Initiative and Referendum Discussed Pro and Con Different Opinions

CONVENTION MEET OCTOBER 3

Since Direct Legislation in the form of the Initiative, Referendum and Recall is the main issue before the people of New Mexico in the making of their constitution by the Constitutional Convention which will meet October 3rd in Santa Fe we have selected a few opinions on the subject from prominent authorities both for and against the measures, as follows:

A GOVERNMENT OF LAWS.

The initiative and referendum would not only impose the will of a tyrannical majority unlimited by constitutional or others checks, but in probably every instance, the will of an unscrupulous minority upon the indifferent majority. This on account of the growing indifference of the majority of voters to politics. Says the Denver Times;

"For our part we admit a growing indifference to the course of politics in Colorado. The great majority of the people are very busy with their own personal affairs. Not more than fifty per cent of those who could qualify actually register for any general election. Even in a presidential year only sixty or seventy per cent of those who register go to polls. It is the active minority of the people which decides most of our political contests; and we have not yet reached the decision of our countries were only the candidate with an absolute majority of the recorded votes is declared elected. With us politics is still the avocation of the few and business the vocation of the many, and our sympathies are altogether, in this respect, with the many."

It is well therefore that this nation continues to be a government of laws and not men. Sorry the day for the country when present socialistic theories, such as the initiative and referendum prevail, and make this a government of men instead of a government of laws. There will be no protection of property and personal rights then, for the majority of a voting minority can any day abrogate all those rights and every other constitutional and legal right, if it has a mind to. Says Colonel George Harvey of the North American Review, a progressive and a keen thinker:

"Not so long ago a veritable obsession for segregation and centralization of political authority took possession of many minds. The attack was poignant, but not perennial. No longer is heard a single complaint of encroachment by one branch of the government upon the prerogatives of another. The machinery of state, so delicately and so sagaciously adjusted under the constitution, runs without friction, wholly at all times within the control of the people if they but exercise their franchise. And is it not a circumstance most fortuitous, a veritable blessing from Heaven, that at this time when our court of last resort the final arbiter of all vital disputes, is being virtually reconstituted, we have in the appointive seat a great and sober judge, jealous of the honor of his profession, keen in discriminating between intellectual, judicial and individual capacities and consecrated to the fundamental truth that this is and must continue to be a government of laws and not of men?"

OREGON REFERENDUM

Attorney General A. M. Crawford of the state of Oregon, has written Frank W. Shearon, secretary of the Republican central committee of New Mexico, on the workings of the initiative and referendum in Oregon, and advises that in any case, the percentage for the initiative should be made 30 per cent of the voters instead of 5 per cent, the present rate in Oregon, and 20 per cent for the referendum instead of 8, the Oregon rate. He continues: "The low requirements in this state have resulted in the continually increasing number of measures being submitted to the people at each election, and often are submitted by persons possessed of a desire to have measures enacted which the people would not approve in their entirety, but are so drawn as to appeal to the voters while the objectionable parts are included in such a way as not to be noticed, and there is not opportunity for discussion and amendment as there is when the measures are submitted to the legislature. The initiative and referendum amendment to our constitution was adopted in 1902, and became effective in 1903. At the first election thereafter in 1904, two measures were submitted under the

WHITE FOUND GUILTY

The trail in the case of Deputy Sheriff White of Tularosa accused of killing Pedro Agilar in his saloon at Tularosa last winter has been in progress the past week in the District Court in session at Alamogordo. A verdict of guilty of manslaughter in the second degree was found against White, by a jury composed of 12 Americans. Sentence has not yet been pronounced by Judge Wright. The convicted was a brother of Joe White of this city. Attorney H. B. Hamilton of Capitan assisted District Attorney Maj. W. H. H. Llewellyn in the prosecution. J. E. Wharton acted for the defence.

THE EL PASO FAIR

To quote the circus bills 20 cars, count'em 20 will be required to transport the amusement attractions which will be the features of the Overland Trail, this Midway of the El Paso Fair and Exposition, Oct. 29th to Nov. 6th. The Parker Carnival Company has been contracted for to furnish the amusement part of the Southwestern Exposition program at El Paso. ## UNDISCOVERED AS YET

An Article About New Mexico's Undiscovered Wealth of Prehistoric Days

WRITTEN BY J. H. BRANTLEY

Written for The Outlook

It would be extremely difficult to find another section of the globe of the same area that is richer in tradition and legendary history than that portion known as New Mexico. Ever an anon something new is discovered or rediscovered which excites comment in certain circles for a time, but such occurrences have become so common that they have well nigh ceased to be of interest, even to the inquiring mind, to say nothing of the average sleepy New Mexican who manifests but little interest in either predecessors or successors, ancestry or posterity. It is a demonstrable fact that in the dim and for the most part unknown past New Mexico was far more densely populated than it is now, and that these ancient and semi-ancient peoples were civilized to some extent, and that aside from following the chase and emulating their more civilized and Christianized successors in an effort to exterminate each other, they were also engaged in mining and agricultural pursuits. Evidences of their thrift in this direction are to be seen to this day throughout the Southwest, and especially in New Mexico, so rich in mineral and agricultural resources which are practically untouched as yet.

Explorers, scientific and otherwise, roam the wide world over, incurring untold hardships and dangers, in search of new objects of interest in other lands while the great and wonderful Southwest, so rich in this respect, is overlooked and comparatively speaking, undiscovered in this year of Our Lord 1910. In this region are numerous large cities which have been sleeping in the dust for centuries and from which might be obtained a wealth of information, both scientific and historic. South of Alamogordo are evidences of quite a river which once flowed southward thru what is now a dry sandy waste. Along the course of this stream vast areas were cultivated and no doubt supported a large and prosperous population. "Ruins", of this nature are quite numerous all over the territory.

Near Carrizozo are several of these oppressively silent cities but it would appear that because of there being so near home where we can lay our hands on them at any time no one seems to think it worth while to ascertain their identity and history. If they were on the Sahara Desert or at the North Pole, John D. Astorvelt would long since have contributed a million or two toward having them exhumed and catalogued. That people should manifest a livelier interest in things abroad than in things of a superior quality at home is physiological phenomena difficult of apprehension as it is aggravating. The adults should have been registered and the minors enrolled long ago.

