Saturday Is Election Day

Saturday is election day in Sonora and qualified voters will place two members to the Sonora Independent School District's Board of Trustees, and three Aldermen to the City of Sonora Council.

Vying for place 1 on the school board is incumbent Bill Savell who is seeking his second term as trustee. Savell, who is a lifetime resident of Sonora says he intends to make a permanent home in Sonora as is evidenced by the past, and that he feels the young people are our greatest natural resource. He is being opposed in his position on the board by a relatively new Sonora resident, Don Lawson.

Lawson is an employee of a drilling company. In announcing his intention to seek election, stated that he has made his home in Sonora and is interested in the schools as he has three children enrolled.

Lin Hicks is the incumbent seeking re-election to place 2 on the ballot. Hicks is also finishing up his first term as trustee, and states that the present board has made many educational improvements and he for one will continue to support the total school program for all children.

Hicks is being contested in the race by Victoriano Chavez a twenty year resident of Sonora, who stated that he has always been interested in the education of children, especially that of the Mexican American child in Sonora.

In the bid for City Alderman, only the three incumbents, Jack Kerbow, Hershel Davenport and Lemuel Lopez, have announced for places to the council.

Voters will cast their ballots for school trustees at the courthouse, and for city aldermen at the city hall. Polls in both places will open at 8 a.m. and remain open until 7 p.m.

Anyone who is not contacted and wishes to pledge monies for a student, should contact Mrs. Braden or any member of the National Honor Society.

The walk-a-thon will begin at 9 a.m. at a beginning point on the Bond Road (Farm to Market Road 1691) and will terminate at the student's prerogative.

The 75th year in business is a milestone that few American firms have seen, but that achievement is being celebrated this year by Foxworth-Galbraith Building Materials Centers from East Texas to California.

Ted McClung, manager here in Sonora, points out that it all started in 1901 at Stratford in the Texas Panhandle. W. L. Foxworth started a lumber yard there, and later that year he merged with H. W. Galbraith into what became the Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Company.

Observances during Foxworth-Galbraith's 75th year will include valuable free prizes and special values on merchandise. An attractive brochure dedicated to these 75 years will soon be available at each Building Material Center, added McClung.

Barrow Jewelry Changes Owner

George Barrow has sold his business, Barrow Jewelry and Sporting Goods Store, after forty-six years. Barrow, who traded his job in Fort Worth in 1929 in return for the business, has occupied three different buildings since the purchase. The present location was purchased by Barrow in 1939 and in 1961 he added the sporting goods department.

Barrow says he plans to continue in the business in an advisory capacity for the next two months. He then plans only partial retirement and to spend some time in San Antonio visiting his son, Sonny, and his daughter, Mrs. Jerald Hardesty in Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tedford have purchased the store from Barrow, and Mrs. Tedford took over as manager on April 1. She, along with assistance from Barrow, will manage the business until this summer when Mr. Tedford will become associated with the store. Miss Toni Duran, employee, will continue in her present capacity.

Barrow says he appreciates the long association with the people of Sonora and for their patronage of his business and hopes that all his customers will continue their relationship with the business as in the past. Barrow gave his reason for selling as failing health.

George Barrow turns over the keys to his business, Barrow Jewelry and Sporting Goods, to one of the new owners, Mrs. John Tedford.

Proclamation

The President of the United States, by direction of an Act of Congress, and the Governor of our State of Texas, have proclaimed April as Cancer Control Month.

The magnitude of the problem of cancer needs to be recognized here in our own community, for if present rates continue, one out of every four persons will be struck by cancer... almost every family in our city will have experience with this dread disease. Expanded research offers the prospect of new cures and possible new preventive measures, but increased voluntary support of American Cancer Society programs is needed to help save more lives today and to increase the prospect of eventually saving all lives from cancer.

In this coming month, our friends and associates here in Sonora will carry on the "Tell Your Neighbor" crusade, visiting you in your homes, and distributing information through pamphlets and discussions.

The funds you give as voluntary contributions collected and distributed by volunteer workers represent community spirit at work -- citizens of our city joining forces with other Americans to combat and defeat cancer.

Therefore I urge the citizens of Sonora to participate in the activities of Cancer Control Month.

