ENGLAND KILLING MEAT TRADE

Demand That Interference With Cargoes Shall Cease at Once.
PROMPT ACTION PROMISED
Representation Will Deal Only With Specific Complaint.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 14.—American meat packers appealed to the State Department today to demand that Great Britain stop interfering with their cargoes consigned to neutral ports and settle for $4,000,000 worth of their products now held up in prize courts. They charge the British government with the destruction of commerce in food products between the United States and other neutral nations.

It was announced the department would make representations to Great Britain immediately, the communication dealing specifically with the complaint of the packers and not going into the general subject of interference with neutral trade under the order in council against commerce with Germany, which soon is to be made the subject of another note.

The packers in a statement tonight declared the British government purposely delays settlement of their claims for seized cargoes, and that they are not inclined to reopen trade with neutral countries unless they can be assured of delivery of their shipments.

The statement gives the history of the detention of consignments for Scandinavian countries, shipped before the British order in council was issued in some instances and in others before it was known to the packers.

"As reported to the packers by their representative in England, Alfred R. Upton," says the statement, "the latest terms for the release of the cargoes as laid down by Great Britain are held to be so onerous as to be unacceptable. Attorney Upton went to England and arrived there the latter part of January in response to a request made by Sir Edward Grey through the English embassy at Washington, to discuss the seizure of shipments with a view to arriving at some conclusion in the matter. From that time to the present the packers were assured by their representative in England the situation would be amenable to adjustment, practically all differences having been agreed on, when the new set of unreasonable terms were suggested by the authorities and immediately rejected by the packers.

In brief these latest terms are:

"That the packers guarantee Great Britain against claims arising out of the destruction of ships.

"That the packers guarantee Great Britain against claims of buyers who bought and paid for large quantities of products seized.

"The packers assert that this latest move by Great Britain is only another step to delay the settlement of the problem, and that there appears to be absent the sincere desire to settle the controversy."

In their conference with Counselor Anderson the packers were insistent that the American Government should take firm action, and their statement says of this phase of the subject:

"The packers assert that the attitude of Great Britain seems incredible in view of the many adjustments they have made to meet the English government in its demands. They take the position of being entitled to full compensation for their goods."

The packers call attention to a statement made by Premier Asquith in the House of Commons March 1 last, "that vessels with cargoes which have sailed before the date of this notification (order in council) will not be affected."

Become Grandparents Twice Within an Hour.

SAN ANGELO, Tex., July 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Pat Conway, residents of San Angelo, bear the unique distinction of having become grandparents twice within an hour. Mrs. Clyde Cambriek and Mrs. A. J. Bartlett, daughters of the couple, gave birth to babies Monday within less than an hour of each other. These are Mr. and Mrs. Conway's first grandchildren and the couple have begun to think that their troubles come fast.

DENVER ON A SUNDAY MORNING IN DECEMBER

KERR COUNTY DISTRICT COURT

Second Week Practically Taken up With Trial of Jack Satterwhite Case

The Jack Satterwhite case, which had previously been set for trial on Monday of this week, has taken up practically all of the week. The case was taken up Monday and the first two days of the week were spent in arguing a motion for change of venue, which was overruled by Judge Burney, and the selection of a jury. The trial of the case was then taken up on Wednesday morning. The evidence was all in and the argument of counsel began Friday morning. The case probably went to the jury last night or this morning early. The jury in this case is composed of the following gentlemen: R. S. Barrington, D. M. Painter, Albert Rees, Chas. J. Johnston, Tom James, J. F. Miltanek, J. B. Hyde, Otto Parkratz, Wm. Reep, Edward Boerner, M. J. Below, Louis Steller.

This case was tried in the district court at the January term this year and a verdict of guilty and punishment of twenty-five years in the penitentiary, assessed. The case was appealed, and reversed and remanded by the court of criminal appeals.

The Kouzts case, brought here on a change of venue from Kimble county, which had been set down for hearing Wednesday, was postponed to next Monday. There are more than 125 witnesses in this case, many of whom stayed over to next week in preference to making the overland trip to their homes and having to return for the trial.

There are several other important cases on the docket that may not be reached this term of court. The case of H. H. Baker, charged with the murder of Dudley Laurie in this city last March, and the Freeman case, brought here on a change of venue from Bandera county, are still on the docket, as are several more or less important civil suits.

The civil suit of Welborn vs. Welborn, which was with the jury as we went to press last week, resulted in a verdict for which was in the nature of a compromise, favorable to plaintiff.

The damage suit of Baldwin vs. Council, involving the damage of certain land belonging to Baldwin on account of the raising of Council's mill dam on the Guadalupe, was tried by jury, and resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff. Damages were assessed at $60, together with rest of one and a half acres of land amounting to $7.50. The dam was ordered lowered to its former height.

The grand jury adjourned after four days' labor, having found four indictments, three of which were for felonies and one for misdemeanor.

Family Despoiled by Carrancistas.

LAREDO, Tex., July 14.—Seventeen members of the Ogden family, in an impoverished and pitiful condition, arrived in Nuevo Laredo today from Villa Guerrero, sixty miles inland from Tampico, having been driven out of Mexico by Carrancistas after they had been dispossessed of everything they owned, including about 300 head of dairy cattle, number of horses and mules, about $50,000 in cash and also having their dairy farm confiscated. In impenetrable conditions and showing effects of hardships and vicissitudes through which they passed, the elder Ogden applied to United States Consul Garrett for assistance in reaching their former home in North Texas.

Consul Garrett immediately communicated with the State Department and was instructed by Secretary of State Lansing to render American refugees every assistance possible and also provide them with transportation to their homes at Marlin, Texas.

The Ogden family moved to Villa Guerrero in 1904, established a large dairy, prospered and became wealthy, but now have nothing, since their possessions and money have been taken by Carrancistas.