Just so it has been and still is as regards mining. Men have been seeking fortunes in Alaska, South America and Mexico while some of the biggest propositions in the world are in New Mexico undeveloped for want of capital and enterprise.

It is well known that during the Spanish regime in Mexico that people carried on extensive mining operations in what is now New Mexico and many are the traditions of lost mines and hidden treasure. of revolts and Indian massacres, current among the natives. In the archives of both Spain and Mexico are records of numerous fabulously rich mines worked with slave labor in this region at that time. These antiques were so well covered that but few of them have been rediscovered, and but few prospectors are possessed of both the information, nerve and means, sufficient to justify a search for this long hidden workings which is bound to involve more or less disappointment just as every other undertaking does.

H. W. Fowler, of Carthage, New Mexico, recently came into possession of information to the effect that Spaniards once operated some wonderfully rich mines on the west side of the Oscuro Mountains, 23 miles East of Carthage, 5 miles Northwest of Ozane and 37 miles West of Carrizozo.

Tradition has it that the Spaniards had Navajo Indians enslaved at that time and worked this mine or mines with their labor. With a Navajo Indian to assist him, Mr. Fowler set about investigating the matter and has met with agreeable success thus far; having succeeded in uncovering some of their tunnels where they worked rich silver veins which is still in evidence, only the best ore having been taken out.

They also have succeeded in locating a shaft which was covered over and Mr. Fowler has since found the Smelter site where the ores were reduced. The plat in Mr. Fowler's possession also calls for a rich gold lode in the same vicinity which was worked at the same time. They have found monuments and marks called for but have not yet located the workings, may this be done at any time.

Mr. Fowler and associates have located 22 claims which constitutes one of the largest undeveloped mining propositions in the world, their being at the least calculation, half a million tons of milling ore in sight; the veins ranging from 2 ft. to 100 ft. in width. The principle values consist of lead and silver but some of the quartz assays as high as $21. in gold. Mr. Fowler has one silver assay of 1800 ounces and another of $760. to the ton.

It seems incredible that such a proposition should have lain so long undeveloped, and within 23 miles of a railroad.

The Spaniards came from Mexico to what is now United States to mine in their regime and today the Americans go from the United States to Old Mexico to mine.

—Judge Prosper Sherry of the Legal firm of Sherry & Sherry of Alamogordo, spend Tuesday here transacting legal business for the firm.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1910

THE BUREAU of Immigration of New Mexico has issued a suggestion to the people that is well worth considering and if the people of this community would take advantage of it much aid could be given the movement. The suggestion is as follows: "Every new man who settles in New Mexico adds just so much to the general growth and development. We are all interested in pushing New Mexico's development. Now is the time of all times when we can push our claims with greatest hope of immediate return. The New Mexico Bureau of Immigration is now reaching out with its advertising into almost every state in the Union. The work of the New Mexico Publicity Association which provides the funds for this advertising campaign, is getting results in a flood of inquiries from all sections of the country.

Advertising in newspapers and magazines, however, will not reach every one. It does not have the appeal that is carried in a line from a personal friend. There is hardly a resident in New Mexico who has not some friend in some other state who is interested or who can be interested in our country. The Bureau of Immigration therefore invites every man who has a friend interested in New Mexico or who he thinks may be interested, to send that friend's name and address to the Bureau at its office in Albuquerque New Mexico literature will be mailed at once and will be followed by a courteous letter. It will cost you nothing but a two cent stamp and the time necessary to write a letter. Think over your list of acquaintances in other states; pick out those likely to be interested and send their names and addresses today to H. B. Hening, Secy. Bureau of Immigration, Albuquerque, N. M."

NOT one of the Democratic delegates in the constitutional convention is a Spanish-American citizen. Yet, of the 25,000 votes received by the democratic candidates on Tuesday, more than one-half were cast by native-born people. What do the native people think of this? Isn't it about time that they joined the republican majority, which in New Mexico as well as Arizona is pledge to preserve to the Spanish-Americans their rights as citizens? New Mexico is now republican by 10,000 majority, but if to this are added the 15,000 native-born democrats, the republicans would carry the territory at the first state election by 25,000. Of the republicans elected to constitutional convention, one-half are native born, a token that the republican party is sincere in its professions of a square deal for the native people. In Arizona the democrats at the last legislative session succeeded in disfranchising Spanish speaking citizens altogether, even though they were born in the territory. That this is the kind of a deal that the democrats would hand out to the native people if there ever should be a democratic majority, is manifest from the fact that not one of the democratic delegates to the constitutional convention is a Spanish-American citizen. How long will the 15,000 native-born democrats take that kind of a treatment from the democratic bosses? Are they mere puppets or are they free men, who are broad and big enough to join the republican ranks and thus rebuke the hatred of the democratic machine?—Santa Fe New Mexican.

MAIN ISSUE BEFORE US

Initiative, viz: The direct primary nominating law and the local option liquor law. Both were adopted. Since that time there has been an ever increasing number of measurer submitted to the people, both by the initiative and referendum, until at the approaching election, to be held on the 8th of November of this year, there will be thirty-two measures submitted to the voters to pass upon.*** I believe the majority of the people of this state would agree with me."

IN FAVOR OF THE ISSUE

Herbert Quick, of the Farm and Fireside, had the following to say of the Initiative and Referendum:

"No legitimate interest, no honest interest is afraid of it.

To make a constitution in 1910 and leave direct legislation out of it, is as foolish as to construct a power plant and leave out steam and electricity

And any constitution should be easily amendable by popular vote at any time, as most of the newer ones are.

Your constitution should be short and simple.

It should provide for the ordinary formal things, for amendment by popular vote, for the initiative, the referendum and recall and should stop there.

Such a constitution neither the President nor Congress would dare to veto.

And less than that no really self-governing people should be willing to accept."

The special session of the Colorado legislature passed the Oregon initiative and referendum law. Republicans and Democrats alike supporting it.

