HOLD MASS MEETINGS

Prominent Speakers in County Endorsing the Proposed State Constitution

FAVORABLE VOTE IN COUNTY

The citizens of Carrizozo and vicinity turned out in a goodly number Wednesday evening to a non-partisan mass meeting to discuss the Constitution. Over two hundred representative citizens of both Democratic and Republican parties joined in a welcome to Governor Mills, Hon. G. A. Richardson of Chaves county, Ex-Governor Curry and Hon. George W. Armijo, clerk of the Constitutional Convention. Train No. 4 which brought the Goxernors party to Carrizozo did not arrive until about nine o'clock and the audience was not quite as large as earlier in the evening but much enthusiasm was shown for Statehood and the Constitution by those present. Dr. F. S. Randles acted as Chairman of the meeting and introduced Hon. G. A. Richardson of Roswell, a democratic leader in the Territory, as the first speaker. Mr. Richardson spoke very clearly and interestingly on the Constitution, giving the reasons for his working for its acceptance and pointed out the many good points in its favor as well as answering all the arguments which have been put forth by the opposition against the instrument. Mr. Richardson pointed out clearly the results if this constitution should be turned down by the people and referred to the actions of Congress in the past in not giving us an Enabling act, and was loudly applauded.

The next speaker was Judge A. B. Falls who took up every discussed detail of the Constitution and made a strong point in comparing it with constitutions of other states. He asked the audience if they had ever read the constitution of the state from which they came to New Mexico and pointed out that the constitution that the people were to vote on next Saturday was more progressive than almost any state of the Union, in fact every state except Oklahoma and Oregon, both of whose constitutions contained legislation in their organic laws. Judge Falls, who was a leader on the floor of the convention, was in a position to explain every detail and did so satisfactorily. His entertaining manner of addressing the audience and his humor were well taken and many who were previously undecided as to how to vote on the constitution were undoubtedly convinced by his speech. Owing to the lateness of the hour the other speakers present did not speak but the meeting was a great success and those present were enlightened upon many doubtful points which may have been in their minds.

LINCOLN MEETING

George J. Armijo and Ex-Governor Curry left Carrizozo last Friday morning for Lincoln by auto, where a Statehood Rally was held that evening. The court house was crowded to its full capacity. Ex-Governor Curry was the first speaker of the evening and gave a his-

VOTE!

TOMORROW

It is Every Citizens' Duty to go to the polls tomorrow and VOTE!!

A Vote for the Constitution is in reality a vote for Statehood. It means that we will become citizens of the United States; it means the right to vote for the President of this United States; it means representation and a VOTE in the United States Congress. It means the bestowal of 9,000,000 acres of land, worth at least $65,000,000, upon the people of this Territory or a gift of $200 for every man, woman and child. It means lower taxes, the development of the Territory's resources, the influx of Capital and PROSPERITY.

ory of New Mexico's gallant fight for Statehood since 1850 and also dwelt upon the safeguards in the Constitution provided for the native people. The next speaker was Hon. George W. Armijo of Santa Fe, who spoke in Spanish and whose remarks were given warm applause by those present. Hon. George B. Barber was the next speaker and dwelt upon the necessity of New Mexico having representations at Washington to safeguard its rights. All the speeches were much appreciated and judging from the expressions of the audience after the meeting many converts were gained to the cause. A committee was appointed at the meeting and they together with the speakers visited Hondo, San Patricio, Arabella, Picacho, Tinnie and the upper Ruidosa on a similar mission during the next three days. Scipio Salazar acted as Chairman of the Lincoln meeting and Wm. S. Brady and Octaviano Perea as interpreters. A dance followed the speaking.

COUNTY WILL GIVE MAJORITY

From the impressions given out by those who have been among the voters of the county during the past week it is expected that Lincoln County will give a majority vote for the Constitution. The county is considered in the doubtful column but since the constitution has been explained and erroneous ideas of the opponents to the organ corrected the tide of the voters seems to be rising in favor of the proposed organic law and the great benefits Statehood will bring to the territory of New Mexico.

THE SOCIAL WHIRL

Regardless of the inclement weather and darkness of the night Mrs. John Eric Bell gathered more than a score of Matrons and Maids at her home Tuesday evening to surprise Mrs. William T. Peoples, who is soon to leave us to make her home in Nevada. The surprise, which it really proved, planned by Mrs. Clarence Spence, Mrs. John Eric Bell and Mrs. E. B. Walker was beautifully carried out. After many jolly games including "Old Stage Coach," "Spin the Plate" and "Rabbitt" a pleasant hour was spent over dainty refreshments. The ladies presented to Mrs. Peoples a beautiful silver "gravy boat," a silver spoon and a Navajo cushion cover as tokens of remembrance. This gay little evening of sociability was ended by merry songs and dancing with Miss Lorena Sager at the piano. The departure of Mrs. Peoples, one of our most lovable and charming matrons, is looked upon with regret by all who know her. V. B. F.

Mrs. F. F. Mudge entertained the Carrizozo Whist Club Wednesday afternoon at her home. Delightful refreshments were served and a very pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by all those present.

UNABLE TO ANSWER

A Democrat, who lives on the east edge of the territory, is puzzled. He has heard some of the demagogues speaking about the "corporation" made constitution. He received a copy and studied it carefully. He read it again and again to find the alleged "jokers." He compared it with the Texas constitution and the constitution of the United States and came to the conclusion that if he were a corporation he would prefer the Texas fundamental law every time. He finally relieved his feelings by penning the following lines to Editor T. J. Mabry, of the Clovis Journal, who, although a Democrat, is working faithfully for the approval of the constitution that he and twenty-eight Democratic leaders helped to formulate and of which they need to have no reason to be ashamed:

"I want to ask some of the partisan-blind Democrats who talk so much about the "corporation-made" and "joker-filled" constitution to show to me just one single section that they think favors corporations against the interests of the whole people, or one single section that contains anything intended to mislead. This is the kind of rot that is making of our party a joke with the great masses of the thinking people today.

