VOL. 5.

KERRVILLE, TEXAS, THURSDAY, NOV. 9, 1916

NO. 8

NATIONAL ELECTION STILL IN DOUBT

Looks Like President Wilson Is Re-Elected but Hughes' Supporters are Still Hopeful. Republican Landslide a Huge Joke

The National election was still in doubt according to morning's returns from San Antonio, but as Hughes by a large margin began to win it was conceded that Wilson had a good chance to be elected, and as it now stands with five states to hear from it looks good for Wilson.

States carried by Wilson are Alabama 12, Arkansas 9, Colorado 6, Georgia 14, Kentucky 13, Louisiana 16, Maryland 8, Mississippi 10, Missouri 18, Montana 4, Nebraska 8, Nevada 3, North Carolina 12, Ohio 24, Oklahoma 10, South Carolina 9, Tennessee 12, Texas 20, Utah 4, Virginia 12, Idaho 4, Kansas 10, Washington 7 Wyoming 3, total 248.

States for Hughes are Illinois, 29 Iowa 13, Maine 6, New Hampshire

Attended Baptist Woman's Missionary Meeting

Kerrville was well represented at the annual meeting of the District Baptist Woman's Workers which was held last Friday Mrs. D. ...

Posted Notice

All persons are hereby notified that my pastures are posted and hunting will be allowed there.

Baptist Church Notes.

Three additions last Sunday was considerable encouragement to all our people, and still we are expecting others. Our Baptist General Convention, representing four hundred thousand White Baptists, meets in Waco Nov. 23 and we hope to have many from our church attend this great meeting. These messengers are to be selected next Sunday so be on hand.

Our usual services will be held next Sunday at the regular hours. Come and we shall be glad. As president at present of the "Pastors Conference" here I heartily thank the Methodist Ladies for their kind invitation to all our pastors and for their kind invitation to dine with them after we eat with them. I will KNOW that we will leave their dinner.

J. T. S. Gammon, Secretary

Tivy 0--Llano 13.

The Tivy foot ball team went to Llano Saturday, and for a fact it required the greater part of the day to get there. The last car arrived just in time to save us from forfeiting the game—they got on the ground at 4:15 and began playing at 4:30. You may be sure getting up early, leaving with little or no breakfast, being on the road most of the day and that with little or no dinner, was not very conducive to playing a great game. But he it said to the credit of the entire team they played the best game of the season so far.

The first half of the game was a draw--0 to 0--with doubtful honors in our favor. The last half was a different game. Llano came back stronger and scored for a touchdown in the third quarter and again in the last quarter (the last touchdown goal was kicked--leaving the score 13 to 0 in Llano's favor) Alois Renschel missed kicking a field goal by a very short distance. Our line held and the back field used head work. We are very proud of the game and feel sure that had the conditions been reversed the score would have been different. But we would not forget to give praise where praise is due and it is the opinion of the boys that they got a square deal. Llano's team proved themselves clean sportsmen and the officials conducted the game in a most commendable way.

Prof. Dabney and Waller accompanied the boys on the trip.

Pastors Conference

After enjoying a feast of good things with the Methodist ladies on election day the various pastors of Kerrville with some of their wives had a group picture made, and then went to the Presbyterian Church where they went into a reorganization of the Pastors Conference, which resulted in the election of Rev. S. W. Kemerer President and Rev. W. P. Dickey as secretary.

After the election of officers a committee was appointed to arrange a program for a Thanksgiving service, with request that we have a general representation from the various churches, lodges mother's club, county judge, school Supt. Pres. of Commercial club and meet to arrange a program to be announced later, and with the view to complete a charity Organization for the needy of our

Indian Society.

Attention! kind reader, for we would have a word with you.

