A STUPENDOUS THREAT

Easter morning, March 24, 1894 Coxe's Army, under the leadership of Jacob Selcher Coxe, who had the expectation of recruiting 100,000 men, marched on Washington for the purpose of forcing congress to issue legal tender to finance the building of $5,000,000,000 worth of good roads, and to thereby put to work the unemployed of the country. A negro carrying the flag of the U. S. led the way. Carl Browne, clad in fringed buckskin, and wearing a cowboy's broad brimmed sombrero, rode a gray mare. Next marched the trumpeter, "Windy Oliver," followed by "Cyclone" Kirkland, of Pittsburg, and seven musicians. General Coxe himself, the owner of a fine Kentucky farm, rode in a buggy drawn by a pair of bay mares. Mrs. Coxe, her sister, and an infant son, named "Legal Tender," followed in a carriage. Forty-three newspaper reporters accompanied the motley procession. Congress was slightly worried. The risings of the English, Wat, the Tyler, and Jack Cade, were brot to mind. However, when the army, which finally accumulated only four hundred men, marched on to the capitol steps, General Coxe, Carl Browne and others, were arrested for "trespassing on the grass." Thus ended the story.

The present army of bonus seekers which is slowly moving toward the capitol, will not be so easily handled. Congress faces a dilemma. To accede to the request of this so-called "army," is to set a precedent, which will be disastrous. To refuse, will bring about a situation which has grave potentialities. Congress waited too late. The boys asked for two billion dollars in complete payment of the bonus due them. This was a debt that the government acknowledged that it owed. The complete bonus was not paid.

It has not been long since the government dished out two billion dollars to the railroads, insurance companies and the banks. This was not in payment of a debt owed such corporation, it was merely a loan to help the above stated organizations out of a hole. Certainly if congress were in a position to thus hand out two billion dollars as a loan, our government should have been in position also to pay their debt to the war veterans. But it was assumed that the war veterans could not kick. No! Couldn't they? A condition has now arisen, whereby the good old United States has something to think about—and will have more, ere many days.

Congress made its mistake. The veterans are making their mistake now. The very lads who went out as heroes in 1916—to die for their country, are now engaged in that act which will shake their country to its very foundation. This is just another indication of the fact that the public mind is now torn—that it is irresponsible.

The mob mind must never think for America. And congress should never so jeopardize our government uselessly.

The source of the quotation, "Let your moderation be known to all men" is the Bible, book of Philippians, chapter 4, verse 5.

The musical instrument which is commonly called "sweet potato" is an ocorina. It is of Tyrolean origin.

One Point of View

The pleasure of love is in loving. We are happier in the passion we feel, than in that we inspire.

Country of Glaciers

There are more than 140 glaciers in Oregon and Washington, covering a total of about 90,000 acres.

The small boys' teacher had asked her pupils for a sentence containing the word "veil." Amid numerous written replies one stood out above the remainder—"The lady wore a veil on her deuterogamy."

"Deuterogamy!" exclaimed the teacher. "Where did you get that word, Johnny?"

"Crossword puzzle, mum," replied Johnny, glibly.

"But what does it mean?"

"Second marriage, mum."

The teacher turned to the dictionary and found Johnny was correct.

NEW TEACHER FOR ELK

Miss Alyce Williamson of Hagerman, daughter of Jim Williamson has been employed to teach the Elk school next year, succeeding Miss Ruby Hines, who has returned to her home in Indiana.

Hagerman, N. M. June 4, 1932.

Mr. Harold Dye:

In the last issue of The Messenger, I see where you want to trade your car for a cow. I have a cow and we might get ried man, you know how 'tis) But I don't want to take advantage of you, for by the tone of your talk, you are entirely too modest. I don't think you have ever done much swapping, you should have asked for at least thirty-five bales of hay and a milk pail to boot. Now, as I have said before I don't want to take advantage of you and will tell you about this cow. She is thirteen years old and has only one eye. She is hard to milk and kicks to beat the band, in fact she is giving my mules pointers on how to kick. Her milk is mighty thin and she is a bad fence breaker, requires a bale and a half of hay a day, but then you might graze her in front of the stores that don't advertise; outside of this she is a fine cow and if you haven't traded your car off, bring it out and lead the cow back also square off for the last four years I owe you for The Messenger and give me two years in advance and we will call it a trade.

Yours respectfully,
"A COTTON FARMER"
P. S. I let my wife read this trade proposition. I always talk over all trades with her, just as a matter of form (being a married man, you know how 'tis) and she said, the idea of you wanting a good cow for that old car. Why that preacher's gall is busted.

A. C. F.

Tsh, tsh, "Mr. Cotton Farmer," you don't mean to insinuate that the stores that don't advertise have grass growing in front of them?

Notice where "A Cotton Farmer," in one of the above paragraphs says if the parson will bring his Pontiac out they might make a trade. Now the parson is tryin' to find a truck big enough to haul it out. Maybe somebody has a dump truck, like they use to dump trash, that the parson could borrow a few minutes to make delivery. — The Op.