Members of the party aver many other Americans and foreigners are submitted to similar indignities, as they are having their property confiscated and then forced to leave the country. They state that Villiers and Carrancistas alike are committing depredations and barbarities in the section around Torreon, and there is much suffering, in consequence. The family will be furnished transportation tomorrow by Consul Garrett and leave for Marlin.

Battle in Star County.

PALESTINAS, Tex., July 15.—Unconfirmed rumors reaching here by courier today are to the effect that a desperate battle between officers and bandits occurred near Cuevitas, Starr County, sixty miles southwest of here, late yesterday afternoon.

Troops Display Fine Bravery in Face of Enemies.

LONDON, July 15.—The official British press representative with the allied forces in the Dardanelles in a dispatch dated July 7 and reaching London by way of Alexandria, Egypt July 14, says:

"A successful allied advance on the left wing, June 28, alarmed the enemy seriously, causing him to select up heavy reinforcements, including raw troops and has been launching vigorous counter attacks ever since in a vain effort to recover his lost ground."

"Enver Pasha, the Turkish minister of War, hurried down from Constantinople to stimulate his troops, a great banner being hoisted on Achi Baba to signalize his arrival. There had been some dissensions among the Turkish leaders, especially regarding the advisability of counter attacks, but Enver Pasha insisted upon general attacks, which were undertaken repeatedly with great bravery and tremendous losses, masses of Turkish troops fading away before the allies' artillery."

"Meanwhile the Turkish Asiatic batteries were active, causing some annoyance at our landing places, but there were few casualties, since all troops were too well entrenched to be harried except by direct hits."

"The allied men all pay tribute to the extreme gallantry and indifference to death shown by the Turkish infantry, but their methods of attack are crude and wasteful. They are lacking in knowledge of how to carry out an assault scientifically."

"The Turks generally mass for an attack behind some natural barrier, generally on a hillside, and in the event of their massing before the attack is launched, whereupon knowing all the ranges to a foot, we break up the mass with a torrent of shell."

"The Turks recently have been adding extensively to the defensive possibilities of their position in an effort to prevent any further advance by our troops and the Turkish soldiers have been given special orders prohibiting their retirement under any circumstances. Their officers have been directed to shoot soldiers who attempt to retire."

Service Badges Proposed.

PARIS, June 15.—A distinctive sign-ribbon or arm badge, is demanded for soldiers who have accomplished their duty, been incapacitated by wounds or other disability, and returned to civil life. In many cases their disability is not apparent and in civilian attire they are subjected to disgraceful incidents.

Some propose for these victims of false appearances a "1915 medal," not a "war cross," reserved for exceptional exploits, but a simple distinctive mark that will make known to every one that they have done their duty. The proposition has been complicated by a demand that it be given to every man that was mobilized, while the originators of the idea want it to be reserved for those returning from service "at the front."

CATHOLIC CHURCH NOTES
 BY FATHER KEMPER

High mass will be sung tomorrow at 7:00 a. m. sharp, and this will be the only service for the day on account of Father Kemper's semi-monthly engagement at Comfort.

Mrs. R. Theobald, an experienced choir directress of Port Arthur, is the organizer and leader of the recently formed choral society which will have charge of the church music until the reopening of school. Mrs. Theobald sings one of her beautiful solos at the Offertory. Everyone is cordially invited to all of our functions.

Last Sunday the Mexican Ladies' Aid Society held their bi-weekly meeting. The Catholic Ladies Sewing Circle met at the Rectory Wednesday evening to sew school dresses for destitute Mexican children. The funeral of Ezekiel Oroscio took place on Wednesday, from St. Mary's church. A large crowd of mourners attended the Spanish Gospel sermon, and followed the corpse to the Fredericksburg road cemetery. The beloved wife of Mr. Joseph Foxt, a well-known painter, died on Wednesday morning. Her remains were sent to Houston.

Last Friday Father Kemper was summoned to Boerne to administer the rites of the church—to a dying Mexican nun, and also to Mrs. Buttner, formerly the manager of Kendall Inn. Both of these invalids met their God on Sunday.

The Ice Cream Festival held in St. Mary's Park last Saturday for the benefit of the new Mexican School, "Our Lady of Guadalupe," was an unparalleled success. About $31.00 profit was declared from the sale of cakes, candies, punch, and ice cream. To all that partook in this charitable social we extend our sincerest thanks.

Prof. A. R. Thomas was a guest at luncheon in the priest house on Wednesday.

Mrs. Ernest Hendricks paid a short visit on Sunday to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Bolwer.

Mr. Amos Jasmin of New Braunfels has secured a position at Bernhard's garage. Mrs. Elmer Ruff is hostess to her sister, Mrs. Chas. Toepferwein and family of San Antonio.

Mrs. Ambrose Torres is entertaining her nephews, Michael and Alphonse Pecho of the Alamo City. The former received the gold medal for excellence at San Fernando College last commencement.

Restored to Good Health.

"I was sick for four years with stomach trouble," writes Mrs. Otta Gans, Zanesville, Ohio. "I lost weight and felt so weak that I almost gave up hope of being cured. A friend told me about Chamberlain's Tablets and since using two bottles of them I have been a well woman." Obtainable everywhere.

The Encampment.

There has been some uncertainty about the attendance at the Encampment this year on account of the disturbed condition of business and the attractions of the fair in California. Like most of our bad dreams this is turning out to be a mistake. At the very opening of the grounds on the tenth of June we found our visitors waiting. Each week has seen a steady increase and the attendance has kept ahead of the record set last year.

Last Saturday there were over a hundred in camp and information as to reservations shows that as many more will arrive this. Many of our friends are coming by automobile this year. Our visitors spread the news that this is the paradise of the automobile camper and that the ideal summer trip is to come to the Camp and make side trips and fishing trips by car.

This week a party of thirty came up in automobiles from Bryan and surrounding country; another party came from Bay City.

Next week a large party will come through from Lancaster and Dallas.

