After the game Rex L. May, manager of the Universal team, said that his team was due to win, because after being defeated last week by the All Stars he had picked out a 'Fort Worth All Star' team to bring along to represent Universal and he had much more material from which to pick.

Grounds pitched the first four innings for the All Stars and allowed two hits and two runs. Boyd went in at the beginning of the fifth, but was wild and walked the first five men to face him. He was relieved by Reed of Caddo, who went in with one out and the bases loaded and allowed two runs on one hit and two errors.

In the four and two-thirds innings he pitched he allowed two hits and one more run.

THOMPSON REVIEWS RECORD IN TALK BEFORE A LARGE CROWD AT EASTLAND WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the state railroad commission, charged Wednesday night in a campaign speech at Eastland that his campaign for re-election was being opposed because he had championed the interests of the consumers against monopolies.

The railroad commissioner drew delegations from many surrounding towns as he brought his candidacy in the runoff election.

Before speaking he was given a dinner by oil men and other appreciative of his work in the district. Joseph M. Weaver of Eastland presided at the banquet held at the Connelley hotel and Rev. Charles W. Estes, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Eastland, gave the invocation. Music was furnished by the Vacationers' orchestra of Eastland.

Colonel Thompson was introduced by Mayor C. W. Hoffman. Senator Wilboure B. Collier of this district paid tribute to Thompson in an address.

The commissioner told his listeners of his long record of fighting for fair utilities rates for the consumers and of the stalwart defense he has made as railroad commissioner of the rights of the small, independent oil man.

"These utilities don't love me because I have a record as a real rate-cutter," Thompson averred.

"I believe that the consumers should have to pay fair rates and only fair rates."

He reviewed his record as mayor of Amarillo, when he reduced every utility rate in the town—water, lights, telephones and gas—and as railroad commissioner in reducing gas rates in 159 towns and cities in the state. Gas utilities is the only utility under the commissioner's jurisdiction.

Thompson criticized strongly his colleague on the commission, Lon A. Smith, for Smith's attack on the commission. Smith has been actively campaigning for Morris, Judge C. V. Terrell, veteran senior member of the commission, is supporting Thompson.

Thompson charged that Smith had urged utilities companies to fight the commission chairman and support Morris because of Thompson's record in opposing unfair utilities rates for the consumers. Thompson quoted from a letter which he said was written over the signature of Smith to an executive of a well-known utilities company, as follows: "Dear Sir and Friend: "I am sure that your organization together with the other utilities companies in Texas know the attitude of the chairman of the railroad commission against such

Soil Conservation Project Inspection Slated Wednesday

Eastland County Chambers of Commerce, Teachers of Vocational Agriculture, and County Agricultural Agents are initiating the 1936 terracing program in the County by sponsoring a motorcade of Eastland County farmers and others interested to inspect the U. S. Soil Conservation project at Dublin on Wednesday, August 26th. The group will assemble at the project headquarters in Dublin at 1 p. m. where busses will be furnished by the Government to make the 3 hour trip over the project.

Although anyone interested in inspecting the project is encouraged to make up a car load and go, a bus load will be taken by the Cisco Chamber of Commerce and plans are being considered to take bus loads from Ranger, Rising Star and Eastland. Those wishing to go who have no way should inquire at the Chambers of Commerce at Eastland, Cisco, Ranger and Rising Star, or at the County Agent's office, Eastland.

The Dublin project has constructed ready for inspection systems of terraces, contours, terrace outlets, and other erosion control structures on several hundred acres of field and pasture land.

With the 1936 terracing season about ready to begin in Eastland County, all those planning to terrace or contour fields or pastures are urged to make this tour and see how the work is done and the results obtained.

Soil conservation is probably the greatest problem facing landowners today and this problem is more acute in Eastland County than most counties in the State due to its soil being easily subject to blowing and washing, and the nature of the crops planted in the County. Experts have proved that on an average soil more than 20 times as much plant food is washed and blown off than is taken off by growing crops. Well constructed systems of terraces have been used on some farms in Eastland County for more than 15 years but many terraces constructed have been unsatisfactory due to improper construction. Every effort is being made to encourage Eastland County farmers to build terraces at least 25 feet wide and 24 inches high.