The Ruling Powers were so touched with the Resolutions of regret which we offered to the general public last week, that they have granted us a space on the Monday a. M. program with which to entertain any of the too "anxious eager public." Therefore at 9: a. m. Monday the 13th, the famous Indians chorus will give a very touching old "darker" lullaby. This no doubt will prove an old friend to most of our listeners, but remember please that "old friends are best" We should also like to state in behalf of the Indian chorus that they are professionals, therefore, after contributing their number to the program they will be able to report promptly to their classes. Very different from the rival chorus of the Barbarians who so overcome with fatigue and nervousness, were unable after their number on last Monday's program to turn up till nearly noon. Remember the 13th.

Barbarian Program

After some miscellaneous business concerning the Barbarian Society the following program will be rendered on Nov. 10 from 2:40 to 4:00.

Song--Society.
Recitation--Ruth Baker.
Quartet--Frank Pierce, Gordon Robb, Frank Tilley, Frith Everett
Reading--Sophie Stovall.
Dialogue.
Recitation--Minnie Mae Beckman
Journal--Alois Renschel.
Song--Society.

Last Monday morning the Barbarians chorus were given the right to render two songs at chapel exercises. Those in the chorus were very comically dressed as negroes. They sang "That Watermill" and "De Rainbow" which caused a great laughter to come over the house.

Chicken Dinner a Success.

The Methodist ladies had splendid success with their chicken dinner on election day, the receipts being something over $50. The Pastors and their wives and editors and ladies were guests and the way the chicken pie on the preachers' table did vanish was like snow-flakes before a summer's sun. The dinner was fine, the crowd good humored and, altogether, it was a happy occasion.

Farm Demonstrator Here.

K. G. Baker, recently appointed Farm Demonstrator for Kerr County arrived in Kerrville last week and has established himself with an office at the court house. He will devote his entire time to the duties of the office which will be to teach scientific farming by giving demonstrations on farms in different parts of the county, giving lectures at the Farmers Institutes and co-operating with the farmers in any way that he can assist them. He hopes to meet a large number of the farmers at the Institute here Monday afternoon.

Lutheran Church News.

Next Sunday, Nov. 12, there will be two services. At 10:30 a. m. Rev. B. Stricker of San Antonio will preach on Inner Missions. At 2:30 the local pastor will speak on Foreign Mission. Special hymns have been prepared for these occasions. Nobody who understands the German language should fail to attend these Mission services. Everybody cordially invited.

B. SCHLEIFER, Pastor.
P. L. Eubanks, Piano Tuner; with Thos. Goggan & Bros., of San Antonio, Texas.

"The End of the Trail"

Two new ladies are added to the cast in Oscar Graham's latest play, "The End of the Trail." They are Miss Pearl Townsend and Miss Ruth Chandler. Both are young, beautiful and accomplished. Both are provided with parts which accentuate these most desirable gifts and they play them with that fervor of enthusiasm which is always so refreshing when one is watching youth, beauty and art.

Edward C. Paulus, who has so delighted in past seasons in his comedy work as an Irishman, a tramp, a cockney, a gambler, a dude and a Chinaman, is fitted with a part this season in which he excels, and as Leviticus Livingston, a darkey butler, is more exuberantly funny than ever. Oscar Graham as a cultured Indian has a strikingly romantic part to which he is particularly suited and, in fact, each member of the company is seen to splendid advantage.

"The End of the Trail" will be at the PAMPELL THEATER Friday night, Nov. 10th.

THE KERRVILLE ADVANCE

T. A. BUCKNER, Editor and Prop.
Mrs. Hattie Buckner, Associate Editor

SUBSCRIPTION $1.50 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice at Kerrville, Texas.

The attendance this year at the Dallas Fair broke all former records, over one million people passing through the gates within fifteen days. It was argued by the antis and timid pros among the business men of Dallas that prohibiting booze being sold within the grounds would seriously cripple the Fair, it not utterly ruin it. But, as was the case after cutting out race-track gambling, the Fair gained wonderfully in patronage and is placed on a more solid basis than ever before.

This paper is a continual booster for your school, your church and every good influence that affects the community. How much are you boosting this paper?

Again we warn the hunters that it takes venison in hand to give this editor any inspiration to write up a hunting story.

