OIL CONFERENCE AT COLORADO SPRINGS IS RECESSED YESTERDAY

Conference Called By President Hoover Develops Into a Debating Forum—Local Men Do Not Want Drilling Stopped.

The storm of opposition to President Hoover's order withdrawing government land from oil prospecting, showed no signs of abatement as the second day of the conference got under way at Colorado Springs, Tuesday. Called especially to consider the feasibility of limiting development on the government lands, the conference developed into a forum of debate.

Independent operators have gone on record as opposed to the Hoover policy and in favor of a tariff on oil. Several associations announced their intention of opposing any compact which did not limit the amount of oil imported. The independents want a tariff on imported oil. Local operators have criticized the statement of Hugh Woodward, spokesman for the New Mexico delegation, declaring that New Mexico was in accord with President Hoover's oil policy.

Local oil men also wired Governor Dillon, protesting against the utterances of Woodward. Governor Dillon, Tuesday wired back that nothing would be done by the New Mexico delegation until the matter was referred back to the governor and the land commissioner.

Conference Is Recessed
The governors conference called by President Hoover to consider means of oil conservation voted to recess yesterday, after a three day session without having expressed a policy other than to resolve to meet again at the president's call and give further study to the problems of conservation.

The recess was voted on the motion of the Oklahoma delegation after Gov. Clyde Reed, of Kansas, had entered a vigorous protest against the action, in which he was joined by three other governors present, Emerson, of Wyoming, Erickson, of Montana, and Adams of Colorado.

PEOPLES MERCANTILE IS BEING REMODELED

The Peoples Mercantile store in Hagerman will soon have a self-help feature in connection with service given to customers. This will be made possible by remodeling the store.

New and additional shelves have been built in the grocery department. New cases will be installed in the dry goods department. Display tables will replace counters formerly used. The office will occupy a position near the center of the store. These changes will provide more room for clerks to work and for people to be accommodated. The shelves will be open, allowing customers to wait on themselves, but at the same time have the service of clerks in making choices and in securing articles desired.

HAIL DAMAGES CROPS AROUND IN HAGERMAN DEXTER COMMUNITIES

Hail accompanied with heavy rain fell late Sunday afternoon in the Hagerman community, over a strip of territory several miles in width.

The area where the most damage was done extended from about one mile north of the Felix river to a mile south of the river and east across the Pecos river.

A few farmers lost their cotton crops. Many fields were badly beaten, but the owners did not suffer severe loss.

Fortunately the hail was not accompanied with much wind. This helped to save the fruit which might have been severely damaged.

In town some gardens were damaged but the hail was soft enough to prevent a complete loss.

HAGERMAN HAS NEW BARBER

Olan Potter, better known to Hagerman people as "Slim," who has been employed in the Bowen Barber Shop, has left for his home town, Thomas, Oklahoma, where he will join his wife in an extended visit with friends and relatives.

During Mr. Potter's absence, G. W. Alford, from Wink, Texas will take his place.

COTTONWOOD BOND ELECTION CARRIED BY A GOOD MAJORITY

The bond election held in the Cottonwood district Saturday carried by a vote of 118 to 49. Plans for the building will be made when the bonds are sold, it was said here yesterday. The new school building will be placed in the center of this district and school work up to the eighth grade will be taught. Under the centralization plan, five or six teachers will be employed.

OPPORTUNITIES

Clinton F. Berry, Vice President of the Union Trust Company of Detroit, Michigan, says:

That today is the day of unsurpassed opportunities! The old idea that an "opportunity" was a chance to buy as cheaply as possible and sell at the highest price obtainable, is fast going into the discard.

Today, the greatest opportunities exist for those who take something of service to mankind and develop it on such a scale that its cost is reduced and its price lowered, thereby making it available to an ever widening circle of users.

Such a reversal of concepts has widened our boundaries immeasurably. "Inevitable saturation points" vanish into thin air; new and vastly improved ways of doing things reduce costs—but not wages; new inventions pass with amazing rapidity from the stage of luxury to that of necessity; cooperation is being found to be vastly more economical than senseless, cut-throat competition; the light of knowledge is found to be essential to scale the heights of achievement.

