A chaser for the blues, according to one city man's prescription, is a trip among the farms, whatever method you may choose. Observe the marvelous process of nature in yielding to the needs of man. Every year the grass springs forth; every year seeds send forth shoots, growing into wheat for flour, or cotton to make cloth. Likewise little pigs grow into pork and sheep produce wool for blankets.

Thus in that panoramic thought or view is a simple lesson on faith, a panacea for our many imagined worries and ills. Instead of trying to cross a future river of fear and insecurity, we might try a little harder to do our part, whatever that may be, and put our faith and trust in nature, who has always rewarded our efforts with food and clothes.

Will someone kindly explain—so that we may understand—just why the unfinished culvert near the school grounds? It is certainly an eye-sore, to say nothing of the danger it could incur. Is there a Huey Long in Hagerman that the Hon. Ickes has a grudge against?

It seems rather pitiful, that old people were misled in regard to the old age pension plan. Certainly we are in favor of some reasonable plan of social security, whereby those who have reached the years of physical inactivity, in other words, too old to work, and through no fault of their own, have not the wherewith to properly keep body and soul together—may be provided for.

As we said in the beginning, some reasonable plan. NO AMERICAN MAN OR WOMAN wants to lose their individuality, or be absorbed in a dictatorship plan of having doled out to them, a living. In other words, "I'll give you so much money, but you must spend it as I say." You've heard a thousand times the old saying: "Johnny you must learn to swim but don't go near the water." Somehow the absurdity of saying that a man must spend so much money, reminds us of that old admonition.

We've always (and yet are not convinced) had a pet theory, that environment would bring out the best in individuals, but the other day that little theory had a setback, when Columbia University announced the result of one of their experiments on the twins, Johnny and Jimmy Woods. Johnny, who had the best of training, tried to eat the cake candies. Reminds one of the story about the host who, with a limited amount of very fine wine, asked the assembled guests: "Would they drink like pigs or gentlemen." You know the rest.

SACRA PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY DENIED

SANTA FE—District Judge Colin Neblett held Saturday the Frazier-Lemke act applied only to farmers and not to cattlemen engaged only in the ranching business, in dismissing the bankruptcy action of Thomas A. Sacra of Roswell.

Dismissal of Sacra's petition under the Frazier-Lemke act was sought by the Pacific National Agricultural Credit corporation in seeking to recover on $49,168 in notes. Judge Neblett said federal district judges in other circuits had made similar rulings regarding this interpretation of the act but that it had not been passed upon by a circuit court. Counsel for Sacra said the ruling will be appealed to the tenth circuit court.

U. S. DROPS GALLUP KIDNAPING CASE

WASHINGTON—The Department of Justice announced Monday that investigation of the reported kidnaping at Gallup of David Levinson and Robert Minor, revealed no violation of federal kidnaping laws.

The official statement said "the complaint that David Levinson and Robert Minor had been seized in Gallup, New Mexico, and illegally transported to another state, disclosed that Levinson and Minor were not transported but were in the state of New Mexico when they went to Arizona voluntarily." The Department of Justice contemplates no further action in the matter.

Prospect Is Good For Late Session National Congress

WASHINGTON — Apparently undisturbed by slow progress on Capitol Hill, President Roosevelt had word passed to democratic leaders Sunday that he has no objection to congress staying in session all summer, if necessary, to get his legislative program on the statute books.

Congressional chiefs said it was made clear Mr. Roosevelt felt the situation has not reached a point demanding any compromise in his program. This was emphasized despite the prolonged delay of prime measures in favor of action on such issues as the cash bonus which is slated for senate passage this week.

Although confronted with defeat on the bonus despite veto warnings, the president was reported to have been advised that once the senate disposes of it, his original proposal for extending NRA two years was likely to be the final choice over the senate finance committee plan to continue a drastically modified Blue Eagle only until next April.

Some leaders interpreted word that the president was willing for congress to stay in session until August as a strategic move to speed up action on his program. Others said Mr. Roosevelt had remarked jokingly to one group that he would be as comfortable during the hot months as congressmen in the air-cooled senate and house chambers since the White House executive offices also have a cooling system.

The presidential attitude, though a surprise to some, was in line with recent reports that Mr. Roosevelt wants all possible controversial legislation cleared away this session to facilitate a short assembly

200,000 Pounds of Wool Sold At Roswell Net Growers 15c a Pound

In the first wool sale of the 1935 season in the western states the company of Bond and Baker of Roswell sold to Boston wool companies in excess of 200,000 pounds of wool at an average price of a fraction over 15 cents per pound, at Roswell Tuesday.

This was the spring clip and was made for but six of the numerous area wool growers.

Sales were of poundage ranged from 70,000 to 8,550 and ranged from prices of 17 1/8 cents down to 14 5/8 cents.

Top price of 17 1/8 cents was paid the Slaughter ranch for 11,000 pounds.

TEXAS TO WORK HIGHWAY 83

Word from Lamesa, Texas, is to the effect that Highway 83 will be worked to the state line. Considerable improvement has been made along the route during the past sixteen or eighteen months.

The schoolmaster wrote on the back of a boy's monthly report: "A good worker, but talks too much." The father signed the report and then wrote under the remark of the schoolmaster: "You should meet his mother."

Democratic leaders expected the legislative jam to be eased this week after senate action on the bonus.

We are glad to report little Jimmy Bowen on the road to recovery.

Quite an interesting item was told us the other day. Several weeks ago we made mention of the famous book, "Peck's Bad Boy," and this is what we heard: About fifty years ago, Minnesota had a governor named George C. Peck. He had no son, or rather he had a son so badly. So having an urge or desire to write, he created a son in fiction, one just as he had wanted for his own, in other words, "Peck's Bad Boy" was his own brain child, thus the origination of the story.

BILLY JO BURCK UNDER INSTRUCTOR

Billy Jo Burck has the rare treat of being under the instruction of Prof. R. C. Mowrey at Texas Tech. Prof. Mowrey, who is associate professor of animal husbandry, has trained a number of winning teams. In this year's curriculum, his teams have won as follows: First at the International in Chicago; First at the Fat Stock show in Fort Worth, and second at the Kansas City Royal.

While Billy Jo is majoring in horticulture, he is proud to have some work under such a distinguished man. Billy Jo has made quite a few experiments with the "Celastus," an ornamental imported from China. It is related to the Bittersweet. Texas Tech got this only about four years ago, but it seems to do exceedingly well in that section of the country, and Billy Jo has received commendation for his experiments. He was one of the honor students at the end of the first semester, making three A points, and one A-minus point out of seven. He plans to remain during the summer session, has a position at the boys' dormitory. This last semester he signed up for nearly nineteen hours of work. Billy Jo visited home folk during Easter, especially to see his grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Burck, since he does not plan to come home at the semester's close.
