

THE HEDLEY INFORMER

VOL. XXIII

HEDLEY, DONLEY COUNTY, TEXAS, NOVEMBER 11, 1932

NO 1

SPECIALS!

1 Quart Milk Magnesia	69c
1 Pint Halitosine, for Sore Throat	49c
2 Boxes Kotex, and 1 Kleenex	59c
Best Grade Hot Water Bottle	59c
Best Grade Fountain Syringes	59c
Large Nursing Bottle and Nipple	25c
$2 Cara Noma Face Powder, and $2 Vanity, New Style, Both for	$2.00
100 Puretest Asperine	69c
Milk of Magnesia Tooth Paste, Large	39c
New Assortment Stationery, Box	39c

Hedley Drug Co.
THE RETAIL STORE
This Store is a Pharmacy

Agency

Sinclair Refining Co.
Wholesale and Retail
C. R. Hunsucker
Phone 157

Sinclair Service Station

Gas, Oils, Accessories
Sudden Tire Service
Wrecking Shop
GIVE US A TRIAL
Blaine Doherty

You Are Always Welcome!

YOU ARE OUR PERSONAL GUEST
Every Time You
Enter Our Door

to be treated with every consideration

You may want only to ask a question, use our phone, get a stamp, leave a parcel, or meet a friend--

Be sure you're welcome to make full use of this store's conveniences whenever they can be of service.

Wilson Drug Co.
PHONE 63

HOME EC. PLAY NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT, 12th

The Home Economic Classes, under direction of Miss Howell, are giving a 3 act play, "Breezy Point," Saturday night, Nov 12.

We are giving this play to raise funds to pay our grocery bill. This is the only means we have to buy food to cook with, so we ask everyone to come and help us out. It is a good comedy in three acts. We guarantee everyone a good laugh.

The admission is only 10 cents for everybody. The characters are as follows:

Aunt Debby Dexter, mistress of Breezy Point..... Marguerite Hansard
Elinor Pearl, of unknown parentage..... Della Hansard
Ashrael Grant, a workhouse wail..... Ila Mae Kyser
Mrs Harderatch, with business propensities..... Martha Sue Noel
The Harderatch Twins, who "never tell nothin'"..... Sammie D. Whiteside and Edna Opal Grimsley.
Mehitable Doolittle, manufacturer of catarrh snuff and bitters..... Helen Guthrie
Aunt Debby's summer boarders, fresh from boarding school—
Bernice Vernon..... Jewell Grimsley
Laura Leigh..... Nettie Blankenship
Edith Norton..... Ruth McQueen
Clarice Feneigh..... Ethel Fox
Fantine, Miss Vernon's French maid..... Helen Settle
Old Clem, the Gipsy..... Opal Cooper

10 quart Galvanized Pails, 25c.
B. & B. Variety Store.

HEDLEY HIGH SCHOOL ENROLLMENT GROWS

Since the major part of the cotton has been gathered the school enrollment has been increasing daily. Although school dismissed for cotton picking the students are losing no time in making up their work.

Students are buying only the supplies that are essential, and regardless of the difficulties they encounter they are making plans to attend school the full nine months term.

Woodrow Wilson and Education
Woodrow Wilson, in his noteworthy treatise entitled "The State," says:

"Education is the proper office of the State for two reasons . . . Popular education is necessary for the preservation of those conditions of freedom, political and social, which are indispensable to free individual development and, in the second place, no instrumentality less universal in its power and authority than Government can secure popular education . . . Without popular education no Government can long endure."

FREE

CROOKS BROS. COAL CO. will deliver 500 lbs. or more, free, in town or one mile out of town. At your service early and late. We welcome your trade.

Notice, to Friends of Orphan Children

We plan to send a box of clothing and a coop of poultry to the Buckner Orphans' Home for Thanksgiving. We want boys' garments for ages 7 to 13.

If you want to have a part in this offering, leave hens at the Conner Produce, and other offerings at B & B Variety Store.

If you want further information, enquire at the B & B. Baptist W. M. S., Mrs Wyvern Holland, Chm.

DEMOCRATS SWEEP TUESDAY ELECTION

In the election Tuesday, if the complete returns do not prove thoroughly misleading, the Democrats swept the country. From President to "Dog Pelter" they seem to be strictly "It."

The victory appears of such overwhelming character that we find no excuse for an attempt to go into details. The State and Nation have simply gone Democratic with a loud bang!

Here's hoping that the victors possess the wisdom and ability to see and do the right. Real men and really sincere, unselfish efforts were never more needed than now. This is a rare opportunity for the party leaders to show a distressed world what they're made of.

Ladies' House Dresses, with long sleeves and in dark colors.
B. & B. Variety Store.

WANT TO TRADE

Good four room house, with concrete cellar, one acre of land, garage, barn, etc., at Lella Lake, to trade for residence property in Hedley. See Rev A. V. Hendricks,
or ask the Informer Man

LEGIONNAIRE-FIREMAN BATTLE MONDAY NIGHT

The American Legion and City Firemen will engage in a Basket Ball contest next Monday, Nov. 14th, at 8 p. m. This game will be played for the benefit of the Fireman and Legion Post funds. Clarendon Legion Post will be here with their Band.

This promises to be an outstanding battle—and some comedy. Legion players will be allowed to wear steel helmets and hobnail shoes. No side arms. Fireman may wear regulation fireman's helmets. No axes allowed inside the building.

Doctors, nurses and ambulance will be held in readiness for any emergency.

Admission 10 cents.
High School auditorium.

Why run your Batteries down trying to start your car on these cold mornings when you can buy that

PHILLIPS "66" HIGH TEST GASOLINE

at the Price of Ordinary Gasoline

SPECIAL ON LEE TIRES

FOR A FEW DAYS
Will pay you to investigate.

13 Plate Standard Battery for $4.75
and your old battery

A Complete Line of

Phillips Oil and Grease
and That Good Mobiloil
at 25c the quart

PHILLIPS "66" STATION
G. C. Heath, Prop.

Every Day IN THE WEEK

we are on the job to serve you in the grocery line. We surely appreciate your business, and our constant aim is to please our customers.

LET US BE YOUR GROCER

Barnes & Hastings
PHONE 11

We Are Making Some Special Inducements

To Customers Who
Trade With Us

THIS COMING WEEK

"It's Worth the Money"

Ask Us for Particulars

Farmers Equity Union

PHONE 171

WE DELIVER

ARMISTICE DAY

ON ARMISTICE DAY THIS BANK joins the Nation in honoring the heroes who won the greatest war of all time.

On this day let us look forward with a new vision and new courage, that we may courageously carry on the great cause for which our citizens fought,—and for which many of them gave their lives.

This Bank will be closed all day Friday, November 11th
Armistice Day

SECURITY STATE BANK
HEDLEY, TEXAS
Safe - Sound - Satisfactory

News Review of Current Events the World Over

Progress of the Presidential Campaign—New York City Threatened With Bankruptcy—Great Britain Abrogates Trade Treaty With Russia.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

NO GREAT effort on the part of candidates and campaign leasers was necessary to keep the minds of the American people on politics during the week. But the effort was made nevertheless. Both President Hoover and Governor Roosevelt were out again on speaking tours, and eminent men of both major parties pleaded for the votes of the electors in all parts of the country.

Gov. Ritchie

In the Middle West the chief speaker for the Democrats was Gov. Albert Ritchie of Maryland, one of the aspirants for the Presidential nomination in the Chicago convention. He debated issues and candidates with Henry Allen of the Republicans in Chicago, and delivered other addresses there and elsewhere, and all the time he stressed the importance of the prohibition issue.

Governor Roosevelt in his own behalf spent eight days talking in Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, Springfield, Ill., St. Louis and down through Kentucky and Tennessee to Atlanta; and then up through South and North Carolina, Virginia and Maryland, to deliver the last of his major addresses in Baltimore.

President Hoover's journey was a week-end trip whose main objective was Detroit. On the way to the Michigan metropolis he made brief stops and talks at Charlestown, W. Va., at Columbus and Toledo in Ohio, and several other places. The President's aides said he had developed a liking for rear platform campaigning as a result of his trips to Des Moines and Cleveland.

There was nothing surprising in the announcement of the La Follette organ in Madison, Wis., that the La Follette faction in that state would support Mr. Roosevelt. Rev. James R. Cox, Catholic priest of Pittsburgh, withdrew as the Presidential candidate of the Jobless party and urged all his followers to support Roosevelt. This was quite within his rights, but his public statement that President Hoover "never lifted a hand or raised a voice to relieve the suffering American people" is an example of either inexcusable mendacity or deplorable ignorance.

Secretary of State Stimson got into action in New York, attacking the records of both Roosevelt and Garner. Charles M. Schwab, interviewed in London, said he believed "the best way to better conditions is to re-elect Mr. Hoover."

NEW YORK city is in such a distressing financial condition that the bankers have refused to advance funds for the November pay roll, and told the men who are running the metropolis they would not save it from bankruptcy unless the budget were radically reduced. So the budget makers got together and slashed off approximately $75,000,000, which the bankers said was not nearly enough. A large part of the savings planned by the board of estimate was through the adoption of a fifty-year subway bond scheme. This, it was admitted, spelled the doom of the 5-cent fare to which New York has clung so tenaciously. It was believed a 10-cent fare would be established within a year or two.

Acting Mayor McKee tried to put into effect wholesale salary reductions and elimination of workers in overstuffed departments, but the Tammany bloc would have none of this. They even put into the budget some of the appropriations that had been cut out.

The city must have additional funds supplied to it before November 1, as there is only $6,000,000 left in the treasury with which to meet the semi-monthly installment of $13,000,000 for the pay roll.

WHEN the British parliament opened its fall session almost the first thing it heard was the announcement of J. H. Thomas, secretary of state for dominions, that Great Britain had broken off commercial relations with Soviet Russia and abrogated the trade pact with the Moscow government in order to carry out the economic policy adopted by the imperial conference in Ottawa. In one article of the agreement reached by J. H. Thomas and Canada agreed to prohibit the imports of any foreign country in which the state control of industries and commodity prices resulted in dumping abroad to the detriment of the new preferential tariff agreement of the British empire.

Mr. Thomas added that both the British government and Russia were still eager to increase the trade between the countries and that the Russians were ready to negotiate a new treaty that would not interfere with the empire's internal arrangements. The immediate practical effect of the renunciation of the trade treaty will be to deprive British consumers of large quantities of low-priced lumber, fish, and grain.

Secretary Thomas told the house also that the British negotiations with President De Valera of the Irish Free State had broken down and that De Valera intended the only permanent solution of the controversy would be the creation of a united Irish republic.

REPORTS made public in Washington were both good and bad. Putting the latter first, the treasury issued figures of the receipts and expenditures during July, August and September showing that the deficit of the first quarter of the fiscal year is $402,000,000, a rate which if kept up would send the treasury into the red to the tune of $1,000,000,000. The new income taxes coupled with high collection on miscellaneous taxes enacted in the new billion dollar tax bill last spring are counted on to hold this deficit even during the final months of the year.

Statistics given out by the Department of Commerce showed that the export trade of the United States in September, due principally to exceptionally large shipments of cotton, increased over the value for the previous month by a margin of $23,000,000—the largest monthly gain recorded so far this year.