But in the complex structure of our modern civilization, where dependence on the efforts of one another is essential and inevitable, the eternal verities remain unchanged. The lasting nature of an opportunity or business depends, more than ever before, upon confidence, integrity, truth and honest dealing. None can disregard these qualities with safety. An appearance of prosperity may be temporarily produced by ignoring them, but retribution will be sure—and on a greater scale than ever before, by reason of the nature of the forces we are now employing upon such immense scales.

TREES

The Roswell Record of Saturday contained a very timely editorial under the caption, "Trees," which referred particularly to the sale of 5,520 acres of timber land in the Sacramento mountains, advertised for sale by the state on June 12th. As this is written, indications are that the sale has been set aside, however, the matter should be settled for good and all. Recent action on the part of a number of the people of eastern New Mexico, after the sale had been advertised, is excellent evidence that they will fight to preserve the natural beauty of our mountain section.

Quoting part of the poem by Joyce Kilmer, famous American poet killed in the World War, the Record continues:

"Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree."

Up on the eastern slope of the Sacramento mountains, where stately pines and spruces are making their last stand against the forester's axe, there is located one of the most scenic regions of the southwest; the home of many people during the summer months; the location of the Girl and Boy Scouts and the favorite resort of hunters from all sections of the state.

Trees cut now bring only a small revenue to the state of New Mexico, a mere pittance as compared to the further revenues from tourists, sale of hunting licenses and what may be the result to the all-important watershed of the Pecos valley.

While no figures can be made available it is certain that the state of New Mexico over a period of years would secure a far greater revenue from the sale of hunting licenses from those desiring to hunt in this region than they would from the present cutting of the timber.

Certainly the state cannot afford to endanger the water supply of the eastern slope of the state, and no man will reason that the state should do anything to mar the scenic beauty of the mountain areas.

As we view the situation it's the poorest kind of business and one which should be immediately stopped by those who have the matter in charge.

The Record believes that the governor and commissioner will see the need of immediate and definite action in this matter and will take whatever moves are necessary to preserve this region for the pleasure and benefit of future generations.

Good roads have recently been constructed into this area in order that those who love real mountain beauty may go and see. Imagine tourists driving many miles to view stumps and a devastated forest, all that might remain of a one day beautiful mountainside.

It has been pointed out here that the state at this time has no agency for enforcing proper forestry methods, that the sale of these lands will mean a wholesale cutting of this timber and the ruining for all time of this area for a recreational area."

A MIXED GOVERNMENT

In Germany the people elect a president for a French term of seven years, who has all but American powers, but whose ministers are responsible to the Reichstag in a truly British fashion, and whose decisions can be overridden by popular referenda on Swiss lines.

The Town Doctor (The Doctor of Towns)

ON

WHAT GOOD IS A 4TH OF JULY CELEBRATION

A man recently asked me, "What good is a Fourth of July celebration to a town?" And he expressed a question that undoubtedly is in the minds of many, especially those past the age of getting a kick out of any kind of celebration.

It is true that much of the original intent and purpose of Fourth of July celebrations has been lost or at least overlooked in modern ways of celebrating. Have you ever stopped to consider how many of those that shoot firecrackers, never stop to consider why they are doing it? I have often wondered at the percentage of people who make hurrah on the Fourth of July that really pause in commemoration of the deed representative of the day. Leaving unsaid the honor due the day, a Fourth of July celebration has a material value to every community, whether that community holds a festival or the inhabitants go elsewhere to spend the day.

If your town is going to put on a celebration, pitch in and do everything—go to the organization committee or whoever is sponsoring it, and offer to do something.

Get busy and invite your friends to join you and yours for the day. Make it an invitation worth while. If you haven't any friends you can induce to join in the festivities, help somebody else to entertain their guests or appoint yourself a committee of one to do your utmost to help entertain the casual stranger in your midst.

Start now on brightening the corner where you are. Make your yard, your house, your store, your entire town look clean, bright and attractive; put on your best behavior and your most winning smile, and when the company comes, show them around, introduce them to the place where you live, and "sell 'em" on your community.

