TORPEDO SENDS SEVERAL DOWN

Queenstown, Feb. 26.—The Cunard liner Laconia, 18,099 tons gross, with six American passengers and 20 native born Americans in the crew, has been torpedoed and sunk. The survivors, said to number 270, will be landed tonight. It is officially stated that "some are missing," and that one person is known to be dead. It is authoritatively said that the Laconia was sunk without warning. The Laconia sailed from New York February 18 for Liverpool with 100 passengers and American mail.

Hon. O. C. Dotson of Garrison was a distinguished visitor to the city today, coming down to look after some business interests.

PRESIDENT WILSON GOES BEFORE CONGRESS

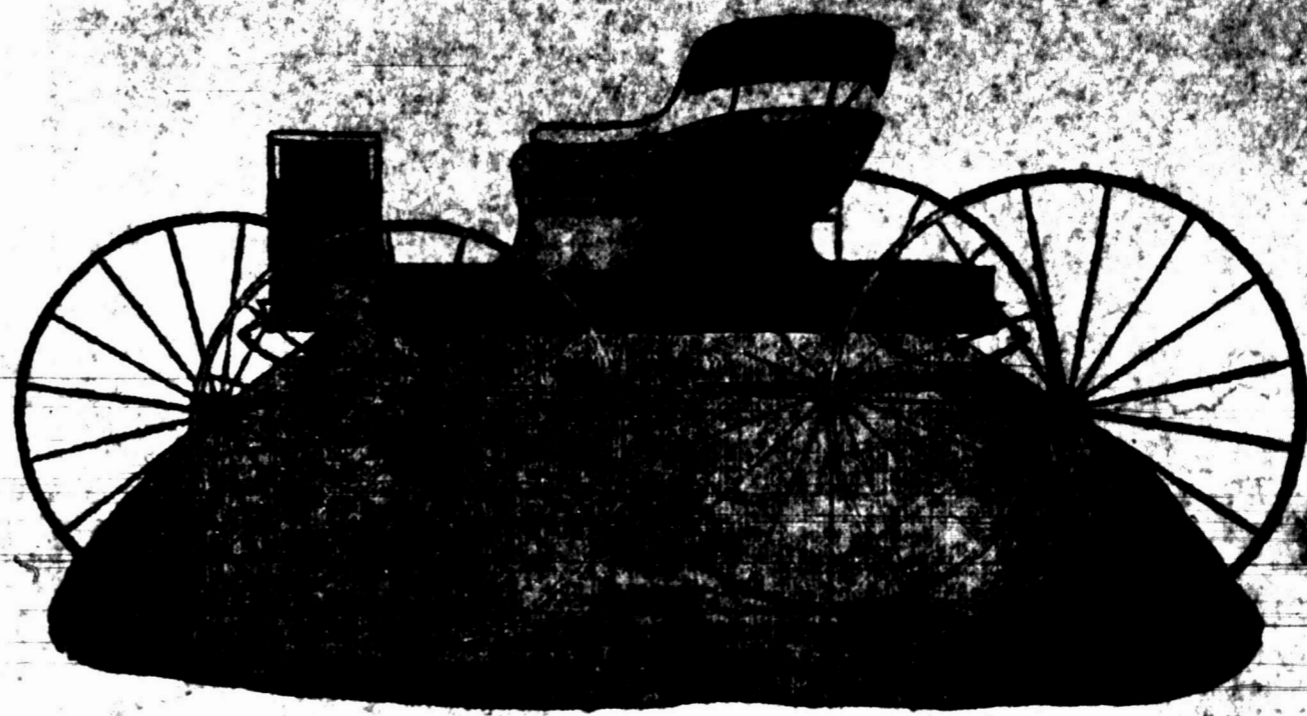

Asks for Endorsement and Authority to Protect American Rights, Against Any Invasion.

Washington, Feb. 26.—President Wilson appeared before congress at 1 o'clock and asked for authority to place the United States in a state of "armed neutrality" to resist the German submarine menace.

Continued invasion of the plain rights of neutrals on the high seas, further sacrifices of American lives and ships, the intolerable blockade of American commerce—almost as effectual as if the country were at war—have taken the place of a dreaded overt act, which was expected to shock the world, and have forced the president into the next step toward war.

News of the sinking of the Cunard liner Laconia with Americans aboard, was received here as the president was on his way to address congress. Although without details, its grave possibilities added emphasis to the president's words.

"President Wilson, asking to be empowered to take whatever steps are necessary, which includes the arming of ships, the conveying of merchantment by war vessels or whatever other steps as may be necessary, made it plain that he wanted peace, but not at the price of American lives and rights, or by driving the American flag from the seas. Congress is expected not only to authorize the president to use the armed forces of the country, but also to provide money.

Devoutly expressing the hope that it would not become necessary to "put armed force into action," the president specifically asked for authority to supply American merchant ships with defensive arms "with the means of using them," and "to employ any other instrumentalities," as well as "sufficient credit" to enable him to provide "adequate means of protection."

This, without being specifically in terms, was a request for the use of the army and navy and the necessary money to make them effective.

Behind the rights of Americans, the president declared, he was thinking of rights of humanity, but through it all, he proclaimed to the world a policy of peace, if peace be possible. He disclaimed thinking of war or steps that might lead to it and declared that the American people wanted to exercise none but the rights of peace.

"No course of my choosing or of theirs," said he, "will lead to war. War can come only by the wilful acts and aggressions of others."

ADMINISTRATION WAITS FOR CONGRESS TO ACT

London, Feb. 27 (12:11 a. m.).—A later telegram from Consul Frost gave the total number of persons landed from the Laconia as 281 out of 294 on board. Of the 13 lost, five were drowned and eight died from exposure and were buried at sea. Six persons are in hospitals at Queenstown, the telegram said. Their condition is not serious.

Washington, Feb. 27.—The administration waits on congress to give the answer of the United States to the German campaign of ruthless warfare, which has reached a climax in the sinking of the liner Laconia and the killing of two American women.

Official accounts of the unwarmed night attack on the Cunarder, officially regarded as the first clear-cut case of violation of American rights since the severance of relations with Germany, were laid before President Wilson and the cabinet today by Secretary Lansing. It was decided that no step should be taken until congress had time to grant the request for additional authority to protect the lives and rights of Americans.

Conclusive official information at the state department shows that two American women lost their lives, and that, if four other Americans among the passengers and 11 among the crew were saved, it was only by good fortune, and that the vessel was sunk without warning in direct defiance of all the principles for which the United States has stood.

That fellow Gibbs of Nacogdoches and Lively of Lufkin are eternally fussin' at each other. We hereby make the motion, if we can get a second, that they be put in a cell of the city bastille at Timpson when we all get there and let 'em have it out.—Houston County Herald.

If that's your game, Doc and I will have our "press association" on the banks of the classic Angelina. We both believe in the theory of "passional liberty."

The Shreveport Times tersley observes: "The dollar that the merchant saves by not advertising usually goes for interest on the note necessary on carrying the goods over." It is true.

History teaches that a dangerous power must ultimately be crushed to save itself and its neighbors. Too much power invariably produces overbearing and the overbearing spirit leads to a fight.

A friend tells this one on our Representative, James T. Denton: He says that there is a newspaper in Austin named the Statesman, published week day afternoons and Sunday morning. Denton, who has started well into his first term arose early one Sunday morning. A newsboy selling the morning Statesman, would peddle his goods to Denton. "Morning Statesman?" he queried, offering a paper. "Good morning," Denton answered.—Port Arthur Record.

