160 before losing $1 for every $3 earned.

Gardening in Garza

"Our special world"

Aren't these cool nights and mornings wonderful? My garden has taken on new life even without the hope for rain and I have been inspired to plant that fall sweet corn. Hope spring's eternal!

Since most of our yards are still depending on watering, that is my subject today, pecan trees especially. A good nut crop and nut meat quality is determined by water. Trees need a deep, thorough soaking once a week during the growing season. Most of a tree's roots are within the top 18 inches of soil where oxygen is easy to obtain for root function. The pecan tree's deep tap root is mainly for stabilizing the tree even though it will absorb water. So, as far as nuts are concerned, if you do not get water to those feeder roots, you will have inferior nuts. One to two inches of water should be applied around the drip line of the tree, that is the large outer circle that the tree canopy shades. To accomplish this more easily, a soaker hose or a drip line with water emitters can be used. Tree size will determine the number of emitters to use on a drip line. Up to 18 emitters may be needed to adequately water a large pecan. You will need to devise a long measuring prod to see how deep the soil is wet. I have used my husband's largest screwdriver and a straightened hanger. Measuring is the only way you will know how your watering system is working! Remember, you want to wet 18 inches down.

July and August is the critical time when the nut meat is filling out in the pecan. Even if you have small nuts this year, a good tasty nut is possible. Watering should continue through September and October to assure that the pecan husk opens properly to release the nut. Have you ever had nice looking pecans that would not fall? What a disappointment.

Improved pecans should produce every year, if cared for properly, but as you probably know, our Texas native pecan only produces a large crop every other year. If your native pecan doesn't produce this year, however, don't feel that time and water have been wasted, since a drought one year can reduce the nut crop of the next year.

All this talk of pecans makes me anticipate those pecan pies at Thanksgiving and Christmas candy. Yum yum! I always try to send my exceedingly beautiful

Example of usage when foregoing are combined:

When you go inside the newly renovated Tower Theatre, you can call it extraordinary, you can call it elegant, and you can call it exquisite, but don't just say, "uh, nice!"

Some desire is necessary to keep life in motion.

Local youth participate in state FFA competition

Students from Post FFA represented Area II at the 66th Annual Texas FFA Convention held July 12-15 in Fort Worth. Nearly 6,000 FFA members, advisors and guests attended the convention.

Shad Blair, Tonya Harp, Jeff Redman, Nancy Morris and Casey Hart, all of Post, attended the convention along with Post FFA advisors Lance Dunn and Perry Smith.

Hart was the recipient of the Lone Star Farmers Award.

The convention featured leadership workshops, public speaking, agriscience contests, business meetings and other leadership activities.

FFA is a vocational organization made up of students enrolled in Agriculture Science and Technology classes.

Texas FFA has over 59,000 members in 950 local chapters. $930,000 in scholarships were awarded and more than 2,000 members were recognized for achievement.

We want to congratulate all 4-H'ers who submitted record books and completed project record forms this year. Many hours are spent on preparing these records. Several books went on to be judged at the district level with the following winning awards: Matthew Ramsey, Junior I Shooting Sports; Barrett Scrivner, Junior I Beef; and Laci Williams, Junior II Beef. If you see these 4-H'ers you might want to congratulate them for a job well done!

16 foot diameter circle resulted in higher moisture levels and lower summer soil temperatures than un-mulched areas. Mulches seem to have the most effect on trees the first few years after transplanting.

The following factors should be considered when applying a mulch:
•Aerify the soil before applying the mulch if the soil is compacted.

•Mulched area should extend beyond the tree's roots.

•Mulch should not prevent the soil from drying following rain or irrigation.
•Do not mulch deeper than a few inches around the trunk
•A porous fabric beneath the mulch will aid in weed control and allow for gas exchange.

