Col. R. E. Twitchell, gives out Interview on New Mexico. Much Open Land

FLOOD WATER GOES TO WASTE

In a recent issue of the Pueblo Chieftian, of Pueblo, Colorado, is published a lengthy interview by Col. R. E. Twitchell, in which he glowingly depicts the future of New Mexico. Col. Twitchell is first vice-president of the National Irrigation Congress and is in Pueblo conferring with the officers and members of the executive committee. He said in part:

"In all its history, New Mexico has never had so much attention as at the present time. The early admission of the territory as a state, the great land hunger epidemic which seems to be prevalent in the middle and eastern states, the knowledge that in New Mexico there are thousands of acres of land which may be taken up under the homestead laws of the nation, and the great amount of publicity given to the possibilities for the homeseeker and the homemaker in the west and southwest, have provoked an enormous inquiry from all portions of the country.

NEW MEXICO STATEHOOD.

"Yes, New Mexico is looking forward to a great era of prosperity. Of course, locally, the subject just now uppermost in the minds of the people is making the constitution for the new state, and for the next twelve months we will make about as much politics in New Mexico as is ordinarily allotted to the citizen of the great and growing southwest. We are not lacking in politicians; we could loan Colorado a few to great advantage, just now most of them are candidates for the senate. A desire to represent the new state in the upper house of the national congress is not confined to the members of the dominant party—the republican—in New Mexico. There are a great many democrats who believe they have better than a fighting chance.

"Even in the west there seems to be a great lack of information as to the prospects of the new state along agricultural lines. The amount of water which may be made available for irrigation purposes, through storage, is but poorly appreciated even among our own people. The truth is the great majority knows nothing about surface and torrential flows, although they witness every year the going to waste of enough water to quadruple the present irrigated area of New Mexico.

WIND STORM THURSDAY

Yesterday the people of Carrizozo were unwelcomely surprised by being awoken about 3 in the morning to shut the windows as a severe wind storm from the north-east had arrived. The storm continue throughout the day Thursday and business was considerably crippled. The velocity of the wind was 60 miles an hour; the temperature dropped 35 degrees. Some damage was done by the wind around town.

BEYOND BOOK LEARNING

The mere matter of "reading," "writing an' 'rithmetic" is not all of even a common school education. A professor in the University of Chicago, who appears to be more sensible than most of the professors of the same university who break into print, recently told his pupils that he should consider them educated in the best sense of the word when they could say yes to every one of fourteen questions that he should put to them. The questions follow:

Has your education given sympathy with all good causes and made you spouse them?

Has it made you public spirited? Have you learned how to make friends and keep them?

Do you know what it is to be a friend yourself?

Do you look an honest man or a pure woman straight in the eye?

Do you see anything to love a little child?

Will a lonely dog follow you in the street?

Can you be high-minded and happy in the meaner drudgeries of life?

Do you think washing the dishes and hoeing corn just as compatible with high thinking as piano playing or golf?

Are you good for anything to yourself? Can you be happy alone?

Can you look out on the world and see anything except dollars and cents?

Can you look into a mud-puddle by the wayside and see anything in the puddle but mud?

Can you look into the sky at night and see beyond the stars?

Can your soul claim relationship with the Creator?

Some of the questions propounded by the professor look trivial, but read them over carefully and gather the philosophy in each and every one of them. Education is not all "book learning."

LADIES TO PLAY BALL

Baseball Game Between The Stout and Thin Ladies Is Being Arranged

GAME SET FOR LABOR DAY

Preparations are being made by the ladies of Carrizozo for a Championship Base Ball game to be pulled off at the ball park on Monday September, the fifth, the same being Labor Day.

The two teams will be composed exclusively of ladies, the fats playing on the one side the leans on the other. The proceeds from the gate receipts will be used for purchasing and setting out shade trees around the bases and in the out field of the base ball park in order that the ball players and manager of the Carrizozo Browns will be protected from the rays of the hot sun during the regular scheduled games of next season. Mrs. C. L. Elliot is manager of the teams and Mrs. Harriet Pons is Captain of the Leans and Mrs. Wm. People of the Fats. Uniform have already been ordered for both of the teams of Spaulding & Co., of Chicago.

The uniforms of the Fats will be of a light pink color trimmed with old rose and lavender. The leans will wear a uniform of pea green with yellow and white stripes. Caps and stockings to match. The teams are doing regular practice work each afternoon and quite a number of the players are showing good form. The pitching staff does not show up quite as much speed as was anticipated but it is expected that a weeks more training will greatly improve them. Miss Lee gets the ball down to second in good shape and it is not likely that any one will try to steal second while she is behind the bat.

The Fats as a whole have shown the best form at base running but some of the Leans are rapidly improving.

Arrangments are being made with the E. P. & S. W. to run excursions that day from Robsart, Walnut and Polly.

The line up, subject to change without notice, is as follows:

Fats: Mrs. Wm. Peoples, Miss Nettie Lee, Miss Allie Johnson, Miss Fannie Collier, Mrs. A. J. Rolland, Mrs. E. B. Walker, Mrs. W. C. McDonald, Mrs. Joe Adams, Mrs. W. S. Perry, Mrs. A. H. Harvey, Mrs. P. C. Baird, Miss Imogene Peters, Mrs. John Canning, Mrs. F. J. Sager, Mrs. Wateman James, Mrs. W. L. Gunn, Mrs. A. E. Long, Mrs. George W. Hall, Mrs. Clarence Spence, Miss Jane Brockway, Mrs. George Ulrich, Mrs. John Bell, Mrs. Franklin, and others.

