PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

with BILL MAYES

Evidently we overlooked a football game of more or less importance sometime in the past few weeks. Anyway a sports writer on one of the larger daily papers says: "Taking pencil in hand it will be seen that the same Sweetwater team has defeated Big Spring, Lubbock and Abilene. The last two have beaten some of the leading teams of the north and west—specifically San Angelo and Ranger."

We overlooked the fact that Ranger had lost to Abilene and we will try to find out from someone just what the score was so we can let the customers know. Our idea was that Ranger and Abilene were to play in Abilene this year, sometime around Oct. 27, or thereabouts.

And, incidentally, Abilene lost an encounter from Lubbock Saturday without Blondy Cross singing his favorite song, "The Oil Belt Ain't What She Used to Be." Maybe he couldn't with Sweetwater, representative of the Sheep Dip district losing to Amarillo by a score of 41 to 0, even if San Angelo did win a game from a Class B team.

Those who saw the Eastland-Breckenridge game—we didn't get over because we didn't have the money to buy a ticket and everyone concerned forgot us, though the Eastland authorities were surprised that we didn't have a pass issued from the Ranger high school—predicted that when Eastland and Ranger meet next week the Bulldogs will have to put out their very best brand of football to hold their own with the Mavericks. The score, which was reported at 13 to 1 in one place, 12 to 6 in another, and 12 to 7 in still another, but all in favor of Breckenridge, was not a fair indication of the strength of the Mavericks, we are told as the Buckaroos won on a fluke in the last few minutes of play.

Breckenridge, incidentally, is using the old formation made famous back in the days of Boone Magness. This year it is a lad by the name of Taylor who stands back some 10 yards from the line of scrimmage and receives the ball and then either runs, kicks or passes. It worked well with Magness and Taylor is said to have made it look pretty effective Saturday.

We thought, last year when the Junior College Texas Rangers played Cisco in Ranger, that we saw the ultimate, or something, in sports writing when Benny Butler brought along a secretary with a portable typewriter and covered the game.

We are told that Porter, over at Breckenridge, goes him one better—or maybe two. Porter was along at the Eastland game, still according to reports, with a portable typewriter, one girl to keep track of punts, one to keep first downs, one to keep yardage gained, one to tabulate passes and still another to keep track of penalties. The reports say that the public conferences held by this battery of statisticians and writers was enough to frustrate everyone else in the press box, or thereabouts, so that it was almost impossible for anyone to keep anything like an accurate check on the game. Maybe that was the reason the reports on the outcome varies so much.

We don't know how they do it. They surely do not pay for tickets for this large staff of assistants.

Trade Expansion Advertising Goes Over Large Area

Distribution of 6,000 four-page circulars, advertising the big Ranger trade carnival, was begun today with cars taking the circulars to every community within 30 miles of Ranger in every direction.

In addition to this broadside of publicity, the Times tomorrow is carrying a double page advertisement of the campaign to bring trade to Ranger with advertisements of many of the merchants of the city included in the paper, which will also be given a wide distribution.

The most complete advertising campaign given to an affair of this kind in some years is expected to bring people to the city from many of the outlying communities.

Suffers for Her Mother's Deed

Two great fears beset Mrs. Katharine Kelly, wife of "Machine Gun" Kelly, as she faces punishment for complicity in the Urschel kidnaping. One is for her mother, already sentenced to prison for life. The other is for the future of her daughter by her first marriage, Pauline Fry, shown above, as she appeared in the courtroom where her mother faced trial.

PASTOR IS FOUND DEAD IN HIS CAR

PLEASANT HILL, La., Oct. 16.—The body of Dr. E. L. Thompson, pastor of the Mount Auburn Christian Church in Dallas, was found today in his parked car in a secluded wood south of here.

The body was badly decomposed and investigation of the death was not possible immediately.

Sheriff Edwards said cause of the death was uncertain. It was feared the minister had been slain. A revolver was clutched in the man's right hand. A wound, apparently caused by a bullet, was found on the left side of the pastor's head, about the ear. Thompson was involved in a federal court case at Shreveport and when he dropped from sight it was feared he had met with foul play.

James Williams, chairman of the Mount Auburn board of governors, told police the pastor had in his possession a brief case containing a perfect defense against the indictment. The Dallas churchmen expressed the belief the pastor had been kidnaped. He said the defense case would involve persons high in political circles of Louisiana.

Germany Ready To Preserve Peace

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—Germany stands ready to collaborate to the limit of her resources in the preservation of European peace on any basis that will preserve her national honor, it was said today.

It was indicated Germany was ready and eager to negotiate and honorable agreement for disarmament and make it plan within the next few days the war scare which followed her withdrawal from the League of Nations and the conference had no basis in fact so far as she is concerned.