The program will begin on Thursday night, the 22nd, with a sermon by Dr. James I. Vance of Nashville, Tenn.

Dr. Vance is regarded as one of the most eloquent and inspiring preachers of the whole South and is especially attractive to live young men. His books, such as "The Young Man Four-square," touch the highest mark of clean, practical manly ideals.

From the opening night the program is a succession of practical studies and addresses combined with clean and stimulating entertainment. Every one in Kerrville and surrounding country are cordially invited to come and enjoy these sessions; we will be disappointed if you do not come.

W. P. DICKEY, President.

Spends Vacation in Hill Country.

J. S. Peter, general manager of the San Antonio & Aransas Pass Railroad is spending a two weeks' vacation in the Hill Country, with Kerrville as headquarters and main base of operations. His private car stands in the yards where he is, at home while in the city. He also has his automobile here and makes trips into the country from time to time. Mr. Peter is an enthusiastic automobilist, and is very much pleased with the fine roads about Kerrville and the beautiful scenery along the Guadalupe. Speaking of this section of the country, Mr. Peter said:

"This mountain section has long been one of my hobbies. While there is much beautiful country, and many miles of fine farming land along our lines, still there is a charm about the Hill Country that especially appeals to me. There is nothing like it elsewhere in Texas. I do not think people from other parts of this state, and adjoining states, realize what a wonderfully beautiful playground this is. Many people have found their way here on motoring trips, and as time passes pleasure-seekers will gradually increase each summer until we will see a veritable army of tourists motoring about the lovely valleys and camping along the river."

Mr. Peter expects to spend another week here at least, and during that time has planned several country trips of considerable length. Thursday he made the tour of Medina and Bandera, returning to Kerrville by way of the famed Bandera Pass Thursday evening.

Baptist Church.

This pastor was very glad to have Rev. J. W. Newbrough, of Mexico, preach for him at 11 o'clock last Sunday. His message was sad but very informing about the Master's work out there. He has been preaching for the Mexican church here for more than a week, and last Sunday afternoon he buried with Christ in baptism seven Mexicans, in the beautiful Guadalupe, above the city.

You are cordially invited to attend any or all of the following services at the Baptist church next Sunday, Sunday school at 9:45 a. m., 11 o'clock, then the "Sanheams" will meet at 4 p. m.; the B. Y. P. U. at 7:15; then evangelistic services at 8:15. If you don't come it will not be my fault.
J. B. RIDDLE, Pastor.

Says Kimble is Prosperous.

Nat Sandherr, a well known ranchman of the Junction country, in Kimble county was among those attending district court in Kerrville this week. Speaking of conditions in his section Mr. Sandherr said:

"Our country was never in finer shape. A splendid crop of small grain was harvested, corn will make a very fair crop, and the range is fine. Stock of all kinds are doing well, and on the whole the most satisfactory condition exists with us that we have known in many years."

Presbyterian Church Notice.

The Presbyterian church has enjoyed an active and fruitful work this spring and summer.

A constant progress in attendance and growth of all its work has been most gratifying to the membership.

The Sunday school, superintended by Mr. Alby Beltel, has grown in membership and attendance to the highest mark in many years.

The presence of many visitors from the "Camp" has been a great pleasure and encouragement. On account of the Encampment program the regular services, except the Sunday school, will be discontinued after next Sunday until August 22.

Next Sunday, the 18th, we will have the Sunday school at 10 a. m. and preaching at 11 a. m.

Instead of the evening service at the church the congregation is invited to meet with the visitors at the Camp ground.

Special music has been prepared by the Campers and Rev. W. P. Dickey will preach. This will make a pleasant change and it will offer a good opportunity to those who have conveyances to take friends out for an enjoyable evening.

town of Las Vacas, Mexico, across the river from here, was the scene of another battle today, and for the sixth time in less than four years the little town changed rulers.

About noon a party of over two hundred Carrancista troops attacked the place, which was garrisoned by a small force of Villa's men. The battle lasted over two hours, and finally the Villistas scattered, ten of them crossing the river and being taken in charge by the United States troops which had been hastily summoned to the river when the fighting began. Three of them brought their horses, and these were taken over by the customs officers.

It is reported twenty-one of the Villistas were killed. Five Carrancistas were killed and a number wounded.

Mrs. R. S. Newman left Monday for Corpus Christi, where she had been called on account of the illness of her son, Harris, who is visiting his aunt, Mrs. R. A. Cochran. We are glad to state the young man's illness was not serious.

The Kerrville Summer Normal

The Summer Normal of 1915 is the ninth in annual succession. Far and near those engaged in the profession of teaching have become interested in this summer gathering of teachers.

The attendance has never been large in proportion to that of normals in the more populous sections of the State; but they have always been characterized by three things: the unflinching loyalty of the people of Kerrville, the zeal and consecration of the faculty, and the interest of those gathered for study.

The work has stood the test of the examining board quite well, a large proportion of the teachers gaining their certificates. The conditions are peculiarly conducive to mental effort—a pleasant, responsive people to mingle with on the street, in the home, at church; an exceptionally well arranged and well ventilated school building, ample in capacity, pleasant in situation and sufficient in equipment.

The location of Kerrville is ideal. This picturesque valley of the foothills of the Guadalupe mountains following the windings of the lovely river of the same name, where, as Judge Wallace says, "the vision clears and thinking is easy," with the broken landscapes in their color schemes so refreshing to the eye of the blacklands of north Texas, to the redlands of east Texas, to the prairie lands of central Texas, to the marsh lands of South Texas, and to the sand dunes of the Kress west. There, indeed, is the purest ozone, the spirited zephyrs of broad stretches, the altitude hanging midway between high and low—what, indeed, could nature do more to recuperate the tired bodies and refresh the flagging spirits of the long-tolling teacher who must, perforce, labor far into the summer to make necessary preparation for the coming year?