MEXICO HAS SHIPPED ARMS TO SPANISH

By United Press
MEXICO CITY, Aug. 20.—More than 30 railway carloads of war munitions are enroute to the Spanish government from Mexico City, reliable informants said today.

Confirmation of the destination and of the implication that the aid of the left wing government of Spain came from the left wing government of Mexico, would be calculated, not only to shatter any hope of a neutrality agreement, but to enrage Mussolini and Adolf Hitler, leaders of the government of Italy and Germany.

It was learned definitely that the munitions left Mexico City for Vera Cruz in two special trains yesterday.

Former Opponent Introduces Rep. Blanton In Lawn

LAWN, Aug. 20.—An attentive crowd heard Judge Tom Blanton here Wednesday in his campaign for re-nomination as 17th district congressman. Although hoarse he spoke vigorously in defense of his 20-year record in congress and severely criticized his opponent, Clyde Garrett of Eastland, for a "campaign of deliberate and persistent misrepresentation against me."

Blanton had a surprise introduction. It was by Joe B. Dibrell, lawyer of Coleman, who, after the congressman had finished his speech, made a 20-minute talk himself in Blanton's behalf.

"I live in Coleman county, not in your district now, and am not presuming to come over here and meddle in your affairs. But I have heard the charge made by Judge Blanton's opposition that the men who have run against him in the past are unfriendly to him at this time.

"I am one of those who has run against Judge Blanton for congressman, and I have come over to tell you that I am friendly to him and believe in him and the wonderful record he has made. He did not ask me to make this introduction and did not know I was coming here."

Blanton defeated Dibrell in the campaign of 1922.

Turning to Blanton, Dibrell said: "Judge, your many Coleman friends are pulling for your reelection Saturday. There are a great many people in our county who fully realize your faithful service and are really sorry they are not in your district so that they could help you over in a big way. We believe in fair play. We do not believe that the people of your district will turn you down at a time when honest men are needed more than ever, and it is with all sincerity that we wish you an overwhelming majority next Saturday."

Life of the Saint Of the Day

By REV. S. E. BYRNE

St. Bernard was born at the castle of Fontaines, in Burgundy. The grace of his person and the vigor of his intellect filled his parents with the highest hopes, and the world lay bright and smiling before him when he renounced it forever and joined the monks at Citeaux. All his brothers followed Bernard at Citeaux except Nivard, the youngest, who was left to be the stay of his father in his old age. "You will now be heir to everything," said they to him, as they departed. "Yes," said the boy, "you leave me earth and keep heaven for yourselves; do you call that fair?" And he too, left the world. At length their aged father came to exchange wealth and honor for the poverty of a monk of Clairvaux. Only one sister remained behind; she was married, and loved the world and its pleasures. Magnificently dressed, she visited Bernard; he refused to see her, only at last consented to do so, not as her brother, but as a minister of Christ. The words he then spoke moved her so much that two years later, she retired to a convent with her husband's consent, and died in the reputation of sanctity. Bernard's holy example attracted so many novices that other monasteries were erected, and our Saint was appointed abbot of that of Clairvaux. Unsparring with himself, he at first expected too much of his brethren, who were disheartened at his severity; but soon perceiving his error, he led them forward, by the sweetness of his correction and the mildness of his rule, to wonderful perfection. In spite of his desire to remain obscure, the fame of his sanctity spread far and wide, and many churches asked for him as their Bishop. His most precious writings have earned for him the titles of the last of the Fathers and a Doctor of Holy Church.