Leans: Mrs. Harriett Pons, Mrs. C. L. Elliot, Mrs. F. W. Jones, Mrs. H. B. Dawson, Mrs. George Spence, Miss Thas Collier, Miss Mayo Boykin, Mrs. H. S. Campbell, Mrs. Wm. Reily, Mrs. J. R. Humphrey, Miss Agnes Pfingston, Mrs. F. R. Collier, Mrs. Harry Dixon, Miss Grace Spence, Miss Loran Sager, Mrs. Clay Van Schoyck, Miss Frances McDonald, Mrs. Leo Oswald and others.

LEANS WIN THE BALL GAME

Of course the Leans won the baseball game Sunday. While the fats showed considerable ability in hitting the ball and their battery was there with the goods too, they failed however to get to the 1st base after swatting the sphere, their wadling wasn't fast enough. The suits were ridiculous; the fat men were dressed in maroon colored pantaloons which reached just below the knees and the lean men had long yellow suits. The final score was Fats 15, Leans 20.

The weather caused a number of the people in town to stay at home and the audience was not as large as anticipated but those who were present enjoyed the comic contest.

After considerable pushing and pulling the following line up was arranged and played: Fats: Spencer, 2nd B, Campbell, 3rd. B, Doering C. F., J. Canning, R. F., P. C. Baird, L. F., Rolland, S. S., P. Humphrey, 1st. B., John Baird, P., Howard, C.

Leans: Henry, P., F. Thuetre, C., Kimbell, SS, J. Kelley, F. Guernsey, 2nd B, Joe Adams, R. F., F. Canning, C. F., B. Humphrey, L. F., Young, 3rd B., Syl Anderson, Umpire.

The Fat men have taken off their hats to the lean men and acknowledge the Lean men are superior players.

MASONIC MEETING SATURDAY

The regular communication of Carrizozo Lodge No. 41, A. F. and A. M. was held last Saturday night at the local Masonic Hall. Work in the degrees took place. Among the members from out of the city present at the meeting were, Dr. T. W. Watson of Lincoln; C. D. Kinney of Capitan; J. V. Edwards, Dr. Guido Ranniger, Dr. Robt. Blaney and Algy Martin of Oseuro and J. M. Blair of Corona

FORT STANTON VS. CAPITAN

The Fort Stanton baseball team defeated the Capitan baseball team on the Fort Stanton grounds last Sunday in one of the most exciting games of the season by a score of 4 to 3. It was a pitchers battle from the beginning between Chamberlain and Putney for Capitan. The hits were few and the strike-outs many. Chamberlain was hurt in the first part of the game and retired from the mound, being succeeded by Putney.

It was practically an in-field game, but many sensational plays were made and was one of interest from beginning to ending.

NEW LAND OFFICE CREATED

Officials for the new land office at Fort Sumner, N. M., which was created at the last session of Congress have been appointed by the President. E. H. Salazar of Las Vegas N. M., has been commissioned Receiver, and Arthur E. Curren, Register. The jurisdiction of the new office extends over 2,300,000 acres of fine farming land, and was formerly under the jurisdiction of the Santa Fe and Roswell land offices.

—The Eastern Star will hold a special meeting tomorrow night at the Masonic Hall.

POLITICAL SITUATION

Lincoln County's Fusion Ticket Same as Elected. Many Other Counties Fuse

EASY REPUBLICAN MAJORITY

"PEOPLES' TICKET"

JOHN H. CANNING of Carrizozo
REPUBLICAN
J. J. ARAGON of Lincoln
REPUBLICAN
A. H. HUDSPETH of White Oaks
DEMOCRAT

With most of the counties of the territory already heard from as to their nominations to the Constitutional Convention is a safe prediction that the Constitutional convention will be composed of about 65 Republicans and 35 Democrats. Lincoln county with two republicans and one democrat on their fusion ticket and all standing on a semi-socialistic platform will elect their candidates without opposition. A very light vote, at the polls of this county on September 6th. is expected as the people either have the choice of voting for the fusion ticket or staying at home, no independent ticket having appeared in the field. The three candidates John H. Canning, J. J. Aragon and A. H. Hudspeth are well known and respected citizens and their election is assured.

THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK

Rio Arriba, Lincoln, Otero and Sierra counties have been eliminated from the conflict by naming fusion or non-partisan tickets to which there is no serious opposition. That means eight republicans and 6 democrats from these balliwicks. Socorro county will probably follow this example, which would mean the certain election of 11 republicans and 8 democrats.

In the counties of Chaves, Eddy, Roosevelt, Curry, San Juan, Grant, Luna, Torrance and Quay, the republicans expect to elect no more than six delegates, while the democrats will have 20. But conceding that the Democrats would sweep these counties it would give them only 34 votes altogether. Of the remaining counties, the republicans are dubious about their candidates in Dona Ana and Guadalupe counties only, where local differences threaten the results. But even though the Democrats should elect all eight of these, which is highly improbable, the most they could muster would be 44 delegates and that only as the result of an unprecedented land slide.

Important from the Republican standpoint will be the return next week of postmaster general Frank H. Hitchcock, for it demonstrates that the national administrations is much interested in the fight of the Republicans to obtain an overwhelming majority in the constitutional convention. Such a majority will prove to the Republican leaders of the nation that it was not a partisan mistake to admit the territories.