This gathering of 1915 presents some interesting features. There have gathered about fifty teachers of various ages, degrees of preparedness and years of experience. They are distributed as follows: fourteen from Kerrville, six from Junction, four from Vance in Real county, three from Fredericksburg, three from Medina, two from Ingram, two from San Antonio, two from Utopia, and a scattering representation from fourteen other postoffices, including Port Arthur, Laredo and Oklohoma. From this we see what an active, state-wide campaign of advertisement will mean for the Kerrville normal of 1915.

Questions submitted to the students show all but three to be members of some church; nearly two thirds to be high school graduates; nearly 90 per cent to be democrats in political belief; nearly 90 per cent to be in favor of prohibition; nearly two to one to be in favor of woman suffrage; 100 per cent to be opposed to war; and a large proportion who know little or nothing of the initiative, referendum or recall, or of the commission form of government. But it has been demonstrated that almost all know how to work and their work well in hand.

It is further interesting to note that about 12 1/2 per cent are candidates for the permanent certificate; probably the largest percentage of any normal in the State.

It may be assumed that this normal has become a permanent institution of Kerrville. Hence it may be well for those concerned in educational matters to have their attention called to certain features. The prestige of such a gathering means much to a community. Association with them is uplifting and refining. Their presence and assistance in church work is of considerable value to the local churches. Their stay means an average of more than $10 per individual spent in Kerrville, aggregating from $2,000 to $3,000 for the summer.

With regard to the normal of the future some suggestions may be in order. The faculty should be secured as early as possible. An energetic system of advertisement should be begun at an early date, under direction of the conductor and the local committee. There should in the public statements be a strong endeavor to correct the false impression, more or less prevalent, that Kerrville is the resort of tubercular victims. The peculiar local advantages for a normal should be stressed. Twenty-five or more counties constitute the natural territory of this normal; but, owing to the ideal advantages of this point, its real territory becomes statewide. Many teachers are attracted elsewhere because of the knowledge that they have gained through advertising matter that has come to them. These would just as readily come to Kerrville if they only knew.

The compulsory law will soon go into operation. This will place more children in the schools and will necessitate the employment of more teachers. These will secure their certificates in normals somewhere. Why should not Kerrville reap some of the advantage?

Some systematic method of handling the boarding question is necessary. This explains to some extent the success of the normals located in school centers where the boarding problem has been solved, at minimum rates. It may develop that in this particular place the engagement grounds will furnish the solution. A man and his wife can be found to take charge of the dining hall and also furnish transportation for a reasonable compensation. There should also be some homes opened to those who are not inclined to camp life.

These three things, demand prompt consideration: the early selection of a faculty; vigorous, far-reaching advertising campaign; and an arrangement for cheap boarding with satisfactory surroundings.

A long pull a strong pull.

pull all together, and the Kerrville normal will assume its proper place as the forerunner of the sixty normals of the State. But it is not a charity institution. It like the other concrete concerns, needs the best field and the greatest aid.

Roumania Warned by Berlin Paper.

LONDON, July 12.—A Berlin dispatch received by Reuter's via Amsterdam gives the substance of what is described as a thinly veiled threat at Roumania contained in an article in the semi-official Frankfurter Zeitung which, under the heading "Roumania's Hour of Fate," charges that country with holding up war material en route from Germany to Turkey.

The Frankfurter Zeitung claims that under her treaties with the central powers Roumania is bound to adopt a friendly attitude toward them and says, according to the dispatch:

"As Roumania has no present need to fear Russia and does not act upon the American theory which is accepted by the entente powers regarding the export of war material, Roumania's maintenance of prohibition upon transit is dictated by considerations of her own interest, well or ill comprehended. She therefore desires to weaken Turkey and support attacks on the Dardanelles."

The Frankfurter Zeitung concludes: "Germany and Austria-Hungary are now free to decide whether they will or will not consider themselves bound by their agreement with Roumania. Their interests in the further independence of Roumania continue to exist but we can conceive a case arising perhaps in the coming peace negotiations when this interest in support of which no obligation any longer exists, must take rank behind more important interests of the central powers themselves."

Rumors of Plan to Lynch Frank Start in Georgia.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 12.—Reports current here late today, that an attack would be made tonight on the State prison farm at Milledgeville, where Leo M. Frank is serving a life sentence, for the purpose of lynching Frank, caused prompt action by the militia and civil authorities. Adjutant General Nash communicated with Major Wheeler at Macon, Ga., notifying him to have the three militia companies there ready to respond to an emergency call, and police guards were placed on the roads to Milledgeville from Marietta and Atlanta, over which it was said the crowd would travel by automobile.

All was quiet late tonight, both here and at Marietta, the home of Mary Phagan, and there were no reports of any undue traffic on the highways to the State prison. The guards on the roads were continued throughout the night, however, it being explained that, while the reports were probably groundless, every effort would be made to prevent any attempt at violence.

NNN A FALLEN IDOL

Among the powers and principalities of the world the United States of America stands unique. A piece of national statuary, standing upon its own pedestal, carved by the hand of human evolution, patterned after all its predecessors among the great nations of the earth, yet resembling none to such a degree as to warrant the claiming of godfatherhood.

A republic whose fundamental principles of government are based upon a denial of the divine right of kings to rule. Sufficiently democratic to have attained that degree of emancipation from the traditions of old-world government, sufficiently enlightened to disbelieve and repudiate the mythological ideas of signs and omens, and yet not so far advanced in the ethics of human philosophy as to have outlived the raising of popular idols, and falling into a species of hero worship little removed from the ridiculous fables of the Homeric age.

