State Comptroller Representative To Be In Sonora

State Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative from his San Angelo office in Sonora on October 17, 1979 to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Esther Esparza will meet with local taxpayers in the Drivers License Room in the County Courthouse from 1:00 to 2:30 p.m.

"If Sonora area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing state tax forms, Ms. Esparza will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office, and we believe these face to face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

The San Angelo office, headed by Thomas M. Goff, serves San Angelo and surrounding counties.

National 4-H Week Oct. 7-13

National 4-H Week is the focal point of the annual 4-H calendar, a time when members and leaders can look at the future with pride as well as look to the future with anticipation.

National 4-H Week this year will be observed October 7-13 with the theme being, "Expanding Horizons." 4-H is expanding youths' horizons as they seek new knowledge, acquire life skills and build on personal strengths. 4-H challenges youth to set high goals and to achieve them.

In 1978 alone, there were 579,624 volunteer leaders-adults, juniors, and teens that gave unselfishly of their time so that over 4 million youth nationally could participate in the 4-H program.

"Crazi Raz" Picks The Winners

Last week "Crazi Raz" said that the No. 1 Angelo St. and No. 2 Abilene Christian would win and both teams had the nerve to go out and lose. Is there no sanity in this world?

"Crazi Raz" was 9 for 14 last week but refuses to let such a small set back discourage this effort.

Sonora vs. Wall. The Broncos put it together this week to win by 3.

Angelo St. vs. Abilene Christian. This was supposed to be the only one the Rams lost this year but now well make it two in a row for ASU. ACC is at home and the pass will be the difference. ACC by 1.

Texas A&I vs. Stephen F. Austin. These two beat the big boys last week. Should be a good game with Texas A&I taking the victory by 1.

Texas vs. Oklahoma. If picking this game does not prove "Crazi Raz" crazy nothing will. Should be one of the best football games in the last decade. The powerful, even unstoppable Sooner offense against the perfect Texas defense will provide some really fine entertainment. Those who know say that defense wins ball games, Texas by 1 with a last minute field goal.

SMU vs. Baylor. The Ponies have a Bear by the tail this week. With All American quarterback Ford out for the Ponies, the Bears by 3.

TCU vs. Rice. The fight for the cellar in the SWC will go to TCU. Rice by 10.

Arkansas vs. Texas Tech. Arkansas will have more than a handful with the Raiders. This one could easily go either way.

Arkansas by 1. Houston vs. Texas A&M. The Aggies will show up but can't handle the team from Houston.

Houston by 6. USC vs. Stanford. No. 1 USC will keep rolling over Stanford. USC by 14.

UCLA vs. Washington St. Washington St. by 3. Ohio St. vs. Indiana. Ohio St. continues toward the Big 10 title. Ohio St. by 9. Notre Dame vs. Air Force. Notre Dame by 10. Alabama vs. Florida. The Tide will wash away Florida. Alabama by 30. World Series. Put your money on Baltimore in 6 games.

Bronco JV Take Ozona 14-8

The Sonora Junior Varsity football team traveled to Ozona Thursday night and came home with a hard fought 14-8 victory over the Lions. Both teams played enthusiastically, but the Broncos' offense was costly on offense. Defensively, the Lions held off the Broncos several times in crucial situations.

The Broncos utilized six different running backs and a 50 yard touchdown pass in accumulating 355 yards team offense for the night.

Ozona took advantage of a mishandled punt reception by Sonora to score early in the first quarter. The Lions moved 38 yards in 10 plays with the TD coming on a well thrown 9 yard pass to the tight end. The 2-point conversion was good, making the first quarter score 8 to 0.

Late in the second quarter the Broncos scored on a 50-yard pass from halfback Joe David Favila to split-end Robert Noriega. Scott Savell took the pitch from quarterback Albert Chavez, into the end zone for the two-point conversion. This brought the score to 8-8 at halftime. Sonora threatened the Ozona goal line on their next possession but time ran out with the Broncos inside the 1-yard line. Sonora's JV scored the final points of the game on their second possession in the third quarter. The decisive scoring drive covered 69 yards in 13 plays, capped by a 3-yard sweep right by Joe David Favila. The win brought the Bronco Junior Varsity's season record to 3-1. The JV will host Brady Thursday and the 7th and 8th grade travel there. Hope you can be at a game to support these teams.

Mengden Backs Referendum Bill

Senator Walter Mengden, Republican from Harris County, has strongly criticized recent statements by Speaker of House Bill Clayton that "initiative and referendum has posed big problems for business and industry in other states by providing a forum for the purveyors of kooky ideas."

