INDICTED FOR MURDER

Two Mexicans Charged with Death of Rangel and Martinez

The grand jury which was reconvened Thursday afternoon to investigate the killing of Jose Rangel and Andres Martinez, two miles east of the city the previous Saturday night, reported to District Judge John W. Goodwin, about 2:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon, returning bills of indictment against Luis Valadez and Pedro Massias, charging them with murder in connection with the crime.

The two men made a statement to their attorney Thursday afternoon, in which they told how Martinez and Rangel met their death, the text of which was published in last Friday's issue of The Standard. Sheriff Wall, however, was of the opinion that the story was concocted for the purpose of getting all four of the men implicated in the crime out of jail, and his theory seems to have been shared by the grand jury. A large number of witnesses were examined Friday afternoon and Saturday, among them being the sons of Andres Martinez, one of whom Massias said in his statement Thursday, shot Rangel after he had stabbed his (Martinez's) father. The two Martinez boys have been in jail since last Monday afternoon, but were released Saturday afternoon when the grand jury made their report to Judge Goodwin.

The cases against Valadez and Massias were set for trial tomorrow, and a special venire of seventy-two men ordered by Judge Goodwin.

If you want your watch fixed right, bring it to Martin O. Curry Co.

DECIDED SUCCESS

Home Talent at Opera House Saturday Night Well Attended

A representative audience witnessed the home talent performance at the Brady opera house Saturday night, and the event was a decided success from every standpoint. The house was fairly packed, and a more appreciative audience could hardly be desired.

The performance was under the able direction of Mrs. B. C. Greenwood of Lampasas, and the way in which it was handled was a high compliment to her ability as an entertainer. The entertainment was somewhat new and novel, at least to a large per cent of the audience. The first number consisted of a bevy of pretty little girls in long white filmy dresses, executing a number of difficult drills. As a climax for their act they were seen in a beautiful pose, with the spotlight effect from the picture machine playing upon them.

The next—and the comedy number on the program—was the "Gossiping Grandmas." About twenty little girls in long dresses, "grown-up" hats, shawls about their shoulders and with "specs" on their noses, gathered at the home of one of their neighbors for the purpose of swapping gossip. The gossip concerned local people, and, as related by the "Little Grandmas," was provocative of much laughter and applause.

Other appreciated numbers on the program were the quartette composed of Messrs. Yantis, Baze, Mann and Bashaw, piano selections by Mrs. J. S. Anderson, Misses Mary Estelle Thompson and Pinkie Jones.

Vocal numbers by Miss Roberta Greenwood of Dallas were among the most pleasing numbers on the program. Miss Greenwood possesses an excellent contralto voice, well trained and melodious, and the appreciative applause with which she was greeted evidenced the fact that her efforts to please were well received. She very graciously responded to repeated encores.

Deserving of highest praise was the work of Mrs. Greenwood. Considering the fact that the children taking part in the performance had only been drilled less than a week, the success of their part of the entertainment is a tribute to the capability of their instructor as well as to themselves. Her readings were also features, that of "Queen Esther" being especially good.

A neat sum was realized, and a large per cent of the proceeds go to the local cemetery association, and will be devoted to the care of the city cemetery.

We do first class repair work only. Martin O. Curry Co.

Buried Friday
 The funeral services of Mrs. Margaret Moss, who was drowned late Thursday afternoon in Brady creek, took place Friday afternoon at 5:30, conducted by Rev. I. T. Morris, pastor of the Methodist church. The service and interment were at the city cemetery.

Fine Oats.
 C. E. Korff, one of McCulloch county's progressive farmers, was here Saturday from his farm, nine miles south of the city, to ship a consignment of seed oats to parties at Gonzales. The seed produced by Mr. Korff the past few years has gained him quite a reputation, and the demand for seed of his raising increases with each year. He only planted thirteen acres to oats the past year, and from this, 900 bushels were threshed, an average of a little more than 69 bushels per-acre. The shipment made Saturday was 50 bushels and brought 65c per bushel, f. o. b. Brady.

