A LACK OF ISSUES.

Houston Chronicle.
Of course we will put on a grand campaign when we get around to it, with lots of cash, oratory and red fire; but what about?

We will have our pre-convention speeches and our post-convention lineup.

We will view with alarm and point with pride as of yore, and predict dire calamity to the other team when we get out the bands, hold the call for contributions and the various pieces of literature.

But what about?

Who knows what the prominent issue is going to be?

If it is a really a prominent issue, couldn't it be in some of the issues of course the tariff is there, and if the democrats win it will be lowered, though only in a partial and cautious way.

The tariff can always be depended upon, but for that very reason it is rather uninteresting.

The league of nations might be submitted if each of the two parties were not so baldly split on it.

The same can be said of prohibition.

The issues that would seem to call for expression are barred because of a mixed party attitude, while those that fit the party attitude appear to have been settled.

And no matter what happens, when it is all over we will get together and declare the result is for the best and the old U. S. A. is all right for another four years.

Some may see a real discouragement in this lack of issues, or this lack of media for the expression of issues, but doesn't it really point to a rather healthy condition?

Isn't the real explanation to be found in the fact that no considerable number of us find anything worth quarreling about?

If there were an honest issue on the horizon, couldn't we find a way to divide over it, even if we had to create half a dozen new parties?

The trouble with the American people, if indeed it can be called trouble, is that they are pretty well satisfied with their present form of government and the present condition of business.

There isn't any considerable number of them that want a fundamental change.

They are willing to talk bluster about this or that party, but only so long as it stays pretty close to the line.

Let somebody suggest a wide departure from the American plan, and that somebody is immediately classified as a radical.

No matter whom the democrats, or the republicans, nominate, he will have to stay close to custom and tradition, or be side-tracked, and no matter how the platforms may appear to clash with each other, so far as verbiage is concerned, they will have to mean pretty much the same thing if the parties hold together.

BARRON GETS DAMAGES

I. D. Barron returned a few days ago from Houston, where he made a final settlement with the Southern Pacific Railway Company in a damage suit for the loss of a leg when run over by a loose box car in the switch yards here. Barron recovered a judgment for $10,000 in the district court, but on appeal to the Beaumont Court of Civil Appeals the case was reversed and judgment rendered in favor of the railroad. Attorney Geo. S. King, his counsel, took the case to the Supreme Court, and the judgment of the Beaumont court was reversed. On the strength of this decision the railroad company offered to compromise for $7,500, which offer was accepted. Barron's share of this sum was $4,000, which he has deposited in a bank. This means much to the unfortunate man, the loss of whose leg seriously handicaps him in earning a livelihood. It is considered that Attorney King's success in this case was a big legal victory, and he is being congratulated, along with his client.

KLAN SPEECH IS CHALLENGED BY CATHOLICS

Replies Issued to Address of Imperial Wizard at Dallas

Washington, Oct. 25.—Replies were issued here today by the National Catholic Welfare conference and the executive committee of the assembly of orthodox rabbis of America to the address delivered at Dallas, Texas, by Dr. H. W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, outlining the clan's attitude toward the Catholics and Jews.

Father John P. Burke, general secretary of the Catholic conference declared Dr. Evans' statement regarding the Catholics in America had made the issue clearcut, adding that "it is for Americans to decide whether they will stand with their country or with the clan."

Challenging the clan to a joint debate, Rabbi Simon Glazer of the Great Synagogue of New York, declared the issue was whether Jewish Americans were to be considered Americans according to the clan whether they must first be converted as Americans.

"The statement reported in today's press as made by H. W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan," said Father Burke's statement, "reveals without further question of the clan's intolerance for the negroes, Jews and Catholics. Up to the present, in spite of statement and evidence to the contrary, the clan has denied that it persecuted any of the above named."

"Evans states that to the Catholic hierarchy of the United States the president of the United States is subordinate to the priesthood at Rome, that the parochial schools of the country are a proof of 'divided' allegiance on the part of the Catholics. He offers no proof of these statements. He can not offer proof. They are malicious misstatements, refuted completely, if refutation were needed, by the official declaration of the American bishops of America's entry into the war; by the thousands of Catholic dead buried overseas; by the fact that the first American officer killed was educated in a Catholic school, and the last one killed was a Catholic priest."

"The clan, through its official representatives, sets at naught the declaration of independence, the constitution of the United States and the constitution of every state in the union. According to the clan, the foundation on which our country was built, religious and racial intolerance can not endure."

GREAT STATESMAN PASSES

London, Oct. 30.—Andrew Bonar Law, for seven months prime minister of Great Britain, died in his London home at 3 o'clock this morning.

He resigned the premiership May 20 last because of a throat malady which for a long time had troubled him.

Ten days ago he returned to London from Brighton after a sojourn of several weeks. Physicians issued a statement to the effect that he had contracted a severe chill. The public did not suspect the end was so near until they read in the morning's newspaper that he had developed septic pneumonia, and then his condition gave rise to considerable anxiety. His daughter, the only near relative left in England, was with him during the last days of his illness.

CLAIM INFRINGEMENT

Chicago, Oct. 31.—The Standard Oil Company of Indiana today filed a bill of complaint in the United States District Court here against the Universal Oil Products Company and announced that a similar bill had been filed in the Federal District Court at East Saint Louis against the Roxana Petroleum Company to enjoin them from the use of certain oil extracting processes. The bill alleges infringement of patents.

OPPOSES SEPARATION

London, Oct. 31.—Great Britain has formally advised France and Belgium that it cannot recognize the separatist movement in the Rhineland or the establishment of an individual state in Cologne or other parts of the occupied areas.

Both army and navy file objections to being merged into the department of defense. They still think it's the army and navy forever.

KU KLUX WIZARD CRITICISED IN HEARING

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 29.—Affidavits in support of the allegations and presentation of counter-evidence marked the beginning of the hearing in Fulton County Court here today of the petition by David M. Rittenhouse and others of Philadelphia asking receivership for the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

An affidavit was submitted by attorneys for the Rittenhouse faction from E. J. Jones, described as cashier of the clan, which charged alleged irregularities on the part of the high imperial officers of the organization. The affidavit declared that at the beginning of his term as imperial wizard Dr. H. W. Evans told him (Jones) that he (Dr. Evans) "expected to make at least $100,000 out of the clan while he was an officer, and did not think that he could last more than 12 months."

The affidavit also declared that N. N. Fumey, described as treasurer of the clan, had stated that the books of the order were "in such bad order that he did not think an audit would ever be possible."

Doctor Evans was charged with having purchased 14 cartons of one issue of a newspaper and having copies mailed to Klans throughout the United States, in an affidavit sworn to by E. J. Jones. The issue contained a story complimentary to Doctor Evans and his photograph, Jones swore, and the total cost was $18,000.

Jones, in his affidavit, charged that Doctor Evans, Paul S. Etheridge and F. L. Savage, the latter at that time head of the Klan investigation bureau, went to Chicago last spring to take part in the city election there. Large sums, he added, were charged as expenses, attorney's fees and for investigations. Expenses for working in an election are barred under the constitution of the clan, he said, but that there were items entered on the books totaling $77,000 for attorneys' fees and $40,000 for investigation.

A SHOCKING ACCIDENT

While cutting logs at the Popp mill, 10 miles south of town, Monday afternoon, Clifton Tubbe, 25 years old, was the victim of an unusual and shocking accident. A falling limb struck his nose, tearing that member off about half-way from the end and the flesh of his face to a point near the lips on either side, forming a flap which fell down over his mouth. The young man was rushed to the office of Dr. A. A. Nelson, who set the broken bones and stitched the gashes, the patient refusing to take an anesthetic for the operation. He was moved to the Mount Street Hospital where he is receiving every possible attention. Dr. Nelson said it was one of the worst small hurts he had ever seen.

Abilene, Texas, Oct. 31.—The expected freeze did not materialize last night. Rain began falling here this morning. West Texas has been soaking wet for about ten days.

LABOR LEADER IN TROUBLE

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 31.—James McLachlan, secretary of district No. 26, United Mine Workers of America, until ousted by President John Lewis during the Cape Dretton coal strike last summer, was sentenced to the Dorchester penitentiary today for two years for seditious libel.

SHOOTS TWO; KILLS SELF

El Paso, Texas, Oct. 31.—Albert Davie, 42, died here today from self-inflicted gunshot wounds, while his wife, Helen, and her sister, Miss Mary Ragan, are possibly fatally wounded as the aftermath of a quarrel last night over financial matters and jealousy, according to the police.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 31.—Lee Morgan, 55, was killed at Brady today by the accidental discharge of a shotgun.

UNITED STATES WINS IN TWELVE-MILE LIMIT FIGHT

London, Oct. 31.—Final terms which will form a basis for Anglo-American treaty to cope with rum-running along the American coast, was formally presented to the Imperial Conference today. Ambassador Harvey and Lord Cruzon, the British foreign secretary, agreed to terms yesterday. The terms were that United States authorities will have the right to search a British ship within the twelve-mile limit suspected of carrying liquor for smuggling purposes. The United States will formally affirm by treaty the principal of a three-mile limit for territorial waters. British ships will have the right to carry liquor under seal into the territorial waters of the United States.

Enforcement Strengthened

Washington, Oct. 31.—British modification of Secretary Hughes' proposal for a treaty agreement permitting the searching of foreign vessels for contraband liquor beyond the three mile limit is expected to be acceptable to the Washington government. It was said the treaty would place a stronger weapon against rum runners in the hands of American prohibition enforcement officials than this government originally expected to be able to obtain.

BONAR WILL REST WITH ENGLAND'S GLORIOUS DEAD

London, Oct. 31.—The body of Andrew Bonar Law, former prime minister of Great Britain, will be buried in Westminster Abbey next Monday.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Major General Henry Allen, who commanded the American forces on the Rhine, announced today on his arrival from Washington, that plans are being made to feed two million German children this winter through the medium of the American Society of Friends. He returned from a visit last July and declared that a very grave situation, one with which Germany itself is not able to cope, existed in Germany.

RAILROAD AS WILDCATTER

Austin, Texas, Oct. 31.—A hearing on the application of the Trinity & Brazos Valley Railroad for a permit to drill oil wells on its right of way through the Powell oil field in Navarro county was set today for November 2.

H. B. POWER

Mr. Holloway B. Power, one of our county's oldest residents, died early Tuesday at his home five miles north of the city. Had he survived until next May, he would have been 90 years of age.

Mr. Power's health has not been robust for the past year, but his fatal illness was of comparatively short duration. Even though he had passed by a score of years the allotted three score and ten, his death came as a shock to his family and wide circle of friends. They miss him and mourn his absence from the daily walk.

Deceased was of that highest type of manhood, a Christian gentleman. In all his relations with his fellow men he maintained that high standard of moral strength which prompted him always to "do unto others as he would have them do unto him." And it requires Christian courage and matchless fortitude to do that. Every good cause found in him a ready champion and every sorrowing, stricken one a loyal friend, ready at all times to assist and console with helpful deeds or comforting word.

Mr. Power died near the spot where he was born. For more than 60 years he had occupied the home where he passed away. He was one who rarely strayed far from the rooftree, which was his sanctuary and asylum.

