The Men's club meeting on Tuesday night, plans were made for an entertaining banquet at the winning playground ball team, as well as the making of the most runs for the league. This banquet will be held Tuesday night.

When men were present, in the Tom Vickers, a former Hagerman, who is making his home here. Fried chicken supper was served by the ladies of the Hagerman Cemetery Association. The club has guaranteed the serving organization a minimum of 20 plates, but the banquet was voted 15 plates at Tuesday night meeting.

CESSING TAX GOES FOR RELIEF FUNDS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Proces- taxes assessed by the agricultural adjustment administration are to be used to provide funds for the new emergency relief fund. The funds added to money now in the hands of Harry L. Hopkins relief administrator, are expected to take care of the situation until next spring. Purchases of supplies for the relief fund are contemplated.

SHAKE AT LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, California—A sharp earthquake which struck Southern California at 1:10 Monday, resulted in at least 10 deaths, injury to four persons and light property damage.

STATE TO GET ITS SHARE OF C. C. CAMPS

ALBUQUERQUE—New Mexico will have nine more conservation camps than it had last summer, according to F. P. Pooler, regional forester, Monday.

MISSIONARY ZONE MEETING

The Roswell Zone meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society for the third quarter was held in the home of Mrs. Tom McKinstry Friday afternoon.

FUNCTION SETTLES GRAZING QUESTION

SAN JUAN—District Judge George Hay of Silver City Saturday decided an important question pertaining to rights on the public domain when he granted temporary injunction to former Senator O. M. Lee restraining settlers from grazing their stock on public domain, wherein there had no living or permanent water on the public domain.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY BY CHARLES L. BALLARD

The Chaves County Archaeological and Historical Society Thursday morning received a typewritten copy of the autobiography of Charles L. Ballard who now lives in Artesia. The copy was sent to H. M. Dow, president of the society.

FARM GIRL CHAMP

Helen Goodhart, seventeen, milked, husked, churned and raked her way to fame when she won the American farm girl championship at the Los Angeles county fair in Pomona, Calif. Her dexterity in the hay raking, milking, butter churning, corn husking, tractor driving and other events of the championship contests gave her a high score of points that outstripped a large field of contenders for the title.

STATE FAIR TO HAVE LARGE FARM EXHIBIT

Greater participation in the Eastern New Mexico State Fair to be held at Roswell October 18, 19, 20 and 21 by individual farmers and stockmen in the counties outside of Chaves is being urged by the fair management.

"Each year many of the counties bring booth displays and almost invariably take away first money," said H. A. Poorbaugh, president of the fair board. "This year we are proud of and know that it will be true again this year. But we would like to see more individual exhibitors from other counties in all the departments. Whether it is a peck of oats, a box of apples, a display of onions, or cotton, or a fine bull in the beef cattle class, or good individuals in the dairy class, it means more to all eastern New Mexico to have this general participation and give the other counties that much additional advertising. We hope this year many more of the ladies from adjoining counties will make entries in the domestic arts department."

A poultry division has been added to the fair this year. Additional buildings are being erected to house the poultry show and to care for the added livestock exhibits. The department of agriculture is sending from Washington a car load of material for a display entirely different from last year.

RE-OPEN BANKS IS A GREAT PLAN

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The treasury last week was pushing the administration's plan to re-open the banks of the nation and expand the purchasing power of the various industries throughout the nation.

The treasury has completed the details for the reorganization of the 375 national banks in 37 states. Included in the banks to be re-organized is the First National in Albuquerque, closed last April.

MILL TEAM WINNERS OF PLAYGROUND BALL LEAGUE UNDEFEATED

The Hagerman Alfalfa Mill playground ball team emerged as winners of the "Little World's Series" by three decisive victories over the Legion team, the winners of the first half of play.

Scores for the three games were: 21-1; 13-11 and 18-7, all in favor of the Mill, which went through the last half of the schedule without a defeat.

The Hagerman Men's club will entertain the winning team at a sumptuous banquet served in the undercroft of the Methodist church next Tuesday night. Only those players who were signed up with the team are eligible to this banquet free of charge with the exceptions of the man making the most runs for the season, and the man still to be decided as the most valuable player in the league.

George Evans with 44 runs, will be presented with a beautiful silver medal at the banquet, and the most valuable player will be presented with a miniature silver baseball. Any one else in the community desiring to attend this banquet must inform the secretary of the Men's club, Harold Dye, of this intention not later than Friday in order to give the ladies who will serve the meal time to prepare for extras. The meal will cost forty-five cents.

The playground ball season is nearly over in Hagerman. Friday night the two all-star teams will play off their "grudge fight" demanded by the citizens of the community, and practically all playing will then cease until next June.