GUARANTEE OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY TO THE PEOPLE OF NEW MEXICO

The pledging of all delegates to the Constitutional Convention, elected from the ranks of the Republican Party, to the adoption of a safe, sound and fundamentally simple constitution which will guarantee and preserve to all the people of the proposed new State all of their civil, political and religious rights, and which shall be sufficiently broad, expansive and flexible to authorize and insure legislation necessary to secure the best welfare of the people of all classes and conditions.

THE EYES of the whole country are at present watching Arizona and New Mexico with great interest and awaiting the outcome of the constitutional conventions at which the state constitutions are to be adopted. As a matter of fact both territories may be said to be on trial and on the outcome of the deliberations of the delegates to the constitutional convention will depend to a great degree the future development and prosperity of both new states.

Capital is always looking for opportunity to invest and there is no doubt in the world that Arizona and New Mexico offer excellent and even unequalled opportunities along many lines. But capital insists upon being assured proper protection and consequently looks to the laws of the locality in which the investment is to be made, in order to ascertain whether the necessary protection is guaranteed. If the two new states draw up fundamental laws that command respect and invite confidence there need no fear that all the necessary capital will not be forthcoming for the development of everything needing development.

It is unfortunate that in both Arizona and New Mexico there is every indication that the deliberations of the constitutional convention will be fraught with silly squabbling and boorish bickering. Lack of unanimity and harmony will almost make impossible the adoption of constitutions worthy the name. For the sake of both territories it is sincerely to be hoped that the leaders of both parties will find a common platform upon which they can stand and then get to work for that which is the very best.

THE NON-PARTISAN TICKET selected at Lincoln last Thursday jointly by the Lincoln County Democrats and Republicans seems to meet the general approval of the citizens of the county. The candidates are just as good as elected as there is little or no chance of an independent ticket being put into the field, although a few democrats have spoken of doing so. The candidates are among the best citizens of the county and their election will mean that Lincoln County will be properly represented at the Constitutional convention in October. The platform on which these candidates stands, while not entirely after the republican idea is a very progressive and sensible measure. The Initiative and Referendum and Direct Legislation are bound to come in the new state sooner or later and if placed in the Constitution in a proper form cannot be opposed by any free thinking person.

EXHIBIT AT FAIR

Every producing section of New Mexico should be represented with an exhibit at the Thirtieth Annual Territorial New Mexico Fair and Resources Exposition, to be held in Albuquerque, October 3 to 8. There will be thousands of visitors at the fair anxious to obtain accurate information regarding the resources of the territory. The Fair is a territorial institution, and particular attention is being paid this year to an exposition of resources. The reservations made thus far for space in the exhibit halls indicate that practically every county in New Mexico will be represented. Literature and souvenirs will be given to visitors, telling them nearly anything they would desire to know about the Sunshine Territory.

PARTY AGREEMENT

The Democratic and Republican Central Committee Chairman of the Territory have entered into the following agreement to assure a clean fair election in every possible way:

To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners of the various counties of the Territory of New Mexico.

Gentlemen:

Whereas, under the provision of the recent Act of Congress enabling the people of New Mexico to form a Constitution and State Government, the election of delegates to the coming Constitutional Convention is to be held and conducted in conformity with the laws existing at the time of the last general election 1908, and

Whereas, such provision renders ineffective the requirements of Chapter 105, Session Acts of 1909 (commonly known as the Roberts, Election Law) providing for minority representation on election boards, and

Whereas, it is the desire and wish of the great political parties and of all loyal citizens that the purity and sanctity of the ballot shall be preserved and that the action of the parties charged under the law with the management of the election shall be such as will be unquestioned, and command the respect and confidence of every honest and loyal citizen, and remove beyond question any suspicion of unfairness or partisan conduct,

Therefore, We, the undersigned Chairman of the Republican and Democratic Central Committee of New Mexico, unite in recommending to the various Boards of County Commissioners of this Territory, that they appoint one member of the Board of Election Judges in each precinct in their respective counties, who does not belong to the same political party as the majority of the members of the said Board of County Commissioners; and that in making such appointments they consult, and as far as possible follow the advise and recommendation of the political organization of the party to which such members of boards of election Judges belong.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) H. O. Bursum Chairman
Republican Central Committee.
(Signed) W. B. Walton, Chairman
Democratic Central Committee.

WE OFTEN WONDER BY P. C. GAIRD

We often wonder why it is that so many young men can be seen loafing upon our streets until a late hour of night. Many of them are from our best homes, many of them at least are numbered among our best citizens. If these same citizen's Cow or their horse or even their favorite dog was away from home after dark, they would be out on a search but their own children can roam the town all night with apparently no effort made to find them. The boys seem to be turned loose at a tender age to wander at will into the paths of sin and vice and then we wonder where all our tramps and worthless specimens of humanity come from. It is a regrettable fact that too many of them come from seed, germinated in good homes and then sown in a careless manner upon our streets and back alleys. Reader is your boy wasting his time upon our streets? If so had you better not, at least, look after him as carefully at night as you would your horse or cow.

We do not intimate that this is more true in our community than in our sister towns, but the evil seems universal and increases in magnitude as the years roll by.

THE WINNIPEG CLUB FOUR AT HENLEY

Winnipeg, Man.—The people of this city are proud of its oarsmen, and with reason, for the Winnipeg club four won great honors at the recent regatta at Henley, England. The fact that oarsmen from other lands do not often succeed in defeating the Englishmen on their own waters adds to the glory of the Canadians' achievement.