Imports likewise showed an increase in September, as compared with August, the department stated, although it was less pronounced than the gain in export trade. During the month, it was shown, imports increased by $7,900,000 to total $98,000,000, or the highest monthly import level since June.

The United States during the month retained a favorable balance of trade amounting to $34,000,000. It was the largest favorable trade margin recorded in any month of this year.

Another encouraging report was that of the federal oil conservation board, composed of Secretaries Wilbur, Hays, Adams and Chapin. It said: "The American oil industry gives indications of being the first basic industry to emerge from the world depression."

The permanency of the improvement in the industry, however, will depend, the commission declared, on whether the oil producing states continue the cooperation they manifested in the production agreement of 1931, and on whether the oil states' advisory committee develops as it should into a permanent body or lapses into the backwash as conditions improve.

LAW authorities of Chicago, assisted by the federal government, were still trying to figure out some way to bring Samuel Insull back from Athens for trial on charges of embezzlement and grand larceny. The former multimillionaire refused the demand that he surrender his passport, and strolled around the Greek capital watched only informally by the police. But the diplomats in Athens were rushing the proceedings in connection with the ratification of the Franco-American extradition treaty, and the instruments were already on their way to Washington. Following the exchange it was believed Insull might be extradited. The fugitive appears to be well supplied with funds, and their source was explained when State Attorney Swanson in Chicago learned that Samuel Insull, Jr., still has an income of $100,000 from four of the corporations that formed a main part of his father's utilities structure. He receives $25,000 salary each from Commonwealth Edison, People's Gas, Public Service of Northern Illinois and Midland United. The elder Insull will be recalled, also receives pensions totaling $21,000 a year so the family is far from being poverty stricken.

Insull said he received a cablegram from an unnamed person warning him that the American authorities were plotting to have him kidnaped and removed to the country from which he could be immediately extradited. Responsible persons declared this story was ridiculous and false.

COUNT STEPHEN BETHLEN, former premier of Hungary and one of that country's foremost statesmen, was attacked in a law court in Budapest by an assassin but escaped unharmed. László Eszkü, private secretary to a former cabinet officer, approached the count through the crowd in the courtroom, but a policeman saw a dagger in his hand and seized him as he made a thrust. The motive was said to be desire to satisfy a private grudge.

INSULL was still trying to figure out some way to bring Samuel Insull back from Athens for trial on charges of embezzlement and grand larceny. The former multimillionaire refused the demand that he surrender his passport, and strolled around the Greek capital watched only informally by the police. But the diplomats in Athens were rushing the proceedings in connection with the ratification of the Franco-American extradition treaty, and the instruments were already on their way to Washington. Following the exchange it was believed Insull might be extradited. The fugitive appears to be well supplied with funds, and their source was explained when State Attorney Swanson in Chicago learned that Samuel Insull, Jr., still has an income of $100,000 from four of the corporations that formed a main part of his father's utilities structure. He receives $25,000 salary each from Commonwealth Edison, People's Gas, Public Service of Northern Illinois and Midland United. The elder Insull will be recalled, also receives pensions totaling $21,000 a year so the family is far from being poverty stricken.

INSULL was still trying to figure out some way to bring Samuel Insull back from Athens for trial on charges of embezzlement and grand larceny. The former multimillionaire refused the demand that he surrender his passport, and strolled around the Greek capital watched only informally by the police. But the diplomats in Athens were rushing the proceedings in connection with the ratification of the Franco-American extradition treaty, and the instruments were already on their way to Washington. Following the exchange it was believed Insull might be extradited. The fugitive appears to be well supplied with funds, and their source was explained when State Attorney Swanson in Chicago learned that Samuel Insull, Jr., still has an income of $100,000 from four of the corporations that formed a main part of his father's utilities structure. He receives $25,000 salary each from Commonwealth Edison, People's Gas, Public Service of Northern Illinois and Midland United. The elder Insull will be recalled, also receives pensions totaling $21,000 a year so the family is far from being poverty stricken.

INSULL was still trying to figure out some way to bring Samuel Insull back from Athens for trial on charges of embezzlement and grand larceny. The former multimillionaire refused the demand that he surrender his passport, and strolled around the Greek capital watched only informally by the police. But the diplomats in Athens were rushing the proceedings in connection with the ratification of the Franco-American extradition treaty, and the instruments were already on their way to Washington. Following the exchange it was believed Insull might be extradited. The fugitive appears to be well supplied with funds, and their source was explained when State Attorney Swanson in Chicago learned that Samuel Insull, Jr., still has an income of $100,000 from four of the corporations that formed a main part of his father's utilities structure. He receives $25,000 salary each from Commonwealth Edison, People's Gas, Public Service of Northern Illinois and Midland United. The elder Insull will be recalled, also receives pensions totaling $21,000 a year so the family is far from being poverty stricken.

INSULL was still trying to figure out some way to bring Samuel Insull back from Athens for trial on charges of embezzlement and grand larceny. The former multimillionaire refused the demand that he surrender his passport, and strolled around the Greek capital watched only informally by the police. But the diplomats in Athens were rushing the proceedings in connection with the ratification of the Franco-American extradition treaty, and the instruments were already on their way to Washington. Following the exchange it was believed Insull might be extradited. The fugitive appears to be well supplied with funds, and their source was explained when State Attorney Swanson in Chicago learned that Samuel Insull, Jr., still has an income of $100,000 from four of the corporations that formed a main part of his father's utilities structure. He receives $25,000 salary each from Commonwealth Edison, People's Gas, Public Service of Northern Illinois and Midland United. The elder Insull will be recalled, also receives pensions totaling $21,000 a year so the family is far from being poverty stricken.

GERMAN goods, but no German cash. That is what the foreign creditors of the reich must accept if they expect to be paid what is coming to them, according to a flat statement made by Chancellor Franz von Papen. This meant, he said, that creditor nations must open their frontiers to German goods, for Germany could not at present bear another drain of money withdrawals by creditors abroad.

Franz von Papen

The chancellor estimated the foreign indebtedness of the country at $4,600,000,000. Von Papen denied that Germany's quota policy for the restriction of imports was endangering the stability of the reich's currency. "Restriction of imports was not resolved out of chicanery but to save German agriculture from certain ruin," he said.

In his speech, which was delivered at Paderborn, the chancellor also discussed disarmament, asserting that "Germany's aim is not to arm up to its neighbors' levels, but to procure world disarmament with equal security and justice. There must not be a system of hegemony or political alliances in Europe but one by which nations can serve humanity in mutual respect of their individualism."

POLICE authorities in Guadalajara, Mexico, after raiding a house, killing two men and arresting a priest and two women, announced they had frustrated elaborate plans for a religious uprising in the state of Jalisco. The authorities said they found a large quantity of rifles, pistols, ammunition, dynamite bombs, field equipment, a printing press and considerable printed matter urging the rebellion. Ten other priests were detained after being implicated in the plot. It is in the state of Jalisco that the quarrel between Mexico and the Vatican is most pronounced.

A pastoral letter by Archbishop Pascual Diaz, denouncing any attempt at armed resistance by Catholics, was read in all churches. All loyal Catholics were cautioned by the archbishop to obey the laws of Mexico and to avoid any movement that might be construed as resistance. The pope, the archbishop pointed out, would not approve any departure from peace.

Archbishop Diaz

FOR the second time Germany refused to go to Geneva for the proposed four-power conference to discuss her demand for equality of armament. Foreign Minister von Neurath informed the British that the decision was irrevocable. The Germans hold that there is too much French sentiment and influence in Geneva. Prime Minister MacDonald was not at all pleased with this refusal. "Germany," he said, "knows perfectly well that Britain does not oppose her claim to be regarded as an equal at the disarmament conference. We want disarmament, not rearmament, and the British government is continuing to pursue its purpose."

DISPATCHES from Tokyo said a great shakeup in the Japanese foreign service was imminent. The ambassadors from the United States, Moscow, Italy and Turkey already were in the city, and Ambassador Ohata was ordered to return from Berlin. The only one of these who will not be replaced, probably, is Katsuji Debuchi, who will come back to Washington because Foreign Minister Uchida cannot find a better man for the post. It was understood the cabinet was about to enter on the discussion of the policies to be assumed toward the United States, Russia and the League of Nations, and that a more positive foreign policy would be adopted. The press and the public in Japan have been clamoring for a change.

RUMANIA'S policy toward Soviet Russia caused a bitter dispute between Premier Alexander Vaida-Voevod and Nicholas Titulescu and resulted in the resignation of the former and his cabinet. King Carol summoned Dr. Jullu Maniu, leader of the National Peasant party, to form a new government with Titulescu as foreign minister.

CIRCUIT JUDGE GUY BRASSFIELD Park of Platte City, Mo., was selected to succeed the late Francis M. Wilson as the Democratic nominee for governor of Missouri, by the Democratic state committee. The choice was unanimous, and was a victory for Tom Pendergast, Democratic political "boss" of Kansas City. Judge Park will be opposed in the election November 8 by Edward H. Winter, Republican nominee.

TWO uprisings of convicts occurred early in the week. The first, in Speigner state prison of Alabama, resulted in the killing of one convict, the wounding of 24 others and the escape of one. Warden A. B. Smith displayed the utmost bravery in dealing with the convicts.

The second instance was in Portsmouth penitentiary, Ontario. The 900 inmates, demanding cigarette papers and longer hours of recreation, put on a big riot, but were reduced to submission without loss of life.

OUR COMIC SECTION

Events in the Lives of Little Men

OUT OF BOUNDS

FINNEY OF THE FORCE

THE FEATHERHEADS

Casting Reflections

Happy, Though Married

THE HEDLEY INFORMER

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY
Ed C. Bolivar, Publisher

Entered as second class matter October 28, 1910, at the postoffice at Hedley, Texas, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

NOTICE—Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The Informer will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the publisher.

HEDLEY SINGERS

Remember, next Sunday, Nov. 13th, is singing day at the West Baptist Church 8:00 p. m. We are having new leaders at nearly every meeting.

Everybody come. We are expecting you.

10, 25, 40 and 50 Watt Light Bulbs
B & B. Variety Store.

HEDLEY RURAL CLUB IN ARMISTICE PROGRAM

The Hedley Rural Club met with Mrs. W. I. Rains as hostess Nov. 8th. Thirteen members were present, one visitor, Mrs. Chas. Rains, and one honorary member, Mrs. Dollie Rains.

Roll call was answered with a Tribute to Soldiers. The program consisted of Club Prayer and Song, Medley of War Songs, Life of Woodrow Wilson, and other numbers.

The business hour was very interesting. Four new members, Mmes. Williams, Fisch, Leach, and Gordon.

Refreshments of chicken sandwiches, coffee, pickles, and raisin pie with whipped cream were served to the following: Mmes. Jewell, Everett, Sherman, Rains, Phelps, Williams, Blankenship, Masterson, Mann, Rains, Bridges, Grimsley, Mr. Hobart Moffitt and the hostess, Mrs. W. I. Rains.

The Club adjourned to meet with Mrs. J. M. Everett Nov. 22 in a Thanksgiving Social.

Reporter.

School Hose for children, in medium and longie style.
B & B. Variety Store.