CRUDE OIL HIKED TO 75¢ FRIDAY IN THE EASTERN N. M. AREA

Crude oil in the southeastern New Mexico area was hiked ten to fifteen cents per barrel Friday when a new price of seventy-five cents was posted for the fields of Artesia, eastern Eddy, Hobbs, and Winkler, Texas. The increase in price was general over the east Texas, Oklahoma and mid-continent area. Crude from the local field was boosted from sixty to seventy-five cents per barrel.

State and National Briefs of the News

VIRGINIA VOTES REPEAL

RICHMOND, Virginia—Virginia the second state to ratify the 18th amendment, Tuesday became the 32nd to vote its repeal.

Both urban and rural Virginia contributed to the slightly less than two to one margin held by repeal with approximately three-fourths of the precincts reported. It was from the large centers of population, however, that the wet tide set in strongest.

With 1,246 of the state's 1,690 precincts reported, the repeals led 90,742 to 50,886. Advocates of repeal of the state prohibition law and the substitution of a liquor control plan were in the van 85,941 to 47,124. Slightly fewer precincts had reported in the referendum on state prohibition.

SANTA FE—Expressing regret that unforeseen difficulties and press of state affairs had swamped him, Gov. A. W. Hockenbush today said he might not be able to name a United States senator until next week.

The governor had announced he would have the appointment this week, and "I want to keep my word," he said today, "but there are so many things that have to be done right now. I may be able to get the appointment this week. I hope so because I want to keep my word."

Congressman Dennis Chaves and Carl Hatch of Clovis are conceded to have a good chance at the appointment.

CHICAGO, Illinois—New Mexico Legionnaires last night expected full approval from the Legion's national convention of the special planks on veterans' rehabilitations, adjutant H. W. Neely, Santa Fe reported.

The New Mexico delegation has asked the convention's support of legislation which would give veterans afflicted with respiratory diseases a ranking of 50 per cent total disability after a sure cure has been effected or the malady has been arrested.

At present, Neely explained, the veterans' aid stops after ten years.

E. B. Swope of Santa Fe, chairman of the state democratic central committee, said Saturday he would probably call a meeting of the state democratic central committee soon to select a successor to the late Governor Seligman as national committeeman. Dennis (Continued on last page column 6)

Marteval Graham "Queen of the West" left yesterday morning for Chicago, Illinois and the Century of Progress Exposition as the guest of the Yucca Theater and the citizens of Hagerman.

Miss Graham was recently chosen "Queen of the West" in competition with girls of three states in a beauty pageant held at the Yucca Theatre. The prize for the show was a ticket to Chicago, and the Hagerman Men's club further sponsored the trip by raising fifty dollars from Hagerman and Roswell citizens.

At the Fair, Miss "Queen of the West" will be officially welcomed and will be given passes to various shows on the grounds.

SEPTEMBER HOT MONTH

The past month of September was a hot one, in fact one of the warmest on record for several years. The average high temperature was around 95 degrees with the average low around 58. The highest thermometer reading was 98 and the lowest 55. The precipitation was also light 1.39 inches of rain fell.

Coy Knoll is the new proprietor of the Curry Service Station at the corner of the highway and Main. Edell Hartley and mother who have been operating the station for more than a year, have left for Roswell for a short visit and plan to spend some time vacationing in various places before settling down.

35 BURNED TO DEATH FOREST FIRE NEAR LOS ANGELES, CALIF.

LOS ANGELES, California—Thirty-five men, workers on a county employment relief project and possibly twenty more, died in agony Monday in a box-like canyon, turned into a flaming inferno apparently by a cigarette inadvertently tossed into a tinder of brush by one of their number.

Between 150 and 200 other men were injured, some of them probably fatally. Most of them were burned and a number suffered fractures of arms and legs and the backs of a few were broken as they fell in a frantic flight to safety.

Shortly before 4:00 p. m. someone noticed a fire had broken out in the chaparral-covered sides of Mineral Wells canyon and a group of men, employed in the area on road projects, was sent down the steep canyon to extinguish it.

Frank White, who has been in Hagerman for a few days left Tuesday for the White ranch near Dunken.

PRETTIEST WAITRESS

Miss Marjorie Kavanagh, twenty-one years old, was chosen as America's prettiest waitress in a contest sponsored by the American Restaurant association at its annual convention at the Merchandise Mart in Chicago. Miss Kavanagh has brown hair and eyes, is 5 feet 2 inches tall and weighs 108 pounds.

MANY KILLED IN CUBA'S CIVIL WAR

HAVANA, Cuba—Bullets still spattered Havana's streets as nightfall Monday failed to bring an end to battling after the bloodiest day in the city's history, and while official estimates of the dead were unavailable, few believed the total would be less than 75, including one American.