Get Into Print.

No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to be printed without his name and business mentioned somewhere in its columns. This applies to all kinds of business, general stores, dry goods, grocers, furniture dealers, professional men and in fact all classes of business men. This does not mean that he should have a whole or half or even a quarter of a page ad in every issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell just what business is represented in a town by looking at the business lineup in the paper.—Medelia News.

Bandera Votes Road Bonds

On Saturday, Oct. 28, the people of Bandera did the best thing they have done since they built their magnificent new school building, when by a vote of 228 to 86 they voted a $22,000 road bond issue for Road Dist. No. 1, comprising the Bandera and Pipe Creek Commissioners precincts. The vote stood: Bandera, for bonds 165, against 60; Pipe Creek, for 44, against 26; Privilege, for 19, none against.

The sum voted will not give Bandera all the good roads she needs out if properly expended will be a long step in the right direction. The people will be so well pleased over what they do get that there will be not let-up until first class graded and macadamized highways, similar Kerrville's, will reach out in every direction and old Bandera will have at last been awakened from her long "snooze" and take her place on the map as one of Texas' most progressive towns.

Good Advice from His Wife.

The wife of a western hardware dealer answered her door bell and found a peddler on the front porch.

He was selling the "greatest potato-parer ever invented," and he gave a demonstration that convinced her at once, and she handed over the quarter.

When the husband came home she showed him her bargain and told him what she paid for it.

Imagine her consternation when he said:

"I have a gross of these down in the store, and I sell them for 10c when I find a purchaser."

But the woman always has the last word, and her's was to the point.

"Then for goodness sake, why don't you let the people know what you have for sale?"

Moral—Advertise to your home town folks in your home paper—then your own wife won't ever "get stang."—Exchange.

Children's Teeth Neglected

A recent investigation made by the U.S. Public Health Service in connection with studies of rural school children showed that 49.3 per cent have defective teeth, 21.1 per cent had two or more missing teeth, and only 16.9 per cent had had dental attention. Over 14 per cent never used a tooth brush, 58.2 per cent used one occasionally and only 27.4 per cent used one daily. Defective teeth reduce physical efficiency. Dirty, suppurating, snaggle-toothed mouths are responsible for many cases of heart disease, rheumatism, and other chronic affections. The children are not responsible for the neglected state of their teeth. The ignorant and careless parent is to blame for this condition—a condition which hampers mental and physical growth and puts a permanent handicap on our future citizens. Schoolteachers can and are doing much in inculcating habits of personal cleanliness on the rural school child but this will fail of the highest accomplishment unless parents co-operate heartily and continuously. This is a duty which we owe our children.

A Word of Thanks

To my friends who supported me in the election this week I extend most hearty thanks. To those who voted or worked against me I shall harbor no ill feeling. I accept my defeat with as good grace as I can command and extend congratulations to Judge Garrett upon the splendid race he made. Respectfully,

GILBERT C. STORMS.

HOMESICK FOR FROZEN NORTH AND ICE PACKS

Veteran Arctic Explorer to Drift Five Years Across Top of Continent.

TAKE COLLEGE MEN ALONG

Captain Robert A. Bartlett Tires of New York and Is Arranging to Gather Scientific Data in the Million Miles Yet Untouched by White Men.

New York.—Capt. Robert A. Bartlett, who has been in arctic exploration for 18 years of his life, who has been farther north than any other white man with the exception of Peary, who has suffered hardships in the frozen regions, is afflicted with arctic nostalgia. He is homesick for ice peaks, frozen seas, polar bear and seal meat, blubber and blubber and blubber again, and planned the Roosevelt expedition in the manner of the Fram. He superintended the vessel's construction, and as skipper piloted her in 1905 through Kane basin, Kennedy channel, Robeson channel, and finally to Cape Sheridan on the northeast corner of Grant Land.