ARMS PARLEY ADJOURNS AT MEETING TODAY

By United Press
 GENEVA, Switzerland, Oct. 16.—The general commission of the world arms conference adjourned today after approving a blunt note to Germany characterizing her excuses for quitting the conference as "invalid" and voting to reconvene on Oct. 26.

The note pointed out that withdrawal came at the moment the committee was attempting to fulfill the German demand.

It was hoped that through direct negotiations on the part of individual nations, between now and Oct. 26, to achieve some measure of compromise, both to save the face of the conference and to achieve a partial regulation of European armaments.

Every effort will be made to persuade Chancellor Hitler to reconsider his position and if possible to return to the world effort at harmony.

Members of the steering committee appeared cheerful as they arrived today for the momentous session. The corridors buzzed with the possibility of five-power negotiations following the main conference Oct. 26, and the probability that if Germany maintains her attitude a major arms convention will be signed without Berlin, the pact being offered at Hitler for his acceptance or rejection.

T. L. Blanton Raps Federal Salary Drive

Federal employees restoration of the old pay scales will get no help from Congressman Thomas L. Blanton of Texas. In a telegram sent E. Cloud Babcock, president Federation of Government Employees, Washington, D. C., he made his position on the matter clear, and expressed the opinion that "government salaries have been higher than they should have been and that those in the government employ should be thankful to God that they have positions with Uncle Sam who pays them regularly while many people are starving."

Ranger Department Answers Two Calls

The Ranger fire department answered two alarms Sunday and Monday.

At noon Sunday the department made a run to the home of Joe Gallegas, Lackland addition, where a fire had started in the roof. The blaze was attributed to a faulty kitchen chimney. Little damage was done, the fire being confined to the rear portion of the roof.

This morning the department was called to the home of Joe Bynum, Spring road, where the house was ablaze. As the fire was outside the city limits the firemen pumped water from a stock tank a few hundred yards away, until the water supply was exhausted. The house was a loss. No cause for the fire was determined immediately, nor was the amount of damage.

Says M'Adoo Aided Loan to Brazil

How Senator William G. McAdoo of California, in the role of legal counsel, helped the banking investment firm of Dillon, Read & Co., to float a $12,000,000 Brazilian loan in 1921 was described at the Senate stock market inquiry by Robert O. Hayward, the firm's vice president. Hayward here is shown during the hearing.

RUSSIA HAS STRENGTHENED EAST BORDERS

BEIJING, China, Oct. 16.—Russia has strengthened her far eastern defense in preparation for a possible war with Japan, a Russian spokesman said today.

The spokesman, a member of the Russian embassy, admitted he had informed his government that Chinese travelers arriving here reported that three Russian airplanes were seen around Jehol for three hours, flying off to the northward when Japanese anti-aircraft guns opened fire.

THREE GUESSES

ALL NATIONAL BANKS COME UNDER PLAN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The government today came to the aid of depositors in closed national banks with an announcement by President Roosevelt of creation of a federal deposit liquidation board to free $1,000,000,000 quickly.

The board, composed of ranking fiscal officials, will concentrate on stimulating the distribution of the frozen assets of banks, closed since Jan. 1, 1933, salvaging as much as possible for depositors to bolster purchasing power.

The general intention, the announcement said, is to make loans on the assets of closed banks for the benefit of depositors up to a maximum of 50 per cent of their deposits, inclusive of distribution heretofore made.

This does not, of course, mean that a bank whose remaining assets are worthless, that the depositors will get 50 per cent. They will get, in such a case only their share in the assets.

Exact sum that will be freed depends upon appraisal of the actual assets of each closed bank.

"In cases where the conditions of the closed banks will justify it, proper consideration will be given to a larger distribution than 50 per cent. More than one distribution will be made, as and if, assets improve in value."

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S TRIBUTE TO SAMUEL GOMPERS

President Roosevelt paid an eloquent tribute to the late Samuel Gompers in dedicating a huge bronze memorial to the dead voice of labor who had served 38 years as the president of the American Federation before he died in Mexico in 1924. Samuel Gompers was a masterful figure in the life of organized and unorganized labor for more than a third of a century.

President Roosevelt gave excellent advice to the leaders of labor of today. He bluntly said there were "hot heads in workers' ranks who think that results can be obtained by noise and violence."

William Green is the successor of Samuel Gompers. He is the president of the annual convention of the American federation of labor now in session. In closing his review of conditions as they exist, the chief magistrate asserted the organization of wage workers and bread winners

There is a recovery program on. It is nationwide. It is of the nature of general relief as well as a recovery program.