I am a Democrat all the way through, but I am sometimes made ashamed of some of my brethren in this party by the way they make themselves a laughing stock of all the rest of us. This is not a partisan matter. If the Republicans can live and prosper with a constitution like this one I see no reason why I can't also. This is something for all of the people to live under. I tell you I believe that every unbiased voter who reads your valuable paper in this precinct is persuaded by your more than fair argument to join the boosters for greater Curry county and New Mexico. Of course there are partisans who could not vote for a creation of the angels themselves if they thought these angels while on earth voted a Republican ticket. For such men as these there is no salvation. We can only appeal to the thinking and sensible."

—The opponents to the Constitution held a meeting Thursday evening, at which Hon. Andrew H. Hudspeth spoke.

THE ANTI-CONSTITUTIONISTS seem to have exhausted their little round of so-called arguments and now they have nothing more to do than to go back and mouth them all over again. They are talking in the old strain and very nearly in the same old words of voting the constitution down, when the governor will reconvene the convention, and that body stultifying itself will make a new constitution which every one can accept--socialists, prohibitionists, democrats, republicans, and even those who are nothing and very little of that.

How any man of thought, mental system, or the least particle of logical consistency, can for a moment entertain such a theory, not to speak of advocating it, is a mental condition absolutely inconceivable to the normally sane mind. No wonder that very few can bring themselves to credit the advocates of such positions with sincerity.

Why were not the things the antis want put into the constitution at first? Because seventy-one can always outvote twenty-nine. They did it before, they will do it again. They will do it everywhere and all the time. The antis have a way of talking and writing about the republicans as "getting control of the convention." Was there any coupe, surprise, seizure, any throwing out of those elected and substituting others in their stead? How did they get control of the convention? By the very right, proper and usual way. The people elected the republicans and refused to elect the democrats. Are the republicans--elected in proportion of two and a half to one--are they to prove recreant to the trust committed to them? Shall they bow down and carry out the will of the minority? The very thought is absurd. They would not do it even though the millenium had come. The question stands just this way: Vote for the constitution and get statehood; vote against it and get nothing--New Mexico State Democrat.

IF A LAW passed by the legislature of the proposed state of New Mexico should prove to be obnoxious, it would not be a difficult matter to secure the signatures of three hundred voters in Lincoln county, or of one-tenth of the total number of voters in any other county, to a petition asking that the objectionable law be submitted to the voters of the state at the next general election for their approval or disapproval. Yet the proposed constitution provides that such a petition shall have that effect. How is it that the referendum is "not workable," as opponents of the constitution say, when one voter out of every ten may cause a law to be put to the test in the court of last resort?

IF THE CONSTITUTION is not to the liking of the majority, that majority can change it two years after it goes into effect. Meantime, let us make the blessings of statehood sure.

A VOTE FOR the constitution is a vote for immediate statehood. A vote against the constitution is a vote for the postponement of statehood for two years, perhaps for twenty. Vote for the constitution.

EVERY TERRITORY that has become a state in recent years has at once entered upon a period of unbounded prosperity. So will it be with New Mexico.

IT IS EVERY man's duty to go to the polls and vote tomorrow.

TEST POTATOES FOR STARCH

Department of Agriculture Bulletin Discusses Alcohol Making, Particularly From Spuds.

(By V. C. MELVILLE.)
The U. S. department of agriculture has issued Farmers' Bulletin No. 410 on potato culls as a source of industrial alcohol. This bulletin discusses alcohol making more particularly from potatoes. The amount of alcohol which can be made from potatoes depends upon the amount of starch which the tubers contain, just as butter making depends upon the butter fat in the milk or cream, says the Rural New Yorker. Consequently in buying potatoes some quality test is required, just as in the case of selling milk, the Babcock test is applied to determine the amount of butter fat. The test for potatoes is based on a specific gravity. As is known starch is heavier than water and will sink to the bottom and the sample starch test is based on the distance which the starch will fall in a volume of water. The instrument shown in the illustration is used. There is a small wire basket attached to a special form of hydrometer. This hydrometer is gauged so that when the empty basket hangs to it it will float at a certain point at the top of the water. Exactly ten pounds of the potatoes are taken. They are thoroughly washed and then dried. If necessary one potato will be cut in order to make the exact weight. The ten pounds are put into this wire basket and attached to the bottom of the hydrometer. The greater the amount of starch the lower these potatoes will pull the hydrometer into the water, since the starch is heavier, and the gauge is marked in such a way as to show by the depth to which a hydrometer is pulled the per cent. of starch contained in the sample. That is the way testing is done and it has answered reasonably well in practice. It is said that potatoes average from 14 to 20 per cent. of starch; 100 pounds of average potatoes containing 17 per cent. of starch will yield about 1 3/10 gallons of denatured alcohol.

Deep Cultivation.

In experiments to ascertain the depth to cultivate corn ground, the Wisconsin Experiment station has found that cultivation three inches deep left the ground more moist below the cultivated layer than cultivation one and a half inches deep, and these results have in the main been confirmed by similar experiments at the Utah station. The results apply to corn the early part of the season before the root system is much developed.

Manure Not Sufficient.

Good barnyard manure is often considered the all-sufficient fertilizer for all soils and all conditions. But manure cannot take the place of lime. The results of a five-year experiment by the Ohio Experiment station, with clover hay are instructive. Where there was no application to the soil the average yield for the five years was 1,159 pounds per acre. Lime alone brought 1,927 pounds; manure alone, 3,339 pounds; by lime after manure brought 4,925 pounds.

Belgian Endive.

Belgian endive is a salad plant which finds some sale on the city market. The plants are long and slender, and when blanched under ground as it is grown they have a beautiful white color and quite a good flavor, although it is too bitter for some to enjoy.

Avoid Steep Grades.

The road should be so located and constructed as to avoid steep grades down which the water rushes during heavy rains, tearing up and washing away the road material.

USEFUL DERRICK FOR FARM

Convenient for Stacking Hay, Grain and Corn Fodder or Many Little Jobs of Construction.

In stacking hay, grain or corn fodder, as well as in many jobs of construction, the handy derrick shown in illustration will be of the greatest value, as it saves much heavy lifting and permits of faster work. The upright is a pole or stick of the height you wish the derrick and strong enough for the work to be handled; this is braced in the manner shown in illustration, with a small platform at top of this bracing to permit a workman to stand upon same, as may often be required, says the Farm Press.