LANE-INSLEY

Clarence Lane and Miss Topsy Insley, of Clarendon, were married last Saturday at Hollis, Okla. according to information reaching us Monday. The groom is a former Hedley boy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Lane. Our good wishes to them.

FOR SALE OR TRADE—One Home Comfort Range cook stove. See Will W. Holland.

Pete Darnell suffered several cuts on the side of his face and head in an auto wreck Saturday night. With Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beard, he was returning from the Firemen's Carnival at Memphis. Just as they reached a turn in the road, a tire went flat and refused to be steered—the result being a wrecked car and the injuries mentioned above. Mr. and Mrs. Beard were fortunate in escaping serious injury.

CAR FOR SALE—1928 model Chevrolet, in good condition.—Cheap.

Mary Lou Hawkins.

METHODIST CHURCH

A. V. Hendricks, Pastor
Sunday School next Sunday as usual. C. L. Johnson, Supt.
Senior and Hi League at 8:00 o'clock. Clarence Davis, Supt. of Young People's Department, and Miss Alice Noel in charge of Hi League.

No preaching services scheduled for the day, as the pastor is attending the Annual Conference in Amarillo.

Subscribe for The Informer.

J. C. WOOLDRIDGE LUMBER CO.

Lumber
Building Materials
Paints
Colorado Coal

Would be glad to figure with you on anything you may need in our line.

E. R. HOOKER, Mgr.

EDITOR IS ACCUSED OF STOPPING GERNER'S FORD

Albert Gerner of Lella Lake was in Hedley Friday. Driving down street he met the Informer man hoofing it up street, and his Ford gave a sharp snort and quit on him. Albert 'lowed he had heard of faces stopping clocks, but one that would stop a Ford ought to take the prize. We expressed willingness to accept a prize, but all he offered was a few more 'choice remarks,' directed at the Ford, we choose to believe.

HAVE YOU A DOLLAR you're not using? The editor knows where it can be put right to work. Ask him.

Sheriff and Mrs. Guy Pierce were visitors here last Sunday from Clarendon.

DEPENDABLE BUILDING MATERIAL

C. F. & I. Coal

B. P. S. Paints

Also Have Added

Hardware, Axtell

Windmills and

Supplies

Call No. 8

or drop in to see us. We are glad to be of service to you at all times.

Cicero Smith Lumber Company
Hedley, Texas

EVERY DAY SPECIALS

Prunes, Pears or Peaches, Gallon	33c
7 Small Cans Pet Milk	25c
Red Barrel Syrup, per Gallon	65c
2 lb package Raisins	15c
Dried Prunes, per lb	6c
2 lb box Comet Rice	15c
8 oz bottle Vanilla	22c
3 lb 7 oz Box Oats	15c
48 lb Ponca's Best Flour	90c
Steak, per lb	10c and 12c

Just remember, every item in our store is Priced Right, and we will appreciate your business, large or small. Come and see for yourself, or phone us.

WE DELIVER

City Produce & Feed Store

C. C. Stafford, Prop.

Phone 32

Huffman's Barber Shop

Expert Tonsorial Work. Shine Chair. Hot and Cold Baths. You will be pleased with our service. Try it.

W. H. Huffman, Prop.

D. F. V. Walker

General Practice.
Male Diseases a Specialty
Residence Phone 5
Office with Wilson Drug Co.
Hedley, Texas

Subscribe for The Informer.

NEWS

OF THE ELECTIONS
CONGRESS
LEGISLATURE
MARKETS

First and Most Complete
at the Lowest Cost

Your Choice of Either
Newspaper $4.50

Wichita Daily Times
WITH SUNDAY

Wichita Falls Record News
WITH SUNDAY TIMES

UNTIL DEC. 1, 1933 — OVER A YEAR
7 Issues a Week

By Mail in Texas and Oklahoma

SUBSCRIBE TODAY—

Through Your Postmaster, Times or Record News
Agent or This Newspaper

The Funniest Comics and Best

FEATURES

WEST TEXAS—"Raw Material Capitol"— Offers Immense Industrial Opportunities

It has been the history of West Texas that after every national depression this section returns to normal—and marches ahead to greater prosperity—more rapidly than any other section of the country.

Present fundamental conditions are sound, and West Texas' wealth of natural resources—unsurpassed in any other part of the country—promise future progress of a magnitude that will dwarf that sensational development which a few short years ago riveted on this section the attention of the entire nation!

AND ALERT INDUSTRIES ARE TAKING ADVANTAGE OF THIS ASSURED DEVELOPMENT!

An adequate, flexible and inexpensive power supply is vital to industrial activity. Here in West Texas, the "Land of Opportunity", this industrial necessity is ably and amply supplied by the West Texas Utilities Company.

Industries recognize power as one of the prime problems. They recognize, too, that in West Texas this company has solved that problem by making their power investment for them—and is able to furnish energy at a lower cost than it could be produced in any other manner.

The West Texas Utilities Company, dependably serving 125 progressive West Texas cities, makes available more than 100,000 horsepower of electrical energy, distributed from three major generating stations and 22 auxiliary plants over a 2,500-mile transmission line network.

For detailed information on any subject concerning West Texas, write this company's Industrial Department, Abilene, Texas.

West Texas Utilities
Company

Quicker Relief For Headaches

Because of Quick Dissolving Property, AYER'S ASPIRIN Starts "Taking Hold" 3 or 4 Minutes After Taking

Due to important, scientific developments in the world-famous Bayer laboratories, almost INSTANT relief from headaches, neuralgia and rheumatic pains is being afforded millions.

Because of a unique process in making and tableting, Genuine Bayer Aspirin is made to dissolve almost INSTANTLY in the stomach. Hence it starts to work almost instantly. And thus "takes hold" of the average pain or headache in as little as three or four minutes after taking. The fastest, safe relief, it is said, ever known for pain.

Remember, it is Genuine Bayer Aspirin which provides this unique, quick-acting property. So be sure you get the Real Article—GENUINE BAYER Aspirin when you buy. Naturally you want the fastest, possible relief—and that's the way to get it.

To identify the genuine, see that any bottle of aspirin you buy is clearly marked "Genuine Bayer Aspirin." And that any tablet you take is stamped clearly with the name "Bayer" in the form of a cross. Remember—Genuine Bayer Aspirin cannot harm the heart.

NO TABLETS ARE GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN WITHOUT THIS CROSS

© 1932, The Bayer Co., Inc.

Learned It From His Wife
"It says here a British scientist declares there is no such thing as a perfect man," chuckled Mrs. Grouch. "That shows he's married," retorted her husband.

Breaking It Gently
"Mrs. Lipton's pet dog has been run over," she'll be heart-broken."
"Don't tell her abruptly."
"No," I'll begin by saying it's her husband."
—Sydney Bulletin.

Fifty and Fit

A MAN is as old—or as young—as his organs.

At fifty, you can be in your prime.

Why go along with "fairly good health" when you might be enjoying vigor you haven't felt for years?

There's a simple little thing anyone can do to keep the vital organs stimulated, and feel fit all the time. People don't realize how sluggish they've grown until they've tried it. The stimulant that will stir your system to new life is Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. It will make a most amazing difference in many ways.

This famous doctor's prescription is a delicious syrup made with fresh herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. It starts its good work with the first spoonful. That's all you need to drive away the dullness and headache of a bilious spell, and rid the system of that slow poison that saps your strength. It's better than a ton of laxatives you can take freely or give to any child. And it's not expensive.

Get some syrup pepsin today, and take a little tonight. Don't wait until you're sick to give your system the wonderful help. You can avoid those spells of biliousness or constipation. A spoonful every now and then is better than constant worry about the condition of your bowels, or fear of auto-intoxication as you grow older. Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin protects the system. All drugs keep this preparation.

Device Tests Lobsters
An electrical device, developed by a professor at Boston university, will determine whether a lobster is fit to eat or not. The device was adopted by the Massachusetts fish and game department. If the lobster does not contract its tail or move its clippers at the shock, it will be thrown away.

Effect of Shock
Cut—Why can't you sleep?
Head—Well, you see, every time I fall asleep the jar awakens me.

Roadside tenting is charming to think of if there were not so many dangerous men.

Lazy people need to be scared.

HOW IN THE WORLD DO YOU GET SUCH THICK, LIVELY SUDS?

WITH RINSO THEY'RE REAL WORK-SAVING SUDS, TOO—YOU QUOTE—UNQUOTE—TO SEE THE WAY THE SOAP GOES, DISHWASHING IS MUCH EASIER WITH RINSO. IT SAVES YOUR HANDS, TOO.

Millions use Rinsol in tub, washer and dishpan

Highway of Races

Aggstein, a Robber Castle on the Danube.

Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WNL Service.

THE "Beautiful Blue Danube," which is not blue, but either muddy brown or green according to the rainfall in its valley, bids fair to increase in commercial prestige since the agreement at the recent Stresa conference between 15 European nations regarding certain economic and political policies.

For many years countries bordering the Danube have disagreed on tariffs and other regulations, thus stifling trade on the most important navigable stream in central Europe.

Flowing from the hills of Bavaria to the Black sea, the Danube has been called the highway of races because many races of both the Orient and Occident have navigated the stream and held parts of its 1,800-mile course.

As one travels from the Black sea, the maritime Danube is left behind at Turnu-Severin, at the head of its sprawling delta. There the Orient has been exchanged for the Occident—Moslem minarets for Greek-Orthodox domes, old Turkish gates for old Roman bridges. There a narrower Danube winds between blue, ever-lifting hills, the gateway to western Europe.

And there you may board one of the big river steamers that all summer long ascend or descend through half a dozen countries lying between the Black forest and Black sea. Hardly is Turnu-Severin astern when the traveler finds himself amid a wild swirl of waters, before whose terrific force his boat's progress more and more resembles the freak feat of trying to mount a descending escalator.

At last the shelter of an artificially walled channel is reached. Men call this two-mile stretch the Iron Gate, and doubtless the Argonautic heroes in their ascent gave it some equally forceful name, perhaps likening it to the battering club of Herakles.

For thousands of years the club battered, or if you prefer, the gates clanged, against craft that sneaked upshore, towed by battalions of men. At last, owing to the decisions of the Berlin Congress in 1878, the rapids of the lower Danube were regulated by Hungary at a cost of $9,000,000.

The Forgotten Island.
"There's Ada-Kaleh," remarks a guide pointing to an islet off Orsova. "Folks call it the Forgotten island because the Berlin Congress overlooked it. Now, would you catch an island being overlooked in the Hudson? Why, there'd be an amusement park on it!"

Ashore the traveler glimpses a quaint island colony of Bosnian Moslems, who long ago built their little houses amid the encompassing ramifications of a dismantled Turkish fortress. It is as peaceful a sight as that of wild flowers carpeting an old shell crater.

On the Danube there are customs duties and enough local port regulations to make a seafarer go bald with worry. The river is more like a political conflict, with seven tickets in the field, which is to say, it flows through three kingdoms, one regency, two republics and a social democracy.

Its length is exceeded in Europe only by that of the Volga. Its navigable portion, as shown on the chart, totals nearly 1,000 miles; and a glance at its nine political sectors, of which three are joint—that is, shared by pairs of countries—reveal that almost one-third of the Danube's navigable length is thus shared by states which face each other from the river's opposite banks.