In official recognition whereof I hereby affix my signature this 31st day of March, 1975
Norman Rousselot, Mayor
City of Sonora

Elected to lead the cheers for the 1975-76 school year are Abby Sanchez, Marsha Finklea, Gloria Gomez, Nancy Mooney and Renee Rousselot [not pictured]. Janice Grider was chosen as alternate.

News Letter

By Bob Krueger

The House considered the Emergency Agriculture Bill, which I voted in favor of. I voted for it because the Agriculture Act of 1973 no longer provides the protection to the producer that is necessary to insure maximum production. We have all witnessed the tremendous increases in the cost of production of agricultural commodities in the past year. I share the concern of many people, and think something should be done to rectify the situation.

I believe a strong agriculture is fundamental to the nation. Farmers and ranchers, being highly independent, dislike government interference. It is therefore essential to have agriculture policies which move us to a supply and demand economy that encourages rather than discourages production. At the same time, the farmer must be afforded some protection against short term plummeting of prices. We must not go back to the unnecessary surpluses of the 1950's, but we must plan so that consumers neither run short of food and fiber, nor find it priced beyond their reach.

Because of the drastic upward trend of production costs, coupled with a significant steady drop in market prices received in 1972, the target prices set by the 1973 act must be now reevaluated. I am firmly convinced that the target and loan price levels set by the Emergency Agriculture Bill for cotton, corn, wheat, dairy products, and feed grains provide a balanced approach necessary to achieve maximum production and a sound farm policy which will benefit both consumers and producers.

On another topic, this week I had an opportunity to talk with Al Sindlinger, who has taken surveys of consumer confidence for many years. He reported to me that consumer confidence in the economy is at 40 percent, which is higher than the 22 percent level reported for January. There's no doubt that we face real economic problems. For a number of years we have over-extended credit, cheapened the value of our currency through inflationary government spending, and by the failure of people in political office not making the tough decisions against spending too much money.

We are now reaping the bitter harvest of those past policies, with unemployment currently at 9 percent in this country. There may be some short term stimulus that the government can give to our economy, but people in government must learn to recognize what citizens recognized long ago. That is, government cannot solve all our problems. While it is important for representatives to take their responsibility seriously, they should recognize the limits of what government can do.

Nothing, however, is more important to our economic recovery than confidence of the people of the United States. This confidence is necessary, because without it, is to sell our country short. Only by confidence in our capacity, our traditions, our constitution, and the determination of all the people to work together for the good of our country, will we be restored to the economic health we all desire.

A Habit Worth Reviving

It's been a long time since we've heard anyone quote that good old American maxim—"Waste not, want not."

And we can't think of a better time than now to dust it off and put it into practice. It may not solve all of our current shortages, but it certainly could go a long way in helping ease a lot of them.

Take energy, for example. Despite the high prices we're shelling out for it, there's good evidence that most of us aren't doing as much as we can to conserve it.

Did you know, for instance, that if energy were delivered to your front door like milk, today you would have found 19 half gallons of oil, 14 half gallons of natural gas, and 46 pounds of coal on your doorstep?

According to some calculations, by 1985 your family will need 30 half gallons of oil, 24 half gallons of natural gas, and 70 pounds of coal each day.

With demands for energy, food, and other essentials rising rapidly throughout the world, we're all going to have to re-learn that old "waste-not" habit.

And with inflation the way it is, what better time than now to adopt the habit as your own?

THE DEVIL'S RIVER PHILOSOPHER SEZ.....

The American Public Has Suffered Slander By Some Congressmen

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-wood ranch on the Dry Devil's River gets riled up this week over some Congressman's opinion of the American people, we think.

Dear editor:

I was alternately reading a newspaper and wondering if I could interest the CIA in finding a garden plow I lost somewhere around this place a few years ago. I know it's somewhere out there in the weeds and if the CIA has a few thousand dollars left over from its submarine job and can't think of anything else to do it's welcome to start looking -- I won't tell anybody -- when I ran into an article on the latest dope on the tax rebate Congress is fiddling around with.

According to it, some members of Congress are objecting to a tax refund for everybody on the grounds it wouldn't stimulate the economy because too many people would just take the money and pay off some debts or sock it away in the bank. "You can't stimulate the economy that way", they argue. "The money ought to go to people who'll spend it."