Friends Supporting Rip Galloway For County Clerk Job

A large number of friends of R. V. (Rip) Galloway, candidate for county clerk, all of whom feel that he is eminently qualified for the position he is seeking are joining in an effort to acquaint their friends over the county of the fact that he has the whole-hearted backing of those who have worked with and know him. Galloway has been in the newspaper and printing business in Ranger for 17 years and has raised his family in Eastland county, and has educated his children in the county. He has never asked for political office before, but his many friends feel that he is as well qualified for the position as anyone in the county. Although he has never held a political office his training in the business world has amply fitted him for the office of county clerk, his friends believe, and they are urging the voters to give a deserving man a chance to prove that he can fill the position as they know he will if elected.

W. S. Adamson Is Being Backed By His Many Friends

Although he has never held a political office in Eastland county, Judge W. S. Adamson of Ranger is so thoroughly trained in the finer points of the position he is seeking that a large host of his friends and admirers are joining in urging his election as county judge of Eastland county, the office he is seeking. Among his many qualifications several are outstanding. He has served as district clerk and county judge of Scurry county, positions which he filled in a capable and business-like manner. For the past few years he has been a member of the Ranger City Commission, and during his term as a commissioner the city has made large strides forward, some of the most outstanding work of any city commission being consummated during his regime. In addition to his record as a public servant, Judge Adamson is a member of the bar, who has been thoroughly trained and versed in all phases of law practice. This, coupled with his experience as a public official will aid him greatly in serving the people as county judge.

WHAT

The Chronicle of Arlington, Va. says about Thomas L. Blanton
 Arlington, Va., Friday, August 7, 1936

CONGRESSMAN BLANTON

Congressman Thomas L. Blanton, who has done more for the District of Columbia than any member of the lower house of congress, is being bitterly assailed by two Washington newspapers who could not use him or sverve him from the path of duty and honor. Even the enemies of Judge Blanton in congress say that he is the most valuable man in that body. He is a tireless worker and could be found at his office in the House Office Building from 8 A. M. to midnight every day of the session, when not on the floor or attending the meetings of the important committees that he headed or served upon.

It was Congressman Blanton who discovered the robbery of insane World War veterans and who put through legislation that would save their estates, and protect their families. He discovered where one attorney had gotten more out of the estates of 155 insane World War veterans than they got from their own estates.

Judge Blanton's whole long life in congress has been marked by efforts to protect the U. S. Treasury from raiders. He has been a terror to corrupt and venal politicians, and being a master of parliamentary law and procedure he has killed more bad legislation than any other man in congress. If he were not respected and looked up to by democratic leaders in congress he could not have accomplished anything. That is a sufficient answer to those who abuse him.

The people of his congressional district ought to know that he has during this administration caused to be spent by the federal government in the counties of his district more than thirty-five million dollars. His entire record in congress is clean, as is his public and private life, and although he has been much abused by self seeking Washington newspapers, not one of them ever could point to a stain upon his character.

Texas never sent a braver, or manlier soul to Washington to battle for the right. There is not a yellow streak in Thomas L. Blanton and in his long career no enemy has ever charged him with dishonor. Measured in usefulness he is ten congressmen in one.

New Deal Saves Bank Depositors Survey Reveals

NEW YORK—The friendly hand of Uncle Sam was stretched out last week to rescue thousands of bank depositors from the effects of two bank failures in eastern states. Had it not been for the protection afforded by the Roosevelt Administration, through passage of the bill providing insurance for bank deposits up to $5,000, every one of these depositors would have watched his life savings disappear when the bank went to the wall. Instead, they were paid off at the rate of 100 cents on the dollar within two weeks after the banks closed their doors.

The first failure was in the little town of East Hampton, in Connecticut. The local bank and trust company, with several thousand poor depositors, was the victim of dishonest officials and was obliged to close. It was one of the few bank failures in America since President Roosevelt took office. The little community was panic-stricken at the disaster, but calmed down when agent of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation appeared and took charge of the bank's tangled affairs.

Two weeks after the agents an-in charge of Christmas accounts. A joyful smile brightened the child's face as Uncle Sam's agent handed her a shining quarter. She quickly hid it in her little purse and romped out of the bank.