The people of this country would ridicule the statement that certain stars were in the ascendancy on the 19th day of March, 1860. They would laugh in an indulgent and pitying manner at any who should say on that date an oracle had whispered in the forests of the North, or had spoken in sepulchral tones from some cave in the mountains of the West, the words "Beware, when a thinker is born," or that some old crone had prophesied at that time, that on that particular day a man child had been born who would sway the destinies of the nation. And yet, in spite of this refusal of the American people to believe in signs, wonders, and "bogey men," a large contingent of the people of this country have had their minds running along these very lines for the last sixteen or more years. They are not the proselytes of any fanatical preaching, but merely an element of people who have never undertaken the task of analyzing a human atom and its effect upon the affairs of the world in general, and of the nation in which that atom chances to claim citizenship, in particular.

On the date above mentioned there was born a man child to a family of the name of Bryan, in the little village of Salem, Ill., and for reasons of their own the parents of the child christened him William Jennings. No oracle made any statement at that time so far as any one has been advised. In fact it is questionable if any one knew of the event except the immediate family, the doctor, and a few of the neighbor women.

Time passed on and the boy grew and waxed strong. We are told that after passing the gauntlet of measles, mumps and whooping cough, to say nothing of lues, thrash and the lesser ills of childhood, he graduated from the local high school, afterward entered college from which he graduated in a very human manner. Having graduated from a law school, and been admitted to the bar, he practiced law at Jacksonville, Ill., four years. It is probable that during that time he came to believe in the divine inspiration of holy writ, at least to the point of sanctioning the statement that "A prophet is not without honor, save in his own country." At any rate the young man decided at that time to "go west," and the decision resulted in his leaving in the practice of his profession at Lincoln, Neb. Up to this time there had appeared no insipient halo around the young man's head. In 1890, by a peculiar turn in the vagaries of politics in a western state that was at that time sparsely settled, W. J. Bryan was elected a member of congress. There was no violent list to starboard of the ship of state when he stepped aboard, and not until he made his famous reference to a "crown of thorns and a cross of gold," a burst of oratory that was probably superinduced by the extreme heat and stress of circumstances, did he attract more than passing notice as a man of affairs.

Two campaigns for the presidency made W. J. Bryan one of the most noted men in America. The worst enemy he ever had must admit that no man of ordinary attainments could have succeeded in securing the nomination for the highest office in the land twice from the same great political party, when his campaigns had been colossal failures. Many of the people who supported him for the office at the general elections were actuated by the brass collar rule, it is true, but thousands were for Bryan first last and all the time because of his personality. No man of intelligence will attempt to gainsay Mr. Bryan's wonderful oratorical powers, but the trouble has been all along that those powers of expression were the chief, and practically exclusive talent of this great American. No man in the history of America possessing but one fully developed talent, has held such sway in the hearts of his people and retained such loyalty from so large an element of them for so long a period as has William Jennings Bryan. The pedestal to which a popular idol is raised determines the length of the fall that must sooner or later occur. In the case of Mr. Bryan that event has transpired, and it is safe to say that a very large percentage of those who have worshiped at his shrine for almost twenty years have become estranged from him in the last month. The falling away will increase as time passes, until by the time the presidential campaign opens next year he will not be recognized as a potential factor in the political affairs of his country. Various causes for Mr. Bryan's recent actions have been given by the press and the people of this country, but to be on the safe side, and to avoid quibbling with any, one may as well use the scriptural statement made in regard to man, "God has set his bounds, which he cannot pass."

As there is a limit to human endurance, so is there a limit to the achievement of every man in his chosen field, and because of the fact that he had reached that limit, Mr. Bryan has made the colossal mistakes of the past few weeks.

As a man and a citizen of the country the great Commoner had an unquestionable right to resign the office of secretary of state at any time he chose. On the other hand, he had no right to attempt to continue in the position after he had resigned, and whatever legal right he may have, he has no moral right at this critical period to criticize the actions of the administration in its efforts to successfully avoid serious international complications.

Were the government of any other nation confronted with a like situation and similar behavior on the part of a retired cabinet officer, that officer would ere this time have found himself behind the bars on a charge of misprision of treason, or other grave kindred charge.

A popular idol has fallen, and there can be no change of conditions in this country that will reinstate Mr. Bryan in the esteem of the people. His race has been run. Fair-minded men will give him credit for the good things he has done, but the world will speedily forget him.

The people will not profit by this evidence that there is no such thing as infallibility among men, and will promptly raise another idol, only to be case down again, at some future date.

Many years have elapsed since all conditions were so favorable to the prosperity of the people of Kerr county as at present. An unusually fine grain crop was harvested in this county this year. The soil is doing well, and with early fall

Unprecedented floods in China Cause Loss of Lives.
WASHINGTON, July 12.—Loss of many lives, as the result of unprecedented floods in the provinces of Kwangtung and Kwangsi, China, was announced today in a dispatch to the state department from Consul General Cheslire at Canton.

For a bo that gets pinched for loafing on the same corner too long Mr. Bill Haerta made a rather liberal donation to the cigarette and candy from the operation of the laws. Chief Game Warden Robert Goodfellow, who is in charge of the Game, Fish and Oyster Department during the absence of Commissioner Woods, is notifying the County Attorneys that there is not a county in Texas exempted from the operation of the game and fish laws and instructions are being given that all cases of violations of the laws be prosecuted.

Most of the inquiries are in regard to the fish laws. Warden Goodfellow calls attention to article 923 of the General Laws of the Thirty-third legislature which is as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to take or catch any fish in public fresh water rivers, creeks, lakes, bays, pools, lagoons or tanks of this State by any other means than by the ordinary hook and line or trout line, or set or drag net or seine, the meshes of any part of which are less than four inches square, or by a minnow seine of no more than twenty feet in length, and it shall be unlawful for any person to place in the public fresh water rivers, creeks, lakes, bays, pools, lagoons or tanks of this State any net or other device or trap for taking or taking fish other than that of drag net or seine, the meshes of which are less than four inches square. Any person violating any provision of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction, shall be fined any sum not less than $25 or more than $200. All fresh water streams or bays emptying into the tidal waters of this State are for the purpose of this act, hereby declared fresh water streams to their mouths."