The latest "something to worry about" in the high cost of living is the quotation of cabbage at $125 a ton, forcing the local dealers to retail the vegetable at 9 and 10 cents a pound. Only the early garden and a large crop of feedstuffs and foodstuffs can save the country from famine, and it is a matter that should engage the very serious attention of all classes. We have arrived at the time when we must get "back to the soil" and produce our living by the "sweat of our brow," if we live.

A friend of mine has written over the paper of an individual in New York who turned all the cotton of a world-wide war, to be followed with the aid of time. It is a fact that the "ground" of war has been ended in the disturbance of the past three years, no nation being entirely spared, and the end is not yet.

In the work of keeping up with the matters of local interest in the community, The Sentinel is yetting behind in its "fuss" with the "hated" contemporary across the creek, and we must condense with a center shot to catch up. Doc wants a share of our first crop of English peas; in another editorial he fears that a German submarine may come up the Angelina at any time and shell both towns—and he avers that not a dog in his community received the bone, for the reason that all dogs spared from execution have been muzzled. We can not accommodate him with a share of English peas for the reason that we will have no vegetables of this variety. We shall not tell him why, but if any local reader is curious to know it is because of the discovery of a fine "fishworm" while excavating for the garden. Ground of this kind should by all means be preserved and its "crop" conserved. As to the submarine matter, we do not care how soon the silent, secret visitor comes since Lufkin will be "shelled" first.

Every one is familiar with the old story of what happened to the man that attempted to arrest a fellow for whipping his wife. "Family rows" carry with them a sacredness that bars intrusion from an outsider—and the really professional editors of the present day "fight" only with a war of penned words and sentences, always respecting the "gentleman's agreement" that has long characterized the methods employed by lawyers. Pertinent to this discussion we remember a statement made by Capt. Frank Garrison, a man who is as large in heart and intelligence as he is in size—and he tips the beam above three hundred pounds. In the negotiation of exchange of a piece of property the friend insisted that he should have a better deal by reason of the friendship that existed between them, to which Mr. Garrison replied: "If I can't make a living off my friends, what shall I do? My enemies will certainly give me no chance." The newspaper must "roast" somebody occasionally to add spice to the "bill of fare" and break the monotony of routine. The Sentinel is happy in the possession of such friends as Doc Lively, and the other newspaper "boys" of this immediate section, upon whom we can draw the most vicious implements of warfare at our command in the field of battle, and after the "smoke clears away," we can meet on terms of the most sacred friendship, best explained in the following lines from our Lufkin friend which carry with them a feeling and sentiment that is in every sense mutual:

"Here's how, Bro. Weimar. The two editors you mention will never be thrown in a cell together for the purpose of "fighting it out." To tell the truth about it, The News editor will hasten to the S. O. S. call of the Nacogdoches man just as quickly as he can don his clothes—if he happens to be "en dishabille." He knows Bro. O. M. Gibbs, and knowing him, that is why the writer says what he says. If Mr. Gibbs was not the man we know him to be, his name would never be mentioned in this paper; but, thank the good Lord above, he is one of the "salt of the earth" and Nacogdoches is to be congratulated on having such a personage for a citizen. Exchanges of remarks between parties most concerned need not be seriously considered by readers of the paper—it all will come out in the wash."

THE "PROOF."

The Sentinel will not venture to "fuss" with Doc Lively of the Lufkin News any more. We have had many battles with the gentleman, and we can say to his credit in the past that he has "fought" fair and in the open like a "good Irishman," but with the approach of spring, when "young men's fancy turns lightly to love," he has broken into poetry, and we here and now quit the game. Good-bye, Doc. We felicitate you, and trust that all your troubles may be little ones.—Nacogdoches Sentinel.

We're sure you made a slip of the tongue.
 For this News editor is no longer young;
 And wrong you are about thoughts of love,
 For single we'll go to our home above.

If about these lines you want to fight,
 Before you do be sure you're right;
 To lovers of poetry we do not cater—
 This ditty was written by the operator.

A NEW INDUSTRY IS MAKING GOOD HERE

Oil Mill Grinding Peanuts and Finding it Satisfactory and Profitable Enterprise.

Through an invitation and personal escort of Mr. W. U. Perkins, manager of the enterprise, The Sentinel publishers had the pleasure of visiting and inspecting the oil mill, and observe it busy grinding peanuts yesterday—and in this visit we saw the reality of what we have long believed would be a profitable industry, and urged for the East Texas country.

In the course of this inspection we were shown that very little new machinery and equipment was necessary to convert the mill into this use. The peanuts are carried through the various processes used in grinding cotton seed. In the seed room the peanuts are fed into a hopper which carries them to the huller, and on over various chimes that take away all chaff, and into the grinder, to the cooker, and finally on into the press, where oil is pressed out and the meat of the nut made into cakes after the manner employed with cotton seed. A further description of this part of the work will be uninteresting to the average reader, except the assurance that everything is handled in a sanitary way, and the yield is proving highly satisfactory.

About one gallon of oil is realized from each bushel of peanuts, and the "cake" yield is fully up to the percentage of cotton seed. Last, but by no means least, use of the products is proving that peanut oil is superior and more satisfactory for all domestic purposes than cotton seed oil, and what is true of the oil will doubtless prove true of the peanut meal.

The mill here makes only the crude oil which is sold to the refineries where it is worked up into the finished product, just as the cotton seed product is handled. In all oil production, the refinery is a separate enterprise from the industry that furnishes the raw product.

In discussing the matter, Mr. Perkins said that as the matter was somewhat of an experiment with him, he did not go extensively into the industry this year, wishing to try it out on a small scale first. But the experiment has proven so satisfactory, both in production and demand for the product, he says he is going after it with all the means at his command, and will be in the market for all the peanuts Nacogdoches county farmers, and the farmers elsewhere in reach of the mill, can raise this year. Other mills are making similar announcement, and thus the peanut crop is now one of the most staple and marketable crops that can be grown in this section. It has passed the experimental stage in growth long since, proving one of the most productive crops adapted to this section, and now that a way has been found to work up the raw product on such a profitable basis, it ushers in the dawn of a new day for the agricultural resources of old East Texas.

The Nacogdoches oil mill bought and is working up twenty thousand bushels of last season's crop. It paid approximately one dollar a bushel for this amount, which put twenty thousand dollars new money into circulation and the farmers of this county. As noted above, the mill did not go after the crop with the same enthusiasm that will be characteristic with its energy in the next crop, wishing to try out the experiment first, and Mr. Perkins estimates that he did not get more than one-third of the peanuts grown in the county. This being true, the crop was worth sixty thousand and dollars last year for the peanuts grown in the county, leaving the farmers with the valuable crop of hay, and many fat hogs that were made with the nuts left in the gathering. Then, too, there were many grown and fed to hogs of which we have no record, making the rough estimate of one hundred thousand dollars for the crop safe. No other new experiment has ever proven so profitable with the agricultural resources of this county, and it is a happy condition, which brings this new industry to us at a time when the boll weevils are multiplying by the million for the destruction of the cotton crop. Bully for Nacogdoches county! And bully for East Texas. Plant peanuts!