Suffers Broken Arm.
 Ed Landers, an employe of the Brady Oil Mill, was the victim of a painful accident about 7:30 o'clock last night when he suffered a broken arm while at work. In some manner he became entangled in a belt and his right arm was broken, once above and once below the elbow. The injured man received prompt medical attention and at last reports was resting well. Landers came here a few weeks ago from Dublin.

It's "Grandpa" Now.

The usually smiling face of C. A. Anderson has changed the past few days, and instead, his many friends see a grave and austere look about him that calls for an explanation. He is always obliging and willingly accounts for the transition by the fact that he is now "grandpa" since the arrival of a fine 11 1-2 pound girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Jones in Austin Sunday morning.

He says that he doesn't feel any older since his elevation to the "grandpa" state, but that such a fine granddaughter is sufficient reason for any man putting on a dignified look such as he now wears.

Of course it isn't long before you will want some heavy underwear and if you want to see a complete line in union suits or two-piece suits, just call on Kirk and I have union suits from 34 to 46 stout. So I have your size. Kirk; Nuf-Sed.

Any typographical errors appearing in this week's issue of the Sentinel may be accounted for by the fact that Frank Ogden, the genial compositor, is now the proud father of a bright-eyed little miss who arrived Sunday morning. A friend overheard him yesterday memorizing the word "daddy," saying it over and over to himself, and if he should get the word into several lines of this week's paper, of course, he will be excusable.

For generations the pig, the goat and the sheep were considered the most stupid animals. The trainers with Gentry Bros.' all New-Feature shows, however, have disproved the libel. With Gentry Bros.' shows, which will visit this city Friday, Oct. 9, is a complete troupe of trained pigs, sheep and goats. If you were to ask trainers why these creatures are considered the most stupid, the tutors would say it was because those who expounded the theory were not patient enough in training.

Trained dogs rolling barrels, climbing through hoops, etc., are common, but with Gentry Bros.' all new feature shows is a troupe of barnyard creatures that do this and more. The scope of animals which Gentry Bros.' trainers have educated runs from the lowly swine of the barnyard to the leopard and elephant of India. Their wild animal feature, which is presented in the big show, is said by trainers to be the most marvelous act ever presented to the public.

Gentry Bros.' all new feature shows carry many European novelty acts, seen this season for the first time in America. Gentry Bros.' shows will give two exhibitions in this city Friday, Oct. 9th.

LEST WE FORGET.

Talking about mothers, have you ever noticed there are those here who are more to be prized and honored than the empress of the proudest realm in the world and who, widows, bereft of almost all that makes life worth living—a loyal, loving husband—are doing more for their half-orphaned children than many men are for theirs? There is a world of pathos in thinking of a widow shouldering a task most men find a world of anxiety in. We read of wives and children being deprived of father by death. For a few days our sympathy goes out to them, but we scarcely realize what it means until we ourselves are bereaved. The last sad rites are performed at the grave and then the return home is made. And what a home. The light has been blotted out; the heart is numb; there stands the empty chair, there the vacant place at the table, honored perhaps thrice daily with a word of gratitude for the, it may have been, humble meal. As this desolation enshrouds, earth and sky seem to come together and the woe of it all crushes the heart in dumb agony till human nature can stand no more and a moan burst from the lips of the mother. No matter then how rich or poor; no thought of want tomorrow; all is swallowed up in the unutterable woe of this moment. First, moans burst from the lips, then falling on her knees the unhappy mother pays tribute to love in tears. Love! Strange that it has its penalty; and greater the love the more severe the price paid now. It is these things the world forgets so soon. Little does it know of this moment until it comes, like a dagger driven to the hilt in one's own bosom. Prostrate on her knees the widow, half lies, half kneels; and a little child, her own sweet child, lays its tiny hand on her head, or it may be its low wail catches her ear. In a world of midnight no flash of light shot quicker, and somehow a message strikes with it, as mother realizes she is not alone. Then comes the struggle. No tiger fought for its whelp as some of these women fight for their children. Yet it is done quietly—the world sees nothing of its tragedy. Most people see nothing of it; a few notice that here is a mother an honor to her dead, herself and her God. There are more of these women than one realizes until one notices, honors and helps as they deserve. The hero of a battlefield is forever a celebrity and honors and wealth thrust upon him, but his act is not to be compared to that of these quiet, unassuming women who should rank first on the pedestal of homage, after the king whom all delight to honor with bowed head and bended knee.