Senator Mengden stated that Speaker Clayton was completely uninformed on the utilization of initiative and referendum in other states.

"Clayton's absurd fears of allowing the people to petition for, and vote on, proposed legislation has no basis whatsoever in fact. He simply has not done his homework," Senator Mengden said. "Had Mr. Clayton bothered to do any research on initiative and referendum before denouncing it, he would have discovered that this process has been used both responsibly and effectively in all of the 24 states that have it, going back to its origin in 1904."

and Associates of Houston indicates that 65 percent of the people in Texas consider themselves conservatives. For Mr. Clayton to suggest that the process of initiative and referendum would be harmful to business and industry in Texas is ludicrous," Senator Mengden said.

"Of course, I don't agree with every initiative passed in every state. But neither do I agree with every bill passed by the Texas Legislature. And I agree with very few of the bills passed by the U.S. Congress. It's ridiculous for someone to be against initiative and referendum because they don't like a few of the laws that were passed in some states. But when you look at the overall results, it's clear that we can have a lot more faith in the people than we can in the politicians," Senator Mengden said.

It's ridiculous for someone to be against initiative and referendum because they don't like a few of the laws that were passed in some states. ## Doctors Attack Salt

Doctors are mounting an assault on one of society's strongest, most dangerous eating habits: excess salt. Physicians hope to educate people about this problem in an effort to prevent health problems including high blood pressure, a common disease many researchers believe is linked to salt.

Since salt often shows up in many seemingly unsalty foods such as pudding and breakfast cereals, excesses can be tough to avoid, especially if people do not know how much is in the products, the Texas Medical Association (TMA) said.

The American Medical Association has recommended that processors produce food labels that show the amounts of salt added to products. If this labeling requirement becomes law, then people will have an opportunity to avoid up to 50 percent of the salt they now eat. Since an American Societies for American Biology panel estimates that most people eat 10 times too much salt, a 50 percent reduction would leave more salt than necessary in the diet, but it is progress.

Luckily physicians can recommend diet or drugs treatment sometimes recommended is to shake the salt habit.

How much salt people eat may make a difference. Over a period of time that varies with individuals and amounts consumed, too much salt may contribute to high blood pressure, especially for the 10 percent to 30 percent of the population with a genetic tendency toward the disease.

The Independent Cattle-men's Association had their monthly meeting Thursday, October 4th, at the Sutton County Steak-house.

A report was given on the Livestock Auction receipts held on September 29th at Atascosa Livestock Auction in Pleasonton, Texas. Approx-mately 450 head of stock was donated for the sale. The members present wished to express their thanks and appreciation for the following livestock donated for the sale. Bill Whitehead - a calf, Jamie Parker - 1 calf and Barbado sheep, Cleve T. Jones - 1 calf, Mrs. Alice Jones - 1 calf, David Shurley - 2 calves. Mrs.

Ruth Espy - 1 cow and calf, Mrs. Adele Wilson - 3 calves, Ben Epps - 1 Jersey bull, Miss Joan Gardner - 14 Spanish goats, and Jesse Barton - 1 hog. Weldon Davis, Eldorado, donated $100.00 for the sale.

Plans were also discussed for the yearly barbecue to be held in March 1980. The next meeting will be held November 1st at the Steak House - and members are urged to attend.

4-H Members Make Better Leaders

All 4-H leaders are making a contribution in helping boys and girls grow to be responsible, creative, worth while adult citizens, according to a specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System. Charles Gardner, area 4-H and youth specialist in Overton indicates that it is through the adult leaders that vitality and strength are given to the 4-H program. Some adult leaders, however, are busy all the time trying to carry the full load of club leadership, failing to make use of an important source of help--the junior leader.

"Blessed is the leader who develops leaders while leading." This added benefit to 4-H Club work can come through careful planning by the adult leader, junior leader, and club members. Look at the potential junior leader. He is the older, more experienced, more mature member. He wants to share with others the experience and knowledge he has gained in many phases and activities on the 4-H program. This older member is seeking additional opportunities and incentives for self-development, Gardner. Through his efforts, more young people will have a chance to be 4-H members with more projects and activities available.

child that correspond to the leader guides. If you would like to help a youngster and also help yourself - come to the leader meeting Thursday, October 11 at 4:15 p.m. at the 4-H Center.

ICA Fights Quarantine Bill

The Independent Cattlemen's Association of Texas is taking a strong stand against a draft bill proposed by Agricultural Secretary Bob Bergland which would expand the secretary's powers, allowing him to quarantine livestock in case of an "extraordinary emergency" due to existence of any communicable disease. "We find this a very dangerous bill because we don't feel the agriculture secretary should be given the ultimate authority to control the intrastate movement of livestock and interfere in the day to day business of producers," said Mr. Wheeler. "We are just as concerned as the secretary is in preventing the spread of disease in our cattle but we already labor under too many government restrictions."