If the Fourth of July isn't worth anything else to a community, it is worth the opportunity it gives you to "sell everybody" that comes to your town on what a real place it is and that the people in it are real people.

If there is no celebration to be held in your home town, and if you attend a celebration elsewhere, you still have an opportunity to serve well the place where you live. Business goes where it is invited, and stays and comes back to the place where it is well treated and served best—you can not sell people on your town if you do not tell them about your town. Therefore, if you are a guest of those who dwell in some other city, invite them to visit and do business with your town, tell them about your town, "tell 'em 'till you sell 'em" that your town is a good town in which to live, work and prosper.

But whatever you do, celebrate at home, if home is celebrating.

A SUGGESTED AMENDMENT

One of the greatest issues before thinking American citizens today is that of prohibition. The solution of the problem is one that will require serious thought and courageous effort. It is a problem, the solution of which should be on the heart of every citizen. An amendment to the Eighteenth Amendment which has been suggested by Collier's the national weekly in the issue for June 8, follows:

"The Congress shall have the power to regulate or prohibit the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof, but such grant of power shall not be construed to require that such regulation or prohibition shall be uniform throughout the United States nor deprive the states of power to impose additional regulations or prohibitions upon such manufacture, sale, transportation, importation or exportation." The form of this amendment has been considered and approved by competent constitutional lawyers. To be valid it must be approved by two thirds of the House of Representatives and of the Senate and ratified by three fourths of the states.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

In every community we find a few men and women, who live largely in the past. Thinking of former days and talking of former days is a rather natural course for the human being as he grows older. While the older folks indulge in their favorite past time, we are impressed by some and repulsed by others. Some seem to envy the age of autos and the age of modern conveniences and in so doing appear to make themselves miserable as well as others around them. They may think that they would like to see the day of the horse and buggy return, but if it did, we imagine that they would still be dissatisfied. Constant reflection on the things of the past tends to glorify and magnify them. Stripped of their glamor, past events would be no more enjoyable than the day we experienced them.

As for us we have no desire to go back to the good old days. We are glad that we live in the present age.

COTTON — COTTON — MORE COTTON

There is one kind of cotton in Hagerman that the hail has not been able to damage—the cotton that blows so profusely from the cottonwood trees.

If the hail would only damage the cotton bearing cottonwood trees so that they would have to be replanted perhaps the town would plant non-cotton bearing trees.

The air has been so full of little white particles that if it hadn't been so hot the past couple of weeks, visitors coming through town might almost have thought we were having a snow storm.

Fortunately for hay-fever victims and others the supply of flying cotton is waning and we can soon forget all about it until next spring.

A gentleman who was having his house repaired saw a great quantity of nails scattered about the grounds. He called the contractor's attention to them saying, "Why don't you take care of these nails, they will be lost?"

"No," said the contractor, "not one of them will be lost, you will find them all on the bill."

The above incident illustrates the attitude of many of the business men and merchants of many years ago. A change in business methods, however, has largely eliminated this erroneous conception of what constitutes a business transaction.

INSIDE INFORMATION

Cottage cheese for sandwiches may be moistened with a little cream, with salad dressing, or with tomato catsup.

Leaflet 39, "Eggs at any meal," is a free publication issued this spring by the United States Department of Agriculture, containing many good recipes and suggestions about egg cookery.

One way to keep cool in the summer is to do as much of the necessary cooking as possible very early in the day. Have many cold dishes—salad, cold meats and jellied dishes cooling beverages, such as fruit drinks and iced tea, and when you can, eat on porch or in the garden.

Fresh tomatoes can be filled with almost any left-over meat or vegetables for a stuffed tomato salad. A filling made of chopped meat, such as chicken, veal, or tongue, cooked pear, chopped pickle or cucumber, and salad dressing, is very good. After the tomatoes have been peeled and scooped out they should be seasoned inside with salt turned upside down to drain, and placed in the icebox until time to fill and serve them.

The celebrated soprano was in the middle of her number when Johnny noticed the orchestra leader.

"What does that man keep hitting at her for?" he asked his mother.

"He's not hitting at her," replied mother. "Be quiet!"

