Parent-Teacher Ass'n. Methodist Homecoming

The Hedley Parent and Teacher Association began its year's work on Thursday evening, Sept. 13. The unusually large group of parents and teachers gathered in the auditorium for a business session and short program. The important business actions were: Mrs. W. C. Bridges, Mrs. C. L. Johnson and Miss Mary Lou Hawkins were appointed to draw up a new constitution and a set of by-laws. Every paid member is eligible to vote in the room representative contest, once if he has no children enrolled in school. The special committee was instructed to complete their plans, begun last year, for the wash basin in the grade school. Ted Dudley solved the difficulty of purchasing a second flag to be used in the room having the best representations of parents present by donating a flag as the gift of Texas Public Utility Company. The dollar will be given to the group also. The second grade won the dollar for September.

The program opened with an invocation given by Rev. I. E. Biggs. Mrs. Ray Moreman, the president, gave the welcome in which she charged the parents and teachers with their duties of rearing and training children who are to become citizens. Mrs. Lura E. Owen gave the response. Miss Wilhelmina Ciesek led the group in a sing song.

The last was the best, a real watermelon feast oficed watermelon, red or yellow, which Mrs. A. S. Martin had prepared with the aid and donations of other members.

The organization earnestly solicits every parent and interested patron to join its year's work for the benefit of our school boys and girls.

The next meeting will be Our Texas Birthday program with Mrs. Charles Rains as leader on Oct. 10, at 4 p. m. in the music room.

Gleaners Class

The Gleaner class met Sept. 13 in the home of Mrs. Keeninger with the leasing side as hostesses, and what a grand day we did have, a big dinner at the noon hour with 10 members present and Bro. Biggs and two children, John Charles Pyle and Merry Ruth Whitfield. The day was spent in pleasant talk and quilting. Bro. Biggs left, saying we wouldn't let him quilt so he would leave. We told him the dishes were yet to wash but he wouldn't listen.

The class elected new officers for the next year: Mrs. Kendall teacher; Mrs. Keeninger, pres.; Mrs. M. G. Whitfield, vice pres.; Mrs. D. Franklin, sec.; Mrs. D. K. Hall, treas.; Mrs. H. L. Whitfield, reporter.

We want to thank our president, Mrs. M. G. Whitfield, for good work in the class, and in a way we hate to give her up, but Mrs. Keeninger will make one just as good we are sure.

We will meet with Mrs. Biggs Sept. 27 at 2. Be sure to come, all of you.

Mr and Mrs. W. A. Chapman of Santa Ana, Calif., stopped in Hedley Monday en route to Ohil dress. The Chapmans moved to California from Hedley some 18 years ago. They state that they expect to be back through Hedley on Saturday, and hope to meet all their old friends here at that time.

Lee Davis and wife, Ben and Miss Jessie Davis visited in Amarillo Monday.

We endeavor to serve in a way that honors those whose work is done and helps those who yet have work to do.

Trick of Reclaiming The Discarded Chair

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS
THERE were two of those old bent-wood chairs — both with cane seats gone and a badly scarred varnish finish. "Get them out of my sight!" their owner said. "I can't stand the thought of wood bent and forced into unnatural curves." In the end she did get them out of sight and used them too. The trick was done with slip covers made, as shown here.

The one you see in the sketch became a side chair for the living room dressed in richly colored cretonne in soft red and blue-green tones with deep wine bindings. The legs of the chair were sandpapered and stained mahogany to tone in with the cover. The cane seat was inexpensively repaired with a ready made seat of plywood reshaped to fit by first cutting a paper pattern to fit the seat of the chair and then using the pattern as a guide as indicated here. Next week I will show you how the other one of these old chairs was used.

NOTE: As a service to our readers, 100 of these articles have been printed in five separate booklets. No. 5 contains 20 illustrations with directions; also a description of the other booklets. To get your copy of Book 5, send order to:

To Check Constipation Get at Its Cause!