Presently the boat enters a sheer-faced gorge of sky-cutting profiles that incloses the observer in an endless vista of rock-walled waters.

Through the Kazan Defile.
Silent as twilight, primitive as when the daedal Danube wrought this passage to the sea, the Kazan Defile might easily have seemed to the early Greeks a Charon-haunted Styx leading to the underworld. Their bards called the future Danube the Istros and dwell in awesome terms on its "shadow-envisioned origin," thus placing its source at the head of the Kazan, where rapids still swirl malevolently over ledges of rock.

But the Greeks never permitted superstition to interfere with business. With sword in one hand and merchandise scales in the other, they unloaded textiles, pottery and arms on the aborigines in exchange for furs, hemp and slaves.

A sharp-eyed traveler may discover what appears to be some vandal's name scratched in capital letters on the sheer cliff-face of the defile and may be ready to compare it to "Otto Schwartz, Berlin," on the Pyramids, or "W. Brown, N. Y.," on a spire of Milan cathedral. But with marine glasses he will find that the scratches read: "Imp. Caesar. . . . Trajanus Aug. Germ. Pont. Maximus." Trajan, or any other Roman who could lead an army along the flat face of those river-washed cliffs by means of beam-supported galleries, he will agree, had a perfect right to cut his name there!

For two days and nights the boat churns ahead between wide plains, and on the third afternoon comes into sight of Belgrade (Beograd). Perched high over the confluence of the Danube and the Sava, the Yugoslav capital presents a striking picture. Few European cities are situated on two such waterways, whose navigable lengths within Yugoslavia total 720 miles.

Budapest a Stately City.
Not to know Budapest is to have missed one of the loveliest of European cities. It has its own distinctive stateliness that reflects the cultural flowering of a race whose kingdom has been enthroned on the Danube for a thousand years. As certain American metropolitan quarters, such as "Little Italy" or "Little Germany," reflect their mother countries in miniature, so Budapest's topography reflects on a small scale the lineaments of what, as a result of the war, is literally "Little Hungary." Ancient Buda, on the Danube's right bank, rears aloft on rocky crests that represent the foothills of Hungary's mountains, while on the other bank modern Pest stretches away in levels that prelude Hungary's plains.

After leaving Budapest, the boat heads for that cliff-fringed section of the Danube where it makes the big turn westward. Ahead rise the Little Carpathians, forming the background of a busy port scene of quays, cranes, canal boats clustered in slips—Pressburg, the German guidebook calls it.

It commands a splendid panorama of the Danube's two arms encircling the Great Schutt, which local pride proclaims "the largest inferior island in Europe."

To Vienna and Beyond.
Beyond Bratislava the river skirts Hainburg, a hillside picture of town walls, curious gates, crumbling towers. It is one of half a dozen Danube towns mentioned in the "Nibelungenlied" as being associated with the downstream journey of Burgundy's doomed knights.

Beyond Hainburg the Danube's banks lower into the wide plain where lies Vienna. Owing to postwar exigencies, Vienna has achieved for its working classes a housing scheme which, planned to embrace 30,000 families, is "futuristic" only because of its novelty.

A visit to one Viennese palace of many—the Schonbrunn of Versailles-like aspect—reveals the luxury of the Hapsburg regime and its postwar vic transit under Austria's democratic republic; for the park where Maria Theresa once strolled and where the Napoleon of 1805 planned campaigns has become a Sunday pleasure of Vienna's workers.

Beyond Vienna Greifenstein's fine old castle rises into view, as you near the Danube's region of medieval strongholds. Steaming past the Wac-lau Defile's craggy ruins, one reflects upon the formidable amount of trade that fell to them as a result of the Crusades.

In 1096 some 2,000 craft, packed with 40,000 Palestine-bound troops, descended the Danube. Three ensuing Crusades took the same route. There sprang up a river trade consisting of westbound silks, bronzes, spices, oils, and of eastbound furs, arms, and saddle. And the Danube castles took their tolls and the fotsam rake-off of stranded cargoes, not to mention piratical seizures and the enslaving of ships' crews.

Castle Aggstein, the most dreaded of Danubian robber strongholds, must have had a great turnover in riparian loot and captive maidens. And Castle Durnstein eclipsed all local records in the capture-and-ransom trade when its gates closed upon the royal prize, Richard Coeur de Lion.

London History in Models
For more than 20 years J. B. Thorpe, an English model maker, has devoted all his spare time to modeling portions of old London. At a remarkable exhibition of his work which he had been holding, two of the most interesting models have been his 20-foot replica of London bridge in 1630, and his detailed copy of the lord mayor's show of 1616. Over 200 figures about six inches high had to be made for this model.

Heavy-Duty Pencil
Made entirely of graphite, a pencil that is claimed to outlast a dozen of the common variety has been introduced. The point is unbreakable, its makers assert. No wood is used. As many as twenty copies can be made at a time, so strongly may the user bear down. The pencil may be sharpened with a knife or sandpaper, but not in a pencil sharpener.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

India's Oldest Man 129
The title of "India's oldest man" is claimed by Sadhu Kalyandas Hanfas of Kurall. He is one hundred and twenty-nine, and can remember events 115 years ago. Sadhu is a devotee of Vishnu. He recalls the fall of the last Peshwa, hereditary head of the Maratha state, in 1817.

He's Crazy
Insurance Inspector—Would you mind telling me if there is any insanity in your family, lady?
Wife (a policy seeker)—Well, no, not exactly. Only my husband thinks he's boss at home.—Hummer, Hamburg.

Forewarned is Forearmed
"I must go out because I have an appointment."
"With whom?"
"With my tailor. He is bringing the bill here at eight o'clock."—Der Wahre Jakob (Berlin).

Economy at Any Cost
Smith—My wife sure is thrifty. She made me a necktie out of an old dress of hers.
Jones—That's nothing. My wife made her a dress out of one of my ties.—Capper's Weekly.

Willing to Listen
"Money talks."
"Well, it can draw an audience now, I'm thinking."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

There seem to be organizations for cultivating every virtue but making oneself agreeable.

Luxury one must indulge in sparingly or it loses its charm.

Complexion Curse
She thought she was just unlucky when he called on her once—would her complexion. But no one advised pimply, blushed skin. More and more women are realizing that pimples and blotches are often danger signals of clogged bowels—poisonous wastes ravaging the system. Let Nature's Remedy afford complete, thorough elimination and promptly ease away beauty-ruining poisonous matter. Fine for sack headache, bilious conditions, dizziness. Try this safe, dependable, all-vegetable corrective. At all drug-gists—only 25c.

TUMS Quick relief for acid indigestion, heartburn. Only 10c.

TO KILL Screw Worms
Your money back if you don't like Cannon's Liniment. It kills screw worms, heals the wound and keeps flies away. Ask your dealer. (Adv.)

THE TRUTH ABOUT RHEUMATIC PAINS
There are many causes of rheumatism. Hence, no one remedy can cure all cases. But if the cause of YOUR rheumatic pains is excess uric acid, then you should know that by taking Gold Medal Haarem Oil Capsules you can stimulate your kidneys to carry off more uric acid poison. In 227 years this fine, old medicine has relieved millions. Insist on GOLD MEDAL. 35c & 75c.

FREE! A generous sample, free, if you print your name and address across this advertisement and mail to Department "G", care of

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL COMPANY
220—36th Street, Brooklyn, New York

STOPS PAIN BOILS
Avoid the agony of boils and abscesses. PARKER'S HAIR BALM—quick relief. It cures. It's the best of all ointments. Burns and stings. Boils and abscesses. Itching. Itching. Itching. Great American Salve. 50c.

PARKER'S HAIR BALM
Keeps Dandruff from Their Follicles. Imparts Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair. Used by U. S. Presidents. Famous Chem. Wm. Paterson, N. Y.

FLORES YON SHAMPOO—Ideal for use in connection with Parker's Hair Balm. Makes the hair soft and fluffy. 50 cents by mail or at drug-gists. Hicon Chemical Works, Paterson, N. Y.

There is a struggle to be hard-boiled because the hardboiled don't have heartache.

Thrifty cooks use PREMIUM FLAKES for money-saving meals

ASK YOUR GROCER—Just say "big box of Premiums," and you'll find the free booklet tucked inside. Today's the day to begin!

EVEN the thriftiest cooks are learning new ideas from Premiums. How to turn them into quick, satisfying meals—with a spread of peanut butter, or flaky salmon, or even with just a big bowl of milk.

But Premiums don't stop at little cracker tips like these! They'll help do the cooking—by making other foods go further. Just buy the big box and look at the booklet that comes inside!

Recipes. Menus for every day in the week. Here's the way to quicker, happier, thriftier meals. Let this booklet put this money-saving box of Premiums to work in your kitchen now.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY
Uneda Bakers

Jim the Conqueror

... By Peter B. Kyne ...

Copyright by Peter B. Kyne.

WNU Service.

BEGINNING THE STORY, FOR NEW READERS

Roberta Antrim, beautiful Eastern society girl, who lives with her uncle, William B. Latham, known as "Crooked Bill" because of his amusing slyness, receives a telegram from Jaime Miguel Higueneas, owner of the Rancho Valle Verde, in Texas, informing her her Uncle Tom Antrim has died a violent death. At the advice of Glenn Hackett, who is in love with her, Roberta plans to go to Texas to protect her interests, since she is her uncle's sole heir to thousands of sheep which Antrim had impudently driven to graze on land controlled by Don Jaime. Don Jaime, unmarried and romantic, half Spanish and half Irish, is attracted to Roberta's picture in a magazine. Antrim is warned to take his sheep off Don Jaime's ranch at once. Antrim ambushes Don Jaime. The young ranch owner is wounded and Tom Antrim killed. On his body are found instructions to notify Miss Roberta Antrim in the event of his death. Another Higueneas' telegram tells Roberta her uncle was killed by Jim Higgins (Don Jaime's anglicized name). Latham tells her his fortune is in danger, and she decides to go to Texas to get Antrim's estate, to save it. Don Jaime invites Mrs. Ganby, his nurse, and her crippled son Robbie, to stay at his ranch with the idea of preserving the properties of Roberta, as he hopes, visits the ranch. "Crooked Bill" lets his niece believe he has lost his fortune, furthering a scheme he hopes will forward Hackett's courtship. Hackett, despite misgivings, "plays up" to Uncle Bill's scheme for influencing Roberta in his favor. Don Jaime, actuated chiefly by his romantic interest in the pictured Roberta, allows the Antrim sheep to continue to graze on his ranch.

CHAPTER V—Continued

"I know you're not, dear Uncle Bill. You're a perfectly good old sport. I have just had a long telegram from my lawyer in Los Algodones, Texas. He informs me that the affairs of Uncle Tom's estate are in excellent shape and that he died leaving even more sheep than was at first suspected. There are about ten thousand lambs that will soon be ready for market and which should bring ten dollars a head and there are upwards of a hundred thousand pounds of excellent wool worth thirty cents a pound—Why, it would seem that Uncle Tom's estate will run close to half a million dollars. We should worry and grow wrinkles and gray hair, darling."

The butler announced dinner—and between the fish and the roast, as per agreement, Glenn Hackett commenced to question Crooked Bill adroitly as to the exact nature of his operations in the market. Roberta noted a grim little smile playing across Hackett's Puritanical face from time to time, so presently, with her customary impulsiveness, she asked him to share the joke with them.