"It is possible that we would discover new land during our travels. We would take about a hundred dogs and what sledges we required for exploration. The dogs would be fed on bear meat and fish, of both of which we would have no difficulty in getting all we required. Our own principal meat diet would be bear and seal. Of course, we would have canned meats with our provisions, but I have never cared much for them in arctic work. Seal meat is delicious, and the polar bear meat is good, too—very like pork.

"I have not the slightest doubt that we would find many new fishes, shell fish and sea plants with our deep-sea dredges, and would add greatly to the scientific knowledge of the world. As I said, there will be nothing spectacular about the trip, like hunting for the North Pole, but it will have a scientific value, and may add greatly to geographical knowledge. I am pretty sure that there is land somewhere in the unexplored regions, and I see no reason why we should not find it and explore it on such a trip.

Captain Bartlett ran away to sea when a boy, and has lived most of his life since on sealers, whalers and in arctic exploration. He was first with Peary on the Windward in 1897 and 1898. He went on another expedition to Hudson straits and was captain of a sealing vessel off Newfoundland. In 1905 he was preparing to go north again, and planned the Roosevelt expedition in the manner of the Fram. He superintended the vessel's construction, and as skipper piloted her in 1905 through Kane basin, Kennedy channel, Robeson channel, and finally to Cape Sheridan on the northeast corner of Grant Land.

An Epic of the North. In the summer of 1906 Peary and Bartlett started over the polar ice to reach the North Pole. They attained latitude 87 degrees 6 minutes, the farthest north ever reached by a white man previous to the discovery of the Pole. Captain Bartlett was in charge of the supporting parties, and was on the ice 120 days. The ice broke up on the 120 days. The ice broke up on her home voyage, but encountered a hurricane near Cape Union, between Greenland and Grant Land. The ice piled up and drove the Roosevelt ashore. Her rudder was torn out, two of her four propeller blades were broken and

GIVES $3,000 TO RED CROSS

"I would take only eight men with me on the trip, preferably young college men, not too scientific, but with sufficient knowledge and brains to do the scientific work necessary. While we drifted we would take soundings and use a deep-sea dredge to gather the flora and fauna from the floor of the ocean and keep a careful record as well as specimens of what we found. This work would be of the same character as that undertaken by the prince of Monaco, the late Sir John Murray and, to some extent, by Nansen.

she leaked badly. It took three months to patch up the vessel, and fuel and provisions were running low.

Crossing the Cumberland gulf in October, she was hit by another gale, and her jury rudder was carried away. Captain Bartlett swung a beam from the boom to steer by and ran before the gale four days, finally making the northern tip of Labrador, where coal, provisions, water and wood were obtained. The vessel got to Hebrun, a Moravian settlement, where enough supplies were obtained to take her to Nain. There food was obtained. And so, getting small supplies of food and fuel, the vessel finally reached Nova Scotia.

Again the Roosevelt, with Captain Bartlett in command, went to Cape Sheridan in 1906, and Peary and Bartlett started for the North Pole. Captain Bartlett was taken to the 88th parallel, and ordered to remain there while Peary went on with Matt Henson, a negro. That was when Peary discovered the North Pole.

In 1913 Captain Bartlett was captain of the Karluk, in which Vilhjalmm Stefansson went to the Arctic ocean through Bering strait. After Stefansson was landed the vessel was caught in the ice and carried from Point Barrow toward the Siberian shore. On January 12, 1914, when the Karluk was about 125 miles off Wrangell island, near which is Herald island, she was crushed in the ice. Captain Bartlett had foreseen such a disaster and had put provisions for two years on the ice. Eight of his men insisted upon going in what they thought would be a shorter direction to reach land. They were lost.

The Rescue From Wrangell Island.

Captain Bartlett, with 17 men of the expedition, two Eskimo men, one Eskimo woman and two children, reached Wrangell island March 12. There he established a camp, and then with an Eskimo boy eighteen years old, one sledge and seven dogs started over the ice to the Siberian coast, more than one hundred miles away. He traveled over broken ice, ferried open lanes on pieces of ice and reached the coast in the first week in April. He followed the coast for a thousand miles, and finally received assistance from Baron Kleist at Emma harbor. The baron sent him to St. Michael's, Alaska, where he found the United States revenue cutter, Bear, and went north in her to Wrangell island for his men. He found them all safe, and they were brought back to the United States.