A GOOD POSITION

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or Railway telegraphy.

Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph institute operates six officials institutes in America, under supervision of R. R. and Wireless Officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Memphis, Tenn., or Columbia, South Carolina.

Few Marriages in London.
The marriages of London last year represent the lowest percentage of which there is any record.

The Enemies.
Apropos of the enemy, now happily buried, that used to exist between Minneapolis and St. Paul, Senator Clapp said at a dinner in the former city:

"I remember an address on careless building that I once heard in Minneapolis.

"Why," said the speaker in the course of this address, "one inhabitant of St. Paul is killed by accident in the streets every 48 hours."

"A bitter voice from the rear of the hall interrupted:
"Well, it ain't enough," it said."

Senator Dewey, on the deck of the Lusitania, talked about "English as she is spoken in London."

"It is very difficult to understand that London English," he said. "I know a man who had lodgings all July in Bloomsbury, near the British museum.

"On his return from the museum one afternoon, my friend said to his landlady:
"Can I have a cup of tea, if you please?"

"Certainly, sir; at once," the landlady replied. "The kettle 'as been bl'in' for 'ours."

"But—er—I prefer freshly boiled water, if you don't mind," stammered my friend.

"The landlady reddened with anger. "Look 'ere," she said, "if I 'ad meant wot you mean I'd 'ave said 'ours."

PRESSED HARD.
Coffee's Weight on Old Age.

When prominent men realize the injurious effects of coffee and the change in health that Postum can bring, they are glad to lend their testimony for the benefit of others.

A superintendent of public schools in a Southern state says: "My mother, since her early childhood, was an inveterate coffee drinker, had been troubled with her heart for a number of years and complained of that 'weak all over' feeling and sick stomach.

"Some time ago I was making an official visit to a distant part of the country and took dinner with one of the merchants of the place. I noticed a somewhat peculiar flavor of the coffee, and asked him concerning it. He replied that it was Postum. I was so pleased with it that, after the meal was over, I bought a package to carry home with me, and had wife prepare some for the next meal; the whole family liked it so well that we discontinued coffee and used Postum entirely.

"I had really been at times very anxious concerning my mother's condition, but we noticed that after using Postum for a short time, she felt so much better than she did prior to its use, and had little trouble with her heart and no sick stomach; that the headaches were not so frequent, and her general condition much improved. This continued until she was as well and hearty as the rest of us.

"I know Postum has benefited myself and the other members of the family, but in a more marked degree in the case of my mother, as she was a victim of long standing."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

WESTERN MINING NEWS IN BRIEF

Colorado.

The new coal mine at Mancos has begun to produce.

The Santiago mill which burned recently at Georgetown is to be replaced by a new plant.

Shipments from Silverton district for August were 3,800 tons of concentrates and 1,475 of crude ore.

The Big Five's central tunnel at Idaho Springs is to be equipped with electric transportation facilities.

The vanadium mines and mill at Newmire are to resume work and preparations are being now made to that end.

Black Hawk mills are handling a large amount of custom ore. The Polar Star mill is to have an addition built at once.

The American Marble & Onyx company is installing machinery to develop its properties near Cleora, seven miles from Salida.

A recent big San Miguel county deal is the sale of the Suffolk group near Ophir to a syndicate of Colorado and eastern capitalists.

Reports come from Axial that Ohio parties are getting options on nearly all the lands in the basin and steps are being taken to bore for oil.

Joe Reese, leasing from the Pebawic company, shipped a lot of ore to Black Hawk which returned 4½ ounces gold, 11 per cent copper and 6 ounces silver per ton.

R. E. Crawford has opened his copper property in the Cleora district in six different places and has a vein eight feet wide which is said to be almost solid native copper.

Rich ore has been found in the Silver Ledge mine at Chattanooga and the possibilities are enormous, according to experts. Two products are being made, one running 69 per cent lead and the other 45 per cent zinc.

Samples from a new strike in the Swarthmore property at Eldora assayed 47 ounces gold and 11½ ounces silver per ton. The vein is eight feet wide at the breast, and is in a tunnel 400 feet below the bottom of the shaft and 900 feet below the top of the hill.

A pool of Black Hawk men have secured a lease from the Pearl-Tatum Mining company of the Banzai mine, back of the Black Hawk foundry, and formerly known as the After Supper claim. They have the mine about drained and ready for development work. Their lease covers the ground from the surface down to the 240-foot level, in which and in the 100-foot levels they will carry on all their work.

New Mexico.

Ore crushed by the Socorro mines in August amounted to 3,300 tons of an approximate value of $65,000.

A new artesian well at Camp City shows oil bubbles in the water and has somewhat reawakened interest in the oil prospects of that field.

The placers six miles northeast of Hillsboro which in days ago are said to have produced millions are to be worked again with improved methods and machinery. It is proposed to employ a crushing machine which has been in use in Mexico and demonstrated to be successful. It is said by its use 300 tons of material can be put through an eight-inch mesh per ten-hour shift at a cost of about $5 per day for power.

Wyoming.

The coal mine at Cody is to be reopened. Development continues unabated in the Uinta oil field, and many new wells are being driven.

Ed Martin and Charles Martin, brothers, of Encampment, believe they have rediscovered the long-lost Beagle Boulder ledge near the Battle road, at the head of the gulch. The Herald says: "If future developments prove this discovery to be proportionately as prolific of gold as was the great rock which is believed to have been broken off from it and carried down the gulch, many years ago, it will be the most important discovery or strike that has ever been made in the Grand Encampment district, easily relegating even the Haggarty mine to a second place."

Arizona.

At a meeting of the Territorial Board of Equalization the valuation of $34.40 per acre was fixed on all non-producing patented mines in the territory, giving an aggregate valuation on such properties of $2,556,278. The total acreage is about 72,000, headed by Yavapai county with 27,394 acres and Cochise with 16,018. Heretofore this patented ground has been assessed at various valuations, from $50 an acre in Gila county down to $6.74 in Cochise.

Worse and Worse.

Governor Hughes, at a dinner in New York, was talking about an explanation that had been suggested for a crooked political deal.