Deceased was survived by five sons and four daughters, "Buddie," Frank, John, Tom and Charlie, and Mrs. Marion Wilson of Willis, Montgomery county; Mrs. R. T. Fain, who resided with him; Mrs. Gaston Crosby of Douglass and Mrs. T. H. Muckleroy of Nacogdoches.

Funeral services were held at the family home at 3:30 Tuesday afternoon and interment was made in North Church cemetery, Rev. A. T. Garrard of the Baptist church conducting the service.

CLAIMS HAZING DROVE BOY FROM A. AND M.

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 31.—A charge that excessive hazing went on at Agricultural and Mechanical College was made by O. C. Reynolds of Sterling City, a rancher, who was here Tuesday. Reynolds said he had removed his son, Clyde C. Reynolds, 18, from the institution and has written the commandant of the cadet corps offering to present evidence in case an investigation is made of his charges.

Four boys went to Agricultural and Mechanical College from Sterling county this fall, Reynolds said, all freshmen. Today the four are back in their homes, "driven back by hazing," Reynolds declared.

"When the boys went down there they expected hazing with a strap by good-natured upper classmen," said Reynolds, "and instead they encountered the upper classmen wielding a baseball bat, flattened on one side and a 1x4 scantling." One boy was whipped five times in one day, he declared.

In case an investigation is made of his charges, Reynolds can supply the evidence, he wrote.

ONE REASDN WHY

Mr. Willis Burrows, mail carrier on Route 2, out of Nacogdoches, stopped in front of the Sentinel office as he started out on his rounds, calling attention of a reporter to the large amount of parcels post packages filling the seat and rear part of the car, aggregating about 500 pounds. Mr. Burrows very properly condemned the practice of sending to mail order concerns for what might be bought at home, adding, however, that the roads should be placed in good condition if the people expected to continue having their supplies mailed to them, thus enabling vehicles to make time in getting over the country.

The idea is a good one, of course, but when our people send their money to foreign concerns, which pay no taxes, instead of spending with the home merchants, who do pay local taxes and thus aid in building and maintaining the roads of the county, where does Mr. Burrows expect the money to come from for road work or any other public enterprise? It can't be done. And the ridiculous feature of the proposition is that in many cases—perhaps most cases—the purchaser would find the same or better article at an equal or lesser price right in the home store. If you make a purchase from your local merchant and it is unsatisfactory, you may have your money back or the goods exchanged, which is a privilege you do not enjoy in dealing with the mail order houses. Think it over—and think hard before you make your next order.

BOX SUPPER AT FAIRVIEW

Friday night, November 2, there will be a box supper and school entertainment at Fairview.

Among the features of the entertainment will be debating, musical selections, a fishing pond and other things.

The proceeds will go for the benefit of the school.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend, and the girls will please bring boxes.

BOX SUPPER AT ALAZAN

A box supper will be given Friday night, November 2, at Alazan for the benefit of the school, and the way they usually do things in that favored community, a great time is sure to result.

County Superintendent Miss Erier Lewis will be present among those from the city.

Dr. A. W. Birdwell of the teachers' college will be the chief speaker, and his address is certain to be worth hearing, but most of the time will be taken up in merrymaking, it is understood.

The teachers of this school are Prof. F. F. Smith, principal, and Misses Mattie Bonner and Iler Sault, assistants, and they are giving the people of Alazan a good school.

The wide-awake trustees are Messrs. W. J. Christopher, W. B. Beck and J. J. Morgan.

It isn't crossing the three-mile limit that gets a rum-runner into trouble, but double-crossing.

With a total of $82,690,435, Texas contributed materially to the new high level of trust company resources of the country according to "Trust Companies of the United States," just issued by the United States Mortgage & Trust Company of New York.

The Southwestern States registered a total of $172,623,437 again of $28,795,455 over the previous year.

Nearly fourteen and one-half billions of dollars is the impressive total of resources held by the Trust Companies of the country. The actual figures for the year ending June 30, 1923, are $14,441,460,650, as compared with $12,739,620,733 in 1922, representing a gain of $1,701,839,917. Deposits increased from $10,470,477,813 to $11,828,983,410.

Commenting on the excellent showing of Trust Companies as above set forth, John W. Platten, president of the United States Mortgage & Trust Company, says:

"These figures speak for themselves. They also testify in no uncertain manner to the growing popularity and added appreciation of the helpful service being rendered by the Trust Companies to their respective communities throughout the United States. Such concrete evidence of confidence can only lead to an ever-widening and deepening influence on the part of these institutions."

THE PENSION ROLL OF THE WAR

There may be people yet who think of war and peace as two separated periods; who believe that when war officially ends peace begins. The fact is, and it scarcely seems to need restating, that war drags its wounded carcass along through the period of peace for what seems an indefinite period.

Probably no clearer proof of this pertinacity of war is to be found than in the figures showing the number of former soldiers in the great war who are receiving pensions from their respective governments. The total for both sides reaches almost 8,000,000.

Some of them are partially useful; many of them have no further usefulness. Long after the cities have been rebuilt and the fields again bloom with crops, these men will survive as memorials of the price of service and as a necessary tax on the public. Germany has 1,537,000; France 1,500,000; Britain 1,700,000; Italy 800,000; Australia, 164,000; Rumania, 100,000; Belgium, 50,000; Canada, 45,000; New Zealand, 20,000; Finland, 10,000. The world war pensioners of the United States are placed at 157,000.

These dependent soldiers are sufficiently scattered to be a world argument for peace; at least, they are eloquently destructive of any theory that war is finite and can be bounded by the number of days it occupies. No man has yet been able to state the real cost of war. If anyone could and did, the total would break the heart of civilization.

BANKS AND INSURANCE

This is no boom article for banks or insurance, but published because financial and property losses weaken the community.

In nearly every issue of this paper will appear accounts of the burning up of homes.

Often everything in the house was a total loss, including a goodly sum of money, and other valuables. And the story ends with the words, "They had no insurance."

This is a human interest article to warn such as do not have their home, its contents and all that is insurable, properly protected.

It is sound common sense to use every possible precaution to safeguard one's property, real and personal.

So heavy proves the loss to almost any family that they are for the time destitute; neighbors care for them and relatives in another state are telegraphed for funds.

It is also unsafe to leave any sum of money in a home. It is best, as a safe rule, not to leave at home or carry on one's person any great amount of money.

Banks are the place in which to leave money, and the checkbook does the rest. People, who imagine that when they deposit money in a bank, they are helping that institution, ought to know better.

It is the bank that helps them, by providing a safe place for their funds, and a convenient and safe way of paying their bills.

Many hardships can be avoided when one takes every precaution to protect, through insurance, his home, his personal property, his health and ward off losses through accident.

ONE AND ONE

There was one profession and one addition to the church last night at the tabernacle meeting in the western section of the city. A fair sized audience assembled in the tabernacle. Music was the best yet, under the direction of Mr. Will Feazell. The choir space overflowed. Madames Lindsey and Perry presided at the instruments.

An interesting talk meeting was had in the beginning of the service. Many tearful requests for prayer for friends and relatives were made.

The pastor preached on "Angels Hastening Lot," using for the text Genesis 19:15. "And when the morning arose the angels hastened Lot." It was pointed out that Christian people are too slow in many things. Then the minister showed that unsaved people are too slow in the matter of getting saved. As sinners linger, time passes and souls are lost. There are many reasons why the unsaved man should be in a hurry about salvation.

A prayer service was announced for 7 o'clock this evening at the tabernacle for girls and women.

THE AGE OF RETIREMENT

Seattle has two postal clerks who refuse to quit work, although officially discharged and placed on the pension list because of old age. They claim to be perfectly able to do the work required and not anxious to be listed as pensioners. Of course these men have reached the retiring age—65 years—and, according to rules of the department, are excused from further duties. They get an allowance of $60 per month, but prefer to remain as workers.

The man who set an age at which all must retire from active life and live on pensions made a great mistake. He did not know human nature. The idea of the working age of man coming to a terminus at 50, 60 or 65 years is something that few active men are willing to accept as good gospel.

There are men engaged in active work who will soon celebrate the closing of the first century. Some of them expect to be in the harness after they have passed the hundred-mile post. The man who has worked during a long lifetime would not be happy in the supposed enjoyment of a workless old age.

Why set a limit to the days of usefulness? Just as well enact a law setting the date of death, place of burial and prescribing the cost of the funeral.

TELEPHONE-BUILDING INVESTMENT

If all the buildings owned by the Bell Telephone system were grouped together they would make a business community with 400 more buildings than the total number of office buildings in New York City, as classified by the Department of Taxes and Assessments.

Next to its investment in modern telephone equipment, the largest investment of the Bell System is in its 1600 modern buildings, with a value of nearly $160,000,000. Ranging in size from twenty-seven stories down to one story, they are used principally as executive offices, storehouses and garages. The modern construction of most of the buildings is indicated by the fact that the investment in buildings is now over three times what it was ten years ago.

Every building owned by the Bell System must be so constructed and so situated as to serve with efficiency the telephone public in each locality, and to be a sound investment for future requirements. Moreover, every building is a symbol to investors of the vast and ever growing physical resources—the "plant"—of the Bell System.

This "plant" exceeds in value by many millions of dollars the sum at which it is carried on the books.

WAGES HIGHER THAN COST OF LIVING

Based on selected industries all over the country by the National Bureau of Labor, and the cost of living calculated by the National Industrial Conference Board for a workingman's family of five, it is shown that since 1917 wage levels have kept generally above living costs.

The downward trend of wages in 1920-21 was arrested much sooner than the decline in cost of living. During 1922-23 fluctuations in living costs have been almost inconsequential, but wages have risen constantly.

As a result of the industrial revival in the United States during the past year and a half the advance in real wages, or purchasing power in necessities of life, has substantially increased, as shown by increased savings bank deposits and growth of retail trade.

OUR COUNTRY—ALWAYS

American form of government is recognized throughout the world as the most humanitarian, most stable and most effective of all forms.

No real cause for unrest or discontent exists. Industry is thriving at peak load and payrolls are being steadily maintained. Labor and capital in America are nearly at balance.

Americans are not blind to the ills of European nations where famine and international strife are preventing the orderly conduct of affairs and where such conditions prevent a well-balanced return to pre-war prosperity.

Americans will not brook the destructive forces from without to enter Our Country with pink and red propaganda to disrupt the nation and turn its affairs over to an element which knows no law—either of Man or God—and destroys the initiative of a hundred and ten millions of souls.

No socialistic or communistic doctrines can successfully endure in any nation and this has been recognized in America for more than a century of orderly administration.

There is no place for the forces of destruction.

One reason bad errors creep out in world series games is that the players are so busy counting how many homers this series between the Yanks and the Giants produced.

"UPLIFTING THE DANCE"

"If you really are a good waltzer you ought to be able to dance with a cup of tea on your head without spilling any" is the dictum of a London authority on the art of Teispische. That interests us far more than the evidence it affords that somewhere in the world there still are to be found devotees of the stately waltz. To be sure, this will not elevate London in the esteem of really progressive dancers. You can hardly expect widespread respect for a people who pass up the shimmy for something more dignified.

But is there not in the Londoner's dictum a suggestion for increasing the gaiety of ballroom antics on this side? If a good waltzer, who does all his dancing below the hips, carries his body with that dignity and poise which would enable him to use his cocc as a tray for his teacup, why should not more acrobatic dances be refined in kind? Observers have remarked that no head-work is required in tripping the light fantastic of the day. Why not, then, introduce the vogue of carrying while dancing?