If constipation has you down so you feel heavy, tired and dopey, it's time you did something about it. And something more than just taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble. If you eat the super-refined food most people eat, the chances are the difficulty is simple—you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean heavy food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines. If this common form of constipation is your trouble, eat Kellogg's All-Bran regularly, and drink plenty of water. All-Bran isn't a medicine—it's a crunchy, foasted cereal. And it will help you not only to get regular but to keep regular. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Roger Shaw

Nazis Send Air Armadas Over London On Biggest Bombing Raids in History; Michael Returns to Rumanian Throne; Critics Discuss Arms Sale to England

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

THE WAR: Over London

England, and more particularly London, felt the full fury of total aerial warfare as Nazi bombers swarmed over the English channel in what seemed like one never-ending bombing mission.

Some U. S. war correspondents (writing under British censorship) declared that the Germans had given up any attempt to aim at military objectives before dropping their tons of high explosives, but merely found their way over the city and dropped the bombs without regard for what they might strike below. Germany denied these charges, saying that their airmen were aiming at points of military advantage to England and if civilians were killed or hurt it was "not on purpose." Just how many persons were killed in these terrific raids could not accurately be determined.

One thing was sure however. Germany had worked out a definite plan of bombing attack. First, planes carrying incendiary bombs circled over the city dropping their loads to start fires which served as flares to light the target of those to follow. Defending planes of the royal air force and anti-aircraft fire at first held the invaders away from the interior of the city. But the continuous attacks, coupled with such a large numerical advantage in German planes and pilots made it impossible for the British to keep the enemy from doing a great deal of real damage.

Magda

King Carol and his red-headed sweetheart, Magda Wolff-Lupescu, fled away from their ex-Romania. Carol's 18-year-old son, Michael, inherited the Rumanian throne. Michael has been king before—from 1927 to 1930, when Carol was in exile. In 1930, Carol came back from his Paris hideaway, and ousted his little son by an army coup. Now, the army had kicked Carol out, and brought back the boy again. Michael had pretty well grown up, since his first infantile venture in the kingship.

Gen. John Antonescu, a really tough general, assumed an Iron Guard dictatorship: in other words, a Rumanian Nazi dictatorship. John is violently anti-Russian, and a big red-baiter from way back. He wanted to fight Russia, when Stalin grabbed Rumanian Bessarabia and the Bukovina. But Carol shut him up in a monastery, where he frightened the monks' half to death by his man-eating ways. He is, roughly, the same type as the Italian general, so-tough Rudi Graziani, who took Italo Balbo's place as governor of Italo-North Africa.

Losing Ways

Rumania was losing territory all along the line. The Russians had taken Bessarabia and the Bukovina. The Hungarians had northern Transylvania, after some rough-housing. The little Bulgarians took southern Dobruja, which they were eminently entitled to, as Churchill, Hitler and Stalin all admitted, for once in agreement. The red-baiters and Fascists in Rumania were willing to yield land to Hungary, but wanted to fight Russia. The pinks and leftists in Rumania were willing to yield land to Russia, but wanted to fight Hungary.

CHOICE: Philosophy

When it came to a choice between Stalin and Hitler—and it looked as if many Americans might be faced with a choice before very long—some conservative Americans preferred Hitler, while many liberal Americans preferred Stalin. All commentators were coming to realize that the Russo-German pact of August, 1939, was basically unsound, politically, economically, and ideologically.

LINES: U. S. A.

The late M. Maginot built himself a line. It was of steel and concrete. Now, we have a so-called Roosevelt line in the East, and will doubtless get a so-called Knox line in the West. Secretary Knox was said to be a special proponent of the western setup.

The Roosevelt line ran from Labrador to Brazil. It took in Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Cuba, Puerto Rico, Jamaica, some little islands, Trinidad, and British Guiana. It was to consist of naval and aerial bases par excellence. The Knox line, if any, was to start with the islands off Alaska, then Hawaii, then the Galapagos and Cocoa island, north and south of the Panama canal. One group belonged to Costa Rica, the other to Ecuador, two of the so-called Latin American republics. The Costa Ricans offered to play ball.