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

March 2nd has been officially adopted as Sam Houston day, and it is also Texas Independence day. The birth of Sam Houston was March 2, 1793, in the state of Virginia, but his early life was spent in Tennessee.

He was a most remarkable man through all the varied scenes of his eventful career, remarkable in his personal and public conduct, and none the less so in his physique, his personal appearance, his size, shape and complexion, his mental calibre, his tastes, and his sense of honor and proper behavior.

These characteristics of Sam Houston are recorded in history, but his individual peculiarities and eccentricities have not been forcefully described.

Houston was a man of huge stature, being considerably over six feet high, and of giant proportions, yet well shaped up and of attractive form. Whenever he went as a stranger he was notable on account of his form and also his superb address. His complexion was not of an ordinary type, neither dark nor light nor red. His hair was a light brown, his eyes a light grey, his features well rounded but strong, with a ruddy vigorous face. His voice was of medium masculine pitch, strong and yet soft, well suited for public speaking. His oratory was of superior type. His delivery and mode of speech was neither rapid nor dragging. He had a short foot, with high instep, and a most peculiar stately walk, suggestive of the stride and gait of a big Indian chief.

In keeping with his other personal peculiarities he was eccentric in his tastes as to apparel. Often he was gaudy in a way, wearing a highly colored Indian shawl, now called Navaho blanket, with a costly soft fur hat, of a light color. At times he carried a fine walking cane. At other times he occasionally donned buckskin clothes of the frontier style. To sum it up, he was different, not like others in any respect. He was a tough or a fop as he chose.

On one occasion a favorite young lady friend in Ean Augustine told him that she wanted to see him in a fine suit of clothes that had been presented to him by some European nobleman. She was surprised next afternoon to see him ride up to the front gate of her home on a fine horse with fine apparel or rigging, followed by a liveried, pompous negro on another horse. Houston dismounted in stately ease, handed his bridle reins to the negro, and strode up to the front porch where Miss Sossaman smilingly greeted him in response to this facetious play of formality. Houston had experienced much in high life in big cities, as well as rough life among the Cherokee Indians in Tennessee and in Arkansas.

On another occasion Houston was in company with Judge Blake and other friends, spending a summer out at his well-to-do friend Floyd's plenteous home, near Swift. He had a negro servant along, and he would call out to Esan to come and find a tick on him. This was rather distasteful to his room mates, so they placed ticks in his bed. That night he called for Esan to bring a candle and catch a tick. Esan examined and called out "Good lawd, Ginal, the bed is alive with ticks." Houston came alive to the situation. He looked over at Blake, who was trying to feign sleep, and said:

"Now, Bennett, I'll catch that tick when my play comes. You are the joker of this deck." Blake replied, "General, didn't you know that feather beds all have ticks on them?" Houston had the trait of drawing warm friends to him and yet he was bitter with his enemies. He often had political quarrels, and in his bitter speeches and denunciations of his political enemies he had spats in which he showed remarkable powers of repartee.

In one of his speeches here, when he wasn't defending his "know nothing" or American doctrines, he was interrupted by Judge Ochiltree, who excitedly called him a — whig. Houston, knowing that Ochiltree's political positions had been vacillating, pointed his finger at Ochiltree and said in a deliberate, scorching way, "I am a better democrat than you, you have changed shades three times." Ochiltree went wild and became boisterous. Houston looking at him as he shook his shaggy red hair and whiskers, said, "Oh, let Old Buffalo roar. That's all there is in him."

Houston's vindictive political tirades were his own modes of battle, and were generally recognized as his peculiar prerogative. But he never shrank from any occasion or opposition.

Another thing peculiar to him was his utter indifference to wealth. He had no home. His last abode was at Huntsville, where he died in 1863, in a rather neglected social status, caused by his opposition to secession. There his wife had an humble home for her cherished family, regarding him in the light of one of the children. She was a noble, lordly lady, of the purest and best type.

Houston came to Texas on December 1833, and spent his first years mainly here, but partly at San Augustine, as a single man.

He had no home, not even a regular boarding place either here or there. But he had a welcome at many hospitable homes. Especially was he welcome by the ladies in the families. His lifelong friend M. G. Whitaker, who knew him in Tennessee in glory and splendor and fought with him at San Jacinto, and knew him in all his grand career in Texas, said there never was but one Sam Houston.

PRETTY TRIBUTE TO REV. W. M. GADDY

Editor Sentinel:

I know the people of Nacogdoches county will be sorry to hear of the death of Rev. W. M. Gaddy which occurred at Dallas recently. I knew him well and intimately through a long series of years, and at various places—Nacogdoches, Houston, and Brenham. The last time I heard him preach was at the First Baptist church at Brenham three years ago, and as usual, his sermon was able from start to finish. Bill Gaddy, as his friends knew and called him, was born in Mississippi. I do not know just what county, nor did I know that he was 72 years old at the time of his death until I saw it announced. He looked to be much younger. He and Dickinson family of which John and Rhody and Frank were members, were born in the same neighborhood and their friendship grew stronger if possible after the families moved to Texas. Bill Gaddy settled near Mount Enterprise, in Rusk County, to be more particular, in the immediate neighborhood of old Rakepocket, famous in deeds of daring back in the days when blood was sure enough red and when true friendship and not the dollar, was in flower. In his younger days Bill Gaddy was a character. There was nothing that walked the earth that he feared, and the bigger and uglier that it looked, the more anxious he was to tackle and try conclusions with it. The period in which he lived at Rakepocket was a stormy one and every hour was punctuated with a thrill worth while. He had fun as fun went, but through it all he was a kind-hearted, lovable and manly man. He once told this writer that he was suddenly converted while mocking God at a comedy prayer meeting in which he and some jolly associates were having a great time. He said he suddenly saw the awful enormity of what he was doing and like a bolt out of the clear sky his heart was changed and he forgot all else and went to shouting and praying sure enough.

Once his face was set to the future he never turned back but gave his whole soul to God and entered zealously into the work. Later he was ordained as a minister and when he was in his prime there were few abler preachers in the state. He probably preached to more country churches, and attended more associations, than any other Baptist preacher of his time. The first time the writer ever saw or heard him preach was at Melrose when on a certain Sunday, long years ago, he preached the funeral of Mrs. Emma Seale, who was before her marriage to Elwood Seale, Miss Emma Price. In the afternoon he went to Cross Roads and preached and then left for Mount Enterprise. I still remember that he was driving two small ponies to a light buggy.

And now he is gone. No more shall we see his kindly face or felt his hearty hand-shake, or hear his pleasant manly voice. For one I feel that I have lost a friend.

Very truly,
HENRY C. FULLER.
Houston, Texas.

AN AGED LADY WAS BURNED TO DEATH

The following report of an aged lady burning to death in Shelby county is taken from this week's Center Champion:

"A horrible and very regrettable death occurred in the East Hamilton community last Thursday morning in which Mrs. Emma Wilcox was burned to death. The details of the affair, as obtained from Mr. Lathan, a resident of that community, are as follows: Mrs. Wilcox lived alone and had been slightly ill for several days, though last week not ill enough to require constant attention. She requested a neighbor to come to her house and build a fire for her. After the fire was built the neighbor returned to his home. It is supposed that the aged lady got up and in some way fell in the fire, for it was an hour before the gruesome sight was found. It is said that practically all the body was burned to a crisp and it was necessary to gather the body together in pieces. The house did not catch on fire.