There is no great trick in poisoning a bottle on the poll, orifice down while standing still; it would be some stunt to do the same thing while prancing, shivering and shaking around in a ball room. But all that would be necessary would be control of the muscles of the neck so that the head would remain absolutely still regardless of what the body and limbs were doing.

There might be considerable loss of glassware and crockery while adepts were being developed, but who cares for expense? The "gate" no doubt would be substantially increased. It might take some of the abandon out of the dance and so break down prejudice. But let us not risk teacups, since it's as much a tea age as anything in America.

KING TUT DIDNT KNOW

If Tut-Ankh-Amen had known 5,200 years ago what we now know about tuberculosis, he might have continued to die through the streets of Thebes in that wonderful golden chariot for possibly fifty years more instead of being an untimely victim of a preventable disease. But tuberculosis is no respecter of persons. It takes high and low, rich and poor. And how the young king did hate to go, judging by the way he clung to his treasures even in death, in the hope of being reunited with them some time in another world!

If he had lived today, his doctors would have detected the first symptoms of the disease and ordered his royal highness to the simple life—back to nature, rest, a rational diet, medical supervision, away from the fast pace of court life for a few years and back he would come with rosy cheeks and springy step feeling more like a king than ever.

But then, if they had known as much about tuberculosis 5,200 years ago as we do now, there wouldn't be much, if any, tuberculosis now. This is shown in the remarkable decrease in the deaths from tuberculosis in the United States in the past 20 years since the strenuous fight against this disease was started by the National Tuberculosis Association. The number of deaths then was over 200,000 every year. It is now less than 100,000—cut more than one-half in twenty years!

One of the greatest contributing factors in bringing this about is the little Christmas seals which are distributed every year in December, giving every man, woman and child a chance to help fight disease and promote health in their own community.

AMERICA'S MOST DISTINGUISHED FARM GIRL

Virginia and the South has long been proud of Peggy Kieth, particularly so since she proved her sterling qualities in the International Club Judging Contest at Atlanta in 1921. On numerous occasions she has been honored by her native state, and the time has now come when she is to be honored by her country. The United States Department of Agriculture has chosen Peggy as "America's most distinguished farm girl," and under that descriptive life will exhibit products of her club work at the Eastern States Exposition, Springfield, Mass. The purpose of the government is to show the general public the unlimited possibilities of 4-H club work in developing our farm boys and girls for more aggressive leadership, nobler citizenship and greater economic independence.—The Progressive Farmer

Are You Strictly Up-to-Date?

Every day new inventions appear to save time, money and efforts. All the time new comforts, new conveniences and new pleasures are being thought out for your individual benefit.

Do you know about them? Are you up to the minute on this vital news?

The advertisements bring you information of all this progress. Read them and you will know about the very things that concern you most—things that have a very direct influence on your life and that of your family.

The advertisements tell you where to get these things, how to get them and how much to pay. For advertising is a daily directory to wise buying.

Don't rob yourself of the benefits that come from regular and systematic reading of the advertising columns. Advertising is altogether too important to be missed. Read it every day.

ONE IN TEN

Neglecting a little wound, cut or abrasion of the flesh may in nine cases out of ten cause no great suffering or inconvenience, but it is the one case in ten that causes blood poisoning, lockjaw or a chronic festering sore. THE LAWMAKING MANIA

Uncle Sam is afflicted with the law making disease. His case is the worst in the history of the world.

The output is so large that the law libraries cannot house it, the lawyers digest or assimilate it.

It is said to be a fact that the 48 state legislatures enact more laws than are even proposed by five great nations.

The ratio before the war was fifty new laws in our country to one by any great nation of Europe.

It takes 650 large volumes to hold in printed form the Supreme Court opinions on the question of constitutionality.

The law library of Columbia University contains 100,000 volumes and increases at the rate of 8,000 a year.

Why not stop manufacturing so many new laws, try enforcing some of them and repeal some of the others?

A smaller legislative output would be an evidence of political sanity.

Miss Thelma Watson, daughter of City Marshal Dock Watson, was operated upon at 9 o'clock Saturday morning for the removal of her tonsils and at noon was reported as doing nicely.

When you read the following bit of genealogy and don't go crazy, or feel like doing something desperate, then you are not human:

I met a young widow with a grown-up stepdaughter and I married the widow. Then my father met our stepdaughter and married her. That made my wife the mother-in-law of her father-in-law, and made my stepdaughter my stepmother, and my father became my step-son.

Then my stepmother, the stepdaughter of my wife, had a son that was of course, my father's son, but he was also the son of my wife's stepdaughter, and therefore her grandson, which made me grandfather to my brother:

Then my wife had a son. My mother-in-law, the stepmother of my son, is also his grandmother because he is her stepson's child. My father-in-law is the brother-in-law of my child, because his stepister is his wife. I am the brother of my own son, who is also the child of my grandmother; I am my mother's brother-in-law; my wife is her own child's aunt; my son is my father's nephew, and I am my own grandfather. Can you beat it?

Many might well emulate the hen in Nebraska that laid two eggs in a day and did it with only one cockle.

THE BIG DIFFERENCE AND WHERE DOES IT GO?

Most everyone will admit that $1.10 a month, $13.20 a year; 10 years $132.00; 20 years $264.00; 40 years $528.00 is cheap insurance for men and women from 16 to 50 years of age, and nowhere can you get it for such a small amount. Still if we had been collecting $1.10 a month, whether any deaths or not, after paying all death claims and expenses, 64 deaths in 14 years in the Mutual Benefit, we would now have on hand a surplus of $88,000.00, and for 6 years in the Brotherhood, a total of 24 deaths, we would have a surplus of $39,600.00, a total surplus in the two orders of $127,600.00, and could stop assessing until 127 members died before it would be necessary to begin assessing again. And remember, there have only been 88 deaths in the two orders and all death claims and all expenses have been paid. Is not this vast saving by the Dorsey Way worth something to the people of the county?

Talk about Life Insurance the Dorsey Way is head and shoulders above any other Life Insurance and grows more in favor of the insuring public and grows stronger and stronger as time goes by. Life is uncertain and death is sure. See Dorsey today. We have openings all along in Orders that are worth $1,000.00 the day you get it should you die.

PREPARATIONS PROCEEDING FOR IMPEACHMENT TRIAL

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 29.—Preparations for the opening Thursday of the impeachment trial of Governor Walton went forward today behind closed doors. With most of the members of the legislature at their homes and with the house investigation committee idle, virtually the sole activity in connection with the impeachment action centered in the conference rooms of counsel for the suspended executive and the house board managers who will prosecute the case. Observers agreed that the hearing will consume at least three weeks. More than 200 witnesses are expected to be examined.

FIGHTING EACH OTHER

Cologne, Oct. 26.—Clashes occurred today between armed civilians and separatists in Crefeld following the hoisting of the republican flag over the Rathaus, which the burgomaster surrendered to the separatists yesterday, according to a report here. Four men were killed and seventeen men and women wounded here yesterday in food rioting. The police resorted to arms when the women demonstrators disregarded an order to disband. A Hamburg dispatch says 46 persons were killed and 230 wounded in fighting between communists and police past days. The former lost 34 and the police 12.

Rhine Republic Proclaimed

London, Oct. 25.—A Central News dispatch from Berlin this afternoon says large bands of communists are marching on the German capital and police rushed out to intercept it. It adds that communists are assembling in strong force in the Lichtenbergers District of Berlin, but police have surrounded the whole neighborhood and no serious trouble is expected tonight.

The Rhineland republic was proclaimed today at the former quarters of the American forces in Germany in Andernach. It was also proclaimed in four other towns. The police attacked the only public building remaining in the hands of the republicans at Aix la Chapelle today. Five policemen and two separatists were killed.

AMERICAN AID NEEDED

Simultaneous announcement by Secretary of State Hughes and Marquis Curzon, British foreign secretary, of correspondence between their governments on the acute stage that has been reached in Europe over the German reparations question brings to a climax the increasing intimations of the past few weeks that something of extraordinary importance in world statesmanship was developing.

The importance of it is not overstated. It amounts to an appeal by Great Britain for American aid on no less a basis than that the European situation has got beyond the point where there can be no hope of settlement of it by Europeans themselves. Secretary Hughes acknowledges the gravity of the situation, and shows a disposition on the part of the Washington administration at last to return to conference with the former allies of this country on the reparations subject if the call for its participation is unanimous and details for the meeting can be arranged satisfactorily.

The fact that Secretary Hughes made his announcement soon after a call upon him by former Premier Lloyd George is at once taken as explaining the mission of the latter in this country. It is assumed that Mr. Lloyd George has been helping to prepare American sentiment for the reception of the news. But this may be going too fast and too far. While the former premier undoubtedly has been helping to arouse Americans to the critical situation in Europe, it is to be kept in mind that he is without office, only comparatively recently having retired. It is to be observed also after his arrival here, and the correspondence in question refers back to incidents considerably beyond that.

The Washington government undoubtedly will, as it should, find full support from the country for lending the influence of this nation in every reasonable way to a solution of the world troubles. No longer can any one pretending to intelligence contend that Europeans are bluffing simply to secure our aid. Right before our eyes the situation over there has been growing worse and threatening to drag us into it whether we desire or not. From the standpoint of selfish interests, if not altruism, we must recognize that co-operation by us with our former allies for peace is necessary.

BAKERS WORKED IN CAPITOL

Loaves kneaded in the immense Cellars, While Construction of the Dome Went On.

One usually thinks of the capitol at Washington as a place where the nation's legislative business is transacted, but it is also true that under the majestic noble impressive dome of that structure bakers were plying their trade.
The story of this dome is related by Gilbert Grosvenor in the course of a communication to the National Geographic society, entitled "The Capitol, Wonder Building of the World," as follows:
"During the darkest hours of the Civil war, while the capitol basement served as a military bakery, Lincoln insisted that there be no suspension of the building of its dome."
"District volunteers, enrolled to defend their homes and the capital, heard reports of plots to burn the flour mills in Georgetown. They instantly pressed into service every vehicle to be found on the streets or in stables, loaded them with flour and all day there proceeded along Pennsylvania avenue the most curious procession which ever traversed that street of countless parades. The flour was stored safely in the capitol's vast cellars and Washington's home-baking habits were revolutionized. Tradition has it that French and Vienna loaves gained their American vogue from the United States capitol bakers."

"While bakers kneaded war loaves below, hammers were busy every working day on the giant dome above."
The following Nacogdoches business men have arranged to attend the Intercity Rotary meeting at Palestine at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening: R. F. Davis, T. Tilford, Robert Lindsey, J. N. Thomas, H. L. McKnight, J. M. Tucker, A. H. Smith, R. L. Perry, Pat Murphey, Roland Jones and others.

ADVICE FOR WOMEN

Waco, Texas.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a blessing when taken during expectancy. I have taken it and was scarcely sick at all, and was always strong afterwards. I have now come to the critical time of life, and so far my health is good. I do all of my own work at home, besides other work, and I feel I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. 110 DISASTERS IN YEAR ENLIST RED CROSS AID

Nearly $400,000 Spent in United States—Greek Refugee Work Completed.