"Well, then, why does she keep hollering?"

Sixty to $70 dollars spent for an automatic electric pumping unit and pressure tank, with a capacity of 3 or 4 gallons a minute, does away with the drudgery of hand pumping. Things WORTH KNOWING

Prevent horses from eating rapidly, place a little chopped hay or some whole corn in the feed box with the oats.

Of the best kinds of sweet clover comes from the seedling sown with wheat or rye. A mixture of sweet clover and timothy does well in the shock with little damage to the grain and the feeding after thrashing.

Tomato growers allow disease to destroy their crop on the spot that spraying delays maturity. Spraying experiments conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture over a period of seven years show that there is no difference in the average earliness of sprayed and unsprayed tomatoes. Delays in earliness are probably due to differences in the soil.

One of the most important factors in successful mushroom culture is ventilation. This not only supplies oxygen but allows the carbon dioxide exhaled by the growing mushrooms to escape. Drafts should be avoided, however, as sudden changes in temperature check growth and cause cracking of the mushrooms.

Turkeys are not so domesticated as chickens and often lay their eggs in hidden spots. Hidden nests can be found by confining the turkey in the morning after she has been from the roosts and letting her out late in the afternoon, when she will make straight for her nest. Sometimes turkeys will make nests made for them out of barrels.

Worms are insidious in their habits and will rob the livestock completely and without warning. They cause quick death, but if the animals are unthrifty and become emaciated and die, the cause should be taken in hand. Call in a good veterinarian if necessary, have one of the animals killed and examined to find out the cause of the trouble.

Where knotty boards can be themselves useful. A box with knotty sides is more resistant to handling if it is made of knotty lumber than if it is made of straight lumber, says the Forest Service. Boxes with short, knotty sides may come apart as a result of the direct pull exerted by the contents of the boxes on the handles unless the shocks caused by handling are absorbed by the knotty boards. Knotty boards absorb such shocks better than straight boards because they are flexible.

It is profitable to raise colts from farm horses, says a report from the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The young stock can be sold from 4 to 7 years of age and the outstanding result is that they are both breeders and workers. Ordinarily sound, young mares of the heavy draft type are the best to use. The cost of raising horses is less if good use is made of coarse roughages in winter and cheap pastures in summer.

Decayed cavities in fruit trees, besides weakening the trees, furnish a harbor for ants, wood-boring larvae, and other pests, and may be filled with cement. All of the de-cayed wood should be removed first with a very sharp tool, and the edges of the bark and cambium immediately covered with shellac. Then paint the exposed wood in the cavity with a mixture of about one-third creosote and two-thirds coal tar. Use a good grade of cement in the proportion of 1 part to 2 or 3 parts of sand. The materials should be mixed with water to a thick, plastic consistency and should be well tamped in to the cavity. A few nails driven in the cavity will help support the cement, and a slight undercut should be made around the edges so that the hardened cement will be keyed in.

When you first used tires, remember how different the treads were from those of today? EXCEPT WITH GOODYEAR! Because Goodyear—in the famous All-Weather—selected the best tread at the start—a generation ago! Others have since tried to equal it—have changed from year to year. But no use! They can't design another tread like it!

Why is the All-Weather so superior a tread? Well, first, to give you STOPPING AND STARTING TRACTION it has those sharp-edged diamonds down the center to grip instead of slick "sled-runner" ribs to slip on.

Second, to give you CURVE TRACTION, it has those same All-Weather diamonds studding the edges.

Third, to give you RUT TRACTION, it has those All-Weather diamonds extending far up both sidewalls.

WHY

Printer's Assistant Is Known as "Devil"

The original printer's devil operated the ink roller in the days of the hand press, says Pathfinder Magazine. In 1863 Joseph Moxon wrote in "Mechanical Exercises" as follows: "The Press-man sometimes has a Week-Boy to Take Sheets, as they are Printed off the Tympan: These Boys do In a Printing-House, commonly black and Dawb themselves; whence the workmen do jocosely call them Devils; and sometimes Sprits, and sometimes Flies." According to a legend, Aldus Manutius, a printer at Venice in the latter part of the Fifteenth century and the first part of the Sixteenth, employed a negro boy as a helper in his shop.