The upright is solidly set into the bracing platform and the cross piece or arm fastened to the top of same with a heavy iron rod or pin, thus permitting it to swing around as may be desired. A pulley is placed at each end of the cross piece, through which the rope is placed to make the tackle; as shown in illustration one end is fastened to the load while a horse hitched to the opposite end of the rope will elevate the load, and by driving to one side swing the load around to the point you wish. This device saves a great amount of labor in stacking and is of great value in excavating for wells, cellars, etc.

TEST FOR ACIDITY IN SOIL

When Farmer Thinks Lime Is Needed He May Determine Matter by Use of Litmus Paper.

If you think the soil on your farm needs lime, but are not certain about the matter, buy five cents worth of blue litmus paper and make a test. All drug stores carry this paper. Cut the paper into narrow strips and make tests in different parts of the various fields by pressing the moist soil into close contact with the paper. If the paper turns red in a few minutes, a sour soil is indicated and lime should be applied. The degree of acidity will be shown by the extent to which the blue paper turns to red, there being only a very slight change if the soil is not very acid.

One can destroy thousands of insects one cannot see by raking and burning all rubbish on the place.

A great mistake is made when hay or straw is sold from a farm, whether the seller be an owner or simply a tenant.

A campaign is being carried on by the department of agriculture to increase the average yield per acre of sugar beets.

By returning the manure to the land, crops will be greatly improved. Stock farmers, also, can keep the weeds better under control.

Put up new "Shooting Forbidden" signs.

The better the feeding, the more valuable the manure, and the more the manure is worth, the more need for the proper handling of it.

It is not an easy matter to store the heat of summer to use during the winter months, but the cold of winter can be stored in the form of ice to use in the good old summer time.

Moles will avoid tarred corn put in holes.

Corn, alfalfa and live stock are the dependable sources of the west's industrial life.

The corn crop of the United States is officially estimated at over 3,120,000,000 bushels. This is about 12 per cent. more than was realized last year.

Corn fodder must be dry when shredded or it will not keep well.

Where one is to have possession of a field for but five years, he must plan to improve the soil and get a profit from it at the same time for best results all around.

Work has been inaugurated on the Ethel group of claims, situated in the Freeland district.

The Gambetta mine at Georgetown, is producing the highest grade zinc ore that is mined anywhere in the West.

Lawson & Co., leasing on the Princess of Indian property near Lawson, are sending out occasional shipments of high grade ore.

The Metropolitan tunnel up lower Fall river, Idaho Springs, has been driven for nearly 2,500 feet and is believed that another vein is about to be intersected.

One of the regular shipping leasers of the upper Clear creek district is the block of ground being operated under lease on the Seven Thirty mine.

The Fre Coinage mine at Sunset is drifting this adit tunnel level on a silver lead vein, from which a recent shipment gave the handsome return at $80 a ton.

Much development is being carried on by the Blue Flag Mining and Milling Company of Cripple Creek on its own estate on Raven hill, as well as the Rattler estate.

Several cars of ore have been shipped from the Last Dollar property on Bull hill, Cripple Creek, since January 1st. The ore is expected to run about $30 per ton.

Widetch & Co., leasing on the Little Giant mine on Red Elephant mountain, Idaho Springs, expect to maintain regular shipments during this year. Work is being prosecuted through the shaft workings from the 100 foot level, an eight-inch streak of solid smelting ore being exposed.

The owners of the famous Commodore, Gunnison district, have taken over the property from the leasers, whose term expired December 1st. The owners have started operations themselves. A $10,000,000 company has also taken hold of the Amethyst, and the Park Regent is to be worked.

The old fashioned scenes that mark the discovery of a new gold field are present on the Gore range near Kremmling. Gold ore has been found on the very pinnacle of Gore range that runs $4,261 to the ton. This amazing value was found in a ledge that grows richer as it is followed deeper into the ground and it is believed that Kremmling camp will turn out to be one of the richest ever located in Colorado.

Work has been resumed at the Sidney tunnel in East Argentine district, and it is understood a big force will soon be given employment. It is proposed to extend the southeast drift on the Ontario vein from tunnel H to intersect a cross-lode. The main tunnel, in 2,125 feet, is to be advanced to intersect the White lode, supposed to be the mother vein of the mountain. This lode on surface is over 200 feet wide, while rich ore has been mined on the surface.

After negotiations extending over a year, it is reported on good authority that the sale of the Golden Cycle mine at Cripple Creek and the mill in Colorado City to the Goldfield Consolidated Mines Company of London has been consummated in New York. The price is said to be approximately $5,000,000. The deal does not include the coal properties owned by the company north of Colorado Springs, which accounts for the reduction in figures from the price heretofore given, $6,000,000.

New Mexico.

The Dude mine, south of Lake Valley has resumed operations and forty men are to be put to work.

The crosscut tunnel that is being driven on the Lynchburg claims, Kelly, to crosscut the various veins is progressing steadily.

The U. S. treasury people at Chloride, Sierra county, have broken ground for their new fifty ton mill which is to be completed by March 1st.

Parties who are prominently identified with the mining interests of the White Signal district, have been prosecuting active development on the Edna May group, which is a gold and silver proposition, and ore is now being shipped to the El Paso smelter.

Mining operations on a big scale are now in progress on the properties of the Cino Copper Company at Santa Rita. Five 90-ton steam shovels are in action, eight 45-ton locomotives and 100 ore cars are kept busy digging out ore on the benches and a force of 2,000 men is on the pay roll.

STUBBORN ECZEMA ON HANDS

"Some nine years ago I noticed small pimples breaking out on the back of my hands. They became very irritating, and gradually became worse, so that I could not sleep at night. I consulted a physician who treated me a long time, but it got worse, and I could not put my hands in water. I was treated at the hospital, and it was just the same. I was told that it was a very bad case of eczema. Well, I just kept on using everything that I could for nearly eight years until I was advised to try Cuticura Ointment. I did so, and I found after a few applications and by bandaging my hands well up that the burning sensations were disappearing. I could sleep well, and did not have any itching during the night. I began after a while to use Cuticura Soap for a wash for them, and I think by using the Soap and Ointment I was much benefited. I stuck to the Cuticura treatment, and thought if I could use other remedies for over seven years with no result, and after only having a few applications and finding ease from Cuticura Ointment, I thought it deserved a fair trial with a severe and stubborn case. I used the Ointment and Soap for nearly six months, and I am glad to say that I have hands as clear as anyone.

