What Dr. Gambrell Thinks of Him.

Lockett Adair is holding a meeting in Dallas. He is a mighty man of valor, a kind of John the Baptist, in dealing with sin and righteousnes; but after the manner of Paul in preaching salvation by grace.—J. B. Gambrell, in Baptist Standard.

I do not hesitate to say that under all circumstances he is one of the most wonderful men of my knowledge, I know no man to whom I can give more fully my complete endorsement. I know him, believe in him and can recommend him to those who are not yet well acquainted with him.

Rev. J. Frank Smith's Endorsement.

In the past four years he has witnessed 10,000 professions of faith in Christ—3500 of these in the past twelve months. Loyal to the church, he has drawn into the churches more converts than any other evangelist I know or ever knew has done in the same period of time. All denominations call for him.—Interior.

Don't Forget the Date, July 16th, 1911

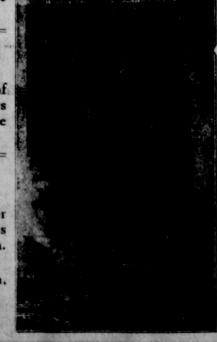

We have secured the beautiful Dutton Grove, of 30 acres, as a camping ground for all country people and all others who wish to come and camp for the meeting. This is a beautiful, shady place, about 400 yards from the business section of the town. Plenty of water near. All this is free to you, so come and camp with us.