Snipers and soldiers exchanged shots over the width and breadth of the city in a renewal of hostilities after attempts at truce in the beleaguered and sholl-torn National hotel had failed.

The American, Robert G. Lot-speich, London, Ohio, manager of Swift International, was shot fatally in the chest as he stood in an apartment building near the hotel watching the battle.

The building of the Ford Motor Co., adjoining the scene of hostilities was struck by a shell intended for the hotel.

The best obtainable estimate of the dead included 35 to 40 soldiers, ten of the officers in the hotel and the remainder students and passers-by who were struck by stray bullets.

There were hundreds of wounded and the city's hospital were swamped since a few hours after the battle at the hotel began at dawn.

The truce at the hotel, which lasted only while a white flag was displayed from the roof, seemed to precipitate the spread of the battle over an undetermined area of the city.

FEDERAL EXHIBIT ON RANCHING AT FAIR

A carload of educational exhibits especially designed to fit western conditions has been scheduled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for display at the Eastern New Mexico State Fair, Roswell, October 18-21, 1933.

The exhibits will present important information and suggestions on sheep and wool, range cattle, horses, range destroying rodents, campfires and public roads, and are intended to interest both rural and city people.

There will be an information booth with a display of publications where visitors may examine department of agriculture bulletins, talk with department representatives and learn where and how direct advice or published information may be obtained on many phases of agriculture.

A large portion of the wool produced in America comes from the western sheep and the exhibit "Good Wool" portrays by text, pictures, objects and samples how breeding, feeding, care and management of sheep and the care and handling of fleeces enter into the production of good wool.

STATE'S POOR TO GET PORK

New Mexico poor will get four carloads of salted pork furnished by Uncle Sam, Miss Margaret Reeves, state child welfare director, announced Monday.

It will be distributed through the county relief agencies.

The Garner Mercantile building will soon be ready for occupancy. This will be one of the finest buildings in Hagerman upon its completion. Changes include stucco on the outside, new plaster, hardwood floors and repainting of all woodwork.

PRES. ROOSEVELT PLEADS FOR UNITY TO END DARK ERA

NEW YORK—President Roosevelt last night rallied the relief agencies of the nation for the "harder part still ahead" and told the states and communities they must do their share before the federal government supplements the needs of the destitute.

Speaking before the national conference of Catholic charities, Mr. Roosevelt praised the co-operation of church and private institutions for their help in "the climb out of the valley of gloom," and urged a national spirit of neighborliness to complete the task.

"This it the time when you and I know," he said, "that though we have proceeded a portion of the way, the longer, harder part still lies ahead; and that it is for us to redouble our efforts to care for those who must still depend upon relief, to prevent the disintegration of home life, and to stand by the victims of the depression until it is definitely passed."

"The federal government has inaugurated new measures of relief on a vast scale, but the federal government cannot, and does not intend, to take over the whole job. Many times I have insisted that every community and every state must first do their share."

Before addressing the conference, the president dined with the church leaders at a banquet in a midtown hotel. He was introduced by Cardinal Hayes.

STATE LANDS NET OFFICE $226,443.70 IN SEPTEMBER

SANTA FE—Revenue of the state land office for September this year totalled $226,443.70, an increase of about 10 per cent over last year, State Land Commissioner Frank Vesley said Tuesday. The receipts for September last year were $203,000.

The increase was attributable largely to oil and gas leases, grazing leases and potash revenues, Vesley said, adding, with a smile "and good management."

Miss Dorothy Sweatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sweatt, who is attending school at the Colorado Woman's College at Denver, is on the student council, editor of the college annual and news reporter on the college paper this year.

1934 COTTON PLAN IS MADE PUBLIC

The plan for adjusting the cotton production for 1934 and 1935 adopted by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, is similar, in some respects, to the plan that is now being put into operation for wheat. County cotton production control associations will be set up similar to the associations that have been set up for the control of wheat production, and these will be responsible for allocating the reduction to the individual growers and for the local administration of the plan.

The cotton acreage to be planted for 1934 will be announced on or before January 1, but it is expected to be close to 25 million acres, which is approximately 60 per cent of the five year average. The acreage will be allocated among the different states, counties and individuals on the basis of the five year average, 1928-1932.

