ROOSEVELT MAKES TWO SPEECHES AT JAMESTOWN

THE COTTON LEAK CASES.

Special Agent White Tells How the Reports Were Compiled.

By Associated Press.
Washington, D. C., June 10.—In the cotton leak case today, Bartholomew
C. White, special cotton crop agent for the Department of Agriculture identified a number of reports made by him in 1903, 1904 and 1905. In some of these he said there had been changes in figures which were made without his authority. The reports were sometimes mailed to the office and at others handed in to either Mr. Hyde, then chief statistician, or to Mr. Holmes. He had frequently been present in the sta-tistician's office when the final report was being prepared, and said when Hyde and Holmes were both present the two had worked on the report, but when one was absent the other did work alone. He knew that Hyde was in the habit of giving special credit to the report of special agents and state agents in preparing the final figures, and also knew that Holmes followed the same plan.

SOLDIERS PATROL THE TOWN.

Saloon Keeper Fires Upon Squad and Threats are Made to Burn
His Place.

By Associated Press.
Parker, Colo., June 11.—Fearing that an attempt will be made to burn the saloon of L. F. Lambert, which would probably result in the destruction of the entire town, Parker is under guard night and day by a squad of soldiers from Fort Logan, who are patrolling the main streets and the outskirts. The townpeople are in a state of terror. Lambert short changed a soldier Friday night, it is claimed,
and when the latter protested, emptied his revolver into the squad of twenty, injuring two so badly that their lives are despaired of. He escaped after the shooting and friends of the townsmen vowed they would get vengeance by burning the building.
Intense feeling prevails against Lambert, who has not been captured.

HIS STRENUOUS DAY

COVERS THE ENTIRE EXPOSITION
GROUNDS, SPEECHES AND NA-VAL AND MILITARY RE-VIEW.

MAGNIFICENT PAGEANT

Seamen of Many Nations and Bright
Colored Flags Make Striking Picture.

By Associated Press.
Norfolk, Va., June 11.—Brought back to the Jamestown Exposition by the formal opening of Bulloch Hall, the ancestral home of his mother at Roswell, Ga., and reproduced here as the Georgia state building, President Roosevelt is today for the second time
the central figure of the exposition.

Outside of the features arranged in connection with the celebration of Georgia Day, a military and naval spectacle not greatly dissimilar from that which marked the visit of the president when the exposition was thrown open April 26th, is an attractive feature. He will be the guest of the Exposition for about nine hours, arriving with a special party including Mrs. Roosevelt. After receiving the Georgia officials on board, and with them as guests reviewing the fleets assembled in Hampton Roads, he landed at the exposition grounds at 11 o'clock. He made a speech as part of the Georgia Day celebration in the forenoon and made another at the convention of the National Editorial Association in the auditorium. This afternoon he reviewed a parade of the military and naval forces, visited the negro exhibit, participated in the presentation of the silver service by the State of Georgia to the battleship named for her, attended the reception given at the Georgia building by Georgians alone in honor of himself and Mrs. Roosevelt and visited informally the New York State building. He departs for Washington about 5 o'clock.
Every part of the exposition grounds except the "War path" has been covered by the President on this strenuous day. The distinguished party that reviewed the assembled war vessels from the Mayflower immediately on the arrival of that vessel was landed from the Dolphin. The President reviewed the fleets of seven nations, six in addition to the United States. The sea fighters in gala attire when the flags of the different countries represented, making a striking picture. As the Mayflower steamed down the long column of vessels each in turn greeted the President who occupied the bridge of his trim yacht with a salute of 21 guns.

A great throng within the grounds stretched from the water front to the auditorium and on the outside a crowd of far greater proportions assembled to see the parade in front of the reviewing stand. Thousands of voices swelled the cheering, which begun soon after the president stepped on land and continued until the program opened.

On the reviewing stand with the president and party were Cardinal
Gibbons, General Stephen D. Lee, com-

ADDRESSES EDITORS

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT SPEAKS BEFORE MOULDERS OF PUBLIC OPINION.

AN INHERITANCE TAX

Is Urged as a Method of Relief From Swollen Fortunes.

Jamestown Va., June 11.—President Roosevelt delivered an address before the National Editorial Association at Jamestown today.

In the address the president took occasion to urge the importance of the extension of forestry reservations and told the editors of the work being done by the Government Reclamation Service.

