Building Activity Is In Evidence At New Town of Sacramento

Much building activity is in evidence at the new town of Sacramento at the site of the Sacramento Methodist summer assembly grounds, four miles west of Weed. A new Methodist church building is under construction. The walls of the building have been erected and workmen have started putting on the roof. When completed the structure will be the most pretentious church building in the Sacramento area. The assembly dining hall, which will seat 120 people will be doubled in size and a second story added to the present building, according to plans announced recently by the board. Plans have also been made to erect a number of cottages between now and the assembly opening next summer.

October Term of Court Cancelled

Cases scheduled to come before the regular October term of the district court in Eddy county were postponed until the December term by James B. McGhee, district judge, who last week cancelled the October term.

Big Well Is Finished In New Pool

The position of the Monument district in Lea county was further strengthened this week with the completion of the biggest well of the area, one that rivals the best the Hobbs pool has been able to produce. Two miles south of the discovery well, the Amerada Petroleum Corp., drilled in its Andrews No. 1, sec. 12-20-36, at 3,900 feet. After acid treatment of 3,500 gallons of oil the first hour and 722 barrels the second hour, for an average hourly production of approximately 696 barrels. At this figure the production of the new well is rated at about 16,704 barrels per day. The gas flow is said to be 14,500,000 feet.

Off in the Mountains Communists Would Weep Congress Goes Home Disobedient Twice

McCLOUD, CALIF. — In the mountains; closed, you feel like an incurable "shut in." But Jack Adams is here, an old-time telegrapher who can make a message go from anywhere and find wires to carry it. He will "dig up" Percy Thomas, another old-time telegrapher in the Universal Service office in San Francisco, 250 miles down from his family on the coast, and this unimportant message will go to many newspapers in many cities, just as though speaking voices, for it was news from Ethiopia, or some other place, that caused her to smooth as she is comparable from "Jack, but we are, speaking voices, and always shall be, the best of us as rasping and friends."

Japanese Children Learn About Farm Labor

JAPANESE youngsters, spending their summer vacation on farms in Shizuoka prefecture, furnish their own motive power as they haul wheat from the fields beneath a blistering sun. The children are sent to the farms annually in keeping with a movement inaugurated a few years ago to school the children in farming.

Through A WOMAN'S EYES

by JEAN NEWTON

ON THE WOMAN WHO CRAVES PRESTIGE

WHATEVER may be her virtues and her graces, there is one type of woman who can never be successful in marriage, a noted author tells us. And that is the woman with a sex inferiority complex. Though she may be a perfect angel, such a woman is unfit to be a wife.

Mother's Cook Book

DISHES BY FAMOUS COOKS

AS MACARONI, spaghetti and noodles are all such popular foods and take the place in a meal of other starchy foods such as potatoes, we enjoy a few new ways of preparing such dishes.

Rector's Spaghetti and Chicken Salad.

Take one-half pound of elbow spaghetti, two cupfuls of diced chicken, one cupful of chopped celery, one tablespoonful of onion, one teaspoonful of salt, one-half cupful of mayonnaise, two tablespoonfuls of chopped green pepper, one tablespoonful of pimiento or minced red pepper, one tablespoonful of capers, lettuce or watercress. Cook the spaghetti until tender. Drain and chill. Add the remaining ingredients and mix lightly. Serve on lettuce or crisp with goldenrod sauce, which is made by rubbing several hard-cooked eggs through a sieve. Salmon or tuna may be used in place of chicken.

Liver With Noodles.

Take five ounces of noodles, cook until tender in boiling salted water. Drain. Line a casserole with them and set aside to become firm. Cut a pound of liver in slices and scald in a cupful of boiling water. Drain and cut fine. Fry a carrot and onion in three tablespoonfuls of bacon fat, using one-half cupful of onion and one-fourth of a cupful of chopped cooked carrot. Add three tablespoonfuls of flour, when brown add one and one-half cupfuls of soup stock and the liver. Season well, cook until thick, pour into the casserole, cover with crumbs and bake.

For the Class Room

Dark brown soutache is used effectively to trim this two-piece dress of brown and white shepherd check woolen, which is designated for classroom wear. The skirt is pleated all around. The velvet ascot scarf, leather belt and buttons are dark brown.

Grave Oddly Marked

Over the ancient grave of an unidentified person in Wilmington, N. C., stands a monument bearing carved designs of snakes, a devil's head and the head of an elephant.