"It was an explanation that made matters worse," he said. "It was like the remark of the Atlantic City landlady.

"A gentleman at an Atlantic City boarding house sniffed at the fish set before him, and, calling the landlady, he said:
"Look here, this fish isn't as fresh as that I get in New York."

"Why, that's strange," said the landlady. "All our fish comes from New York!"

He Got Another Job.

"We make it a rule here," said the warden to the new prisoner, "to assign prisoners to the trades which they are most familiar with, and I'll make no exception in your case. What is your occupation?"

"I am an aeroplane chauffeur," replied the new boarder, as he grinned a grewsome grin.—Chicago News.

A New Program.

"Are you going to take summer boarders this year?"

"No," answered Farmer Cornstassel. "Business is good and times are changed. After this I'm going to take a vacation in cold weather and drop in and criticize the city folks that have to take winter boarders"

WAR MADE IMPOSSIBLE.

If all the "advanced" ideas were adopted it would seem that war would soon be made impossible. Many schemes have been exploited in the shape of skillfully written newspaper or magazine articles, but the building of big warships continues. The latest claimant for attention at Washington is an individual who has conceived the brilliant plan of having ships carry a reel of barbed wire at the stern, so arranged that an end can be thrown overboard while the vessel steams swiftly around the enemy until the latter's propellers are so tangled up that they cannot turn. Then, says the inventor, "all the fleet need is to sail away and leave its enemy's men to starve and its ships to rust." But the naval authorities have fled away this most impressive suggestion along with that of the man who a few years ago wanted the government to adopt a projectile filled with a gas that would anaesthetize all on board an enemy's ship, so that capture would be easy. The day of the inventor is not yet past. Nor that of the crank.

When the summer vacation season opens the rush of Americans to Europe taxes the capacity of the outgoing steamships. Long before the end of the summer vacation season the pressure of the returning tide of travel is felt. People who desire to journey in comfort and who neglect to engage their passage a long time ahead, find themselves at the present juncture obliged to pay extreme prices or wait. A special from Berlin tells of a wealthy New Yorker who wanted to come home and applied for first-class accommodations on the Hamburg-American line. The cheapest price at which he could procure a cabin suite, he found, was $2,000. The North German Lloyd boats are similarly crowded, both companies being "booked up" for several weeks. It pays the ocean traveler to be forehanded.

The house fly is frequently expounded upon as the most dangerous disease purveyor of summertime, says Chicago Journal. Let us not forget that the rat is also a dangerous marauder, and a menace to public health. San Francisco employs 30 rat trappers, who average more than 8,000 rats a month captured, and unknown armies of the pests poisoned in the sewers. Chicago should take measures to rid herself of the rat plague, which not only facilitates the distribution of disease but causes an annual loss of thousands of dollars by its sharp teeth and inordinate appetite.

A dispatch from Honolulu says that doctors have succeeded in isolating the germ of leprosy, that they are now trying to develop a serum, and that this means ultimately the cure for the disease. Unfortunately this is not the first time that we have been told we are on the eve of the discovery of a cure for leprosy. But it is 46 years since Hansen discovered the bacillus of leprosy.

They are laughing at a man in east New York who, waking suddenly, shot off his big toe thinking his foot was the face of a burglar. Chicago, which brags of its size in everything but feet, has the incident already noted for its comic almanac of next year.

Don Jaime, the Spanish pretender, announces that he will not resort to violence for the purpose of securing the throne. We predict that he will fall if he attempts to coax Alfonso to give it up.

A St. Louis astronomer has discovered a sun spot 50,000 miles wide and a Massachusetts astronomer has found a new comet. Nevertheless we expect things to move along the earth about as usual.

If anything can revive the Shakespearean drama the rendering of "As You Like It" in Esperanto will do it. Even if it were dead it would rise up and kick.

It may be true that the average American eats 82 pounds of sugar a year, but he does not act the part when the umpire makes a bad decision.

Albuquerque.—Former Forester Gifford Pinchot met the local officials of the forest service here for a short time, while the California limited train on the Santa Fe stopped here. Pinchot, who is on his way to Catalina island, California, to fish, accompanied by his brother, Amos Pinchot of New York, would not talk politics, but said he was delighted with the outcome of the Conservation congress in St. Paul.

Water Application Bonds Approved.
Territorial Engineer Vernon L. Sullivan approved the bonds accompanying the application for water rights of the Columbus Improvement association, $1,000; Eugene F. Hardwick, et al., $500; R. L. Survant, et al., $5,000; S. H. Brown, $250; Joe Elek, $1,000; E. T. Foster, et al., $5,000; T. L. Loftus, $8,000; William M. Fyffe, et al., $1,000; Baldwin & Gibbany, $500, and George Doak, $4,000.

Easy Money for Meyer.
Farmington.—Jesse Munn, who killed Night Marshal Jagelin in Telluride, Colo., several weeks ago, was captured Wednesday five miles from here by A. Meyer, an employe of a fruit ranch. The fugitive made no resistance, saying he was tired of trying to evade officers. Munn had lost his bearings and had little idea of where he was when found. Meyer will get the $1,500 reward offered for Munn by the Telluride and San Miguel county authorities.

The Taos Pueblos.
Taos.—Dr. J. C. Murphy, head physician for the Indians of the west, accompanied Dr. W. H. Harrison on a tour of inspection of the Taos Pueblos and Picuris Indians.

The visit to the old pueblo, where for generations the Taos Indians have made their home, was an object of especial interest, and called for Dr. Murphy, who is a specialist on tuberculosis, very strong words of commendation. The physician declared that with the ventilation and light and cleanliness, which is characteristic of the homes at the pueblo, the dreaded disease, which has attacked so many Indian tribes, was not to be feared.

The Pueblos of Taos have always ranked among the highest and most progressive of all Indian tribes, and it is gratifying to know that this skilled physician places them at the head of the other tribes.