This argument is a slander

Miss Janice Sutton Becomes Bride Of Simon Franco In Ft. Stockton

Miss Janice Sutton became the bride of Simon V. Franco, Jr., in ceremonies held at St. Agnes Catholic Church in Fort Stockton Saturday. Fr. Sam Homsey officiated at the double ring ceremonies.

The bride chose a wedding gown which featured a gored skirt stitched above the waistline bodice. Lace covered the fully lined bodice and was trimmed with pearls. Lace edging extended to the elbow over long bishop sleeves and accented the short over-sleeves. The gown was designed and sewn by the bride. Her four tiered elbow length veil was gathered at the lace-covered headpiece and was embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of feathered yellow carnations and daisies with a white orchid in the center.

The church was decorated with greenery entwined at the kneeling bench. Ivy and flowers in shades of orange, yellow and white were also used in the decor. Pews were marked with white satin bows entwined with ivy.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Del Forbush of Del Rio. She wore a princess line, floor length dress of yellow knit, which was fashioned by the mother of the bridegroom. It was accented by a V-shaped neckline and front extension forming a neck band. A chiffon print, ruffled shawl was worn around the shoulders and she carried a bouquet of daisies and carnations in shades of yellow and orange.

David S. Miller attended the bridegroom as best man.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Miss Carmen Navarette, organist. Soloists were Miss Tasha Evans and Miss Navarette.

A reception was held in the Holiday Inn following the ceremony. Serving in the houseparty were Miss Laura Kirby, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Len Bennett, Mrs. Charles Sherrill, Miss Linda Franco and Miss Virginia Franco, both sisters of the bridegroom. Miss Virginia Franco also served at the bride's book.

The bride is a graduate of Sonora High School and Angelo State University. She is presently a kindergarten teacher at Butz Elementary in Fort Stockton. Mr. Franco is a graduate of Fort Stockton High School and Sul Ross State University. He is a physical education teacher and coach at Fort Stockton High School.

Following a wedding trip to the Texas coast, the couple will make their home in Fort Stockton.

Among out-of-town wedding guests were Mrs. Jim Sutton of Hindsville, Arkansas, grandmother of the bride.

REHEARSAL DINNER

A rehearsal dinner was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents March 21. Mr. and Mrs. Franco and Mr. and Mrs. Sutton, were hosts.

Spices Spark Thrifty Beef

Bone-in chuck, cooked sauerbraten-style, shows how spices can help make budget foods tastier. Thinner than the usual beef cut, bone-in chuck steak needs about 24 hours in a marinade richly spiced with mixed pickling spice, instant minced onion and brown sugar. Beef bouillon makes the gravy and about 45 minutes simmering cooks it to fork-tenderness.

SAUERBRATEN CHUCK STEAK

- 1 tablespoon mixed pickling spice
- 1/2 cup white vinegar
- 7 tablespoons water, divided
- 2 tablespoons instant minced onion
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 1/2 pound bone-in chuck steak
- 1 cup beef bouillon
- 3 tablespoons flour

Tie mixed pickling spice in a cheesecloth bag. Place in a small saucepan. Add vinegar, 4 tablespoons of the water, minced onion, brown sugar and salt. Heat to boiling point; reduce heat. Cover and simmer 5 minutes; cool. Place steak in a snug-fitting bowl or baking pan. Pour cooled marinade over steak. Cover and refrigerate 24 hours, turning once. Place steak and the marinade that clings to steak in a large skillet. Add bouillon. Cover and simmer until steak is fork-tender, about 45 minutes. Remove steak to a heated platter. Blend flour with remaining 3 tablespoons water. Stir into skillet. Cook and stir until thickened. If desired, add 1/4 teaspoon bottled brown sauce to gravy. Pour over steak. Serve with cooked noodles, if desired.

YIELD: 4 to 6 portions

The four third grade classes of Sonora Elementary spent the entire month of March studying a unit on Texas. This project was a part of their social studies, under the direction of teachers, Mrs. Mary McGilvray, Mrs. Jane Lynch, Mrs. Anita Lane and Mrs. Kay Campbell. Each child fashioned his or her western type hat, compiled booklets, drawings and stories, all with highlights of Texas history.

City Police Dept. Reports

City police were summoned to a local motel in the early morning hours of March 25 when one James Homer requested an officer to investigate an accident involving his automobile that had been hit by an unidentified vehicle.

On March 26 Officer Jerry Kemp investigated a minor auto accident in front of the Foodway Store. Robert W. Fowler and Thurman L. Burnes were drivers of the vehicles.