"It's on your Uncle Bill," he replied. "It is my duty to inform you, Bobby, that your Uncle Bill is an antediluvian idiot who can't see the woods for the trees. If he could he'd see a path out of this mess he's in—a path as wide as the boardwalk at Atlantic City. Let us eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow Uncle Bill will no longer be a financial corpse. He will have commenced his resurrection."

"How are you going to save Uncle Bill?" Roberta demanded.

Hackett proceeded to outline to her, patiently and in words of one syllable, his plan for the salvation of Crooked Bill.

"I understand perfectly, Glenn," Roberta said when at last he finished. "You're a wonderful, wonderful friend."

"The plan is vetoed," Crooked Bill declared virtuously. "Friendship will bear up under anything except the enforcement of notes or the swift heavy touch."

"But, Uncle Bill—"

Uncle Bill raised his leonine head and his cold, steel-gray eyes flickered murderous lights at her. "There will be no further discussion of this unpleasant subject," he informed her coldly.

When Crooked Bill looked and spoke in that tone of voice, Roberta knew from experience that obedience was incumbent upon her. Her eyes filled with tears; in a tremulous voice she begged to be excused and withdrew.

Crooked Bill's wild eyebrows went up as the girl left the room. "She's as big a crook as I am," he declared proudly. "She isn't at all distressed. She's just pulling the old stuff—not on me this time, but on you, my boy. She expects you to follow her out and comfort her. Do not disappoint her. Forward!"

"Are you quite certain she wouldn't prefer to be left alone, Mr. Latham? She's all upset."

"Listen to me, son. I know my onions. The girl's play-acting. Vanouse!"

Glenn Hackett "vamosed." Within five minutes he returned with Roberta on his arm.

"Hum!" Crooked Bill reflected. "And she spent at least a minute napping up her face! Four minutes to put over her loving plot against me. The little crook!" He beamed upon her. "I'm so sorry I spoke crossly to my little girl," he announced with hypocriticalunction.

Bobby kissed him fondly and gave him a little hug.

Crooked Bill was not one to gum up his own finely laid plans, and presently, with a full realization of the truth of the old adage that three is a crowd, he withdrew to his room, leaving Glenn Hackett to make what progress he could with the rebellious Roberta.

But Crooked Bill did not retire. He smoked until ten o'clock, at which hour he knew Glenn Hackett, a creature of habit, would depart for the city. So Crooked Bill went down the back stairs, crossed the lawn and waited for Hackett at the entrance to Hillcrest. "Did it work?" he demanded.

"Overtime," Hackett responded. "Was she nice to you after I left?"

"Well—er—ah—Platonic."

"Agh!" Crooked Bill growled deep in his throat, like an aged tiger. "Go home, you jellyfish. You'd be a bachelor in the South Sea Islands—and on an island where they practice polyandry!"

Thoroughly disgusted he returned to the house. He had a presentiment that Fate was, in a manner of speaking, stacking the cards against him.

Next morning Crooked Bill caught an early train to the city, explaining that the sooner he swept up the fragments of his scattered fortunes the better for all concerned.

Roberta motored in a little later and went at once to Glenn Hackett's office, where he prepared and she signed a formal assignment of all of her right, title and interest in and to her Uncle Tom's estate to Hackett, for and in consideration of certain moneys to be advanced to her by Hackett.

"Now, then, Roberta," Hackett said when the document was signed, "you understand that this is a business deal from first to last. Not a speck of sentiment in it so far as I am concerned. While you have given me security for the funds I am to advance, it may be that I will be called upon to advance a sum in excess of the total value of your Uncle Tom's estate. Consequently, it is of the utmost importance that the estate should be administered wisely and conserved. I have looked up your lawyer at Los Algodones, Don Prudencio Alviso, and he appears to have an excellent record for probity but is a poor business man. If I—"

"He assures me Don Jaime Miguel Higueneas is most reliable and is doing all that anybody can do to conserve the estate," Roberta hastened to assure Hackett.

"I know. But the thought occurs to me: Why is Don Jaime Miguel Higueneas taking all this trouble? What do you mean to him? He is a cattleman, so why should he bother with your sheep? My dear Bobby, I am highly suspicious of that fellow."

Bobby's lip drooped. She had not thought of Don Jaime in that light before, and her common sense warned her that there might be more than a modicum of truth in Hackett's suspicions. He saw the doubt he had planted burgeoning, and hastened to aid its growth.

"As I told you before, it is impossible for me to go to Texas to look after your affairs, Bobby. Your unfortunate uncle dare not leave New York at this time either. His creditors might think he was endeavoring to flee the country. Consequently, I think it is of the utmost importance that you go to Los Algodones immediately and investigate everything thoroughly."

"But, Glenn, I don't know a thing about business, and I'm afraid it's too big an order."

"I disagree with you. You have a feminine intuition of the highest degree of development. If you go there, get acquainted with your lawyer and Don Jaime and, after a few weeks, discover that you have absolutely no mental reservations regarding either or both, I shall think it quite safe to leave your affairs in their hands for the present, at least."

This adroit speech flattered Roberta, since it was corroborating a belief she had always entertained, i. e., that she could look through men as if they were glass. Her respect for Hackett's intelligence and ability increased at once. "I'll go to Los Algodones just as soon as I can get ready," she declared.

"That's fine, Roberta." He escorted her to the elevator and upon returning to his office pressed a buzzer three times, whereupon his secretary ushered in to him from an adjoining room no less a person than Crooked Bill.

"Well, have you sold her the idea that she should go to Los Algodones?" he demanded of the lawyer.

"I have. She promised me she would go as soon as she could get ready."

Crooked Bill rubbed his hands pleasantly. Hackett handed him the assignment which Roberta had just given him, and Crooked Bill set fire to it and dropped it into Hackett's metal waste basket.

"Have you confidence in this Jaime Higueneas, Mr. Latham?" Hackett queried.

"How do I know? He's a perfect stranger to me. However, his father and grandfather were both my caballeros to the nth degree and never cared enough about money to get it by crooked or unfair means. And I'm a great believer in heredity. I have a strong suspicion that Don Jaime is equipped with a complete set of Hibernian inner works, and I have never known a highly courageous man who was a weak man. The crooks of this world are recruited from the weaklings, my boy. However, why should I worry about a gear of sheep? I don't care two hoots in a hollow if they all starve to death. I'm solely interested in promoting for Roberta a journey to Los Algodones, in order that she may see the other side of the picture. Don Jaime is unmarried (I've discovered that) and if he fails to fall in love with Roberta he's fit for treason, stratagems and spoils. If she doesn't quarrel with him about that, they're bound to fall out over business, because no man ever managed a woman's business affairs without discovering in the long run that he had performed a thoroughly thankless task."

"I wish I didn't have to mix in her affairs. I dislike deception—even innocent deception, Mr. Latham."

"You ungrateful pup! Why, I've placed Bobby under a tremendous obligation to you and made it possible for you two to share a delightful secret in common—all of which is equivalent to scattering six inches of tanbark on the hard, macadamized road of true love. By pretending to lose my fortune I drive off about 80 per cent of your competitors and shoe Bobby out of her set, in which she might find other competitors for you. As a promoter I think I'm just about the bee's knees myself."

"But you're giving Don Jaime a free field."

"And why not? He's short and fat, weighing about two hundred pounds. If he isn't, the scientists are all wrong about heredity."

"I have known tall, graceful and extremely charming Irishmen, Mr. Latham!"

"But the Spanish blood predominates in Higueneas. At least it did in his father. They were originally Asturianos, and Asturianos are all medium-sized and stocky. But to return to Don Jaime. In all probability he takes a bath after the fall round-up and has never seen a bathtub except in a hotel. He will have a luxuriant, Niagara falls type of black mustache and use perfume. He will talk with a strong Spanish accent and four-fifths of his life is undoubtedly spent in his shirt-sleeves. He's just a husky Border cowboy, I tell you. Do you see Bobby falling for a man like that?"

"No-o-o!"

"You're a suspicious Yankee, Glenn. Your motto is: 'Trust everybody but cut the cards.' Well, I must be toddling along. I think I'll take on a line of United Drugs. I've had a tip that they've been quietly absorbing about twenty-five hundred chain drug stores. Meanwhile you keep picking on Roberta to get her out of town; and in order to soothe your New England conscience I'm going to spread about a hundred thousand margining a line of United Drugs for you. If the deal shows a profit by the time you marry Roberta, it will be yours. If it shows a loss—send me a reasonable bill for professional services."

"As a pinch-hitter for Cupid I think you're a total ruin," Glenn Hackett declared.

"How come?"

"I'm satisfied that Roberta isn't in love with me."

"So am I. But I'm also satisfied that she thinks a thousand per cent more of you than of any man living, and if you remain indifferent to her—even let her see you out with another girl occasionally—you'll have to marry her in self-defense." He shook his stick at Hackett. "Remember, your battle-cry is 'On to Texas!'"

CHAPTER VI

Roberta shopped for two weeks, spent another two weeks on a houseboat party among the Thousand Islands, and departed for Los Algodones.

"Where shall I address you, Bobby?" Crooked Bill queried. "At the Mansion house, in Los Algodones?"

"No, dear. Address me in care of Don Jaime Miguel Higueneas."

"What?" Crooked Bill started as if he were stung. "You going to put up at the Higueneas hacienda? Why—why, the man's a bachelor."

"How do you know?"

"I've been making inquiries about him."

"Well, his housekeeper, a Mrs. Ganby, has written me, inviting me to be his guest. Don Jaime was ill at the time and couldn't write personally, but he did write, at the bottom of Mrs. Ganby's letter, 'Official: J. M. H.' Mrs. Ganby says they have a lovely place and that I'll be much more comfortable at the Rancho Valle Verde than at any hotel in that country."

Crooked Bill was assailed by the feeling that, in some inexplicable way, his well-laid plans were doomed to go aft agley. "You'll write me frequently and tell me all about it, won't you, honey?"

Roberta promised and kissed him good-by.

Five days later she and Mignón, her maid, with three huge trunks and five pieces of hand baggage, were deposited on a lonely, sun-warped platform at the little flag station of Valle Verde.

"So this," said Roberta, looking around her after the train had resumed its journey, "is Texas. Good gracious, Mignón, what is that noise?"

"It sounds like a zoo at feeding time," said Mignón apprehensively, and looked behind her. "Oh, it's cattle," she added, relieved.

A quarter of a mile out on the plain, in a compact mass, a huge herd of white-faced cattle were milling slowly and bellowing continuously.

"Why, there must be thousands of them!" Roberta gasped, and was grateful that the station platform, which was at least five feet off the ground, appeared to offer reasonable sanctuary from attack.

From around the corner of the station a man appeared, hat in hand. "Miss Antrim?" he queried.

"Yes, indeed," said Roberta gratefully, and waited for him to name himself.

"I'm Bill Dingle, your Uncle Tom's general manager. I got your letter tellin' me you'd arrive today and instructin' me to meet you at the Higueneas rancho tomorrow."

"Yes," Roberta murmured, wondering if she ought to introduce Mignón to Mr. Dingle, who was eyeing the maid as a fresh cow in a pasture eyes a dog.