Spanish-American Normal School.
The Spanish-American normal school at El Rito, Rio Arriba county, opened last week with a small attendance, due to the fact that many of its pupils are still busy harvesting. These will come later when the enrollment will exceed one hundred. One of the chief purports of the school is to supply teachers for the rural school districts of New Mexico, a need that was recognized, but neglected in the past. The school offers excellent facilities for supplying the need and also offers advanced courses for teachers desiring higher grade certificates.

Exonerate Slain Trader from Charges.
Albuquerque.—Inspector McLaughlin of the Bureau of Indian Affairs has gone to Denver to prepare a report for the department on the recent killing of Richard Wetherill by Navajo Indians near Pueblo Bonito. He made searching investigation, penetrating into the wildest part of the reservation and securing testimony here and at Gallup. It is understood his report will entirely exonerate the slain pioneer and Indian trader from the charge of stealing the cattle of the Indians and branding them.

"He's in, but he's out o' doors."

Vermont Thrift.

Robert Lincoln O'Brien, editor of the Boston Transcript, is a great admirer of the thrift of the Vermonters, but thinks sometimes they carry it too far.

O'Brien was up in Vermont last summer and went to dinner with a friend who had some political aspirations. As they came in the door he heard the lady of the house say to the hired girl: "I see Mr. Jones has somebody with him for dinner. Take these two big potatoes down to the cellar and bring up three small ones."

Fire Tuesday night at Thornton, Wash., almost completely destroyed the business section, causing loss estimated at $60,000.

The Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway system has voluntarily raised the wages of its telegraphers by amounts of from $7.50 to $15.00 per month.

The government has awarded contracts for construction and completion of the Fannie canal and lateral, Shoshone irrigation project, Wyoming.

Ray Roberts was killed at Miller, Neb., Monday while trying to board a moving train, and Verne Reynolds was fatally injured trying to alight from a moving train.

A young machinist employed in a Sheridan, Wyo., garage has completed an invention he calls the "Gyro-auto," which is an automobile equipped with only two wheels and a gyroscope. He has applied for a patent.

The local police department is so permeated with graft that it must be completely reorganized, was the substance of a communication which was sent Thursday by Mayor McCarthy to the police commission of San Francisco.

Because El Paso has been overrun in the past with the migratory tubercular patients who flock to that place when the weather gets bad in the North, the vagrancy law will be applied to every indigent consumptive who attempts to locate here.

State-wide prohibition was put forward by the Democrats of Utah as a paramount issue at their state convention Thursday. They refused to ask for a prohibitory amendment to the constitution, but inserted a strong plank in the platform pledging the party to an anti-liquor law.

The government is preparing to build what will be the longest fence ever constructed in the world. It will extend from El Paso to the Pacific coast and will divide the United States and Mexico, a distance of over 1,000 miles. The fence will be of barbed wire, five-strand. Work on the big undertaking will commence within a few weeks.

The secretary of the interior has awarded contracts for the completion of the Rannie canal and lateral, Shoshone irrigation project in Wyoming, as follows: Hilton and Farlow, Shoshone, 247,500 cubic yards of excavating, $49,305; R. M. Lynn, Lowell, 89,000 yards, $23,110; and Johnson Bros. and Shumway, Lowell, 45,000 yards, $8,175.

Expensively arrayed in hobble-skirt gowns, fancy millinery creations, smart motoring coats and heavy automobile veils, five Chinese eluded the immigration authorities at El Paso recently and made entry into the United States under the very noses of the inquisitive guards. The discovery of the new ruse caused a flurry and Denver officials have been instructed to keep a vigorous watch over the Chinese quarter in hope of catching the Chinese.

Stamp collecting is rapidly coming into vogue again. And all because the public has ascertained that it for years has been one of King George's hobbies.

It is reported from Rome that Pope Plus is suffering from arterio-sclerosis as well as gout, and that he feels very much depressed. His physicians are anxious.

Hadji Mohammed Jumalul Kiram, the sultan of Sulu, accompanied by his brother and four members of his council, arrived in London Friday enroute to the United States. The trip to Panama which President Taft had planned to take in November to inspect the work that has been done on the isthmian canal, may be given up. It is understood that several Republican leaders have endeavored to convince the President that the political situation requires his presence in this country.

WASHINGTON.

The name of Charles Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor, has replaced that of the late Solicitor General Bowers in the gossip of Washington regarding the expected appointments to the present and prospective vacancies in the Supreme Court.

During the next few weeks the few national banks in the United States rated as "weak" will have their last chance to strengthen themselves, or get out of business. Comptroller Murray will use all the authority of his office to compel sound banking in the strong institutions and force the weak ones to strengthen or retire.

An arrangement was concluded between the Postoffice Department and the Treasury Department Monday by which the latter directs the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to prepare 1,500,000 postal savings stamps cards for the use of the Postoffice Department. The cards will be sold for 10 cents each. Stamps sold at 10 cents each by the Postoffice Department may be affixed to the cards and when the stamps and card amount to one dollar, the card may be deposited at a postal savings bank station to the credit of the depositor. The purpose of the system is to encourage small savings by children.

At the close of the electric show at the Auditorium in Denver the week of October 8, two of the local school football teams will be invited to play a game by electric light.

Three brown Italian athletes, veterans of many a pedestrian contest in their own country, have just left New York in an effort to beat Edward Payson Weston's record to San Francisco.

At the Pastime oval, New York, two records were made Tuesday, one in the 90-yard dash in which Bob Eller, of the Irish-American Athletic club, traveled the course in 9.15 seconds, bettering the best existing figures by 1.5 second. This record will not be allowed, as the course was on a slight down grade. The other record was made in the weight event by John Flanagan, Irish-American Athletic club, who sent the 56-pound missile 42 feet, bettering his own work of 40 feet 2 inches, made at Celtic park six years ago. This record will stand, as it was made under the regulations.

At the Harvard-Boston aero meet Monday Johnstone went up for his duration and distance and accuracy marks, in all of which he made new records. He remained in the air three hours, four minutes, 44.25 seconds, which broke the American record of Clifford B. Harmon of New York, by one hour 10 minutes and 30 seconds. On the same trip he covered 97 miles, 4,666 feet, which is likewise a new American record, bettering Harman's mark by some seven miles. Descending from his long journey Johnstone planted his car almost exactly over the flag in a test for accuracy, his seat being but five feet four inches from the flag, which made a new world's record for accuracy in landing on skids.