Mrs. Roxie Pope made a complaint at the local office reporting that some unidentified person had shot her dog in the front yard of her home located at 303 Del Rio.

A local youth was slightly injured in an incident March 28. The youngster was reported to have been beaten by a number of other youths.

Will Your Child Be Hungry In 1985?

[Editor's note: Mrs. Jean Thompson's newsletter written for the Independent Cattlemen's Association, ended last week with a definite statement regarding bureaucratic interference in the nation's food supply.]

This is the road the administration takes us down in importing meat when American beef producers are having to sell their cattle for less than it takes to raise them. The government imposed stringent and very costly inspection regulations on domestic meats which increased its costs to consumers. Then they allow foreign meats imported which have been neither subjected to the standards of quality nor the additional expenses these regulations place on our own meat. This is perjury to both the consumer and the producer for, certainly, foreign meats are liable to all the ills of our own.

There is a sharp contrast here to the actions of the European Economic Community. When beef prices plummeted, they stopped all imports immediately to protect their food producers. They know what hunger is and are not taking any chances on being dependent on foreign governments for food.

When the scarcity of fossil fuel has America on the torture rack and famine is stalking the earth, red meat production is this country's ace in the hole for food. There are almost 900 million acres in the United States which are too rough or too dry to produce food fit for human consumption. These do grow grass and browse which ruminant animals can convert into food for humans, fiber to clothe them and leather to shoe them. Beef has every amino acid the body needs--the amount and quality of protein no other one food can provide. The beef, lamb, and other life essentials grown on this vast acreage is produced with relatively small amounts of fossil fuel and no fertilizer.

Where it takes 30 acres to pasture one cow, a small ranch sounds like a vast land holding, contributing to the myths about ranchers. Using a few examples of exploitation and abuse of private land, the news media has made sensational stories of bad, rich, old ranchers living in idle luxury while exploiting all resources for his greedy gain--tarring all ranchers with the taint of a few and leaving urban America with the impression it would be morally justified to rid the country of such scourges. Most urbanites are unaware of the existence of that mass of hardworking, conscientious, small food producers who were grappling with the practical problems of conservation and the environment when ecology was just a word in the dictionary to the rest of the nation. Without realizing they are contributing to the destruction of one of the most vital sources of their food, sincere urban people join in abetting the theoretical environment and ecological witch hunts.

Now the plague of false information has infiltrated top echelons of government. Cowmen gasped in disbelief when a high official said it takes 8 pounds of grain to produce 1 pound of beef. The truth is 75 percent or more of all feed consumed by cattle is grass, forage and by-products which are completely inedible to humans. It takes 3 pounds of grain to produce a pound of grain-finished beef and highly nutritious, very palatable baby beef can be produced with almost negligible amount of grain. The danger of America's food supplies of governmental policies based on fallacious misinformation are incalculable. Only an informed public concerned enough to take positive action to protect their source of food can put a stop to this.

(Watch for the conclusion of this article in next week's issue.)

Today, we may live in an "affluent" society, where many people are wealthy, but the word originally meant "flowing to," from the Latin ad (to) and fletur (flowing).

Brucellosis Indemnity Changes Asked

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has proposed a number of changes in regulations concerning indemnity payments for cattle destroyed due to brucellosis, commonly known as Bang's disease.

D. C. Langford, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Services, outlines the changes as follows:

1. Allow indemnity payments of $50 for nonregistered (grade) bulls affected with brucellosis.

2. Limit to 15 days the extension period for identifying infected cattle, thus allowing producers a maximum of 30 days in which to accomplish this task.

3. Limit to 30 days each the maximum time allowed for destroying infected and exposed cattle and for cleaning and disinfecting contaminated premises.

4. Allow producers to select independent professional appraisers when deemed necessary by the veterinarian in charge with the USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

According to Langford, the proposed changes would also clarify conditions under which indemnity payments would be made when an entire herd is destroyed after exposure to brucellosis.

The proposed changes were published in the Federal Register on February 7.

Brucellosis is a contagious bacterial disease of cattle and other livestock and also affects humans, points out Langford. A cooperative state-federal brucellosis eradication program has been underway for several years in an attempt to eliminate the disease from the United States.

White's Auto Message Center OUCH!