"So I thought I'd meet you here, miss, and explain to you how come it won't be possible for me to meet you there," Mr. Dingle went on, his embarrassment increasing at every word. "It's about twenty mile straight east from here to your Uncle Tom's ranch, which is your ranch now, I reckon, and I figured maybe it'd be better for all hands if you put up there instead of at the Higueneas rancho. I reckon you and this other lady'd be as safe and comfortable there as anywhere."

"That is very kind of you, Mr. Dingle," Roberta hesitated, then, in her usual frank manner, plunged. "Why is it impossible for you to meet me at the Higueneas rancho, Mr. Dingle?"

Mr. Dingle scuffed a foot along the station platform and his embarrassment increased visibly. "Well, ma'am, in this country, when a feller's enemy warns him not to set foot on his ranch again until he's sent for, unless he wants to be made a colander out of, it's reasonable to figger the warnin's meant."

"That is very kind of you, Mr. Dingle," Roberta hesitated, then, in her usual frank manner, plunged. "Why is it impossible for you to meet me at the Higueneas rancho, Mr. Dingle?"

Mr. Dingle scuffed a foot along the station platform and his embarrassment increased visibly. "Well, ma'am, in this country, when a feller's enemy warns him not to set foot on his ranch again until he's sent for, unless he wants to be made a colander out of, it's reasonable to figger the warnin's meant."

"That is very kind of you, Mr. Dingle," Roberta hesitated, then, in her usual frank manner, plunged. "Why is it impossible for you to meet me at the Higueneas rancho, Mr. Dingle?"

Mr. Dingle scuffed a foot along the station platform and his embarrassment increased visibly. "Well, ma'am, in this country, when a feller's enemy warns him not to set foot on his ranch again until he's sent for, unless he wants to be made a colander out of, it's reasonable to figger the warnin's meant."

"That is very kind of you, Mr. Dingle," Roberta hesitated, then, in her usual frank manner, plunged. "Why is it impossible for you to meet me at the Higueneas rancho, Mr. Dingle?"

Mr. Dingle scuffed a foot along the station platform and his embarrassment increased visibly. "Well, ma'am, in this country, when a feller's enemy warns him not to set foot on his ranch again until he's sent for, unless he wants to be made a colander out of, it's reasonable to figger the warnin's meant."

"That is very kind of you, Mr. Dingle," Roberta hesitated, then, in her usual frank manner, plunged. "Why is it impossible for you to meet me at the Higueneas rancho, Mr. Dingle?"

Mr. Dingle scuffed a foot along the station platform and his embarrassment increased visibly. "Well, ma'am, in this country, when a feller's enemy warns him not to set foot on his ranch again until he's sent for, unless he wants to be made a colander out of, it's reasonable to figger the warnin's meant."

"That is very kind of you, Mr. Dingle," Roberta hesitated, then, in her usual frank manner, plunged. "Why is it impossible for you to meet me at the Higueneas rancho, Mr. Dingle?"

Mr. Dingle scuffed a foot along the station platform and his embarrassment increased visibly. "Well, ma'am, in this country, when a feller's enemy warns him not to set foot on his ranch again until he's sent for, unless he wants to be made a colander out of, it's reasonable to figger the warnin's meant."

"Who warned you?"

"Don Jaime Higueneas."

"Indeed. Why, I had no idea Don Jaime Higueneas was such a blood-thirsty man! Is the trouble between you something that cannot be rectified? I should be happy to act as peacemaker, Mr. Dingle."

Bill Dingle, remembering his offenses, was honest enough to declare that the trouble could not be rectified and added something about the easiest way out of trouble being to go around it. Then he was silent for quite a while, meanwhile scuffing his toe and gazing a bit helplessly around the horizon. Finally he said: "I reckon you didn't think as much of your Uncle Tom as he used to let on you did. Don't you feel no resentment agin the man that murdered him?"

"Not the slightest. From all that we can learn, officially, Uncle Tom was not murdered. The sheriff of this county wrote that Uncle Tom made the mistake of taking in too much territory, which is a fatal error and tantamount to suicide. It seems he ambushed Jim Higgins and shot him three times. Then Higgins got under cover and stalked Uncle Tom and killed him. I am informed that he didn't know the identity of his assailant until he saw the body."

"That's the story, but it ain't true. This killer ordered your Uncle Tom to quit grazin' his sheep on the free range or he'd kill him. A warnin's a warnin' in this country, an' if a feller don't choose to obey it he's justified in arguin' the matter in the smoke the first time him an' the warnin' person meet up. Your uncle didn't see no valid reason why he should have his liberty restricted by a private citizen. He considered his life in danger, so when they met up on the range it was a case of who could get into action quickest. It was a case of an old man agin a young man, an' the young man won as usual. But your Uncle Tom never tried to kill nobody. He just naturally defended his own life an' failed to do a good job. An', of course, a sheepman ain't in good standin' in a cattle country. Personally, I'm only a hired man, but I got my private opinions, an' I'm here to say it just naturally don't look right for you to be the guest of—"

Mr. Dingle raised his glance from the station platform and gazed across toward the approaching herd of cattle. He appeared alert, poised for flight; whatever had been in his mind to say remained unsaid, and he was profoundly interested in a horseman who was galloping around the flank of the herd, evidently with the intention of passing on in front of it.

"I reckon I'll be moseyin' along, ma'am," said Mr. Dingle. "We can discuss our business when you come to the Antrim ranch."

The horseman had cleared the herd and was coming on at an easy gallop; behind him a boy on a small pinto pony labored to keep up.

"There's the man that killed your Uncle Tom," Mr. Dingle almost hissed. "I reckon I don't care to meet that hombre until I can choose the time and place myself." And without standing upon the order of his going Mr. Dingle went—in a flying leap off the station platform. He lit running and continued on to a disreputable old automobile; in an incredibly short space of time he was on his way home.

The horseman, observing Mr. Dingle's departure, spurred his mount to a furious gallop; apparently it was his intention to intercept the latter as he fled down the dusty road that ran parallel with the tracks.

"He's going to shoot," Mignón screamed. "Oh, the brute!"

Six pistol shots rang out and Roberta saw little puffs of dust leap up beside Dingle's right rear tire. A pause of about two seconds—then six more shots and six more puffs of dust beside the same tire. Then the horseman pulled up, turned and jogged quietly up to the station. He dismounted a little stiffly, dropped the reins over his horse's head, and advanced limping to the station platform, upon which he climbed laboriously and disappeared into the station.

"This is exactly like the movies," Mignón quavered. "It's wonderful. So thrilling! Oh, I'm so glad you brought me with you, Miss Roberta!"

"When that man emerges you'll experience some more thrills," Roberta warned her maid. "I'm going to tell him some things about himself he has not, in all probability, been told before."

"Do be careful, Miss Roberta. He's so desperate—"

"I'll reduce him to pulp. I'm not afraid of his gun. I intend to protect my foreman. That is the duty of an employer. We can testify to his effort to kill Mr. Dingle. I shall have him arrested and tried for attempt to commit murder. The bloodthirsty wretch!"

The station door swung open, and Don Jaime Higueneas limped out, stood as erect as his damaged underpinning would permit, bowed from the hips and all but swept the station platform with his sombrero. Then he straightened and said: "Hee—I mean Miss Antrim—I am devastated to think—"

"TO BE CONTINUED."

Don't Neglect Your Kidneys

Had Promptly Kidney and Bladder Irregularities bothered with bladder irregularities, getting up at night nagging backache, head aches, etc., promptly these symptoms may warn of some disordered kidney or bladder condition. For 50 years grateful sufferers have relied upon Doan's Pills. Praised the country over by all druggists.

KNO-KORYZA
 with Hay Fever and Head Colds
 KNO-KORYZA is a permanent relief
 in all cases of Hay Fever, Colds, and all other nasal troubles. It is a safe, reliable, and effective remedy. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Only the prepaid anywhere.
 KNO-KORYZA LABORATORIES
 811
 Kansas City, Missouri

Lessening His Wants
 Money—Baby has a new tooth!
 Father—Well, that's one thing less for me to cry for.

No Need of Mechanism
 "Got to buy a billfold."
 "What's the matter? Can't you fold 'em by hand?"—Life.

Clear-up!
 Cheer-up!
 "Blimey" never last long in a body. Why not? It's a simple and effective way to get rid of all the dirt and grime that makes you look so tired and soiled. Clear-up! makes you look like a new person. It's the best thing you can do for your skin. Clear-up! is available everywhere.

CARFIELD TEA
 Carfield's Creation
 Carfield's Creation
 Carfield's Creation

All Gone
 I've lost all my friends.
 How?
 I sold my car.

Some people wait so stubbornly for somebody to make love to them that they miss most of that pleasant emotion.

FOR 12 Tablets
 of Genuine
 Pure
 Fresh
 Aspirin

St. Joseph's
 GENUINE
 PURE ASPIRIN

Golden days medicine was so horrible in its taste that many set the bottle on the mantel and got well without.

live by the sweat of our face someone's.

excuse seldom does.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

and Melancholy Blues
 wanted to die . . . she felt so blue
 I wretched! Don't let cramps ruin your good times. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gives you relief.

Improve Your Complexion

Scrub Soap, assisted when necessary by light touches of Cushion Cream, does much to prevent pimples, blackheads and other unsightly eruptions.

Sample each free.
 Address: "Cosmetics,"
 Dept. 67, Babylon, N.Y.

Sample each free.
 Address: "Cosmetics,"
 Dept. 67, Babylon, N.Y.

Sample each free.
 Address: "Cosmetics,"
 Dept. 67, Babylon, N.Y.

THE HEDLEY INFORMER

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY
Ed C. Boliver, Publisher

Entered as second class matter October 28, 1910, at the postoffice at Hedley, Texas, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

NOTICE—Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The Informer will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the publisher.

All obituaries, resolutions of respect, cards of thanks, advertising of church or society doings, when admission is charged, will be treated as advertising and charged for accordingly.

Advertising rates: Display 25c per inch. Classified 1c per word, per issue. Legal Notices and Readers 5c per line, per issue.

Notice to Contributors

The Informer wants to print all the news, and appreciates your co operation in its efforts to do that. But we must have all contributions in hand by 4 p. m. Wednesday. Lengthy articles should reach us earlier. This is not an arbitrary rule, but simply a necessity if we are to issue the paper on time—and our advertisers rightfully demand that this be done.

Notice, City Tax Payers

This is to notify you that all Delinquent City Taxes of the city of Hedley, Texas, may be paid at any time up to and including November 30, 1932, without penalty or interest.

This will be the last chance to pay delinquent taxes without the penalty and interest.

By order of the City Council
L. E. Thompson, Mayor
J. P. Devine, City Secretary.

10, 25, 40 and 50 Watt Light Bulbs
B. & B. Variety Store.

COFFINS, CASKETS

UNDERTAKERS' SUPPLIES

Licensed Embalmer and Auto Hearse at Your Service
Day phone 24
Night phone 40

MOREMAN HARDWARE

J. W. WEBB, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon
Hedley, Texas
Office Phone 8
Residence Phone 20

47

when you know a news item.