ELECTRICITY IN WAR

Japanese Use Novel Expedient in Subduing Savage Tribes.

Most Curious Duel Being Waged Against Bloodthirsty Aiyu Tribes in Island of Formosa—Soldiers Unable to Check Outrages.

Philadelphia.—The most ferocious instinct of primitive savagery, head hunting, Japan is to fight with the most modern of military agencies, electricity. It is a most curious duel that is now being waged in the island of Formosa between the Japanese and the bloodthirsty Aiyu tribes.

It is the proudest achievement of the head hunter to increase his collection of skulls. He who has most of these sanguinary relics is esteemed the great man of the tribe and the gruesome skulls are exhibited with the utmost pride not only to residents but to visitors who may chance under proper guard to penetrate to the fastnesses of the interior.

It has not taken long for Japan to find that her soldiers can not avail to stop the depredations and outrages committed by the head hunters.

There are some hundred thousands of these savages, who became a problem to the Tokio government when the outcome of the war with China in 1895 brought Formosa under Japanese dominion.

The gallant little brown men who had been able to overwhelm the Chinese and who later were to strike such a frightful blow at the prestige of Russia, were unable to deal with the head hunters.

In the guerilla warfare that ensued as soon as the Japanese soldiers came into the country the modern sons of Jupiter were constantly worsted.

It was a private trick of the head hunters to perform their deadliest outrages right under the noses, so to speak, of the new rulers of the island.

Then a tactician in the army struck on a great idea.

Fight them with electricity.

A wall was built across the country, a wall four hundred miles in length, not a wall of stone, but a far more deadly and treacherous wall, one made of wire and charged constantly with a current that carried death just as certainly as the bullet of a dead shot.

Only it needed no soldier to fire this death message. All that the head hunter needed to do was to come into contact with it just for the briefest space of time and with any portion of his body. Death was then the sure outcome.

The deadly obstruction with secret entanglements most cleverly contrived extends across the land from the coast of Giran, in the east, to the shore at Nanke, on the west side, where it takes a turn north and circles about in such a way that the savages, once within its lines, would find escape difficult without fatal contact with the wire.

The fences are connected with powerful electric plants and the wires are constantly kept charged with the death-dealing fluid.

Already it has been found that the new system is the most efficacious that the government has yet contrived.

The savages are baffled and mystified. They cannot understand what it is that has the power of striking down their comrades so suddenly. They are afraid to move about in the night on their horrible head-hunting expedition, for the wire has been placed with such cleverness that they never can tell when they are likely to come into contact with it.

The plan of campaign at present is to drive the savages into the mountains, prevent them from coming into the low countries or near the towns, and so hem them in eventually by the wire barriers that they will be cut off from supplies and forced either to surrender or die.

Hardly will this be regarded as cruel, when the atrocities of the head hunters are taken into account. Japan could hardly be expected to view with indifference such things as have happened. In one case a rebel raid on a Jap outpost resulted in the killing and decapitation of thirteen soldiers, and so clever and crafty was the enemy and so skilled at taking advantage of a knowledge of the country that the peril was persistent and unremitting.

The Japanese call the head hunters the "Seibans." They are said to number more than one hundred thousand, divided into seven hundred tribes. Each tribe occupies its own territory and they are all independent of each other, each seeming concerned alone in preventing encroachment on its land.

This lack of unity, instead of being a handicap to the head hunters, has really made their subjection harder. Jap generals say that if they were united in some sort of bond to protect them all it would be possible to get them together in a big enough force where they would dare a pitched battle with the invader. The outcome of such a contest would, of course, be victory for the trained soldier of Japan and would eventually be the obliteration of the Seibans.

But the head hunters steadily decline any such issue. They fight in roving little bands, they move over the country with amazing rapidity and until the deadly electric fence limited their operations to one little section of the island there was no extreme of daring not possible to them.

MAN IS MARRIED TO SISTER

Wife's Son Falls in Love With Husband's Daughter and Blessings Are Bestowed.

New York.—Romance set out to prove in Corona, that a woman may be a sister to a man and a man may continue as a brother to a woman, and still they may marry with every prospect of happiness. Such is the situation in which Frank Gannon, a post office clerk, and Anna Padran, an operator in the Flushing telephone exchange, find themselves.

Gannon's mother was persuaded to abandon her widowhood a few months ago by John Padran, who is in the pay bureau of the Long Island city fire department. They decided that it would be nice to have her son and his daughter live with them, and hired a house at No. 42 De Witt street, Corona. That arrangement pleased the young people so well that in a little while there was no doubt that the house held two pairs of lovers.

While pleased that their children got on well together, the elders looked with dismay on love-making between them and took them to task for it, protesting that they were brother and sister and had no right to fall in love. This view of the case struck the young people as one not to be argued and they seemed to acquiesce in the properties as laid down by the parents. All the same they had their own opinion and, having obtained a marriage licence, they slipped around the other night to St. Leo's church where Father John O'Toole married them.

As Frank is thirty-one and Anna twenty-one, there was no going behind the returns and the elders cheerfully bestowed upon them their blessing.

NEW RECORD FOR DIAMONDS

Imports at New York Port for Last Fiscal Year Will Be Above $45,000.

New York.—Imports of diamonds and other precious stones, as reported by the customs officials this month, have sent the total valuation for the fiscal year, which ended June 30, above $45,000,000. The highest prior record was $43,602,476 for the year 1907, as shown in a report recently prepared by Douglas R. Sterrett for the bureau of statistics. More than 95 per cent. of these imports now come through the port of New York.

