STATE CAPITAL

By Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - Using fancy footwork, Democrats in the Texas Legislature battled the clock with a series of trick plays, hoping to move the redistricting football past three federal judge linebackers.

Gov. Ann Richards' special session had until Jan. 10 to substitute new political boundaries for the court-drawn maps.

a lastditch effort by Democrats to regain control of the redistricting football which they fumbled away on Christmas eve.

preme Court threw out the senate plan, federal judges drew their own maps since none legally existed, and ordered primaries to be held on schedule.

plan might elect a Republican majority in the Texas Senate, Democrats unveiled some creative playmaking, including a ploy to create more time. Postpone Election

Senate Democrats threatened to withdraw Texas from the March 10 presidential primary unless federal judges allow them to protect white incumbents.

A bill by state Sen. Bob Glasgow, D-Stephenville, would postpone all state elections for this year only to April 11, if the Legislature fails to adopt a plan in time.

Texas Secretary of State John Hannah has said Jan. 10 is the last day candidates can file if Texas is to participate in the March 10 Super Tuesday primaries across the Tom Craddick, House South.

Glasgow has a special interest in changing the court's plan, which added several GOP precincts to his district.

Less Than The Alamo

Outnumbered Senate Republicans prepared to stall a Senate vote with a series of parliamentary maneuvers.

Invoking senatorial privilege, Sen. David Sibley, R-Waco, kept senators from considering the maps for four days.

The nine GOP senators, joined by two conservative Democrats, prepared to filibuster.

"The Alamo held out for 13 days. I don't know if we have it in us to hold out that long or not," Sibley commented.

House: Multiple Plans

House committee Democrats adopted the court-drawn plan for 1992 only, to be substituted with a plan favoring Democrats for 1994 and beyond.

But despite the potential for upheaval, some lawmakers in both parties predicted the session was a tempest in a teapot. Indeed, many observers' eyes are focused on the Legislature to see whether Gov. Richards' tactics will be a colossal waste of taxpayers' money.

Some leaders are already convinced that it is. "This is a joke," said

U.S. Slashes Interest Rates To 27-Year Low In Bid To Jumpstart Economy

The nation's key interest rate has been cut a full point by the Federal Reserve Board, plunging the cost of credit to the lowest level since 1964.

"This is a bold step aimed at jump starting our sluggish economy and putting people back to work in new jobs," said U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm.

Interest rate cuts by the Fed normally trigger widespread cuts in bank lending rates, making it possible for many Americans to purchase the homes, cars and other items which had been outside of their financial reach, the senator noted.

"Increased consumer spending in response to low interest rates can be a potent cure for recession," he said. "It constitutes an investment that can pay massive dividends in terms of job creation to meet consumer demand." "I strongly believe that dramatic action such as this is sorely needed to end this lingering recession," said Gramm, who holds a Ph.D. in econom-

For Women

Q. Is it ever a good idea to use reverse psychology in motivating a child?

A. Sometimes this can take the pressure off the child and he may do a task to prove that he CAN DO IT. For instance, a parent could say, "I'm not sure you can handle this. I need someone STRONG. What can I call?"

This idea can be successful, but must be used carefully.

If a child already has a very low self-image, it could be discouraging.) Source The Key To Your Child's Heart by Gary Smalley

The mercury in tooth fillings -- a small amount in the silver amalgam -- poses no health threat to patients, the National Institutes of Health concluded. The amalgam has been in use for almost 150 years.

Measles is on the rise, perhaps because only 60 percent of youngsters in some areas have been immunized. Children generally should have the first shot at 15 months, the Centers for Disease Control suggest.

FOR THE most part it was the name of an un-pronounceable town in Germany, but we did know that Oberammergau was the passion play and wood carving town, and since we've always been somewhat of a whittler, it was a place we wanted to visit. And while our own creations have pretty much been saw dust and shavings, we weren't disappointed in what we saw in the little German Alpine village. The three of us bused from Garmisch on a cold and drippy day, and found a warm and picture book-pretty dream town. The main streets are lined with beautifully frescoed houses and shops, occupied by families whose men are engaged in highly skilled wood-carving craft, which has flourished for over three centuries carving Fine there. Oberammergau's route to economic recovery after the ravages of the Thirty Years' War and the art and the town thrive today, thank goodness.

The town is probably better known for the Passion Play, which is performed once every decade in years ending with zero in faithful accordance to a solemn vow. The play started as an offering of thanks, commemorating the fact that the Black Plague stopped in 1633 as though by miracle, just short of the village. It was first performed in 1634 and has been repeated every decade.

The battle for peace has begun.

Oberammergau

We visited the amphitheater where the 16-act, 5 1/2-hour play is presented depicting the final days of Christ from the Last Supper Crucifixion the Resurrection, against an open-air mountain backdrop from late May to late September. Some 1,500 locals are involved in the production, and the little town is swelled by thousands and thousands of people during the Play season. It must be a traffic nightmare, and a not-to-be-forgotten experience.