"Deceased was about 67 years of age. She was known throughout that section of the county and was well connected and very much loved by those who knew her. To the surviving relatives of the good lady The Champion extends sympathy."

Rev. C. A. Westbrook went to Jacksonville this afternoon where he was invited to come and preach in a protracted meeting for a couple of days. He will return Thursday.

KIRBY WINS BIG LAND SUIT

Austin, Texas, Feb. 21.—In the Court of Civil Appeals for the Austin district today a decision was handed down affirming the findings of the Travis County District Court in favor of the Houston Oil Company and others in a suit which involved title to 90,000 acres of East Texas timber lands, and a claim for damages totalling $3,000,000. The verdict was in favor of the defendants on every point, and has now been sustained by the appeals court.

In this suit the state sought to recover these lands and damages from the Houston Oil Company. As cause of action, the state alleged that in the acquiring of these lands by John H. Kirby technical errors in the fee title occurred.

Today's decision sustains in every way the Kirby titles and puts at end one of the largest lawsuits the state has known, with a victory for the Kirby interests.

Messrs. Oliver Skeeters, R. P. White, Ed. Greer, W. W. Mangham and Duke Crawford were among the Appleby citizens who were brought to the city today on a summons for jury service.

"BONE DRY" BILL PASSES IN CONGRESS

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 21.—Six Southern states, whose prohibition laws have permitted the importation of a limited quantity of whiskey, beer or wine for personal use, become "bone dry" on July 1 under the Reed amendment to the postal bill adopted today by the house. They are Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi. Arkansas already is entirely dry and Tennessee becomes so on March 1 under the state law.

Florida, Louisiana and Texas, having local option laws, are not. State laws have permitted whiskey, beer and wines to be imported in the affected states in the following quantities, although their sale and manufacture are forbidden:

Virginia—One quart of whiskey, or three gallons of beer, or one gallon of wine instead of the beer, each month by every head of a household.

North Carolina—One quart of whiskey or wine and five gallons of beer by an individual every fifteen days.

South Carolina—One gallon of whiskey or beer or wine to any person in one month.

Georgia—Two quarts of whiskey or one gallon of wine or 60 pints of beer by any one every 30 days.

Alabama—Two quarts of whiskey, two gallons of wine, or four dozen bottles of beer every two weeks.

Mississippi—One half gallon of vinous liquor or three gallons of malted or fermented liquor by any one every 15 days.

The "overt act" seems to be at hand. Watch your step and keep the powder dry.

The Shreveport Times says that Charlie Chaplin has given the British war office $150,000, and will now have to wreck fewer custard pies.

"Intensive gardening" is now urged, and is a good one which will work successfully in all ground not infested with big, fat "fishworms."

An exchange says that the people of the United States consume twice as much meat as do the people of Europe. There may be a reason other than that of preference in the matter.

This, taken from Saturday's issue of the Beaumont Enterprise, is a new testimonial to the fact that "there is nothing in a name": "Some men can't even get along with themselves. Why, in our court of civil appeals the style of a case submitted the other day is, 'Hoya versus Self.'"

The Timpson Times announces the purchase of a model-19 linotype machine which will be installed within the next few days. The Times is one of the most progressive and worthy publications in East Texas, and we rejoice with it in this good achievement which will enable it to go forward to greater things.

The Jacksonville Progress announces that the people of that flourishing little city have "undergone a thorough cleansing of the souls," and is now urging a clean-up campaign of the streets and alleys. Of course, the former campaign had nothing to do with the unsanitary condition of the latter.

The dispatches announce that Edison is now working twenty hours a day on an instrument of some kind which will counteract the devilment of the deadly submarine. He has never failed in any undertaking, and if our country should become engaged in war during his lifetime, his ingenuity will save us.

From the amount of new plow tools, fence wires, etc., being hauled out, it is evident that there is something doing in the country districts now. And this is as it should be. There has been no time in the history of the world when so much depended upon the farms and farmers of the United States to feed the people.

The ministers of this city are planning to make next Sunday a "Go to Church Sunday," in which they hope to interest all the people and make a record-breaking attendance for the day. Nothing better could be offered the people, nothing is easier, and The Sentinel bespeaks for the enterprise great success. Begin planning right now, and let nothing keep you away.

The Sentinel editor can't find words to express his appreciation, satisfactory to himself, for the pretty compliment from the pen of Capt. R. L. Russell, appearing in Saturday's issue of the Lufkin Daily News. The article is top sacred for parade of reproduction, but in passing we intrude with a personal matter long enough to say that so long as we can enjoy the friendship and esteem of the grand old Confederate veterans, the noblest men that ever blessed any country, such as Captain Russell, we will feel that life is worth while if we accomplish nothing else.

In commenting upon the notice from this paper in which it was reported that Miss Bess Mason had been elected domestic science teacher of Bell county, the Temple Telegram says: "She has entered upon her duties in a way to inspire confidence in her ability to promote interest in this great work. She has here a field for the most ambitious, capable of surprising results. With the co-operation of the people the work will be worth unlimited value to Bell county."

The Shreveport Times says that Charlie Chaplin has given the British war office $150,000, and will now have to wreck fewer custard pies.—Nacogdoches Sentinel.

That's nothing, Charlie has given many fake stories to the press before and we dare to say the above is no exception to the rule. Charlie knows how to get free advertising. Here's some more free advertising, Chaplin!—Timpson Times.

Listen, Doc, at this from Tuesday's issue of the Timpson Times: "The editor of the Ratcliff Herald wants to put Doc Lively and Oscar Gibbs in jail when they come to Timpson in April to attend the East Texas Press Association. Let us say right here that the mayor of Timpson has passed an order instructing that the city jail be locked before the Press Meet, and that the key to same shall be thrown into the Angelina river." Are the "animals" getting tame, or is a ruse to catch us? Let's "fish" that key out of the river before journeying forth. Safety first!

Mr. A. W. Hunt has returned from a business visit to the border country and brings back a good report of conditions in that section. He says that some of the mines are opening up, and other industries being restored, altogether making better conditions and a better outlook for future business.—Nacogdoches Sentinel.

There is a general feeling that much of the trouble along the border has been dissipated and that for a time at least there will be a semblance of peace and a return to work of a large part of the population.—Temple Telegram.

PEANUTS AND TICKS.

Can any logical man give a good reason for raising both of them? The past year has demonstrated the virtue of the peanut, both as an easy-made crop and its utility as a dairy feed. I know the hay is being fed, for I have "torn my shirt" to induce someone to sell me a ton and have met with refusal at every turn. Now that it is universally shown how easy the crop can be made and what a life-saver the hay is, let every man who has cows or a cow, plant all he can possibly put in. During the late cold spell many cattle actually starved and froze to death; few men will admit that, they may call it "hollow horn" but the plain name for it was hollow belly. Granted, that the peanuts are coming, now what is the use in raising a big crop of ticks on your hard work? The tick, can be exterminated in a summer and at a cost of from 20c to 50c per head of stock and a tick free steer is worth $5.00 to $7.00 more than an infested one. And a milk cow, full as she can be with ticks is also full as she can be with fever; if you don't believe it get a mess of the smallest kind on yourself and see how nice you feel in about an hour, then consider how the beast feels with them on it all the time. The milk is really not fit to use and the quantity is reduced nearly half the cow's capacity. To a rational man why stand for the tick even for a day? To the business farmer, why raise peanuts to feed to ticks? On a thousand-pound cow a big mess of ticks will eat up TWO HUNDRED POUNDS of blood in a year. Think of it—you are paying the bill. Let's all get busy on the pest and fight it like fire for one summer and the result will be thousands of dollars to the good. You may ask where I come in on this big talk: why, I'll get nearly twice as much cream and the whole community will profit by the extra dollars the butter will bring to the farmer and it is money that will stay here. Last week Joe Birdwell was wound up and supposing he was run down I am taking to winding after the tick and hope to see enough interest in getting a passport for the tick to have a hundred dipping vats in the county before the summer passes.