For its preparedness to render relief through effective and generous aid to the sufferers from disaster the American Red Cross is universally regarded as the one organization from which response to appeal for help is immediate. In the last year, according to the annual report of the Red Cross, its disaster relief operations were carried out in 110 localities in the United States. This work, with activities carried over from the previous year, required the expenditure in the United States of $397,468.04 by the American Red Cross, its Chapters and Branches. In the emergency following the defeat of the Greek forces in Turkey and the burning of the city of Smyrna, which entailed the relief of nearly 900,000 men, women and children, Red Cross National Headquarters expended $2,995,696.09. The food distributed in Greece aggregated 25,000 tons; garments, 809,900; blankets, 48,550; new shoes, 5,000 pairs; medical, hospital and sanitary supplies, 304 tons. In the feeding of the refugees there was listed upwards of $2,000 children under three years of age.

The disasters in the United States during the past year reported 340 persons killed, 891 injured, 12,691 rendered homeless. The total property loss was estimated at $20,710,000.

Relief of suffering caused by disasters of such magnitude as to overwhelm the resources of the communities in which they occur is fundamental to the charter of the American Red Cross. In addition to making appropriations from its treasury and assigning trained personnel to relief work, the Red Cross in disaster centralizes and makes more effective relief funds and supplies contributed by the country at large.

Since 1881 the Red Cross has administered more than $20,000,000 for the single purpose of disaster relief. That it may continue to accept the responsibilities which grave emergencies place upon the American Red Cross appeal is made for a nationwide renewal of membership during the annual roll call, which opens on Armistice Day, November 11, and closes on Thanksgiving Day, November 29.

Life Saving Work Of Red Cross Corps Wars on Drownings

The insignia of the American Red Cross Life Saving Corps on the bathing apparel of men, women and youths is seen everywhere at favorite bathing places along the coasts, rivers, lakes and ponds. In its unrelenting campaign to reduce loss of life by drowning the Red Cross is making constant headway. The demands for instruction from organizations in all parts of the country were so numerous the past year that it was necessary to more than double the staff of Red Cross instructors. This work of training for water life-saving showed an enrollment of over 30,000 volunteers enlisted for duty on patrol, for rescue and resuscitation, all competent to instruct others in the standard water-saving methods. The Red Cross gives water first aid training at the United States Military and Naval academies and in the military training camps for reserve officers and civilians. The four cash prizes awarded by the Red Cross last year for heroic rescues were conferred upon two girls, a boy and a man, indicating that the youths of the country stand well at the top in conserving life along our water courses.

Red Cross Field Of Action Covers All the World

Represented by 93,668 members, the American Red Cross penetrates to nearly every part of the world. The insular and foreign roll call statistics "for the past year are a most conclusive manifestation of the Red Cross spirit carried into the most remote lands. In Europe there are 4,988 members, in Turkey, and active in the Constantinople chapter, 3,545. China has an enrollment of 2,252; Africa, 136; India 224, and Australia, 29. Even Vladivostok, in "rigid Siberia, has a live chapter with 100 members. The Philippine islands can mobilize 38,747 under the Red Cross banner and Hawaii 7,863. The total funds raised through foreign and insular membership enrollment and sent to national headquarters in Washington amounted to $60,216.54, while an additional $35,350 was forwarded for the endowment fund of the American Red Cross. The high seas roll call in 1922 was an inspiring success. The Navy signed on 4,331 for the Red Cross and the merchant ships 4,141. Of the total membership outside the United States $3,990 are registered with chapters in foreign lands, the insular possessions and dependencies.

"I want to; therefore I can!" is the spirit that spurs the Red Cross worker in well-doing.

LOYD GEORGE ON TOUR OF SOUTHERN BATTLEFIELDS

Richmond, Va., Oct. 29.—Continuing his tour of the Virginia battlefields, begun yesterday, with visits to Fredericksburg and the scenes of the Wilderness fighting, David Lloyd George set out from Richmond today to view the area of operations around the former Confederate capital. The former British premier was attended on his tour today by Rear Admiral Cary Grayson of Washington.

A CRAZY RUSSIAN

Kansas City, Kas., Oct. 29.—An apparently crazed man stood on the Central Avenue viaduct here and fired an automatic pistol at passing motorists. Eugene Hill, struck by a bullet, was probably fatally injured. Another man was slightly wounded. The man was captured by a posse of patrolmen and detectives after he had barricaded himself in his home. He carried a sack of 400 rounds of ammunition and two pistols, which were on a bed. He gave the name of Askolenka Yovanovich and said he was a Russian.

MODERN MIRACLES

The question in the Scriptures, "What man, by taking thought, can add a cubit to his stature?" has hitherto been supposed to represent the impossible. But if Dr. William Held, of Chicago, is to be believed, he has only to allow an up-to-date student of latter-day glandular surgery to do the thinking for him and the apparent miracle has become possible.

Dr. Held, who has just returned from studying glandular treatment in Vienna, is, with Dr. Benjamin H. Breakstone, now treating a Chicago woman 20 years old and only 38 inches tall, and expects by the administration of thyroid glands, to increase her height by two feet. The Hebrew cubit being only 22 inches, the doctors are thus throwing in two inches for good measure.

Dr. Held goes still further. He asserts that through the knowledge of gland influences and selective marriage of tall persons a race of giants can be produced. By reversing the treatment a race of dwarfs could be developed. If the late Phineas T. Barnum were alive today, he would find the task of recruiting the freak section of the "Greatest Show on Earth" singularly facilitated.

The miracle of modern science can not be confined to the human body alone. The action of the brain also comes within its purview. If the theory put forward by Dr. William Mayo of Rochester is correct, the field of action of the cerebral medium may be greatly widened. Even when awake, says Dr. Mayo, man is only one-quarter conscious of what his body is doing. Three-quarters of the energy created by the food he eats and the air he breathes is spent without his knowing it.

In the same way his will power is only 25 percent efficient. The other 75 percent is absorbed by his subconscious mind. The worst of it is that the conscious and the subconscious minds are not always in agreement. The clash between them, when the unfortunate 25 percent outfit tries to raid the territory of its 75 percent brother, produces bodily disturbances which more or less resemble real diseases. It is this condition of things, says Dr. Mayo, which forms "the happy hunting ground" for "cults" and quackeries of all kinds.

FRENCH PREMIER FIRM

Washington, Oct. 29.—Premier Poincare's statement of the French attitude toward the new reparations inquiry is construed in official quarters here as little more in substance than a reassertion of the obvious fact that the rights acquired under the Treaty of Versailles cannot be abridged except with the consent of the parties to the treaty. The premier in his speech yesterday declared France would refuse to allow the reparations commission to be divested of any of its functions or replaced by any other body; France would never consent to a reduction of German reparations payments. He said the American representative on the committee to investigate Germany's capacity to pay would be welcomed, but the committee's action must be bounded by the terms of the treaty.

INSANE MAN RUNS AMUCK

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 25.—A man, apparently insane, stabbed three women and the conductor on a Santa Fe train this side of La Junta, Colo., last night. He was shot to death by Otto Palmer, a negro porter, according to railroad messages here. Palmer was taken from the train and returned to La Junta, where he is being held.

Another Account

Trinidad, Colo., Oct. 25.—Seized with a sudden fit of insanity aboard a westbound Santa Fe train at Thatcher, 36 miles east of here, early today, Telesforo Candelara of Monrovia, Cal., ran amuck and stabbed and seriously wounded Conductor Mack Deubler and three men passengers. Candelara was killed by a blow over the head by another passenger after a negro porter had shot him twice.

MADISON COUNTY LINKS UP

The "Camino Real," or Old San Antonio Road, extending from Natchitoches, La., to San Antonio and points beyond, will receive a new link of 36 miles of hard-surfaced highway as a result of the decisive vote of Madison county, where a bond issue of $300,000 was authorized for this purpose, according to a phone message from Judge P. Ferguson, county judge of Madison county.

The Lone Star Trail, an ocean-to-ocean highway, enters Texas from the east at Old Pendleton, and will follow the Old San Antonio road as far as Alto, Cherokee county.

AIDING GROWTH

There is nobody probably who has not observed how the opening of a new store in a town creates a bustle, puts an ounce or more of life in the community, brings more people downtown and in fact gives the town a fresh start.

But there are not many who know why towns and cities are thus affected by the new store, the coming of another factory or any other addition to the industry or commerce of the community.

The number, size and expansion of a city's business places and factories are always commensurate with its growth and population.

When a new store opens everybody profits from the new storekeeper down to the customer.

Now it is said that Mr. Pinchot has dragged prohibition enforcement into the mire of politics.

It is estimated that 70 percent of automobile drivers are careful, but the other 30 percent are sufficiently large in number to keep the average man from getting a torpid liver.

TEXAS PIONEER TALES AND TRADITIONS

By J. E. Mayfield, M.D.
David Crockett's peculiar career ended in the Alamo slaughter. On his way there from Tennessee he stopped over for a brief visit at Nacogdoches, where he attended an old fashioned ball in the fine old home of John S. Roberts.

Crockett was sore over his recent defeat for re-election to congress. He was opposed to Andrew Jackson's party, and had made a spectacular political tour of the North, where he was lionized and presented with a splendid rifle, which he appreciated very highly, and always carried.

The following clipping is from the San Antonio Express of October 28 1923:

Dimmit County Man Claims Rifle Said to Have Been Owned

By Youthful David Crockett.
There is in the possession of Mrs. J. B. Taylor, living in the farmer community near Carrizo Springs, Dimmit county, an antiquated rifle said to have been the property of Col. David Crockett in his young manhood.

Mr. Taylor spent several hundred dollars in establishing the authenticity of the rifle's history, and one of the strongest links in her chain is the following letter written in 1910 by W. H. Barnett of Broadus to Judge John W. Crockett of Little Rock, Ark., in response to an inquiry from the latter:

"Dear Sir: Replying to yours of January 31, 1910, regarding my gun and a partial history of how I came in possession of the same: In the early years of my boyhood my father lived in Pike and Montgomery counties, Alabama. Col. David Crockett and an associate of his by name of Mr. Wade H. Hall lived in the State of Tennessee and as my father and Col. Crockett and Mr. Hall were all members of the Masonic lodge Crockett and Hall, whenever they were in Southern Alabama, made by father's house their stepping place. They would sometimes go down on the line of Florida in the wire grass region and would bring back wagonloads of venison with them, and this is my first recollection of seeing the gun which I now own and which itself is so widely known as 'Davy Crockett'."

"When they would come down, Mr. Wade H. Hall would bring this gun, and Colonel Crockett would bring a rifle and gun with them. My father had a fine Yankee rifle. All of them had double triggers and double triggers and brass tallow boxes, brass powder guards, brass butt plates, brass muzzlepiece and brass thimbles. I call the loop plates and face plate on the site the locks were pure American silver, the loop plates resembling half moons.

"The gun that I own was made by a man by the name of James M. Gram and was presented to David Crockett at Nashville, Tenn., May 5, 1822. These words are engraved on the face plate opposite the lock. It also has a perfect illustration of David Crockett on the lid of the tallow box in his gallant uniform with sword in hand. There is a beautiful silver star on the grip of the stock opposite each other, with an Indian arrow and large half moon on the stock opposite the tallow box.