Driving his Bleriot monoplane approximately at a mile a minute, Claude Grahame-White, the English aviator, brought to a successful close his first American engagement by defeating Glen H. Curtiss, the American flyer and world's speed champion of the air, in a special speed test at the Harvard aviation field, by 16.45 seconds in a five and a quarter miles race. White thereby won the $3,000 Harvard cup and made a new speed mark for the field by going the course in 5 minutes 47.45 seconds. White also added to his winnings the John Hays Hammond cup, the second prize for a special bomb-throwing contest. Ralph Johnstone, the Wright aviator, took the first prize, the Boston cup.

POLITICAL.

The renomination of Speaker Cannon by a reduced plurality and the probable defeat of Congressman George E. Foss by his progressive opponent as indicated in early returns were features of the primaries in Illinois.

Reports of the progressive victory in the Republican primaries of Washington reached Theodore Roosevelt Wednesday night and he immediately urged that all factions of the party unite to support Representative Miles Polindexter for the United States senate and the three progressive nominees for congress.

The insurgents' victory in the Washington Republican state primary election has exceeded all expectations. Miles Polindexter of Spokane, one of the most radical of the congressmen insurgents, has been nominated for United States senator by a plurality which his headquarters in this city estimates at 30,000.

"The Wish is Father to the Thought." Dr. Robert L. Waggoner, the president of Baldwin university, said, in the course of an address on pedagogy at Berea, O.:

"And one of the most remarkable changes in the last 30 years of teaching is the abolition of corporal punishment. A boy of this generation is never whipped. But a boy of the last generation—well!"

Doctor Waggoner smiled. "The boys of the last generation," he said, "must have believed that their instructors all had for motto: 'The wish is father to the taught.'"

TINY BABY'S PITIFUL CASE

"Our baby when two months old was suffering with terrible eczema from head to foot, all over her body. The baby looked just like a skinned rabbit. We were unable to put clothes on her. At first it seemed to be a few matted pimples. They would break the skin and peel off leaving the underneath skin red as though it were scalds. Then a few more pimples would appear and spread all over the body, leaving the baby all raw without skin from head to foot. On top of her head there appeared a heavy scab a quarter of an inch thick. It was awful to see so small a baby look as she did. Imagine! The doctor was afraid to put his hands to the child. We tried several doctors' remedies but all failed.

"Then we decided to try Cuticura. By using the Cuticura Ointment we softened the scab and it came off. Under this, where the real matter was, by washing with the Cuticura Soap and applying the Cuticura Ointment, a new skin soon appeared. We also gave baby four drops of the Cuticura Resolvent three times daily. After three days you could see the baby gaining a little skin which would peel off and heal underneath. Now the baby is four months old. She is a fine picture of a fat little baby and all is well. We only used one cake of Cuticura Soap, two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. If people would know what Cuticura is there would be few suffering with eczema. Mrs. Joseph Kossman, 7 St. John's Place, Ridgewood Heights, N. Y., Apr. 30 and May 4, '09."

Unfair.

Senator John H. Bankhead, discussing a political move, said with a smile:

"Oh, it's too coldly calculated. It's almost unfair. In fact, it's like Mrs. Blank.

"Mrs. Blank is a leader of Bar Harbor society. Her husband said to her, one afternoon, as she made a very elaborate toilet for a garden party that she was giving to some members of the British legation:

"Why did you write to all our guests that this party was to be absolutely informal?"

"Mrs. Blank laughed. "So as to be the best-dressed woman present, of course," she said."

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Not Impregnable.

Horace Avory, K. C., just appointed a judge, is one of the mordant wits of the British bar. One day, cross-examining a recalcitrant witness, he asked:

"What are you?"

"A retired gentleman," proudly asserted the ex-cheesemonger.

"Well," snarled Avory, "when you achieved the position of gentleman, why did you retire from it?"

THE LITTLE BROWN JUG AT KILDARE

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON
Illustrations By RAY WALTERS

Copyright 1908 by The Bobbs-Merrill Company.
25 SYNOPSIS.

Thomas Ardmore and Henry Maine Griswold stumble upon intrigue when the governors of North and South Carolina are reported to have quarreled. Griswold allies himself with Barbara Osborne, daughter of the governor of South Carolina, while Ardmore espouses the cause of Jerry Dangerfield, daughter of the governor of North Carolina. These two ladies are trying to fill the shoes of their fathers, while the latter are missing. Both states are in a turmoil over one Appleweight, an outlaw with great political influence. Unaware of each other's position, both Griswold and Ardmore set out to make the other prosecute. Both have forces scouting the border. Griswold captures Appleweight, but Jerry finds him and takes him to Ardsley, her own prisoner. Ardmore arrests a man on his property who says he is Gov. Osborne. Meanwhile another man is arrested as Appleweight by the South Carolina militia. The North Carolina militia is called into action. When Col. Gillingwater, Jerry's fiance, finds that real war is afoot, he flees. Appleweight is taken secretly by Ardmore and lodged in a jail in South Carolina. Returning to Ardsley, Ardmore finds that Billings, the banker, and Foster, treasurer of North Carolina, have been arrested. Barbara Osborne arrives at Ardsley. Dispute as to who has the real Appleweight results in the identification of the man jailed by Ardmore in South Carolina as the outlaw and that Griswold's prisoner is Gov. Dangerfield of North Carolina. It develops that the two governors are in the most friendly terms, and had retired together to the wilds of the border, for a rest from the cares of state.

CHAPTER XIX.—Continued.

"No!" cried Jerry. "We shall do nothing of the kind! I met Mr. Appleweight under peculiar circumstances, but I must say that I formed a high opinion of his chivalry and I beg that we allow him to take a little trip somewhere until the Woman's Civic League of Raleigh and the carping Massachusetts press have found other business, and he can return in peace to his home."

"That," said Gov. Osborne, "meets my approval."

Two more prisoners were now brought in.