SECRETARY KNOX
"Would he get a 'line in the West'?"

In the last war, the Germans had the Hindenburg line. Then came the ill-fated Maginot line. It was faced by the German Siegfried line. Italy has a Lictor line. Finland had a Mannerheim line. Rumania possessed a Carol line. England still holds the 20-mile Channel line. The Czechs once boasted a Sudeten line. Some of them worked, and some of them didn't. The Roosevelt-Knox lines looked almost airtight, and some military critics said that lessened the need for peace-time Yankee conscriptioning. Others said: No.

MORE & MORE:

Without End

Oliver Twist asked for "more." So did extreme anglophiles, and sentimental Tories. We gave England the 50 destroyers, with part of the American people protesting vigorously. That was not enough. The anglophiles just mentioned, demanded "more" in stentorian tones. These people wanted to give Mr. Churchill:

1. At least 20 motor torpedo-boats, for channel work.
2. A large number (half) of our crack flying fortresses, to bomb East Prussia and Poland.
3. A large number of seaplanes, for submarine spotting, etc.
4. All our tanks, for use in the Mediterranean region.

Peculiar?

It was announced that we had already given the British 80,000 machine guns, 500,000 rifles, and 750 field guns, with "huge stocks of ammunition." One out of every four armed Britishers, said the same source, is carrying an American weapon of some sort. Some people felt those 50 over-age destroyers were merely meant for a legal or illegal precedent, to break the ice, and enmesh Uncle Sam still deeper in the European mess. As for the British islands, said these critics, America could have had them free, by holding up airplane shipments, and waving the banner of the still unpaid war debt, from World war No. 1.

NAMES
... in the news

John Cripps is the son of Sir Stafford Cripps, England's radical ambassador to Russia. Son John is a conscientious objector, who thinks the war is totally un-Christian. The British draft board sentenced young Cripps to work in the garden, two days per week.

The U. S. navy was considering the purchase of H. Edward Manville's private yacht, the Hi-Esmarck. It is a 267-foot affair, worth a million and a quarter, in anybody's good mazuma. It has an excellent steel hull, and could be used for a naval training ship. It was launched in 1929, the year of the depression. J. P. Morgan, of Morgan's, turned over his super-yacht to the British navy some time back, it seems.

Ex-King Carol of Rumania was shrinking with his ex-kingdom. Carol was pudgy and fatish. But he lost 33 pounds in hardly any time at all.

Heads Lawyers

PRO-CONSCRIPT: Anti-Conscript

Some 1,500 anti-conscript youths planned to sit on the Capitol steps, at Washington, all night—for a "spell of devotion."

The Washingtonian police nabbed the bunch, with a hoot and a holler. The Rev. Owen Knox of Detroit, chairman of the civil rights federation, was taken off to the Capitol police housery. So was a rabbi. At least 10 of the peaceful demonstrators were likewise nabbed by the bluecoats, and hauled away from the Capitol grounds.

Previously, Senator Pepper of Florida had proved an excellent, good sport, when he was hanged and heckled by a mob of female draft objectors, who swooped down on the Washingtonian scene. Poor rustic Pepper is not everybody's pet, but he is to be congratulated for his American laughability, in the face of female petticoats, embattled. The Pepper hanging, please note, was only in effigy. The ladies were in the flesh.

JIMMIE: Walker

Jimmie Walker was New York's best-dressed and most likeable citizen. He always looked as if he were sweet 16. He had a marvelous personality—much better than that of the slightly rancid Al Smith. Jimmie was mayor of the modern Babylon, and thoroughly enjoyed the post, as he enjoyed everything else. But he resigned, under fire, in 1932, and went to France for a while. He was just as popular after he resigned, under fire, as he was when he was elected. That was his personality, again.