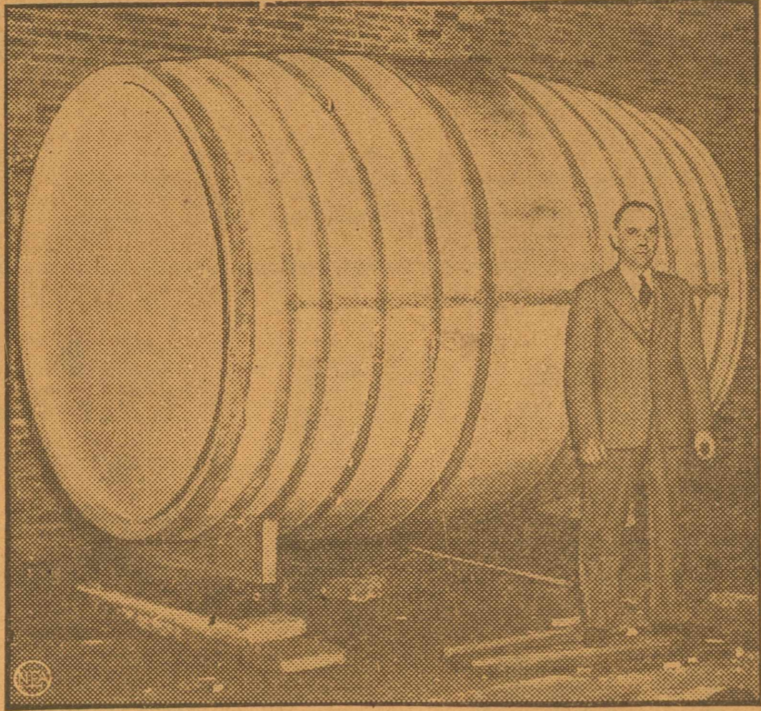

Then, all day long, lines of depositors pressed toward the paying teller's cage. They received the full amount of their savings.

The other bank collapse was in Newark, N. J. There the D'Auria Bank and Trust Company, in a crowded Italian neighborhood, crashed a few weeks ago. As in the Connecticut failure, most of the depositors were poor working people, who had placed all their meager savings with the institution. After the bank was closed officers were arrested, charged with making false statements to the banking authorities. The wildest excitement prevailed in the Italian quarter of Newark, but the soothing influence of Uncle Sam was soon felt. Agents arrived and took charge. Last Thursday FDIC checks were ready and hundreds called to receive payment due them. Watching them (as they stood in line, was Simon Kesselman, formerly general secretary of the United States Depositor's Committee of the Bank of the United States, which went to the wall in Manhattan several years ago with staggering losses to more than 40,000 depositors. "If we only had had that Federal Insurance of deposits when the Bank of United States closed up!" he wailed.

Most of the depositors of the Newark bank probably had no clearer conception of the operation of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation than their fellow sufferers in Connecticut. They did not seem to know where the money to pay them was coming from. In fact, they did not appear to care. They only knew that they were getting every cent that was due them. With that they were content.