Taylor-Dorman vows exchanged July 23

Lori Michelle Taylor and Michael Shane Dorman exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. on Saturday, July 23, 1994 at the First Baptist Church of Post. The Reverend Kerry Hurst, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Childress, officiated.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. David Nichols of Post, Mr. Doug Taylor of Tahoka and Derlyn Gordon, step-mother of Lubbock. Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. B.R. Taylor of Tahoka; and Mrs. and Mrs. Martin Nichols of Post.

Parents of the groom are Michael Dorman of Dallas and the late Anita Dorman. Grandparents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Edwards of Post.

The wedding was performed before a bridal archway decorated with greenery and flowers along with four candelabras and two fresh flower arrangements carrying out the bride colors of purple, pink, yellow and green. The wedding aisle was entwined with candlelight tulle and ribbon. The pews were accented with pew candelabras.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a romantic gown of white satin and alencon lace. The bodice featured a sweetheart neckline pouf, lantern sleeves and a deep basque waist. The sheath skirt was highlighted with beaded and sequined lace appliques. The back of the dress was accented with a bow and flowed to an ornately decorated cathedral train. To complete her attire, the bride wore a pearl wrapped crown train accented with a silk illusion fingertip veil.

She carried a descending bouquet of yellow lilies, pink tulips, purple daisies, clusters of hot pink kalonche surrounded by greenery.

Jennifer Keim of Spearman served as Matron of Honor. Other attendants were Rachel Dunn of Lubbock, Monica Stephen, cousin of the bride, of Tahoka and Megan Bush of San Angelo. They wore Shantung suits of purple hot pink, yellow and green featuring a sculptured neckline and back with straight tea length skirts made by the mother of the bride, Karen Nichols. They carried bouquets of yellow lilies, pink tulips, purple daisies, and clusters of hot pink kalonches.

Best man was Robbie Gee of Lubbock. Groomsmen were Lee Schoolcraft, Brad Hagood, and Terry Mooney, all of Lubbock. They wore black tuxedos with bow ties and cummerbunds of purple, pink, yellow and green.

Tatum Gun of Lamesa was the flower girl. She wore a floral tea length dress accented with white bows on the sleeves. She carried a white basket.

Blake Nichols, brother of the bride, was the ring bearer. He wore a black tuxedo short suit.

The ushers were Craig Taylor of Tahoka, brother of the bride; and Matt Taylor of Tahoka, cousin of the bride.

The brides aunt, Gilda Taylor, was the pianist and Jennifer Berg played the organ for the ceremony.

Radley Nichols, brother of the bride sang several musical selections entitled, "I Will Whisper Your Name", "I Never Knew Love" and "I Swear". Nichols and Tonya Harp sang "Always" and "When I Fall in Love".

The guests were registered by Kenda Perez of Post. The registration table was covered in white adorned by a Madame Alexander bride doll given to the bride when she was in the wedding of Rev. Kerry and Kim Hurst when she was young, programs designed by Derlyn Gordon of Lubbock and the bridal book.

Video tapes were made by Lounetta Hudgens of Tahoka and Aaron Leininger of Post.

Pictures were taken by Dr. Jeff Young of Levelland.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Chaparral Steak House. The bride's table featured a four-tier wedding cake with seed pearls and flowers. A fresh flower arrangement completed the table. Punch, nuts, and mints, made by Derlyn Gordon, stepmother of the bride, were also served.

The groom's table featured a strawberry cake, coffee, tea, nuts and mints. A fresh flower arrangement given by Mr. and Mrs. O.C. Elliott completed the table.

The food table featured a picture of the bride. White chocolate dipped strawberries, tortilla roll ups, and a meat and cheese try were also served.

The rice bags made in the shape of roses were made by the bride's grandmother, Sue Elliott of Seminole.

Servers were Tyra Hart of Lubbock, Kenda Perez of Post, Paula Payne of Lubbock and Reshea Perez of Post. Completing the house party were Dorothy McCook, Carol McDonald and Martha Baker.

After a wedding trip to the Bahamas, the couple will reside in Lubbock.

The bride will attend South Plains Radiology School in September. The groom is employed by GNC in Lubbock.