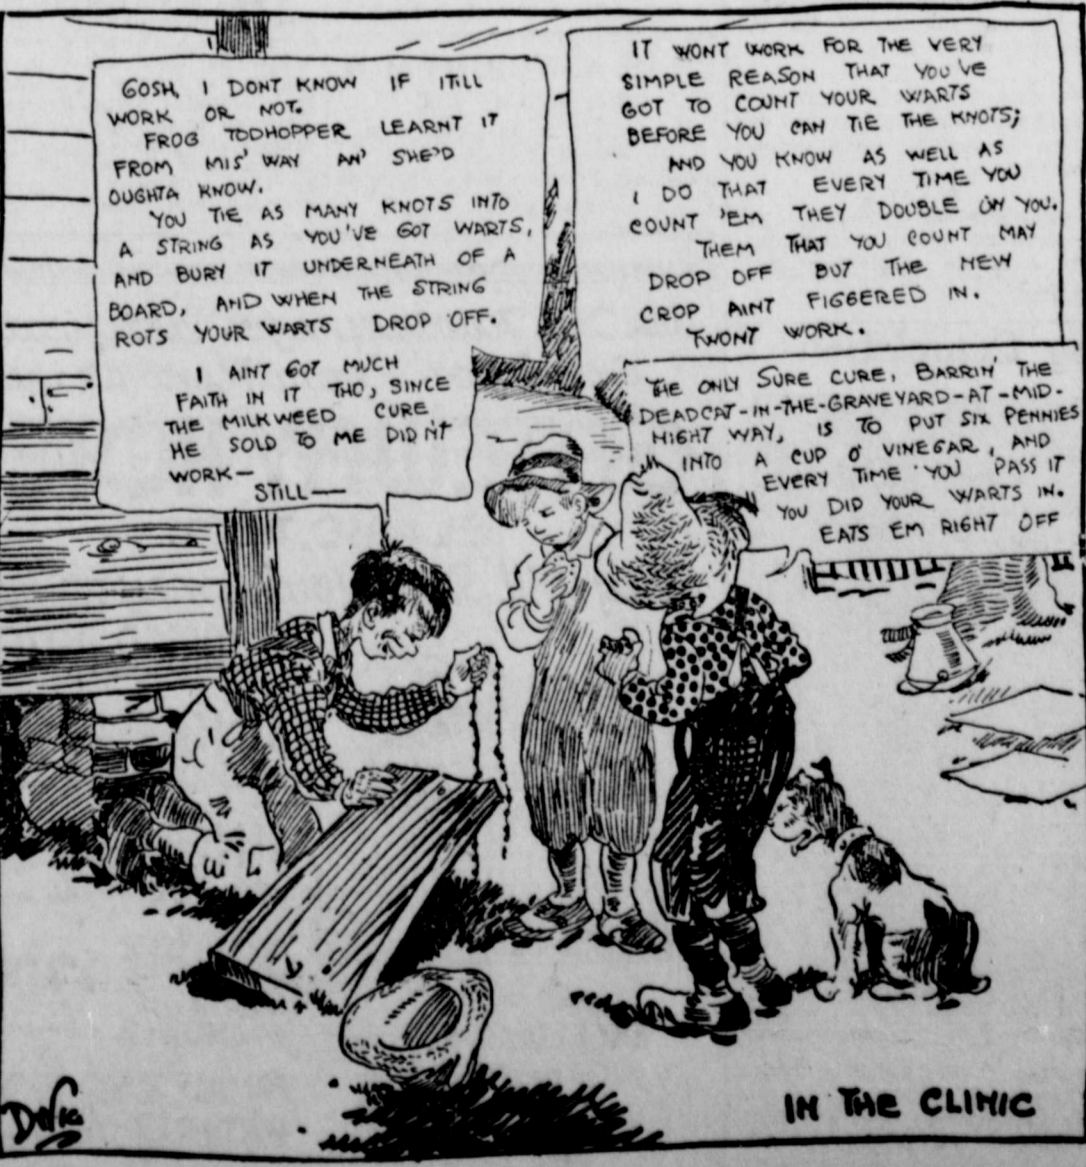

The plan will follow the 1933 cotton plan in that producers will be compensated in part by receiving a cash rental and/or benefit for acreage left out of cotton production, the amount to be determined later. Production will be restricted at planting time, however, so there will be no plow-up of cotton already planted.

In general terms, the plan will work as follows: The producer, thru the county association, will enter into a contract with the Secretary of Agriculture for a period of two years. The required reduction for 1935 will not be more than 25 per cent of the five year average acreage. Payments to farmers will be based on the domestic consumption proportion of the five year average production and it will be the intention to give the farmer parity prices for this portion of his crop.

At the same time that the plan for 1934 and 1935 was announced, the secretary of agriculture announced that loans would be made on the 1933 cotton crop up to ten cents a pound. The object of this loan is to permit the farmer to hold his crop until approximately parity prices can be secured.

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH LIQUOR LAW

Some citizens seem worried over the stringent provisions of the Lane Liquor Law. We don't see anything particularly hard about it. Of course, it is prohibitive of anyone's opening a saloon who has not owned or operated the same business for three years, but beyond that, there is nothing to worry about.

The provision is made that liquor can be served only with meals. Where is the difficulty in that? What is to prevent a man from purchasing a five cent Coney Island and drinking a gallon of whiskey to wash it down if he can contain that much?