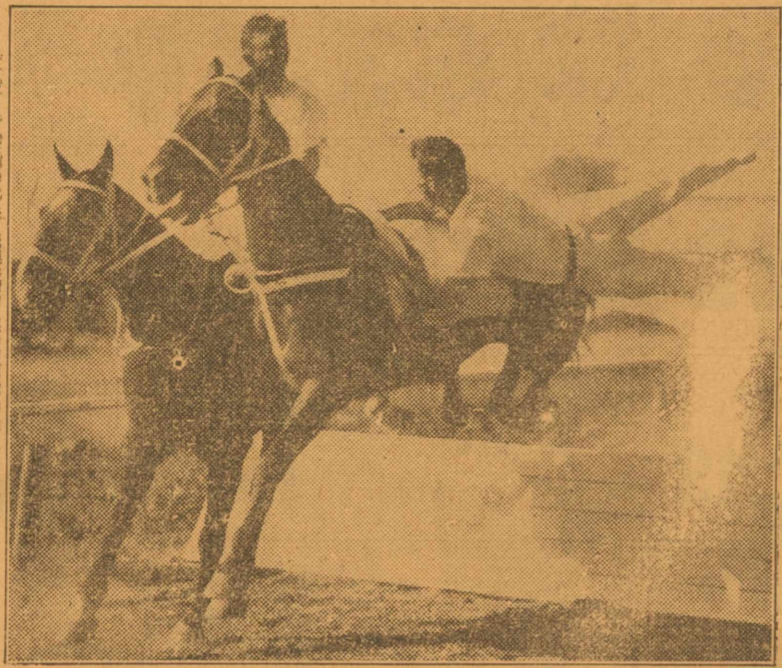

Actually, however, the money paid out will not be a dead loss to Uncle Sam. As the law operates, the Government takes an assignment of depositors' claims and collects as much as possible from the bank's assets to reimburse the Federal Treasury. In the meantime distress of depositors is relieved and confidence in other banks maintained. Thus, while country during the Hoover regime, are stopped before they start. If this were the only accomplishment of the Roosevelt Administration, it would be sufficient to constitute a valid claim upon the nation's gratitude.

The huge keg will be equipped with radio, a keel, sail, and 60 days' supply of food and water for the ocean crossing. Married and father of two, Biegazski spent his $1000 bonus money for the barrel, hoping to make inquisitive Europeans pay to see it.

Labor A Unit In Backing Roosevelt

Evidence accumulates that the ranks of labor will march solidly behind the banner of President Roosevelt.

The recent action of the United Hatters, Caps and Millinery Workers' International Union in endorsing the candidacy of the President for re-election at its quarterly meeting in New York City, marked a sharp departure from the policy of the organization.

Heretofore it has taken no part in politics and has refused to endorse candidates for any party. This year, however, leaders of the Union took the stand that if the progress of labor has made during the last three years is to continue, President Roosevelt's re-election is of paramount importance. Officials of the Union stated that introduction of the labor issue by the National Association of Manufacturers, the American Liberty League, Chambers of Commerce and industry in general forced the Union to line up with the President against his industrial foes.

Major George L. Berry, president of the Pro-Roosevelt Non-Partisan League, recently announced that he would mobilize all labor in support of President Roosevelt. He declared that he would perfect "a working, fighting organization in every Congressional district in every State and Territory." He added that labor's struggle was with the "great exploiters" and not with the public.

"Governor Landon's acceptance speech statements," he said, "are entirely in harmony with his labor record. Out of that record we could expect nothing except the claptrap and weasel words of the Topeka speech. It bulwarks industrial Bourbonism. It denies labor's aspirations. It points backward to industrial despotism. American labor today faces forward—forward with Roosevelt."

permitted to promote business in the halls of the police station," Payne said. "If they get a call at their office, that's different."

WHEN GOOD FELLOWS GET TOGETHER

It's always fair weather when fair fishermen get together. Vice Pres. John Nance Garner, left, beams a conclusion to the tale of his four-pound catfish that didn't get away while Col. Ernest O. Thompson, center, strokes his chin in doubt. To the right Gov. James V. Allred respectfully listens while he thinks up one to tell. It all happened on the lawn at the governor's mansion where the vice president and Mrs. Garner spent Tuesday night en route to Dallas to be feted Wednesday at the Texas Centennial.

Let's Re-Elect and Send CECILA LOTIEF

BACK TO AUSTIN As Your

Representative EASTLAND AND CALLAHAN COUNTIES 107th District

CECIL A. LOTIEF

In soliciting your vote in the run-off primary, I wish to briefly state what I stand for and why:

As I have stated before in my campaign speeches, one member cannot dictate what shall be done at Austin. The governor can't do that. And personally, I was not only disappointed when the legislature failed to provide for ample funds for old age assistance, but was likewise displeased with certain apparent defects in the bill. The House, in fact, passed a measure that would have raised the needed revenue. But after its passage in the house it was filibustered to death in the senate.