Last week's issue of the Eden Echo announced the retirement of Ernest Savage from the editorial and business management of the paper. Mr. Savage has been editor of the Echo for the past seven months and has given the Eden and Concho county folks an excellent paper. He announces that he will remain there and will enter another line of business. He is succeeded by J. A. Wilhelm, a well known newspaper man of this section, who formerly had charge of the Echo. We congratulate Brother Savage on his efforts and extend a fraternal welcome to the journalistic field to his successor.

The Industrial Congress points out that "We cannot now use cotton as our cash crop. There is enough in the world now to last two years with most of the spindles of Europe idle. We can raise cotton, but we cannot sell it." If some genius will formulate a plan of government and state aid in establishing cotton mills in Texas and congressmen and senators will quit whetting political axes and boost for Texas cotton mills we then can sell cotton and will find we cannot raise enough.

The U. S. agricultural department says, at present prices our farmers are losing $80,000,000 this year on cotton, as compared with last year's prices. This shows the importance of the "buy-a-bale" movement in checking further decline, for the loss of the farmers is also the loss of every man, woman and child in the southland, with the heaviest lost to those whose business activities have been greatest.

With the nations of Europe already after farm food stuffs, hogs, beef, bacon, lard, etc., and the home market to supply next year, the farmer who fails to raise them, will look sick when he sees the prices the fellow gets who does.

Frightened to a standstill, by the war, American ingenuity, resources and business is again beginning to feel like itself, thank you, under the stimulus of European demand for our products.

The college girls will be "at home" while mother darns their stockings.

The Mexicans claim to be civilized, although they are 300 years behind Europe in ability to slaughter each other.

Many country boys will attend agricultural colleges this fall so that they—won't have to work farming.

It is astonishing what a good article an editor can write on the advantages of a cheap vegetable diet, after he has had a good square meal of roast beef.

The farmers are called on to increase the food supply; and the country fairs propose to show the finest horses and beef and pork animals.

It is suspected that some of the advances in food prices are not due so much to the war as to the desire of dealers to acquire a 1915 bank account.

It's anarchy and cause for war to drop a bomb in front of a king. What is it to drop dynamite from the heavens upon the common people?

How Johnnie Saw His Teacher.

"A school ma'am is a verb," wrote Johnnie in his composition, "because she depotes action when you throw paper wads at the girls. Switch is a conjunction and is used to connect the verb school ma'am to the noun boy. This is a com-pound sentence, of which boy is the subject and switch is the object. First person, singular and awful case. A school ma'am is different from a boy, a boy wears pants, and a school ma'am wears her hair banged all over her forehead. She puts paint on her face and some big fellows come and take her home in an auto. Boys have to walk. Ma says a school ma'am never gets older than eighteen until she gets married. It takes two school ma'ams a day to cook a dinner.—Ex.

Eldorado Success:

While preparing his bed on Thursday, Oct. 1, Tom Palmer a wealthy stockman and banker, who ranches four miles from Eldorado, Schleicher county, accidentally knocked a 45-calibre pistol from where it was lying to the floor, the gun being discharged, and the bullet striking him in the left elbow. The arm which was shot was in former years badly shot and at first it was thought Mr. Palmer might lose his arm. The bullet was later located about three inches from where it went in and against the bone. It is thought Mr. Palmer will soon be able to be about again.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework.