Those were the days when belief in witchcraft was common, and most of the Venetians were not familiar with the colored race. Many people thought the negro boy was an Imp or evil genius and began to clamor for an investigation. When the matter came to the attention of Manutius he issued a statement to the following effect: "I, Aldus Manutius, printer to the Doge and the Holy Church, have this day made public exposure of the printer's devil. All who think he is not flesh and blood are invited to come and pinch him." There is no evidence to prove that the incident, if it actually occurred, was responsible for the origin of "printer's devil" as the name of a printer's helper.

SECRETARY OF STATE LEA COUNTY RAIL DECLARES TOBACCO HEARING POSTPONED TAX TO BE INOPERATIVE

SANTA FE.—Mrs. E. A. Perrault, secretary of State, Saturday prepared to declare the New Mexico tobacco law inoperative and the referendum to be in effect, through a formal certificate declaring that the referendum petitions contain more than the number of signatures required by the constitution. This certificate which recites that by official count there were 3,019 signers to the petitions and that only 29,576 names were necessary, will include the number of signers from each county.

Mrs. Perrault said she would certify that the signatures were numerically sufficient to place the referendum into effect, but that she would not certify that the names were correct.

Attorney General M. A. Otero, Jr., Saturday was preparing the certificate of information regarding the petitions supplied to him by Mrs. Perrault.

Mrs. Perrault said that although there was no legal or constitutional provisions for her to take this action, that she was issuing the certificate because the law was vested in her office and in the absence of specific direction she had to devise some method of her own to meet the situation.

FIRST 50,000 COPIES OF HIGHWAY TOURIST MAPS NOW OFF PRESS

SANTA FE.—The first 50,000 copies of the official 1929 highway tourist map are now off the press and ready for distribution, it was announced today by the Highway service bureau.

The new map is considerably larger than the issues of previous years and is attracting favorable comment from the first agencies to receive copies. Service bureau workers stated. A small strip of each adjoining state is included in the map to aid tourists to orient themselves in regard to New Mexican localities while planning their trips from outstate points.

All the principal topographical features of the state are shown on the face of the map together with a complete highway chart. The back of the map contains lists of points of interest in the state, a message from the Governor's pen, the national forests, the Indian pueblos, reservations, and a list of principal towns and their road locations.

The greatest part of the space on the back of the new map is given over to pictorial views of points of interest in the state, which it is thought, will serve as a powerful advertisement for New Mexico.

FEED THE LIVESTOCK PLENTY OF MINERALS

There are only a few minerals that need be given to livestock to supplement that which is procured in their feed, says J. L. Lantow of the New Mexico Agriculture College. Most feeds contain enough of the different minerals, so that no thought need arise concerning them. However, stock should always be supplied with salt. The part of the salt that is so essential has been proved to be the chlorine. In some areas there is a deficiency of iodine in the water, and if there is little or none in the feed, such condition brings about an undeveloped or improperly developed foetus.

Many people have observed cattle chewing bones, an indication of a condition that may develop into what is known as loin disease. This disease is often called creeps, which is caused largely by a lack of the non-assimilation of phosphorus. Vitamin D, or sunlight, helps in the metabolism of calcium and phosphorus. There may be a lack of phosphorus and calcium even though no outward appearances indicate it. A number of these cases will be present whenever places extremely lacking in these minerals occur on the range. It has been advisable in such cases to place before the cattle a mixture consisting of three parts bone meal and two parts salt. This mixture will be eaten quite readily.

It is thought that possibly there is apt to be more of a mineral deficiency on the range when the forage is dry than when it is in a succulent condition. Whenever a deficiency exists the additions of bone meal will increase gains of both dam and young, raise the state of health, prevent creeps, and increase the percentage of calf crop.

It might be assumed that the animal's appetite for any material is an indicator of the need of it.

Pat Murphy attended a safety meeting. The boys had been given some printed instructions and the safety man wanted to check on results.

"Pat," he said, "can you give me six good reasons for safety?"

Now Pat wasn't up on his reading, but he was rather quick with his come-back.

