SPEDDERS COLLIDE WITH THE LAW

Here's some encouraging news regarding the movement that is spreading throughout Louisiana for better enforcement of traffic regulations, especially those prohibiting excessive speeding.

A restaurant proprietor of Baton Rouge stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake of his car during a busy hour on one of the main streets of the state capital, and, as a result of his recklessness, the car made hasty advent to the sidewalk along which it ran for about sixty feet. Before the driver could regain control of the machine it had lost one of its wheels. Fortunately, no pedestrians were caught in its path. A jail sentence requiring the driver to spend ten days in jail was imposed.

In New Orleans the other day a speedster defied the rules of safety by operating his car at a rate of forty miles an hour. A five-day prison term was his penalty. That nobody was injured was not his fault, for forty miles an hour is too fast for driving on a thoroughfare where there is lots of traffic.

Several months ago the courts in Shreveport and Caddo began sentencing excessive speeders to jail, with excellent results. The fear that has been thrown into the hearts of daring and reckless autoists by this effective operation of the judicial machinery has made it much safer for the traveling public. Nothing should be done to permit the impression to get out that there will be any relaxation in this campaign against traffic law violators. The prison sentence is the only thing that will curb the speeder. That's why various communities are favoring its use.—Shreveport Journal.

COW AS J. B.'S SUCCESSOR

This is becoming a nation of milk drinkers. Figures from Washington show that the average American today drinks twice as much milk as his father did, in spite of the greater distance from the source of supply.

Last year we consumed 44 gallons less per capita, not including the milk used in ice cream, cheese and butter.

That is more than twice as much as the American ever consumed of alcoholic liquor in any form.

The record consumption of beer was a fraction less than 18 gallons per capita in 1917, and the record consumption of fall into ounces together in the same year was 20 gallons.

Tell this to those who insist that there is "more drinking than ever before under prohibition."

There is more drinking, indeed—of milk. It is the natural and inevitable substitute for beer and wine. A sensible and healthy nation has already made the discovery.—Houston Times.

HEALTH NOTES

Don't give the baby patent medicines. If you feel you must use advertised remedies try them on yourself, or better still, on the dog. Let your family doctor attend to the baby.

The U. S. Public Health Service estimates that at least 500 and possibly 1,000 lepers are at large in the United States, and that the number is increasing. The government did not start work on its Federal Home for Lepers a minute too soon.

The U. S. Public Health Service calls attention to the fact that only twenty-three states have efficient birth registration laws; eighteen have imperfect ones; and five have none at all. Inability to prove age may cause all sorts of troubles later in life—in proving citizenship, in voting, and in inheriting, for instance. Don't forget to make sure that the new arrival in your home has been registered.

It took Ehrlich 606 experiments to discover a way to give a man arsenic enough to kill syphilis germs in his blood without running the risk of killing him. He called the result 6-0-6 or "Salvarsan." In this country the United States government supervises its production through the Hygienic Laboratory of the Public Health Service and calls it arsphenamine.

The scratch of a lion's claw is almost as deadly as his bite, for he never cleans his nails, and he always carries under them rotting meat that is rank with deadly germs. Flies and water bugs do the same thing on a smaller scale; and "Don't forget," says the U. S. Public Health Service, "that they never wipe their feet."

Before marriage the fiance hates to go home; after marriage, ditto.

A DEPLORABLE MISTAKE

A white man who has been in jail for more than a year at Paris, charged with the killing of his wife and child, has been set free as the result of a confession by a negro, under sentence of death for another crime, that he himself murdered the woman and child, later testifying against the husband and father.

The holding of this white man in jail for a crime of which he is now apparently proven innocent was, a terrible mistake, made all the more tragic by the fact that he had already lost his family. Such a misfortune has been experienced by few men. And in that event so shaped themselves as to bring about evidence of his innocence when they did, it is not probable that a further tragic miscarriage of justice would have been perpetrated.

No doubt there was circumstantial evidence in the case sufficient to warrant the officers of Lamar county in holding the husband of the slain woman, in their opinion, but it would seem at this distance that had the investigation been as thorough as it should have been, the injustice to this man would have been avoided. Jumping to conclusions in this case has come near being fatal, and it can not be said that it reflects any great amount of credit on the authorities of Lamar county, who were apparently misled by the testimony of the negro.

The outcome of this tragedy emphasizes the danger of placing too much reliance in circumstantial evidence, and indicates the wisdom of the law in providing that the accused be accorded the benefit of the doubt. It also constitutes a warning against accepting the testimony of negroes against whites, unless the negroes are known to be of unimpeachable character.

This is the second case of this kind to come to light within a few months in Texas, the other being that of a negro who had served several years in the State prison for a crime which another negro, under sentence of death, confessed. These men have thus been vindicated by confessions, after having been restrained of their liberty.