That was Captain Bartlett's last trip to the arctic regions. Now he wants to go back again and see a little more excitement. The life here pulls upon him. He became so disgusted in October, 1915, with inaction that he went to work as a stevedore at Pier No. 7, Hudson river. He did not have to make a living that way, but he liked active work.

Dr. R. A. Harris of the United States coast and geodetic survey, Washington, is enthusiastic over Captain Bartlett's proposed expedition, and has suggested that the following subjects will indicate the nature of the work of such a project:

The distribution of land and water, including the extent and character of land yet undiscovered; depths or soundings of the waters; tidal observations; currents and ice drifting; ice conditions; temperature, salinity and chemical composition of water at various depths; character of the sea bottom; marine life in the Arctic ocean; other arctic life; geology of arctic land; arctic meteorology, temperature, atmospheric pressure, winds, precipitation, etc.; magnetic observations; pendulum observations; feasibility of the Northwest passage; feasibility of other possible routes.

Scientific Value of Trip.

"From these items," says Doctor Harris, "it is evident that certain physical sciences must remain incomplete until observations have been made in the regions now designated as unexplored, viz: meteorology, ocean circulation, the tides, terrestrial magnetism and geodesy.

TO END HAY FEVER

EXPERTS RECOMMEND THE ERADICATION OF WEEDS.

Extermination of Worthless Plants, They Believe, Would Help Greatly in the Effectual Stamping Out of the Disease.

By a "war on weeds" hay fever sufferers may be relieved of an annual orgy of sneezing, according to an article in the Medical Record by Dr. W. Scheppergrell of New Orleans, La. Doctor Scheppergrell was one of the men who caused the enactment of a city ordinance in New Orleans for the control of weeds as the best means of controlling hay fever and preventing its spread. In his article, "The Cause, Treatment and Prevention of Hay Fever," he says it is a simple disease, "whose continued existence would be a reflection on preventive medicine."

"The plants that are responsible for hay fever are practically all common weeds, such as the ragweed, the cocklebur, the yellow dock and others," he writes. "They are wind pollinated, without attractive color or fragrance, very numerous and with abundant pollen. The lack of color or scent is due to the fact that these plants are wind pollinated, the qualities mentioned being intended to attract insects for fertilization.

"The most common weeds that cause hay fever are the ragweeds, which are the causes of most cases of fall hay fever. The marsh elder is also a cause of fall hay fever and frequently prolongs the attack. The early cases are due to the yellow dock and the mid-summer cases to the careless weed, cocklebur and other wind-pollinated weeds. In early summer many cases are due to the various grasses.

"The indirect reaction of pollinosis is partly due to the effects of the primary irritation and partly to the absorption of the protein of the pollen and the toxin formed by the proteolytic action of the cells.

"The important factor in the treatment is the removal of the exciting cause. In many cases the pollinating weeds are in the neighborhood of the patient's residence and the cutting of these will frequently give marked relief. My first prescription to such patients is, 'Have the weeds and grass in your neighborhood cut and kept away from other weeds.'

"A method which has given relief in almost every case is the removal of the patient during the hay fever period from the infected locality. This does not necessitate an expensive trip to the mountains or seaside, which frequently fails to give relief on account of the presence of hay fever pollens in the air at these places. A temporary visit to a mere central part of the city will be sufficient, provided the areas with pollinating weeds or grasses are at a sufficient distance (one-half mile or more).

"As hay fever has been shown to be a distinctly preventable disease, it is clearly our duty to use every effort to eradicate the cause. Investigations indicate that the large majority of the plants whose pollen give rise to hay fever are worthless weeds, which are alike an expense to the farmer and a menace to health."

Sharks Used as Food.