SEEK LAW TO PROHIBIT HOLDING DOUBLE JOBS FROM GOVERNMENT

W. A. Fraser, president of the Woodmen of the World Life Insurance association, in a letter sent to members of congress asked that a law be enacted prohibiting men from holding double position and drawing double salaries from the government.

He used as a specific example the case of General Charles M. Saltzman, chairman of the Federal Radio Commission, who also receives a pension from the government is a retired army officer. In his letter Mr. Fraser said: "Thousands of the unemployed could be cared for if the proper officials would investigate conditions connected with our government, wherein double salaries are paid to men and probably women, which, in my judgment, is unfair and unreasonable and smacks strongly of political preferment."

"I present to you just one of the many cases that exist in connection with our government today: Charles McKinley Saltzman, Chairman of the Federal Radio Commission, is, as his title signifies, a retired army officer. General Saltzman was retired on a pension of $6,000 a year, because our government, responsible for writing the law providing when officers of the army and navy must retire, determined that a man's usefulness was practically at an end at that age. A salary sufficient to maintain them for the balance of their lives is provided."

"General Saltzman was appointed by President Hoover, a member of the radio commission with a salary of $10,000 per year, making his total income $16,000 a year, which is more money than he was able to earn before the government determined that his activities in the army had ceased to be an asset.

"This does not seem fair, and as I stated above, it is only one case in thousands existing at the present time in connection with our government. Surely, if an officer in the army where he has spent his entire life from boyhood up, being educated at the expense of the government, ceases to be an asset in the line of work he has followed all of his life, where in can it be shown that this man or men in like positions become so valuable in another line of business in which they have had no experience that they are entitled to be paid more money than they ever earned in their most active period of life."

President Fraser, who heads the Woodmen of the World, composed of approximately 500,000 members in all parts of the U. S. called upon the members of congress to enact a law immediately to end double government salaries. He said: "This would not take up all the slack in our employment, but certainly it would be a step in the right direction and I trust this matter will be given your careful consideration."

NEW MEXICO HOLSTEINS ON NAT. HONOR LIST

In the 1931 honor list just published, of the Advanced Registry of the Holstein-Friesian Association, two cows owned by the New Mexico State College made enviable records, ranking 10th and 20th on the national honor roll. N. M. R. C. Hallie Korndyke, a junior two year old, made in a year 630 pounds of butterfat and 18,062.5 pounds of milk on three milkings a day. She ranked tenth in a class of 245 national competing records.

Another junior two year old, N. M. A. C. Gloria Korndyke made 462.3 pounds of butterfat and 13,599.5 pounds of milk in ten months to rank 20th in a class of 121 cows located in all of the leading dairy states. These cows are both daughters of Count Korndyke Pontiac Star 387461, owned by the Mesilla Valley Cooperative Bull Association of which the New Mexico State College is a member.

To have one or more of his cows placed on the "Honor List" as published annually by the Advanced Registry Department of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America is an achievement desired by every breeder of Holstein cattle who is doing official testing and the placing of two of the State College herd on this list goes to prove the excellent breeding of these animals.

East Indian Nationalists

Officially there is no official Indian flag. Great Britain still regards India as a British-governed empire with not even dominion status. Consequently the only official flag for India as a nation and people is the Union Jack.

A Modern Child Says:

"I had a hard time keeping my face straight today when I was sent out in the car with father and he told me it was time for me to learn to drive. He picked out a nice quiet road and showed me how to start the engine, shift the gears, set the brakes and everything. You can't imagine how much he enjoyed showing me. It made me ashamed, really, and almost sorry that I had learned to drive three years ago in Skinny Brown's car. But you should have seen how pleased and proud dad was when he stalled the engine on the railroad tracks while explaining to me how to avoid it and I spoke up and told him how to get off. He's telling the neighbors how quick I pick things up."—Kansas City Times.

THE HOME STORE FOR HOME PEOPLE

It's Here Spring, of course!

The season of the year, above all others, man loathes. To him it means coming home to a house in turmoil, the rugs being taken up, the curtains taken down, furniture moved, woodwork washed, winter clothes being put away, summer clothes taken out—nothing in its place.

He has learned through experience not to sit anywhere without first looking carefully to see that he won't be doing permanent damage to a vase sent by Aunt Julie at Christmas or the best China set—or to his own clothes.

In despair (and to avoid helping) he either stays "in town" for dinner, or, if it's Sunday or a holiday, he finds "important business" to take him somewhere—anywhere but home.

Spring's symbol (according to him) should not be a young nymph with fluttering draperies and flowing hair, but a woman wrapped in a house dress and topped off by a dust cap.

In such homes spring cleaning comes like a Kansas cyclone. But more and more women are learning considerably less than a cyclone will do as well, if not better. In those homes where electricity has been a year 'round maid of all work, spring cleaning has no terrors. The rugs, draperies, woodwork, furniture, are always clean.