ICA believes the bill may be an additional attempt by the government to control eradication of brucellosis—a disease in the spotlight for the past year because of the controversial Uniform Methods & Rules on brucellosis.

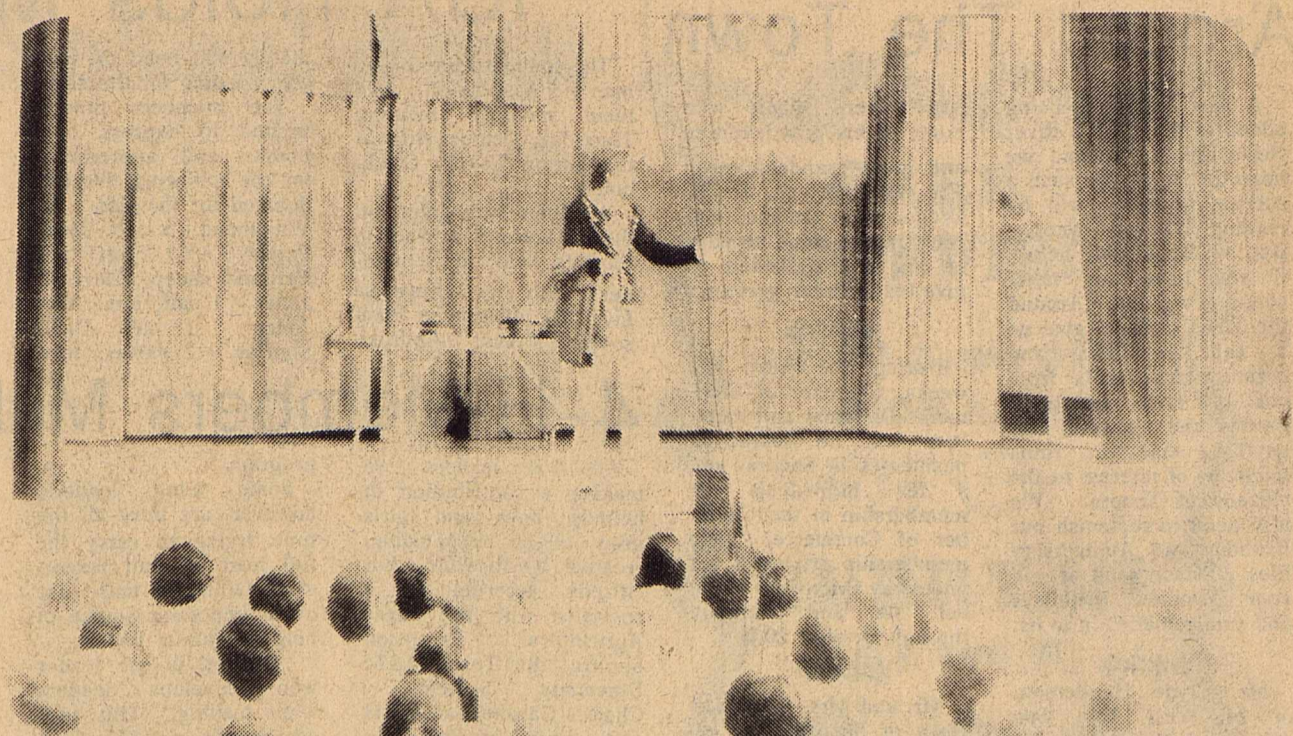

Although the USDA has assured ICA that brucellosis is not an "extraordinary emergency" and does not fall under this proposed legislation, all it would take is for Secretary Bergland to declare brucellosis an "extraordinary emergency" and he would have the power to quarantine herds, if the bill is passed, said Wheeler. In his Aug. 16 letter to

Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., speaker of the House of Representatives, Bergland says, "broader authority is needed to quarantine specific localities and control the movement of any animals, carcasses, products, or articles into, from, or through such localities even though the circumstances involved do not warrant the above described finding with respect to them."