"It is my wish that you publish this letter to all the world, and if anyone doubts it, let them write me and I will give them the name of my physician, also the hospital I was treated at." (Signed) Miss Mary A. Bentley, 93 University St., Montreal, Que., Sept. 14, 1910.

FREE ADVICE TO WOMEN

Women suffering from any form of illness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established this confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken.

Never has she published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Mrs. Pinkham, care of Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

DIRECT VOTING BEFORE SENATE

QUESTION MUST BE FACED AT THIS SESSION OF CONGRESS.

SCHEME IS FAVORED

HALE'S ATTEMPT TO SECURE
ADJOURNMENT IS VOTED DOWN.

Washington.—That the Senate at this session must face the question whether the constitution shall be amended so as to require the election of senators by direct vote of the people was made apparent Saturday. A vote which many senators considered a test of the sentiment, was taken and resulted largely in favor of the proposition.

The matter came up in the Senate in connection with the joint resolution for the amendment of the constitution, recently reported from the committee on judiciary.

When that resolution was reached on the calendar, Mr. Kean was ready with an objection which had the effect of preventing immediate consideration under the order of business.

Mr. Gallinger appealed to Mr. Kean to withdraw his objection. He consented, and the Senate election resolution was launched upon its legislative voyage.

The situation was such as to arouse the immediate interest of the senators. Mr. Sutherland was prompt in obtaining the attention of the chair. He wanted to amend the resolution so as to strike out the provision giving the State Legislatures supervision of elections and making other changes.

Mr. Rayner, a staunch advocate of the committee resolution, suggested that as the amendment went to the heart of the question, there should be time for consideration.

Mr. Rayner did not press his point, but his plea was taken up by Senator Hale of Maine, whose position on the merits of the measure is diametrically opposite. He was sure that the resolution could be acted upon without protracted debate. He urged deliberate movement—and precipitately moved an adjournment. The first vote was viva voce.

"Never!" exclaimed half a dozen senators. "Let us have the ayes and noes."

Accordingly a roll call was ordered with the result that 43 out of 60 senators present voted against adjournment. Of the 43 negative votes, 23 were cast by Republicans.

Encouraged by this, Senator Borah prepared to press consideration vigorously. He did not desire to prevent debate, he said, and added he would not do so if he could obtain the consent of the Senate to name a day for a vote on the resolution and all amendments. He suggested Tuesday, January 24th.

For probably ten minutes the members of the Senate discussed the details of the proposition.

Even Senator Hale appeared to fall in with the request. Mr. Borah's colleague, Senator Heyburn, had not said a word up to this time, but when the chair put the request for unanimous consent, he said "no" and spoiled the entire plan.

Mr. Borah seemed displeased and discussed the situation, saying the Sutherland amendment had been offered in committee and was perfectly understood, as was the general proposition.

Reclamation Service Condemned.

Washington.—The Senate Irrigation Committee will report the result of the visit made by the committee in 1909 to the various reclamation projects undertaken by the government in the arid and semi-arid states and territories.

The report which the committee has tentatively prepared and probably will adopt will recite that from the beginning of operations under the reclamation act the reclamation service was unwisely managed, assumed a large measure of independence, having its own legal department, its own bookkeeping system, and was so far independent of control that the functions of the secretary of the interior were reduced to perfunctory approval of such projects and operations as the service submitted.

The cold snap in New Mexico does not interfere with homeseekers who know how terrible are the winters elsewhere and for the past month of December the territory land office did a pretty large amount of business.

A recommendation that farmers living in the Rio Grande valley in the vicinity of Albuquerque be permitted to dispose of their meat and other produce in that city without a license, has been made to the city council.

The people of Albuquerque and other towns in the territory are warned by Dr. C. E. Lukens, of the New Mexico Children's Home Society, to beware of a woman who is traveling about soliciting funds on the strength of a plea that she is doing so as an authorized agent of the society.

Twelve thousand entries were filed in 1910 in the six federal land offices of New Mexico, covering more than 2,000,000 acres, but still leaving 36,000,000 acres of the public domain, from which, however, the new state will select 8,000,000 acres of the best land for its public schools and institutions.

The Pecos Valley will get another beet sugar factory. Ever since the burning down of the factory at Carlsbad after several seasons of partial failure, New Mexico has not had a factory of that kind, although it is well recognized that the territory raises more sugar beets than either Colorado or Utah.

From Ogden, Utah, James Grimes and George Miller, ex-convicts from the New Mexico penitentiary, were brought to Albuquerque and lodged in jail, charged with complicity in the recent robbery of the John Becker store at Belen, when a safe and two vaults were blown up and nearly $2,000 taken.

The New Mexico Military Institute, located at Roswell, is, in many respects a unique institution, especially so, when compared with the younger schools of the country. The Military Institute is but a little more than twelve years old and yet it has been twice accorded, by the government, a place in the small list designated as "Distinguished Institutions." This designation is official and is secured only after the most thorough investigation.

The Alamo National Forest Reserve force is preparing to commence an extensive work. The exterior boundaries will be surveyed and established, in accordance with the changes which were recently made by the President's proclamation. Permanent monuments will be located to mark the boundaries, and will be set up at distances of one quarter and one mile apart, as the character of the country may require. The present lines of the telephone system will be rebuilt and put into first class condition, and forty miles of new lines will be built, making the telephone service complete and adequate for all requirements. All the roads and trails lying within the reserve will be surveyed and reposed, with a sign board for every mile. The junctions will be marked with pointers indicating the several places to which the different branches lead, and the distance thereto.

Santa Fe.—The territorial board of equalization convened here recently to fix the assessment rate for railroads and other transportation and transmission companies, for banks and other classes of property, for this year. The territorial board of medical examiners also met and examined a number of candidates who desire to practice medicine in the territory.

National Guard Orders.

Santa Fe.—The following rules governing the management and use of armories, issued by Adjutant General Brooks, are published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

1. Armories are intended primarily for military use. No armory will be used as a skating rink nor for any similar purpose. Armories may be rented for public gatherings or dances or similar purposes which do not injure the building nor interfere with its use by the National Board. Armories will not be rented on Saturday night nor on company drill nights, which are designated as follows:

Santa Fe, Monday and Wednesday. Albuquerque, Tuesday. Las Vegas, Monday. Las Cruces, Wednesday. Roswell, Monday. Silver City, Tuesday.