"After the death of Colonel Crockett, when he was massacred in the Alamo in Texas during the year A. D. 1836; then after that date one Mr. John W. Crockett sold this gun together with some minor articles—one of the other articles was a solid pewter wash basin which had inside of the bottom raised letters, 'David Crockett,' which I have washed in here in Nacogdoches county, Texas, after Mr. Wade H. Hall, David Crockett's bosom friend, bought the gun and other articles from John W. Crockett.

"Wade H. Hall and family emigrated to Texas and settled in Nacogdoches county; and in August, 1859, I came to Texas and found Mr. Hall here; and the old gentleman was helpless and nearly blind. He had given this gun to his son, a Mr. Monroe Hall, and in January, 1860, I bought the gun I have from Mr. Monroe Hall. In 1862, just before I was captured at Van Buren, Ark., my wife wrote me a letter asking me if she could sell my gun, and of course the request was granted. And when the Civil War was over and I got home I could not get my gun any more until after the death of Mr. Whitton, the man, my wife sold it to. In 1880 this Whitton died and I got Davy Crockett back again, and she has been my property ever since.

"In 1886 she was so badly rust-eaten at each end of the gun barrel that I cut her off at each end and put a potent steel breech and a steel rib and made her a half-breed percussion lock gun, using all the mounting and an American black walnut stock. She is as pretty as an English fiddle.

To Be Happy, Though Married.
H. E. W.: Is it true you hold a theory that married people are not happy? This is to settle a bet.

MYRTLE.
Whoa, Mertz! . . . What I hold is that human beings are as happy or as miserable as they make each other. It is generally true that married people are as happy, on the average, as unmarried people. But it is peculiar of married people that they do a whole lot of unnecessary things to make each other miserable, and as a result they're always inviting company, because they'd rather see almost anyone than each other, the way they feel in their curl papers and grousches. It isn't being married that does it. It's forgetting to be sweethearts. But married people who keep on being pals and sweethearts are the happiest beings this side of angels.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Obedient Instructions.
An old farmer had received an invitation from his squire and landlord to dine at the hall. But his two daughters, who had had some little education, strove their utmost to prevent his going, fearful lest he should make some slip and disgrace them.

However, he persisted, but in order that he might get through his dinner without discredit, they taught him such phrases as "Beg pardon" and "Present company excepted."

At the dinner the old man remained quiet for some time. At last he decided that he would say something. Turning to a young woman sitting next to him, he said: "Why, miss, at my farm I have the grandest litter of pigs ever seen—present company excepted."

Her Course Mapped Out.
"What would your father do if I told him I wanted to marry you?" asked the young man. "He'd refer the matter to me," promptly replied the girl. "And what would you do?" said he, hopefully. "I'd refer the matter to the young man who proposed to me and was accepted while you were trying to make up your mind."

Beat the Minister.
An English clergyman once said to a bright little girl in his Sunday school: "If you will tell me where God is, I will give you an orange."

RED CROSS MET TEST IN JAPAN FUND DRIVE

Spirit of Service Demonstrated in Readiness for Nationwide Activity.

When President Coolidge by proclamation designated the American Red Cross as the medium through which contributions for relief of the Japanese earthquake sufferers should flow, the President's desire came as an order to the Red Cross. Immediately the entire machinery of the organization was put in motion and within 24 hours the fund campaign was moving with vigor in every part of the country.

This emergency test demonstrated the peace-time readiness of the Red Cross to cope with stupendous tasks in behalf of humanity. Within a month it had collected upwards of $10,250,000 in contributions, landed ten cargoes of supplies at Japanese ports and was keeping pace with relief requirements—all without a single dollar of the fund being spent for administration.

Red Cross First Aid Standards Adopted In Great Industries

First aid in an emergency which assures the injured competent attention until the doctor arrives is making marked headway through the work of the chapters of the American Red Cross. In populous centers 314 chapters conduct first aid classes and last year awarded 9,500 certificates to students. Eight big telephone companies have enlisted their workers in first aid classes, police and fire departments in large cities are making the course compulsory in their training schools, and through colleges and high schools large groups of students receive instruction. The Red Cross also gives this course through Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Y. M. C. A. and similar organizations, and its standard methods have been adopted by railroads, electric and gas companies, mines and in the metal industries. The aim of this Red Cross service is to cut down radically the average of 60,000 accidental deaths per year in the United States.

DON'T CRITICISE BACKWARD FOLKS

Help them wherever you see that they are standing back, afraid to assert themselves simply because they feel sensitive about their pimply, red and rough face.

Thousands of people all over the country are praising the wonderful Black and White Ointment because it gets rid of their skin troubles when everything else they tried did them no good.

Tell your friends, who are struggling under this handicap in life, to get Black and White Ointment from their dealer. They will be delighted with the quick results they will get from it. It is economically priced in generous packages. The 50c size contains three times as much as the 25c size.

INCOME TAX REVISION

A tentative plan submitted to President Coolidge by Senator Smoot calls for substantial downward revision of the income tax. The idea is to save the taxpayers $500,000,000 a year by the following changes:

Reduce the maximum surtax from 50 percent to 33 percent.

Remove the tax altogether from personal incomes of $2,000 to $3,000.

Do likewise with incomes of $6,000 to $10,000.

Eliminate taxes on special industries, like the 3 percent tax on candy.

Such a set of reductions would be greeted with enthusiasm by the general public, inasmuch as the majority of taxpayers would benefit. The lowering of the highest surtax might be unpopular, but the little income people might tolerate it if their own taxes were lightened. There is a growing realization, too, that surtax reductions might serve to draw taxes again from many large fortunes now taking refuge in tax-exempt securities. It is even possible that a 33 percent surtax would bring in more money than the 50 percent rate.

But there can be no tax-cutting without economy of expenditure to offset the cut.

IS A BROKEN SHOULDER AN ASSET?

Pittsburg (Texas) Gazette.

Dallas Times Herald: In a football game between North Dallas High and Fort Worth North Side High we read that one Fort Worth player broke his shoulder, while three others were more or less badly injured. At the same time four Dallas players had to be carried from the field.

Now football is here to stay. It's not a bad game when it is kept free from unnecessary roughness. But, after all, our public schools exist, they are supported by taxpayers, not in order that spectators at a football game may see limp forms of youths carried to the side lines; not in order that the surgeon may practice up on setting broken shoulders, but in order that there may be produced future adult citizens who possess sound minds in sound bodies.

Maybe schools have reached the stage where they can't exist without football, but would it be asking too much to request that football be made fairly safe for the students? Would it be impertinent to suggest that crossing his goal is a feat that can be accomplished as too great a cost? Are we hopelessly old-fashioned in saying there are more important things in school life than the dash of the halfback? Broken bones that may twist a boy's frame out of shape for life, and that certainly means that the boy is kept from his lessons for days, are they assets of education? Are they what the taxpayer is being taxed for?

What He Wondered.

The happy family were seated around the table eating their dinner when Bobby, the youngest son, broke the silence by asking:

"Dad, could a measuring worm measure the inside of your stomach?"

"Why do you ask such a silly question while we are eating?" spoke the father.

"Oh, nothing; only I just wondered if that one that was on the lettuce you just ate would measure your stomach."

BOOSTER MEETING

The regular weekly luncheon of the Boosters was held Monday evening at 3 o'clock at the Lockety Tea Room with President Giles presiding.

Guests: Mr. O. L. Forsgard and Dr. Browne of this city. Messrs. Orland Patton and Grady Stallings were the two 5-minute speakers for this meeting and a better pair could not be found in the club than these two. Orland spoke of the beautification of our streets that are being paved where a terrace of several feet is being left between the curb and the sidewalk, suggesting that the property owners along such streets be encouraged to beautify these unpaved portions of their fronts by planting the same kind of trees, getting the grass started and thereby adding much in beauty to the property and especially the street. He also mentioned the fact that Logansport road just out of the city limits is in a very bad shape and the county should be asked to look after same as a good deal of traveling is done over this road. His next item of importance was the encouraging of the College football team, urging that we should all do all we can to encourage the boys even though they have lost most of their games, and show them that we are behind them to the last, win or lose.

Grady Stallings then gave us some very interesting figures on some of the activities of the City Light & Water Department for the past 33 months which proved to be very interesting subject and was appreciated by the entire membership, and judging from this report there has certainly been something doing in these two departments during the period mentioned.

Mr. Forsgard mentioned the matter of quite a few people disregarding the barricades that are placed on those streets on which the paving work is going on, stating that in many instances these barricades are either knocked down or gone around and some damage has been done to the finished curbs and gutters, and asked that the Boosters lead their assistance in urging the citizenship to be a little more thoughtful with reference to these barricades and thereby save considerable trouble and expense in damaging the finished curbs and gutters. In concluding his remarks, Mr. Forsgard said that he wished to state, however, that he did not want these Texas boys to let that S. M. U.

game with A. & M. mislead them in the least.

Dr. Browne then made a few brief remarks on the progress of the organization of the Boy Scouts which was very encouraging.

Meeting adjourned.

MAKE UNCLE SAM YOUR SERVANT

It has often been said that Texas does a number of things better than any other state. Evidence to substantiate this is found in the enormous business university located at Tyler—The Tyler Commercial College.

This great institution enrolls more than four thousand students every year, and the success of its graduates is phenomenal. Boys and girls from towns like ours who have taken the various courses taught by Tyler Commercial College are found among the business leaders of our nation.

For those who do not find it possible to attend their school and management of Tyler Commercial College have arranged to send their courses by mail anywhere in the United States. By this arrangement any boy or girl, by spending a few minutes each evening at home, can complete any of their courses in Telegraphy, Byrne Simplified Shorthand and Typewriting, Byrne Practical Bookkeeping, Business Penmanship, Lettering, Salesmanship and Radio. The correspondence department of this school has grown to be very popular because the courses are found to be interesting from the very start.

This school goes so far as to guarantee to refund every cent of tuition at the completion of any course if it is not as recommended. The fact that no one has ever asked for this refund is evidence that their courses are what you should have to insure your future success.

Advantages of Courses by Mail.
A correspondence course costs less than one sixth of the amount required to attend school in person. You are permitted to remain at home and "Earn While You Learn," as well as "Learn While You Pay." Instead of going to the school, the school comes to you. A standard-make typewriter is furnished you right in your home if you take the shorthand course. At any time during the study of the course by mail you are permitted to enter the school in person without paying additional tuition.

Anyone who will mail the coupon

HELP NATURE HELP

Austin, Texas, Oct. 31.—There are thousands of people dying every year for want of the most plentiful and the cheapest thing in the world—fresh air.

The Texas Public Health Association encourages everybody, children as well as grown-ups, to get out in the open air at all seasons of the year. It is one of the steps in the prevention or cure of tuberculosis.

The Modern Health Crusade, in which many thousands of Texas school children are enrolled, encourages its members to play out doors. Sanatoria are demonstrating in practically every stage, that no matter what the local climate may be fresh air is necessary for health.

The Texas Public Health Association, as a part of their life-saving program, financed by Tuberculosis Seals, advocates the establishment of county sanatoria, summer camps for underweight children, open air schools and out door exercises so that all may have the benefit of nature's remedy—fresh air.