"Gov. Dangerfield," continued Ardmore, "here is your state treasurer, who had sought to injure you by defaulting the state bonds due to-day, which is the first of June. And that frowsy person with Mr. Foster is Secretary Billings of the Bronx Loan & Trust Company, who has treated me at times with the greatest injustice and condescension. Whether Treasurer Foster has the money with which to meet those bonds I do not know; but I do know that I have to-day paid them in full through the Buckhaw National bank of Raleigh."

Col. Daubenspeck leaped to his feet and swung his cap. He proposed three cheers for Jerry Dangerfield; and three more for Barbara Osborne; and then the two governors were cheered three times three; and when the bungalow had ceased to ring, it was seen that Ardmore and Griswold were in each other's arms.

"Surely, by this time," said Mrs. Atchison, "you have adjusted enough of these weighty matters for one day, and I beg that you will all dine with us at Ardsley to-night at eight o'clock, where my brother and I will endeavor to mark in appropriate fashion the signing of peace between your neighboring kingdoms."

"For Gov. Osborne and myself I accept, madam," replied Gov. Dangerfield, "providing the flowing frock-coats, which are the vesture and symbol of our respective offices, are still in the log house on the Raccoon where I became a prisoner."

CHAPTER XX.

Good-By to Jerry Dangerfield.

The next morning Ardmore knocked at Griswold's door as early as he dared, and went in and talked to his friend in their old intimate fashion. The associate professor of admiralty was shaving himself with care.

"You won't have any hard feelings about that scarlet fever business, will you, Grissy? It was downright selfish of me to want to keep the thing to myself, but I thought it would be fun to go ahead and carry it through and then show you how well I pulled it off."

"Don't ever refer to it again, if you love me," spluttered Griswold, amiably, as he washed off the lather. "I, too have ruled over a kingdom, and I have seen history in the making, quorum pars magna fui."

"But I say, Grissy, there is such a thing as fate and destiny and all that after all; don't you believe it?"

"Don't I believe it! I know it!" thundered Griswold, reaching for a towel. He lifted a white rose from a glass of water where it had spent the night and regarded it tenderly. "The right rose under the right star, and the thing's done; the rose, the star and the girl—the combination simply can't be beat, Ardy."

Ardmore seized and wrung his friend's hand for the twentieth time; but he was preoccupied, and Griswold, fastening his collar at the mirror, hummed softly the couplet:

With the winking eye
For my battle-cry.

"Grissy!" shouted Ardmore, "she never did it!"

"Oh—bless my soul, what was I saying! Why, of course she wasn't the one! Not Miss Dangerfield—never!"

"Well, you like her, don't you?" demanded Ardmore, petulantly.

"Of course I like her, you idiot! She's wonderful. She's—"

He frowned upon the scarf he had chosen with much care, snapped it to shake the wrinkles out, humming softly, while Ardmore glared at him.

"She's wise," Griswold resumed, "with the wisdom of laughter—accept that, with my compliments. It's not often I do so well before breakfast. And now if you're to be congratulated before I go back to the groves of Academe pray bestir yourself. At this very moment I have an engagement to walk with a lady before breakfast—thanks, yes, that's my coat. Good-by!"

Breakfast was a lingering affair at Ardsley that morning. The two governors and the National Guard officers who had spent the night in the house were not in the slightest hurry to break up the party, for such a company, they all knew, could hardly be assembled again. The governors were a trifle nervous as to the attitude of the press, in spite of Collins' efforts mamma what he had been doing—about coming down here with Gov. Osborne just to settle an old score at poker—mamma doesn't approve of cards, you know—that he would make me a present of a better riding horse than the one I now have, and he might even consider a trip abroad next summer."

"Oh, you mustn't go abroad! It's— it's so lonesome abroad!"

"How perfectly ridiculous! Has it never occurred to you that I am never lonesome, not even when I'm alone?"

"Well," said Ardmore, who saw that he was headed for a blind alley, "I'm glad your father was not displeased with our work. It's a good thing all this fuss about the Appleweight people is over or I should be worse than silly. My mind was not intended for such heavy work."

"I think you have a good mind, Mr. Ardmore," said Jerry, with the air of one who makes concessions. "You really did well in all these troubles, and you did much better than I thought you would the day I hired you for private secretary. I think I could safely recommend you to any governor in need of assistance."

"You talk as though you were getting ready to discharge me," said Ardmore, plaintively, "and I don't want to lose my job."

"You ought to have something to do," said Jerry, thoughtfully. "As near as I can make out you have never done anything but study about pirates and collect pernicious books on the sinful life of Capt. Kidd. You should have some larger aim in life than that and I think I know of a good position that is now open, or will be as soon as papa has cleared out the peanut shells we left in his desk. I think you would make an excellent adjutant general with full charge of the state militia."

"But you have to get rid of Gillingwater first," suggested Ardmore, his heart beating fast.

"If you mean that he has to be removed from office, I will tell you now, Mr. Ardmore, that Rutherford Gillingwater is a bird that pauses alarmed, or uncertain of its whereabouts, glancing cautiously up and down the creek.

"Mr. Ardmore," she said, "you may not be aware that when you asked me to be your wife—and that, I take it, was your intention—you were standing in South Carolina, while I stood with both feet on the sacred soil of the Old North State. Under the circumstances I do not think your proposal is legal. Moreover, unless you are quite positive which eye it was that so far forgot itself as to wink, I do not think the matter can go further."

The slightest suggestion of a smile played about her lips, but he was very deeply troubled, and, seeing this, her eyes grew grave with kindness.

"Mr. Ardmore, if your muscles of locomotion have not been utterly paralyzed, and if you will leave that particular state of the union which, next to Massachusetts, I most deeply abhor, I will do what I can in my poor weak way—as father says in beginning his best speeches—to assist you to the answer."

Then for many aeons, when he had his arms about her, a kiss, which he had intended for the lips that were so near, somehow failed of its destination, and fell upon what seemed to him a rose-leaf gone to Heaven, but which was, in fact, Jerry Dangerfield's left eye. His being tingled with the most delicious of intoxications, to which the clasp of her arms about his neck added unnecessary though not unwelcome delight. Then she drew back and held him away with her finger-tips for an instant.

