Schools located in some of the Lea county oil districts are expected to show 100 percent increase in attendance before the close of the present year. At Jal the enrollment last year was seventy in the grade school and twenty in the high school. This year the Jal grade school enrollment has already passed the 111 mark and twenty-five in the high school. The number of school teachers at Eunice was increased from two to three over last year and it is thought more teachers will be necessary immediately.

TWO ANIMALS KILLED ON WATTS RANCH AND ONE ON RUNYAN RANCH; TWO SEEN IN THE COTTONWOOD AREA RECENTLY.

Edd Watts, rancher of the Dunken area, was probably the first rancher to kill a bear after they had molested his sheep. Using dogs, a small male bear was treed and shot and another mother bear weighing 300 pounds or better was shot while being trailed by the dogs on the Watts ranch. Frank Runyan, Penasco rancher, is also said to have killed a bear while the animal was in the act of killing one of his sheep.

LACK OF FORAGE CAUSES BLACK BEAR TO MOVE TO THE RANGES

"Thar's bar in them thar hills," and the "bars" have kept coming, if we may believe the various reports, until they have reached the Cottonwood community. Ranchers say it is the lack of forage in the mountains that has caused the black bears to seek better pasturage and only once in the past twenty-five years has there been the wholesale migration of bears that has been witnessed the past two weeks. More than a score of bears have been sighted in the settlements to the southwest, west and northwest.

SEARCHERS FAIL TO FIND WILD MAN OF THE QUEEN SECTION

Search for a wild man in the Queen community in southwestern Eddy county by two Eddy county deputy sheriffs, a national guard officer and a posse of ten citizens ended Friday without success. The man is alleged to have terrorized the community for more than a month, robbing sheep camps and ranches. He is believed to be hiding in some of the numerous caves. Murphy Hayhurst, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Syferd of Artesia, and rancher of that section, surprised the wild man last week and shot at him, but is believed to have missed. While Hayhurst had gone to a neighboring ranch about six miles away, the wild man barbecued a goat and ate it near the Hayhurst ranch house.

THE WILD MAN, SAID TO BE ACTIVE AS A DEER, IS OF AVERAGE HEIGHT AND WEIGHT. HE IS USUALLY CLEAN SHAVEN, BUT WEARS BLACK HAIR WELL BELOW HIS SHOULDERS.

BIG DEVELOPMENT IN FARM CONDITIONS IS FELT OVER COUNTRY

A recent survey which covered practically every important state in the Southwest showed, after all evidence had been gathered and compiled by governmental statisticians, that the present improvement in farming conditions will do much toward alleviating conditions over the country.

One well-known senator, who before was inclined to be particularly reserved in his comments, went so far as to say that the present conditions look "exceptionally gratifying" upon learning that winter grass and fall crops are looking better than ever before.

State after state, from the great state of California to that of Texas and up as far as Iowa, keep turning in favorable reports, and all indications at last point to a genuine upturn in business, beginning, of course, with agriculture, the nation's mainstay.

In brief, these reports say: Archer County, Texas, home demonstration club women so far this year have cured 16,831 pounds of meat, canned 6,403 quarts of fruits and vegetables, and made 190 pounds of American cheese as part of the living-at-home program.

Value of Kansas dairy products will, for 1934, closely approach the 1933 figure of $23,229,200.83, it was reported, with possibility that prices will be considerably higher than previously, however.

Colorado land values are picking up and will doubtless be higher than they were last year. In addition, this state says that this will be a good turkey year, several of the growers planning on making year-around production a common thing. Bean canning is under way night and day.

There is a wide demand for Arizona-grown lettuce this year. Shipments during the past season have been made to 43 states, the District of Columbia and Canada. And a new state record was set by Sybil Sue, a Jersey cow, with 15,355 pounds of milk and 806 pounds of butterfat.

Curry County, New Mexico, a great wheat country, is planning on planting a heavy acreage the coming fall. Much of the plowing already has been done. A heavy acreage will also be planted in Early Grano Onions in the Mesilla Valley. This onion is a new variety which has been developed by the State Experiment Station.

Twenty-four hundred sacks of potatoes from 100 acres of land were harvested by a pioneer potato grower of California. Some of the first crop, it was reported, grown on land that had never been cultivated before, averaged as high as 400 sacks to the acre. Citrus fruit sales are picking up considerably, too.