Boy that Easter freeze sure hurt our early plantings — how about yours.

We liked this one — Oliver Wuest called his mother and asked if he pinched the tops off his tomato plants would they come back. Her answer was a classic. She said "pull the %!*? up and start all over."

CUCUMBERS — LIKE THE HEAT

When the weather turns summery hot, cucumbers love it. Seeds are planted when all danger of cool weather has passed in Spring. Plant in hills of 8 to 10 seeds, spaced 4 to 5 feet apart. When seedlings emerge, thin hill to 4 to 5 plants.

Cucumbers are climbers, so if possible they should be given some support such as a trellis or twine.

There is no set time for ripening of cucumbers. They can be used in any stage of growth. Small ones are often used for pickles, larger for salads etc. (It is said that if the skin is left on slices it reduces the "after taste" many people have from cucumbers.)

Two sowings are recommended. The first early of course and the second about 4 to 5 weeks later for a fall crop. The later crop is for pickling.

Representatives Pass Bill For Small Precincts

The House of Representatives in Austin has passed by a vote of 133-0 House Bill 784, by Rep. Susan McBee. This bill is designed to give relief to those voters in sparsely populated areas of the state by allowing the smaller precincts to retain their voting boxes. Under current law a minimum of 100 voters is required to form an election precinct. Mrs. McBee's bill allows voting precincts of under 100 to be created by the county commissioners' court. The bill was amended on the floor of the House in order to exclude counties with over 100,000 population.

"This piece of legislation is particularly important to us in South and West Texas. I am very gratified that the House has passed it unanimously," said Mrs. McBee. She seems confident that Senator Pete Snelson, who will sponsor the bill in the Senate, will be equally successful in getting it passed in the Senate also.

Texas Teenager Pageant Scheduled

Final preparations are now being made for the 1975 Miss Texas Teenager Pageant to be held at Clarendon Junior College in Clarendon May 30, 31 and June 1, 1975. A mini-modeling charm course will be taught during the three day event.

The reigning Miss Texas teenager, Miss Cindy Mitchell of Seagraves, will crown the fourth annual Miss Texas Teenager.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic achievement, leadership, poise, personality and beauty. Each contestant will be required to write a 100 word essay on the subject, "What's Right About America."

The winner of the Miss Texas Teenager Pageant will receive a scholarship and an all expense paid trip to Atlanta to compete in the Miss National Teenager Pageant along with state winners from all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

Contestants must be between 13 and 17 years of age as of August 30, 1975. The pageant is the official state finals to the Miss National Teenager Pageant to be held in Atlanta, Georgia in August. In the national pageant, $10,000 in cash scholarships were awarded.

Who Raised Hospital Rates?

By Gene Martin

Rates in your hospital and all hospitals began climbing around World War II. To understand why, let's first note some peculiar things about your hospital: It never closes, because illness and injury are unpredictable. The hospital must staff for 168 hours weekly, while most businesses operate 40 hours. The hospital work week is four times longer because patients must be served all day, all night and all weekend. People must care for people since each patient has special needs. Most of the expense is for people.

With so many workers, your hospital is one of the largest employers in town. Two-thirds or more of its expenses are for payroll. In industry, payroll averages 1/3 of total operating costs. Your hospital bill covers just the expense of keeping this personal service operation going, of keeping your hospital open, staffed, and tooled-up to serve you.

Progress has affected personnel cost and hospital rates, too. These health tools, developed since 1940, help save lives in your hospital and restore health. To provide better care means additional workers are required with greater technical skill, and at generally higher salaries. Progress affected costs in other ways as well. Hospitals are buying more kinds and better kinds of supplies and equipment today. Because medical improvements and scientific discoveries have been constant, various kinds of equipment and Medieval naturalists claimed that lions were afraid of roosters.

To The Citizens of Sonora

On Sat., April 5th, there will be an election for City Alderman. I am a candidate in this election.

As a member of the council for the past year I have come to see the problems facing Sonora. The council has taken steps to meet these problems. We have

- 1) Enacted a zoning ordinance to make future growth more orderly.
- 2) Hired Bob Nevill as City Manager.
- 3) Created a City Police force and staffed it with outstanding personnel.

I would like to continue to work on the city council. I make no promises, only that I will work for all the people of Sonora. I WILL APPRECIATE YOUR VOTE SATURDAY.