He then took up the discussion of inheritance and income taxes. He said:

"Most great civilized countries have an income tax and an inheritance tax. In my judgment both should be a part of our system of Federal taxation. I speak diffidently about the income tax because one scheme for an income tax was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court by a five to four vote; and in addition it is a difficult tax to administer in its practical workings, and great care would have to be exercised to see that it was not evaded by the very man whom it is most desirable to have taxed, for if so evaded it would of course be worse than no tax at all, as the least desirable of all taxes is the tax which bears heavily upon the honest as compared with the dishonest man. Nevertheless, a graduated income tax of the proper type would be a desirable permanent feature of Federal taxation, and I still hope that one may be devised which the Supreme Court will declare constitutional.

"In my judgment, however, the inheritance tax is both a far better method of taxation, and far more important for the purpose I have in view—the purpose of having the swollen fortunes of the country bear in proportion to their size a constantly increasing burden of taxation. These fortunes exist solely because of the protection given the owners by the public. They are a constant source of care and anxiety to the public and it is eminently just that they should be forced to pay heavily for the protection given them. It is, of course, elementary that the nation has the absolute right to decide as to the terms upon which any man shall receive a bequest or devise from another. We have repeatedly placed such laws on our statute books, and they have repeatedly been declared constitutional by the courts. I believe that the tax should contain the progressive principle. Whatever any individual receives, whether by gift, bequest, or devise, in life or in death, should, after a certain amount is reached, be increasingly burdened; and the rate of taxation should be increased in proportion to the remoteness of blood of the man receiving from the man giving or devising. The principle of this progressive taxation of inheritances has not only been authoritatively recognized by the legislation of Congress, but is now unequivocally adopted in the leading civilized nations of the world—in, for instance, Great Britain, France and Germany. Switzerland led off with the imposition of high, progressive rates. Great Britain was the first of the great nations to follow suit, and within the last few years both France and Germany have adopted the principle. In Great Britain all estates worth five thousand dollars or less are practically exempt from death duties, while the increase is such that when an estate exceeds five millions of dollars in value and passes to a distant kinsman or stranger in blood the Government receives nearly eighteen per cent. In France, under the progressive system, so much of an inheritance as exceeds ten millions of dollars pays over twenty per cent to the State. If it passes to a distant relative, and five per cent if it passes to a direct heir. In Germany very small inheritances are exempt, but the tax is so sharply progressive that an inheritance not in agricultural or forest lands which exceeds two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, if it goes to distant relatives, is taxed at the rate of about twenty-five per cent. The German law is of special interest, because it makes the inheritance tax an imperial measure, while allotting to the individual States of the Empire a portion of the proceeds and permitting them to impose taxes in addition to those imposed by the Imperial Government. In the United States the National Government has more than once imposed inheritance taxes in addition to those imposed by the States, and in the last instance about one-half of the States levied such taxes concurrently with the National Government, making a combined maximum rate, in some cases as high as twenty-five per cent; and, as a matter of fact, several States adopted inheritance tax laws for the first time while the national law was still in force and unrevoked. The French law has one feature which is to be heartily commended: The progressive principle is so applied that each higher rate is imposed only on the excess about the amount subject to the next lower rate. This plan is peculiarly adapted to the working-out of the theory of using the inheritance tax for the purpose of limiting the size of inheritable fortunes, hence the progressive increase in the rates, according to this mode, may be carried to its logical conclusion in a maximum rate of nearly one hundred per cent for the amount in excess of a specified sum, without being confiscatory as to the rest of the inheritance; for each increase in rate would apply only to the amount above a certain maximum. I do not believe that any advantage comes to either country as a whole or to the individuals inheriting the money by permitting the transmission in their entirety of such enormous fortunes as have been accumulated in America. The tax could be made to bear more heavily upon persons residing out of the country than upon those residing within it. Such a heavy progressive tax is of course in no shape or way a tax on thrift or industry, for thrift and industry have ceased to possess any measurable importance in the acquisition of the swollen fortunes of which I speak long before the tax would in any way seriously affect them. Such tax would be, one of the methods by which we should try to preserve a measurable equality of opportunity for the people of the generation growing to manhood. As Lincoln pointed out, there are some respects in which men are obviously not equal; but there is no reason why there should not be an equality of self respect and of mutual respect, and equality of rights before the law, and at least an approximate equality in the conditions under which each man obtains the chance to show the stuff that is in him when compared with his fellows.

