Preparations are being made by the girls' glee club to enter the musical festival to be held at Carlsbad on March 21. Directed by Miss Robinson, they will sing, "Welcome Sweet Spring Time," by Bernstein-Rich.

THE MEN OF TOMORROW

In a recent notice received of the next edition of "America's Distinguished Young Men," there will be an authoritative compilation of biographical sketches of the nation's leaders of tomorrow. The selection will be made among outstanding men, under the age of forty, whose records are being made in affairs of government, commerce, civic life, art, education, agriculture, industry, science, commerce and the professions. Types vary from those in aviation to those in federal department of justice, from senators of important national and international organizations. Ninety-five percent are college graduates, and thirty-five per cent saw active service during the world war.

Parties

In large sections of the country January is the "party month." It happens many states observe Washington's birthday and Lincoln's birthday, and always there is St. Valentine's Day. I like to think of them educationally, for they do represent opportunities. In the first place, the party itself is an educational situation, since after all the fun is in the acquisition of experience. In turn, party experiences lead to habits, attitudes, and convictions. But the kind and influence of the experiences depends a lot upon the habits behind the scenes. We are the little deencies and qualities of behavior. To feel at ease at mixed social affairs is a quality many times in life. The party offers the chance to give that quality to children at an early age. Through games and stunts we can build an attitude toward companionship. We can make fun a primary object of playing. We are very wise we can do more for the self-conscious, shy, retiring child than by any other means our disposal. The "cats" are always important guests. While we shouldn't have health diets at parties, we can have attractive and tasty combinations of fruits, custards, ice cream, and cakes. For beverages, punch and iced chocolate drinks can't be beat. A pure drink at the end is never objectionable. Finally, we can, as sponsors, observe the bedtime rule in the evening parties.

California Doctor Declares The Early Stage Cancer Is Curable

SACRAMENTO, California — Cancer, even in its advanced stages, is an arrestable disease, Dr. Charles A. Dukes of Oakland, president of the American College of Surgeons, said here Sunday in a bulletin published by the State Health Department.

Dr. Dukes said, however, there were but three reliable ways to treat the malignant disease—by X-ray, radium and the surgical knife.

"There are no secret cancer cures, no serums nor injections of value," he added.

"Cancer is a disease, personal to the individual who has it, and cannot be transmitted in any known way to another person," Dr. Dukes went on.

"Even if you have neglected treatment until the disease is well advanced, still it may be arrested. More than 1,000 advanced cases in one clinic, were treated during the past three years and definite arrestment was reported in more than 800 cases.

"This, and the reports from many other such clinics, warrant us in saying that advanced cancer is an arrestable disease.

"In the early stages, the cure of cancer rests largely with the individual. Prompt and adequate surgical attention is the very best insurance for the cure and against the spread of the disease.

"The medical profession has long preached the gospel of early treatment, but in spite of this, thousands have died through delay, or recourse to quacks, or self-medication."

Dr. Dukes said the reason there is so much pessimism and fear about cancer is that because until recent years, early diagnosis of cancer was rarely made and the disease was usually so far advanced before the patients sought treatment that nearly all of them died.

Roswell Meeting 25-26 Is Important To Local Stockmen

ALBUQUERQUE—With a number of the most vital problems the livestock industry has ever faced coming up for discussion at the annual joint convention of the two state associations in Roswell March 25-26, presidents of both organizations are urging the fullest possible attendance.

Because of many common problems the state Woolgrowers Association and the state Cattlegrowers Association will meet jointly.

President Floyd Lee of the former group and President Lee S. Evans of the latter association have issued an urgent call to all members of both bodies to make every possible effort to attend the Roswell meeting. They believe that the benefit the individual member will receive will compensate him richly for the expense of attending.

The new grazing districts being established under the recently enacted Taylor grazing law will provide one of the principal topics of discussion. The federal government is embarking on a radically new policy of public domain administration, and livestock leaders point out the necessity of being fully informed on this vital matter.

Direct marketing, federal loans, freight and trucking rates, Forest Service regulations and fees and tariff recommendations will all be gone into extensively at the meeting.

Interesting People

Noah S. West
Noah S. West was born in Arkansas, and reared in Grant county of that state. As a lad he learned the arts of farming, and has followed that profession the most of his life.

In the winter of 1900 and 1901 he moved to the Staked Plains of Texas, near Hale Center, Texas. And in the autumn of 1902 they moved to the Pecos valley, where they have since resided. He married Miss Mattie Mullis of Arkansas. There are six children in their family: Guy, Beryl (Mrs. Lester Walters), Joe, Roy, Jeff, and Ruth. The first three boys are all connected with college teaching faculties. Jeff is a farmer near Hagerman and Miss Ruth is a student in San Jose, California.

There were years from 1904 to 1927 that he shipped apples from the valley. For twenty-five years he sold real estate, for a few years maintaining an office in Roswell. He was mayor of our little city in 1910, and has served on the board of the Northern Canal company for twenty-six years.

For twenty-four years he has served on the school board, and watched with pride that institution grow from a mere handful to several hundred, and from the small brick and frame building to the present modern buildings and equipment.

In 1914 he was master of the Masonic lodge. He has always been interested in the welfare of the community and public, and is listed among the pioneer builders of this section of the Pecos valley.

CAVE TRAVEL CONTINUES TO BREAK OLD RECORDS

The travel to the Carlisbad Caverns continues to break all previous records. There were 2,735 visitors during the month of February 1935 from forty-six states and twelve foreign countries. February 1935 was 455 visitors ahead of the same period in 1934, the previous high February. In February 1924 when the Caverns were first opened there were only 35 visitors.