BEDTIME STORY

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

SAMMY JAY BRINGS LIGHTFOOT WORD

SAMMY Jay is one of those who believe in the wisdom of the old saying, "Early to bed and early to rise." Sammy needs no alarm clock to get him up early in the morning. He is awake as soon as it is light enough to see and wastes no time wishing he could sleep a little longer. His stomach wouldn't let him if he wanted to. Sammy always wakes up hungry. In this he is no different from all his feathered neighbors.

So the minute Sammy gets his eyes open he makes his toilet, for

"He's Coming!" Cried Sammy.

Sammy is very neat, and starts out to hunt for his breakfast. Long ago Sammy discovered that there is no safer time of day to visit the dooryards of those two-legged creatures called men, than very early in the morning. On this particular morning he had planned to fly over to Farmer Brown's dooryard, but at the last minute he changed his mind. Instead he flew over to the dooryard of another farm. It was so very early in the morning that Sammy didn't expect to find anybody striding so you can guess how surprised he was when just as he came in sight of the dooryard he saw the door of the farm house open and a man step out.

Sammy stopped in the top of the nearest tree. "Now what is that man doing up as early as this?" muttered Sammy. Then he caught sight of something under the man's arm. He didn't have to look twice

Grandmother's Recipe for Bread

By ANNE CAMPBELL

THERE is a book where it had long been spread. I found Grandmother's recipe for bread. Written by her dear hand, and placed inside A cook-book long ago, for me, a bride, I had not tried it for a dozen years. And gazed upon it now with falling tears.

For I could see her silver head once more, Bent to a little child beside her door. I smelled the home-made bread she baked for me, And churned for Grandmother in memory. The buttery door stood open, for no bar Kept me from Grandmother's tall cooky jar.

The curtains blew in the October air, Her bird sang, telling me the world was fair. The carpets made of rags, the tidies' fold Upon the Morris chair, like her, grown old. Are memories of precious years, long sped, Caught in recipe for making bread. Copyright—WNU Service.

QUESTION BOX

by ED WYNN, The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn: A friend of mine always tells me he can't afford to run an automobile. Yet I know he owns one. What do you make of that?

Truly yours, P. ANNO.

Answer: That's why he knows he can't afford to run one.

Dear Mr. Wynn: What does it mean when it is said a man is in the "cream of society"?

Sincerely N. V. USS.

Answer: That simply means he is thick.

Dear Mr. Wynn: I stopped to look in the window of a drug store today and I saw the window filled with red rubber gloves. I suppose you'll think I'm dumb, but I just must ask you. What in the world are rubber gloves used for?

Yours truly, JIMMY NEEWHISKERS.

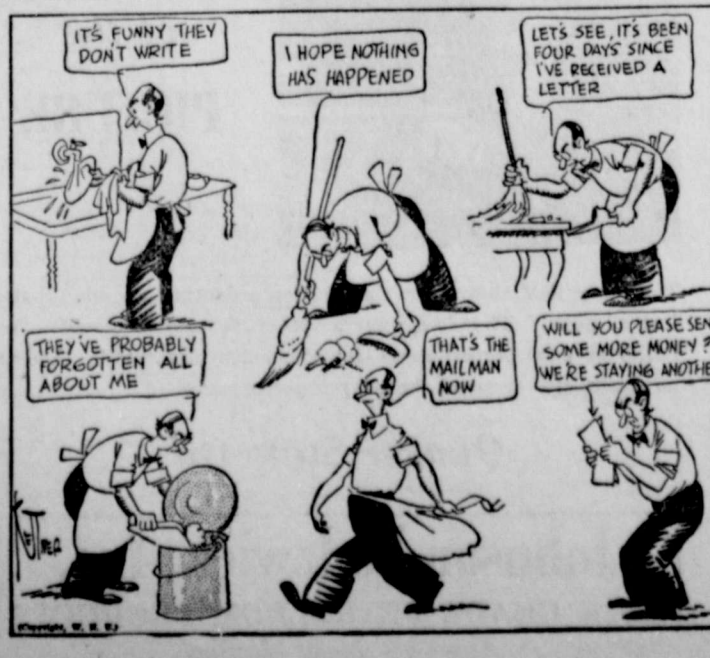

Answer: Rubber gloves, my boy, are worn by people who want to wash their hands without getting them wet.

Dear Mr. Wynn: I advertised in the papers for a servant and today my ad was answered by a man who said he just left your employment. In answering my question about why he left you, he said that he absolutely left you without any angry words. Is this true?