PRESBYTERIAN MEETING.

Amarillo Presbytery Convenes in This City Tomorrow Evening.

The Amarillo Presbytery will convene in this city tomorrow evening, June 11th, in the First Presbyterian church of this city. The meeting will bring together quite a number of Christian workers, representing more than thirty congregations and twenty ministers who are active in planting and nurturing churches throughout the Northwest section of Texas.

The Presbytery will consist of about forty delegates, who will be the guests of the members of the congregation of the Presbyterian church in this city, homes having been already secured for all who may attend these meetings. The Presbytery will be opened with a sermon by one of the visiting ministers at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, at the conclusion of which the meeting will be organized and moderator elected. This will be the first meeting of the united Presbyteries and promises, therefore, to be of unusual interest. The adjustment of committees, and arranging for additional ministers to supply the many new congregations that are being organized within this section, will be important features of this meeting of the Presbytery. The Rev. J. R. McMullin, recently of Gadsden, Alabama, but who is now on the field, will be located with the Quanah church, and Rev. Mr. Abner of Holly Springs, Miss., will accept a call to the Plainview congregation. Rev. J. Carr Arnett of La Plata, Mo., will likely be extended a call to the work at Dalhart. There are other important stations vacant and an effort will be made to secure ministers for them at this meeting. The rapid growth of all of West Texas makes it quite difficult to supply the demands of these inviting fields.

The Home Mission Board expended last year $1,000,000 in home mission work, and it is the purpose to raise $1,100,000 this year, out of which it will spend $100,000 for work in Texas. This appropriation is to be for both evangelistic and missionary work, the western part of the State sharing largely in this amount.

Next to Noble's store you will find King & White with a new, clean stock of groceries. Let us serve you. Courteous treatment, prompt service. Phone 261. 20-71

Prospects in Archer County.

While the rains, storms and hails are doing great damage in other parts of the State, Archer county is in a most prosperous condition. Crops are looking fine, and judging from their appearance at present, there will be an enormous yield. Last year's crop of cotton was good, but from present indications, this year's crop will beat it, both in acreage and cotton to the acre. Prospectors seldom go through here without being struck with the beauty, fertility and cheapness of our farms.—Archer City Dispatch.

Wichita Falls, Texas, June 11th, 1907.

In the trial of Haywood, Pettibone and Moyer now under way at Boise, Idaho, the testimony of Harry Orchard, the assassin and informer, if true, shows to what extent that particular labor organization has gone to carry its point. The public, however, should withhold its judgment for awhile. As yet, only a part of one side of the testimony in the case has been recorded. The defendants may be in a position to disprove by competent evidence every word of the testimony so far given in by Orchard, and in that event they should and doubtless will be acquitted of the awful crime for which they are being tried. Unless they can do this, however, it is very evident that there is a crying demand for the use of several strings of hemp in that immediate vicinity. It has already been established beyond the question of doubt, that Orchard is a criminal of the worst type and the mere fact that he has turned State's evidence and incriminated others along with him should not be the means of allowing him to escape the severest penalty that can be inflicted by the law.

Chief Maddox of the Fort Worth police announces that idlers will be given no quarters in that city. The farmers are begging for laborers and they must go either to the farms or to the rock pile. Let every town and city in the state follow Fort Worth's example and shove the vagrants out to work.—Abilene Reporter.

By all means put the vags to work. Let them follow the example of Judge Moss, of Memphis, Tenn. Some years ago when he made the police put out dogs, and in sixty days put 3,000 idle negroes to work in Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi cotton farms, giving them the alternative of doing that or pounding rocks for twelve months on the levees.—Birmingham Herald.

On the size and enthusiasm of the mass meeting of citizens to be held at the court house tomorrow night depends largely Wichita Falls' prospects for securing the large cotton factory. It is an opportunity for securing a very enterprise that, if turned down, probably not present itself soon again. Therefore let every good citizen be on hand on that occasion. Even if you do not subscribe for stock, your presence will lend encouragement.

A word to you, sonny—you 12 or 13-year old boy who is smoking cigarettes on the sly. What do you want to be when you grow up—a stalwart, healthy, vigorous, broad-shouldered man or a little, puny, measly no-count weakling dude? If you want to be a man with muscles on your limbs and brains in your head you want to let cigarettes alone.—Ex.