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA, GAS OR INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" Settles Sour, Upset Stomachs in Five Minutes.

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

A Correction.

In an article appearing in last Friday's issue of The Standard it was stated that H. R. Hodges had resigned his position with the dry goods department of Wm. Connolly & Co. The statement was erroneous, inasmuch as Mr. Hodges will retain his position in the store until about the first of the year, when he will assume the duties of tax assessor, for which he received the nomination in the July primary.

In justice to Mr. Hodges and the firm with whom he is employed, this correction is cheerfully made.

THE DROP IN COTTON

Price in Texas is Higher Than in Oklahoma or Georgia

Ft. Worth, Tex., Oct. 5.—The United States department of agriculture has just completed a report showing the average price paid for cotton in the 14 states which produce the staple. The price in only two states is lower than in Texas. According to the report, the Texas price is 8.3 cents; in Oklahoma 8 cents and Georgia 7.9 cents per pound.

During the past 30 days the condition of the ungathered portion of the Texas crop has improved 8 per cent, but the price per pound has decreased 3.7 cents. If the present price prevails and the yield is the same as that of last year, which is probable, the farmers of Texas will secure $80,000,000 less for this year's crop than was paid for the 1913 production.

NEXT YEAR'S CASH CROP.

Warning Note and Reasons for Other than Cotton Cash Crop

A war, world-wide in its effect brings to the people of the cotton states the question of readjustment. Until this year we supplied the world with cotton, bartering our great staple for even the necessities of life. Many times the truth has been printed and spoken that farming that does not include the diversified necessities of life is unsafe. We cannot now use cotton as our cash crop. There is enough cotton in the world now to last two years with most of the spindles of Europe idle. We can raise cotton, but we cannot sell it. Therefore, we must raise something else.

It seems, therefore, that we must get back to the beginning with farming. Each farmer's planting for next year must first of all provide enough food for the family and feed for the livestock. The farmer must raise his own meat. He must plan ahead far enough to raise everything he eats. After this comes the question of the cash crops. And they must be something other than cotton.

The change from cotton will not be easy. Texas grew cotton last year on almost half of her cultivated land and this cotton, with the seed, was about 61 per cent of the value of all the field crops, amounting to some $295,000,000. This is a tremendous task for the farmer, making necessary a complete readjustment of business and finances in the state.

If disaster is to be avoided, the most profitable cropping systems for the several sections of the state must be worked out immediately, not only by the farmers, but among bankers, business men, landlords, and all those who advance money or credits on the crop before it is produced. Everybody concerned must understand in advance what to do and why, so there will be no wavering when the season comes around, resulting in going back to cotton. What we grow in the place of cotton may not bring us as much as the cotton did, but it must be made to bring us more than it would at the reduced price cotton will sell for next year if we grow it. And it is possible to make these other crops, with war prices, bring as much as cotton with peace prices.

For instance, the cash crop might consist of wheat and other grain in sections best adapted to wheat, or corn where it will grow best and live stock should be grown everywhere.

These two things will have to be remembered: Cotton will, in all probability, be low in price next year. Crops that are eaten will be very high, as will livestock. The cost of production of livestock will depend absolutely on the amount of feed-stuffs we can grow per acre.—Texas Industrial Congress.

HOW TO GET STATE WAREHOUSES EXPLAINED

Five Different Classes Fixed by Statute

Austin, Tex., Sept. 29.—Many inquiries are daily being received by the commissioner of insurance and banking from persons over the state desiring to know how to proceed under the emergency warehouse law of the special session of the Thirty-third legislature. The commissioner says he finds it extremely difficult to explain to all those who may desire to take up the question of establishing warehouses, or want to know other features of the act. For the information of all those interested, the commissioner has made public a statement on the subject. It follows:

With Whom May Contract

The commissioner of insurance and banking, under the emergency warehouse bill, is authorized to contract with five different classes or parties for the rent or lease of warehouses, to-wit: (a) Incorporated cities or towns, (b) Counties, (c) Individuals engaged in the warehouse business, (d) Corporations engaged in the warehouse business, (e) Associations of individuals or partnerships engaged in the warehouse business.