These mistakes certainly should come as a warning to all peace officers in the state to use extreme care in ferreting out crimes, and to all those connected with courts, to use the utmost deliberation in performing their duties. It is as much the duty of these officials to see that the innocent are not persecuted, as to see that the guilty are apprehended and punished.—Houston Post.

YOU'LL GET YOUR PAPER

If the new postmaster general, Mr. Hays, has his way about it, subscribers to newspapers will get their papers delivered on time. Among other things he says "it is no part of the primary business of the postoffice department to act as a censor of the press. We are going to get along together and do the right thing in these matters of classification, rates, etc., and I want it distinctly understood there will never be any occasion when a publisher with any kind of a grievance is not thrice welcome to sit down with the head of the department and work it out." He promises to give the question of second class mails his closest attention, saying that the one unpardonable sin of the postoffice is not to deliver the daily mail on time. "The newspaper is pre-eminent, a thing which a man wants, and if he can't have it when he wants it he doesn't want it at all. We all know that the newspapers go to press on time, that they get off the press on time, that they are delivered to the postoffice on time. Therefore if they do not reach the subscribers on time the fault lies not with the publishers but with the postoffice department."—Lafayette News.

IMPORTANT TO STUDENTS

The following communication will be of very great importance to many young people in Nacogdoches county who are seeking a university, educational:

TO the County Superintendent of Public Schools or the Principal of Affiliated High Schools:

Opportunity will be afforded students in non-affiliated schools and students who are taking non-accredited subjects to take college entrance examinations on May 9, 10, 11, 12, 1921. Questions will be furnished on all subjects generally taught in high schools, and will be sent to you or any responsible teacher in your county upon request.

A student may take examination for the minimum number of units accredited on the subject; for example, in English or in Algebra examinations cannot be taken for first year's work, but may be taken upon completion of the work of the second year. On the other hand, a student who already holds two accredited units in English or any foreign language must take the entire examination submitted in order to obtain the additional credit desired.

Students should be encouraged to take examinations year by year until college entrance requirements are met. These credits will be accepted by affiliated high schools or colleges for five years from date of the examination.

Papers will be graded and grades recorded in this department. This arrangement meets the needs of many students in the small high school or some higher institution of learning. For further information consult Bulletin 123, pages 10 and 11.

A fee of one dollar will be paid by each student, and after paying the expense of sending the papers to Austin the remainder of the fee will be sent to the High School Division for defraying the cost of grading the papers. Local teachers will be expected to conduct the examinations without remuneration.

Under these conditions do you desire to co-operate with us in this movement? If so, please write us at once, stating how many lists of questions you desire.

Yours very truly,
S. M. N. Mays,
Chief Supervisor, Public High Schools

COTTON PLANTING SLOW

Washington, April 28.—Planting of cotton continued to make slow progress in the central and western portions of the belt because of lower temperature and heavy rainfall, but in the more eastern states conditions were favorable and work made satisfactory progress, according to the national weather and crop bulletin today.

Planting advanced northward during the week toward the northern portion of North Carolina and some planting was accomplished in Tennessee. The crop is up to a very good stand in central and South Carolina and planting is completed in that state, but germination results slowly owing to cool nights.

Recent cold also hindered germination in Georgia, where considerable planting will be necessary. Cool excessive rains were unfavorable in the Mississippi valley and the soil continues too cold and wet in the northwestern portion of the belt.

The condition of the crop in Texas is poor and stands unsatisfactory in many localities. Recoveries from the recent cold weather is slow in Texas, while later reports indicate considerable damage in the west half.

TAIL OF COMET WILL SIDESWIPE EARTH

Berkley, Cal., April 28.—For a month this summer the earth will engage in a race with the periodic comet Pons-Winnecke, and, because it will have no chance to win, it will endeavor, through astral influences, to "trip up" its gaseous rival, according to a report made public today by the observatory of the University of California. The earth will not get into the race until the comet has a lead of between 12,000,000 and 20,000,000 miles, but then it will put "everything it has" into its test with the comet.

The "tripping up" process of perturbation caused by the earth influences will pull the comet away from its course somewhat, but it will continue to plunge along the cosmic speedway at an undiminished pace. It will cap its supremacy finally when, on June 27, it flips its tail so hard against its terrestrial rival that the impact will send out sparks. These will go down in the record as a meteoric shower.

A SUSPICIOUS CHARACTER

A motorist had been haled into court, and when his name was called the judge asked what the charges were.

"Suspicious actions, your honor," answered the policeman who had made the arrest.

"Suspicious actions?" queried his honor. "What was he doing that he seemed to make you suspicious?"

"Well," replied the officer, "he was running within the speed limit, sounding his horn properly, and trying to keep on the right side of the street, so I arrested him."

