CONDITIONS GOOD HERE, FINANCIALLY

The financial condition of our community, as published in the statements of Hedley's two banks in last week's Informer deserves some special attention. The figures show us to be financially healthful to an unusual degree—outdoing any and every town of twice our size in this section. Read 'em:

Deposits, $461,291.62
Cash, $294,317.93
Loans, $124,194.91.

The first two items are 'way above normal, while the loans are 'way below. Not in the ten and a half years this editor has lived in Hedley have the loans reached so low a figure. And not in any other bank statement we have seen has the loan figures amounted to less than half the cash in hand.

More than this, these banks have been growing in deposits every day since Dec 31, the date of the statement. Until the wet weather hit us, Tuesday of this week, cotton and g. ain have been brought in at a rapid rate all this month, and sold at fair prices. There will be more as soon as conditions permit the harvesting.

Hedley is in good condition, financially. If we fail to show any improvement this year, it will not be for lack of resources.

May God's richest blessings rest and abide with each of you, in our prayer.

A CARD OF THANKS

We want to take this opportunity to thank the good people of Hedley and the entire community for the liberal patronage and friendly treatment you have accorded us ever since we started in business here.

We have sold the Hedley Cash Grocery to Mr. J. W. Vaila ce, who, we feel sure, will treat you fair and square, and we bespeak for him the same courtesy and consideration you have always given us.

G. L. Armstrong

The Informer editor makes grateful acknowledgement of an invitation to attend the Annual Banquet of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce at the Antro Hotel in that city Tuesday evening of this week. A program of unusual interest was carried out and we feel that we have suffered a distinct loss because of the inclement weather which kept us from going. Secretary Boykin will kindly accept our thanks for his courtesy.

Mrs. E. E. Walker, aged 71, a pioneer resident of Hall county, died a few days ago at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Jessie Smith, at Tell. Rev. F. M. Hensley of Childress conducted the funeral services. Mrs. Walker was the mother of Mrs. W. A. Chapman, formerly of this city, now living in Santa Ana, Calif. She visited in Hedley a number of times and made many friends here who deeply sympathize with the bereaved children and other surviving relatives.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Tragedy of Submarine S-4—Hearst Is Bitterly Scored by Senators.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Forty men went to their death when the submarine S-4 was rammed and sunk by the coast guard destroyer Paulding outside the harbor of Provincetown, Mass. At least six members of the crew survived for some days in the forward compartment, and there were desperate efforts to rescue them, frustrated by tempestuous weather. Divers went down, and communication was held with the imprisoned men by hammer tapping in code, the victims telling from time to time the steady depletion of their store of oxygen and pleading for speedy help. A big rescue fleet stood by trying to devise means to get the men out or to get oxygen, food and water to them, and portoons were gathered for raising the vessel; but by Wednesday evening all hope of saving any lives was abandoned, no further signals being received from the torpedo compartment during those agonizing days were Lieut. G. N. Fitch, R. L. Short, R. A. Crabb, George Pelmar, Frank Snizek and J. L. Stevens.

One can but remark the pitiful lack of protection for submarine crews in such instances as this, and, reading that European undersea boats are much better equipped with emergency devices, one wonders if our naval constructors are not at fault.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST certainly poked his stick into a hornet's nest when he published those documents purporting to show that the Mexican government intended to present a lot of money to Senators Borah, La Follette, Norris and Heflin. It didn't take the senate investigating committee many days to conclude that there was not the slightest reason to believe the senators ever had received any money from Mexico or ever had been offered any, and with this finding Mr. Hearst agreed. But he still insisted that the authenticity of the documents was practically established. Then Senator Norris, from his sick bed, issued an open letter to the publisher, exhorting him for his action.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, minority leader and a member of the investigating committee, also denounced Hearst, charging him with the dishonoring of public men to further his own selfish purposes. The publisher issued a long reply to Norris, in justification of his action in giving the documents to the public and asserting that no proof had been produced of their lack of authenticity. Next day the committee was told by Robert H. Murray, a former correspondent of the New York World in Mexico City, that Miguel Avila, the man who claims to have bought the documents from Mexican government clerks, had admitted to him that a certain paper of this character was a forgery. Avila said, according to Murray, that Joseph De Courcy, formerly correspondent of the New York Times in Mexico, was responsible for the fabrication.