ALTHOUGH millions of Americans eat oysters solely because of their enjoyment of the mollusks as a food, it is satisfying to know that the richness in minerals, and other factors, make oysters an important and nutritious addition to the diet.

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST Halves of melon, cereal cooked with dates cream crisp toast, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON Scalloped oysters, shredded cabbage with sour cream dressing, Boston brown bread, snow pudding, milk, tea.

It is evident that by using marine fish or shellfish in the diet two or three times each week, the amount of iodine ingested could be increased considerably. These facts should be of interest to the American people, especially to those living in the so-called goiterous belts in which the iodine content of the water and foods is below normal.

In a new publication of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, Dr. E. J. Coulson points out that oysters contain many valuable minerals and that as a source of iron and copper, the oyster is comparable only with liver.

First Baptist Church Has Good B. T. S.

According to leaders, the Bible Training school of the First Baptist church had very good programs last evening, with 60 present in all departments.

At the 11 o'clock hour, the pastor, Rev. G. W. Thomas, spoke on "The Hope," enumerating possibilities for a complete eternity.

The evening service centered around "The Great Conquest." The Rev. Mr. Thomas presented the idea of conquering one's self, the greatest conquest and the first: personal subjection.

Both preaching hours were well attended, according to reports.

First Christian Bible School Under New Leader

Working under the leadership of the newly elected superintendent, H. C. Anderson, the First Christian church had a full day yesterday, reports say.

Communion was taken preceding the morning service. The pastor, Rev. H. B. Johnson, spoke at both morning and evening hours.

The letter was turned to evangelism, with sermon and song service directed accordingly.

Presbyterian Church Has Unusual Day

Yesterday saw the work of the local Presbyterian church on an uplift, with good congregations at both morning and evening hours.

Dr. B. A. Hodges of Waxahachie, the synodical representative of religious education and university work, spoke at both services.

The teacher-training course, which began in the afternoon and will continue each evening this week, opened with approximately 12 enrolled. Dr. Hodges is presenting the work for leaders, a course on "Principles of Teaching" to be completed in the study.

Plans for the church-to-church visitation team which will be in progress this afternoon are complete.

Church of Christ Hears Guest Speakers

Filling the pulpit, in the absence of the pastor, G. C. Brewer of Eastland spoke at the morning hour at the Church of Christ yesterday, followed by Allen D. Dabney, also of Eastland, in the evening.

Mr. Brewer deviled into the details of the Christian Life according to the Bible, concerning sin.

Mr. Dabney took his text from a resume of scriptural warnings, "Woe Unto the Ungodly, the Sinner, and the Scornful."

The pastor, Rev. D. W. Nichol, returns today from Corsicana, where he has been conducting a revival meeting.

Plans were announced for the ladies of the church to meet Thursday at the church for an all-day quilting and luncheon.

Methodist Church Hears Campaign Report

A report was made last evening at the Methodist church concerning the campaign now in progress to complete plans for the fiscal year. The campaign, according to the report, is progressing as the committee, composed of some 60 members of the church, had hoped it might.

Rev. Gid J. Bryan spoke at the morning hour on "The Christian's Love to God and Humanity Expressed in Reality by Financial Support of the Program of the Church."

The evening service was devoted to a study of "God's Readiness to Forgive the Repentant Sinner." The pastor took the forms under Josiah, shortly before the captivity, to illustrate his sermon.

DERRICK SHADOWS
 By V. MARIE STEPHENS

About the only recreation we find in fall flu is the swallowing of pills and counting of sheep.

The effects are terrible.

One misses the lengthy accounts which usually follow an operation. There is no other . . . no hospital food . . . no bustling nurse.

Immediately the listener loses interest.

And so, we found ourselves with the flu . . . plenty of time to think . . . and nothing to think about. We became quite cynical concerning the breaks of life.

But there was something . . . a canary bird.

He swung on a perch and ate lettuce hour after hour. Slowly he swung . . . loudly he ate. We became nervous.

And 'twas then we found something about which to think.

The bird was so much like life . . . like people in life. He filled his small niche in the world with a feathered complacency . . . sure of himself . . . a trifle self-centered . . . a bit bored. H-m-m-m. Sounds like man.

You and I do that. Sit on our perches behind a desk . . .

At the head of a home . . .

Behind a counter . . .

In a field . . .

On the street.

We eat lettuce. Gossip . . .

Crime . . .

Society . . .

The church . . .

Love . . . hate . . . envy . . . deceit.

We draw our feathers about us: sure of ourselves . . .

Self-centered . . .

Bored . . .

H-m-m-m. Sounds like the bird.

And there you have a cycle . . . sounds like man, sounds like bird. Around and around we go . . . lettuce and perches.

There really isn't much sense to it . . . only, having the flu, we noticed the bird. And, being quite well and active, the bird ignored us . . . which was somewhat upsetting, you know.