The car was overturned, catching the driver underneath and crushing him horribly about the head and shoulders.

Mr. Lumpkin secured the services of a passing vehicle and brought the injured companion to town. At this time it is not known whether Mr. Elam sustained internal injuries, but it is hoped that a little more time will develop the fact that his injuries are confined to the serious hurt of his head and shoulders.

Views on German Note Made Ready For President.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.—While there was no outward development today to indicate progress toward framing an answer to the late German note to submarine warfare it is known officials are at work setting down views on the situation in definite form for presentation to President Wilson on his return. The general belief is that the President will be here for a regular Cabinet meeting next Tuesday. Decision on the policy to be followed probably will be reached at the Cabinet meeting and the new note may be completed by the end of next week.

Before the President returns, Count Bernstorff, German Ambassador, will call on Secretary Lansing to explain at length the viewpoint of his government. The Ambassador recommended to his Foreign Office the inclusion in the last note of those paragraphs expressing the hope that the United States and Germany would work together for the adoption of the principle of freedom of the seas. He places much significance on the expressed willingness of Germany to follow the lead of the United States on this question.

Secretary Lansing has not set a date for the conference with Count Bernstorff. Mr. Lansing explained today that he had not yet completed his examination of the German note and is not ready to discuss it with the Ambassador.

INBREEDING IN EDUCATION

"In round numbers," says a special writer for the San Antonio Express, in a recent issue of that paper, "2,500 students obtain instruction yearly within the walls of the University of Texas. Above 1,000 students go out into the state yearly, a portion with a full university course to their credit, the remainder having done one, two, or three years work in the institution.

"This leaven of advanced education being mixed and absorbed by the state each year makes incalculably for progress. There is danger of inbreeding in education, just as there is danger of inbreeding in people or in cattle.

"Suppose, for a moment, a state without higher institutions of learning to carry on the work begun in the common schools. Is it not clear that education would thus be reduced to narrow limits? The high school graduate becomes a teacher in the lower grades, and is eventually promoted to the higher grades and on to the high school. The high school then becomes officered and taught by its own graduates who have received no further training. There is no introduction of new thought, no widening of the horizon of knowledge or of methods, no new inspiration, or new ideals, and the machine's original impetus is overcome gradually by natural friction until the thing barely moves at all. It dies down like an unaided pendulum. You have inbreeding in education with all the deformities and weaknesses incident to inbreeding in the animal world.

"The higher educational institution of a state," continues this writer, "are the natural intermediaries between the common schools and the vast world of ideas and inspiration developed by the best thought and the highest paid talent in all the great educational institutions of Christendom. For example, a new and improved method of teaching modern languages is developed in some foreign country. It is the business of the higher educational institutions of a state to secure an exponent of this method direct from Germany for its faculty. This teacher teaches his students in the new method, they, in turn, go out as teachers in the state spreading the new method, and pretty soon it has permeated the whole educational system of the state. This is merely an example. It may not be a new method, but a new and original thought, or a new store of knowledge that is communicated in the same way. The point is that the higher educational institution maintains touch with the world of ideas and transmits new and advanced methods and fresh knowledge throughout all of its dependent institutions. It is as important to the vast school system of the state as the switchboard is to the telephone exchange. It is 'central' for the communication of new ideas, new methods, fresh knowledge, vaster inspiration."

Baltic Carries Protectors.
 NEW YORK, July 15.—As a protection against gunfire from submarines a shelter of sand-filled bags was piled along the decks of the White Star liner Baltic that sailed today for Liverpool with 314 passengers and a full cargo, part of which consisted of ammunition and war supplies. Special agents stopped and opened every bit of baggage taken aboard.

In addition to ammunition twenty or more aeroplanes were taken aboard.

When the steamer weighed anchor she was loaded down to thirty-four feet, the deepest draught the line allows.

Pension Payments Further Reduced.

AUSTIN, Tex., July 14.—Confederate pensions for the quarter ending August 31, 1915, will amount to only $30 for indigent soldiers, sailors and their widows. This is $3 less than the last quarter and was made necessary because of the slow collection of taxes to be deposited in the State treasury to the account of the pension fund.

State Pension Commissioner Jones has advised the Comptroller's Department that pension allowances for the quarter will be $10 for indigent pensioners and $25 for totally disabled Confederate soldiers. This latter amount is fixed by law, while the pension amount to others is dependent upon the amount of tax collections.

The Comptroller's Department will at once proceed to the issuance of proper forms which will be sent out. Pensioners will also suffer slightly from the possibility of the treasury going on a deficiency basis. Should this be true before warrants can be returned pensioners must discount their warrants, which will make the pension allowance drop below $10.

Upon the issuance of the warrants for the last quarter amounting to $13 hundreds of pensioners wrote into the Comptroller's Department asking reasons for the low amount. Inasmuch as the department has nothing to do with the fixing of the amount, and since this is done solely and exclusively by the Pension Commissioner, Comptroller Terrell has announced that no letters relating to pensions will be answered hereafter. It was necessary on the former occasion to issue a form letter.

market for his labor on the farms. The opening of Federal lands or non-occupied lands today after having been informed that the lower house of Congress had passed the bill, Mayor Henry lost made this announcement. The bill would not pass the lower house until the large number of appropriation provisions until the department in Washington. This would assist the large number of farm workers who have left the country districts in unemployment. The bill is also under consideration in the city committee. The Mayor's announcement followed his orders to the city committee today that no departmental requisition be forwarded unless the money has been appropriated by the Council and is in the treasury. It will be necessary for a number of the city departments to close within a few weeks. A quarrel between two factions is the cause of the controversy.