Cost of New State.

Santa Fe.—It has been claimed that a state form of government will greatly increase taxation for the maintenance and support of a state administration.

It is true that under a state form of government by reason of new officials provided for by the constitution, and the loss to the state government by reason of federal appropriations made for legislative expense and the salaries of certain officials, under territorial form of government that an additional annual cash revenue will be required.

This will amount to, in round numbers, about ninety-four thousand dollars per annum, made up as follows:

For legislative expense estimated at the extreme limit fixed in the constitution, $22,400.

Salary of governor, secretary of state, and increase in salary of attorney general, $8,500.

Salary of lieutenant governor while serving as president of the Senate, $600.

Three new judges of the Supreme Court, $18,000.

Increase in the salaries of eight District Court judges over amount now paid for the seven, $22,000.

Salary of three members corporation commission, $9,000.

Estimated expense of corporation commission, including salary of stenographer and clerk, $11,000.

Additional clerk hire office of secretary now provided for by federal appropriation, $3,000.

Total, $94,500.

In the item of legislative expense there is included an estimate of ten thousand dollars to cover contingent expense such as printing, etc., which is probably excessive.

Wheat in Rio Grande Valley.

Las Cruces.—At the first regular meeting of the Dona Ana County Farmers' institute, held recently at Las Cruces, Dr. J. H. Squires, of the Agricultural College was the first speaker, on the subject of "Wheat Raising in New Mexico." He said that the differences in hard and soft wheat go further than is at times considered. That hard wheat yields more pounds of flour to the bushel than other varieties. The time of seeding is not restricted in this valley. We are getting good results with seeding spring wheat at any time from October 15th to March 1st, but would advise avoiding the two extremes. The seeding should be done with a drill if possible, for in this way we can avoid all irregularities in the rate of seeding and also get a uniform covering of all seed, and in addition, get a satisfactory stand with less seed. A very good rate of seeding is 90 pounds to the acre.

WESTERN.

Frederick Wellhouse, known as the "Apple King," at one time said to be the largest apple grower in the world, is dead at Leavenworth, Kans.

Two walls of the new school house recently completed at a cost of $7,500 at Hudson, Colo., have been blown down by high winds. The damage is $2,000.

The House of Representatives of the state legislature of California, gave a majority for Judge John D. Works for United States senator over A. G. Spalding by a vote of 62 to 16.

Acting Dean Coolidge of the Colorado School of Forestry at Colorado Springs, received a telegram from I. E. Terry accepting the position of instructor in forestry, recently tendered him.

J. D. S. Neeley, president of the Wichita pipe line, president of the Lima, Ohio, Trust Company, and head of the large oil companies, was shot and killed at Caney, Kans., by Al O. Truskett, a prominent business man of that place.

The census bureau gives the population in 1910 for the following Colorado precincts: Aguilar, 1,682; Berwind, 800; Delagua, 1,024; Hartville, 122; Hastings, 753; Jarosa, 806; Lower Apishapa, 148; Rugby precinct, 300; Trujillo precinct, 506.

Charles J. Hughes, Jr., United States Senator from Colorado, is dead. Senator Hughes passed away at his home in Denver, surrounded by the members of his family and a few close friends. His death was like the closing of a book. He had been unconscious for twenty-four hours and passed from a state of coma almost imperceptibly into a last sleep. Only when Dr. James R. Arneill turned and said quietly, "He is dead," did the watchers at the bedside realize that the forceful life of Charles J. Hughes had closed. Hard work was the chief cause of death. No man ever drove himself so unremittingly as Senator Hughes. By laborious effort, nimbleness of intellect, sound learning and the power of personality, Senator Hughes had made himself one of the most conspicuous lawyers in the West. He was in his fifty-eighth year, but had accomplished more than most men of capacity who attain that age.

WASHINGTON.

The Standard Oil dissolution suit is up in the United States Supreme Court, arguments having been concluded in the tobacco case.

"I think we will hold the Philippines for some considerable time to come," said President Taft at the annual dinner of the Military Order of the Carabao, which is a society of army men who have served in the Philippines.

The revolt in the United States Senate against the report exonerating William Lorimer has assumed tremendous proportions. The effort to prevent consideration of the matter through open debate has failed lamentably.

SPORT.

Sam Langford defeated Joe Jeannette in a bout of twelve rounds before the Armory Athletic Association in Boston. Langford had a decisive lead in every round but one, and in the first round dropped Jeannette for a count of eight.

FOREIGN.

A dispatch from Copenhagen reports a balloon supposed to be the German Hilderbrant, missing since December 29th, passed over Hoeganaes, Sweden.

Eighty-five fishermen were carried out into the Caspian sea on an ice floe at Astrakhan, Russia. A steamer was requisitioned at Baku and sent to the rescue of the men, but chances that any of the men will escape death are poor.

GENERAL.

Passenger trains were snowbound in heavy drifts in Michigan and traffic suffered serious delays throughout the state.

Census returns from Illinois: Wheaton, population in 1910, 3,432; 1900, 2,345. Decatur City, population in 1910, 35,750; in 1900 24,862.

Suits against five salary loan companies were started recently under the supervision of the Russel Sage foundation.

Aside from progressive reorganization and reconstruction in affected institutions, New York's banking situation is normal. Timid depositors are reassured, the stock market is optimistic, and Joseph G. Robin, whose operations caused the flurry remains in the Tombs.

A Little Mixed.

Admiral Evans, at a luncheon in San Francisco, said of a naval policy he disliked:

"It is mixed and illogical. It reminds me of Bob Backstay, who became engineer on a submarine.

"Yes, very dangerous," Backstay admitted, "but a man's got to do something, you know, to keep his head above water."

CONSTIPATION

Munyon's Paw Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods. They do not scour; they do not grip; they do not weaken; but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation.

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weaken; they enrich the blood instead of impoverish it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it.

These pills contain no calomel, no dope, they are soothing, healing and stimulating. They school the bowels to act without physic. Price 25 cents.