BIRTHDAY DINNER

The home of Mr. A. W. Eddings of this city was the scene of a happy gathering Wednesday, the 27th, it being the occasion of the 70th birthday anniversary of that gentleman, which was celebrated by a dinner, at which all his children and their families were present. The reunion was enjoyed to the utmost by the pleased guests and also the venerable host. Father Time seems to have touched Mr. Eddings very lightly, he being still active and vigorous, bearing the weight of years most blithesomely. We hope he may see many more returns of his natal day.

The English language is called the mother tongue because father never has a chance to use it.

TRYING TO SIDE TRACK FARMERS

"Don't join that association," is not the cry of the speculators when they are fighting a producers co-operative marketing association, according to Aaron Sapiro, nationally famous marketing expert.

"This is not their method," he said recently. "But they go to a few of the growers, particularly to the leaders of the growers, a few of the rural merchants and farmers, and they say to them 'that is a mighty fine plan as a whole, that is the real stuff, but I tell you that is not the kind of contract you ought to have a twenty year contract.' They will manage to get the grower concentrated on some little point of prejudice. But with everybody behind this movement—the bankers, the farmers, the farmers' organizations, the newspapers, the agricultural colleges, the extension department, etc., nothing on earth can keep it down."

GIRLS! BLEACH SKIN WHITE WITH LEMON

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quart pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands once each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of the skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

NEW GRAIN PLANT

In a five year period, Spur Feterita has produced 7.89 bushels per acre more than the unimproved feterita. This is one of the most distinct and obviously valuable finds of the research work of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, who have from time to time been rewarded with useful discoveries through which the agriculture of Texas has been greatly enriched.

Spur Feterita was developed at substation No. 7, Spur, Texas, in an elaborate selection project beginning in 1914 and extending through 1917. When its superior value was established to the satisfaction of the investigator in charge, increased plantings were made as rapidly as possible so that in 1919, more than 8,000 pounds of the improved seed were distributed in Texas, besides a considerable distribution in other states. Reports from farmers growing Spur Feterita show without exception its superior behavior.

Bulletin No. 275, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, A. & M. College, tells the thrilling story of this great, new grain sorghum and every farmer in Texas interested in grain production should write at once to the director at College Station for a copy of this bulletin, which has just come from the press.

Attention still seems to be centered upon the deep test going down at Sacul. Many responsible men in Nacogdoches are inclined to believe that Sacul has a real oil well, but think efforts are being made to keep the find under cover. Time will tell the story. In a few days, Mr. C. H. Ramsey will commence his deep test in another location at Appleby, and expects to strike oil at a depth of 3,000 feet. Mr. Ramsey was putting down a deep test at Appleby last year, and got down to a depth of 1,300 feet, when he had the misfortune to get his casing twisted, this causing stoppage of the drilling. In the meantime Nacogdoches county is destined to become an oil county—time will tell the story.

SINGERS REUNION

The Nacogdoches County Singers Reunion met in a very live session at Cedar Bluff Friday night, April 1st, and closed the following Sunday at noon.

The reunion was well attended by the singers over this county. A number of prominent visiting singers from adjoining counties were also there. Our singers with the able assistance of visiting singers made the sweet songs in the new Vaughn Book ring.

The success of the reunion depended largely on the good singers from neighboring counties. Messrs R. H. Hooper, P. O. Caldwell, and Byron Robinson were among the good singers of Shelby county; Professor J. L. Jimmerson and wife, Mr. Ross and Miss Duke, very creditably represented Panola county, and Mr. W. M. Tabb, Mr. R. A. Courtney and wife of Angelina county, also ably represented their county.

As usual the good people of Cedar Bluff entertained the reunion most royally. It was a great time for the singers. They literally feasted on the good things Cedar Bluff had to eat; they socially feasted on the wholesome greetings and inspiring association of both new and life long musical friends, and they spiritually feasted on the good new ringing songs that permeated the soul of the musically inclined. Who is it that would not envy the singer such profound soul-filling joy, that he thinks, capacities him for greater joy over Yonder where the heavenly choir eternally sings praises to the Father on High. Let's look forward to the next Reunion that meets at New Hope in June, when we can again feel this aching void with the heavenly sweetness of those good soul-stirring songs.

Very respectfully,
Committee.

Mr. T. W. Hawkins, inspector for the Texas Sanitary Livestock Commission, who is here for the purpose of helping get better livestock in this county and freeing the county of ticks, was busy Saturday morning in the office of the Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce arranging the details of his work preliminary to beginning his active campaign. Mr. Hawkins has been in Nacogdoches only a few days, but he seems very favorably impressed with the possibilities of the county in a livestock producing way, and it is understood that he is of the opinion that if he receives the proper co-operation from the Nacogdoches county people that he can pretty well have the county freed of ticks in the next 18 months.