Mayor LaGuardia is a very different type: brusque, anti-suave, not a sport, but a positive reformer. Just the same, LaGuardia has always had a weak spot for Jimmie Walker, like everybody else. Jimmie was startled and overjoyed when LaGuardia appointed him to a good, $20,000-per-year job. This was boss—impartial chairman-of the cloak and suit industry. LaGuardia said he had decided the matter, mentally, when he was 7,000 feet up in the air—aviating from Washington to New York. Did Mr. Roosevelt have a hand in it, as part of the 1940 campaign racket, wondered the rail-birds? Anyway, everybody was pleased.

COURTESY: Refreshing

A young German pilot was shot down by a British Spitfire, over England. They put him in a prisoner's train, en route for the hoosegow. When the train stopped at a siding, an English lady was collecting volunteer funds for more Spitfires. As a joke, she pushed her collection box in to the young German flyer. With a courteous gesture, the Goering flying-circus man smiled, and contributed the German equivalent of $2.

The same day, another German aviator was shot down over England. The British victor, so the yarn goes, flew low, circled lower, and tossed him a package of cigarettes. The German waved his thanks. The age of chivalry is not dead. To make this statement letter-perfect, it might be remembered that in the true age of chivalry, the knights were very chivalrous to each other, but were pretty hard on women, children, and commoners.

The Spitfire collection fund, mentioned above, is called the "David and Goliath" fund. On account of this name, every Briton named David, Davies, or Davidson has been asked to contribute to it, in order to promote the "heroic onslaught against the Philistine of Nazism."

RUSSIA: Its Entry

More and more people were counting on Russia entering the war against Hitler. They were leaning on it heavily in England, and would tell you so. The Chamberlain big-business faction was against this alliance, but the Churchill militarist-plus-British Labor (the present cabinet set-up) had no such scruples. Meanwhile, Russia called up more and more men, and Germany sent 1 1/2 of her 3 million soldiers "east."

AROUND the HOUSE Items of Interest to the Housewife

A teaspoon of salt and dessert-spoon of lemon juice answer the same purpose as "salts of Lemon" for removing iron mold from linen. It is not a poison and will not prove injurious to the linen.

It is a good plan to disinfect sinks and other drains once each week.

Potatoes that are to be French fried should stand in cold water at least an hour before cooking.

Dogs having access to the house should be kept thoroughly clean and free from fleas. Serious damage may be done if fleas enter rugs or upholstered furniture.

Helpful Economy.—Why not plan to have fresh and stewed fruits for dinner when the family is dining alone? If these are substituted for rich pastries and puddings, you will note an improvement in your digestion as well as your pocketbook.

A very interesting trip to the coast was taken by Miss Bergner. Among the places of interest she saw were the Grand Coulee Dam, Boulder Dam, the Grand Canyon, the redwood forest at Olney, the Yellowstone Park and the redwood forest. She also attended the San Francisco World's Fair.

Mrs. Owen spent the summer in Columbia, Mo., and took a light course in the University of Missouri.

Misses Hawkins, Bishop and Oleck attended W.T.S.O. at Canyon during the summer months.

Coch. Gregg and Mr. Bullard worked for the government this summer in the County Agent's office.

"Up On Their Toes"

You have all heard the saying "It takes seniors to do things." The seniors are certainly up on their toes doing things already. You don't believe it? We were the first to get our sponsor and class officers. We chose the ones which we thought could fill the offices best. I imagine you can guess who we have chosen for our sponsor. It is Mrs. Owen. Our class officers are: V. A. Hansard, president; Billy Johnson, vice president; Billy Biff, secretary and treasurer; and Josie Plunk, reporter. We all agreed on the room mother we wanted and dispatched a committee to see if Mrs. C. L. Johnson would accept the position. She said she would do her best. We hope that this will be our best and happiest year in school.

WENDELL WILLKIE PRACTICAL FARMER

Republican Nominee for President Raises Hogs and Feeder Steers in Indiana.