Not "Only Man in the World."
I was visiting a girl whom I had not seen for some time, although we corresponded by mail. Her friend invited us to a show with him. When he arrived he had a friend with him for me. He seemed very nice, and by the time we said "good night," I thought he was the only man in the world. He asked me to telephone him next day at his office. I did. "This is Lizzie," I said. The flame of love was quenched when he answered: "What else do you want me to bring home, dear, besides the baby's shoes and thread?"—Chicago Journal.

With the waning of the roasting ear season, corn silk and the dizzy spells that Young America has had trouble explaining will disappear.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Buchanan entertained their little daughter, Clara, with a Halloween party Saturday evening, October 27th.

The reception hall, living room and dining room were decorated with marigolds, black cats, witches and owls. The chandeliers were shaded by withches; from chandeliers to ceiling were the colors black and orange. After their arrival they registered, and each girl was given a cap and apron, the boys were given flowers and caps.

"The Old Witch is Dead" was played. Then they marched to have their costumes judged. The decisions were hard for the judges, as many had very pretty and unique costumes.

Matt Tucker won first prize for boy being dressed like a girl. Leigh Tucker won second prize. He was dressed like a witch. Mildred Matthews won prize for most artistic costume.

H. T. Muckleroy won second prize for boys costume. The pumpkin contest caused much merriment, and was enjoyed by all. The lucky ones were Robbie Hill and H. T. Muckleroy. They succeeded by putting the wand in the pumpkin's mouth. Nell Cariker won second prize.

Each guest had to go through "The Room of Horrors" blindfolded, then into the Witch's Cave to have their fortune told.

The Old Witch was stirring her brew and murmuring the fortunes of each as they came to her. While in the Witch's Cave they were supplied with confetti, then the fun began in earnest.

At a late hour refreshments were served, which consisted of individual cakes, candies and ices, and were in the Halloween design.

Those enjoying the party were: Misses Ruth Moore, Ruth Matthews, Jane Stripling, Ella Kathryn Sharpe, Kathleen Emmons, Lurline Day, Frances Muller, Robbie Hill, Nell Cariker, Golda Stroud, Anna Mary Schott, Carolyn Whited, Juanita Sitton, Mildred Matthews, Itasca Blount, Elsie Francis Meisenheimer, Frances Atkins, Dorothy McLain, and Kathryn Usrey.

Masters Leigh and Matt Tucker, Albert Orton, Aldrich Walker, Jack Moore, Max Stripling, Thad Sitton, Leroy Gaston, Lamar Acker, Riden

Gribble, and H. T. Muckleroy. Assisting Mrs. Buchanan were her mother, Mrs. A. E. Hughes; Miss Mary Louise Moore, Miss Lorraine Bass, Miss Nelson of Waco, Miss Nettie Lewis and Mrs. Matt Tucker.

MOROCCAN GIRLS MARRY EARLY

In Morocco, as in most Mohammedan countries, the native girls are married at an extremely early age, often before they are fifteen, and it is not uncommon for them to have been divorced at twenty.

Divorce proceedings in Morocco merely consist of a friendly talk between the woman's husband and her father.

An arrangement is made by which she returns to her parents, the husband often paying compensation to the father. The same woman will probably soon be married again to another Moor, and will take it all as a matter of course.

Moorish weddings are very interesting affairs. The actual ceremony takes place at midnight, but the celebration lasts for some days, particularly in the case of the better class of Moors. The festivities take the form of much feasting, dancing, music and the firing of salutes from the long native rifles. Friends come from all the surrounding districts, rigged out in their brightest and best attire.

CANDLES KEEP TIME

King Alfred or King Arthur or one of those kings devised the system of using a striped candle to mark the passing of the hours, and if it gave his spirit any satisfaction let it be told that many New York hostesses are using just the same medium for noting the passing of time at dinner tables. "One cannot be always referring to one's wrist watch," explained a hostess, "and yet the serving of the different courses must be timed as well as the hour for the close of a meal, especially when the theater or opera is to follow. Hence I have had specially made candles striped with colors. Each bar of color burns down in so many minutes. By glancing at the candles I can tell without appearing to be watching the time just what the hour is."—New York Sun.

ENORMOUS ERROR

In yesterday's paper an article appeared which was very much wrong, and, sure, a mistake, though, for who ever wrote it could not have been an eyewitness, as I was, to the collision which took place between the cars driven by Paul McLain and Miss Dorothy Joplin, was positively not due to the one car which was parked in front of the Hotel Baxter, for it took place a little west of the parked car and going west. The parked car was on the opposite side of the street, making it impossible for the parked car to have in any way interfered. I saw two cars at a time pass between the wrecked car and the parked car, which makes it impossible to say the car that was parked in front of the hotel was in any way to blame for the accident. It would surely be the bad condition in which the street is where it has never been paved, for it now has a ditch 200 feet long, 18 inches deep and 30 inches wide across from street who did or so far has put down the Baxter Hotel on the opposite side of the street. Mrs. Baxter is the only resident on West Main street who did or so far has put down brick to improve Main street. She did this some years ago when the city first made mention of this being needed.

The remark was made Sunday when the accident occurred "that cars should not be allowed to park in front of the Baxter." Now I would like to know how Nacogdoches can sustain the reputation as the Friendly City if the traveling men are prohibited from parking in front of the hotel for when they arrive in the city the hotels are their homes and everybody in Nacogdoches who owns a car parks in front of their own residence. Haven't the traveling men the same privilege? Besides we can not expect the traveling men to park in some back alley and walk to the hotels at any time, much less should the weather be bad. Haven't the people on West Main street the same privilege as those on North, Hospital, Mound or the other hotels on East Main street?

I also feel sure that to stop parking in front of the hotel would be very injurious to our business. And again it will be unfair to our noble Booster boys who have worked so faithfully to gain for Nacogdoches the name of the "Friendly City" to show not courtesy to a stranger.

Mable Marguerite Baxter.

FOUR INDICTED FOR MURDER OF W. R. COOK

Center, Champion, 24th.

The grand jury returned a bill of indictment Friday afternoon against J. C. Boles, L. D. Cammack, Claud Boles and Elbert Boles, charging them with the murder of W. R. Cook, at Choice, on or about October 16, 1923. The indictment was made jointly and the names appearing in the order given above.

J. C. Boles was arrested the same day of the tragedy and placed in jail where he remained until Saturday afternoon when he was released on a bond of $7,500 by Justice of the Peace John Carroll of this precinct. District Judge Brachfield was not here Saturday, being in Shreveport.

The defendants appeared here Monday morning and were arrested on the charge. A writ of habeas corpus was sued out before Judge Brachfield and bond was allowed each of the defendants, the amount being agreed upon between the attorneys for the defense and the state. The bond for J. C. Boles and L. D. Cammack was set for $7,500 each and the other two at $5,000 each. The defendants made the required bond and were released. The case was set for hearing before the criminal court for November 8.

COUNTY SOIL SURVEY

R. E. Devereux, representing the federal bureau of soils, reached Nacogdoches Wednesday to begin preliminary work for the county soil survey to be made of Nacogdoches county. Mr. Devereux states that he will be assisted by B. H. Hendrickson, also of the soils bureau, Washington, D. C. When asked about the extent and scope of the survey, Mr. Devereux said:

"Our first task is to make a base map of the entire county. This map will probably be made on a scale of one inch to the mile. It will show the correct location of every roadway, public building and every industry. After this map has been completed, we will make a detailed examination of the soil on every farm and ranch in the county, and will classify the various types of soil. These classifications will be indicated by coloring on the map. It will probably require twelve or fourteen months to complete the survey."

The federal bureau of soils is making this survey in response to numerous petitions presented through the Chamber of Commerce. Hon Eugene H. Blount, representative in the legislature from Nacogdoches county, took the initiative in circulating the petitions for the survey.

Messrs. Devereux and Hendrickson are both men with families, and will make their homes here while making the survey.

DR. BROWNE AT LUFKIN

Big Y. M. C. A. convention and banquet at Lufkin Tuesday night, with Dr. A. O. Browne of Nacogdoches as the principal speaker.

The Lufkin Daily News, in a two-column report of the "Y" convention states that the high spots were the masterly address of Dr. Browne and the raising of the budget for county Y. M. C. A. work from $2500 to $5,000. Dr. Browne's subject was "Boyhood and How to Build a Big Manhood."

The address sparkled with an array of interesting facts as the chaos of present world civilization, the criminal tendency of youths and the call for big men to meet the day, and the bigger ones in the days ahead.

"The masterly address of Dr. Browne," says the Daily News, concluded the program. He held the rapt attention of all by his earnest delivery, his brilliant array of facts and his masterful presentation of a brief in behalf of the boy and lost humanity.

Messrs. J. C. Blake and Robt Monk of the Nacogdoches Booster Club, and leading business men, were present, and being introduced were heartily received at the banquet and convention.

AN ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Winnfield, La., Oct. 23, 1923.
Mr. H. L. McKnight, Secretary Chamber of Commerce, Nacogdoches, Texas:

Dear Sir—We desire to thank and congratulate you on the part of the Lone Star Trail Association for the very splendid support and co-operation that you are giving the organization and to our Mr. Hughes in your section of the county. It would have been impossible without your support to have put the proposition over in the splendid manner in which it has been done. It is to such unselfish work intelligently performed as you have done in this case that the world owes a very large part, if indeed not all, of the advances that have been made by civilized society. With your continued co-operation, we will unquestionably be able to finish the Texas leg of the organization and nail up a

The Lone Star Trail, when completed, will be the first transcontinental line hard surfaced from ocean to ocean, it being 500 miles shorter than any other route. It will be the most important east and west highway connecting the two oceans. It will carry a stream or traffic unbelievably large to those who are uninitiated into the tremendous potential carrying force of a great trunk line highway. The advantages are inestimably large and must be seen to be fully appreciated. It is a wonderful asset and will be a greater benefit to your section than any other highway or railway that it possesses today.

LONE STAR TRAIL UNIT FORMED AT PALESTINE

Secretary McKnight of the Chamber of Commerce and J. M. Hughes, secretary of the Lone Star Trail Association, returned late Friday evening from Palestine, where they organized the Palestine unit of the Trail Thursday night, with Tucker Royal as president and Judge E. V. Swift as secretary.

The meeting was attended by 15 representative business and professional men from Rusk and also a good delegation from Fairfield, Freestone county.

Dr. Thomas H. Cobble, secretary of the Rusk unit of the Lone Star Trail Association, reported 60 members now signed up in his organization, and that they expected to raise the number to 80.

A good strong membership committee was named by President Tucker Royal, who stated that Palestine would support the organization loyally.

Anderson county has set aside from her big county bond issue sufficient funds to build a hard-surfaced road from Palestine east to a connection with the Rusk road at the Neches river. Cherokee county has 10 miles of splendid road from Maydelle west to the Neches, and when the gap from Rusk to Maydelle is completed the 32 miles from Rusk to Palestine can be made in any sort of weather in one hour. Anderson county is also building the western section of this road to Bonner's Ferry, on the Trinity river. If Freestone county can be induced to build the road on west to the Limestone county line, we will have a hard-surfaced road direct to Central West Texas.