TWO FACTORY PROPOSITIONS.

Two Separate Propositions for Woven Wire Fence Mills.

Two men with separate propositions for the establishment of mills or factories for the manufacture of woven wire fences, arrived in Wichita Falls today, each without having knowledge that the other was to be here.

The men are Dr. Howard of Louisville, Ky., and T. E. Blewett of Denton, Texas.

Mr. Howard wants to organize a stock company to build a machine foundry and woven wire fence mill. He proposes to take stock in the concern himself and apparently his proposition is a good one.

Mr. Blewett is the owner of a new patent for woven wire fences. He also proposes to organize a stock company and establish a factory here for the manufacture of his fence.

Both gentlemen will lay their propositions before the Chamber of Commerce and will try to interest local capital in the organization of stock companies.

In the near future there is going to be a great demand for these products in Texas and the few factories of the kind already established cannot now supply more than a small part of the demand. That these two gentlemen should seek to put in factories here is another indication that the commercial and industrial advantages of Wichita Falls are becoming known abroad.

The greatest wire fence manufacturing center in the world today is Adrian, Michigan, which has no less than fifteen great plants for the manufacture of this product.

All of these factories began in a small way with a small capital. They are now mammoth concerns, but yet are unable to supply the demands for their products.

The Times predicts that the first Texas city to establish such factories will enjoy a like prosperity. If either or both of these gentlemen have good propositions to offer, they should be encouraged to establish factories here.

WILL BRING SUIT.

Woman Highly Indignant at Letter Forbidding Her Trespass at West Point.

By Associated Press.
New York, June 11.—The statement of Mrs. Ayres, wife of Lieutenant Colonel Charles G. Ayres, U. S. A., in which she spoke of secretary of war's letter to her husband, forbidding her to trespass upon the reservation in West Point as "insulting and despicable. I cannot repeat it or show it" and which she says she has placed in the hands of her lawyers is considered an intimation at West Point, according to dispatches received today, that she intended to include Secretary Taft in the suit for damages she announced she would bring. While Mrs. Ayres refused to explain further what in the order prevented her from seeing her son, Fairfax Ayres, who is a cadet at the academy, it is stated at West Point that Secretary Taft approved the recommendation of Colonel Mills and Colonel Scott in their reports to the department on Colonel Howe's complaint against Mrs. Ayres, which is the basis of her suit. The Secretary, instead of ordering Colonel Ayres to remove his wife from the post, instructed him to prevent her from trespassing upon the West Point reservation so long as her son was in the academy. "If young Ayres be severely ill," the Secretary adds, "she can be notified and a permit for her to see him will be issued either by the Secretary or by Adjutant General Alsworth."

Sunday Closing Law Was Rigorously Enforced Yesterday.

Following the session of the grand jury last week the Sunday closing law was rigorously enforced in Wichita Falls yesterday.

Even such drinks as lemonade and cocoa cola were under the ban and the purchase of a cigar or a cut of chewing tobacco was out of the question.

The only articles that could be purchased yesterday were ice cream, ice and other perishable products of a like nature, daily newspapers and periodicals.

Notice of the proposed enforcement of Sunday closing was given the merchants and shop keepers by the officers Saturday night and Sunday a close watch was kept to see that the law was not violated.

It is reported that several violations were discovered during the day and several parties have been summoned to appear in court as a result.

It is given out also that a crusade is to be inaugurated against the women of easy virtue and that the town is to be rid of houses of ill fame and the class of idle males of both colors who hang around such places and derive their existence from the unfortunate women are to be given the skidoo sign.

SUNDAY AT THE M. E. CHURCH.

Two Splendid Sermons and a Large Offering.

After the regular Sunday school work had been finished an offering was made by classes for the foreign mission work. There was a brief caucus, after which each class announced the amount it pledged to give. Rivalry between a class of boys and a class of girls of the same ages caused the amount of their pledge to be raised, first one and then the other, until in the final wind-up the boys pledged $18 and the girls $20. As a whole the school pledged $105 for missions. The first Sunday in each month the collections taken will be credited on this mission pledge. This school now stands third among the schools of the North Texas Conference in the amount pledged for missions.