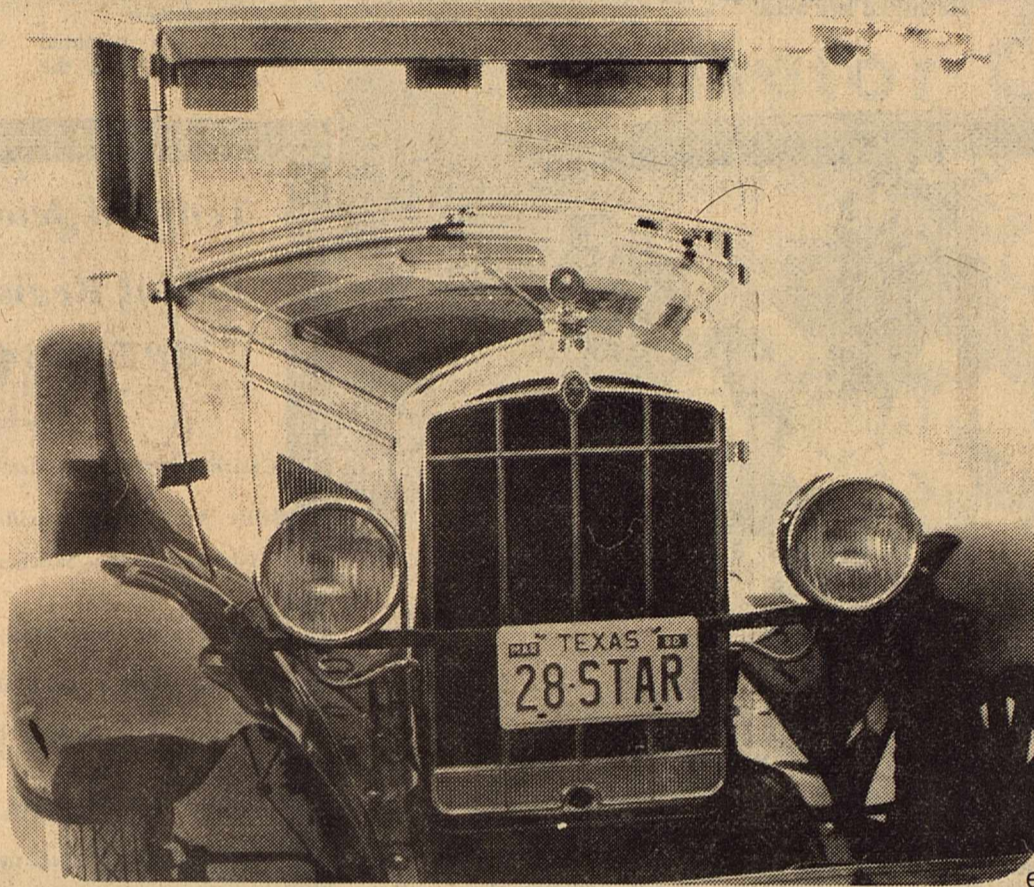

Bergland sent an identical letter to Vice President of the Senate. "The Office of Management and Budget advises that there is no objection to the presentation of this proposed legislation from the standpoint of the Administration's program," Bergland said in his letter to O'Neill.

"We find it odd that this bill is just now being recommended at a time when the program to eradicate brucellosis is at such conflict between the producers and the government," said Wheeler. "If this lack of authority to quarantine is such a problem why wasn't it brought up years ago? If a similar bill has been suggested before, we didn't hear about it." Wheeler urged all livestock producers to write their congressman to defeat the bill if it is introduced.

One of the most important purposes of ICA is to monitor all legislation that is introduced by government agencies to prevent passage of bills which might harm the livestock industry.

Dale Jones of Lecturers International entertained at the Elementary School last week.

This 1928 Star, built by the Durant Motor Co. was sold for $750 in 1928. Today, after many hours of restoration, this car is worth ten times that amount. All the cars driven to Sonora by the Kerrville Vintage Car Club were in excellent condition.

Bentsen Report

Lloyd Bentsen

Senator Lloyd Bentsen on Wednesday introduced a bill to cut the cost of electricity to Texas consumers by cutting back coal severance taxes levied by Wyoming and Montana.

Bentsen, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, noted that Montana has increased the severance tax on coal it ships out of state to 30 percent. The Wyoming tax is 17 percent.

"We must not have a domestic OPEC," Bentsen said in Senate remarks accompanying his bill.

"I am introducing legislation which will establish a 12.5 percent ceiling on state severance taxes on energy produced from federal leases under the Mineral Leasing Act and 'leases' located on Indian lands."

"Texas has already accepted such a limitation on natural gas that is sold out of state."

"I have no quarrel with the concept of state severance taxes to help compensate for the strains caused by industrial operations associated with mineral extractions," Bentsen said.

"However, the outrageous taxes in Montana and Wyoming have no realistic connection with the cost of services they provide. In fact, these states already receive significant assistance from the federal government to compensate them for the economic impact of coal mining on public lands. Under the Mineral Leasing Act, for example, 50 percent of all federal royalties from Rocky Mountain coal is rebated directly to the states as impact assistance."