I stand for the administration of the Old Age Pension by the County Commissioners' Court of each county. The Commissioners are already on the pay roll and I see no reason for adding hundreds of political employees to the population at Austin.

I am against new taxes for any purpose other than the Pension. Recovery and business are being retarded by too many taxes.

I am for a drastic reduction in the Auto License Fees. Automobiles pay four cents a gallon tax or about thirty dollars apiece. This is enough tax for the automobile owner to pay.

I stand for equal justice in all matters to rich and poor; labor, farmer and capital; landholder and renter with no discrimination against any of them.

I believe in a Legislator attending all Sessions of the Legislature every day and every hour. Things can happen to hurt his District if he does not stay on the job. My record shows I have attended and I pledge you faithful attendance all of the time, if you will send me back.

I stand for an enlargement of the Public School System to give the rural boy and girl the same advantages that the city has.

I stand for no reduction of the School Appropriations or the payments by the State on a Scholastic basis and will increase them when revenue permits.

I would appreciate your vote in the Run-Off Democratic Primary on August 22, 1936, and your influence with your friends and relatives.

Respectfully,

CECIL A. LOTIEF

Words cannot express my appreciation for the wonderful vote you gave me in the first primary. I consider this home vote a greater honor than being elected to any office within the gift of the people.

A heavy vote in Ranger on August 22, will do more than anything else to elect me to the office of County Clerk, and I appeal to you again to go to the polls and do me this favor, and it will be appreciated by my entire family as well as myself.

War Is Started On Bondsmen

HOUSTON, Tex.—Police Chief B. W. Payne has declared war on "professional" bondsmen who solicit business at the police headquarters.

Payne demoted Desk Sergeant A. C. Staine to a City "beat" because the officer released a prisoner to a bondsman who netted a $3 fee, in the first move of this war.

Staine failed to search a man who was arrested for drunkenness. He permitted the man to walk into the front of the headquarters office and speak with the bondsman, Payne said.

Rich and Reckless

By Mary Raymond

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MOLLY MILFORD, rich and popular, has received proposals of marriage from three suitors, but BRETT SPART, whom she loves, has not asked her to marry him.

Bored with parties, Molly asks Brett to take her to "The Red Poppy," a questionable night club. He refuses. Molly, annoyed, goes with WICK ROSS, another suitor.

The lights go out suddenly and when they come on again Molly finds she is dancing with a handsome stranger. He is, in reality, NELSON FERGUSON, Brett's brother, and he is one of a party being to spirit Molly away and hold her for ransom.

Ferguson tells Molly his name is "NELSON WHITTAKER." A few days later he asks her to have dinner with him, and she goes. Waiting for him at a downtown store, Molly encounters a girl who appears to be her exact double. Impulsively Molly exchanges her luxurious costume for the other girl's shabby one.

She and "Whittaker" go to a place called "Frenchy's." Police arrive and there is shooting in which "Whittaker" is fatally injured. Molly is forced into a car and taken to a deserted back house.

NOW GO ON WITH OUR STORY

CHA

SUN streamed through a small, barred window into the room into which Molly had been unceremoniously thrust the night before.

But it was not the sun, but loud, angry voices that awakened her. "Of all the dirty rotten tricks! So he thought he could pull a joke like that on us! I get by with it. Bringing a cheap little nobody while that 'Milford girl'!" The man's voice died in an angry rumble.

Molly could not distinguish the rest of the sentence, but she had heard enough.

For some reason the kidnapers were confused about her identity. They believed she was that other girl—the one she had changed dresses with. Molly did not even know the other girl's name.

She reached for the small brown purse, her heart fluttering wildly. Inside were a handkerchief, compact, a smaller coin purse with some loose change, and a letter.

The letter was postmarked the morning before and was addressed to Miss Leola Barlow. Molly hesitated for a moment. It was necessary for her to know something about this girl. Immediately, at any moment now the door might open and they would begin questioning her.

"Honey," the letter, written in a man's careless hand, began, "I'm sorry to break it like this, but Mae and I got married yesterday. We're going to be fighting and making up all the time. You were too easy for me, Leola. Maybe if you had treated me rough I wouldn't have handed you a raw deal. So long and good luck. You've been pretty swell. Now buck and forget—Jimmy."