"Mr. Thomas Ardmore," she said, with maddening deliberation, "it might not be important, but I must tell you in all candor that it was the other eye."

THE END.

Gen. Knox's Carriage.

Frank B. Hills, first selectman of Thomaston, hitched up in front of the Rockland postoffice a day or two ago with a "pedigreed carriage"—the one in which Washington's first secretary of war used to ride. The carriage was built in Boston 130 years ago and was the private carriage of Maj. Gen. Henry Knox, secretary under the first president, and not only is it one of the most historic vehicles in the United States, but it is also probably the oldest able bodied private carriage in existence on the continent. In spite of its 130 years, a quaint substantial vehicle it is. Gen. Knox no doubt had it made, just as history tells it, in Boston, for there were no carriage builders in Thomaston in those early days, and as Gen. Knox operated a packet line of small sailing vessels between Boston and Thomaston it would have been easy for him to have the carriage brought to Thomaston.

Light, More Light.

If what Nikola Tesla says is true, there is booked for 1910 even a greater triumph in the physical world than the aerial flight of 1909. He says that he has practically perfected his invention of a "wireless electric light," with which, he says, it will be possible to light the whole United States, the current passing into the air and spreading in all directions, producing the effect of a strong aurora borealis. He declares that he can light isolated dwellings, though they be located 12,000 miles from his central plant. His lamps, he adds, are indestructible, and once provided, will never need to be repaired or renewed. If Mr. Tesla were only half as good in performance as he is in promises, what a benefactor of the human race he would be.

Drew the Line at That.

Stretcher—Yes, it's cold, but nothing like what it was at Christmas three years ago, when the steam from the engines froze hard and fell on to the line in sheets.

Cuffer—That wasn't so cold as in '87, when it froze the electricity in the telephone wires, and when the thaw came all the bally machines were talking as hard as they could for over five hours.

Bowlong—The coldest year that I can remember was in '84, when the policemen had to run to keep themselves warm.

But this was too much, and, with silent looks of indignation, the other two left the romancer to his own reflections.

Proof Lacking.

"Doctor," he asked, "do you think there is anything in the theory that alcohol is bad for the brain? A man was telling me the other day that the constant use of whisky resulted in time in the destruction of the tissues between the brain cells."

"There is no doubt about the correctness of the theory."

"I can prove that there isn't anything in it. I've been taking from two to three or four drinks a day for years."

"Well, bring on the proof you spoke of."

Red Cross Christmas Seals.

Arrangements for the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals for 1910 have been announced by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis and the American Red Cross. "A Million for Tuberculosis" will be the slogan of the 1910 campaign. Two features of the sale this year are unique and will bring considerable capital to the tuberculosis fighters. The American National Red Cross is to issue the stamps as in former years, but this organization will work in close co-operation with the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which body will share in the proceeds of the sales. The charge to local associations for the use of the national stamps has been reduced also from 20 per cent. to 12½ per cent., which will mean at least $50,000 more for tuberculosis work in all parts of the United States. The stamps are to be designated as "Red Cross Seals" this year and are to be placed on the back of letter instead of on the front.

Outlining Treatment.

"I want you to take care of my practise while I'm away."
"But, doctor, I have just graduated. Have had little experience."
"You don't need it with my fashionable patients. Find out what they have been eating and stop it. Find out where they have been summering and send 'em somewhere else."

Sprouting Up.

"Don't you think, Mary, you are too old to play with the boys?"
"No, mamma; the older I get, the better I like them."—Judge.

Studied That Trifle of a Hand.

to dictate what history should say of the affair on the Raccoon; but before they left the table the Raleigh morning papers were brought in and it was clear that the newspaper men were keeping their contract.

Both governors had decided upon an inspection of such portions of their militia as were assembled on the Raccoon, and a joint dress parade was appointed for six o'clock.

Ardmore, anxious to make every one at home, saw the morning pass without a chance to speak to Jerry; and when he was free shortly before noon he was chagrined to find that she had gone for a ride over the estate with her father, Gov. Osborne, Barbara and Griswold.

He went in pursuit, and to his delight found her presently sitting alone on a log by the Raccoon, having dismounted, it appeared, to rescue a fledgling robin whose cries had led her away from her companions. She pointed out the nest and directed him to climb the tree and restore the bird. This done he sat down beside her at a point where the Raccoon curved sweepingly and swung off abruptly into a new course.

"I hope your father didn't scold you for anything we did," he began, meekly.

"No; he took it all pretty well, and promised that if I wouldn't tell water will no longer sign himself adjutant general of North Carolina. I removed him myself in a general order I wrote yesterday afternoon just before I told papa that you and I could not act as governor any longer, but that he must resume the yoke."

"But that must have been a matter of considerable delicacy, Miss Dangerfield, when you consider that you are engaged to marry Mr. Gillingwater."

"Not in the least," said Jerry. "I broke our engagement the moment I saw that he came here the other night all dressed up to eat and not to fight, and he is now free to engage himself to that thin blonde at Goldsboro whom he thinks so highly intellectual."

Jerry held up her left hand and regarded its ringless fingers judicially, while Ardmore, his heart racing hotly against all records, watched her, and with a particular covetousness his eyes studied that trifle of a hand.

Then with a quick gesture he seized her hand and raised her gently to her feet.

"Jerry!" he cried. "From the moment you winked at me I have loved you. I should have followed you round the world until I found you. If you can marry a worthless wretch like me, if—oh, Jerry!"

She gently freed her hand and stepped to one side, bending her head

The Secret of Youth

Do you ever wonder how you can remain young, or why other women older than you, look younger than you do? The secret can be put in a few words: "Preserve your health, and you will preserve your youth."

By "health" we mean not alone physical health, but nerve health, as, sometimes, magnificently strong-looking women are nervous wrecks.

But whether you are weak physically or nervously, you need a tonic, and the best tonic for you is Cardui.

It builds strength for the physical and nervous systems. It helps put flesh on your bones and vitality into your nerves.