Cotton acreage for the great Southwest totals 15,541,500 acres for 1934 while in 1933 it was 22,917,100 acres, or more than 55 per cent of the entire cotton acreage in the United States. Texas, of course, has the largest acreage, Oklahoma next, with New Mexico next to the bottom of the list of eight states comprising the Southwestern division.

Increasing use of trench silos to save the corn crop is being made in parts of Oklahoma. Trench silos, built with very little cost and without a great deal of labor, offer one of the best methods of combating feed shortage, hence the increase.

An all-time record for citrus sales was made by the California Fruit Growers' Exchange on July 2nd, when 538 carloads of packed fruit were sold at prices that returned more than three-quarters of a million dollars to California.

And in Texas, farmers plan to spend about $26,000,000 during the next three years for new houses, while this year they will probably spend about $10,000,000 for repairs and improvements. This will result in an estimated expenditure for the state of $58,000,000.

Such enthusiasm on the part of the farmer and such improvement on the part of Old Mother Nature are bound to result in only one thing—and that is better times!

NUMBER OF HOME LOAN OFFICES TO CLOSE OUT

Due to the slowing up in the number of home loan applications branch offices of the Home Loan association in the state, at Santa Fe, Raton, Gallup and Silver City, will be discontinued September 15th, it was reported.

All applications hereafter will be handled through the main office located at Albuquerque, said E. C. Robertson, state manager. Branches at Las Vegas, Roswell, Clovis and Las Cruces will remain open indefinitely.

THE ABC OF SAFETY

The cause of safety has a very simple and important A. B. C. The letters mean—Always Be Careful.

That motto should govern conduct in every home, in every place of business—and especially in every automobile. Because it is constantly violated, thousands of people die needlessly each year, 33,000 of them in motor accidents alone, and property damage runs into the billions. In no other nation do accidents take so great a toll.

There is nothing difficult about "playing safe." The main thing to remember is to never take a needless chance—never do anything unnecessarily that might lead to injury. An automobile driver, for example, can probably pass cars on curves nine hundred and ninety-nine times without anything happening. On the thousandth time he may kill and maim and injure. The element of risk is always there—a little thought will reduce it to a minimum.

There is no greater and more absolute waste than that caused by accidents. No kind of waste possesses less justification—the unavoidable accident is so rare as to be almost non-existent. Nearly every accident is caused because someone was reckless, careless, ignorant. Remember the A. B. C. of safety—and you will be doing your part to eliminate hazards that menace every citizen.

CREATING EMPLOYMENT

A large number of prominent industrialists, along with an army of public officials and economists, are of the opinion that simulated residential construction offers the best chance of accelerating the pace of recovery.

Construction is a local industry. The money that is spent goes first to local people—to workers, contractors, building supply houses. Every business in the community is benefitted, from the corner grocery to the electric utility. Every pocketbook feels that fattening effect of construction dollars.

The great drive to boom construction is getting underway now. Private capital that has been tied up in non-productive channels is going to work. A vast need for housing exists, in both urban and rural localities—there has never been so great a potential demand for better and more modern homes.

So far as the individual citizen is concerned, he is now being offered an unprecedented opportunity to build on extremely favorable terms. Almost all the costs involved—from paint to interest charges—are well under previous levels. It is the part of wisdom to make the fullest possible use of that opportunity.

INCREASE IN FARM INCOME

The drouth wiped out the crops of some of our richest farming states—but the national farm income this year will total up considerably more than the lost. Reason for that is the sharp rise in the value of what crops remain. Corn will bring double last year's prices—livestock, poultry, and dairy products, which constitute the bulk of the farm income, will bring in $700,000,000 more than they did in 1933.

Dun and Bradstreet forecasts that the increase in total farm income will be from 20 to 25 per cent—about $1,500,000,000. Standard Statistics believes the rise will amount to $2,000,000,000. Government experts unofficially say that the increase will be around $1,000,000,000. Thus, there is considerable difference of opinion as to how much more the farmer will have to spend when 1934 closes—but every agency is certain his pockets will be better lined than before—and principal credit for this improvement in the financial condition of the great majority of farmer goes to old Mother Nature's system of adjusting supply and demand.