From Murray's testimony it would appear that a large number of forged Mexican documents were being circulated. He said it was common report in Mexico City that the American embassy was in the market for documents of this sort, and that he believed former Ambassador Sheffield had the same material as published by the Hearst newspapers. The opinion was, he said, that the embassy bought everything Avila brought to them.

REAR ADMIRAL MAGRUDER is another man who appears to have bitten off more than he can chew. Being called before the house naval affairs committee to explain his criticisms of the Navy department, he asserted that millions could be saved annually if unnecessary shore establishments were eliminated, the number of high naval officers reduced, the naval transport, service and obsolete ships scrapped and duplicating divisions in the naval bureaus at Washington eliminated.

Specifically Admiral Magruder urged the abolition of naval yards at New York city and Portsmouth, N. H., and the closing down of the yard at Charleston, S. C. He asked for the concentration of naval training station work on the East and West coast and the consequent closing down of the training stations at Great Lakes, Ill., and at Newport, R. I. In addition he asserted that four hospitals maintained at unnecessary stations and yards should be leased to the veterans' bureau.

Then Acting Chairman Britten of Illinois and other members of the committee got into action, and to the innocent bystander it seemed as if they thoroughly riddled the admiral's vessel with their shots. They criticized him severely for not furnishing the committee with actual plans for cutting the naval expenditures and asserted that the adoption of all his suggestions would cost the government at least $1,000,000,000. Though contending that his proposals were sound, the admiral did not say what it would cost to complete the dredging of Pearl Harbor in the Hawaiian Islands, or what would be the cost of erecting new buildings on the coast and transferring the stations. He had asserted that it cost the government $2,500,000 to operate the Great Lakes station last year, and Mr. Britten replied that he had taken the trouble to check up and found the navy estimates the savings if the Great Lakes station is abolished at $200,000 annually. Admiral Magruder had advised the abolishing of the naval transport system, and stuck to this even after the committee showed him that last March Gen. H. C. Smithers, chief co-ordinator for the government, submitted a report showing that the navy transport service had been operated during the past year for less than the same work could have been done by private ships.

SENATOR JIM REED of Missouri has not declared himself to be a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination, but his friends are pushing him for that honor and he is fully aware of that fact. Now he has cleared the way for his boosters by declaring that he will not again run for the senate. This statement is made by S. W. Fordyce, chairman of the Missouri Democratic committee. Of partisan Democrats and independent voters who believe in the "fundamental principles on which the Democratic party was founded," Fordyce said Reed's friends asked who besides Reed had a chance to carry the solid South and Missouri, and as good a chance to carry the doubtful states of West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Oklahoma and Kansas.

IN BEHALF of Gov. Al Smith's candidacy, Norman E. Mack, Democratic national committeeman from New York, issued a statement asserting Smith is the only man who can carry New York for the Democrats, and declaring the "so-called religious issue dead forever."

Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas says the dry Democrats of that state seem determined to climb aboard the wet Smith band wagon in order to be with the winner. The Republican Kansas delegation, he says, will be for Senator Curtis as long as he is in the running. Afterwards the majority, he thinks, will go to Hoover, as will the governor himself and William Allen White.

CONTROVERSY over farm relief came up again in the house when Representative Haugen of Iowa reintroduced the McNary-Haugen bill with a number of changes. The equalization fee, which furnished one of the chief reasons for the veto of the bill by President Coolidge, is retained, but a concession is made in the method of appointment of members of the proposed federal farm board.

The bill differs in some respects from the modified McNary bill introduced recently in the senate. The McNary bill also retains the equalization clause. The $250,000,000 revolving fund provided under the old McNary-Haugen bill is increased in the new Haugen bill to $400,000,000. The new McNary bill retains the $250,000,000 limit. The Haugen bill authorizes the board to enter into marketing agreements on all agricultural commodities.