Unbelievably detailed and fine carvings fill the shops and the Nativity windows. scenes angles, traditional particular, figures and all the gee-gaws so familiar to wood carving are to be found. And we're talking BIG bucks for the hand-done pieces, although router-reproduced, and/or castings of the more familiar pieces are available at reasonable prices. You get the impression that the carvers are a tightly-knit guild of craftsmen who closely guard their skills and keep the prices UP. We were there in November and the crowds were not heavy so we're guessing that they may have three months or so of severe winter, with few sales, so they have to make it the rest. of the year when crowds are heaviest.

In season, classes in carving, pottery and painting are available, and the museums are open year-round.

The frescoes here are famous, although they can be seen in most of Bavaria. We understand that local ordinances prohibit altering or removing these colorful housing decorations once they are in place.

The locals tell you that the hard mountain winters preclude agriculture, so the people turned to crafts, and so born out of need, their work is known worldwide. Dating to the Roman Empire, the carvings were found as early as the 16th century. Nearby forests of linden and alderwood in vast quantities provide the raw materials, and from the beginning, Bible themes were Christ's most popular: crucifixion, Mary, and the crib scenes, and the most famous "Christ on the cross," theme led to the nickname Herrgottsschnitzer, Kraxentrager (curbstone carvers. traders), or what we'd call peddlers, took the carvings all over Europe to sell. Today, a model in the village square is a reminder of those times of long, long ago.

Another unique Oberammergau skill is that of glass painting in which the work is done in reverse: on the backside with the background done last! Beautiful and so fine.

King Ludwig II, a benefactor of the town, is remembered by the village and his famous Linderhof Castle is nearby. Gene and Clara White of Eastland lived in this area while he was in the service.

MAMMOGRAPHY CAN SAVE YOUR LIFE!!

If you are a healthy woman over 40 who never has had a mammogram, The American Cancer Society recommends that you have this simple life saving procedure now. Since one woman in ten develops breast cancer at some point in her lifetime, the urgency is real.

A screening mammogram is an x-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation (usually comparable to dental x-rays) and is designed to find very early cancers.

A female technologist who is highly trained in mammography will perform the examination. These images are then interpreted by a Board Certified Radiologist, and a report is sent to your own doctor. It takes only a few minutes, and can detect incipient breast cancer as small as the period at the end of this sentence

Early detection (18 months sooner than a lump can be felt) not only permits treatment before the problem becomes serious, but the cure rate is over 90%. Mammography cannot only save your life, but help you avoid the need for disfiguring surgery too. You don't need to have been a previous patient of ours to receive this screening, but you do need to make an appointment at a time convenient to you.

PHONE NOW: 817-893-2011 Ext. #228 Appointments will be scheduled: Tuesday and Thursday of Each Week From 1:00 PM to 4:00 PM This Service is Available Beginning January 14, 1992

Dr. H.J. Bulgerin

Dr. H. J. Bulgerin, 65, of Eastland passed away Thursday, Jan. 9 1992 at Hendrick medical Center in Abilene. Services were held at 11 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 11, 1992 at the Edwards Funeral Home Chapel in Eastland with Dr. Vaughn Baker officiating. Burial was in the Eastland Cemetery.

Dr. Bulgerin was born February 10, 1926, in the community of Sommerset in Atascosa County, Texas. His family later moved to New Braunfels, where he grew up.

Bulgerin's father worked for United Gas Company, and his mother was a Librarian. Her love of literature and learning influenced Dr. Bulgerin and two other sons to get as much education as they could.

The family was Lutheran, and Dr. Bulgerin's brothers Melton William and Davis Lewis Bulgerin became Lutheran ministers.

Dr. Bulgerin had a varied background before he began to practice medicine. The country was in the middle of World War II when he graduated from New Braunfels High School in 1943. He enlisted in the Navy and became an Aviation Met-

In 1954 Bulgerin graduated from the University in the top ten percent of his class. After that he served as Chief Resident at City-County Hospital in Fort Worth.

In 1955 Dr. Bulgerin visited Eastland, liked what he saw, and decided to set up a medical practice here. He went into partnership with Dr. B. B. Westbrook in an office across from the Courthouse Square.

Bulgerin always said he was happy about his decision to come to Eastland, that he considered it a great place to live and bring up a family.

From the time they came here he and his wife, Loretta, became interested in the community. They were civic workers, involved in politics, interested in the schools, and members of the First Methodist United Church. They were also known for their devotion to their home and chilretirement in 1987. In 1972 the Doctors Bulgerin and Alexander moved to the spacious B & W Clinic, located on West Plummer across from Eastland Memorial Hospital. The clinic is listed as offering "surgery and general practice."

"Family Practice," Dr. Bulgerin always called it. A compassionate man, Bulgerin always tried to offer his patients support and encouragement. He hated the world "terminal," and always battled for life.

Bulgerin was a member of the Tri County Medical Society, the Texas Medical Association, the American Medical Association, and the Association of Physicians and Surgeons. In his last years of practice he became especially interested in the treatment of heart patients.

In addition to his medical practice, Dr. Bulgerin enjoyed several hobbies photography, hunting, collecting guns and stamps, and art.

Bulgerin was acquainted with state and national political figures, among them President George Bush. One day in 1964 Bush visited in the Bulgerin home and then toured Eastland. "He liked it, too!" reported the