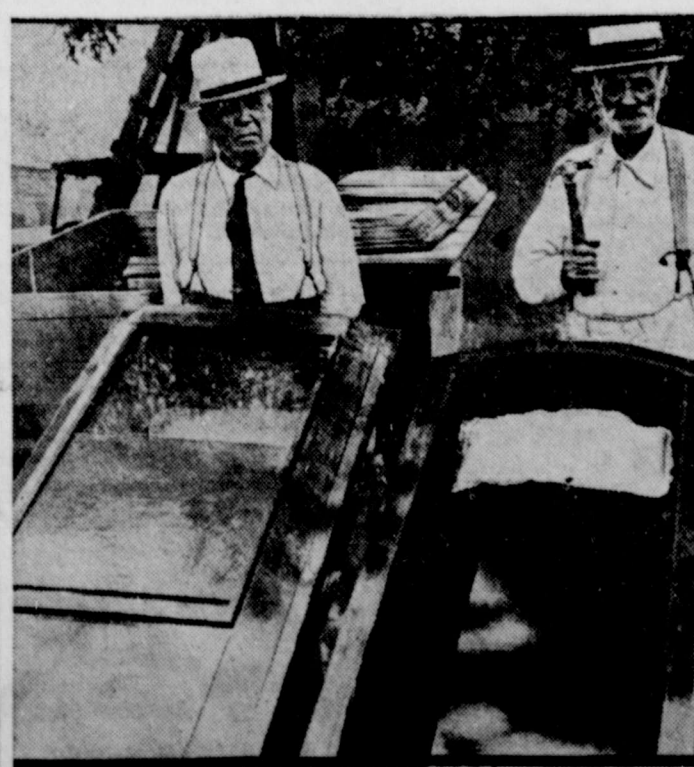

Sincerely, I. N. GAGEDHIM.

Answer: It is true. I was in the

Several Such Dresses Solve Sports Problem

Having everything "under control" is the best way to put in a poised, charming appearance on every occasion. That calls for a wardrobe extensive enough to fill the increased demands for which we nominate this dandy "Handy Sport" pattern. The clean-cut neckline is achieved with unique sleeve sections running right across a trimly tailored neck band. Darts over the bust lend a flattering note of softness and the pockets are a welcome change from the usual square. Shantung, sports silk, linen, pique would all be good whether you make it as is, or with contrasting yoke, sleeves, belt and pocket.

Pattern 2345 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included. SEND FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address, and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE. Address all orders to the Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.

GOLDEN PHANTOMS

Hidden "Stones of the Sky"

into Charles F. Lumis, famous geologist and chronicler of the Southwest, relates in one of his books that the Indians knew how to dig for water so well that they were found only by accident. This statement is the basis of the experience of Amado Chavez of San Antonio, N. M., who found that a layer of ground near some springs seemed springy under his tread. He had this ground dug into, and excavated a layer of cedar logs. Below this were pine logs, then more bark, and layers were repeated for a distance of several feet. When this material had been removed, a little spring was found. With such success in concealing water, it is only natural that some shaft could be hidden in a well by the wily natives.

Children Take Naturally to Electricity MAKE IT SAFE FOR THEM!

Youngsters are astonishingly quick to grasp the workings of appliances.

The older generation marvels at the wonders of electricity but are a bit skeptical and often careful. Youngsters accept it as a matter of course. To them light has always come from lamp bulbs; switches, when turned on, do interesting things to the appliances on the other end. Children's curiosity makes them eager to play with these fascinating things. They tangle them without the slightest fear. Mothers think of this safety feature when they are buying. They instinctively sense how vitally important it is to have safe appliances. But it is not quite realize the just as vital necessity of having the wiring and the cords safe.

The Electrical Inspection Bureau of our community is actively carrying on educational work to stress this necessity. Permanent wiring is pretty well under control because most of this is inspected by the Bureau to insure safety before the power company will turn on the current. If you have had your wiring done by a licensed electrician who used approved material and you have a certificate of inspection from your inspection bureau, your house is safely wired. But if the work has been done by a free lance unlicensed worker or by a handy man, the safety of your wiring is questionable, your family and your property are not

School Notes

GOING TO COLLEGE

Many parents and patrons and others interested in the Hagerman high school's doings, will be glad to learn what the boys and girls who have graduated during the past few years are doing in the way of advanced education. Below is given a partial list. Others are in college, but so far complete data is not available. (Note: The Messenger will be glad of information concerning those who do not appear here.) The list follows:

Class of 1934-1935
Jessie Keeth has had his transcript of credits sent to the University of New Mexico, where he expects to begin the regular academic course.

Vadie Burrell is entering the Eastern New Mexico Junior College.