Yours truly,
 H. H. COOPER.

CHURCH OFFERS

AMERICAN OATH
 Lexington, Ky., Feb. 26.—Two thousand persons attending the biennial convention of the laymen's missionary movement of the Presbyterian Church here unanimously endorsed a covenant of patriotism presented by William T. Ellis of Swarthmore, Pa., principal speaker, last night. Mr. Ellis aims to have the covenant given national scope. It begins with these sentences: "I am an American. I love my country and have unshakable faith in her character and her mission. Therefore I pledge myself with all my power to a maintenance of her historic ideals and to a fulfillment of her mission as God's apostle of Christian democracy to mankind."

OLD LADY DIED.

Mrs. McCall, the sainted old lady who has been in the care of the county for some weeks, and so ill, died Saturday night and her remains were laid to rest in Fairview Cemetery yesterday. Having suffered so long, death doubtless came as a sweet relief to the dear old lady.

TAKES THE PLACE OF DANGEROUS CALOMEL

New Discovery! Dodson's Liver Tone Acts Like Calomel But Doesn't Gripe, Salivate or Make You Sick—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Harmless Liver Medicine for Men, Women, Children—Read Guarantee!

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated, or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

VOTE OF TEXANS ON AMENDMENT

Washington, Feb. 21.—Seventeen Texas congressmen voted for the drastic Reed "bone dry" prohibition amendment this afternoon. Representative Henry was the only Texan who opposed the measure. Those voting for the amendment were: Representatives Black, Buchanan, Burgess, Callaway, Davis, Dies, Eagle, Garner, Gregg, Hardy, McLemore, Rayburn, Slayden, Smith, Stephens, Summers and Young.

Mr. A. Y. Grimes and family of the Mahl community were in the city Wednesday afternoon en route to Oklahoma, where they go to make their future home.

In the removal of this good family Nacogdoches is sustaining a loss in its citizenship which it hopes to recover some day. Dr. W. S. Thomas, who has been practicing his profession at Woden for some time, took the train here today for San Antonio where he goes to join his family and make his future home.

RAILROADS JOIN IN DRASTIC STEP

Washington, Feb. 22.—The threatened food and fuel shortages in many localities caused by freight congestion and car shortage seemed today to have been averted by drastic orders of the railroads, co-operating with the interstate commerce commission to rush special shipments to needy cities. American Railway Association officials declared the danger of inadequate supply of living necessities had lessened greatly within the last two weeks, and the possibility of a general shortage throughout the East was slight. The dearth of freight cars is less than a year ago, they said.

Two telegrams were sent yesterday in reply to messages received by the interstate commerce commission from President Griffin of the Chicago Board of Trade, in which Mr. Griffin voiced the fear of anarchy throughout the land unless the car situation and food shortage and food situation are immediately solved by an absolute embargo on all freight—except foodstuffs.

NACOGDOCHES WOODMEN VISIT TRAWICK CAMP

The Nacogdoches Woodmen Degree Team, in charge of Captain Elmer Weaver, accompanied by Judge F. P. Marshall, Judge J. F. Perritte, and Messrs. Audley Harris and H. T. Mast, visited the Woodmen Camp at Trawick Saturday night, and bring back a most interesting report of the meeting.

A fine attendance of the membership was present and witnessed the initiation of a candidate by the Nacogdoches team, after which a degree was organized for that camp and given a course of instructions by the visiting team. The spirit of fraternal love was much in evidence, and the visit a most enjoyable one to our townsmen.

The trip was made in automobiles, the visitors returning to the city at the conclusion of the exercises.

TOBACCO EXPERT COMING FRIDAY

A telegram has been received announcing that Mr. Wm. Yausig, of the Wm. Tausig Tobacco Co., of Chicago, will be in this city Friday and up to noon Saturday, during which time he would be pleased to meet with as many farmers as possible who are interested in the matter of tobacco growing.

Tobacco growing can be made a profitable industry in this section if the farmers will take hold of it, and it would be well for as many as can to meet with the gentleman while he is here.

FEDERATED WOMEN STANDING BY WILSON

"It is our desire to serve the nation to the best of our ability."

M'ADOO AND OTHERS ARE EXONERATED

Washington, Feb. 27.—An unanimous report saying that no one save Washington newspaper men, J. F. Essary and W. W. Price, were responsible for whatever "leak" there was on President Wilson's peace note was presented to the house tonight by Chairman Henry of the rules committee. All persons connected with the government, including Secretary McAdoo and Secretary Tumulty, members of both houses, and R. W. Bolling, a brother-in-law of the president are specifically cleared of suspicion.

The report probably will be adopted in a day or two and formally end the leak investigation.

The report says Essary, who wrote a forecast of the president's note for the local brokerage firm of F. A. Connolly & Co., did not profit financially by his act, but Price was regularly in the employ of Chicago brokers to supply them with Washington news likely to affect the stock market.

Fewer persons should be submitted to handle important papers such as a president's message, the report declares. Some 30 or 40 persons handled the president's note in question.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Rebecca Hogan was born in Talledega county, Alabama, May 7, 1851.

She learned patient service in childhood—the lesson many learned during the great civil war. She united with the Baptist church at an early age, and was continuously a faithful member. Her life was one of tender devotion to her family. She was ever ready with kind ministrations for any who might need care or helpfulness. Gentle and kind as a neighbor, loyal to her home, devoted to her husband, she was appreciated, loved and honored.

On Feb. 20th, she was called away from the suffering of life to "that land that is fairer than day." A bright star has set to shine more gloriously on a brighter shore, but the memory of its brightness will continue to bring comfort to the home, though bereft of its presence. Let us weep not, for we shall meet her beyond the sunset where there shall be no more passing away.

A BROTHER.

LIFT YOUR CORNS OFF WITH FINGERS

Tells how to loosen a tender corn or callus so it lifts out without pain.

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison from told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn or callus the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts off with the fingers.

Freezone dries the moment it is applied, and simply shrivels the corn or callus without inflaming or irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively rid one's feet of every kind of soft corn or hardened callus. If your druggist hasn't any freezone he can get it at any wholesale drug house for you.

W. B. Melton, a well known and prosperous farmer of the Appley country, brought two hogs to this city Saturday and sold them for $77. Previous to this he sold a litter of four-months-old pigs for $50, and is becoming quite an enthusiast in the hog industry.

TWO YEARS IN BED AND ROLLING CHAIR

Mrs. Wilson Gave up Hope—
Gains 25 Pounds on Tanlac
Is Now Well Woman

"For two years I spent all my time either in the hospital, in bed, or in a rolling chair and during that time I was given up to die, and I don't guess I would be here now if it hadn't been for Tanlac," said Mrs. E. O. Wilson. Mrs. Wilson is well known in Atlanta, her husband having been employed by The Constitution for a number of years.

