THE ODDS are about one-in-five that you will move to a different home next year.

If you are age 22 to 24, it's even money that you will change your residence during 1966.

Aetna Life & Casualty, one of the nation's largest writers of home owner's insurance, reports that over 35 million Americans now move each year. About six million move out of state; another six million cross county lines.

The younger and better educated people are those most likely to move, according to the insurance organization's study of trends affecting insurance needs.

Those in their early twenties, for example, often move because they get married or take their first permanent jobs. A college education makes a man almost twice as likely to move as one with a high school education or less.

Predicting that Americans will become even more mobile in the future, Aetna Life & Casualty points out that the median age of our population is now 28 and continues downward, and that by 1970 one child in three will go on to college.

34-Year-Man Gene Harrison Retires Navy

A Navy career spanning 34 years and covering the ranks from petty officer second class to full commander came to a close this month with the announcement by the Bureau of Navy Personnel of the retirement of Commander Luther E. Harrison, USNR, of Dallas, formerly of Eastland, and Ranger, Texas. He was president of the 1965 Eastland Homecoming. One of the first members of the Fourth Organized division of the Naval Reserve in Dallas during the 1930's, in civilian life Commander Harrison is an engineer with the Dallas Power and Light Company.

As an active radio amateur radio operator and former engineering student at Southern Methodist University he joined the Navy Reserve in 1931 as a communication specialist with the rank of radioman second class. With the outbreak of World War II Commander Harrison was ordered to active duty and granted a direct commission as ensign, communication specialist. During World War II he was credited with 3 3/4 years of sea duty aboard such aircraft carriers as the Yorktown, Ranger and Bunker Hill. He took part in the invasion of North Africa, high speed convoy runs between the East Coast of the United States and India and is a veteran of seven battle campaigns in the Pacific.

A long time amateur radio operator, Commander Harrison is a member of the Institute of Electronic and Electrical Engineers, the Dallas Radio Club and the Reserve Officers Association of which he is a director in the Dallas Chapter. Shortly after World War II Commander Harrison was recalled to active duty and played a key role in the establishment of the present Naval Reserve program and armory in the Dallas area. For his duty during World War II Commander Harrison earned the American Defense medal with "A" for combat, American-European-Middle East theater medal with one battle star, Asiatic-Pacific medal with seven battle stars, the Naval Reserve medal and the World War II Victory Medal. Prior to his present employment, Commander Harrison held various posts with the Federal Civil Defense Agency and was also associated with the Inman Radio and TV company in Dallas. Born in Ranger, Commander Harrison later attended schools in Ranger and Eastland. (He is believed to be the only man born in Ranger who has served aboard the aircraft carrier of the same name.) He is a graduate of Eastland High School.

The commander's family are long-time residents in the Eastland area. His grandfather fought in Hood's Texas Cavalry during the Civil War. Commander Harrison is married to the former Dorothy Lindsley of Eastland. They have a daughter, Dorothy Jean and son, James Lindsley, Commander and Mrs. Harrison reside at 1314 Holly Glen Drive.

Irrigation For Peanut Farming On Increase In Eastland County

(Editor's Note: Mr. Vance, Farm Editor of The Fort Worth Star-Telegram, wrote this article for last Sunday. We are reprinting it because of its interest to county residents.)

By JAMES E. VANCE GORMAN — In sandy Eastland County, where un dependable peanut production depends on unpredictable rainfall, farmers appear on the brink of an irrigation explosion.

The reason is simple — more peanuts, three to four-fold. "Too many years we missed making a crop. We never seem to get enough rain on peanuts in this county," commented D. B. Warren of the Gorman area. "I think we'll see drillers all over the area this winter."

Rain or not, peanuts produce more cash — about $2 million in a good crop year — than any other crop in Eastland County. The deep sand limits variety of crops. The crop now under harvest is 32,000 acres.

Warren said only three or four farmers irrigated last year and the number increased to 22 this year. Further expansion hinges on locating adequate water and financing.

There is water below the surface, but farmers said characteristics of the sand would give a water witcher the "willies" trying to locate it.

"THIS IS Trinity sand. It contains sheet water, and that means you don't hit water every time you drill," Warren said. "I drilled six times before finding enough for irrigation."

Warren is a vice president of the Southwestern Peanut Growers Association and a member of the National Peanut Advisory Council.

Water level varies from 40 feet to as deep as 150 feet or more. Pressure ranges from 25 to about 150 gallons per minute.

"I got a late start irrigating this year's crop, but still harvested 30 bushels more per acre than on non-irrigated land," Warren added. "That was equal to an extra $100 bill per acre. I watered 30 acres, but plan to drill wells to support 100 acres."

Charles Underwood at Gorman was luckier. He hit water at 50 feet that would furnish 155 gallons per minute to 20 acres. Irrigated fields yielded 70.2 bushels, compared with 16 bushels on those that depended on rainfall.

"Having water when we needed it saved our shirts," Underwood said. "Extra peanuts paid for equipment the first year. I think some farmers will make up to 150 bushels per acre after they get experience in handling the water."

J. M. COOPER, Eastland County agent, said about 1,000 farmers raise peanuts in the county. They plant in June and dig in November and early December. Supplemental water in summer is vital.

Bill Andry, two miles north of Gorman, was among the first to irrigate. He dug 80 bushels per acre on 50 irrigated acres and 25 bushels on 150 unirrigated acres.