Mable (Dollahon) Christensen and Frank Christensen are entering the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts.

Idebea Lemon goes to the College of Industrial Arts—Texas Woman's College—at Denton, Texas.

Harold Allison goes to College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts for an engineering course.

Maxine Key has gone to Eastern New Mexico Junior College, where she begins a teacher's course.

George Heick is at the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, where he plans to begin an engineering course.

Chalmers Holloway is planning an academic course at State College.

Lawrence Menefee, salutatorian of his class, is entering the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts. He is thinking also of an engineering course.

Beatrice Lane, valedictorian of her class, is entering Park College at Parkville, Missouri, where she has been awarded a scholarship, and plans to take an academic course.

Jim Wheat has requested a transcript for entrance to the State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts at Bryan, Texas.

Viola Askins was awarded a scholarship to Bethany College in Oklahoma and has gone to enter at the beginning of the fall semester.

Essie Keeth is entering Eastern New Mexico Junior College.

Elizabeth McKinstry will go back to Hardin-Simmons for her sophomore year.

Marion Key is entering Eastern New Mexico Junior College for a teacher's course.

Eulalia Merchant goes to Hardin-Simmons, where she enters for the freshman year. She plans an academic course.

1932-1933
John D. Garner, who graduated from New Mexico Military Institute with honors, will enter the medical department of Tulane University at New Orleans, Louisiana.

Ruth Utterback and Stanley Utterback are re-entering State College, where they attended last year. Stanley was a 1934 Hagerman high graduate.

La Verne Campbell will enter State College for her second year.

Gladys Menefee is re-entering State College.

1931-1932
Thelma Robinson will re-enter Eastern New Mexico Junior College for her sophomore year.

Kenneth Stine goes back to State University for his second year.

Dorothy Swett plans to return to State University where she attended last year.

It is reported that Caroline and Edward Swett will re-enter Texas Tech, where they have attended before.

Leroy Evans is entering Eastern New Mexico Junior College under a unique experimental plan. The college is promoting a few projects where students enter and pursue a project, contemplating that the project will carry them through college. There are farm projects, chickens, and dairy projects. Leroy entered the dairy project. He is allowed one or two milk cows, which will be housed at the college, and the milk will be bought by local dairies. This plan is new and will be watched with interest, by ambitious girls and boys, who wish to contribute a part of the cost of their education.

The outlook for a successful school year seems better than usual. Already the enrollment is better than at this time last year and the students seem more intent on their work than has been the case in recent years. All teachers are expecting to see a better grade of work turned out this year.

So far, the book problem is not as acute as it has been in the past.

Most of the students are provided with textbooks and this has been a great factor in getting this year's work under way without loss of time. The fact that the state has added one series of books—histories—to the free textbook list this year has been a help. We now have geographies and histories furnished throughout the grades and readers furnished through the first three grades. The school officials would appreciate the cooperation of the patrons in taking care of these free books. This is best done by seeing that the children get some form of book cover to protect the books from the wear and tear of usage.

A softball team is being organized among the high school boys and a few games will be played before the basketball season gets under way. Basketball fans this year will see a better brand of basketball than during the last two years. The team will be small, but should make up for this physical handicap by speed and cleverness. At any rate, the fans can expect to see a team that will be playing basketball all the time, win or lose. Four our chapel programs this year, we are planning a series of education pictures that will be interesting and informative to student and patron alike. The patrons of the school are cordially invited to be with us at these programs.

Mrs. Lester Hinrichsen, president of the P. T. A., is working earnestly in behalf of this organization and she urges that everyone attend the programs and make this year the most successful year in the history of the P. T. A.

At the high school assembly on the first day of school, Mr. White gave a talk to the high school students who are beginning another milestone in their high school career.

Mr. White emphasized the idea that special training is becoming daily more important. He made the statement that among the army of unemployed those with least training are the first to be dropped from the payrolls. "There is not much excuse," he maintains, "for the highly-trained teacher to be out of employment and people recognize as never before the value of special trained people in every line." Mr. White pointed out that he had never heard of a highly-trained doctor, nurse, or bank clerk on relief. He asked, "Have you ever known a Hagerman high school graduate on relief?" "No."

Another thing which he pointed to the children, "You are becoming today what you are going to be tomorrow." He endeavored to impress upon the students the necessity of planning their courses now, making life plans, and working each day to become more self-reliant.