"I was a great sufferer from chronic indigestion," continued Mrs. Wilson, "and don't guess anybody ever had to go through with what I did. I was very weak and nervous and at times had those dreadful smothering sensations to the point of fainting. I had dreadful headaches, severe pains in my back and over my kidneys, and my joints ached all the time. For two years I had to live entirely on boiled milk, toast and soft boiled eggs, and even that didn't digest well, and would sour on my stomach. I didn't know what it was to get a good night's sleep. I took one kind of medicine after another until our house was almost filled with empty bottles, but instead of improving I was getting worse all the time. Finally they took me to the hospital for treatment, and I lay there for five long months, but even that didn't make me well. It was taking nearly every cent of my husband's wages to pay my doctor and drug bills. Our drug bill alone amounted to $14 to $15 a month and one doctor bill amounted to $108.

"It looked like everything had failed to help me, and I had about given up all hope, when one day my husband brought a bottle of Tanlac home with him and asked me to take it. He said he had been reading and hearing a lot of good things about it, and didn't see any reason why it shouldn't help me. I was confined to my rolling chair when I began taking it.

"Do I look like an invalid now? I certainly don't feel like one, and I have actually gained twenty-five (25) pounds on eleven bottles of Tanlac, and feel as well as I ever did in my life. I can eat anything I want—such things as meat, turnips, hard-boiled eggs don't hurt me a particle and I sleep as good as I did when I was a girl in my teens. I walked down town, and I am running around the neighborhood calling on friends nearly all the time now. I haven't a pain about me. I believe I am the happiest woman in Atlanta and I think I have a right to be. I think my recovery is almost a miracle, and everybody in our neighborhood thinks the same."

Tanlac is sold in Nacogdoches by Stripling, Haselwood & Co., and Swift Bros. & Smith, in Garrison by Garrison Drug Co., in Appleby by Weatherly Bros., and in Sacul by Akron Crawford.

The public library, which is now being installed in the ladies rest room of the court-house, is going to be the coziest little place in the city when the librarian gets through with her work of arrangement, and quite an ornament to the building, as well as a most convenient location for the general public.

The Pneumonia Season.

The cold, damp weather of March seems to be the most favorable for the pneumonia germ. Now is the time to be careful. Pneumonia often results from a cold. The quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less danger. As soon as the first indication of a cold appears take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. As to the value of this preparation, ask anyone who has used it.

EDUCATIONAL ADVANTAGES OFFERED TEACHERS IN EAST TEXAS.

Many public schools of this section close their session by the last of March or the first of April. The teachers and advanced students of these schools may continue a very profitable line of study in the review course offered by Rusk Academy the last quarter of this session, March the 26th to the June examinations.

Few people realize the rapid growth of Rusk Academy during the past two years. Much money has been spent in buildings, improvements, and general teaching equipment. The laboratories, library historical maps and charts, and other materials for a high grade school have been provided. The very highest grade teachers have been secured. They come not only with degrees from the best colleges and universities, but with a record of successful experience in the teaching profession. Eight of our faculty hold degrees, two of which are masters.

This review will cover all second and first grade branches. It will be not only a good course for those seeking to secure or to build on their certificates, but it will be an excellent course for advanced students to finish out a year's work, or to become thorough in work which has been hastily done. It will be worth your time to investigate this work.

Further information may be obtained by addressing J. M. Cook, President Rusk Academy, Rusk, Texas.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a Favorite for Colds.

J. L. Easley, Macon, Ill., in speaking of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy says, "During the past fifteen years it has been my sister's favorite medicine for colds on the lungs. I myself have taken it a number of times when suffering with a cold and it always relieved me promptly."

Mr. L. Q. Hall, a former citizen of this city who is now located at Dallas, where he is engaged in the sale of Studebaker automobiles, arrived in the city a day or two ago for a visit with relatives and friends. He came through the country in a car. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mast of Chireno, are the guests of their sister, Mrs. George Collier, in the city.

A Bilious Attack.

When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be as well as ever. They only cost a quarter.

Roscoe Eaves, constable and deputy sheriff of Groveton, has been in the city today, coming over on some official business. Mr. Eaves is a son of our townsman, Mr. J. B. Eaves.

Take HERBINE for indigestion. It relieves the pain in a few minutes and forces the fermented matter which causes the misery into the bowels where it is expelled. Price 50c. Sold by Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

Despondency Due to Constipation.

Women often become nervous and despondent. When this is due to constipation it is easily corrected by taking an occasional dose of Chamberlain's Tablets. These tablets are easy to take and pleasant in effect. dw

The remains of a young man named Simmons were brought to this city from Galveston yesterday, and laid to rest in Oak Grove cemetery. The young man lost his life on a boat near Galveston a year and a half ago, and was buried in Galveston. About a year ago his mother moved to the vicinity of Nacogdoches, and having decided to make this her permanent home, had her son moved. A brother and sister of the young man accompanied his remains and returned to Galveston today.

A good treatment for a cold settled in the lungs is a HERBINE'S RED PEPPER POROUS PLASTER applied to the chest to draw out inflammation, and BALLARD'S HOREHOUND SYRUP to relax tightness. You get the two remedies for the price of one by buying the dollar size Horehound Syrup; there is a porous plaster free with each bottle. Sold by Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

DISTRICT COURT.

District court went to work with a vim this morning, and before ten o'clock had convicted two negroes for bootlegging. These cases were against Pleasant Warden and Isaac Sessions, who were tried by jury, and given 5 years each, with the suspended sentence.

The next case called was against George Walker, which was going to trial when this report was prepared. Two divorce cases were tried yesterday afternoon as follows: Frank Procetta versus Beatrice Procetta, divorce granted. Ruth Massey versus C. M. Massey, divorce granted.

A pain in the side or back that catches you when you straighten up calls for a rubbing application of BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It relieves the contracted muscles and permits ordinary bodily motion without suffering or inconvenience. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

The old front of the building occupied by the Stone Fort Bakery has been torn out to make room for a model glass front, and Mr. Feazell, occupant, says people will hardly know whether they are entering the bank or his enterprise. This is a good improvement which will add much to the civic attractiveness of that part of the city.

HERBINE cures constipation and reestablishes regular bowel movements. Price 50c. Sold by Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

Mrs. Jno. J. Baker and daughter, Miss Louise, arrived home at noon today from a fortnight visit to Mrs. Baker's mother, Mrs. C. H. Levy, at Shreveport.

Not Bothered Any More.

So-called rheumatic pains, gripe aches, lame back, sore muscles or stiff joints are the result of overworked, weak or disordered kidneys. E. L. SEA WARRIORS ARE COMING TO BEAUMONT

Special to The Sentinel. Beaumont, Texas, Feb. 26.—Southeast Texas citizens will on March 5 to 12 inclusive, have the rare opportunity of seeing and visiting three beautiful torpedo boat destroyers.

Uncle Sam's sea warriors will be moored in the Beaumont harbor during those dates. The Lamson, Sterrett and Managhan, each over 300 feet long and carrying a complement of 76 men and four officers, are now on their recruiting cruise along the gulf coast and will arrive here March 5. Every afternoon during their stay they will be open to the public. They are by far the largest war vessels that have ever ventured to an inland gulf port, and the flotilla will be especially interesting at this time when the world is at war and when the United States is threatened with hostility at any moment.