At the regular hour Rev. Barton preached upon the compassion of Christ for the multitude, taking for his text Mark viii:1-2: "Jesus called his disciples unto Him and said, I have compassion on the multitude." He said the word compassion carried with it a meaning of being so thoroughly in sympathy with a person that we suffer with them and make their sorrows our sorrows. His sermon had underneath its surface and skillfully interwoven with it a mission tone. He made the point that the compassion Christ had we should have in a great degree. We should have compassion on those in foreign lands who have never heard and are dying without the gospel.

In this connection he said he was glad to announce that the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society had sent two ladies to the foreign field recently and had elected two others to the Scarritt bible training school, where they will be trained for work in the foreign field. One of these last goes from this city and is a member of the church here. Miss Helen Hickman, who taught in our public schools this year, will attend the training school for two years and then go to the foreign fields. Miss Hickman has an innumerable host of friends in this city and in this country as well who will regret to lose her from the school and city, but we are proud to know that to her already noble Christian character she has added a complete sacrifice of personal interests and flattering prospects and will cheerfully take up the work to which God has called her.

An earnest appeal was made for the support of the work of the Mission Board and a collection was taken for that purpose. The congregation paid in cash and subscriptions $155. This, together with the pledges of the Sunday school classes, made a total of $260. It should be borne in mind that this is extra over and above the regular mission assessment of the church.

At 3:30 in the afternoon Rev. Barton preached to the men on "Choosing a Great Chieftain." His text was the words spoken by Joshua to Israel: "And if it seem evil unto you to serve the Lord, serve—, but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

He illustrated the benefits of a choice for God by the magnetic lives of old men such as Gladstone and others of that type. Contrasted to that he called to remembrance the contemptible old man who had always lived in sin and disrepute. The men were thoroughly stirred and at the suggestion of Rev. Barton a move was inaugurated to organize a men's gospel meeting, a report of which will be found elsewhere in today's paper.

At the night service the church was crowded to its utmost capacity. Rev. Barton preached an excellent sermon from "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. Several persons gave their names for church membership. On account of the crowded and uncomfortable condition of the house, they were not formally received. That matter will be attended to tonight.

A collection for the singer, Mr. Ramsey, was taken, which together with the one taken at the men's services, amounted to $134.40. A grand total of $394.40 was raised for church purposes yesterday.

This does not include the regular incidental offerings, nor the regular Sunday school collection.

COMING TO WICHITA FALLS.

C. L. Fontaine Will be General Freight and Passenger Agent for the W. F. and N. W. Ry.

Galveston, Tex., June 10.—C. L. Fontaine, for three years general agent, freight department of the Santa Fe, has resigned his position with that company to become general freight and passenger agent of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern Railway. Mr. Fontaine has made many friends for himself and the line he represents in local railroad circles during his service with the road in Galveston. His friends wish him unbounded success in his new field of endeavor and feel confident that he will acquit himself with credit.

The Wichita Falls and Northwestern is a new road which is built in two directions out of Wichita Falls. It is now being extended northeastwardly out of that city in the direction of Brownwood, Texas. The road is being financed by Texas capitalists and the Kemptners of this city are interested in the line. The country which will be traversed by the new line is rapidly settling up with an excellent class of agriculturists and is destined to be one of the most prosperous sections of the two states.

Mr. Fontaine expects to take charge of his new post by June 10. The headquarters of the road are at Wichita Falls and Mr. Fontaine will reside in that city in the future.

Under the leadership of the United Confederate Veterans, Governor Swanson of Virginia, Governor Terrell of Georgia and a number of officials from that State, the Jamestown exposition commissioners, distinguished United States army and naval officers, with a number of foreign representatives and a number of prominent members of the National Editorial Association.

Following a patriotic selection by the exposition band, the program incident to the Georgia Day celebration was opened by Governor Terrell, who introduced President Mitchell of the Georgia commission as master of ceremonies. Mr. Mitchell presented Cardinal Gibbons, who offered the invocation. The band played the "Star Spangled Banner," after which Mr. Mitchell introduced President Roosevelt, who delivered the first address.

The president was cheered throughout his entire speech.