Weak Heart

Many people suffer from weak hearts. They may experience shortness of breath on exertion, pain over the heart, or dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals or their eyes become blurred, their heart is not sufficiently strong to pump blood to the extremities, and they have cold hands and feet, or poor appetite because of weakened blood supply to the stomach. A heart tonic and alterative should be taken which has no bad after-effect. Such is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which contains no dangerous narcotics nor alcohol.

The ingredients, as attested under oath, are Stone root (Collinsonia Canadensis), Bloodroot (Sanguaria Canadensis), Golden Seal root (Hydrastis Canadensis), Queen's root (Stillingia Sylvania), Black Cherry bark (Prunus Virginiana), Mandrake root (Podophyllum Peltatum), with triple refined glycerine, prepared in a scientific laboratory in a way that no druggist could imitate.

This tonic contains no alcohol to shrink up the red blood corpuscles; but, on the other hand, it increases their number and they become round and healthy. It helps the human system in the constant manufacture of rich, red blood. It helps the stomach to assimilate or take up the proper elements from the food, thereby helping digestion and curing dyspepsia, heart-burn and many uncomfortable symptoms, stops excessive tissue waste in convalescence from fevers; for the run-down, anemic, thin-blooded people, the "Discovery" is refreshing and vitalizing. Stick to this safe and sane remedy, and refuse all "just as good" medicines offered by the druggist who is looking for a larger profit. Nothing but Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will do you half as much good.

WHEN A MAN MARRIES

SYNOPSIS.

James Wilson or Jimmy as he is called by his friends. Jimmy was rotund and looked shorter than he really was. His ambition in life was to be taken seriously, but people steadily refused to do so, his art is considered a huge joke, except to himself. If he asked people to dinner everyone expected a frolic. Jimmy marries Bella Knowles; they live together a year and are divorced. Jimmy's friends arrange to celebrate the first anniversary of his divorce. Those who attend the party are Miss Katherine McNair, who every one calls Kit, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Brown, the Misses Mercer, Maxwell Reed and a Mr. Thomas Harbison, a South American civil engineer. The party is in full swing when Jimmy receives a telegram from his Aunt Selina, who will arrive in four hours to visit him and his wife. Jimmy gets his funds from Aunt Selina and after he marries she doubles his allowance. He neglects to tell her of his divorce, as she is opposed to it. Jimmy takes Kit into his confidence, he tries to devise some way so that his aunt will not learn that he has no longer a wife. He suggests that Kit play the hostess for one night, be Mrs. Wilson pro tem. Kit refuses, but is finally prevailed upon to act the part. Aunt Selina arrives and the deception works out as planned, as she had never seen Jim's wife.

"It might be scarlet fever," Max broke in cheerfully. "I say, scarlet fever on a Mongolian—what color would he be, Jimmy? What do yellow and red make? Green?"

"Orange," Jim said shortly. "I wish you people would remember that we are trying to eat."

The fact was, however, that no one was really eating, except Mr. Harbison, who had given up trying to understand us, considering, no doubt, our subdued excitement as our normal condition. Ages afterward I learned that he thought my face almost tragic that night, and that he supposed, from the way I glared across the table, that I had quarreled with my husband!

"I am afraid you are not well," he said at last, noticing my food untouched on my plate. "We should not have come, any of us."

"I am perfectly well," I replied feverishly. "I am never ill. I ate a late luncheon."

He glanced at me keenly. "Don't let them stay and play bridge to-night," he urged. "Miss Caruthers can be an excuse, can she not? And you are really fagged. You look it."

"I think it is only ill humor," I said, looking directly at him. "I am angry at myself. I have done something silly, and I hate to be silly."

Max would have said "Impossible," or something else trite. The Harbison man looked at me with interested, serious eyes.

"Is it too late to undo it?" he asked.

And then and there I determined that he should never know the truth. He could go back to South America and build bridges and make love to the Spanish girls (or are they Spanish down there?) and think of me always as a married woman, married to a dilettante artist, inclined to be stout—the artist, not I—and with an Aunt Selina Caruthers who made buttons and believed in the Cause. But never, never should he think of me as a silly little fool who pretended that she was the other man's wife and had a lump in her throat because when a really nice man came along, a man who knew something more than polo and motors, she had to carry on the deception to keep his respect, and be sedate and matronly, and see him change from perfectly open admiration at first to a hands-off-she-is-my-host's-wife attitude at last.

"It can never be undone," I said soberly.

Well, that's the picture as nearly as I can draw it; a round table with a low centerpiece of orchids in lavender and pink, old silver candlesticks with filigree shades against the somber wainscoting; nine people, two of them unhappy—Jim and I; one of them complacent—Aunt Selina; one puzzled—Mr. Harbison; and the rest hysterically mirthful. Add one sick Japanese butler and grind in the mills of the gods.

Every one promptly forgot Takahiro in the excitement of the game we were all playing. Finally, however, Aunt Selina, who seemed to have Takahiro on her mind, looked up from her plate.

"That Jap was speckled," she asserted. "I wouldn't be surprised if it's measles. Has he been sniffing, James?"

"Has he been sniffing?" Jim threw across at me.

"I hadn't noticed it," I said meekly, while the others choked.

Max came to the rescue. "She refused to eat it," he explained, distinctly and to everybody, apropos absolutely of nothing. "It said on the box, 'ready cooked and predigested.' She declared she didn't care who cooked it, but she wanted to know who predigested it."

As every one wanted to laugh, every one did it then, and under cover of the noise I caught Anne's eye, and we left the dining room. The men stayed, and by the very firmness with which the door closed behind us, I knew that Dallas and Max were bringing out the bottles that Takahiro had hidden. I was seething. When Aunt Selina indicated a desire to go over the house (it was natural that she should want to: It was her house, in a way) I excused myself for a minute and flew back to the dining room.

It was as I had expected. Jim hadn't cheered perceptibly, and the rest were patting him on the back, and pouring things out for him, and saying, "Poor old Jim" in the most maddening way. And the Harbison man was looking more and more puzzled, and not at all hilarious.

I descended on them like a thunderbolt.

"That's it!" I cried shrewishly, with my back against the door. "Leave her to me, all of you, and pat each other on the back, and say it's gone splendidly! Oh, I know you, every one!" Mr. Harbison got up and pulled out a chair, but I couldn't sit; I folded my arms on the back. "After a while, I suppose, you'll slip upstairs, the four of you, and have your game." They looked guilty. "But I will block that right now. I am going to stay—here. If Aunt Selina wants me, she can find me—here!"