Molly put the letter back into the envelope soberly. In the next room the verbal warfare was continuing, punctuated frequently by a furious oath.

"It beats me. What did he expect to get out of a job like that?"

"A good laugh. He was going back to Chicago, laughing up his sleeves at you and Louis," the woman said. "He knew you and Louis loved him like rat poison. Steve, and would have turned him up long ago if you hadn't been scared."

"Well, I did turn him up, didn't I?" A man's cold, menacing voice.

"Sure you did, Steve. You trapped him with that bank robbery, and then told the police where to find him."

"Oh, dry up. What'll we do with the girl, Louis?"

"I'm listenin' to you, Steve, but you know what I'd do."

"Bring her out."

The key grated in the lock. The door was thrown open and a man stood in the opening, surveying Molly with hostile eyes through the slits of a mask.

The man caught her by the arm and stared down at her face. "It beats all hell!" he exclaimed.

They were all masked. The woman and the two men formed an amusing circle around Molly.

"Take a look at this," the fat man said, pointing a stubby finger at a large photograph on the front page of a newspaper.

Above her own picture, bold words leaped out at Molly, "Heiress Takes Own Life. Molly Milford, daughter of Jay Milford, commits suicide in department store. Body found on sofa in rest room by cleaning woman. Father prostrated, can give no motive."

The door was flung wide and the woman with the trowsy, colored hair came in. "I'll trouble you for that purse," she said shortly. "And that letter, too."

She examined the purse carefully and then handed it back. She went out of the room with the letter in her hand. After a few moments she returned. Her voice held a hint of sympathy.

"I'll bring you some breakfast," she said. "If I was you I wouldn't waste any tears on that fellow. He don't sound so much to me. It wouldn't surprise me if you wouldn't be better off without him. With your looks you won't have any trouble finding somebody else. Just like he said."

"I know," Molly spoke wearily. Fear, unhappiness, hunger had made her feel really ill. Tears slipped down her white cheeks.

"We women are all alike, I guess," the masked woman said, "but you got more to cry about than a man."

With this doubtful consolation, she left the room.

BRECK WOMAN LETS CONTRACT FOR WELL

BRECKENRIDGE— Announcement was made Saturday that Mrs. Rasa Davis of Breckenridge has let contract for a deep oil well on her place in Comanche county.

The well is to be on the J. D. McKeehan heirs, and Mrs. Davis land, the location described as being NE 1/4 of the NE 1/4 of section 45, D. & D. A. lands. Mrs. Davis has two other wells in that territory.

"Commissioner.

Now, isn't that a humdinger?" Thompson asked. "That's what the matter with old Lon. That's why he's mad. Who do you think is in bed with the big boys, old Lon or me?"

Thompson scored Smith's action as meaning a "forgotten public trust" and a "sinister effort to defeat his colleague because he has had the courage to stand for real utility regulation."

Thompson charged Smith and Morris were the "puppets" of a small group of individuals who would have the railroad commission operated for their special profit or gain.

Thompson denounced Morris' promise to allow a minimum of 50 barrels per well in the East Texas field if he is elected.

"Such a program," Thompson said, "would mean that the East

Judge W. S. Adamson

FOR COUNTY JUDGE

TO THE CITIZENS of Eastland County:

Realizing the importance of electing to the office of County Judge a man who is qualified by education and experience we are appealing to the voters of Eastland county to support Judge W. S. Adamson for County Judge.

Judge Adamson has been one of our leading citizens for the past fifteen years and we know him to be a man of unquestioned character, honesty, ability and integrity.

His twenty-two years experience as a practicing attorney, four years as County Judge of Scurry County, Texas, and three years as Commissioner of the City of Ranger, has prepared and equipped him to perform the duties of this responsible office in an efficient and capable manner.