To watch a bird swing on a perch all day long . . . and eat lettuce.

office force to help in the serving of radio friends. He explained that many of their letters were humorous, pitiful, and pathetic to the point of tears.

Listening to the sincerity of his speech I did not wonder at his success. Their company sometimes makes tours and an average attendance for a performance in a big city is 3,000 people, while vaudeville and other high class shows have been stranded.

As I looked at them in their cleanness of life, sympathy, and love, I thought of the Man of Galilee, who said that he who would save his life must lose it. Truly these young people are forgetting self to help save the ideals of home all over our land.

One eminent writer has said, "He has done more to make religion a part of the American home than any other one man." I scribbled an "amen" following this and also to the wonderfully inspiring meeting of "The Seth Parkers in Person."

Saturday's Millions To Be Shown At Arcadia Tonight

Football began early in Hollywood this season.

Two months before the usual time, teams composed of many of the West's outstanding gridiron stars were pounding over the turf in Los Angeles' great Coliseum, annually the scene of the University of California's greatest games. Such famous players as Ernie Nevers, characterized by Coach "Pop" Warner as the greatest football star who ever lived, took part in exciting scrimmages, while spectators in the packed grandstands cheered on their favorites.

And all the time motion picture cameras were recording the action, for the game was specially staged for scenes in "Saturday's Millions" Universal's stirring football comedy drama which comes to the Arcadia Theatre today. Robert Young, who plays the principal male role in the picture, was the star player on the field, member of the Western University team captained by Johnny Mark Brown.

In the grandstand sat Leila Hyams, who plays the leading feminine role, as well as Andy Devine, Mary Carlisle, Lucille Lund and other members of the cast.

"Saturday's Millions" is said to present a story of unusual dramatic interest, and the most exciting football game ever brought to the screen. It is the 1933 success-

Bulldog Squad To Be Introduced At Arcadia Tonight

The entire Ranger Bulldog football squad will be guests of B. E. Garner, manager of the Arcadia theatre, tonight, when they will see "Saturday's Millions," the outstanding football picture of the year, which will be playing its first engagement in Ranger.

H. C. "Andy" Anderson, who introduced the Oil Belt district champions from the stage last year, will act as master of ceremonies at a presentation of the squad from the stage again this year. He will introduce each of the players as they appear on the stage, between pictures, about 9 o'clock.

The Ranger high school band, under the direction of R. L. Maddox, will play in front of the theatre at the beginning of the performance, after which they, too, will go to the theatre to be guests of the management.

Garner started the practice of having the members of the Bulldog squad as his guests at a football picture last year, when Mr. Anderson introduced the squad from the stage the night of the Brownwood game.

The high school pep squad, which has been practicing regularly in preparation for the opening of the conference season, will accompany the band and will give several yells outside the theatre prior to the show.

Methodist Raise $5,000 On Their Church Debt

Eastland Methodists came out to church Sunday and helped to raise more than $5,000.00 on a $9700.00 budget. The church members pledged in the morning service $2503.00 and the District Board folding the church loan matched dollar for dollar the amount subscribed by the local church, making the entire amount raised $5006.00.

According to the leaders in the campaign, the goal will be reached. All captains and their team are to meet again tonight at the church at 7:30 to make further plans to carry on the work indefinitely until the full amount needed is raised. The amount, if raised, will wipe out the entire due indebtedness of the church, it is stated, and the new conference year will start in November without these pressing obligations that must be paid now.

Rev. C. Q. Smith, presiding elder of the district, who has been the leader in the absence of Rev. Sam G. Thompson, pastor, who is critically ill in a Temple Sanatorium, preached at the morning hour to a large crowd on the subject, "What Shall Man Give In Exchange For His Own Soul?"

and it is all we can do to manage to get in, some of the games. Last week when Ranger played Mineral Wells, J. W. Cockrill, editor of the Gorman Progress, came up to see the game and asked us about getting in. We had one pass, made out to the Ranger Times, so we gave him that and wrote a little note on it asking that he be let in. This left us without a ticket.

But we pulled a fast one. We had a pass left over from the Central game that someone forgot to take up, so when we went in the gate we handed it to Bob Norman and talked to him right fast so he wouldn't take time to read it, and then slipped on in. Thus, by working a fast one, we managed to get by the ticket takers and got a fair idea of how the game came out. We failed to get any angle on the Eastland game because we didn't have any way to get in and got all our information second-hand, which is not so very satisfactory.

We have hopes of finding a lay place in the fence around Mayerick field sometime this week so we can either climb over for the Ranger game or see through one of the cracks—or a knothole. Or we might get Mr. Bittle to issue us a press pass.