We failed to note anything in regard to the location of the place of business which has been operating for three years. It could be moved next door to the local high school if we read the law correctly.

No, we fail to see how the Lane Liquor Law will be so hard on those who wish to get their liquor where and when and how they want it.

Calle Mercado, Bolivia, One of Highest Streets

One of the most intriguing as well as one of the highest streets in the world is the Calle Mercado, or market street, in La Paz, capital of Bolivia, which climbs steeply from the Plaza San Francisco, and is lined with dark little stalls hung with llama skins, Indian blankets and rugs, and overflowing with colorful pottery, blankets, carved bone replicas of Inca relics, dolls and jugs for chicha, the native drink of the west coast.

The street is full of action. Gamblers crowd around wheels of fortune. Orange-colored monkeys dance to the strains of a guitar. Llamas laden with rice, or coffee, step haughtily over the cobbles. Indian vendors bake maize in wide corn husks on the street. And Cholost sits on the sidewalk and spins brightly-hued yarn. The Indians, topped with stiff hats and wrapped in blue or red ponchos have regular "character faces" bulging with cocoa leaves, which they all chew. The Cholost swirl along in a dozen garishly colored, billowing skirts—looking for all the world like beach umbrellas.

Olive One of the Oldest Fruits Known to World

There is one fruit with an ancient past, if there ever was one—the olive. It has been cultivated for 4,000 years and more.

The olive has always been a token of peace and purity. It is said that way back in the beginnings, when one country wanted to show off its good manners, it would present another country with a load of olive branches to be planted and grown into olive trees.

Pickle olive, similar to our green olives of today, have been found in the ruins of Pompeii.

Olives are a product of sunny lands—Spain, Italy, Greece, northern Africa and California.

Discovered Maple Syrup

The manufacture of maple syrup and maple sugar is purely an American industry. The first of the New England settlers exploring the Indian trails in the springtime saw the natives gashing trees with the tomahawks and sap flowing into hollow logs and bark containers. Soon maple sugar became the sugar of the early settlers, even as far south as Virginia and Kentucky. At first the white men followed the Indian method of producing maple syrup and sugar. But it was not long before they learned that the Indians' deep gashes in the trees often injured them. Tapping methods were improved, but the evaporation process has changed little, except that more modern equipment is often used.

The Indians up at Shiprock on the Navajo reservation were becoming furious over the fact that grasshoppers were destroying their alfalfa fields, melons and peaches. The horde of insects would sweep down on an alfalfa field and, presto, it was no more. They wrote Washington about their difficulties, and their appeal brought back $1,400 in cash and probably a lot of advice. The Indians promptly discarded the advice, and bought 1,100 young turkeys. These they herded in localities where the hoppers abounded. The birds gobbled up the grasshoppers and were led on to other infested spots. The grasshoppers are no more, and the turkeys are plump and ready for Thanksgiving. Enough will be left to start another flock in 1934. Contrast this exploit of the Navajos with a session of congress. The $1,400 would have been turned over to a chairman of a committee to interview a famous scientist about the proposition, and in a short time the money would have vanished in experiments. In the meantime the crops would have been utterly

PARADE OF PIGS ENDED

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The government's parade of pigs to market was over Saturday with approximately 6,200,000 weighing 100 pounds and less sent to premature slaughter along with about 200,000 sows.

Farmers anxious to get the benefit of the higher-than-market prices offered for the pigs rushed them in large numbers to livestock marketing centers Friday when farm adjustment administration purchasing came to an end.

He was taken to St. Mary's hospital in the Talmadge ambulance but efforts to revive him proved futile. The cause of his death was given as angina pectoris.

Its length at the crest is 800 feet, and its thickness at the foundation, 270 feet.

United States is Third in Production of Gold

One-half of the gold produced in the world is mined in South Africa—some quarter billion dollars' worth annually. Another 20 per cent is mined in colonies of Great Britain, chiefly Canada. The United States is third in place, says an exchange. The mines are principally in a range of hills near Johannesburg in an area 85 miles long and two to five miles wide. There is found the "reef," which means what it does on the seashore—a layer of rock two to three feet wide hidden in the hills.

Geologists explain that ages ago a great lake existed into which washed gold-bearing sediment finally solidifying into a gray rock with white spots. Around the spots the gold settled and it all became a reef or rock layer. Then in some upheaval the lake was lifted into hills and the layer of gold rock was tipped until in the heart of the hills it lies at an angle of 30 to 40 degrees, buried a mile deep in places, outcropping here and there and nobody knows how far it extends beyond the present explored area.

Fifty years ago it was discovered on a farm, and since then Johannesburg has grown to its present importance as South Africa's principal city and the largest on the continent except Cairo—with some 200,000 white and 300,000 native population.