Birth Announcements

Tucker Douglas McAlister

Lorrye and Gene Moore of Rising Star and A.J. and Judy McAlister are proud to announce the arrival of their new grandson, Tucker Douglas McAlister. Tucker was born July 18, weighing in at seven pounds, eight ounces. He was 22 inches long.

Tucker's beaming parents are Tracy and Twana McAlister of Lubbock.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bert Showalter of New Deal. His late great grandparents were Mr. and Mrs. W.D. Livingston and Mr. and Mrs. G.W. McAlister.

Estep participates in training exercise

Army Pfc. Sid G. Estep participated in a joint training exercise dubbed "Northern Edge '94" in Fort Greely, Big Delta, Alaska.

The exercise included more than 14,600 airmen, soldiers, sailors, Marines and guardsmen operating as a joint task force which reacted to a simulated border dispute between two fictional countries.

The eight-day exercise focused on peace enforcement and evacuation of American and foreign citizens.

Estep, an infantryman assigned at Fort Wainwright, is the son of Debbie Palmer and stepson of Bob Palmer of Post.

Nurses association to meet August 8

Licensed Vocational Nurses Association of Texas, Lubbock Division 18 will meet Monday, August 8 in the Arnett Room of St. Mary of the Plains Hospital. The meeting is scheduled for 6 to 9 p.m.

Division 18 will conduct a workshop entitled "Dealing with Death and Dying". Featured speaker will be Janene Jeffery, R.N.MSN. She is a teacher at Austin Community College and is an accomplished teacher and speaker.

All nurses are invited to attend. Three continuing education hours will be given to those attending the workshop. Pre-registration is encouraged.

City Councilmen and County Commissioners agreed during a joint meeting that the annual cost of law enforcement was too high. They contend at least $20,000 could be saved annually if close cooperation could be developed between the city police department and the county sheriff's office. At Mayor Harold Lucas's suggestion, a group of city and county officials will go to Quannah to look at their cooperative law enforcement effort.

From the Pulpit
The next generation

"I will come with the mighty deeds of the Lord God; I will make mention of thy righteousness, thine alone. O God, thou hast taught me from my youth; and I still declare thy wondrous deeds. And even when I am old and gray, O God, do not forsake me, until I declare thy strength to this generation." (Psalm 71:16-18)

The psalmist had a goal that guided him in the present, past and the future. His lifelong objective was to declare the righteousness of God and to make known His wondrous deeds.

The psalmist had been taught from his youth about the deeds of God. God had instructed this man from an early age. He had taken what he had been taught and shared it with others. What he had learned as a youth he was still declaring to others.

When this man became an adult we find him still making mention of the righteousness of God. He still had the ability to marvel at God's wondrous deeds and to declare those deeds to others.

The Psalmist also turned his attention to the future. "When I am old and gray, O God, Do not forsake me, until I declare thy strength to this generation." Even though his body had changed, his goal for life had not. His desire remained to testify of the Lord's strength to the present generation.

Youth, adult, and senior what is your goal in life? What are you declaring to this present generation? Are you making mention of the marvelous deeds of God? Are you declaring His righteousness to this generation? The marvelous thing about God is that He never says you are too young or too old to enter into His service. Dear youth, you can be taught by God himself to proclaim the wondrous deeds of God. Adults, you can encounter the living God through Jesus Christ and proclaim His righteousness to this generation. Beloved Seniors, God will not forsake you either. You can declare His strength even if you are "old and gray."

The question is not can you be used, but will you be used? I plead with you to enter into the Ministry of proclaiming the most wondrous deed of all. This week take someone aside and tell them that God so loved them that He gave His only son to die in their place. Proclaim the mighty deed of God demonstrating His love for them in that while they were yet sinners Christ died for them. Make mention of the power of God that raised Christ from the dead.

Whatever your age, dear Christian, now is the time to begin to proclaim the deeds of God. Let us begin together "until (we) declare (His) strength to this generation". If we do not we may forfeit the next generation.

In Christ's love
Bro. Mike