"How is it?" inquired the plumber, arriving at last to mend a broken water pipe.
"Not so bad," replied the householder. "While we were waiting for you, I've taught my wife to swim."

HOW THE ADVENTISTS IMPROVE THE WORLD

How many people in Hagerman know that the Seventh Day Adventists conduct a local grade school for students, in most cases children of members of the congregation?

We'll venture that not more than 50 per cent do. And the peculiar part is that it is such an old institution, too; for it has been here approximately 15 years, and in that time has sent out into the world many well-educated and christian-minded persons.

The school is conducted so quietly, without pomp or publicity, that outside of church circles it still remains unknown. But its school officials prefer this method, insisting that in this manner its intended purpose can be accomplished two-fold.

This year, for example, another teacher is being added to the staff of one. This will enable the school to adequately take care of those grades between the seventh and the tenth. And after finishing high school they can, if they so wish, go to the Adventists Junior College, located at Keene, Texas, and from there to their famous college in Lincoln, Nebraska.

"The first week of school 18 students enrolled," says Miss Esther Hardt, teacher for this school year, who is a new addition to Hagerman. "But we are assured of considerable more, and as soon as the other teacher arrives, then our enrollment will jump to the normal."

Miss Hardt, by the way, is an enthusiastic teacher, greatly interested in the work which she is doing. Before coming here she taught in Roswell and for a time was connected with the Adventists schools in Amarillo. So she brings with her a wealth of experience, which should result in still more improvement in this local denominational school.

"We keep within the state requirements, regarding subjects," she said in outlining the work done at the school. "For instance, we teach all the elementary subjects, from the first grade on through, including the sixth—that is, arithmetic, music, reading, language, spelling, geography, penmanship and nature studies. We also teach sewing; of course, adopting it to each grade's ability."

The school room—or we should say rooms, now, as a new one has just been added—is located in the church building. The new room has not yet had its seats installed but this will be done shortly, creating a place for the exclusive use of the higher grades. Both are well-lighted, properly heated and quite suitable to the school's needs.

A word about the Bible study. Many parents are prone to be a bit skeptical, or doubtful, concerning the so-called Bible school. Here, the Bible is not made the prime subject; it is revered, respected, studied and the students taught the proper spirit relative to such work. However, the influence which the book has on the work of the students falls right in line with their studies in geography, language, etc. This is the work of the Seventh Day Adventists school.

EVERY FARMER ASKED TO MAKE AT LEAST ONE ENTRY AT FAIR

ROSWELL, New Mexico—More exhibitors than ever before at the Eastern New Mexico State Fair to be held in Roswell October 3, 4, 5 and 6, is the ambition of the directors of the fair this year. They want every farmer in Eastern New Mexico—or the entire state if possible—to make at least one entry. A complete premium list which will be sent on request provides almost unlimited opportunity for every farmer to compete for the cash prizes, and there is no entry fee in the products department. The management hopes to make this a real showing to the world that despite drouth "New Mexico can take it" and produce wonderful crops.

Old timers day, October 5, will be another big occasion for those who have lived in New Mexico thirty years or longer. An old timers parade in which no motor vehicles will be permitted will be a feature of the morning and the old timers will be guests at a barbecue at noon. The big spectacular opening parade promises this year to excel previous years, with entries from many points of the state.

A big rodeo each afternoon, to which only amateurs are eligible, will be one of the big entertainment factors. In addition to the usual carnival features at the fair grounds, there will be free entertainment at frequent intervals each day and night. Admission to the grounds is free up to five o'clock in the afternoon after which the nominal charge of ten cents for adults will apply.

Calling Cards, 100 for $1.75, on best grade paneled or plain stock.—The Messenger.

word; covers every nationality, every race. The salary of the teachers is contributed by each local congregation which, with the work, is regulated by a school superintendent, just as in the public school system. For this division, The Texaco, Clovis is headquarters. Teachers must meet state requirements just as their sisters in the public schools.

Miss Hardt finds, she said, that the cooperation in Hagerman between the local and denominational school is one of the best examples in the state. The public school carries the Adventists' school children to and from school every day without charge. The two schools cooperate in other ways also.