Vocabulary of 850 Words May Give World Language

The 1,500 languages and dialects of mankind are such serious barriers to world understanding that lingual experts of many nations hope to find a remedy.

A director of the Ornithological Institute of Cambridge is of opinion that a means of world communication has been found. The language is nothing more than simplified English. A vocabulary of 850 words with perhaps another 150 of a more scientific and technical character, has been chosen to do the work of more than 20,000. It is possible to write all these on a sheet of note paper. They can also be put on a gramophone record without crowding!

When we remember that millions of people make themselves understood in all their daily affairs by the use of still fewer words, this number ceases to appear insufficient. For instance, hundreds of English verbs are superfluous in ordinary speech, and after long and painstaking tests only eighteen have been retained in the New world language, which is called Basic English.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Earthworm Music

Some people claim that earthworms produce music at night. Much argument has been given in attempting to explain these sounds. Some believe that the worms produce the sounds by rubbing their bristles together; others think it is by scraping their bristles over stones. At any rate, it is poor music, and they themselves cannot hear it, for they are deaf.

Early Training Important

A great religious educator once said that if he could have the moral training of a child entirely in his hands between the ages of eight and thirteen years he could guarantee the future of that child, no matter what influences it came under in after life. It is at this susceptible age that the character of the coming adult is most indelibly stamped.

Why Hospitals Use a Liquid Laxative

Hospitals and doctors have always used liquid laxatives. And the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. Do you know the reasons?

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can be controlled. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The right liquid laxative brings a perfect movement, and there is no discomfort at the time, or after.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it! And the habitual use of irritating salts, or of powerful drugs in the highly concentrated form of pills and tablets may prove injurious.

A week with a properly prepared liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will tell you a lot. A few weeks' time, and your bowels can be "as regular as clockwork." Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative which all druggists keep ready for use. It makes an ideal family laxative; effective for all ages, and may be given the youngest child. INFANTILE PARALYSIS cases of infantile paralysis without any paralysis. A name for the disease is myelitis but it is less well was an epidemic of poliomyelitis in New Mexico in 1927 when 200 cases were reported to the State Bureau of Health. Since then the number of cases occurring in any single year was in the range of 37 cases were reported last year we had ten cases.

Children are most liable to this illness at two years of age. After ten years of age the danger diminishes, though it is possible to contract poliomyelitis at any age. Boys are somewhat susceptible than girls. On average 65 per cent recover after permanent injury though epidemics are more severe.

recognition of the disease is important because there is good evidence that serum treatment will help those exposed and perhaps the patient too if given at the beginning of his illness. Illness comes on suddenly. Its or teachers should be on watch for the following symptoms: (1) headache, (2) constipation, vomiting, (3) slight

(4) prostration, (5) drowsiness, (6) sensitivity of skin, muscles and joints, (7) inability to sweat, especially on the head. Whenever two or three of these symptoms are described a doctor should be called. He will test the responses of the nervous system.

effective methods of prophylaxis await the results of medical research.

Betty and Her Barn

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

WNU Service © by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

WHEN the wolf prowled near enough to the door of the old Wycliff estate to cause young Betty Wycliff serious anxiety she decided that the most sensible thing to do was to sell the old home itself and take up her abode in the stable—commonly called the barn. The new owners were quite willing that she should keep the barn since they would be putting up modern garages.

Its position was in direct line of the railway approach to the glowing little suburb, which, before its tendency to sprout, was justly called Offthemap. But with a generous supply of the fertilizers—builders, estate office, butchers, etc.—the growth began and they wisely changed the name to Onthemap.

So Betty's old barn stood like a veritable lighthouse in its prominent position on High street.

The prowling footpads of the wolf were too close for Betty to have done much except install a bathroom and kitchen and hardwood floors in her barn. She wanted very much to make good in the little village in which all her forefathers had been reared. An attractive sign down at the rustic gate leading to the barn indicated the passery that Miss Wycliff taught dancing and elocution.

Betty's pupils were not so numerous as to effect a traffic block in High street.

It was between a dance and an elocution lesson that Betty watched the approach of a young man.

Betty soon learned that he was the owner of the new department store that was even then nearing completion in the heart of Onthemap's shopping district.

"Miss Wycliff," he jumped straightway into his reason for intruding. "I will pay you $500 down and another $500 when the sign's finished if you will rent out that east wall of your barn to me for advertising purposes—it's a swell site to catch the eye and it need not be too—er—advertised—as it were. What do you say? I'll get an artist that knows his job."

"Wait a moment," cried Betty. "until my brain regains its poise. I never see the outside of my barn—at least not on that side and—a thousand dollars a year would mean an awful lot to me. Do you think—that is—could it be done without a lot of printing?"