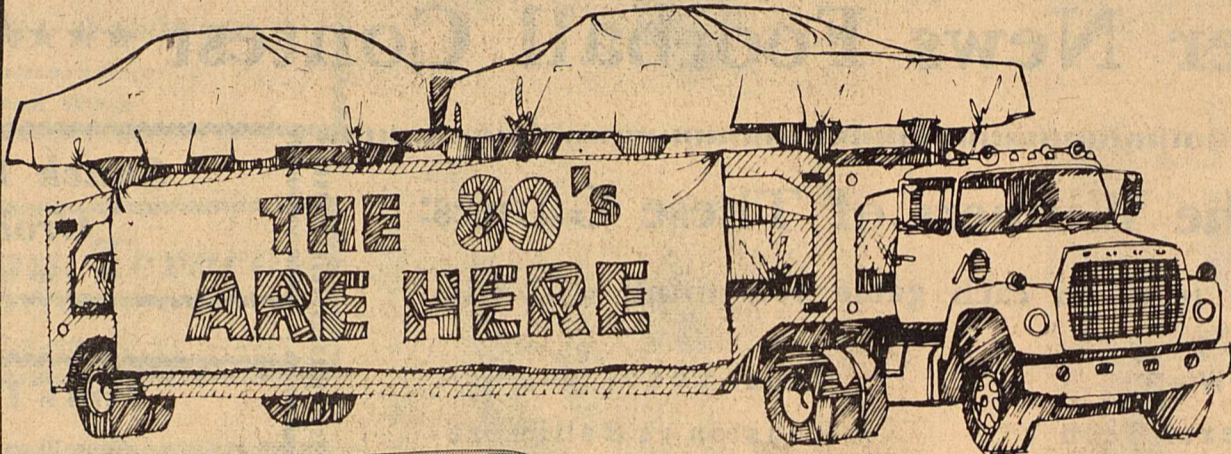

"Electricity bills for consumers in several Texas cities have been driven up by these taxes and I want to see if we can't help cut those costs," Bentsen said.

"Homeowners in Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Amarillo pay extra because of the Wyoming severance tax."

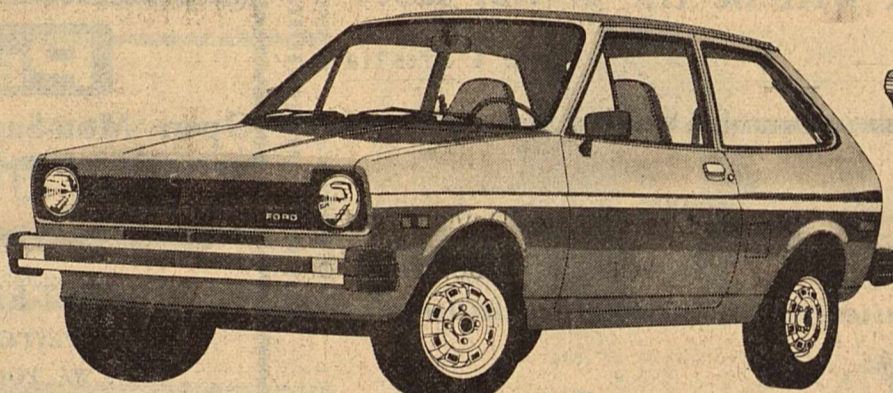

"Homeowners in Austin pay more because of the Montana Tax."

"The United States owns the world's richest deposits of coal. Richer even than the petroleum resources of Saudi Arabia and the entire Middle East. Yet, despite our abundant coal reserves, each year our nation slides deeper and deeper into a state of dependence on unreliable foreign energy supplies," Bentsen said.

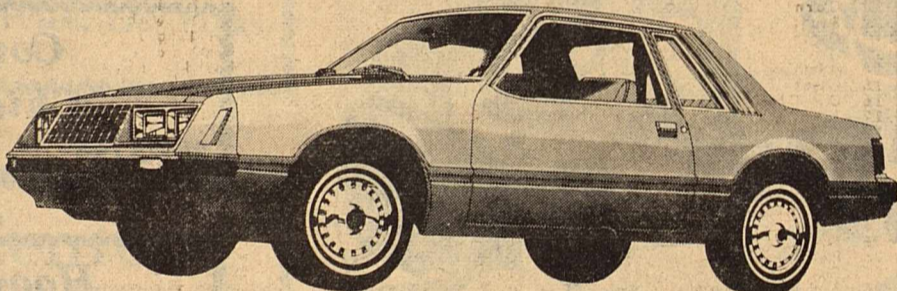

"Much of our nation's coal reserves, approximately 60 percent, are located on land owned by the federal government. Yet, the use of coal from these public lands has been constrained in recent years by a trend in some Western states—notably Wyoming and Montana—to impose extreme and unjustifiable severance taxes on coal extraction. Unless we act now to impose federal limitations on energy severance taxes, it is likely that other states will follow in the path of Montana and Wyoming," Senator Bentsen said.