Great Promise

"THE MASTER BUILDERS"

This country has recently gone through one of the severest seasons of business depression in modern times. The blow has been felt by almost every business in the country. We are assured at this time that the storm has spent its force, and that a brighter business outlook is dawning throughout the nation. This is very gratifying to all interests. In this particular section of the country there is great promise that local conditions will be better within a few months than they have been in many years. Stock of all kinds are in a flourishing condition. The product of the ranches and farms is a good price, and such an outlook for a large yield of farm produce of every kind has not been known in the Hill Country in recent years. Therefore, there is great promise of good business in every line. There is promise that the farmers and ranchmen of this section will be prosperous, and on their prosperity rests the general prosperity of the country when all is said. With the dawning of better times building will begin, as building and improvement is always the barometer of business. We wish to call your attention to the fact that "The Old House" is still in the lumber business, and is awaiting your orders for anything you may require in that line. No matter how large or how small the quantity, we will give it prompt attention. The door is always open and you are welcome.

Plan to do Honor to Bard of Avon

AUSTIN, Tex., July 12.—At a recent meeting of the faculty of the University of Texas a committee was appointed with power to outline plans for a celebration next spring of the three hundredth anniversary of Shakespeare's death. Dr. R. H. Griffith of the English department was made chairman of the committee. E. W. Fay, E. C. Barker, Stark Young and J. A. Lomas, being the other members.

The committee has held its first meeting and a tentative outline of plans adopted. They include a three days' celebration, the program illuminated by several of the greatest names in Shakespearean lore. Two addresses by world-acknowledged authorities are scheduled, two open air renditions of Shakespearean plays, a possible pageant upon Lake Austin, together with a number of scholarly papers upon topics touching the great bard's life and work. A Shakespearean exhibit is also a part of the plan, containing photographs, rare editions, prints, etc.

It is thought also that the program will be materially strengthened by co-operation with the Women's Clubs of Texas and a number on the program dealing with Shakespearean women by Texas women of talent.

It is planned also to issue a memorial volume of the event containing the two main addresses, the more valuable papers and essays, together with a running description of the event.

Dr. Griffith hopes also that such enthusiasm will be engendered that in some way means will be found to purchase for the University library copy of one of the quarto editions of Shakespeare's works. These editions are now very rare, and are becoming more valuable as the years go on.

The idea of this tricentennial celebration of Shakespeare's death originated with Dr. R. H. Griffith, and he constitutes the steering committee for the project. The plan so far is merely tentative, and will doubtless be elaborated. But even in its present form it contemplates one of the largest purely literary celebrations ever held in America. England in normal times could be counted upon to do something handsome in the matter, but in the present state of affairs it is unlikely that any assistance can be counted upon from across the waters.

The leading Shakespeare authority however, in all the great nations will be asked to contribute an essay that may be read during the celebration.

Japanese Upset Shipping Trade.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—Serious confusion in the entire shipping trade of the Far East was reported today by Consul General Anderson at Hong Kong to have resulted from the order of the Japanese government, reserving for Japanese shippers all space on ships operated by the Japanese subsidized trans-Pacific lines. Under this order, the consul general said, all space in the Japanese ships heretofore allotted to shippers at Hong Kong, Shanghai and Kanton, Formosa, having merchandise for the United States, now is withheld.

"While there are stories of all sorts of ulterior motives on the part of the interests concerned," said the report, "there is, in fact, no reason to ascribe any other motive than given. It is of extreme importance to Japan that Japanese products pass more freely and promptly to the United States."

Call Phillips to School of Mines.

AUSTIN, Tex., July 12.—Dr. William B. Phillips has resigned as director of the bureau of economic geology and technology of the University of Texas to accept the presidency of the Colorado School of Mines at Golden, near Denver. The resignation is effective September 1. The successor of Dr. Phillips has not yet been announced.

Dr. Phillips first became connected with the University of Texas in 1905 and remained one year. Following a prospecting tour in Brewster County, Texas, he became identified with steel and iron interests at Birmingham, Ala., remaining there until 1909, when he returned to the Texas University, and since that time has continued as director of the bureau of economic geology.

He is recognized as an expert in his profession, and he has written a number of books and issued many ### bulletins on geology. He was born in North Carolina fifty-eight years ago and was educated at the North Carolina University. After his graduation from that institution he took a course in the Freiberg School of Mines at Freiberg, Saxony.

The Colorado School of Mines is regarded as the leading institution of its kind in this country, and has been in existence more than forty years.

Large Attendance at Panama-California Exposition.

SAN DIEGO, July 12.—June goes down in record as contributing the third largest monthly attendance at the San Diego Exposition since its opening in January while July, even at this early date gives promise of breaking all records.

During June the attendance reached the total of 166,135, a daily average 5,537. This figure was reached without any special events or celebrations of importance, plainly indicating that the San Diego Exposition is drawing heavy patronage by reason of its beauty and the extent of its exhibits. The only special event which swelled the crowd was the concert which Mme. Schumann-Heink gave when she sang to 20,000 people.

The attendance at the exposition since its opening is now close to the million mark and when this figure is reached there will be a general celebration in which all of San Diego and its contiguous territory will engage. The occasion will be known as "Million Attendance Day."

July undoubtedly will contribute large crowds each day. The eastern travel is well on its way and trains are arriving daily with large crowds. The three-day celebration of July 4 just concluded poured thousands through the Exposition gates and in the absence of official figures the attendance for the three days is estimated by the Exposition directors to have been more than 75,000.

A number of large delegations coming to San Diego for conventions during July will boost the Exposition attendance. Chief of these will be the Loyal Order of Moose convention ### which is expected to be attended by 40,000 visitors.

Farmers Run Down Alleged Crooks.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Fifteen mounted and armed farmers caught two alleged blackmailers today after a running fight of a mile, in which the fleeing men were shot and dangerously wounded. Each was shot through the shoulders with rifle balls and their backs were filled with buckshot. They were taken to the Chicago Heights Hospital, where they gave their names as William Anker, a horse dealer in South Holland, and Henry Melankow, a bartender in Thornton.