JOHN W. FITZJARRALD

Chiropractor
19th Year in Practice
11th Year in
Memphis, Texas

718 West Noel St. Phone 403

Bargain Rates
On Your Favorite
Daily Paper
$4 to $5.75

ALSO

Semi-Weekly Farm News

Texas' Great Farm Paper
A Paper for Home and Farm
$1.00 per year

and

The Hedley Informer

Your Home Paper
$1.00 per year

BOTH ONE YEAR FOR ONLY

$1.50

SEE THE INFORMER MAN

POULTRY

TIME NOW TO PLAN FOR PROFIT MAKING

Selection of Breeding Hens Important.

For a hen to be a high producer and therefore profitable to the poultry farmer she must mature early, lay well during the winter months and continue this production during the hot summer months.

"The factor causing the birds to lay for long periods is referred to as the quality of persistency and is inherited or passed on from the dam and sire," says C. J. Maupin, extension poultryman at North Carolina State college. "Therefore, if breeding hens are selected in the late summer or early fall and winter this quality can be noted and only the late molters selected."

Those birds molting in June, July, or before August 15 are lacking in this quality and should never be used in the breeding pens. The best hens continue to lay through September and October, and some even continue to lay much later, and from this group should be chosen the next year's breeders.

Mr. Maupin states that good males are also necessary for continual high production in the flock and that at least one or two pedigreed males should be secured for a special mating pen of the best hens. These birds should have a pedigree record with female ancestors laying 200 eggs or more. He urges, however, that only those birds of known pedigree be bought and that these be secured from a reliable breeder.

Records of four of the best flocks in the state last year showed an average production of 100 eggs a hen with average returns above feed costs of $2.70 a hen. On the other hand, four of the flocks having the lowest returns produced an average of only 121.3 eggs a hen for a net return above feed costs of only 85 cents a bird. "Producers do not have much control over egg prices but they do control the breeding and feeding practices and in this way can improve production and secure greater profits," says Mr. Maupin.

Outlook for Poultry Held to Be Favorable

Prospects for a larger poultry crop for market this fall and winter in view of a 7.5 per cent increase in the number of chickens being raised on farms are indicated in the poultry and egg outlook report issued recently by the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture. Egg production, it is expected, will not exceed the high totals of last year unless there should be another mild winter—this, despite a prospective increase of 4 to 5 per cent in the number of layers in farm flocks.

The bureau reports July stocks of eggs in cold storage at 28 per cent less than the volume in July a year ago, and says that therefore "the market this year will be relieved of the depressing effect of burdensome stocks of storage eggs." It points out, also, that "although egg prices are low, they are not as low, relatively as most other farm products." Low retail prices of poultry and eggs have maintained, but not increased, consumption, the bureau finds.

Overcome Chick Vices

Chick vices of feather picking and cannibalism cause tremendous losses each year. Four principal causes account for much of the loss—overcrowding, overheated brooder houses, too much sunlight in the brooder house and empty mash feeders. Each of these causes can be overcome. The number of chicks to each house should be controlled carefully. Heat of the houses should be as low as possible and yet secure satisfactory growth. The problem of light in a small house is harder to control because it is necessary to have the windows open for ventilation. Usually, however, the windows can be shaded. Ample feeding is not a difficult problem. More or larger feeders will take care of the needs of the birds.

Vitality Important

The vitality of the chicks naturally depends on the degree of vitality possessed by the parent stock, and we cannot expect strong and sturdy chicks from poorly fed broods and cocks, wintered in poor breeding houses badly ventilated and where perhaps the sun never shines. It is a well known fact that chickens from ill-fed flocks suffer from an all too common disease, recognized by the incomplete absorption of the yolk of the egg after hatching.

Profit in Small Flock

The back-yard "farmer" who keeps a few hens has an advantage over his neighbor who has to buy "store" eggs. Town and suburban residents who have tried it know how simple and economical it is to keep a small flock of fowls under semi-intensive treatment. A dozen to twenty-five hens will suffice for a plentiful supply of eggs and little trouble will be entailed, provided strain, stamina and anatomical selection have been properly considered.

TALES OF THE CHIEFS

By Editha L. Watson

OURAY

The little Ute camp at the head of Republican river was in a turmoil. Everyone was excited—everyone was hunting, high and low, for a little boy of some three or four years.

His father had been out hunting buffalo when the Cheyennes raided the camp. He looked grimly at the bodies of his people, and thought that had he been with them, they might still live. He, Ouray, the warrior who had killed many Sioux, would have killed the Cheyenne also.

Then, as the bustle died down, and the mourning Utes gathered for council, it was noticed that several of them were missing. This explained the absence of Ouray's child; the Cheyennes had taken prisoners.

Years passed. Ouray enlisted the Indian bureau to help him find this beloved only child, and had patiently followed every clue with nothing but disappointment at the end. Now a new hope had risen: in Indian territory was a lad who might prove to be his stolen son.

Ouray traveled the long distance, hoping and praying that he might find his child. But a certain mark, which had been on his son's body, was absent from this lad, and the journey had been in vain. Ouray never mentioned his loss again.

Ouray was one of the most famous of western chiefs, and justly so. Born in 1820, when the Ute country was still wild and Ute life primitive, he grew up amid wars with plains tribes, and became a spectacular and daring fighter. But the life of a warrior, while it developed in him leadership and a love for discipline, was not enough for a man of his mental energy and adaptability. As the white men increased in the West, he saw the need of friendliness toward them; there was much to be learned from them, and their friendship was worth more than their enmity, in any case.

Ouray.

After observing their mode of living, the chief evidently concluded that his position in the tribe necessitated a certain adoption of civilized ways. Accordingly, he had a carriage, in which he traveled in state, and lived like a white man, in a good house, with tables, beds and cooking utensils. He had a large easy chair for himself, and when an honored guest was at his home, he brought out wine (though he did not drink) and cigars.

Chilpeta, his wife, was a great aid to him in keeping up this state of things. She was as remarkable in her way as he was in his; adaptable, industrious, a good manager, and, some say, even more intelligent than her famous spouse. Many an old-timer has expressed his admiration of the excellent Ute woman, and averred that it was really she who ruled, and that an appeal to her often won an otherwise lost cause.

Discipline, also, was an indication of Ouray's rank, which he did not neglect. When he retired from the active life of a raider, his warlike spirit remained with him, although he was not tyrannical. As chief, it behooved him to be just and firm, and disobedience to his orders might mean death.

The Utes, however, were a rebellious and high-tempered people. They obeyed him fairly well, but on an occasion came when he was powerless to control them. This was the "Meeker massacre," in which the Utes burst all bonds of discipline, and their chief was powerless against them until their fury had subsided.

For his efforts to keep peace at this serious time, Ouray was given an annuity of $1,000, so that when he died, at the age of sixty, he was perhaps the richest Indian in America.

Every year, on the 24th of May, there is a gathering of Utes at Ignacio. From their homes in Utah and Colorado they come, all who are able. Ouray has gone to the spirit land; he is no longer there to counsel and command them, but no year passes that they forget the memorial rites to honor him, their last great leader.

(© 1932, Western Newspaper Union.)

He Knows the Signs

"Well, my wife's started housecleaning."
"Ince torn up, eh?"
"Not yet."
"Rugs in the back yard?"
"No."
"Then what makes you think she's started housecleaning?"
"She ordered two pounds of cold boiled ham this mornin'."

This Little Girl Got Well Quick

"Just after her third birthday, my little daughter, Connie, had a serious attack of intestinal flu," says Mrs. H. W. Turnage, 217 Cadwalder St., San Antonio, Texas. "It left her very weak and pale. Her bowels wouldn't act right, she had no appetite and nothing agreed with her. Our physician told us to give her some California Fig Syrup. It made her pick up right away, and now she is as robust and happy as any child in our neighborhood. I give California Fig Syrup full credit for her wonderful condition. It is a great thing for children."

Children like the rich, fruity taste of California Fig Syrup, and you can give it to them as often as they need it, because it is purely vegetable. For over 50 years leading physicians have recommended it, and its overwhelming sales record of over four million bottles a year shows it gives satisfaction. Nothing compares with it as a gentle but certain laxative, and it goes further than this. It regulates the stomach and bowels and gives tone and strength to these organs so they continue to act normally, of their own accord.

There are many imitations of California Fig Syrup, so look for the name "California" on the carton to be sure you get the genuine.

Parsonage and White House

According to the Christian Herald, during one-fourth of our nationhood there have been parsonage children presiding over the White House. Abigail Adams was the daughter of a Congregational minister. The wives of both Millard Fillmore and Franklin Pierce were parsonage born. James A. Garfield was an ordained minister. Grover Cleveland was the descendant of a long line of ministerial forbears. Mrs. Benjamin Harrison was the daughter of Rev. John W. Scott. Both Woodrow Wilson and his first wife were parsonage children. James Madison studied for the ministry in his youth. Chester A. Arthur was the son of a Baptist minister. Hula Minthorn Hoover was a Quaker preacher, while Lou Henry Hoover is the granddaughter of a Methodist minister.

Living Chicken House

At Knoxville, Tenn., two deputy sheriffs saw a negro walking along the street with nine chickens under his arms. Closer inspection revealed suspicious lumps about his person. Occasionally a lump would move and make a noise slightly like a chicken being smothered. They removed five more chickens from beneath his clothing.

Reproof is best delivered to the mass instead of to individuals. They are sure to resent it.

SECRETS OF HOTEL SACRED TO WAITER

Good Reason for Discussion Over Caviare.

The Soviet government has done a great deal towards changing human nature, despite the popular theory that this cannot be done, writes Bruce Bliven in the New Republic. Yet Russia is a large stubborn country, and these things take time. I was reminded of this fact in a Russian city, which I think had better be nameless, by my experience with the waiter and the caviare.

A foreigner, unaccustomed to the Russian food of today, learns to lean rather heavily on caviare, which is not prohibitively expensive. In this city I was living on the American plan at a leading hotel, under an arrangement by which I was entitled to caviare with both dinner 5 p. m. and supper 11 p. m.

In the dining room I sat each day at the same table, and was served by the same waiter, an amiable, middle-aged man who spoke a little of the proudly imagined was German. For four or five days he served me caviare twice daily without comment and then one day I came in for dinner, ordered the dish as usual, and ran into an obstacle.

"Excuse me," he said. "Caviare is an extra in this hotel. You must order it a la carte. Large portion, twelve dollars. Small portion, eight dollars. Which would you like?"

"I wouldn't like either," I explained patiently. "I am paying a lump sum per day, and it includes caviare twice a day with my meals. Don't you remember? You have served me yourself, day after day. Every day. Twice a day."

My words had no effect. "Twelve dollars for large portion," he repeated hopefully. "Eight dollars for small."

"Before I was in this city," I went on, "I was in (let us call it) Daneygrad. Same arrangement there. Caviare twice a day. Included in bill." His face lighted up. "Ah, ah, ah," he breathed. "In Daneygrad, yes. Caviare free, with meals, yes. Here, no. Large portion, twelve dollars. All right, all right," I said. "No caviare. Bring me some soup."

At my next meal I again sat at the same table, was served by the same man. I gave him my order: "Bring me some caviare first." He brought it, sweetly and without a word. And all meals thereafter. Puzzled, I told the story to a Russian friend, who gave me the key to the mystery. "Don't you see?" said my friend. "That one meal, there didn't happen to be any caviare in the house. And he didn't want to confess this to you, a foreigner."