Importers have been predicting for some time that the present fiscal year's imports would break all records, but this month has sent the total even higher than they expected. About 85 per cent. of the imports have been diamonds. Of the total imports of diamonds, about one-third have been in the rough and the other two-thirds were cut and polished in Europe.

DRY FARMING CROPS

Method to Become Important Adjunct to Agriculture.

Possibilities Widening With Each Successive Year—Extensive Experiments Constantly in Progress Shed New Light.

That dry farming is destined to become an important adjunct to American agriculture is a conclusion no longer open to serious doubt, says Orange Judd Farmer. Its possibilities are widening with each succeeding year, and the extensive experiments constantly in progress are shedding new light upon the whole broad question of agriculture.

To the average farmer the proposition that moisture can be conserved in the soil against a day of need for weeks and months—indeed, carried over from one season into another, seems the most absurd folly; yet that it can be done has been amply demonstrated and the plan is in actual operation upon hundreds of farms throughout the west.

Dry farming is not altogether new in the United States. The Indians of the southwest have raised meager crops of beans and maize for centuries in sections where the rainfall is almost nothing. There are many things to indicate that the prehistoric races of the southwest were farmers, and unless great climatic changes have taken place, they must have raised supplies for large populations in a land where the rainfall was very little. Dry farming has been a feature of agriculture in California since the first settlements. Oats, barley, corn and many varieties of fruits and vegetables are raised with rainfalls varying from 5 to 20 inches yearly. It is a land of hot, blazing sunshine, yet evaporation is arrested and the soil kept moist and hospitable to the growing plant.

Perhaps no country in the world, save that of the actual desert sand, seems less calculated for agriculture than the wind-swept plains of New Mexico and Arizona. How can crops be raised in that land of perennial drought, where the rainfall, in many places, registers less than eight inches a year? Dry farmers say that it can be done, the secret or system being merely cultivation. In sections where the rainfall is least it is proposed to store and conserve the moisture during one year for use the next, thus only attempting a crop every other year.

In those favored localities where the rainfall averages 15 inches or over yearly, a crop each year may be safely attempted. The plan is to grow some quick, summer growing crop, such as kafir corn, Egyptian corn, milo maize or beans. The planting should be timed so that the crop will be in full growth when the greatest rainfall is expected to occur. As the rainfall increases, wheat, barley and oats may be safely attempted.

But where the rainfall is less than 15 inches, nothing remains for the venturesome husbandman but dry farming of the most intense sort. He must look 18 months ahead for his crop, industriously and constantly preparing, the while, his field for the expected planting. The plowing should take place during the spring or early summer, allowing the ground to lie fallow throughout the season. As fall approaches cultivation must begin. Usually a disk is used to break up the crust and light sod which may have formed. Should rains fall during the fall and winter, cultivation must follow each. And, in any event, cultivation at intervals must take place. The soil must be kept loose and not allowed to pack, as that condition is fatal to the storing of moisture. Cultivation must continue up to the time of planting in April or May.

If the cultivation has been rigid and

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

Goat flesh has a flavor like deer meat.

Goats are sold in the open market for a high grade of mutton.

Never tolerate a man on the farm who yanks, kicks or whips a horse.

Put the rams with the ewes in October. This brings in lambs in March.

If a horse's neck or breast becomes sore, it is certain that the collar does not fit.

A scrub sheep, just like any other scrub animal on the farm is a poor investment.

Clover, hay or grass is a good laxative feed for sheep at lambing time to prevent constipation.

Free range for hogs does not mean that they should be allowed to run over the neighbor's farm.

It is a good plan to provide summer shelter for the hogs on a high spot where the wind will have a full sweep.

With good wire fence as cheap as it is today, it is an easy matter to divide up the hog pasture into convenient lots.

Although hogs will eat flesh and drink blood, they are as much graincreasing, there should be a sufficient amount of moisture in the soil to grow and mature one of the numerous crops adapted to arid conditions. If summer rains come, as is expected in nearly all localities, so much the better and so much larger the crop.

A crop biennially will doubtless seem exasperatingly slow to the rain-country farmer. But it should be remembered that the land is cheap and adapted to rapid, wholesale cultivation. A curious fact, too, is gradually becoming known. This constant cultivation impregnates the soil with that wonderful agent, nitrogen, thus forcing the growth of crops even though a great supply of moisture is lacking. This, indeed, seems to be the compensation of the dry farmer. Denied by nature the abundant rains of heaven, perforce he must cultivate, cultivate, cultivate, and this constant stirring of the soil helps to increase the nitrogen so much desired by the farmer of every clime. Were the rainfall greater, he would cultivate much less and would thereby be deprived of that unseen, but life-giving influence.

"DRY FARMING" IN ILLINOIS

No Section of the Country But Where Enough Rain Falls for Crop if Conserved.

To some extent, farmers even in this favored section of the world, can learn something by studying the process known as "dry farming," for rains do not always fall here exactly when they are needed, says Joliet (Ill.) Herald.

Those western farmers who have to contend with a scarcity of water are learning the value of it, and how to take care of it—a thing that few of us in this part of the world ever think about. The old fellow who used to show up at the water cooler every morning and consume about a quart of the coolest water he could obtain, had the correct idea when he said: "No teetotaler knows how good water is." No man who lives in this country really knows the value of moisture, because there is seldom a time when it is not to be had.