Brewer Stars

All hats off to Coach Hamilton, taking eleven boys playing football at the start of this season, he has worked them into a fast, hard-hitting, fighting machine. Boy, how they did work—not a fumble—not a missed signal—every man doing his best, every man with his eye on the ball. And above all stood Quarterback Brewer, outkicking his opponent 10 to 20 yards, every kick guiding his team with smoothness and confidence and carrying the ball himself for gain after gain. He was truly the star of the game and proved himself to be one of the best high school-players of the year. Brewer, in the first quarter, made the touchdown on an end run, and in the second quarter, kicked a perfect drop-kick for a field goal from the 35-yard line. On the defense Halfback Patterson and Capt. Burrows starred with their hard tackling and breaking up of the many forward passes tried, while the fast end, Seale, Spradley and Burke smashed run after run, never allowing the runner to get away. Lambert and Frizzell played only parts of the game but showed that they would be ready when needed. The line, Parmley and Grimes, tackles Langford and Baker, and Ben Tucker center, played their usual hard-hitting, never failing game, holding Crockett on the 3-yard line for two downs without a gain, and then the Crockett coach came on the field without permission and cost his team fifteen yards, but they would never have made that goal over our line. Referee Mosely, coach of Rusk, and Empire Thomson, also of Rusk, refereed a fair and square game and kept the game going as they know football and were never in doubt as to their decisions.

The writer saw Livingston beat Lufkin by a score of 19 to 6 a few weeks ago, and will say with confidence that if the Nacogdoches team plays as good as they did yesterday, they can beat Livingston for the district championship next Friday, but it will mean hard work, for Livingston has a good team, and it should be a game worth seeing.

AUTO CRASH SUNDAY

A Ford car belonging to the Beverly Mill & Elevator Company and driven by Paul McLain, accompanied by his cousin, Frank McLain, going east on West Main street, was struck at a point in front of the Baxter Hotel late Sunday afternoon by a westbound car occupied by Miss Dorothy Jopling and Mr. George Tinkle of Garrison and driven by the young lady, and badly smashed—in fact, so greatly damaged that it was abandoned as a "goner." Both the McLain boys were cut and bruised, Paul sustaining an inch-long gash under his left eye. Frank received lesser hurts. The occupants of the other car escaped injury.

Cars parked in front of the hotel prevented the driver of the westbound machine from seeing the approaching vehicle until it was too late to avoid the collision.

WOMAN FINANCIER TO VISIT DALLAS

Mrs. Phebe Rideout, Philanthropist, On Overland Auto Trip

Hailed as one of the most interesting and distinguished visitors Dallas has entertained during the 1923 exposition, Mrs. Phebe A. Rideout, an international character in finance and philanthropy, will reach the city early Wednesday for a 24-hour stay on her return trip to California. With Mrs. Rideout, widow of the late N. D. Rideout, president of the Mercantile Trust Company of San Francisco, is her son, Edward Rideout. They rearranged a 2,200 mile cross country trip to spend a few hours seeing Dallas and visiting the State Fair of Texas.

Mrs. Rideout, in addition to having executive connections with several banking institutions in the West, is one of the executive officers of the Bank of Italy. The late N. D. Rideout, at the time of his death, superintended by the shock caused by the San Francisco earthquake, was the head of the bank in which Stewart D. Beckley formerly of Dallas, is now cashier.

Took Hydroplane Flight

Despite the very active career that has brought her beyond the 80-year mark, Mrs. Rideout is widely known by physical and mental achievements. Only Sunday while viewing her holdings in the Nacogdoches oil fields, she walked several miles and sat upon a wooden box watching drillin operations. A short time ago, while she was in South America, with the other eleven members of the international Y. W. C. A. board, she accepted an invitation to make a hydroplane flight. While several hundred feet in the air an accident occurred, resulting in the plane falling in the water. She said she was greatly entertained and was thrilled by the drop.

Mrs. Rideout, traveling in a specially built automobile, arranged and equipped to her liking, makes two trips to Texas each year. She has recently acquired considerable holdings in the oil fields of this state, with production and a large refinery at Nacogdoches.

Averaging nearly 250 miles a day for ten days between San Francisco and Texas, Mrs. Rideout reached her destination and began her sight seeing trip, declaring that she felt refreshed after her "little jaunt."

The Rideouts were to have departed Monday morning, headed for the coast, for a short rest before going abroad again in a few days but hearing of the immense crowds that are reported to be heading for Dallas Wednesday gave orders to have their itinerary so arranged to permit the to have their first glimpse of the great State Fair of Texas. They will be special guests of President Harry O. Meade and Secretary W. H. Stratton at Fair Park a portion of the afternoon, leaving a party with a few Dallas bankers.

Later in the day the party will meet by Finner Scott, executive secretary of the Civic Federation of Dallas, and Miss Eva Freeman, psychologist, of the Dallas Child's Guidance Clinic. They will visit a number of Dallas institutions to give Mrs. Rideout an opportunity to see what organized effort is doing to promote the various welfare departments of the city of Dallas.

Mrs. Rideout was one of the organizers of the children's hospital movement in this country and has given largely of her time and funds to relieve suffering and promote better living conditions among the masses. She recently gave to the city of Marysville, California, $100,000 for the Rideout Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Matthews left at noon today for Nacogdoches to attend the funeral of the 6-months-old baby of Mrs. Clarence Langford, a sister of Mrs. Matthews. The funeral of the little one will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon.—Lufkin News, 25th.

BOYS ORGANIZED

Many boys were present at the Main Street meeting last night in response to the Boosters' Club invitation and at 7:30 sharp the roster enrollment began. Scout Troop No. 1 was organized and four skeleton patrols were formed with a leader for each.

Captain Blake of the Texas National Guard and Officers' Reserve Corps of the United States Army was elected scout master and Troop No. 1 is now a going concern. Troop No. 2 will be formed at the next meeting—Friday, November 2, at 7:30 p. m.

The American Boys' Commonwealth was also organized with a bang and snap and senators were elected from the 13 original states, besides Texas. The chaos and unsettled condition of civilization everywhere today makes it certain that at the first sitting of the commonwealth senate there will be some very important matters to come up. The more conservative element of the senate will doubtless endeavor to prevent war with Angelina, but at all events the aim of the commonwealth is ready for any emergency and no chance will be taken. Dr. A. O. Browne is helping to organize the boys of Nacogdoches. He has had large experience in this work and is the founder of the American Boys' Commonwealth which is more than nation-wide.

Dr. Browne is also a commissioned officer in the United States army, being a chaplain in the Officers' Reserve Corps.

WITH THE BAPTISTS

There were four additions to the church at the tabernacle meeting last Saturday night. In the afternoon service there were five restorations and several asked for prayers. The tabernacle meeting will continue two nights this week, tonight and Tuesday night.

All the services at the church yesterday were full and fervent. At the morning hour the pastor preached from the question, "Are The Heathens Lost?" It was a strong missionary sermon. At night the subject was "Is There Such a God as the Christians Worship?" The minister discussed the proofs of God's existence. These were the universal desire for God in the heart of men, the Bible with its marks of divinity and revelations; Jesus of Nazareth who come as the Scriptures declare to reveal the Father, Christian experience with reference to personal salvation and the answer to prayer, the absurdity of supposing there is no God, and nature as we see it today.

There were two additions to the church, two by letter and one for baptism and one restoration. The convert was a Syrian. As he came down the aisle to confess Christ it reminded us of our Lord's saying, "There were many lepers in Israel in the days of Elisha the prophet but none were cleansed, saved Norman, the Syrian."

The Sunday-school under the direction of Superintendent Birdwell observed promotion exercises suitable to the occasion. The departments assembled in the auditorium and heard a fine program.

The B. Y. P. U.'s were crowded. About 125 were in attendance. A number of new members were received from the west part of town where the tabernacle meeting has been in progress for a week.

BURTON-PARTIN

On Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at the home of Rev. A. T. Garrard, Mr. Walter Lester Burton of Orange, Texas, and Miss John Sealey Partin were united in the holy bonds of wedlock.

They were accompanied by Mrs. Hudgins, sister of the bride, and Mr. Hudgins of Orange. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for Orange, where they will make their future home.

At 7:30 Saturday evening Judge Frank Huston officiated at the marriage of Mr. L. A. Tubbe and Mrs. Ella Griffin at the home of the bride's father, Mr. James Boatman, about two miles from town, on the Woden road. The groom is a son of Mr. Jack Tubbe of the Poe community.

TRINITY BOX SUPPER

The box supper at Trinity school-house Friday night was declared a huge success in every particular, the program being extended beyond the original arrangement. The receipts from the sale of boxes amounted to $64.70, County Superintendent Miss Exier Lewis, assisted by one of the teachers college boys, Hollis Thomas, being in charge of this work.

The large crowd listened with greatest attention to an address by Dr. A. W. Birdwell, president of the Nacogdoches State Teachers College, on school work and its requirements. Mr. J. M. Hughes aroused much enthusiasm for the Lone Star Trail project by a splendid address. Secretary H. L. McKnight spoke on "Community Building," and put in a good word for the college and Nacogdoches, pointing the way to successfully building up a community.

The crowd had lots of fun, in addition to the valuable lessons learned from the speakers. In a girls' beauty contest Misses Vashti Cook and Willie Mae Rogers were awarded the prizes, while Cloman Williams won hands down in the contest for the prize offered for the ugliest man present.

Miss Ella Boatman, one of the most capable teachers in the county, is principal of the Trinity school, ably assisted by Miss Thelma James, the primary teacher. Miss Boatman is a daughter of Wes Boatman of the Union Springs community, 35 miles north on the Mt. Enterprise road. Miss James is a niece of Rev. H. T. Parritte, presiding elder of the Nacogdoches District of the Methodist church.

The trustees of the school are Messrs. I. D. McBe, I. D. Taylor and Martin L. King, all enthusiastic school men, giving of their best ability to the school's interest. And the Trinity District is fortunate in having them in charge.

FUNERAL OF MR. WILSON

The remains of Mr. G. R. Wilson, who died in San Antonio Friday morning, reached Nacogdoches Saturday night and taken to the home of Mrs. H. T. Mast, on North Mound street, where funeral services were held at 9:45 Sunday morning by Rev. C. D. Atwell of the Episcopal church, followed by interment in Oak Grove cemetery.

Deceased was 67 years old at the time of his death and is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. A. T. Mast of this city and Miss Janie Wilson of Houston; two nephews, Pres Wilson and Calhoun Wilson of Huntsville, all of whom were hers for the funeral obsequies, as also were Mrs. C. H. Huff of Houston and Mrs. Henley of C. P. Iron, sister of Mrs. Wilson.

The attendance at the grave was large and the floral offerings many and beautiful.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Tom Davison, Will Pack, Lawrence Hunt, Mack Monk, Louis Muller and J. T. Young.

Mr. Wilson had frequently been a visitor in the city, and his genial temperament and cheerful disposition had made friends of all with whom he came in contact. These are grieved at his passing, and their sympathy goes out to the bereaved family.

A marriage license was issued here Friday to Elton Hartsfield and Miss Mozelle King of Timpson.

LADY WAS IN A BAD FIX FROM NERVOUS INDIGESTION

Bloom, Miss.—"I had, for a year or more, nervous indigestion, or some form of stomach trouble," says Mrs. Alonzo Ford, 1117 Clay Street, this city. "The water I drank at that time seemed to constipate me. I would suffer until I got so nervous I wanted to get down on the floor and roll. I felt like I could tear my clothes.

"Every night, and night after night, I had to take something for a laxative, and it had to be kept up nightly. My side would pain. I looked awful. My skin was sallow and seemed spotted. I would look at my hands and arms, and the flesh looked lifeless.