Reports from Washington

Meeting with the cattlemen

Recently, it was my privilege to address the Independent Cattlemen's Association of Texas at their annual convention in San Antonio. This week and next week, I'd like to share with you the comments I made to the association.

Probably the legislation which is most specific to our industry's financial problems which I have sponsored is H.R. 13, calling for repeal of the carry-over basis taxation section of the 1976 so-called Tax Reform Act. The carry over basis taxation scheme is, simply stated, double-taxation. It denies us the incentive to build up anything of value to pass along to our children... and it robs our children, as heirs to our labors, of freedom of choice. In my opinion, carry over basis taxation is nothing less than confiscation of private property by the federal government. I am pleased to report to you that chances are favorable that we will be successful in repealing this unjust and unfair "reform" of our tax laws.

Regulatory problems.

In addition to these fiscal matters, there are broad ranges of legislative and regulatory problems we face. While what we seek is freedom to pursue a system which will guarantee a fair price for our products and a secure future for our families, the federal regulatory bureaucracy seems intent on denying us such rights.

In my position on the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, which has jurisdiction over that good friend of the farmer and rancher, the Environmental Protection Agency, I do have some small advantage in effecting one of my primary goals: that of removal of federal restrictions so that we may once again have effective and responsible methods of controlling predators.

Those EPA regulators in Washington have never seen a newborn calf, freshly killed by a pack of coyotes. And they certainly couldn't care less that last year, 72 percent of all goat and kid losses were directly attributable to predation.

"Save the Golden Eagle... and damn the cost to the ranchers," seems to be their credo, without once recognizing that we are the truest and best conservationists ever known. We are the ones who know the critical importance of maintaining a careful balance between livestock and wildlife... we are the ones who care most about preservation of our ecological system, because our very livelihood depends upon it.

All we want is the simple right to protect our own private property from harm or death — and we used to think that right was guaranteed by our Constitution!

I pledge my continuing fight against irresponsible restrictions on predator controls, just as I will continue to be a strong advocate against federal intervention in such areas as gun control, land use planning, unreasonable restrictions of brush control chemicals such as 2,4,5-T, growth hormones such as DES, and all other excesses of overregulation and programmed hysteria, orchestrated primarily by the environmentalists who have never set foot in a pasture.

Next week, I will conclude my remarks to the Independent Cattlemen's Association of Texas.

Defense Dept. Searches For Ex-Personnel

For over a year the Department of Defense has been attempting to identify former military and civilian Defense personnel who participated in the atmospheric nuclear tests conducted from 1945 to 1962. The Defense Nuclear Agency is the Executive Agent for this program.

If you participated in these tests, which were held largely in Nevada and at Bikini and Enewetak atolls in the Pacific, you are urged to contact the Defense Nuclear Agency if you have not done so in 1978-1979.

The Defense Nuclear Agency is attempting to reconstruct a complete history of the atmospheric nuclear test program, including names of participants and any radiation doses they received. One of the purposes of this effort is to enable the National Academy of Sciences and other scientific organizations to determine if there are health hazards resulting from participation in the tests. Based upon research to date, it is believed that radiation exposures were low. While medical science has no proof that exposure to radiation levels of exposure carry some slight risk. There is, however, some disagreement within the scientific community about the magnitude of this risk.

If you were a participant in the atmospheric nuclear tests program, and you have not already done so, you are urged to contact the Defense Nuclear Agency at toll-free number 800-336-3068 in continental United States.

If you are concerned that your possible exposure may have adversely affected your health, you are urged either to consult your doctor or, if you are a former serviceman, to contact the nearest Veterans Administration Hospital, where you may obtain a physical examination at Government expense.

Railroad Commission Approves Amendment To Cut Red Tape

The Railroad Commission has approved an emergency amendment to its statewide oil and gas rules in an effort to ease the procedural burden imposed on Texas operators by the federal Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978. Adopted during the weekly conference on Oil and Gas Division matters, the amendment provides procedures for administratively processing applications for a finding, under Section 103 of the NGPA, that a second well is required to effectively and efficiently drain a reservoir covered by a previously existing proration unit where such drainage cannot be achieved by the existing well within the unit.

Commissioner Mack Wallace and James E. (Jim) Nugent signed the approval order after hearing the recommendation of Division General Counsel John G. Soule.