The first indication those men had that Mr. Harbison didn't know the enjoyment every one but Jim and myself got out of the situation. They howled with mirth over the feeblest jokes, and when Max told a story without any point whatever, they all had hysteria. Immediately after dinner Aunt Selina had begun on the family connection again, and after two bad breaks on my part, Jim offered to show her the house. The Mercer girls trailed along, unwilling to lose any of the possibilities. They said afterward that it was terrible: She went into all the closets, and ran her hand over the tops of doors and kept getting grimmer and grimmer. In the studio they came across a life study Jim was doing and she shut her eyes and made the girls go out while he covered it with a drapery. Lollie! Who did the Bacchante dance at three benefits last winter and was learning a new one called "Eve!"

When they heard Aunt Selina on the second floor, Anne, Dal and Max sneaked up to the studio for cigarettes, which left Mr. Harbison to me. I was in the den, sitting in a low chair by the wood fire when he came in. He hesitated in the doorway.

"Would you prefer being alone, or may I come in?" he asked. "Don't mind being frank. I know you are tired."

"I have a headache, and I am sulking," I said unpleasantly, "but at least I am not actively venomous. Come in."

So he came and sat down across the hearth from me, and neither of us said anything. The firelight flickered over the room, bringing out the faded hues of the old Japanese prints on the walls, gleaming in the mother-of-pearl eyes of the dragon on the screen, setting a grotesque god on a cabinet to nodding. And it threw into relief the strong, clear profile of the man across from me, as he stared at the fire.

"I am afraid I am not very interesting," I said at last, when he showed no sign of breaking the silence. "The—
—the illness of the butler and—Miss

"And a good many owe their wives to their success in life," I retorted cynically. At which he stared at me again.

It was then that the real complexity of the situation began to develop. Some one had rung the bell and been admitted to the library and a maid came to the door of the den. When she saw us she stopped uncertainly. Even then it struck me that she looked odd, and she was not in uniform. However, I was not informed at that time about bachelor establishments, and the first thing she said, when she had asked to speak to me in the hall, knocked her and her clothes clear out of my head. Evidently she knew.

"Miss McNair," she said in a low tone, "there is a lady in the drawing room, a veiled person, and she is asking for Mr. Wilson."

"Can you not find him?" I asked. "He is in the house, probably in the studio."

The girl hesitated. "Excuse me, miss, but Miss Caruthers—"

Then I saw the situation. "Never mind," I said. "Close the door into the drawing room, and I will tell Mr. Wilson."

But as the girl turned toward the doorway, the person in question appeared in it, and raised her veil. I was perfectly paralyzed. It was Bella! Bella in a fur coat and a veil, with the most tragic eyes I ever saw and entirely white except for a dab of rouge in the middle of each cheek. We stared at each other without speech. The maid turned and went down the hall, and with that Bella came over to me and clutched me by the arm.

"Who was being carried out into that ambulance?" she demanded, glaring at me with the most awful intensity.

"I'm sure I don't know, Bella," I said, wriggling away from her fingers. "What in the world are you doing here? I thought you were in Europe."

"You are hiding something from me!" she accused. "It is Jim! I see it in your face."

"Well, it isn't," I snapped. "It seems to me, really, Bella, that you and Jim ought to be able to manage your own affairs, without dragging me in." It was not pleasant, but if she was suffering, so was I. "Jim is as well as he ever was. He's upstairs somewhere. I'll send for him."

She gripped me again, and held on while her color came back.

"You'll do nothing of the kind," she said, and she had quite got hold of herself again. "I do not want to see him: I hope you don't think, Kit, that I came here to see James Wilson. Why, I have forgotten that there is such a person, and you know it."

Somebody upstairs laughed, and I was growing nervous. What if Aunt Selina should come down, or Mr. Harbison come out of the den?

"Why did you come, then, Bella?" I inquired. "He may come in."

"I was passing in the motor," she said, and I honestly think she hoped I would believe her, "and I saw that am—" She stopped and began again. "I thought Jim was out of town, and I came to see Takahiro," she said brazenly. "He was devoted to me, and Evans is going to leave. I'll tell you what to do, Kit. I'll go back to the dining room, and you send Takahiro there. If any one comes, I can slip into the pantry."

Now the Crewless Warship.

A new type of warship, invented by Messrs. Wirth, Beck & Knauss of Nuremberg, is causing a great sensation in naval stations. All the movements of the new vessel can be controlled from a land station many miles distant.

During recent experiments at Dutzendteich a 30-foot boat was made to go forward, backward, turn in a circle and fire mines and torpedoes, all its operations being directed from the shore. Nobody was on board the boat.

Representatives of foreign naval powers are negotiating with the inventors. Experts predict a great future for the new craft.—New York Sun.

His Conclusion.

Claude Grahame White, the English aviator, praised, at a dinner in New York, the American stage.

"Your plays are livelier than ours," he said. "Our plays are very dull and stupid. A novelist said to me one night at the Automobile club in London: 'I have written several plays and they have all been rejected. So I devoted last month to a study of the London theater. I took in every play in town. I was resolved to get a lot of points on the English stage.'

"And did you learn much?" said I. "Well," said the novelist, moodily, 'I came to the conclusion that I'm the only man alive who can't get a poor play put on.'

A Tragic Victory.

"Jim was informed that he won the beautiful Angora cat offered as a prize in the bazaar. He was delighted."

"I don't see why he was delighted at what was a literal disaster."

"Disaster to win such a valuable pet?"

"Well, you must admit it was a cat as trophy."

"Nearly two years ago I accepted a position as secretary and treasurer of one of the leading dry goods establishments of Galveston, Texas. The sudden change from a high and dry altitude to sea level proved too much for me and I became afflicted with catarrh and cold in the head, and general debility to such an extent as to almost incapacitate me for attending to my duties.

"I was induced to try Peruna, and after taking several bottles in small doses I am pleased to say I was entirely restored to my former normal condition and have ever since recommended the use of Peruna to my friends."

OLD COMMON SENSE.

Change Food When You Feel Out of Sorts.