The "dry farming" convention shows that if land is prepared in a certain way, it will retain moisture much longer than when it is not so prepared. Every farmer understands that. He understands that where the soil is loose and loamy it retains moisture longer than when it is packed and hardened. He also understands that where the soil is covered with straw or leaves it holds the water better than where it is exposed to the rays of the sun. Those are the cardinal principle of "dry farming"—to so prepare the soil that for many days after a rainfall the moisture will be held in the ground and not allowed to run off or evaporate too rapidly.

There is not a section of this country but where enough rain falls to make a crop, if it were conserved. In this part of the world a drought ought to be a harmless affair, and it would be if the ground were properly cultivated. Certainly it would be if artificial reservoirs were constructed to take the place of the natural reservoirs we have destroyed in ridding the earth of the vegetable growths.

Some sweet day, of course, when we have a great deal of our wealth washed away by the floods, and a great deal more of it destroyed by the droughts, we shall provide means for conserving the moisture, but so long as we can raise half a crop in a haphazard way we do not seem inclined to study the art of "dry farming" to the extent that we should.

Dairy Enriches Farm.

By selling milk and butter we take away the least bit of the soil's fertility. By selling off our crops the land is soon robbed of its productive powers. On the other hand the dairy constantly enriches the farm. It causes us to get larger crops and better pay for our work.

Feeding animals as cattle, horses and sheep.

A brutal man with an uncontrolled, vicious temper is a poor investment on any farm, no matter how cheaply he will work.

The vicious hog that is forever breaking out and causing trouble for one's neighbor cannot be fattened and killed too quickly.

Sheep like the shade of thick bushes during the hot weather and a cool damp place in order to escape the torments of the grub fly.

The breeding mare can do a good deal of work if she is not hurried or heated. Unfortunately few men have sufficient common sense to do it safely.

Hogs will grow and thrive on clover or other good pasture in warm weather, without grain, but will gain faster, of course, if fed a little meal and milk.

Two pastures are better than one, because while the hogs are feeding in one field the other will be recovering, and later furnish much more attractive feed than as if both pastures are used as one.

Can you imagine yourself "Far from the maddening throng," living in a bungalow like this with never a care or a thought except the comfortable exertion of breathing the pure air from the fields or the woods? To suggest this to the tired city dweller who is caged in a flat may seem cruel, yet even he or she hopes sometime to live amid such surroundings. A bungalow like this fills the day dreams of thousands of people who are able to keep up their ambition by the hope of some time being far away from the scenes of confusion and bustle that tax the nerves and the strength.

Now to come down out of the clouds to more practical things. The plan of this bungalow, you will observe, is simplicity itself. There is more porch

This plan is an ideal conception intended for the man or woman who wants to live outdoors. In fact, it is a compromise between the outdoors and the indoors. The side of the porch, for instance, adjacent to the kitchen, can be utilized as an outdoor dining room, and if all the remaining porch space is not needed for bedrooms it can be set aside for other purposes. The building itself is 24 feet square, and the porches added make it 34 feet, three inches square. The living room, provided with window seats, as the plan shows, and a cheery fireplace for use in cold weather, or on rainy days, is 16 feet 3 inches long and 13 feet 9 inches wide. The kitchen is 10 feet long and nine feet wide. A closet is provided off the bedroom, and a pantry of ample size is placed off the kitchen. If the bedroom is not used on account of the porch being fitted up for sleeping quarters, this room can be used as a den or as a nursery.

The people of this period have come to realize the value and hygienic necessity of plenty of fresh air. This has come about through long education. And while there are only three rooms, we shall see how roomy the structure can be made. The porch extends all around the house with steps on each of the four sides. This porch is five feet three inches wide. At a very small expense the open spaces between the pillars of the porch can be screened in and screen doors provided at the entrances. Divisions or partitions of tapestry can divide thus the entire porch into outdoor bedrooms. Privacy or protection against beating rains or sunshine can be provided by the placing of canvas shades on rollers at the openings.

PIGEONS PECKED FLOWERS

Industrious and Pestiferous Squabs Plucked Them All From the Window Boxes.

As the woman and her visitor sat in her den a white pigeon flew down on her window box and began to chew at the lower leaves. She sprang up and shoed it away.

"Do you know some gentle thing that would kill a few pigeons off quietly without hurting them much?" she asked as she sat down again. "I don't want to hurt them or the feelings of my neighbors, who are raising squabs, but I would like some flowers in my window box this summer. Hers are all gone. It's all right for her pigeons to eat her flowers if she'd rather have the squabs, but do you think mine ought to suffer? Every time I call on her I begin to wonder out loud how it is my flowers look so henpecked this summer. I'd call it pigeon pecked if I dared, and they begin to give all sorts of reasons, she and her husband and her brother-in-law. It's the hot weather, they say, or the sun because the flat is on the seventh floor, or I don't water them enough, when all the time I'd just like to get up and say, if I only had the courage, 'You know very well what's the matter with them; it's your darned old pigeons. That's what it is. You'll have a fine time eating the squabs when they are ready, but this is the first summer that I haven't had the finest flowers ever in my mind boxes, plague take it all!'"

A Humble Invention.