There are two kinds of courses recognized which lead to graduation. One will insure your entrance to colleges and the other is vocational and its ultimate aim is not college entrance. Many colleges are now refusing to accept pupils lower than the upper third in academic attainments. This verifies the above statement that a premium is placed on training. Colleges are giving special scholarships to pupils who are valedictorians. Others are giving free scholarships to both valedictorians and salutatorians. The United States government, through the youth movement, is rendering special aid to high school and grade pupils who do unusually good work.

He further suggested that they begin today making life plans. It might be interesting to know that music will be added for one or two units of credit next year. Leaders are beginning to recognize the aesthetic importance of such subjects purely for their leisure value.

The entire school was favored Friday, September 6th, with a picture show, "Scenes From Alaska." Educational pictures of this kind will be presented from time to time throughout the school year.

Famous Low Cost Partners Prove Tonic For High Priced Ailments

Red-ink conscious? Zeros before the eyes? Budget-troubles? Appetite and pocket-book doing a saw-saw? Then the tonic you need can be provided by those two famous cost-cutters: chopped meat and rice! Adept at the low-cost game, these price-less partners will cut the bill and fill it too!

Casserole
2 cups boiled rice
2 cups chopped meat
3 eggs
1 cup milk
Celery salt
2 tbsps. fat
2 tbsps. catsup
Salt; pepper

Season the meat and pile it in center of a greased casserole. Mix eggs, milk, rice, fat, and seasoning to taste. Pour over the meat and bake in moderate oven (350°F) until done—about twenty-five minutes. Serves six.

Ragout With Tomatoes
2 lbs. chuck steak
4 cups canned tomatoes
1 large onion
1 clove garlic (if you like it)
10 whole cloves
2 tbsps. salt
Pepper

4 cups hot boiled rice (allow 1 cup each serving)

Be sure meat is cut in small pieces, about two inches across. Seal in a deep kettle. Then to meat add tomatoes, onion, garlic (if used; gives good flavor), cloves and salt and simmer or cook at low heat until meat is tender—about two hours. You may cook rice ahead of time and reheat, or start it boiling about twenty minutes before meat is done.

To serve, put hot rice in center of large platter and pile meat and gravy around being sure to remove garlic clove first; or serve individual plates with mound of rice in center of each. Six servings.

Baked Rice-Beef Hash
1 cup cooked rice
1 cup cooked beef
1 cup milk
2 tbsps. butter
1 teasp. salt
Pepper
1 egg

Put chopped beef, cooked rice milk, butter and seasonings into stew pan. Stir for a minute, then add a well-beaten egg. Turn the hash into a greased baking dish, and bake in a moderate oven (350°F) about 20 minutes. Add minced onion to ingredients if de-

Washington Digest National Topics Interpreted by William Bruckart

Washington.—Politics being inseparable from governmental administration under our system, it becomes pertinent at this time to examine what has happened in the late session of congress. In a nation where a two-party political structure obtains, politics cannot be segregated from the administration in the larger sense. It is not with a critical attitude, therefore, that the magnifying glass is held over the doings of President Roosevelt, his cabinet and brain trust advisers and the congress that has lately adjourned.

I believe it will be agreed that politics has predominated in the management of our national affairs during the last eight months especially. The fervor and appeal that was held for recovery by all of us during the earlier days of the Roosevelt administration seems to have been largely dissipated. That is not to say that no one wants to see recovery accomplished. It is to say, however, that this fervor and this appeal has been somewhat subordinated. Thus, it can be summarized in a brief sentence: The administration, looking to the election of 1936, has been engaged in building campaign battle lines and forging campaign ammunition.

The 1934 congressional elections presented to the country an issue based on the performances and future program of President Roosevelt. It was accorded a proposition where citizens were voting either to give the New Deal a future mandate and the President authority to proceed as he thought best or to vote a mandate that would call a halt on those same performances and policies. The country supported Mr. Roosevelt, some of his advisers since have told me, in a manner even more substantial than he had anticipated. He emerged from that campaign with a larger Democratic majority in the house than he had before. In addition he was accorded much more than a necessary two-thirds of the senate. The picture looked rosy.

Though the congress that has just ended its session gave the President many anxious hours, I think that on the whole it can be regarded as having provided him with a record of rather arduous and faithful response to his wishes. He did not obtain quite all that he wanted nor did he obtain that portion of his program exactly in the form he desired. But, again, politics in congress is almost a matter of general compromise anyway, so that the President can be said to have come out very well. He can proceed now to any plans for that session of congress which convenes next January and which, in accordance with nearly all precedents, will adjourn ahead of the national political conventions next June.

Politics being the game that it is, one must look into the future to discover the ultimate goal. So, looking into the future, one discerns several objects or objectives of decided, as well as important, interest to the individual voters.