The president spoke for about an hour and at the conclusion he reviewed the military parade under command of Col. Phillip Reed, of the Twenty-third Infantry, as grand marshal.

the blacks of the plantation and his white tenants throughout the county. He is a father to them all. He settles all their troubles, big and little. Then for hours he and I go over his business affairs. Every afternoon from four to five he devotes to his estates and the men and women for whom he acts as trustees. He has often said to me: "We have a clear million of money and property, and that is all any man should have in America. It is all he is entitled to under our form of government. Any more than that an honest man should in one way or another return to the people from whom he has taken it. I never want my family to have more than a million dollars." When he went into the Seaboard affair, he explained to me that it was to assist the Wilsons—they were old friends, and he acted as their solicitor for years—in building up the south. He discussed with me the right and advisability of putting in the trust funds. He said he considered it his duty to employ them as he did his own in enterprises that would aid the whole people of the south, instead of sending them to the north to be used in Wall street as belting for the 'System' grinder. These fortunes were made in the south by men who loved who advised the trusteeship control of the Seaboard stock to prevent Reinhart from securing control. I sat in the library when he talked to the elder Wilson and the directors. "He appealed directly to John Wilson to make an effort to stop the growing tendency to use the people as pawns to enslave themselves and their children. He said some man of undoubted probity, standing, and wealth, some one whom the people trusted, must start the fight against these New York fiends, whose only thought is to roll up wealth. And he told John Wilson he was the man, since he had great wealth, honestly got by his father and grandfather; so one would accuse him of being a hypocrite, seeking notoriety, and his standing in the financial world was so old and solid that it would have to listen to him. I remember how emphatically father said: 'I tell you, John, even the discussion of such a proposition as that scoundrel Reinhart makes is degrading to an American's honor.' He said it didn't make the least difference if Reinhart counted his millions by the score, and was director in 30 or 40 great institutions, and gave a fortune every year for charity to the church—that he was

"Mr. Randolph, I could not tell my father a lie even to save his life." After section of the country more than they did wealth, and why should they not be employed to benefit that part of the country which their makers and owners loved? I remember vividly how perplexed he was when, at the beginning, the Wilsons would show him that the investments were returning unusually large profits. "It is not right, Beulah," he said to me one morning after receiving a letter from Baltimore to the effect that Seaboard stock and bonds had advanced until his investment showed over 50 per cent. profit. "It is not right for us to make this money. No man in America should make over legal rates of interest and a fair profit on an investment, that is, an investment of capital pure and simple, particularly in a transportation company, where every dollar of profit comes from the people who patronize the lines. I have worked it out on every side, and it is not right; it would not be legal if the people, who make the laws for their own betterment, understood their affairs as they should." "He was always writing to the Wilsons to conduct the affairs of the Seaboard so that there would be remaining each day only profits enough to keep the road up and the wharves in good condition and to pay the annual interest and a fair dividend. And when the Wilsons came to our house to lay before him the offer of Reinhardt and his fellow plunderers to pay enormous profits for the control of the seaboard, he was indignant and argued with them that the offer was an insult to honest men. It was he a blacking just the same. And so is any man, he said, who dares to say he will take the stock of a transportation company, which represents a certain amount of money invested and double or multiply it by five and ten, simply because he can compel people to pay exorbitant fares and freight rates and so get profits on this fraudulently increased capital. "It was the decision arrived at by father and the Wilsons at this meeting, a decision to refuse in any circumstances to allow our southern people to be bled by the Wall street system, that started Reinhart and his dollar-fiends on the war-path. You can see from what I tell you of my father the terrible condition he is in now. At night, when I get to thinking of him, hoping against hope, with no one to help him, no one with whom he can talk over his affairs, when I think of his nobleness in devoting his time to mother and by sheer will-power concealing from her his awful suffering, it nearly drives me mad." "Miss Sands, why will you not let me lend you the money necessary to tide your father over for awhile?" I asked. "You are so good," Mr. Randolph, "but you don't quite understand my father in spite of what I have said. He would not relieve his suffering at the expense of another, not if it were a hundred times more acute. You cannot understand the old-fashioned, deep-rooted pride of the south."

A RIDICULOUS RULING.

Protest Against Commission in Holding Travelers at State Border.

Mr. J. A. Kemp, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Dear Sir:— I desire through the columns of your local paper to make a most earnest protest against the regulation recently put in force by the Texas State Railway Commission, requiring all trains starting from terminal stations to leave on schedule time, without waiting more than thirty minutes for through connections.

I was recently made the victim of this absurd and ridiculous ruling as a passenger on Southern Pacific train No. 8 en-route from Los Angeles to Mexico City, via Eagle Pass. Our train reached El Paso twenty minutes late and we found to our dismay and disgust that the connecting train on the G. H. & S. A. railroad had left only ten minutes before. This necessitated our laying over in El Paso twenty-four hours and missing a number of very important engagements ahead. This ruling is so absolutely a measure "in restraint of trade" that it should certainly be abolished.