First, the local Adventists church should be congratulated on the work which it has continued for many years, surviving the depression, and adding another teacher and more students when other schools over the country are cutting teachers' salaries or closing schools; and second, Hagerman should be congratulated on having such a fine example of devotion to one ideal—that of giving those who desire it the broadest kind of education possible, which combines the three R's with a christian background.

Origins of Names "Guiana" and "Guinea" Unknown

The Encyclopaedia Britannica says that the origin of the names "Guiana" and "Guinea" as applied to countries in South America and Africa are not known for certain. "Guiana" may be derived from the name of a small river in South America, which is a tributary of the Orinoco, called "Waini" or "Gualinai." There is also an Indian word somewhat similar, which means "wild coast." Or it may be derived from the name of an Indian tribe found there when the land was discovered, known as the Guayana tribe.

The name "Guinea" is applied to the western coast region of equatorial Africa, and to the gulf formed by the great bend of coast line east and then south. Guinea once began as far north as Cape Nun, opposite the Canary Islands. The name is probably taken from "Ghinea," "Ginle," "Genni," or "Jenne," a town or kingdom in the basin of the Niger, famed for its enterprising merchants, dating from the eighth century A. D. The word may be derived from "Ghana" (or Ghanaata), the name of the oldest state in western Sudan. Various parts of this country were named for the productions characteristic of them.

Fish Live Many Years, but Life in Depths Perilous

Some members of the carp family have lived in captivity more than 100 years without showing signs of senile decay, as do land animals, which experience deterioration of arteries, muscles and various other organs.

Of course, fish die "natural" deaths from disease, parasites and larger fish and run the constant risk of being stranded or dashed to death on rocks and passing boats or ships. Life in the depths is perilous, so perhaps no fish is able to live out whatever its span of life should be.

Whether fish sleep is another question that science never has been able to answer definitely. Fish often are seen motionless at the bottom of shallow streams and near the shore, but whether they are sleeping or remaining quiet, either in wait for prey or to escape the eyes of larger fish, has not been determined with any degree of finality.

The probability is that fish do not sleep like land animals, because their eyes are lidless and therefore the creatures cannot close them.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Almanac Origin Ancient

The almanac, which like the Bible is found in all proper farm homes, dates far back into antiquity, its origin having been traced at least as far back as the Fifth century after Christ and hint of even earlier origin is found. With the advent of the printing press and the discovery of scientific methods of studying the skies and the weather, the almanac came into its own. The earlier additions were often carefully prepared and held much misinformation but after 1828 when the Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge issued its first almanac, the general run of almanacs has been of high caliber. The best known of the American almanacs was the Poor Richard tome of Benjamin Franklin, which was issued in 1732 for the first time.—Washington Star.

Diving for Firewood

In the islands of Hawaii, which you will find marked on your atlas opposite the west coast of North America, wood is scarcer than in many other parts of the world. The forests are far away from the sea, and even today, the natives often dive for their firewood. A certain amount of timber is washed down by rivers, and being of a very heavy sort, it sinks to the bottom of the water. The natives go to the mouths of the rivers, and there they wade and swim and dive, always on the lookout for trunks and big branches. When they find such treasures, mostly by feeling for them with their feet, they get ropes, and tow the stuff ashore, everybody including the women and children lending a hand.—Montreal Herald.

LARGE INCREASES IN FOOD PRICES WILL BE FOUGHT BY CONSUMERS

A warning to consumers against being stampeded by false rumors about the food situation was issued by Dr. Frederic C. Howe, Consumers' Counsel of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Consumers were urged to follow closely the actual effect of the drought lest they be victimized by unjustified price advances.

"Exaggerated reports are being spread as to prospective increases in the price of foods" said Dr. Howe. "That misrepresentation takes advantage of consumers and exposes them to raids by profiteers. But consumers should follow closely official reports on the movement of food supplies and prices. These will help them to buy wisely and economically, and to spot unwarranted price increases."

Some food prices will undoubtedly rise, Dr. Howe pointed out, partly in line with usual seasonal changes, partly because of drought-reduced supplies, as in the case particularly of meats and poultry products. But there will be food sufficient for the larger part of the usual American food requirements.