To forget the inventions of the hour is an impossibility. They are before one at every turn, and many of them contain possibilities vast and much discussed. For that reason it is well occasionally to contemplate some invention of the past which works unremittently and inconspicuously for the welfare of mankind. Consider the air brake. How many, when they take a journey by rail, ever take thought of the device which stands ready to insure safety from possible accidents? All are so used to the sibilant noise below the cars that they never consider its portentousness. Yet by this applied to be the finish coat. This coat can be applied to bring out any desired finish. The most popular finish in cement stucco is called the slap dash finish. It is applied by being thrown on with a trowel. It makes a rough finish most attractive.

DISCLOSURES OF A WILL

Prominent London Barrister Found to Have Been Wedded to His Servant for Many Years.

One of the most unusual romances in many years was unfolded in London recently by the death of Arthur Joseph Munby, a prominent barrister of Fig Tree Court, 83 years old. His will disclosed the fact that for more than thirty-seven years he was wedded to Hannah Cullwick, a servant, and though the world did not know of the union, he was devoted to her and she had as her highest ambition to serve him and cook for him. He spent many months of each year with her in Shiffnal, and her relatives knew of the wedding, but his relatives were ignorant of the marriage. So devoted was Munby that he wrote verse to her. She did not care for books and learning and she had no comprehension of the vast learning of her husband or his wealth. She did not want to be dependent upon him and was accustomed practically all her life to work out. Munby had ample means to support her luxuriously, but she did not want to live in London, hating the city. Munby's business required him to spend part of the year there, but the remainder of the time was devoted to his wife. She died a few months before him, at the age of 84, but Munby did not change his will in which he referred to her as a servant and said of her: "Hannah has always refused and still refuses to have the position which as my wife she might and could have had, and has always insisted, and still insists, on being my servant as well as my wife, her one grievance being that she cannot be my only servant, and whereas owing chiefly to this noble and unselfish resolve of hers I have never been able to make known of my said marriage to my family, or to the world at large, and the same is known only to her kindred and three of my most intimate college friends, of whom Robert Spencer Borland knows the full circumstances and knows her personally."—New York Press.

Stature of Man.

A common average of north European men is five feet nine and one-fourth inches. The question opens an interesting prospect in the study of the races of mankind, for stature is one of the minor differences of race. The lowest average stature is that of the pygmy races, 51 inches having been recorded from several distinct sources in Indonesia. At the other extreme 70½ inches has been determined from many series of observations upon Polynesians of the Tongatiti migration, thus placing them above the Araucanians of Patagonia, who were long considered the tallest of men. The present system of classification of the races of men erects its first division upon the hair and secondary divisions thereunder upon the stature. The races of many inches under the several classes are the negro, Ethiopian, Indo-African, Arab, Berber, the fair haired northern Europeans, Polynesians, North American Indians, Patagonians. The races markedly below the average height are the Bushmen, negroes, Drauidha, Iberian, the flaxen haired eastern Europeans, Ainu, Indonesian, South American Indian, Central American, Eskimo, Lapp.—New York Sun.

TAKE UNDUE RISKS

CARELESSNESS OF TRESPASSERS CAUSE MANY DEATHS.

Chances Taken by Those Unlawfully Using Right of Way Result in Many Accidents.

It is not generally understood how large a proportion of the deaths and injuries on the railroads of this country is due to the risks wilfully taken by trespassers who persist in using the right of way as a public thoroughfare, says the Scientific American. The annual reports of the Interstate Commerce commission for the last 11 years show that in this period 105,000 persons were killed or injured and that of this total about 50,000 were killed outright. The large ratio of fatalities to injuries, which is several times larger than the ratio that obtains in the case of accidents to passengers and employees, suggests that practically all these accidents were due to trespassers being struck by moving trains. The records of the commission show that in 1898 4,063 trespassers lost their lives on American railroads; that five years later the number of killed was 5,000, and that in 1907 it rose to 5,612; that is to say, on every day of that year an average of over 15 people lost their lives entirely through their own folly in trespassing on the right of way of the railroads. Figures compiled by the Pennsylvania railroad alone show that 465 trespassers lost their lives on that system's lines in 1899, and 781 were killed in 1904; while in 1907 the number reached 915, an average of about three for every business day of the year.

There is no country in the world where the loss of life due to trespassing on railroads approaches these figures, not even if we take into consideration the smaller mileage of the railway systems in Europe and elsewhere. The difference is easily explained. It is due to the stringent laws in Europe against trespassing, to the careful policing of the tracks, and especially to the fact that violations of the law are invariably punished. Here in the United States conditions are exceedingly lax. Some of the railroads, and notably the one referred to above, endeavor to enforce the law against trespassing on railroad property. The Pennsylvania company exhibits thousands of warning signs along the right of way; but unfortunately the actual punishment of persons violating the laws against trespassing has been infrequent, the cost of imprisonment often deterring the local courts from holding those who have been arrested.

The fatalities and injuries are most frequent where the railroads pass through manufacturing districts in which the tracks are lined with factories. The railroad frequently offers the shortest cut between the factory and the home, and statistics show that men of the laboring class, artisans and their wives and children, are annually killed by the hundred. Evidently the remedy for this shocking slaughter, which stands as distinct reproach against the civilization of America, is to be found in the thorough co-operation of city and country authorities with the railroads in the rigid enforcement of the law against trespass.

So long as the public realizes that warning placards, railroad watchmen and laws against trespass are subject to the caprice of local magistrates who look with a lenient eye upon offenders, trespassers will continue to walk on the track and this horrible annual roll of deaths and injury will continue to increase.

FREIGHT CARS IN SERVICE

Reading Claims by Long Odds the Greatest Number Per Mile of Any Railroad.