An unreasonable prejudice exists in this country against the use of shark-like fishes (sharks, dogfish, rays, etc.) as food. A recent memoir by Lewis Radcliffe, published by the United States bureau of fisheries, points out the flesh of various small species of this class as palatable, when properly prepared, and that this fact is appreciated abroad than in this country.

In England and other countries were hardly regarded as dogfish, a good many have been used as food.

WHY STRIVE TO KILL TIME?

If Annihilation Were Possible, the World Would Remain Just Exactly as it is Today.

There are so many gentle proverbs devoted to the praise of Time, that it is wonderful to think how, in our day, that comely Titan has come to be regarded by the most of us as our worst enemy.

We are forever scheming how to forego him, to get the better of him, even—in the extravagant phrase of the speed-at-any-price maniacs—to annihilate him.

Those, to be sure, fail to see how the consummation of their ideal would leave them exactly at the point from which they started.

Even the forty minutes glide round about the earth, if achieved, would soon exhaust the excessive potentialities of existence; and, unless science is prepared to deal triumphantly with the problem of penetrating and breathing atmosphereless space, one fails to see what the world would gain through a perfected system of aeroplanes but the tedium vitae in its final and quite incurable form.

The Psychology Class.

"Miss Faddy, what do you know about motor reactions?" "Oh, I never pay any attention to them if I'm sure the chauffeur knows his business."

It Can't Be Done.

A woman may have a face like an open book, but a man always finds it difficult to read between the lines.

Metal Tens Supports.

Those fond of camping out will be glad to hear of a new contrivance consisting of a combined tent frame and cot, which dispenses with cumbersome poles and simplifies the question of how to move one's sleeping accommodation from place to place. The new tent supports are of light angle iron, and the longer pieces as well as those forming the cots which go with each tent are jointed so that they may be folded up when necessary. The frames of the cots are suspended from the uprights by two coil springs, used for the same purpose as springs in the ordinary household. During the day the cots can be folded up against the tent frame and well out of the road, by releasing one of the springs at each end.

Willie Meant Rabid.

Wee Willie was greatly excited. "Mamma," he cried, "you know Jones' pup?" "Yes, William." "We thought it was a fox terrier, didn't we?" "Yes, William."

"And they took off its head and sent it to Pittsburgh and found it was a fox terrier after all."

"Mrs. Jones said the doctor found out it was a rabbit dog."—Youngstown Telegram.

Logical Deduction.

"Is Willie interested in his nature study class?" "Very much; wanted to know today if cat-tails belonged to the pussy-willow family."

WIFE TOO ILL TO WORK IN BED MOST OF TIME

Her Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Indianapolis, Indiana. — "My health was so poor and my constitution so run down that I could not work. I was thin, pale and weak, weighed but 109 pounds and was in bed most of the time. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and five months later I weighed 133 pounds. I do all the housework and washing for eleven and I can truthfully say Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been a godsend to me for I would have been in my grave today but for it. I would tell all women suffering as I was to try your valuable remedy." — Mrs. Wm. Green, 332 S. Addison Street, Indianapolis, Indiana.

There is hardly a neighborhood in this country, wherein some woman has not found health by using this good old-fashioned root and herb remedy. If there is anything about which you would like special advice, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Charity leaves home when the house-cleaning season begins.

SEPARATE RAYS OF SUNLIGHT

Just How It May Be Broken Up to the Human Eye, in a Variety of Ways.

Sunlight, which we call white, is composed of light rays of different colors—red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet. It can be broken up into its constituent colors in various ways. If it passed through a transparent prism (like the crystals that hang from a chandelier), or if it falls on a surface which has almost invisibly minute irregularities (like mother of pearl or the wing of a butterfly), we see the rays into which sunlight has been separated. These phenomena are observed when light is not absorbed, says Popular Science Monthly. Hold a piece of red glass in front of flame and we see only red. Rays of all other colors have been absorbed. The natural colors of the objects we see about us, leaves, flowers, books and chairs, depend upon absorption. A green leaf throws back chiefly green rays; the rest are absorbed. So, the natural color of everything in nature is the unabsorbed residue from full white light. There is no such thing as color by itself.