Four days ago, Louis Myers, a wealthy farmer, near Matteson, received a letter demanding that he place $500 in a certain stump, death to himself and wife being the penalty for failure to comply. Myers notified the officers.

Shortly after dark, Monday night, fifteen farmers rode to the place indicated in the threatening letters, concealed their horses in the brush and surrounded the stump. Just before daylight this morning a buckboard containing two men stopped at the roadside near the stump. The men left the vehicle and the farmers made a rush for them. The men fled to the buckboard and drove away at full speed. The posse then gave chase.

Embargo on Cotton May be Tightened.

LONDON, July 12.—Sir Henry Dalziel and Mr. de F. Pennyfather have again brought the cotton discussion to the fore by instating in the House of Commons today that the British government should make clear why it had not declared cotton contraband. Failure to do so, it was pointed out, was prolonging the war.

Lord Robert Cecil, Parliamentary undersecretary for foreign affairs, said the government must consider the interest of neutrals and that the present plans to keep cotton out of Germany were considered to be effective. If it were shown that cotton still was going into Germany, he added, the government would take any steps necessary to check it, because of its use in manufacturing explosives.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me."

I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks, I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui today. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.

Shelton Named First President.

AUSTIN, Tex., July 12.—With John F. Shelton of Fort Worth, president; W. T. Eldridge of Sugar Land, first vice president; Bennett Smith of Temple, second vice president, and Edward Cunningham of Bridgeport, third vice president; A. C. Goeth of Austin, treasurer, and John R. Lunsford of Austin, secretary, the Buy It Made in Texas association perfected permanent organization today at a meeting held in the office of C. W. Woodman, commissioner of labor, of Texas. The next meeting will be held a month from now in Dallas at the invitation of Clarence Miller, the Dallas representative, who furnished the chief subjects for argument and discussion during the animated session which lasted until after 6 o'clock in the evening.

It was Mr. Miller who insisted on an increase in the number of members of the board from 15 to 21 and it was so decided, the new members to be selected later at a meeting of the board of directors, composed of the officers above named.

Temporary headquarters will be at Fort Worth in the office of President Shelton temporarily until the board of directors decides upon a permanent location, and that will entail a sharp fight. Temple wants the location, and Austin, which at first was designated temporary headquarters, will ask for the permanent establishment. Dallas is in the fight with sleeves rolled up and when the increase of the board of directors is made Dallas will have two instead of one representative thereon.

The discussion throughout while friendly was warm and the Dallas fight continued all through the proceedings with the result that an agreement finally was reached that met with general approval and the controversy will be renewed when the next session is held in Dallas in August.

Enthusiasm was manifested and the sentiment of the 12 out of 15 directors present was to form an organization that will help bring Texas products to the attention of the people and will build up Texas manufacturing and industries. Representative Cash of Houston was one of the active members of the board and made a strong showing for his city. Colonel Eldridge was chosen temporary chairman at the opening session.

President Shelton and the other officers will procure a charter for the new organization Tuesday and then the president and secretary will go to Fort Worth, where temporary headquarters will be maintained until further action.

Disposal of Waste in Rural Districts.

The sanitary disposal of human waste is recognized as one of the most important problems confronting modern municipalities, the successful solution of which has required the exercise of much engineering skill and ingenuity. But for the rural community, the isolated farmhouse, the small settlement, where sewers and unlimited water are as yet unattainable, what device is there that is practicable, that is at the same time cheap, simple, and easily constructed and operated, that is fly and germ proof, that is adapted to the conditions of rural life, and that farmer and dwellers in small towns can be urged to provide with some chance of success? These conditions are all essential, but they are by no means easily complied with. That existing methods or lack of methods of waste disposal in rural districts constitute a real and serious danger has been demonstrated beyond question. Hookworm, typhoid, dysentery, tuberculosis, as well as many forms of intestinal parasites are all spread largely through defective methods of disposing of human waste. Any real or lasting improvement in rural sanitary conditions must be preceded by a radical and permanent reform on this subject. This problem, always urgent, is becoming and will continue to become more important as our rural districts become more densely populated. Bearing on the problem is the United States Public Health Service bulletin, recently issued, on "Safe Disposal of Human Excreta" by Lumsden, Stiles and Freeman.

After a general discussion of the problem and its importance, the various types of sanitary privies so far devised are discussed, the manner of construction, advantages and disadvantages, cost, etc., being considered in each case, with illustrations and working plans for their construction. Directions are also given for converting an ordinary insanitary privy into a safe one as well as directions for cleaning and for final disposition of the contents. This pamphlet, says the Journal of the American Medical Association, should be widely circulated among rural homes. The problem is the same in all parts of the country.

The question is a vital one to our rural population.

Potatoes Important in Alaska.

The potato is by far the most important and universally grown crop in Alaska. With proper selection of varieties, care, and culture excellent potatoes can be grown nearly everywhere in the territory. Sprouting the seed before planting has been shown to greatly increase the chances of securing a good crop in the short season usually available. A frost-proof cellar for storage has also been found to be a necessity. The yield on newly cleared land is usually small (about 150 bushels of merchantable potatoes at Fairbanks in 1914), but rich land in good till will sometimes produce three to four times that much under ordinary culture.

The Fairbanks station has grown potatoes for market for several years past. The main object was to demonstrate that good potatoes could be grown in the interior, and the farmers in the vicinity have taken the hint and nearly all of them now grow a considerable acreage of potatoes, one estimating his crop as high as 50 tons, which, at 4 cents per pound, of $200 per ton, the lowest price at which potatoes have been sold up to the present time, would bring the grower some $4,000. Potatoes are usually classed as a money crop. The trouble now is that so many farmers in the vicinity of Fairbanks are growing potatoes that competition must of necessity bring down the price.

The output of the fish cultural operations of the United States Bureau of fisheries for the fiscal year ending with June was the largest on record.