"If I have my artist chap consult you before beginning—will that do? And if Onthemap grows as it's bound to and takes my store along with it, you shall have double that rental in another year." And seeing consent in Betty's eyes he arose, squeezed her hand until she nearly squealed and was off to arrange with his artist.

He had not been gone an hour when the owner of the new butcher shop came up the path with the selfsame dreams of an advertisement in his head and the exact same figures in the way of rental.

"But I simply couldn't stand it to have pictures of sausages and those sides of lamb and beef rioting on my barn walls," cried Betty.

"The decorative scheme shall be left entirely to you," said the young butcher, quite overjoyed at the site he had secured.

She retired in a somewhat wilted state to her little kitchen to brew herself a cup of tea. Certainly having walls to one's barn was a greener asset than having a brain in one's head for the teaching of dancing and elocution.

So while Betty sipped her comforting cup of tea the owners of the department store, the butcher shop and the baker shop were one by one dickering with the only artist that Onthemap had ever known. He was but a visitor.

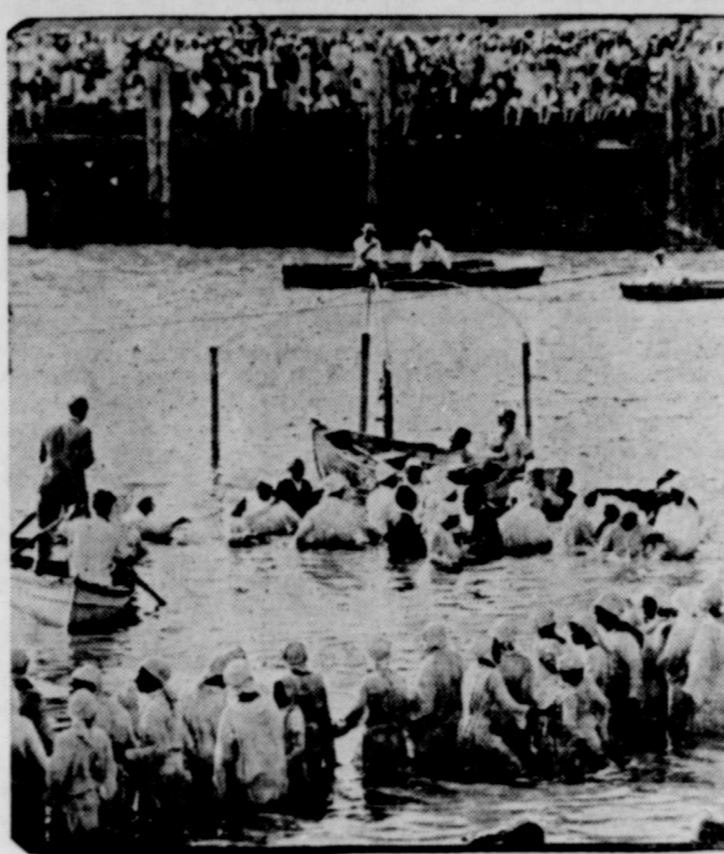

His efforts to secure fame and fortune in miniature painting had so far failed, and it was with extreme joy that he welcomed the orders to take up his brushes in the interest of advertising.

"But you must consult the owner of the barn," each had warned him. "I have a scheme that will suit her," laughed the artist. "We will simply paint crowds of well-dressed people rushing toward the open doors of the shops of you three good gentlemen. It will be a subtle and attractive way of doing the trick."

And because Betty had a brain in her head she promptly started a tea and coffee room in conjunction with elocution and dancing. Young Martin Wells, swinging on his painting scaffold, thought the world a lovely place and wondered why he had ever puddled about with little dabs of paint when he could splash it in bucketfuls on the barn walls of the most lovely girl that either town or suburb had ever produced.

Betty stepped out from time to time to admire the work of the young artist and to gaze wonderingly up at anyone who could so transform the flat walls of a barn into dreams of color. She knew, too, that he would one day be a leading mural decorator and that she—but what else Betty knew was being expressed beautifully in young Wells' eyes as he gazed happily down at her.

WORLD'S FAIR WILL GRADE AND STAPLE REPORT IS ISSUED FROM EL PASO, TEXAS

CHICAGO, Illinois—In less than a month what promises to be the greatest of all world's fairs from the point of attendance, will forever come to a close.

Repeated suggestions and wild rumors that A Century of Progress Exposition will remain open longer, possibly through next year, are entirely without foundation, say fair officials.

The exposition will be definitely closed after October 31, according to Rufus C. Dawes, president and Major Lenox R. Lohr, general manager.

Last minute rush of millions who have not seen it, and more who want a last glimpse, combined with a host of unusual and spectacular features planned for the month, is expected to result in record-breaking crowds during the final month.