"We are going to give consumers every possible help in judging the fairness of price changes," the Consumers' Counsel stated. "We are going to do everything we can to develop intelligent buyer skepticism, and tell the housewife how to feed her family well on low-priced but nutritious foods."

The Consumers' Counsel's efforts in the face of rising bread and cotton textile prices last summer and fall, Dr. Howe said, had demonstrated the possibilities of checking price advances by informative publicity. By publicizing changes in bread prices in relation to ingredient costs, the public was kept informed as to justified changes. The majority of bakers cooperated and for nearly twelve months the price of bread has kept in close correspondence with legitimate price increases.

LESS CRUST AND MORE FILLING MAKES SUMMER PIES MORE OF A SUCCESS

One crust's enough for any summer pie. And if that one crust is made of crumbed crackers—wholesome, easily digested and most easily prepared—and filled with a short-cut custard and fruit filling, you will have a perfect summer dessert.

Magis Raspberry Cream Pie
1 1/3 cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 cup raspberries
1/2 cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons sugar
Unbaked crumb crust.

Blend together the sweetened condensed milk and lemon juice. Add raspberries and pour into pie lined with unbaked vanilla wafer crumb crust. Cover with whipped cream sweetened with confectioners' sugar. Chill before serving.

Peach Cream Pie
1 1/3 cups sweetened condensed milk
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 cup sliced peaches
1/2 cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons of confectioners' sugar
Unbaked crumb crust.

Blend together sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice and peaches and pour into crumb crust. Cover with whipped cream lightly sweetened and chill before serving.

To prepare unbaked crumb crust: Roll enough vanilla wafers to make 3/4 cup of crumbs. Cut enough vanilla wafers in halves to stand around edge of pie plate. Cover bottom of the plate with crumbs and fill in spaces between crackers. Pour in filling as usual, and cover with whipped cream.

Acknowledging that business conditions are bad, there are still some people who, now that things are on the up-and-up, did not realize how bad things were, as in the instance of the young man of Jewish extraction who, when he was informed that there had been a fire in the White House in Washington, exclaimed, "My gosh, I didn't know things were that bad."

P. T. A. MEETING

The P. T. A. met on Tuesday afternoon with the president, Mrs. Robert Cumpsten, in charge, and Mrs. Ernest Utterback, secretary, also present.

It was strictly a business meeting. Committees for the year were appointed, and plans for the year partly outlined. There are plans for a new flag, and magazines for the school.

There was a fair attendance. All who are interested are urged to attend all meetings.

PARTY HONORING MISS MILDRED KEY

Miss Mildred Key, a September bride, was charmingly honored on Thursday of last week when a great host of her friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Charles Michelet and as tokens of friendship presented her with an array of lovely gifts for her future home.

Guests were received into rooms gay with brilliant hued autumn flowers and from there were ushered to the beautiful lawn where games under the supervision of Mrs. T. D. Devenport proved to be very enjoyable.

Iced tea and cake was served to about forty guests by Mrs. Michelet and her co-hostesses, Mesdames T. D. Devenport and Blanche Hughes.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEET

The Presbyterian Missionary society met on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bayard Curry.

The lesson topic, "India and Orientals in America" was very interesting. Each member taking active part in the lesson.

Present were Mesdames J. A. Hedges, Robert Cumpsten, T. D. Devenport, M. D. Menoud, H. J. Cumpsten and the hostess.

MOVIE SPOTLIGHT

That new picture "Bordertown" is eagerly awaited, for it stars the incomparable Paul Muni in a role that is reported to offer him an even greater dramatic opportunity than "I Am A Fugitive." Opposite the star is Bette Davis. Margaret Lindsay has another leading feminine role. Arnie Mayo is the director.

Earle Stanley Gardner's huge success, "The Case of the Howling Dog," which ran serially in Liberty, is considered one of the biggest successes in filmland for 1935—this is the opinion of those who saw the "rushes" of the picture for the first time. Warren William is said to be at his best, and the other performers, Mary Astor, Gordon Westcott, Helen Trenholme, Russell Hicks, out-perform their past records.

"Gowns Galore," is the way one star put it. And that's the way it is, too. Orry Kelly, style genius of the movie world, has designed some 30 stunning new creations for Muni's latest picture. Bette Davis and Margaret Lindsay wear them. And oh! how they do wear 'em!