The amendment to the RRC's oil and gas Rule 38 pertains to well densities.

"Thousands of wells in Texas are potentially affected by the FERC's (Federal Energy Regulatory Commission) rules, making an effective and efficient procedure for processing requests for 'effective and efficient' findings absolutely essential," states the preamble of the amendment.

The Rule 38 amending language reads:

"An operator may seek a finding that a well is necessary to effectively and efficiently drain a portion of a reservoir covered by a previously existing proration unit which cannot be effectively and efficiently drained by an existing well within the previously existing proration unit. The well must be eligible under state law for a regular drilling permit, based on the applicability of a new proration unit assigned pursuant to field rules or other Commission action. The following procedures shall apply:

(1) The operator shall file with the Director, Oil & Gas, at the Commission's Austin office, a request for the finding, together with a copy of his application to drill (Form W-1) and plat and an affidavit with appropriate supporting geological, engineering, and other technical data upon which he relies in seeking the finding.

(2) The finding must be obtained prior to spudding the well.

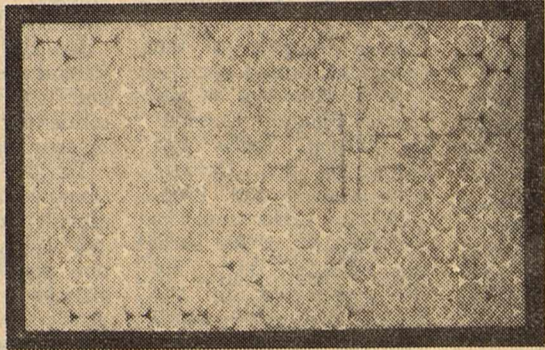

(3) The finding may be made administratively by the Commission staff if it is supported by the evidence submitted. If the staff is of the opinion that the evidence submitted will not support the requested finding, the operator shall be given the opportunity to file additional evidence and to request a formal adjudicatory hearing before an examiner. Without hearing, if supported by the additional evidence, or after hearing, it supported by the evidence of record, the finding may be made administratively by the Commission staff. Alternatively, and in all instances in which denial of the requested finding is recommended, the matter may be submitted after hearing to the Commission for final action pursuant to Commission rules and state law."

Under the NGPA, well category determination for gas pricing purposes rests with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission after review of state action on an application. "New production" has been defined by FERC as production started after Feb. 19, 1977.

Fall Winter Spring or Summer

but a clean filter saves energy, money.

The purpose of a filter on your air conditioning or heating air blower is to keep the air inside your home clean. The filter catches dust and dirt before it can enter your home. In time, the filter will accumulate dust and dirt. If it gets clogged, it can't do the cleaning job it's supposed to and uses more electricity. To avoid damage to your unit, to keep your home cleaner, and to save energy and money, be sure filters are clean. Permanent types can be cleaned according to the manufacturer's instructions. Non-permanent types are replaced, since they are inexpensive. It is wise to check filters every 30 days.

PBPA Raves Over Imports

Editorial comment by Permian Basin Petroleum Association.

Something over two years ago, Mexico offered to sell natural gas to the United States at $2.50 per thousand cubic feet. The U.S. said that was too high, but now we'll pay $4.50 per mcf.

We're just about puzzled, since they announced only last week that Mexico was going to sell natural gas to the United States at $4.50 per thousand cubic feet, and this was a much better deal than the 1977, $2.50 per mcf, deal.

We're confused as to why this is a better deal and we're also confused as to why Mexican gas is worth $4.50 per thousand cubic feet. Canadian gas is selling to the U.S. for the $3.85 per mcf while American producers are paid $2.25 per mcf under government price controls. Why does the government continue to make Americans pay more for foreign oil and gas than we pay our own producers? This results in higher gasoline and utility bills and fewer jobs for Americans. By the way, we pay Africa between $4.50 and $5.25 per mcf for their liquid natural gas.

At least the federal government is consistent in one thing. That is, paying whatever the market demands for foreign crude oil and natural gas, while refusing the same right to the domestic independent producers. They keep saying OPEC is not going to set petroleum prices, then turn around and pay whatever OPEC says.

While many in the U.S. cheer this kind of treatment for domestic producers, they'd better take a look at their hole cards. Today, we are importing almost half our petroleum energy needs. One or two countries can cut off sales to the U.S., and have us on our knees in 60 days.

People say, "Oh, they wouldn't dare do that to the U.S. Besides, we'd go fight them for our oil!"

Makes a lot of sense, especially since they didn't cut us off before and it only takes gasoline and oil to fight a war. Particularly one in the Middle East.