"The yields tell how strongly I feel about irrigation," Andry said. "I plan to water 100 acres, and I can if I handle water with care."

A neighbor to Andry, J. O. Jackson, Jr., seemed more fortunate than most farmers.

He said he didn't have any trouble finding water or handling it on the crop. Jackson said extra peanuts on 50 acres paid for his irrigation facility the first year. His yield was 82 bushels on irrigated land and 15 on dryland.

Bill Irwin, manager of the Stephenville Production Credit Association, said financing would be available if a farmer were considered a "good risk."

Adequate water would be a big factor," Irwin explained. "There's more involved in lending than just to drill a well and equip it for watering a crop. Across the board lack of financing shouldn't be a barrier."

WARREN SAID a crop of peanuts required six or seven waterings with three inches applied about every 10 days. He said the well and pipe to irrigate, using sprinkler type, cost from $120 to $140 per acre and that the average increase in peanuts would pay initial costs within two years.

Warren said he would pump water from small wells to recharge a big well that will furnish water during the growing season.

Cooper said some farmers plan to construct surface reservoirs to store well water.

He said most farmers apply about 200 pounds of 10-20-10 fertilizer per acre, but with irrigation they could increase the fertilizer and reduce space between rows from 38 to 30 inches, all of which would contribute to higher yields.

ROSS WILSON of Gorman cited progress and predicted more. He is manager of the Southwestern Peanut Growers Association.

"Our local bank has 22 customers for irrigation. Last year it had one," Wilson said. "I look for the activity to triple by next fall."

Wilson said farmers in Eastland County could irrigate much more economically than in other peanut growing areas where wells were 300 to 400 feet in depth.

He summed up the impact, "Any one of the farms may not have water to irrigate their entire acreage allotment."

"But with enough water to irrigate 35 to 60 acres where yields can be tripled, farmers will come out with more income and profit than on large acreage depending on rainfall."

Gun-Toting Punk Asked To Steer Clear Of Signs

Austin — Highway signs are erected for the safety and convenience of the motoring public — not to provide gun-toting punks with a handy target for plinking.

Yet, a major share of the $450 thousand vandalism to Texas highway signs annually is caused by gunfire, according to D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer.

Bullet-riddled roadside markers accounted for 85 per cent of all signs which had to be replaced in one Texas Highway Department District in West Texas in one year.

Even a small highway sign costs about $10 to replace. Larger, more elaborate signs costing hundreds of dollars have been targets for wanton vandalism too, Greer said.

If apprehended, vandals can be made to pay for the destruction they cause. But the person who operates a motor vehicle in Texas foots the greater portion of the bill for

Friday Is Deadline To Enter Pecans In Show

Noon Friday, Dec. 10, is the deadline for entering the 13th annual Eastland County Pecan Show to be held Friday and Saturday in the Corral Room of the Victor Hotel, according to J. M. Cooper, county agriculture agent.

Pecan growers throughout west Texas, Mr. Cooper said, have been invited to enter the show, which is sponsored by the Cisco Chamber of Commerce and the county pecan growers organization.

One or more quart jars containing at least 35 nuts each will constitute an entry. Kinds of Pecans that may be exhibited include 33 different improved or papershell varieties, native seedlings and hybrid types now being tested through horticultural research.

Those who cannot attend the show may mail entries to Mr. Cooper at Eastland or to Jim Smothers, manager of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce.

The first three place winners in each pecan division will be entered in the state show at Texas A&M University if the quality of the nuts justify, said Oscar Schaefer, president of the county pecan growers organization.

All pecans entered in the Eastland County show must have been grown in 1965 by the person showing them. Pecans will be judged on size, color, shell thickness, cracking quality, kernel quality and percentage of meat to shell.

Judges will be from the horticultural department of Texas A&M University.

Winning entries will compete for ribbons, plaques and trophies.

In conjunction with the pecan show the Cisco Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a pecan Queen contest Thursday night. Thus far eight young women of the county have been nominated for the title. The winner will compete for the state Pecan Queen title.

A pecan bake show of cakes, pies, cookies and candy will also be held Friday.

Medicare Is Not Geared To Size Of SS Payments

The size of your social security check has nothing what ever to do with the amount of hospitalization or medical expenses that will be paid under "Medicare," states R. R. Tuley, Jr., district manager for the Social Security Administration in Abilene.

Tuley says a number of aged 65 social security beneficiaries in two sections of the Abilene district have reported to his field representatives that some non-local insurance salesmen have called at their homes, claiming otherwise. He reports that the "pitch" is to the effect that if a person's social security check is $50 per month, then only $150 can ever be paid for hospital or medical expenses.

There is no maximum dollar figure in the law, and there is no sliding scale geared to the size of a social security check, Tuley emphasized.

Beginning next July 1, a social security beneficiary aged 65 or over, will find that "Medicare" will pay all but the first $40 of the reasonable costs of up to 60 days of hospitalization, except for private duty nursing costs and personal comfort items. Too, on doctor bills, if the patient is enrolled, after the first $50 for which he is responsible, "Medicare" can pay for 80 per cent of the remainder, again with no maximum dollar figure. Tuley added that such would be true whether the social security beneficiary was getting a minimum or maximum monthly benefit. Actually, any one over 65 at this time may enroll for the health insurance benefits, familiarly known as "Medicare," regardless of his normal social security status.