Sonora Approved For Low-Cost Flood Insurance

The National Flood Insurers Association (NFIA) has announced that flood insurance has become available for residential and non-residential properties in 161 more areas of 41 states. Damage from flooding is not covered in standard property insurance policies. Sonora is among those newly approved cities.

Private insurance agents and brokers are authorized to offer flood insurance to interested owners of residential and non-residential properties. Coverage on contents also will be sold to owners and occupants of such buildings.

The insurance industry is participating in this program through the National Flood Insurers Association, an organization representing about 125 insurance companies. These participating companies act as the servicing organization on behalf of the Association for the benefits of all agents, brokers and other companies.

The new flood coverage is being offered in accordance with requirements established by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) under the terms of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973. The government also participates in the flood program through premium equalization payments, so that subsidized cost will be in the range of the average insured's pocketbook.

The amount of flood insurance available at subsidized rates under the government's emergency program is limited to $35,000 for single-family residences, with maximum of $100,000 on all other types of residential and non-residential properties. Low-cost flood insurance for contents is limited to $10,000 for all residential property and $100,000 on non-residential properties. Tenants may insure contents separately.

The NFIA advises that anyone who is interested in buying the flood coverage should contact his regular agent or broker for further assistance and information rates, policy limits and conditions and other important details.

Special Run Underway For Retarded Children

The Non-Commissioned Officers Association has joined forces with the Joseph F. Kennedy Jr. Foundation in order to raise funds for the more than 300,000 mentally retarded children in this country. This group will join other interested Americans in the "NCOA Run for the Special Olympics," which began at the nation's White House simultaneously with one in Los Angeles, California. The run was to culminate with the arrival of runners at the Astroworld Hotel in Houston April 2.

Police Chief Bill Webster escorted a group of these runners through Sonora Monday.

One of the unique aspects of this fund raising program is that the NCOA has pledged that a full 100 percent of the monies raised will go to the special foundations. The group of noncoms, along with a host of civic groups, are making an all-out effort to raise $100,000 for these youngsters.

Mobile homes are beginning to fill spaces at the J & V Mobile Home Park. Thirty-four spaces have been provided and more will be added should the need arise.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Threadfin Fish Food
Every once in awhile you read in the newspapers that Texas' Department of Parks and Wildlife has placed a quantity of Threadfin Shad in some nearby lake.

This doesn't mean much to many people, but to the angler that's great news.

Threadfin Shad are small fish that never reach a size which would make them too large to be used as forage food for game fish. Hence, placing Threadfin in any lake is like serving a family-sized dinner to emaciated youngsters. Hungry fish attack the shad with gusto, and grow fat and strong in a relatively short time.

To the angler, this means revival of the lake from a steeply impounded to a popular fishing facility—and the cycle continues.

So, if you like to fish for big, healthy lunkers, keep your eye out for such news items—and plan to visit that lake real soon and real often with rod, reel and stringer in hand.

To Quick-Load A Reel
Loading a spool-type reel such as the Ambassador 5000 poses a problem for some people, especially if one tries to do a neat, smooth job by himself. Or does it? It's generally considered that the transfer of line, from spool to reel, is performed much easier if one has a helper handy to hold the spool of line. This is accomplished by the aide inserting a pencil through the hole in the spool and letting the line run off smoothing onto the reel, pressing the fingers on each side of the spool to provide sufficient tension to keep the line taut.

But, being alone calls for a different procedure. We've found it is actually easier to do the job single-handed. Besides that you can do it faster and smoother.

Here's how. Simply sit down in a straight-back chair and hold the spool on a pencil as the helper did, except between your knees, with the pencil held tight behind the knees. Add tension to the sides of the spool simply by squeezing the knees closer together.

This way you can add or release tension yourself, as you need it, or lock the spool firmly if you are tired of winding the reel handle and wish to rest a bit.

Try it next time. It really works!

In the Bahamas, people pour water from the claw of a crab into their ears to cure earaches.

SONORA GROWTH CONTINUES

The James Hunt family residence is under construction. The large brick home is located on Sonora Drive near the newly constructed La Casita Apartments.

An addition to the Miers Home Museum is near completion and will provide space for seven old vehicles...either automobiles or wagons.

Sonora Floral and Gifts is planning a May 1 opening. The building, formerly a residence, is being fully renovated.