Travelers: Al Jolson and Michael Curtis arrived in Hollywood last week after an absence of several months. The former will begin work soon on his starring picture, "Casino De Paree," while Curtis will direct "The Skipper of Ispahan."

Three new and unusual productions are on schedule these days, now being edited for immediate release. They are "The Firebird," starring Veree Teasdale, Ricardo Cortez and Lionel Atwill; "A Perfect Weekend," with Patricia Ellis, Allen Jenkins and Spencer Chartiers, and "Six Day Bike Rider," with at wide-open-mouthed Joe E. Brown in the titled role and including the laugh-provoking Frank McHugh.

Irene Dunne, who usually rates the best roles of any of the favored actors, will be able to add another feather to her pert hat now. She has been selected from among hundreds of applicants for the principal role in "Sweet Adeline," soon to begin production under the capable direction of Mervyn LeRoy.

COTTONWOOD ENROLLMENT ABOVE THAT OF LAST YEAR

The enrollment at both the Upper and Lower Cottonwood is above last year. A full attendance at either school is usually prevented in the early fall due to the cotton picking season. Tabulations of the attendance at Lower Cottonwood school at the close of last week gave the attendance between forty-five and fifty according to Ray Zumwalt, principal. The enrollment at Upper Cottonwood reached fifty-eight Monday, I. H. Burgess, principal, stated.

Up at Espulla they are getting pretty tough. They even electrocute kitty pusses. Last week when a cat crawled into the bottom part of an electric ice box at the Rambo store, the animal caused a burned out motor, and created a blaze that threatened the store building. We were under the impression that neither Mr. nor Mrs. Rambo believed in capital punishment.

A naval officer fell overboard. He was rescued by a deck hand. The officer asked his preserver how he could reward him.

"The best way, sir," said Jack, "is to say nothing about it. If the other fellows knew I'd pulled you out, they'd chuck me in."

A White Elephant

Every merchant, at one time or another, has a white elephant on his hands—something which he can't get rid of.

At his wit's end, he either throws or gives it away, or sells at a loss. But why should he do this when advertising was created for just such a moment?

The only way to rid yourself of a white elephant is to advertise in the cheapest medium, your local newspaper.

Three Bears and Goldilocks

By MARY CARR

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. (WNU Service)

ONCE upon a time there were three bears—a great big bear, a middle-sized bear and a little bear.

The great big bear was John Holman. He was twenty-four, and he was an exceedingly attractive young man.

The middle-sized bear was Hollis Holman. He was fifty-five, and an exceedingly attractive middle-aged man.

The little bear was Darius Holman. He was seventy-nine, and he was a most lovable old man.

Barbara was the Goldilocks of this story, and she lived in the house of the three bears.

"You're just bears, all of you," said Barbara.

"I wish you wouldn't, Goldilocks," said young John. "I'll be skiddy as the dickens on those high hills."

"It isn't just the money they want—though grandfather was a darling to give me all this.

HEALTH COLUMN

Underweight

Too much attention should not be paid to the child's weight for height and age.

The poorly nourished child may be pale, lazy, with flabby muscles and poor posture; or he may be wiry, nervous and overactive, with no tissue between him and his skin.

Underweight may be due to one or a combination of several causes: infection of tonsils or teeth causing loss of appetite.

It is a common mistake to think that all malnutrition is due to poverty and that all we need do is to provide a little extra milk to every child who is underweight.

The public health nurse should be responsible, first for finding out why each is undernourished; then for explaining to the parents what is wrong and how it may be remedied.

In the health survey it was found that the children of New Mexico are better nourished than in the country as a whole.

FREEZING SWEET CORN RETAINS ITS FRESHNESS

Sweet corn frozen on the cob and marketed six months to a year after it is harvested may seem fresher and sweeter than sweet corn bought at the market with husks still fresh.

It is a commonplace that city dwellers who buy from city markets can never really enjoy the very highest quality of corn-on-the-cob because the sugars in corn begin changing to starches as soon as the corn is removed from the stalk.

In diehling corn on the cob, H. C. Fiehl and J. A. Berry, in their experiments for the department, worked the material rapidly, and usually gathered, sorted, graded, husked, scalded, and cooled the corn for freezing within 4 hours.