That is what thousands of people are getting through scientific latest discovery—the Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil concentrated in little sugar coated tablets without any of its horrid, fatty taste or smell.

McGoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, they're called! "Cod Liver Oil in Tablets", and they really work wonders. A little boy of 8, seriously sick, got well and gained 10 1/2 lbs. in just one month. A girl of thirteen after the same disease, gained 12 lbs. the first week and 2 lbs. each week after. A young mother who could not eat or sleep after baby came got all her health back and gained 10 lbs. in less than a month.

You simply must try McGoy's at once. Remember if you don't gain at least 3 lbs. of firm healthy flesh in a month get your money back. Demand and get McGoy's (the original) and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablets.

March Issue Of State Magazine Is Very Interesting

Four writers who have won a national audience enliven the pages of New Mexico Magazine for March, just published.

Kyle Crichton, formerly of Albuquerque and now on the staff of Collier's, The National Weekly, contributes "Lament of La Bajada," a sparkling story in humorous vein.

Earl W. Scott, master writer of mystery material, presents "The Lost Road," a short-story, new in type to New Mexico Magazine.

Under the title "The Kid Still Rides," Eugene Cunningham offers an arresting article on New Mexico's most famous bad boy, Billy the Kid.

S. Omar Barker, long a favorite of New Mexico Magazine readers, returns to its pages with a feature that leaves a laugh with every line, "Practically A Pal To the Squirrels."

How cowboy songs originated is told by Jules Verne Allen under the title, "Singin' Along," in "Ghosts Walk in Georgetown." Alford Roos reveals the evolution of ghost mining towns; Carl Livingston unfolds the story of McKittrick Canyon; while "New Mexico Santos" by Gilberto Espinosa and "Lump of Gold" by Hugh Bryan round out as varied an offering as the magazine has made in many a day. These, with the seven established departmental features and a wealth of pictorial material, make the March issue one that explains why the state magazine of national interest has added more than 1,900 new subscribers since December 1.

Programs Helping Farmers-Stockmen

Agricultural and business leaders of New Mexico fully realize that the agricultural adjustment programs have been of great benefit to the farmers and stockmen of the state, according to R. R. Will, assistant director, adjustment programs, State College, New Mexico, who has recently contacted representative citizens in many New Mexico counties.

Not only have the various crop and livestock programs been instrumental in raising the prices of agricultural products, but many producers have benefited under the crop insurance features. Extreme drought during 1934 wiped out a large part of the state's agricultural production and unfortunate farmers in the areas affected have secured benefit payments under their adjustment contracts which are the chief source of farm income.

It is generally realized that with the return of normal moisture conditions and good crops, the control of production will be necessary in order to prevent surplus production which, many times in the past, has depressed prices and lowered farm income.

In many counties of the state, county treasurers report that benefit payments to farmers and stockmen under AAA programs have had a material effect upon the current percentage of tax collections. Many farmers would have been unable to pay their taxes had it not been for the income received from their benefit payments. Business men report that business conditions have been greatly strengthened because farmers have been able to buy needed supplies with their benefit checks.

An increase of respect for the soundness of the agricultural adjustment programs is apparent among the people of the state. A year ago it was the general inclination to regard them as emergency measures necessary for the time being only. There seems to be a growing belief that the principles back of agricultural adjustment are sound and that they should be incorporated in some kind of a permanent program.

PRESIDENT BUYS FIRST BABY BONDS

WASHINGTON — Six "baby" bonds were purchased by President Roosevelt Tuesday in a White House ceremony that signalized a nation-wide offering to the "little fellow" of a new government security.

Mr. Roosevelt purchased a $25 bond for each of his five grand children and one of the same denomination for himself. They were the first sold of the initial offering.

It is the first time since world war days that the government has made such arrangements to sell its securities to the "little fellow."

Health Column Cuts $92,000 From Appropriation

Conducted by Dr. J. R. Earp, Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.

Attack the Home

The home is the citadel of vice. The forces of vice in the city streets are hotly contested. We have established juvenile courts and reform schools, play grounds have been built, recreation organized. There are Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, Boy Builders and Big Brothers. At school we have medical examinations and clinics for corrective work. We provide hot lunches and social ideals.

The homes from which these children come are private, but some of them have recently come under the scrutiny of the U. S. Public Health Service at the request of the Housing Division of the Public Works Administration. "A third of our population" it is found, "lives in structures unfit for human habitation." Contributing to the higher sickness and mortality rates in these unfit homes are impure water supply, insanitary toilets, overcrowding, lack of light, lack of adequate ventilation, excessive dampness, dilapidation and lack of screening against flies and mosquitoes.

American homes have supplied to the school system in recent years 15,000 children who are blind, and over 50,000 more whose sight is so poor that they should be in special classes; 340,000 whose hearing is impaired to such an extent that they should be taught lip reading; 300,000 cripples; about a million children with speech defects that need treatment and so on. Many many children do not survive to school age. In New Mexico more than 10 per cent succumb before they have lived in the home for a year.

One sixth of our homes are wrecked by divorce. How many more founder because of death, desertion, or invalidity of the bread winner we do not know.

More fatal accidents occur at home than in automobiles. In 1934 there were 369 fatal accidents in New Mexico. Of these 124 were due to automobiles, 140 happened in the home.

It is unsafe to be drunk in order in the streets. In the home only the children know what happens to your wife, wife can see what happens to children it is much safer.

The home is private.

Is it not time for action as critics and inquisitors, aimed to destroy but to rebuild—attack the home.