Low railroad rates will be in effect from every point within 100 miles of Beaumont.

Beaumont's first "Torpedo Style Show" will be held during the time these handsome ships are in port, every store and office building will be decorated in honor of the naval flotilla and an abundance of entertainment will be provided for the officers and crew of the destroyers and for all others who are in the city that week.

Special sales will be put on by all merchants and the very latest thing for spring and summer wear will be artistically displayed in the large show windows.

Big league baseball games between the St. Poul club and the Beaumont Oilers will be among the attractions and arrangements have been made to take care of thousands of visitors.

Suffered From Lame Back, Weak Kidneys and Dizziness.

Dear Editor: "Last winter I suffered terribly from lame back, weak kidneys and dizziness, and uric acid in the blood caused rheumatic pains. I sent to Dr. Pierce's Buffalo, N. Y., for his new remedy, 'Anurie'. As soon as the box of tablets came by mail I commenced taking them, and reaped untold good from their use." (Signed) Mrs. KATE THORNTON.

Note.—This "Anurie" is adapted especially for kidney complaints and diseases arising from disorders of the kidneys and bladder, such as backache, weak back, rheumatism, dropsy, congestion of the kidneys, inflammation of the bladder, seeping urine and urinary troubles. The physicians and specialists at Dr. Pierce's "Invalide" Hotel, in Buffalo, N. FACTIONS CLASH

San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 22.—A report on a fight between Carranza and Villa troops south of Ruidosa was contained in an overnight dispatch from Colonel Joseph A. Gaston at Marfa, commander of the Big Bend patrol district. At the time his message was filed, fighting was still in progress and details were lacking. He reported that two wounded Carranza soldiers had crossed the border at Ruidosa and sought refuge among the Americans. General Pershing at El Paso granted authority for them to remain and be cared for.

According to a report today from Colonel H. G. Sickel, commanding the Columbus district, the Carranza commander in the territory south of Columbus is attempting to place patrols to protect the border against bands operating under General Salazar. American patrol forces in this section were increased following the recent raid on the Corner Ranch.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Shallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box of your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

GOOD SECURITY.

The following pretty little story was written by Darren Mason, and appeared in the last issue of Holland's Magazine. It should be read and studied by every young man, because the plan will work here and everywhere and fit you for any emergency that may come into your life in which you need financial help:

"Twenty dollars!" exclaimed Mrs. Phelps to her son. "Oh Dick, that was too much to pay for a present for me—just now."

"Bosh, mother dear, it wasn't half enough. Besides, 'just now' is the best time of all, because I got my increase in pay down at the office and this is my way of celebrating it."

Richard Phelps had run home from the city where he was employed in a big advertising concern, just for Sunday with the folks, and he brought along a rug as a present to his mother to celebrate his success.

"Now ma, it isn't like you to look so woe-be-gone over a new rug—I thought you said you couldn't ever get enough of them to suit you?"

Mrs. Phelps looked at her big, strong "man-boy" as she called him, and pride filled her heart in spite of her worries.

"Yes—but—I don't know as I should worry you, Dick, your father has a note coming due next week—six hundred dollars—and he's fearfully worried. You see he just paid for the new silo and he's got money coming in ninety days to cover this note. But he didn't figure on being held up ninety days."

"Wish I had known—well, let me see," and Richard took a bank book from his pocket, studied it, made a grimace, and continued—"will two hundred and seventy dollars and forty-five cents help him any?"

"Bless your heart, no besides he wouldn't take a cent of it; it would break his heart."

"I'll see him about it."

"Wait," he may speak of it when he gets back from the village. Run up to your room and wash up. What train are you going back on?"

"Milk train, 3:15 Monday morning. Got to be on the job on time and earn that new salary," and Richard climbed to the little room beneath the eaves that had been his since he was able to sleep alone.

Again he looked at his bank book. He wished he had saved more.

He came down just as his father entered and sadly shook his head at his mother's inquiring glance. He understood plainer than words that his father hadn't raised the six hundred dollars.

Richard tried to make a jolly Sunday, but with poor success! His father was glad to see him, proud of his raise, but deep in his own worries. Richard went back to the city feeling rather desperate. His payday was Tuesday. Methodically he slipped around the corner to the bank to make his customary deposit. He nodded to the receiving teller.

"Say, Mr. Simpson," he asked, in a troubled voice, "how can a young chap like me, from the country and with no security except his job, borrow three hundred dollars?"

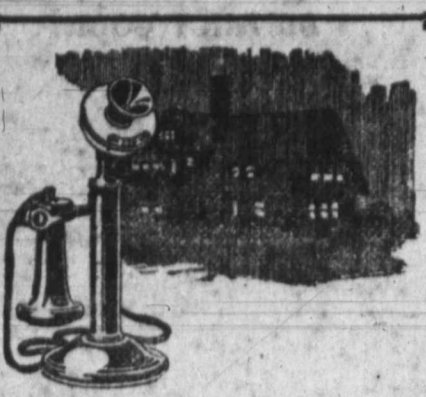

"Why, Mr. Phelps, with this deposit you have a trifle more than three hundred dollars here."

"I know—I need six hundred dollars—or rather my father does—"

"Just a minute," and he stepped inside to talk with an official.

"Young Phelps wants to borrow three hundred dollars, Mr. Merriman," said the receiving teller.

"Any security?"

Bell Telephone Protection

in the home is real protection. It has proved itself in thousands of cases.

When suspicious characters are about it is an assurance to know that the sheriff or the marshal can be summoned without delay.

A word to your Bell Telephone operator and assistance will be on the way.

"Yes," smiled Simpson, "very good security I consider it."

"What is it?"

"He came to this city to work a year ago and he hasn't missed a single week making a deposit. 'He wants the money for his father. I think—'

"So do I," smiled Mr. Merriman. "Any young chap who can come from the country to a lively city and not lose his head and not miss a week in making a deposit is good enough for me to risk something on." And then Merriman found out where Richard was working, his salary and a few other points. It doesn't take bank men long to learn whether you are industrious or lazy, decent or otherwise. Within the next ten minutes Richard had reached the money with drawn his own and sent a six-hundred-dollar check to his father.

"When your money comes in at the end of ninety days," he wrote, "you can pay me three hundred dollars. The other three hundred dollars was my own. And no kick from you, dad, because if you hadn't gone to a big expense and sent me to college, I couldn't be earning big money now."

At the end of the ninety days Richard got his father's check for three hundred dollars and this note:

"My boy, the other three hundred dollars is deposited in your bank for you. I knew you wouldn't take it otherwise. I don't need it. You bridged me over a troublesome spot and that college debt is cancelled many times over. Come home next Sunday! We're going to have fresh pork and hog'shead cheese and all the fixings."

When he got home his father asked, "Where'd you get your security son?"

"That's the funny part," answered Richard. "I didn't have a cent's worth of security."

But he did—his iron-clad rule to deposit something in the bank every week.

A FOOD FAMINE IS NOW THREATENED

Chicago, Feb. 21.—President J. P. Griffin of the Chicago Board of Trade today telegraphed to the interstate commerce commission and to the presidents of Eastern railroads insisting that unless an immediate embargo were placed on all products eastbound out of Chicago except fuel and foodstuffs the country will face the danger of anarchy and rioting.

It was authoritatively stated that unless action adequate to solve the car shortage situation has been taken by Friday next the Board of Trade will appeal to President Wilson and congress to take the situation out of the hands of the interstate commission, as might be done in time of war, and place it in the hands of a body with dictatorial powers for the time being. Blames Railroads.