In the first place, the consensus surely is that Mr. Roosevelt has built a legislative and administrative structure in our government that presents a concrete and unqualified issue to the American people, namely, to proceed along New Deal lines and make the necessary changes in the Constitution to permit execution of those policies or to throw the whole thing overboard. There can be no equivocation.

As the structure stands at this time and as it will stand until the next session of congress is under way, many New Deal propositions are of doubtful constitutionality. If they are so held by the Supreme court of the United States, then Mr. Roosevelt is believed certain to turn to the country and request Constitutional revision.

His latest and perhaps his most definite move in this direction was in connection with the so-called Guffey coal bill. It will be recalled that, in placing that piece of legislation on the "must" list of measures to be acted on before congress adjourned, Mr. Roosevelt advised house leaders that he wanted it passed and he did not care particularly whether some members of congress had "reasonable doubts" about its constitutionality. In effect, therefore, the President commanded passage of legislation that must place before the Supreme court a vital question for determination. It will be tested. Of that there is no doubt. If the law is held unconstitutional, it merely means that its provisions form another part of the campaign battleground observed to be shaping.

Mr. Roosevelt also succeeded in forcing through congress the legislation destroying the public utility holding companies. It was a tough fight but the President was victorious. Now, I hear from many sources that court examination of the legislation likewise will come because some folks are convinced it is confiscatory. If it is, it is unconstitutional. And so it is in the case of several other pieces of legislation enacted. One by one, it appears they will get before courts for review. Thus, the line of cleavage is marked. While the President has remained silent, neither denying nor confirming the undercurrent of information that I have reported here, one cannot fail to reach the conclusion that if many of the New Deal measures are held invalid, the President and his New Deal supporters, of necessity, must go to the country in the next election seeking constitutional modification to permit the use of policies now inimical to our form of government. That is the issue which the voters will be called upon to decide.

Since we have examined the circumstances from the New Deal side, let us likewise see what the Republicans and other oppositionists are doing. Lately, I have talked with some of the recognized Republican wheel horses. Whether they speak the sentiment of the masses of Republican voters or whether they voiced their own views is not important here. Political straws do show which way the political winds are blowing. So when these veterans of many political battles say that they welcome the creation by the New Dealers of an issue, they evidently see in the situation worthwhile opportunities. When they say that they are willing to go to the country in defense of the Constitution as it stands and the traditions it represents, they evidently feel they are on firm ground.

Much water can go over the dam between now and November, 1936, and much sentiment can be changed in that time. But the Republicans thus far have done very little in the way of building up their case. While they appear to be enthusiastic about their chances against Mr. Roosevelt in 1936, they have thus far failed to develop even a nucleus of an organization. It may be their strategy not to start their cannonading too early. Indeed, I have heard the thought expressed that it would be unwise to use ammunition too far in advance. At any rate, there have been only a scattered few direct attacks on what certainly must be the issue of 1936, the question of revision or retention of our Constitution. It is to be noted in this connection that those Republicans who have let go with a few shots have been of the ultraconservative type. I think it is generally agreed that the Republican set-up next year will be managed not by those who have pulled away to some extent and who are willing to admit that times have changed conditions.

One argument advanced why Republican leadership has not been more active is that if a start is made too early, the Roosevelt administration will have an opportunity to answer all of the criticism. Said one Republican leader: "We would be utterly foolish to permit the New Dealers to know all of our arguments too far in advance. I, for one, am content to let them proceed with their socialistic regimentation, because I know that every time a calf is given too much rope, it chokes itself to death."

Then there is another factor which I understand is responsible for the delay in Republican attacks. A good many Republicans have a hope, at least, that a campaign based on a plea for the maintenance of our Constitution and the traditions and modes of living which it represents will draw to the Republican candidate a certain segment of Democrats who are unsympathetic with the New Deal. There has been plenty of evidence in the session of congress just adjourned that at heart numerous Democrats lean to the conservative as distinguished from the New Deal method of government. The closing hours of the congressional session seemed to belie this. But anyone who mingled among old time Democrats in the house could not fail to have observed existence of a doubt as to the wisdom of many New Deal policies. Those men were forced to line up behind the Presidential program not because they believed in it fully but for two other reasons. These reasons were: first, they still entertained some fear that if they broke with the President it might mean their political defeat for renomination and re-election; and second, they were harassed and physically and mentally tired and wanted to go home.