By WHEELER McMILLEN
Editor-in-Chief, Farm Journal and Farmer's Wife

During the past two months, national interest has focused on five farms lying in a three-mile semi-circle just south of Rushville, Indiana, typical of thousands of cornbelt farms. Living on and working them are five shrewd Indiana farmers, German and Scotch-Irish extraction. They were purchased, individually, by Wendell Willkie, but only after careful inspection by Mr. Willkie and analysis of the soils by agricultural scientists.

The farms were purchased by Mr. Willkie with his savings long before he had any notion of entering national politics. They are operated on a self-maintenance pattern with hogs and feeder steers as the principal sources of revenue. Mr. Willkie and the five tenant-managers share profits on a 50-50 basis. Each farm has made a profit since Mr. Willkie took it over.

The names of the tenants who share partnership with Mr. Willkie are Joseph Kramer, Jesse Bell, Louis Berkemeier, Charles Brown and Harold Moore. All of the farms are signed up with AAA. Miss Mary Sleeth, of Rushville, an old friend of Mrs. Willkie, acts as a sort of local overseer for the farms. She also looks after one of her own.

No Show Places Here

None of the farms is a show place or "fancy" in any respect. Soon after purchasing each place, Mr. Willkie directed that the houses be put in good repair and well painted. Kitchens were modernized and electricity brought in from the local REA lines. The barns and other business buildings were put in order. Each farm has its own vegetable garden, chicken yard and fruit orchard.

Typical of the Willkie system of farming is the Louis Berkemeier place, 393 acres of woodlot and pasture running along Mud Creek, and purchased by the candidate in 1934. This summer it grew 10 acres of barley, 85 acres of corn and 60 acres of wheat to support its 80 Herefords and 200 hogs.

Farmers' Welfare First

The Kramer place, a mile and a half up the road from the Berkemeier's, has a flock of 50 sheep. They are not only a source of cash income. They free Joe Kramer from the task of keeping fence lines cleaned, and furnish Christine Kramer with a source of material for the blankets and carpets she has woven during the past three years.

Wendell Willkie's idea seems to be that the farmer who makes the best living as well as the surest profit is the farmer with a low overhead. By this, he does not believe that wages should be peeled to 1800 levels nor that farmers should starve their families and themselves in order to build up a bank account. To the contrary, he insists that the operator's own bodily welfare come before other considerations. The homes, vegetable gardens, fruit trees and chicken yards on each Willkie farm are proof to that end.

He does vigorously oppose the farm practice of selling on a wholesale market and buying extensively on a retail market, especially when it comes to the matter of materials that can be grown at home. That belief shakes down to the rule that lies behind the success of the five farms:—a balanced ratio of live-stock and home-grown feed.

The whole plan for operation of the farms seems to be characteristic of their owner. Generous consideration for the fact that his associates in their management are entitled to live well was one of his first thoughts. He laid down the basic principles of operation—selecting those that successful farmers had found to be profitable—and then trusted the men he had selected to carry the program out day by day.

Encourages 4-H Clubs

Not the least of Mr. Willkie's interests as he goes around the farms on his frequent visits are the children of his farm partners. He encourages them to have animals of their own and is a hearty supporter of 4-H club activities.

"Faith in farm land as a sound business investment," according to Miss Sleeth, is apparently the real reason Wendell Willkie invested his savings in Indiana farms; that, and a desire to keep his roots in the soil. Mr. Willkie also wanted his son, Philip, a Princeton student, to have the experience of actual farm work.

"Mr. Willkie," explains Louis Berkemeier, "says we can have just as many steers and hogs as we please so long as we grow enough stuff right here on the place to feed them the year 'round. He says that's the way to make money in farming . . . grow as much stuff as the land will stand without running away and then sell what you can't use yourself. Well, sir, you know that was right down our road. That's never been known to fail as long as a man takes proper care of his land. That's why we've made a profit out here for the last six years."

THOSE little red school-houses at the cross roads—if there are any left—will soon be able to give concerts by some of the greatest musicians in the world, and their pupils will be able to see the musicians as well as hear them.