"A great deal depends upon yourself and the kind of food you eat," the wise old doctor said to a man who came to him sick with stomach trouble and sick headache once or twice a week, and who had been taking pills and different medicines for three or four years.

He was induced to stop eating any sort of fried food or meat for breakfast, and was put on Grape-Nuts and cream, leaving off all medicines.

In a few days he began to get better, and now he has entirely recovered and writes that he is in better health than he has been before in twenty years. This man is 58 years old and says he feels "like a new man all the time."

Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

"That's it!" I Cried Shrewishly.

state of affairs was when he turned and faced them.

"Mrs. Wilson is quite right," he said gravely. "We're a selfish lot. If Miss Caruthers is a responsibility, let us share her."

"To arms!" Jim said, with an affection of lightness, as they put their glasses down, and threw open the door. Dal's retort, "Whose?" was lost in the confusion, and we went into the library. On the way Dallas managed to speak to me.

"If Harbison doesn't know, don't tell him," he said in an undertone. "He's a queer duck, in some ways; he mightn't think it funny."

"Funny," I choked. "It's the least funny thing I ever experienced. Deceiving that Harbison man isn't so bad—he thinks me crazy, anyhow. He's been staring his eyes out at me—"

"I don't wonder. You're lovely tonight, Kit, and you look like a vixen." "But to deceive that harmless old lady—well, thank goodness, it's nine, and she leaves in an hour or so."

But she didn't. And that's the story.

CHAPTER IV.

The Door Was Closed.

It was infuriating to see how much

Caruthers' arrival, have been upsetting.

He suddenly roused with a start from a brown reverie.

"I beg your pardon," he said, "I—oh, of course not! I was wondering if I—if you were offended at what I said earlier in the evening; the—Brushwood Boy, you know, and all that."

"Offended?" I repeated, puzzled. "You see, I have been living out of the world so long, and never seeing any women but Indian squaws"—so there were no Spanish girls!—"that I'm afraid I say what comes into my mind without circumspection. And then—I did not know you were married."

"No, oh, no," I said hastily. "But, of course, the more a woman is married—I mean, you cannot say too many nice things to married women. They—need them, you know."

I had floundered miserably, with his eyes on me, and I half expected him to be shocked, or to say that married women should be satisfied with the nice things their husbands say to them. But he merely remarked apropos of nothing, or following a line of thought he had not voiced, that it was trite but true that a good many men owed their success in life to their wives.

A Good Example

"I am a good example," writes Mrs. R. L. Bell, of McAlester, Okla., "of what Cardui will do for suffering women.

"I suffered with my head and back, for over six years, and although I tried everything, I never could get anything to do me any good, until I began to take Cardui.

"Cardui has surely helped me and built me up and I am so thankful that I have found something that will do me good. I feel so much stronger and better than I have in a long time."

It is well to make up your mind before you are sick what medicine you will take when you are sick.

Take CARDUI

You will be glad to take it when you are tired, miserable and when life seems a weary grind. It will put new thoughts into your head, fresh courage into your mind.

PUBLICITY BUREAU

New Mexico has waked up to the need of exploiting its natural resources; to the necessity of letting people know what we have here and what the new state offers to the homeseeker and the investor. This awakening has been demonstrated by the support and backing from all of New Mexico given the New Mexico Publicity Association.

This Association was organized six months ago by the Bureau of Immigration, in order to carry out a systematic advertising campaign. The Railroads, land companies, and larger development interests joined the association. Many banks and individuals and a number of Commercial clubs followed suit and the association, after a five month's advertising campaign, made at a cost of only about $1,000., covering all expenses, is able to show more than 5,000 inquiries from men actually and earnestly interested in New Mexico as a field for home and investment. This is an average of more than 25 original inquiries per day from people who otherwise would not have been reached by New Mexico advertising. Many of these people have been located in New Mexico. Others have bought land which they expect to use later as homes.

Encouraged by this success of the experiment the Bureau of Immigration is organizing the Association in earnest. The dues, heretofore $4. per month, have been reduced to $2. per month, thus making the cost of a year's membership practically nominal, while the great increase in membership resulting will make the income of the association and the amount available for advertising each month several times greater than heretofore. With the increased fund and the backing which is assured from some of the large development interests, the Association will place its advertising in the very best mediums in the country. It will supplement this campaign by employing an expert whose sole work it will be to write news articles and descriptive matter about New Mexico districts. These will be syndicated and placed with newspapers and magazines all over the country without charge. The result will be the most far reaching campaign ever made in the southwest. Coming just now when the interest of the entire country is turned our way because of statehood, it will get definite and very important results.

The members of the association receive each week a bulletin which lists all inquiries of whatever nature received in response to the association's advertising, thus placing all the members alike in immediate touch with an active, valuable list of prospective homeseekers and investors.

The 1911 campaign will be carried on from the office of the Secretary of the Bureau of Immigration at Albuquerque.

JICARILLA HAPPENINGS.

George G Thorp, Postmaster of Jicarilla died on the 13th day of January 1911 after a sickness of several weeks duration caused by appendicitis. He was born in Texas in 1871 and was 39 years old. Mr. Thorp has been resident of this county for about nine years engaging in the cattle and mining business mainly. The deceased is survived by a mother living at Monument, Eddy County, and a sister who resides near Hope, N. M. Funeral services were held Sunday at Jicarilla where he was buried. With Mr. Thorps passing on, the county loses a good citizen who was ever respected.

A couple of men have been here the past week preparing to placer. They expect to put in several hundred feet of sluice boxing, lumber having already been ordered for same.

Mr. Littell and Blackman of Colorado have arrived and are now building an assay office, preparatory to going to work on the mine which they have leased.

F. W. Stonerod has a contract hauling brick from Ancho for Littell Brothers.

A. N. Price of White Oaks was a visitor last Sunday looking over his mining property.

O. G. Handy is recovering from an attack of sickness.

F. M. Deel and Arley Stewart were up from Ancho to attend the funeral of George Thorp.

The Forest Service people are putting in a station on the N. E. side of Jack's Peak for the use of their riders and to store fire fighting apparatus.

Wm. A. Franklin left for Chicago Saturday having attended to all of his business here for the present.

Geo Thompkins has completed the buildings on his place which make quite an improvement.