The late summer and fall months during which these representatives and senators naturally will be among their constituents is rather likely to provide them with a better knowledge of what they stand

GREAT BRITAIN'S NEW SCHEME FOR BIG NAVAL FORCE

With statements and denials flying back and forth in London about the new navy Britain will build when the present sea power limitation treaties lapse, one clear fact emerged: King George intends to have a navy second to none. Surrendering before immovable Japanese objections to continuing limitations under a system of ratios, the British are now negotiating with the principal powers for an exchange of building programs beyond which the powers concerned would agree not to build. Thus, the United States would agree to lay down only five battleships in a stated time, Britain would agree to build only five and Japan five. But even if such naval programs are declared in advance, they will not be binding on the powers, Lord Londonderry, the cabinet's spokesman in the house of lords, now reveals. Any power changing its mind would promise to give a year's notice, he stated. Chief initial difficulty about this system is that no government wants to declare what it is going to do until it learns what the other nations will build. So Britain has taken the bull by the horns and submitted its tentative building program in the next few years to the United States, Japan, France and Italy. Germany already is tied to 35 per cent of the British navy. But the British cabinet refuses to whisper a single detail of this program to parliament, which will have to vote the money, let alone the public, which will have to foot the bill. So a sensation was caused when what purports to be the British seven-year naval plan was published and the cost of the vast armada put at approximately $750,000,000.

Huey Long Dies From Assassin's Bullet Tuesday

Senator Huey P. Long was shot and fatally wounded in the abdomen Sunday night in the state house at Baton Rouge, Louisiana, and his assassin, Dr. C. A. Weiss, Jr., Baton Rouge specialist, was riddled by more than a score of bullets and killed.

Long was able to walk down the steps from the first floor to the basement of the Louisiana capitol and was taken to a Baton Rouge hospital where physicians at first said his condition was not critical. The bullet, fired from a .32 automatic, entered the right side of his abdomen and ranged through his body, emerging from the back side. The United States senator was leaving the Louisiana house of representatives when shot.

Long died after a third blood transfusion had been made to save his life. Death came at 3:10 (MST) Tuesday morning. While the Louisiana senator was sinking, funeral services were conducted for Dr. Weiss, the assassin, at the St. Joseph Catholic church in Baton Rouge and the services were attended by hundreds of friends, including practically every physician in Baton Rouge. Undertakers said there were thirty bullet holes in Weiss' body.

The shooting was the result of political charges. One of the first acts of the house of representatives was the passage of a bill aimed at Judge B. H. Pavy, father-in-law of Dr. Weiss, political foe of Long.

BARKER REELECTED

Elliott Barker, state game warden, was re-elected president of the Western Association of State Game Commissioners at their meeting in Santa Fe last week.

This is the first time in the history of the organization that a president has served two terms. There was no opposition to Barker. His reelection came on general recommendation of the convention. George Ellis, also of Santa Fe, was re-named secretary.

Tri-State Fair Opens Saturday At Amarillo

AMARILLO, Texas — Saturday of this week marks the opening of the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo.

Then follows seven days packed with excitement and entertainment, ending Saturday, September 21.

Horse races, a daily feature of the exposition, start a day earlier — Friday, September 13.

From every standpoint, fair association officials predict this year's exposition will be the most interesting, instructive and intriguing ever held in the southwest. With no state fair this year at Dallas, it will be the largest.

All exhibits with the possible exception of a few livestock herds from distant states, will be in place when the fair opens.

"Every effort will be made to have the exposition as complete on the opening day as on the closing day," said Wilbur C. Hawk, president, who predicts more and better entries and a larger attendance than during any of the twelve previous years.

In addition to thrilling races every day, there will be other major attractions.

Sadler's three-ring circus, featuring Jack Hoxie, screen star, who will appear in person at each performance, will be at the fair beginning Monday, September 16.

Beckmann & Gerety, owners and operators of the largest midway shows in the United States, will come direct from Detroit and probably will open a day before the fair.

Livestock exhibits especially will be unsurpassed anywhere. Visitors to the Tri-State Fair will see the same noted herds entered at the American Royal in Kansas City or at the International in Chicago.

Many of these herds are sent to the exposition by foremost breeders from distant states.

"Make arrangements now to attend the Tri-State Fair and spend more than one day on the exposition grounds if possible," suggests Mr. Hawk. "The Tri-State Fair is too large to be seen in one day, particularly if you want to view all of the exhibits and attend some of the many attractions."

Many visiting delegations, accompanied by bands, will come to Amarillo during exposition week.

These delegations will come by special train and motor caravans.

Native: "It's so quiet you can hear the notes at the bank a block away drawing interest."