"I happened to get a Birthday Almanac, so I told my husband I would try the Black-Draught, which I did. I took a few big doses. I felt much better. My liver acted well. I made a good warm tea and drank it that way. Soon I found that nervous, tight feeling was going, as was the pain in my side. I found I did not have to take it every night. Soon, after a few weeks, I could leave it off for a week or so, and I did not suffer with constipation. . . I gained flesh. I have a good color, and believe it was a stubborn liver, and that Black-Draught did the work.

"I went to my mother's (Mrs. Deeters) one day, and she wasn't well at all. . . I told her we'd try Black-Draught. We did, and now she keeps it to take after eating. It certainly helped her, and we neither will be without it in our homes. It is so simple, and the dose can be regulated as the case may be. We use small doses after meals for indigestion, and larger doses for headache or bad liver."

Theford's Black-Draught liver medicine is for sale everywhere. J 54

INQUIRE INTO SEA'S SECRETS

Scientists Have Discovered Many Things Concerning the Denizens of Ocean's Depths.

Humans may have their matrimonial tangles, but they are nothing to the matrimonial problems of the native oyster. In "Animals of the Sea," F. Martin Duncan, F. Z. S., tells us that each individual changes its sex at different periods, but the authorities do not agree as to the sex with which the oyster starts its life. Young oysters enjoy but forty-eight hours' freedom as moving creatures; then they settle down for life. Among the oyster's enemies is the starfish. An invasion of "five-fingers" will sometimes destroy a whole bed of oysters in a single night. Some most interesting points gleaned from this book include: The female lobster has been known to produce 160,000 eggs at a time. Limpets go on traveling expeditions at night, but by a wonderful homing instinct, return to exactly the same spot on their "home" rock. Whelks have from 220 to 250 teeth each, the dental outfit of the "umbrella shell" is 750,000 teeth. The sea urchin has four different kinds of spines, each with a specialized function—weapons, poison bearers, "chewers" and cleaners. A giant clam will weigh 500 pounds. A fifty-four-pound ling was found to possess 28,361,000 eggs.—Boston Transcript.

LOWER ANIMALS DESIRE LOVE

Manifold Not the Only Creature That is Able to Appreciate Feeling of Affection.

A certain hymn tells us that "the world is dying for a little bit of love." But have you ever thought that even as people desire love, so do animals? All animals—especially dogs—are longing for love every day of their lives. You can walk down the street and meet a lonesome, ragged, disowned dog, which, if you will snap your finger at him and speak kindly to him, will prick up his ears and wag his tail and follow you. Some dogs endure so many kicks and cuffs and so much starvation that they eagerly grasp at any insignificant kindness.

Animals love to be loved almost as well as a person does. Remember this and see that all animals with whom you come in contact get some sort of affection. A college president once stated that one of the tests of an educated person was to be able to say that a stray dog would follow him home.—Exchange.

Mother Must Be Versatile

Persons who read a slip fastened to the bulletin board of the Manhattan headquarters of the girl scout organizations were rather startled until they realized that the average woman, mother of three or four children, really fills all the positions specified below. The paper, taken from a national camp bulletin, states "at least a part knowledge of the following 64 vocations is necessary to make a home—hostess, executive, purchasing agent, superintendent, treasurer, accountant, bookkeeper, cashier, file clerk, correspondent, inspector, employment manager, banker, dietician, confectioner, cook, waiter, janitor, buss boy, bell boy, dishwasher, canner, florist, nurse, gardener, poultry raiser, educator, entertainer, clothing designer, clothing cutter, tailor, dressmaker, milliner, seamstress, embroiderer, dyer, cleaner, renovator, librarian, physician, teacher, laundry worker, hair dresser, manicurist, industrial arts worker, carpenter, electrician, mechanic, inventor, efficiency engineer, painter, plumber, upholsterer and interior decorator."

Melville on His Piazza

In summer, too, "canute-like, sitting here, one is often reminded of the sea. For not only do long groundswells roll the slanting grain, and little waves of the grass ripple over upon the low piazza, at their beach, and the blown down of dandelions is wafted like the spray, and the purple of the mountains is just the purple of the billows, and a still August noon broods over the deep meadows, as a calm upon them; but the vastness and the loneliness are so oceanic, and the silence and the sameness, too, that the first peep of a strange house, rising beyond the trees, is for all the world like spring, on the Barbary coast, an unknown sail.—Herman Melville.

Maps Long Used in Peru

Mapmaking goes back to the earliest known time. It was a branch of the early picture writing practiced by savages. In Tahiti, for instance, the natives were able to make fairly good maps for the guidance of explorers. Maps with raised lines were in use in Peru before the Conquest.

The oldest known map is that of the Ethiopian gold mines, dating from the time of Sethos I, the father of Rameses II, long before the time of Aristagoras and his bronze tablet, on which were inscribed the circuit of the earth and all the seas and rivers then known.

Great Speed Under Difficulties

An extract from the New York Evening Post, of October 2, 1907, may afford some amusement to travelers by water in these days: Mr. Fulton's newly-invented steamboat, which is fitted up in a neat style for passengers, and is intended to run from New York to Albany as a packet, left here this noon with ninety passengers against a strong headwind. Notwithstanding this, it was judged that she moved through the water at the rate of six miles an hour!

MIGHTIEST FORCE IS LOVE

No Other Human Emotion So Strengthens the Character and Makes for Aims That Are Noble.

"We are shaped and fashioned by what we love."—Goethe.

Love is the great purifier of the soul. It strengthens the character and gives a higher motive and a nobler aim to every action of life. It gives both to man and woman those higher attributes of the soul—courage, faith, nobility, strength, tenderness. It guides the life toward nobler, stronger manhood or sweeter, truer womanhood. It is the noblest gift with which a human being can be endowed. He who holds the love of another holds Heaven within his grasp. And he whose heart gives love to another enriches not only his own soul, but likewise enriches the soul of every man, woman and child whose life he touches. Love is the most potent thing in the world!

Love—true love—is indestructible. Indifference, abuse, ingratitude, repulsion cannot destroy true love; through all this true love lives on. Love simply loves, asking nothing in return. It purifies, ennobles and refines character with the touch of a Midas; it is always constructive, never destructive. Genuine love is a force that is ever uplifting. Even when sown in a barren soil it is not wasted; it always chastens, beautifies and enriches the life of the one who loves.

"If there be one thing pure, where all beside is sullied, and that can endure when all else passes away—if aught surpassing human deed, or word, or thought, it is a mother's love."—Spadara.

WHY RIGHT HAND IS USED

Was Necessary in the Days When the Heart Was Guarded by the Left Arm.

The Pathfinder prints an interesting theory of why we are right-handed. Most persons are right-handed. Only one in every twenty is left-handed. Why are people right-handed? They may have been born that way, it's true, but why? There's a reason for most things, if you can only puzzle it out. Away back in the beginning the chief occupation of man was fighting. In battle he carried a shield in one hand and a weapon in the other. It was not much work to carry the shield, but the quick action required by the hand and arm which did the fighting soon developed that arm. It also developed the nerves and the half of the brain that governed the right side of the body. Those who shielded their left side—the ones who usually came out victorious. Down through the ages this selection continued, the right hand gradually becoming more proficient.

Woman Sacred in Albania

"Everywhere in Albania a woman is safe and sacred. These wild and savage looking people, in the farthest mountains, will protect you with their lives even from the slightest discourtesy. One's only difficulty will be an embarrassment of attention, for men will attach themselves to your party in order to travel among their blood enemies in safety." writes Rose Wilder Lane, in World Traveler Magazine.

"No man may be insulted or killed in the presence of a woman. And there was once a man with a blithe sense of humor, whom I engaged as a guide, who took me a day's journey out of my way, merely to go through a tribe that was bound in honor to kill him on sight. He enjoyed the entertainment, the courtesy, the coffee and cigarettes which my presence forced from his enemies, and it never occurred to him that I might not enjoy the joke as well as he."

Fabre's Rebuttal

Others again have reproached me with my style, which has not the solemnity, nay, better, the dryness of the schools. They fear lest a page that is read without fatigue should not always be the expression of the truth. Were I to take their word for it, we are profound only on condition of being obscure. Come here, one and all of you—you, the sting-bearers, and you, the wing-cased armor-clads—take up my defense and bear witness in my favor. Tell of the intimate terms on which I live with you, of the patience with which I observe you, of the care with which I record your actions. Your evidence is unanimous; yes, my pages, though they bristle not with hollow facts nor learned smatterings, are the exact narrative of facts observed, neither more nor less; and whose cares to question you in his turn will obtain the same replies.—Jean Henri Fabre.

House Was Divided

A northerner was hunting in the South and one afternoon he got drenched through. A southern farmer took him in, gave him a suit of clothes to wear while his own clothes dried, and insisted that he stay all night. The northerner, of course, was profoundly touched by this display of southern hospitality.

Just after supper as the contented northerner, full of good food, was going upstairs to his bedroom for his pipe, he met the lady of the house coming down with a huge book under her arm. As he had her husband's clothes on she mistook him for her husband in the dim light and brought the book down on his head with a bang. "That!" she hissed. "That's what ye git for askin' him to stay all night!"—Savannah News.

ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved—Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed, Perfected Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The last triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines, thus enters upon a wider field of popularity—purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger. Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price 35 cents for the large family size; ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

In addition to affording one of the best times imaginable, the box supper at Lone Star schoolhouse Saturday night yielded about $42 for the school fund. Addresses were made by Dr. Birdwell, Mr. J. M. Hughes and Secretary H. L. McKnight of the Chamber of Commerce. Miss Exier Lewis, county superintendent, acted as auctioneer in the sale of the boxes and made quite a hit in that capacity. Everybody seemed to have a good time. The prize for the prettiest girl was awarded to Miss Clara Banks. Prof. George M. Hale is principal of the school and Miss Mattie Grigsby his assistant.

The visitors are making many friends in the city, and the Sentinel hopes they will have the time of their lives.

Four domesticated mallard ducks have found a temporary home in one of the big show windows at Cason, Monk & Company's and are attracting considerable attention, it being the first close-up of a live wild duck many of our people have had, especially the youngsters. These fowls are from a large flock belonging to Mr. Ike Futch and are the increment from a hatching of wild duck eggs procured by Mr. Futch some time ago and which have multiplied prolifically. Those in the Cason-Monk window are under the care of Mr. Robert Monk, who is looking closely after their welfare. They are sight worth seeing.

CIVIC PRIDE

As the wonderful paving program of our town now under way is making such splendid progress, it is very noticeable the civic pride and interest being manifested by the property owners along those of the streets on which the paving has been completed, and one in particular that is very noticeable and deserves especial mention and one which the Boosters are particularly delighted to see, is the removal of the old unsightly Bois De' Arc tree which stood directly on the sidewalk in front of the nice tenant dwelling property owned by our good citizen, Mr. W. U. Perkins, located on Hospital street, which tree has recently been removed and preparations are now being made for putting down a nice concrete sidewalk in front of these two homes which are occupied by R. G. Muckleroy and G. W. Childress, and which, when completed, will be an added attraction to the beauty and attractiveness of this property and Hospital street, and Mr. Perkins is to be complimented on this nice piece of civic improvement. The Boosters.