Wake up America. Or would you rather dress like an Arab?

Blanton And Ikard Receive Award

Jack S. Blanton of Houston, independent oil and gas company executive, and Frank N. Ikard, a Washington, D.C. attorney, have been named to receive the Texas oil and gas industry's highest award—Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association's Distinguished Service Award for 1979.

Blanton and Ikard were selected by a committee composed of previous honorees. They will receive the award at a luncheon October 12 at the Hyatt Regency Dallas.

The luncheon will be the final event of the Association's 60th annual meeting.

This year's presentation marks the 44th consecutive year that two petroleum industry leaders have been honored for their contributions and service during their careers.

Between 500 and 600 petroleum industry executives and their guests are expected to attend the two-day meeting. It will feature appearances by the Governor of Texas William P. (Bill) Clements, Jr., and Harold E. Berg, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Getty Oil Company, Los Angeles, California. # Sutton County Ranch News

Sheep And Goat Industry News Compiled By Texas Sheep And Goat Raisers' Association

Predation was the central issue during the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association's fall directors meeting recently at Eldorado. Other items included taxation, animal health problems, possible new sources of recreation-based ranch income, and various government activities. Central to the predation issue was a discussion of Compound 1080's chances for gaining registration with the toxic collar. San Angelo Research Center predator specialist Dr. Dale Wade noted that the collar's effectiveness was no longer questioned by federal regulators. The big holdup now, he explained, concern residue testing procedures and the tired old contentions of secondary poisoning. Wade had good news about the secondary poisoning controversy. Denver Wildlife Center researchers, he said, have recently documented a test in which magpies were fed the carcass of coyote that had been given the equivalent roughly 120 lethal doses of 1080. None of the magpies were poisoned, an interesting development in light of the fact that magpies are more susceptible to the toxin than other scavenging birds, and that the coyote's body contained a full collar load of 1080.

The big question, of course, is how many hundreds of times will the secondary poisoning foolishness have to be disproved before the burcaucrats finally get the message?

On a related note, Wade and Animal Damage Control state supervisor Don Hawthorne reported that ADC personnel had been involved in a collar field test near Meridian. This practical experience should prove valuable in the event the collar is registered for use in the state. That possibility, by the way, many have been brought a little nearer reality by TS&GRA attempts to have the Texas Department of Agriculture request a limited-use 1080 permit, much like the one that eventually brought the M-44 cyanide gun out of federal cold-storage.

What could and should have been a leading predator-related item at the meeting wasn't. Already more than a year late, Secretary of Interior Cecil Andrus' royal proclamation on the future of the ADC program missed again. There were reports that Andrus had made up his mind, but no indication of the actual outcome.

Association members did learn, however, that an ADC budget "add-on" of about $4 million dollars was beginning to look likely, at least from the Senate. Many members of the Senate committee studying the measure are said to be from western states.

Back on the toxic collar, TS&GRA directors agreed to appoint collar inventor Roy McBride, Alpine, as "Association Environmental Consultant". The title is expected to get McBride and the collar in the door in parts of the county where he isn't known. Reports on animal health problems indicated that research at San Angelo may produce an effective bluetongue vaccine within the near future, plus an optimistic outlook on the screwworm eradication project. Eradication program researcher Dr. Lloyd Wendel forecast movement of the screwworm defense line down into Mexico before long. TS&GRA members were advised that the 2,4,5-T outlook is currently confused, not a great revelation in itself. As range use now stands, a cancellation hearing promoted by EPA regulators has recently gotten the cold shoulder from the agency's own scientists on the grounds that existing evidence (gathered over years of all-out attack) does not support claims of substantial or imminent hazard. The law allows EPA politics to take precedence over science, however.

Among other business, directors agreed to support a proposed Texas constitutional amendment allowing small-population counties to use public equipment on private roads as long as the county is adequately compensated.

On the bittersweet side, James Hunt, Sonora, reported that a bill repealing the notorious carry-over provision in the revised estate tax law would be tied to the equally notorious windfall profits bill. This would assure that the carry-over repeal would be veto-proof, but will put landowners in the curious position of having to hope for passage of a bill they might ordinarily have fought to the bitter end. It is especially true of landowners with oil royalties subject to the proposed windfall tax.

Resolutions included one expressing appreciation to Reps. Tom Loeffler, Steve Symms, John Rousselot and Charles Stenholm as well as Sens. John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen for their sponsorship and support of the recently introduced lamb import limitation bill. Another resolution supports the West Texas plan for brucellosis eradication. Others express sympathy to the family of the late Lance Sears and the families of two men recently killed in New Mexico while conducting aerial predator control activities.