The Reading has by long odds the greatest number of freight cars in service per mile of road of any railroad, according to the Railroad Age-Gazette. In 1909 it used 42.3 cars per mile, indicating the immensity and concentration of its freight business. Its nearest competitors were: Western Pennsylvania lines, 37.5; Jersey Central, 33.1; Pennsylvania Eastern lines, 31.9, and Lackawanna, 23.8.

The low record is held by San Antonio & Arkansas Pass, 3.0, but closely following are Southern Pacific and Union Pacific, with 4.4 and 4.3 cars per mile of road respectively.

Pennsylvania Eastern lines have a long lead in actual number of cars, with 128,220 in service in 1909. The total for the system, 181,382, is more than twice that of its nearest rival. The next largest are Baltimore & Ohio, 80,759; New York Central, 64,846, and Chicago & Northwestern, 58,453.

There are some remarkable differences in average length of haul. Union Pacific had an average in 1901 of 383.70 miles and Atchison of 363.53 miles. Compared with these were 75.28 miles for the Central of New Jersey and 77.26 for the Pennsylvania Western lines.

New England railroads received the highest rate per ton mile, 1.085 cents, and the trunk lines group the lowest, 0.632 cent. The highest rate received by any road was 1.513 cents by San Antonio & Arkansas Pass. The New Haven received 1.420 cents and the Denver & Rio Grande 1.310 cents.

Four roads received less than a half-cent per ton mile. Chesapeake & Ohio, 0.410 cent; Norfolk & Western, 0.460 cent; Chicago & Eastern Illinois, 0.480 cent, and Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg, 0.482 cent. The average for the country in 1909 was 0.808 cent and in 1908 0.803 cent.

QUEER WAY TO MAKE TIME

Correspondent Says It Can Be Done by Running Slower in New York's Subway.

A curious and interesting suggestion for improvement of the subway service in New York has been made in a letter to the New York Evening Post. It is printed over the signature L. H., and it shows how it is possible to greatly increase the number of trains. Paradoxical as it sounds, this is to be done by reducing speed. The scheme depends on the fact that if there are cars enough the carrying capacity of a road is limited only by the number of cars that are dispatched in a given time. At present two minutes' headway is the least that is considered safe for trains that often run at the rate of 35 miles an hour. If the headway could be reduced to a minute and a half, the number of trains in an hour would be 40 instead of 30, and the carrying capacity would be correspondingly increased. L. H. finds if the speed be reduced from 35 miles an hour to about 28 miles, the trains can be stopped in about 180 feet instead of about 300 feet. He also finds, through computation too long to reproduce here, that when slow time over certain portions of the route is taken into account and also the time lost in slowing down, the 28 mile train would need only two minutes more than the 35 mile train in running between Ninety-sixth street and the Brooklyn bridge. He is right in holding that lengthening the trip by two minutes would be a small price to pay for the increased number of cars that could be run.—Hartford Times.

After The Grippe

"I am much pleased, to be able to write and thank you for what Cardui has done for me," writes Mrs. Sarah J. Gilliland, of Siler City, N. C.

"Last February, I had the Grippe, which left me in bad shape. Before that, I had been bothered with female trouble, for ten years, and nothing seemed to cure it.

"At last, I began to take Cardui. I have taken only three bottles, but it has done me more good than all the doctors or than any other medicine I ever took."

Take CARDUI

J 42

The Woman's Tonic

For the after-effects of any serious illness, like the Grip, Cardui is the best tonic you can use.

It builds strength, steadies the nerves, improves the appetite, regulates irregularities and helps bring back the natural glow of health.

Cardui is your best friend, if you only knew it. Think of the thousands of ladies whom Cardui has helped! What could possibly prevent it from helping you?

Remember you cannot get the benefit of the Cardui ingredients in any other medicine, for they are not for sale in any drug store except in the Cardui bottle. Try Cardui.

LAS CONVENCIONES EN LINCOLN

El jueves de la emana pasada se reunieron las convenciones de los dos grandes partidos politicos de este condado en Lincoln.

La convencion Republicana del condado de Lincoln fue llamada el Jueves en la manana por J. H. Canning, Secretario del Comite Central, en la ausencia del presidente Hamilton. Por un voto animoso Dr. T. W. Watson, fue elegido temporario presidente de la convencion y L. B. Chase, temporario Secretario. Un comite credencial y una orden de un comite de negocios fueron nombrados por el foro, en mocion, y 70 delegados fueron hallados presentes de 79 que fueron nombrados. Los precintos Corona y Picaehò no fueron representados.

Los Senores Jacobo J. Aragon de Lincoln y J. H. Canning de esta ciudad, ambos comerciantes y bien conocidos en el condado, fueron nombrados por los republicanos y A. H. Hudspeth, de White Oaks, fue nombrado por los demócratas. Despues se reunieron las dos convenciones y las desposiciones de una y otra convencion fueron devidamente aprobadas y confirmadas.

La mayor armonia y buen animo prevalecio en las dos convenciones y la reunion de ambos cuerpos fue notable por el regocijo e entusiasmo lo cual servira por mucho tiempo de abolir todo rencor, ojeriza y mala voluntad que en lo pasado ha existido entre los dos partidos y entre las diferentes secciones del condado. Tambien el pueblo esta de placemes con el resultado de haber conseguido delegados que seguramente se esforzaran continuamente en trabajar en probecho del pueblo y en defender sus derechos. Es deseado que todos los demas condados siguieren el ejemplo del Condado de Lincoln.