In his telegram to the railroad president, Mr. Griffin says:

"Despite all your assurances no relief has been afforded to move grain and other food products out of Chicago.

"The present scarcity of supplies borders on famine in many commodities, with the consequent inflation of values directly chargeable to the failure of railroads to meet this national emergency.

"I request that instructions be given forthwith by you prohibiting the movement of any freight at this time excepting foodstuffs, coal and other commodities necessary to sustain human and animal existence.

"Unless this is done, there is great danger of riot and anarchy throughout this land. The present situation is largely caused by railroads giving preference to commodities other than those necessary to maintain life.

"Failure to meet the situation is squarely up to the railroads."

In his telegram to the interstate commerce commission, Mr. Griffin gives a synopsis of the one sent to the rail presidents and asks:

"None of the cures offered by the commission or by the railroads themselves has been or can be effective. Industrials generally are operating at from 200 to 300 per cent above normal and securing such equipment as needed. It is apparent, therefore, that preference is given to freight paying the greatest revenue.

"We are confronted with a national emergency. I request in behalf of the people of this country that the commission forthwith issue an order in line with the request that I have made of Eastern roads."

A meeting of the directors of the Board of Trade, lawyers and traffic experts was held this afternoon to ascertain if legal means can be found to force the railroads and the interstate commerce commission to clear up the situation, particularly as it affects Chicago.

REV. W. M. GADDY DIES IN DALLAS

A telegram signed by Mrs. C. S. Teague in Dallas, was received by a friend of the family in this city announcing the death of Rev. W. M. Gaddy, which sad event occurred at his home yesterday morning. His remains will be laid to rest in the cemetery at Dallas this afternoon.

Mr. Gaddy was pastor of the Baptist church in this city for a long time, and had many admiring friends in the city, and elsewhere over East Texas, who will be pained to learn of his death. He was a consecrated, able minister, and did a great work for the cause of his Master, which will live after him.

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Gardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Gardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Gardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 25 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill. I wish every suffering woman would give

WILL NOT SPARE

AMERICAN SHIPS
Amsterdam, via London, Feb. 22.—The Kolnische Volks Zeitung, assuming that the American government "is seeking to prove that Germany does not dare sink American ships," declares that should the steamers Rochester and Orleans meet a German submarine their fate would be sealed.

"It makes no difference," says the paper, "that they are not carrying contraband. It would be absurd after the German official declaration that even in a single case any regard should be paid to the possibility of avoiding a conflict with the United States."

It is now certain that John McLendon's wife, who has remained at their home in Center while Mr. McLendon was getting the paper on "its feet" and to going, will move up to Tena-ha, keep house for him and assist him in the office work in future. The cause of the hasty move will be observed in the following statement taken from his "Wise and Otherwise" column: "A beautiful woman came to the Messenger office and visited for half an hour the other day, and gave me some new ideas, and filled me with new hope and new aspirations. No matter how many grand-children a fellow may have, nor how sorry and down-and-out he may feel, he will take a new lease on life and brace up and feel important every time a pretty woman notices him. The office is rarely ever locked and I am 'at home' all the time, and I am going to need lots of encouragement and inspiration before I succeed in pulling the Messenger out of the wilderness."

Blount and the late Mr. E. A. Blount, to come to Texas. As the story runs, and as previously published in this paper, the gentlemen met at some point in Alabama. Mr. Hotchkiss is a distinguished Mason, being high up in the councils of this noble order. He has been making his headquarters in El Paso and Galveston lately.

PAINFUL EFFECT OF Rheumatism, Lumbago, Gout.

It is now asserted with confidence that these painful effects due to uric acid in the system are entirely eradicated. A new remedy, called "Auric," has been discovered by Doctor Pierce, which he finds is 37 times more potent than lithia, and is the cause of a drainage outward of the uric acid with which it comes in contact within the body. It will ward off backache, headache, and the darting pains and aches of rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia—of those diseases which are caused by too much uric acid, such as gout, asthma, sciatica, renal calculus. "Auric" prolongs life because old people usually suffer from hardening and thickening of the walls of the arteries, due to the excess of uric acid in the blood and tissues.

DISTRICT COURT.

From Tuesday's Daily. Yesterday was a very busy day with the district court, and so many matters were disposed of that the court worked itself out of a job again and is resting today.

The business disposed of, in addition to that reported in yesterday's paper, is reported below:

Willis Wright, charged with burglary, plead guilty and was given four years in the penitentiary.

The cases of Bryan Harrison and Rex Blackburn were dismissed.

Court will resume business at the same old stand tomorrow morning.

Cold Sores and Fever Blisters are only outward manifestations of the inflammation of the mucous surface that lines the lungs, the stomach and all the digestive tract, but they give you evidence of how sore a membrane may become as a result of inflammation, which is stagnation of the blood, rightfully called acute catarrh.

If you suffer from such conditions don't let them become chronic, don't run the risk of systemic catarrh.

Clear it Up With PERUNA

When your system is cleared of all its poisons, the membranes soothed and healed, the cold gone and your digestion restored, you will enjoy life, feel equal to all its tasks, and be at peace with the world. Let Peruna do for you what it did for this sufferer:

I have a small family of children. Times are hard with us, but I can scarcely afford to do without Peruna, especially during the season of the year when coughs and colds are prevalent. We always recommend Peruna to our neighbors, for the benefit it has been to us. You needn't suffer longer with such a remedy at hand."

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The public library, promoted and sustained by a few patriotic citizens of Nacogdoches, and an institution of which the town can well feel proud, is now open to the public in the ladies rest room of the court house, on the second floor, with Miss Emmie Beeson in charge.

The new location furnishes ideal quarters for the enterprise, having good ventilation, good light, and of easy access to the public, yet retired and away from any of the court rooms where any interference or annoyance would be caused by the passing throngs.

The library has about fifteen hundred books, and the supply is constantly replenished, furnishing a supply of literature by which almost any subject can be read and studied. The room is fitted up with good seats, water, lights and every modern convenience, making it a pleasant retreat where those disposed can pass away a leisure hour in the noble avocation of reading.

A member of the library committee authorizes The Sentinel to extend a special invitation to the ladies from the country who may be sojourning in town for any purpose, or attending court, visit the library and take advantage of the opportunities it offers. Instead of taking away of the privileges offered with the rest room heretofore, it is the purpose of the association to improve the facilities, and they are doing this by adding the opportunities of a free library and a constant attendant, making the arrangement much better.

A GREAT DAY AT LILY GROVE

Sunday was a great day for the saints at Lily Grove Baptist church. At 10 o'clock a. m., we met at our beautiful new church, had a flourishing Sunday School, and at 11:00 o'clock listened to one of our beloved pastor, Rev. A. T. Gerrard's great sermons. Then it was my good fortune to go with Mr. Walter Tindall, at 3:00 o'clock p. m., over to Lone Star and hear another good sermon by Bro. Gerrard, then back to Lily Grove that night, where a large crowd had gathered in wagons, buggies, autos for preaching. They came until the house was full. We had a great, good time, and four were united to the church at this service, three by letter and one by baptism. We took a collection for the Baptist school of Texas Sunday. We felt that the Lord was with us in all our work that day, and inspiring us to greater things for the Master's cause.