Rudolph Polk, vice president of Columbia Broadcasting System's artists bureau, recently announced the formation of Artists' Films, Inc., which will make 21 musical short subjects, and issue these one-reelers in groups of three, as concerts.

Contracts have been signed with Albert Spaulding, Jose Iturbi (that favorite guest of the Bing Crosby broadcasts), Mildred Dilling, the distinguished harpist, and several others. Commitments have also been made with several Metropolitan Opera singers, including Helen Jepson, Gladys Swarthout, Richard Bonelli and Frederick Jaegel, and at the moment efforts are being made to sign Lily Pons, Nino Martini, Mischa Elman, Josef Hofmann and Efreim Zimbalist. The first group is scheduled for release October 1.

The time has come when Frankie Burke wishes that he didn't look like James Cagney. The resemblance got him into movies a couple of seasons ago, when he played Cagney as a boy of 12 in Warner Brothers' "Angels With Dirty Faces." He went on from there, doing the same kind of role for other studios.

Now, as Wayne Morris' roommate in Paramount's "Quarterback," he's persuaded the director to let him forgo the Cagney mannerisms; he wants to get parts because he can play them well.

Loretta Young is convinced that Mexican fans' appreciation of movie stars is more embarrassing than flattering. When she slipped into a theater to see her Columbia comedy "He Stayed for Breakfast," the film was stopped and the lights went on, so that the audience could see her in person. And she was wearing the old clothes in which she'd gone fishing.

Even if the names of directors of pictures don't mean a thing to you, you'd better make a note of one—Preston Sturges. He's no newcomer—a playwright, the author of "Strictly Dishonorable" among other hits, he's written plenty of movie dramas and had experience as a director.

His name should be remembered because he wrote and directed "Down Went McGinty," one of the funniest and best pictures that has been launched in some time. He didn't want any big stars or glamour players; Brian Donlevy, Akim Tamiroff, Frank McHugh and Muriel Angelus suited him fine. He just wanted to write and direct a comedy. He followed it with another, "The New Yorkers," a satire on advertising, and he's scheduled for plenty more.

Ronald Reagan and his wife, Jane Wyman, played a love scene for "Tugboat Annie Sails Again," and then worried about whether or not it was effective.

"When we kissed in that scene just now," Reagan said to Director Lew Seiler, "I was thinking about how hungry I was and what we'd have for dinner. Janie told me she was thinking about the same thing. In the love scenes we made before we were married, we'd kiss and forget to eat."

Seiler grinned. "You did better this time, thinking about food, than you did before, when you forgot to eat because you were making love," he replied.

ODDS AND ENDS

Q. Rochelle Hudson picked up such a tan during two months in Hawaii that she'll have to be bleached before she can play a pale miss of Manhattan in "Girls Under 21."

Q. Evidently "Before I Die" was too grisly a title for the new Douglas Fairbanks Jr.-Rita Hayworth drama; it's been renamed "Angels Over Broadway."

Q. Marjorie Rambeau has proved to be so able a successor to the late Marie Dressler in the character of "Tugboat Annie" that the series will go right on; "Tugboat Annie in Drydock" will be the next one to be made.

King Coal—Decorator

Have you ever thought that the brightest and gayest colors come from something that hasn't any color at all? Most modern colors come from coal, which is black. And black isn't a color. It's absence of color. Those decorations at the cinema, that lovely green in your friend's frock, or the brilliant red of the powder box—you can thank King Coal for them all.

Colors are originally dry "pigments" which can be mixed with almost anything. With water, or rubber, or cork grains to make linoleum. Once, on mixing a certain color with rubber to make their tires look attractive, the makers found that in addition it increased the wearing capacity of the tire from 5,000 to 20,000 miles.

AS YOU see from the little diagram, this pinafore apron consists of merely three pieces, that practically put themselves together. What could be simpler and quicker to make? And 8755 is such a practical, satisfying household help, too. It protects the whole of your dress, top and skirt,