A swarm of minute particles, scattered in the path of white light, will break it up, like the surface of mother of pearl. If the particles happen to be of just the right size and distance between them just the right distance, they will absorb rays of one color only and throw off the rest. The atmosphere is filled with countless dust particles, and their size and spacing is such that they scatter rays which we call sky blue. Nearer the horizon, larger particles turn the blue into white; this happens above a dusty town and when mists or clouds hang above us. All that is left of white sunlight, after passing through many miles of blue scattering air, appears in the hues of sunset. The size and spacing of dust particles as well as the angle at which sunlight strikes them determines the color of the sky.

Lithography.

The first successful example of the lithographic art was produced 120 years ago by Aloys Senefelder, a Bavarian, who produced a piece of music printed by this process. Senefelder was a composer, but he was too poor to bear the cost of having his works published. He then began to experiment with the hope of discovering some cheap method by which he could do the printing himself. The lithographic process was suggested to him by his having made for his mother a memorandum of clothes to be sent to the washerwoman. He carelessly wrote this memorandum on a slab of stone, intending to copy it. As the stone lay before him he thought of trying the effect of applying printer's ink to the lines and thus take an impression. The experiment led to others, and in 1796 Senefelder produced a piece of music from lines drawn in slight relief on a slab of stone. The inventor obtained a patent for his process in several of the German states, and labored to extend his art throughout Europe. Everywhere it met with favor, especially in France.—New York Mail.

VOGUES AND VANITIES BY JULIA BOTTOMLEY

New Style in Matched Sets.

It is wonderful how big a part is played by cleverness of designing in the making of attractive clothes. Probably the women who get the most satisfaction out of their personal belongings are those who have comparatively small incomes to spend on themselves. They must exercise their wits, and they become observant; they learn to achieve style. This is more than some very rich women seem able to do.

Approps of this, there are very elegant and inexpensive matched sets, of two or three pieces, among the smart accessories which the woman of small means uses to great advantage. Hats and neck pieces, or sets that include a muff, made to match, possess what the merchandising world calls "class." These sets a clever woman will have no trouble in making for herself. They are usually combinations of velvet and fur, or velvet and silk for sports wear, or other materials for formal wear.

A two-piece set with scarf made of velvet decorated with fur bands and finished with ornaments. Dark brown velvet, in a strip about two and a half yards long, is lined with brown satin, and a band of beaver or other fur is set on at that portion of the scarf which wraps about the shoulders. This fur band is also lined with satin. The ends of the scarf are trimmed into points. Where the fur terminates the scarf is gathered up and sewed to a metallic or beaded ornament.

The turban is a simple but original affair with a band of fur about the coronet. About a half yard of velvet is folded crosswise to form the crown. It is sewed together along the selvage edges, and wired. The raw edges are sewed into the coronet. An ornament, like those on the scarf, finishes this odd, attractive hat.

Pretty sets for skating or other wear in wintry weather are made of silver-down or white chinchilla. They include a plain scarf, a cap, and a muff. Heavy white zephyr yarn is used in their finish and decoration, and similar sets are made in bright green, light brown or rose color.

CALOMEL IS MERCURY, IT SICKENS! STOP USING SALIVATING DRUG

Don't Lose a Day's Work! If Your Liver Is Sluggish or Bowels Constipated Take "Dodson's Liver Tone."—It's Fine!

You're bilious! Your liver is sluggish! You feel lazy, dizzy and all knocked out. Your head is dull, your tongue is coated; breath bad; stomach sour and bowels constipated. But don't take salivating calomel. It makes you sick, you may lose a day's work. Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into your bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone. Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular. You will feel like working; you'll be cheerful; full of vigor and ambition.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and cannot salivate. Give it to your children! Millions of people are using Dodson's Liver Tone instead of dangerous calomel now. Your druggist will tell you that the sale of calomel is almost stopped entirely here.—Adv.