Under the law, the commissioner may lease buildings or warehouses for the storage of cotton in any incorporated city or town, and may, at his option, before establishing such state warehouse, require such city or town to pay all or any part of the cost of establishing or maintaining the warehouse at such point. Just what part the commissioner will require any such city or town to pay or maintain, should any such city or town desire such warehouse established within its limits, must depend upon the circumstances of each individual case, and cities and towns desiring the establishment of a state warehouse should communicate with the commissioner, giving the population of the place, the approximate number of bales of cotton ginned or marketed at such place, and an estimate and signed by several of the leading business men, including bankers, as to the number of bales of cotton that will probably be placed in storage in the event a state warehouse is instituted; also a statement as to what amount of the cost of maintaining the warehouse at the point mentioned the city or town would be willing to pay each month. The law, in section 3, authorizes incorporated cities or towns to make appropriations from the general funds for this purpose.

Cities and towns may also, under section 4 of this act, appropriate sufficient funds out of the general revenue to establish and provide warehouses for use as state warehouses.

In the event a city or town should join in the establishment of a state warehouse in the manner suggested, then the manager of such warehouse shall be nominated by a majority vote at a regular or special meeting of the city council.

The establishment of warehouses by counties and their operation as state warehouses by this department, is controlled in a manner similar to that for cities and towns, except that managers of the warehouses are nominated by the commissioners court at a regular or special meeting.

The commissioner will leave warehouses from corporations, individuals, associations of individuals or partnerships, on any terms which may be agreed upon either by direct rental of the buildings or upon a basis of division of the earnings of the warehouse, but in all instances where warehouses are leased from any of the parties named it must be made to appear to the commissioner that there will likely be sufficient cotton stored to pay the cost of maintenance and operation, and parties of the class named, in applying to the commissioner for the establishment of state warehouses, should give the cost of rental, probable cost of employing the managers, the size and dimensions of the warehouse and a general description thereof, with a statement, signed by the various business men, including bankers, showing the probable yield of cotton in that neighborhood and the amount which will likely be marketed at the place where the warehouse is to be established, and the amount of cotton that will likely be stored in the state warehouse together with a statement as to what character of contract parties desire to make with the commissioner. Contracts necessarily can not be uniform and will be varied to suit any particular community, keeping in view at all times the general supposition of the law that the state warehouse system shall be self-sustaining.

All storage charges must be fixed by the commissioner, and will be made for each particular warehouse in the community where it is located, as necessarily the number of bales of cotton must be, and will be taken into consideration in fixing the warehouse charge. But in all instances the warehouse charges made will be reasonable, considering all the elements which necessarily go to make up a charge of this character.

Charter of Buildings.

The buildings to be used as warehouses need not be of any particular construction or of any particular material, but all such places for storage must be equipped with such practical fire protection as the location and necessities of the warehouse will permit; but all buildings must be waterproof, so that the entire contents shall be protected from the weather. It is not necessary that the buildings should have sides or walls, provided the roofs thereof extend low enough to protect the cotton stored from the weather, nor is it necessary that such building be floored, provided sills or beams are laid to keep cotton off the ground. In fact sills or beams are preferred. Any assistance or information with reference to the construction of warehouses, or their preparation for the receipt of cotton, will be gladly furnished by the department.

All incorporated cities and towns, counties, individuals, corporations, associations of individuals or partnerships, desiring to establish a state warehouse should communicate either in person or committee, or by mail or wire, at once with the commissioner, as the receipts and entire equipment for establishing these warehouses will be off the press in a few days and the system ready to be put into operation.

MOTHER! THE CHILD IS COSTIVE, BILIOUS

Look, Mother! If Tongue is Coated Give "California Syrup of Figs."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-eating and acting naturally — look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomachache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a tablespoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."