What possible right has the Texas Railway Commission to hold up the traveling public at its borders in this outrageous fashion? No other State authorities of the Union have ever shown such discourteous regard to the convenience or rights of its neighbors or the world at large who are obliged to pass its borders, and I trust it may not be long before your commissioners will realize that while local traffic may be better served by a law intended to compel the railroads to run their trains on time, the great traveling public on through trains have some right to be considered and should not be forced to lose a whole day at their borders because their trains happened to be detained a few minutes or a few hours in making connections.

Sincerely yours, JAMES D. SCHUYLER, Los Angeles, Cal., June 6, 1907.

ON THE BANKERS' EXCURSION.

R. E. Huff Writes Interesting Letter to the Times.

En Route, June 8, 1907.

Editor Times:—

Our party left Wichita Falls Friday morning at 6:15 and all went well until Decatur was reached, where we found part of Denver train No. 2 off the track, and were delayed three hours, finally being transferred, and reaching Fort Worth about 2:20 p. m.

Train No. 8 had also overtaken us at Decatur, so Conductor Magner's ten coaches were loaded to the guards with passengers from the three south-bound trains.

The baggage was all safely transferred, but I wish the Times' readers could have had a picture taken of the four ladies as they first faced the possibility of leaving the trunks to follow. A prominent banker from the Panhandle was also doing some vigorous rustling to have his trunks transferred from the wrecked train.

Conductor A. D. Magner, however, knowing that a lady without her trunk is in bad shape for travel, did all he could for us. On our arrival at Fort Worth we found that the trip was so popular that 182 tickets for the excursion had been taken. All of the Wichita people secured staterooms in the sleeper "Bulgaria," as did also F. M. Frey and wife of Clifton. The Bulgaria is a compartment sleeper and is the last sleeper in the rear, with the exception of the observation sleeper, "Green Castle."

H. B. Jackson of Orange and F. M. Power of Arheer are taking the trip, but as Mr. Jackson left his wife at home and Mr. Power has not yet selected him one, they are in front somewhere in the one car which has no ladies.

The train has seven sleepers and a baggage car, and the baggage car is a sight with the trunks piled clear to the ceiling and the one you want is always at the bottom.

Our first stop has been at Newton, Kansas, for breakfast at Harvey's eating house, which sustained the reputation of this famous caterer.

The Santa Fe has a fine track and has so far handled the train in good shape.

Our old friend, Tom Fenelon of Fort Worth, exerted himself to look after our comfort and make the trip a success.

All day through Kansas we have been running through a magnificent country, where everything looks prosperous and calculated to make even a Texan revise former hasty opinions of Kansas.

We are nearing Topeka, so will close. R. E. HUFF.

Baylor County Cotton.

The ginning season closed at Seymour with a total of 5,715 at the two gins. The total number of bales shipped from this place was 15,453, against a total last year of 15,158. Much more cotton was raised in this country last season than the season before, but the extension of the Wichita Valley caused a large number of bales to be shipped from other points down the road. The acreage this year has been vastly increased, so that next season, if conditions are favorable, ought to bring 20,000 bales here for shipment. The compress, too, will prove a great drawing card and may run the total up to a much larger figure than this.—Baylor County Banner.

By Associated Press.

Seattle, Washington, June 11.—Chas. Takahashi, vice president of the Oriental Trading Company of this city, who went to Washington as a representative of the Japanese on the Pacific coast to confer with Ambassador Aoki on the proposed mutual exclusion treaty, said yesterday regarding the dispatch from Washington reporting the alleged conspiracy to overthrow the present administration in Japan:

"The writer of the Washington dispatch begins with an amusing political blunder and ends with falsehood.

He seems to have interpreted the suggestion as a complaint. The Progressives in Japan and the Pacific Northwest have nothing in common alliance between the Progressives and the Japanese of the Pacific Northwest is impossible. The latter is in sympathy with the present administration in Japan and want Viscount Aoki continued as ambassador to the United States. There is no disposition on our part to demand either an apology or indemnity for whatever happened to our people in San Francisco and we continue to encourage the trade relations between the two countries believing that the best interests of both demand the continuance of such relations.