"Sure," he replied, "the four little Murphys, me wife an' meself!"

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT SOUNDS WARNING TO CHILDREN OFF ROADS

SANTA FE.—Sounding a warning to parents and school teachers, a bulletin issued today by the state highway department calls attention to the increase of probability of highway accidents by the coming of the summer vacation for school children.

"With the turning out of the thousands of children from the guardianship of the school for the summer vacation," says the bulletin, "the probabilities of highway accidents in which children will be the victims increases many fold. Parents and school teachers are asked to warn the children against the habit of playing on the highways and of loitering at intersections.

"The children should be told that when walking on a highway to proceed always against traffic not with it. That is, the left side of the road should be used by pedestrians so that approaching cars will be seen and if dust or other obstructions clogs the drivers gaze the pedestrian so hazarded may jump into the borrow ditch which parallels each road.

"Stealing rides on trucks or the backs of touring cars is a habit addicted to by children which has been the cause of fatalities in the past. As the driver of the machine rarely knows the child is on the back of his vehicle, the only protective measure which can be taken for this hazard is for the children to be admonished in their school before its close and by parents."

USE OF DAIRY PRODUCTS SHOWS RAPID INCREASE

Dr. C. W. Larson, Director of the National Dairy Council, has gathered some interesting figures in regard to the consumption of dairy products.

The average person, so he states, consumes about 500 pounds of milk a year in the form of manufactured products, such as butter, cheese, ice cream and condensed milk.

During the past seven years we have increased our per capita consumption of milk from forty-three gallons to fifty-five gallons. Butter consumption has jumped from 14.7 to 17.62 pounds per capita. The consumption of cheese has increased per capita from 3.5 to 4.5 pounds. Ice cream has increased 2.46 gallons.

As an average, the same number of people in the United States have increased the butter consumption thirty-four million pounds each year for the last seven years. Not only has our cheese been consumed but we have imported additional amounts. Last year nearly eighty million pounds were imported.

During this period there were only 140,000 additional cows in the United States to take care of this tremendous increase in consumption and rapid growth of population. It all goes to show that we are rapidly improving the quality of our cows, use better systems of feeding and management and consequently get an increased and more efficient production.

CRILE DECLARES STATE FORESTS BE CONSERVED

SANTA FE—Land Commissioner A. D. Crile in a letter to the Roswell and Artesia chambers of commerce yesterday pointed out that if any timber on state lands in that vicinity is sold, that the cuttings will be confined to ripe trees and will be supervised with cooperation from the United States forest service.

The two chambers recently protested jointly against the advertised sale of 5,500 acres of state lands in that vicinity. They pleaded that to cut the timber would spoil the scenic beauty of the region which is an annual tourist attraction.

Mr. Crile said, "As a rule none of the lands will be sold and only such timber will be sold as is ripe and would waste by decay, and any other timber which can be shown by persons who have studied forestry, should be cut with the object in view of conserving the watersheds and continuing the growth of the forests."

Why Galleries "Whisper"

Whispering galleries are generally the result of accident. There are two general types—the focusing and the conducting. The dome of St. Paul's cathedral in London is the second type. A whisper close to and along the smooth concave wall is continually deflected inward upon itself by the wall, is prevented from spreading and is thus conducted with only slightly diminished intensity to the other side of the dome. The sound, traveling by great circles, concentrates again at the opposite end of the diameter of which the sound is produced.

Why Transplanting of Races is Inadvisable

If black absorbs more heat than white, why can the colored race endure hot weather better than the white race?

In speaking of color, in a test made with the various materials dyed different colors and covering blocks of ice to determine which color absorbed the most heat, the blocks under the white material at the end of a given period were larger than the blocks under the black color. The explanation for this, of course, is that white deflects more rays of the sun than black. In speaking of the negro and dark races and their adaptability to heat, this test does not hold good. With the human element it is largely the question of being acclimated. The negro race, as far back as our records run, was a native of the tropical countries. Consequently the transplanting of this race to Northern climates makes its members just as uncomfortable as it would make an Eskimo, also dark-skinned, to put him in the extreme South.—Washington Star.