The W. M. S. of the Baptist church will meet Wednesday, September 18th, place of meeting will be announced on Sunday. This will be their royal service lesson. Next week they will also observe the season of prayer for the home.

The P. T. A. will meet on Tuesday evening, September 17th, at 7:30 at the school auditorium, following a short business session, there will be a program.

The Methodist Missionary Society will meet on Wednesday afternoon, September 18th, with Mrs. Eliza Floto.

P. T. A. EXECUTIVE BOARD MAKES REPORT

The P. T. A. executive board held a short meeting last Tuesday afternoon. The treasurer's report read that plans for the coming year's work were made and that standing committees and a few special committees had been appointed.

The regular meeting of the P. T. A. will be next Tuesday, September 17th, at 7:30 p. m., in the school auditorium. There is to be a short business session followed by a program with special music and talks. The general subject for the year is "The Modern Parent Knows the School," and there will be sub-topics for each month—for September, "The Beginning of School." Also a social hour is to follow in honor of the teachers.

The tentative plans are to have a nursery and supervisors to care for small children whose parents could not otherwise attend. This P. T. A. wants to be both parents and teachers, not just one or the other. A picture is to be given monthly to the room with the most representatives (parents, grandparents, friends, etc.) present at the night meetings. The picture is to be kept by that room for a month and the room getting the most months during the year will receive the picture at the end of school to take through school, then the picture is turned back to the school.

Piano solos were given by Misses Mary and Hannah Burck, Dorothy Rhodes, Mable Curry, Helen Goodwin, Dorothy Sue Devenport, Lorene Keeth, Polly Cumpsten and Dalton Keeth; a trio was given by Mary and Hannah Burck and Miss James; a duet was given by Helen Goodwin and Lorene Keeth. In the vocal department, Dorothy Sue Devenport and Polly Cumpsten sang, "The Oil Mill"; Helen Goodwin and Lorene Keeth sang "Will You Marry Me?" In the speech department, readings were given by Miss Mary Burck, who gave "A Portrait of a Boy Leaving Home"; Dorothy Rhodes read "When I Was At A Party," and Dalton Keeth gave "Nebuchadnezzar."

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING

The home of Mrs. Jim Michelet was charmingly arranged with colorful dahlias and zinnias last week for the meeting of the Woman's club on Friday afternoon. After a short business session, the meeting was turned over to the social committee. Games had been planned, one was a guessing contest, photographs of the members in their youthful days formed a photograph gallery, and the guests were told to try to name them correctly. Mrs. Ernest Utterback won the prize. During the social hour, refreshments of rye and white bread sandwiches, fudge cake and coffee were served to the following: Mmes. C. G. Mason, C. W. Curry, Ernest Utterback, Harry Cowan, Ernest Langenberger, Willis Pardee, Frank McCarthy, Martha Hams, Elmer Graham, J. W. Slade, Miss Esther James, one visitor, Mrs. Ray Cole, and the three hostesses, Mmes. Jim Michelet, Hugo Jacobson and Charles Michelet.

Roosevelt Says Business To Get Breathing Spell

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt's promise of a legislative "breathing spell" for business Saturday met with both acclaim and criticism.

Republicans said it was just a "campaign promise." Democrats welcomed it as a favorable move for the New Deal.

Observers, viewing the widely varied comment, expressed one opinion that a balanced budget—untouched in Mr. Roosevelt's statement to Roy Howard, publisher—would be a leading issue in the coming election campaign.

One Republican, Senator McNary of Oregon, said the New Deal "breathing spell will permit retrenchment of expenditures and will aid business materially."

"The country will welcome a breathing spell which will do much to restore confidence," he said. "I have advocated it for months."

It was Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the republican national committee, who said: "The president has opened the 1936 campaign with a new set of assurances and promises."

Governor Martin L. Davey of Ohio, a democrat, declared: "My information... indicates that business is all set to go if uncertainty, doubt and fear can be removed from the situation. I am happy indeed that the president has given this assurance."

Senator Black (D-Ala) described the statement as "a wonderfully clear explanation of his program, its original aims and its execution. It should be a call to those engaged in business to cooperate in further national progress."

To Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury in the Hoover administration, the statement "evades rather than meets the issue."

"If there is to be an early and general recovery," he said, "the country must also know how much longer Mr. Roosevelt intends to continue his efforts to squander our way to prosperity..."

Swiped: "I shave myself because I have a weak heart. When I enter a barber shop four barbers jump to their chairs with such alacrity that they frighten me, and my heart throbs awfully."