The young men of the Baptist Sunday-school will meet next Sunday for the purpose of arranging details for the big banquet that will probably be held in the basement of the church Friday, May 13. All young men who subscribe to the Baptist faith are requested to be present at the meeting. The Baptist boys want to make the affair "the biggest thing ever pulled off in Nacogdoches."

An old time citizen of Nacogdoches who is now a traveling man, was here Monday for the first time in several months and in conversation wanted to know what was the matter here. He said that there was more business life in Nacogdoches than in any town he had been in for several months.

MRS. HENCE BURROWS

Sunday night, about 9:45, Mrs. Hence Burrows, aged 69, died suddenly at her home. Mrs. Burrows had been visiting a neighbor, and had just come home. She was in her room sitting by the family fireside conversing freely with the family when she suddenly fell. Death was instantaneous supposedly due to heart trouble. The deceased leaves a husband, two sons and a daughter. She will be buried Wednesday afternoon in North church cemetery, Rev. J. L. Massey officiating. The deceased had been a member of the Methodist church for the past 27 years, being converted to that faith during the time the famous evangelist, Abe Mulkey, held his great revival in Nacogdoches.

MISS HALLIE YATES

Sunday afternoon at 12:30, Miss Hallie Yates, aged 63, passed quietly away after a brief illness commencing one day previous to her death. The deceased was eating dinner Saturday and became suddenly ill. She was carried quickly to her room where she grew worse. The end finally came Sunday, approximately 24 hours after she was first stricken. She is survived by two brothers and one sister. The funeral was held in Oak Grove cemetery Monday, Rev. S. D. Dolla-hite officiating.

PEACE

Nacogdoches, April 30, 1921
Mr. Editor:
Allow me space in your newspaper for a few words on peace.

There are some who are thinking of peace, some who are speaking of peace, and there are some trying to make peace.

I must say the only source whereby we can have world-wide peace is first to have peace with God.

If man, regardless of race, denomination or party, will first make sweet peace with God, there will be no trouble in making peace with your fellow man, for it is Jesus and Him only can give Peace, Joy and Happiness. C.B.

Monday was a rather quiet day over Nacogdoches, not many people being here to trade, most of the farmers being with their crops which are sorely in need of attention.

While we are thinking about improvements why not get the idea of more and better sidewalks fixed in our minds. Nacogdoches certainly needs more sidewalks. It is to be hoped that a sidewalk epidemic will reach this city at an early date and last throughout the year then there will be plenty of room for more.

Hugh Hamlett and Henry Woods, the representatives of the Texas Interscholastic League of the Nacogdoches high school, and winners of the highest places in the recent meet at Timpson, left Wednesday for Austin, where they will represent the Nacogdoches high school in the final try-outs. Both boys leave Nacogdoches with the best wishes of the high school and the best wishes of the city for success. They are both able to make good, if they are given half a chance—and of course they will get that.

Mr. Gilgore had a great deal to say about the progressiveness of Lufkin, boasting very much of the new six story hotel which is soon to be built there. He took advantage of the opportunity to say that Elmo Bright, one of the grocery men of this city, "would be out of order for the next few days, he being a country boy, having spent a few days in the city—Lufkin!"

ROTARY CLUB ENTERTAINS GUESTS

The Rotary Club had for its guests today Judge J. M. Marshall and Commissioners Stoddard, Lyles and Moss.

Rev. Dr. Atwell served as chairman and the following bunch called on H. L. McKnight for a talk.

Mr. McKnight explained that he was filling the place of E. H. Blount who was unavoidable absent. He took for his text, "Our Invited Guests and Their Problem" and pointed out how the public servant who tries to faithfully discharge his duty is entitled to public commendation, rather condemnation. He called attention to the fact that the best and wisest men learned by experience.

At the conclusion of his talk, the Rotary Club gave a rising vote of thanks to the commissioners for their untiring efforts to give Nacogdoches county a creditable system of hard-surfaced roads.

County Engineer Lamar Acker responded to the invitation of the chairman to discuss road maintenance. Commissioners Stoddard, Lyles and Moss each responded to the request for a brief word and each one promised to give his best energy and ability to the completion of the task in hand. Judge Marshall pointed out that under the law, the county could probably find a way to finance the completion of the surfacing of the entire system now under way.

About Digestion
It is claimed that only half as much food is required when it is thoroughly masticated. Digestion begins at the mouth and thorough mastication of the food is of the greatest importance. When needed take Chamberlain's Tablets to strengthen the digestion and insure a regular movement of the bowels. Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

Periodic Bilious Attacks
Persons subject to bilious attacks at regular intervals know about when to expect an attack. They find that they have no desire for food when the attack is due but usually eat because it is meal time. Skip one meal and take three of Chamberlain's Tablets and you may be able to avoid the attack. Persons subject to periodic bilious attacks should not drink tea or coffee at any time.