There is a way to keep a lawn; but you have got to learn it. No man can add to his greatness by trying to belittle others.

Golden Dinner Service Not Alone for Wealthy

Would you like a gold dinner service or, rather, one that looks like gold? If so, it will not be long before you can buy it just as cheaply as the familiar nickel plate.

Curiously enough, the new "gold" is made in Sheffield, England, the city of steel. The first just-like-gold dinner service was made as the result of a joke. Messrs. W. Turner and company had been experimenting for some time with a new alloy of aluminum and bronze which has all the appearances of good red gold. "Why not make poor men feel like millionaires?" someone suggested, and for a jest the first near-gold dinner service was made. To the surprise of the firm it aroused an immediate demand. People liked the idea of eating off gold, and the new metal is easy to look after, since it is almost stainless.

The biggest demand, though, is likely to come from South America and other Latin countries, where there is a deep love of gold itself or of metal that looks like it.

Every man has a soul, but is it under control?

To be strong is to be happy.

Yes, Madam!

Washing dishes has always been hard on hands

BUT see how kind the quick New Oxydol is!

Now you needn't dread putting your hands into dishwater three times a day. There's a new soap that does the work in double-quick time and still is kind on hands! It's quick to hands and dainty to eyes, yet it does more work because it makes 50% more suds—richer, longer-lasting suds that cut grease like lightning, soak clothes clean. Leaves no scum, softens water, never halls up.

Procter & Gamble

OXYDOL THE COMPLETE HOUSEHOLD SOAP

Cruel Addie Noyd—I just came from the beauty parlor. Lum Bago—And they were closed!

Must Be Those two boneheads are a battle of wits. mm—Oh, a sham battle!

What a famous clinic discovered about this amazing Baby Food!

ORIGINATED 75 YEARS AGO . . . NEVER SURPASSED IN DIGESTIBILITY . . . EAGLE BRAND NOW PROVED IDEAL FOOD IN PHYSICIANS' TEST WITH 50 BABIES.

WHEN Gail Borden originated Eagle Brand back in 1857, he did so because there was a crying need for a pure, safe milk for babies. No one knew then what we know now of food values. No thorough scientific research had as yet been made in infant feeding.

Yet, amazing though it seems, this baby food created by Gail Borden proved so remarkable in its nutritive value and in its digestibility that it has survived 75 years of revolutionary discoveries in nutrition—has raised three generations of splendid babies—and today, in as thorough a test as was ever given to a baby food, has proved itself unsurpassed in baby building!

Today, Eagle Brand is hailed as a most modern baby food—second to none in its scientific proof of performance.

How the test was made Recently, two famous baby specialists conducted a feeding test with fifty average babies. For months, Eagle Brand was the only food these babies received, except for the supplementary foods* now given with mother's milk or any milk. X-rays were taken of their bones. Blood counts were made. Tooth development was watched. Heights, weights, strength were recorded. And all these records were compared with records of other groups fed on other baby foods.

At last came the verdict. In every way, the comparison was favorable to Eagle Brand. For those Eagle Brand babies showed themselves superbly nourished. This simple diet—Eagle Brand with the usual supplementary foods*—was winning in nothing that counts for health, growth. Your grocer has Eagle Brand. See directions on label.

*The usual supplementary foods, of course, are orange or tomato juice, and cod liver oil and rickets-vitamin D.

The Borden Company Dept. WN-10, Borden Building 350 Madison Avenue New York, N.Y. Please send me FREE "Baby's" booklet. Name _____ Address _____ City _____ State _____ (Please print name and address plainly)

FREE! BOOKLET ON BABY CARE!

HEDLEY MASONS ENTERTAIN OFFICIAL

Dr. H. E. Nicholson, D. D. G. M., of Wheeler, visited the Hedley Lodge on Saturday night, Oct. 29th, and gave a Masonic talk which was enjoyed by all.

The Master's Degree was demonstrated by an All Certificate team, after which sandwiches and coffee were served.

The visitors present were O. B. Miller and H. J. Garrison from Wheeler, O. M. Chittum, Jack Hughes and J. M. Strong of Wellington, W. L. Roach, Kirkland, and J. L. Gilmore, Turkey.

P. G. Johnson gets himself on our elite social list by ordering the Informer sent for one year to the Bill Johnsons at Santa Ana, Calif.

DISMISS CHARGES AGAINST ALEXANDER

Just before going to press with this issue of the paper, we learn that the extortion charges brought against County Judge Alexander some months ago were dismissed in the District Court at Clarendon this week, on motion of District Attorney Mahan.

MISSING
Several subscription dollars. If you have one of them, won't you kindly hand it to the Informer man. Thanks.

B. Morgan was in Saturday from his home a few miles north west of town. He informs us that the depression is over. Says he saw a rabbit a few days ago and nobody was after it.

Ritz Theatre
Memphis, Texas

Friday, Saturday, Nov. 11, 12
Jack Holt, Ralph Graves and Lila Lee, in a story set in the Jap Chinese War—full of action

The War Correspondent
Serial and Cartoon
10c to All

Monday, Tuesday, 14, 15
Jackie Cooper, in a story full of human interest, with plenty of comedy
Divorce in the Family
Comedy, Pappy Love Also Colorful Jaipur
10c and 15c

Wednesday, Thursday, 16, 17
The one and only Harold Lloyd in one great comedy, reported as his best picture yet
Movie Crazy
Paramount News and Two Reel Comedy
10c and 25c

MRS. HOMER GRIMSLEY SUFFERS PAINFUL BURNS

Mrs. Homer Grimsley suffered very painful burns Wednesday morning at her home in southwest Hedley. She was cleaning clothes with gasoline, the latter getting too close to the fire and becoming ignited.

The J. M. Everett family, her near neighbors, quickly came to the rescue, put out the fire, and called the doctor.

The belief is expressed that the burns are not deep enough to cause any permanent injury.

10, 25, 40 and 50 Watt Light Bulbs.
B. & B. Variety Store.

YOU TELL 'EM

They call it soft coal but it's still hard to get

IF IT'S HARDWARE OR FURNITURE

we have it. If there is anything you want that we haven't got, we'll get it for you. If you need anything in the way of tractor or implement service, call for Thompson Bros.

We Are Always Ready to Serve You.

The Phone number is 145

Thompson Bros.

Hardware -- Furniture

3359 BALES COTTON GINNED IN HEDLEY

Up to Wednesday morning of this week the four local gins had turned out 3359 bales of cotton, an increase of 452 bales during the past week—slightly better than 75 bales per day.

There is, as usual, a difference of opinion as to the probable percentage of the crop that has been harvested. The editor will not predict on this, but risks the assertion that the proceeds from the entire crop will not be much in excess of our needs.

CHOICE MILK COWS FOR SALE. Cash, or good bankable note.
M. L. Monroe

PEP LEADERS ELECTED
Hedley High pupils assembled Tuesday afternoon to elect pep leaders. Jessie Mildred Culwell was made captain; Martha Pirtille and Zillah Grigsby, assistants. In our first pep meeting there were twenty eight present. We are expecting a great year for the Hedley Owls.

JUNIOR PARTY
The Juniors were entertained with a party at the home of Jessie Mildred Culwell last Thursday evening, Nov. 8. A number of interesting games were played and enjoyed.

Sandwiches, pickles, cookies and hot chocolate were served to members of the Junior Class and Kenneth Bain, Ethel Bell, Ray Culwell, Paul Culwell, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Newman and Joe Bob, Mr. Maxwell, Miss Watson, sponsor, and Mr. Payne, assistant sponsor.

THE WIFADASOS CLUB
The Wifadasos Club met last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Maness, nine members being present. The house was called to order by the president, Mrs. Audill.

Miss Buttrill met with us and gave an interesting educational talk, after which officers were elected as follows:
Mrs. Cora Luttrell, President
Mrs. John Audill, Vice Pres
Mrs. Clark Latimer, Sec.
Mrs. John Koeninger, Treas.
Mrs. O. R. Culwell, Reporter.
Next meeting will be with Mrs. Culwell. Mrs. Latimer will demonstrate killing and dressing a chicken. Every lady in the town and community cordially invited to attend. The demonstrations will be a help to you.

Jodie Bell has our thanks for subscription renewal the paper to be mailed to him at Red Oak, Texas.

Miss Mabel Howell attended a Home Economics Convention in Amarillo recently.

Rev. A. V. Hendricks, Mrs. J. B. Masterson and Robert Watkins are in Amarillo, attending the Northwest Texas Annual Conference of the M. E. Church South. It is expected that the appointments will be announced Sunday night.

Hedley loses some more good people in the removal of Wallace Raney and family to Amarillo. We wish them lots of luck—and all of it good.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sanford of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanford of Pampa visited home folks in Hedley the past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Watt and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Glass of Ulises attended church services in Hedley Sunday.

EVERY DAY SPECIALS

Spuds, per Peck 20c

48 lb Security Flour, Guaranteed 75c

48 lb Royal Banquet Flour 98c

15 oz bottle Kurer's Ketchup 18c

White Swan Soda 4 Boxes 25c

25 lb Sack Salt 35c

Cabbage, 20 lb 28c

Big Ben Soap 7 bars 25c

Dry Salt Meat, lb 9c

Good Brooms 19c

LET US HAVE YOUR POULTRY, CREAM, EGGS, AND HIDES

Eads Produce Co.
PHONE 167 WE DELIVER

YOUNG PEOPLE'S S. S. CLASS

We missed a number of the young people of the Methodist Sunday School last Sunday. Be sure and come next Sunday and bring a new pupil.

There are also some new students enrolled in Hedley High School who are cordially invited to come.

Our lesson for next Sunday is "Making a Living." We are going to look for you, so be there at 9:45 Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Howard and Clinton Howard visited the Informer family a short while last Sunday, en route home from Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Allen were visitors here last Sunday, from Memphis.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. O. E. Johnson, Superintendent
Preaching at 11 a. m.
B. T. S. at 6:00 p. m.
Preaching at 7:00 p. m. by the pastor.

M. E. Wells, Pastor.
School Home for children, in medium and longie style.
B. & B. Variety Store

Jack Hunsucker, former Hedley boy now attending school at Hollis, Okla., was a visitor here the past week.

Mrs. Josie Adamson of Amarillo is visiting her children here for a few days.

Subscribe for The Informer.

AT HALF PRICE!

Amarillo Daily News & Sunday News-Globe

Regular Price $8.00

During Bargain Days, a full year for

Only $4.00

With the Informer, both one year for $4.50

See The Informer Man

J. W. VANCE

Specials

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Flour

Homa, 48 lb 75c

Yukon, 48 lb 95c

Meal, Cream, 20 lb 26c

Lard

Vegetol, 8 lb 59c

Spuds, peck 19c

Sugar, 25 lb $1.17

Sorghum, Best Grade East Texas, Gal 43c

Lye

12 cans 90c

Dry Salt Meat, Good Grade, lb 8c

Milk, small cans, 7 for 23c

Oats, 5 lb Gold Medal 19c

Steak

3 lbs for 25c

Roast, 3 lb 23c

Sausage, Pork, lb 10c

Chili, Block, lb 17c

Cheese, Cream, lb 18c