The office of County Judge is one of our most important offices. In addition to being one of the chief financial officers of this county, the County Judge presides over the County Court, which has both civil and criminal jurisdiction. Also all estates must be probated in the County Court, including the administration of the estates of minors and guardians. These important matters demand the service of an experienced and competent official.

Your vote for Judge Adamson will be a vote for qualification, honesty and efficiency in office.

(This advertisement is paid for by Ranger friends and supporters of Judge Adamson who are vitally interested in the welfare of Eastland County.)

Dance at Country Club Aug. 28 Promises to Be High Spot in Month's Social Doings

Dance plans under the capable direction of Bob Earnest and George Paulowsky, are meeting with a hearty response and the cool and inviting Ranger Country club affords an ideal setting for dancing as summer slowly wanes.

The "Vacationers," an orchestra composed of college youths, with Miss Jane Ferguson, pianist, and Horace Horton, director, follows a busy schedule. The dance hour Friday evening, Aug. 28, beginning at 9:30, is well titled "Au Revoir," since happy school days are fastly making their appearance on the calendar of the orchestra personnel. The group of musicians had the distinction of offering a special musical program at Eastland Wednesday evening as a courtesy to honor Ernest O. Thompson of Amarillo, who made an interesting personal appearance, prior to his speaking engagement later in the evening. Friday evening of this week they play for a dance affair on Connellee roof.

You will have no reason to regret making plans now for a delightful evening at the club, which shall no doubt be welcomed by many since the weeks just closed have included more out-door modes of entertainment. Meet your friends at the Country club and share in what promises to be one of the most gala social doings to have been sponsored by the younger social set this summer. For detailed information you are asked to talk with George Paulowsky or Bob Earnest, sponsors.

Marriage of Ranger Couple July 18th, Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Phillips announce the marriage of their daughter, Marjorie, popular member of the younger set, to Mr. Callan Martin, also of Ranger, which took place at Weatherford, Saturday, July 18, with the Rev. E. S. Barlow officiating.

The newlyweds are receiving congratulations from their many friends who hold them in high esteem.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin are today moving to their home in the Joseph Apartments, Main street.

Comings and Goings

Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Johnson are home after a pleasant visit to Bonham and Commerce, where they visited friends in the former city, and were house guests of Rev. Johnson's son, Morris Johnson and wife at the latter place. Rev. Johnson will deliver sermons at both the morning and evening services at First Christian church Sunday.

Vote for J. E. McDonald for Commissioner of Agriculture.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Adams and son and daughter Miss Ethel Adams, left this morning for visits to cities in Tennessee, their former home place, where many familiar spots have been planned to be again visited. Mr. Adams has fully recovered from surgery undergone in early spring of this year.

Vote for J. E. McDonald for Commissioner of Agriculture.

past three months has been at Laredo, is in Ranger for a visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Davenport, Spring road.

Vote for J. E. McDonald for Commissioner of Agriculture.

L. E. Martin, after a few days spent at Midland, has returned to Ranger to again resume management of the shoe department at the D. Joseph Dry Goods department store. When Mr. Martin made the trip to Midland it was for the purpose of opening for himself a shoe department in connection with the J. C. Smith store. After several days devoted to house hunting and getting his family established satisfactorily it became quite evident general living conditions were too congested at this time for one to consider a complete change. Places available at this time, stated Mr. Martin, were too far from the downtown business district and not conveniently located within suitable distance to schools. Apparently the ranchers and pioneers who have made their home there prior to the oil rush are not particularly interested in building, and the leasing of real estate for the purpose of enlarging their residential section. Oil companies in bringing employes furnished places through camp form. Mr. Martin's host of friends here and in surrounding places are not regretful of the situation with which he met since his services and personal interest manifest in his department is valued to the fullest.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Payne leave today for East Texas and Arkansas, where they go for ten days visit with relatives. Miss Kathleen Payne will return home with her parents.

Ed Sargent will leave Sunday for Jonesboro, Texas, where he will go to attend the annual reunion of the family. There were 17 children in the family and most of them are expected home for the occasion Sunday.