A review of weather forecast for October indicates that ideal weather will prevail for the millions who will avail themselves of the cool, crisp, delightful "Indian Summer" days to visit the fair.

Heading the great card for the second week in the month is Chicago Day, Monday, October 9. This event on the same date in 1893 drew 750,000 people to the World's Columbian Exposition.

All leading religious groups and national groups of the city will assemble for a program in the Court of the Hall of Science at 11:00 a. m. Band concerts and choral music will take up most of the afternoon. At night there will be an international water carnival and a gigantic fireworks display, commemorating the Chicago fire. A special program on the stage of the floating theater in North Lagoon will last throughout the evening and until 2:00 a. m.

October 9 will also mark the opening of Autumn Festival Week at the fair, with daily programs of band, concert, choral, instrumental and other music sponsored by the Illinois Federation of Music clubs.

A Century of Progress day will be celebrated Tuesday (October 10), with leading exhibitors and concessionaries parading their wares and shows about the exposition grounds. The 1933 World's Fair will pay tribute to its glorious predecessor of forty years ago on Columbian Exposition day, Wednesday, October 11. In the afternoon there will be a reunion of the Columbian Guards, guide organization of the old fair, and a parade of ancient vehicles, carrying passengers dressed in 1893 costumes. President Cleveland's speech at the old fair will be re-enacted. A brilliant display of fireworks commemorating the 1893 fair, including set pieces of the ferris wheel and "Little Egypt" will wind up the day.

Columbus day, Thursday, October 12 will see commemorative programs by Italian national

THE NATIONAL NRA CENSUS TO START

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A census of all American employment establishments to determine how many men have been returned to work by NRA and how much payrolls have been increased was initiated Monday by the government with hope the answer would be obtained within three weeks.

Other new steps taken to forward industrial steps and hasten recovery included:

Hugh S. Johnson, the NRA chief in the name of President Roosevelt, asked Pennsylvania coal miners to go back to work immediately. His appeal was backed up by a similar one from John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

The national labor board sent telegrams to 50 commercial and trade organizations in 14 key cities asking nominations for industrial representatives on regional mediation boards, simultaneously asking labor organizations to name employe spokesmen while Senator Wagner, the board chairman, began inviting personally selected individuals to act as neutral members.

Pursuant to the request of the proprietors of automobile sales agencies, the Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce made a request of G. D. Macy, state highway engineer, to establish a speedometer checking section on the Carlsbad Cavern highway, says information from Carlsbad. The request has been granted, according to a letter received recently by the chamber of commerce from Mr. Macy. The speedometer checking section is usually five miles in length with accurately established stations located each half mile. In addition to affording motorists facilities to check speedometers, the checking station section of the Cavern highway will suggest to the thousands of motorists thereupon, the constantly up-to-date methods and service of the state highway commission of New Mexico to the motoring public.

Wednesday at noon stocks showed considerable life and cotton rallied in sympathy but lost nearly all the gain closing flat with little interest, traders being inclined to even up in preparation for the coming report.

An increase of two or three hundred thousand bales is looked for next report. This should have but little effect afterward as that amount of increase has been taken care of in the recent decline but a greater increase will send the market downward.

Mill takings are running larger now, foreign demand increasing, and a very general interest taken speculatively on the buying side. These combinations are holding against declines which otherwise would result from hedge selling which is heavy.

Finally cotton is going to sell higher. Just how long this will take is problematic, but by the first of the year the administration's cotton program will be reflected in the market to the holder's advantage.

UNIVERSITY REGISTRATION TOTALS 1018 THIS YEAR

ALBUQUERQUE.—Thirty-one counties in the state and twenty-three states are represented in the registration for the fall term of the University of New Mexico, which to date totals 1,018, an increase of 14 over the registration at this time last year.

Out of 945 students, who have completed their census cards, the registration shows 497 men and 448 women. Students are continuing to enroll and a much larger figure is expected for the semester.

The figures show 610 registered from Bernalillo county. Other counties largely represented are Colfax with 34; Valencia, 28; Santa Fe, 22; Curry, 14; McKinley, San Juan and Torrance, 13 each; Eddy and Quay, 11 each; Chaves and Grant, 9 each. The total to complete registration from New Mexico is 862.

ICKES MAKES PRODUCTION CUT

WASHINGTON, D. ## Count the Cost

Count the cost of poor and insufficient lighting in the case of your school child who studies at home at night. Lack of proper light must eventually work an injury to his or her eyes, and may seriously affect school progress and standing. Note whether the lighting in your home is correctly placed for easy reading and studying, whether it is too bright, or whether it is insufficient.

The cost of the proper modern fixtures is low—and as a rule adequate illumination costs no more in current consumed than haphazard lights here and there.