CHIEF JUSTICE BRANSON of Oklahoma, who, together with the governor and others, was impeached by the house of representatives, called a lot of the legislators as witnesses in his case and asked why they impeached him. The answer in general was because it was the sentiment of the people they represented, but the lawmakers admitted they heard no evidence supporting their action. Speaker Hill of the house, however, testified that the charges themselves, as read to the house, were sufficient evidence on which to warrant a vote for impeachment. The main charge against Branson was that he declared illegal the special session called to impeach the governor.

FRANKLY determined to set him free if possible, the jury in the case of George Remus, ex-bootleg king, who killed his wife in Cincinnati, acquitted him "on the sole ground of insanity." The judge had instructed the jurors that that was the only ground on which they could return a verdict of not guilty. A sanity trial automatically was certified to the Probate court, and December 28 was set for those proceedings. Spokesmen for the jurors—ten men and two women—said that all of them wanted to send Remus from the courtroom a free man, feeling that he had been greatly wronged and had suffered almost beyond human endurance. Another potent argument is thus furnished the opponents of the jury system in criminal cases.

WHILE Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh was flying by easy stages from Detroit to Mexico City to spend Christmas with her famous son, that young man was giving eminent Mexicans and some others the treat of their lives. Piloting a commercial plane he never had seen before, Lindy took President Calles up for his first experience of aviation, and the President enjoyed it immensely. Then the colonel took as passengers in succession General Obregon, who is going to succeed Calles, American Ambassador Morrow and other distinguished persons. The correspondents say that Lindbergh has inspired more aviation ambition than the Mexican government will be able to satisfy in the next five years. Hundreds of officers of the army, who had previously looked with more or less disrespect on aviation, now are anxious, if not to join the aviation corps, at least to learn aviation.

Lack of fuel defeated the attempt of Lieut. George R. Pond, naval aviator, and Capt. William Kingsford Smith, Australian flyer, to set a new world's record for endurance flight in the tri-motored Fokker monoplane, Spirit of California. After remaining aloft over San Francisco and vicinity for 49 hours and 27 minutes, and with only three more hours to go to break the record held by two Germans, the aviators landed. Only four gallons of gasoline remained.

THAT France does not intend to give in to extreme Fascist opinion concerning a new partition of the African colonies was made apparent when the chamber of deputies passed by a large majority the new naval program. Before voting, the deputies applauded violently this statement by Victor Bremond: "Regardless of the peaceful intentions toward Italy, France must have mastery of the Mediterranean and cannot sacrifice its position under any circumstances."

IT IS believed that fully 6,000 persons suspected of being communists have been killed by the Chinese Nationalists in their violent revolt against Soviet influence, and executions are continuing at Canton and Hankow, averaging 100 a day at the former city. All Russians are being expelled from the region, if their lives are spared. Among those who faced the firing squads was the Soviet vice consul at Canton, M. Hassis.

AMONG the deaths that should be recorded are those of Senator A. A. Jones of New Mexico, who succumbed to angina pectoris; Willis W. Moore, former chief of the government weather bureau, and "King Ben" Purnell, leader of the House of Delegates at Benton Harbor, Mich., who bitterly disappointed his followers by not rising from the dead.

One of the Panhandle's pioneer lawyer's Judge A. J. Fires of Childress county has announced his candidacy for Judge of the 100th Judicial District to succeed Judge C. C. Small, who will not be a candidate for re election.
Beginning an active law practice in this section in 1898, Judge Fires is considered the dean of Panhandle lawyers and has been prominent in directing affairs of this section for thirty years. His wide knowledge of law and the fact that he has been a resident of this section for forty years, makes him well fitted for the pocan conduct the office of District Judge so that the best interests of the people will be served, because he knows the needs and problems of residents of this he is a candidate for the office of County Clerk of Donley county,

mary in July.

Kenny Lane is an upstanding young man of fine character and having lived in Clarendon for nineteen years. He is a gradu-
