

BRADY TO PLAY CRACK TEAM FROM KELLY AVIATION FIELD

SNEAK THIEVES MAKE ANOTHER HAUL AT SAMUEL

Sneak thieves for a third time in recent months have gained forced entrance to the H. C. Samuel store and carried off goods. The most recent occurrence was on Sunday night, when clothing was obtained. Mr. Samuel was at the store on Sunday, and is positive everything was in good shape at that time. Monday morning he noticed the clothing counters disarranged and clothing scattered over the floor. A glance at the wide-open window showed that entrance to the store had been gained by breaking out a window pane, and then unlocking the window. Nails had been driven into the window frame to hold the bottom sash down, and these also were pulled out. Evidently the burglar or burglars searched the stack of clothing for their size, which accounts for the manner in which the clothing counter was disarranged. The boys' clothing was likewise ransacked and scattered about.

Mr. Samuel cannot accurately ascertain his loss beyond a couple suits of clothing. Neither has he any suspicions or the least clue to the perpetrators.

Death of Mrs. F. M. Miller. Mrs. F. M. Miller is dead. After an illness of but a couple weeks, the spirit took its flight from her aged body to brighter realms on high. Death came peacefully to her at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Will Deans, in the Voca community, on last Friday night at 10:00 o'clock, being aged nearly 80 years. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock, the Rev. J. W. Cowan conducting, and interment was made in the Voca cemetery, the body being laid to rest beside that of her husband, who preceded her to the Great Beyond some five years ago.

Mrs. Miller was born in Kentucky, but came to Texas at an early age and had made her home in McCulloch county ever since. She was married to Mr. Miller when about sixteen years of age. Their coming to McCulloch county dated back to before the county was organized; in fact, Mr. Miller was numbered among those who helped organize the county. Mr. Miller was sheriff of the county for many years, and later, in life served several terms as county treasurer. For many years the family lived in the Voca community, where Mr. Miller was engaged in stock farming.

Mrs. Miller was a wonderful Christian character, and an example and an inspiration to neighbors and friends throughout this section. She was a lifetime member of the Christian church, and her good name and deeds will live long after her. Surviving are two children, Edd Miller, of Ranger, and Mrs. Will Deans. Also a grandson, Marion Deans, of Brady, who was raised from early childhood by Mrs. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Miller were here from Ranger to attend the funeral; also Mr. and Mrs. Marion Deans were numbered among Brady citizens in attendance.

MINOR CHANGES MADE IN FRISCO SCHEDULE EFFECTIVE LAST SUNDAY

Effective last Sunday, a minor change in the Frisco schedule was made, the morning train arriving at 8:36 a. m., instead of 8:50 a. m. No change was made in the schedule of the northbound passenger at night, nor in that of the local train. Leaving here at 8:55 p. m., the night train arrives at Brownwood at 11:10, leaving for Fort Worth at 11:40 p. m., and arriving in Fort Worth at 6:40 a. m.

Returning, the southbound passenger leaves Fort Worth at 11:00 p. m., arrives in Brownwood at 6:00 a. m., instead of 6:15, and Brady at 8:36 a. m.

MAMMOTH CAVE MAY BE CONVERTED INTO A NATIONAL PARK

Louisville, Ky., May 23.—Mammoth cave, Kentucky's contribution to the wonders of the world, may soon be purchased and transformed into an extensive national park. Reports from Washington are to the effect that the rules committee of the house of representatives contemplates calling up for passage shortly a measure with this in view. This is house bill No. 3110 introduced by Representative Robert Y. Thomas of the Third Kentucky district, which would appropriate $1,000,000 for the government to purchase the great cavern and 32,000 acres of virgin forest land lying around it.

The movement to make a national park of the famous cave has been carried on by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. Other organizations, including the national conservation congress, the Southern commercial congress, National Forestry association and National Geographic society, have joined in the movement with resolutions urging the government to preserve the cave as a national park.

Many letters also have been received by Kendrick R. Lewis, chairman of a committee of the Louisville lodge of Elks, from individuals all over the country supporting the project. Stephen Mather, national park commissioner, and Coleman Du Pont are among them.

Mr. Lewis, who is past exalted ruler, Louisville lodge, said the Elks are supporting the house bill because "preservation of the gigantic cavern as a national park would be one of the greatest accomplishments for the public good ever attained."

"Mammoth cave," he said, "ranks as a world wonder, equally with Niagara Falls and Yellowstone park. Situated in Edmonson county, Kentucky, it is one of the most picturesque sections of the country and is surrounded by a primitive forest of hardwood timber comprising approximately 32,000 acres. This property is to be sold at public auction in the near future, I understand, and many timber men are endeavoring to purchase it. The nation in general and Kentucky in particular wishes the government to buy the cave and land in order to save the national wonder for future generations to see."

From the year of its discovery, 1803, by a hunter, explorations have been made over 100 miles of its interior. The cave's first exploitations came in 1812 during the war with the British when men went into it to mine the soft soil for saltpeter for use in making gun powder.

Mammoth cave is today the greatest subterranean area known to exist. It has five different levels and the temperature is at all times 54 degrees. Eternal darkness and stillness reign supreme. Stalactites and stalagmites take on the form of fluted columns, of festoons and of draperies. There are great auditoriums with lofty ceilings—one where the formations resemble a starlit sky—dome hundreds of feet high, the sides formed of tier after tier of fluted columns, and the Echo, navigable for half a mile which derives its name from the fact that the slightest noise is intensified a thousand times.

MORE MUNICIPAL BUILDING TALK

The former quarters of the Brady Volunteer Fire department have been vacated, perforce, by reason of the remodeling of the Brady Auto company building, which housed the fire-fighting equipment and the sleeping quarters of the fire boys. Temporarily the fire truck is stored away in the rear of the auto company building, and the fire boys have secured temporary quarters on the second floor of the Syndicate building, over a block away. Perhaps some of these fine nights the citizenship, if it sleeps with half-an-eye open, will be treated to the spectacle of the fire-boys doing a shirt-tail Marathon from their sleeping quarters to the engine's place of repose in order to respond to an alarm of fire. Maybe they will be able to reach the scene of the fire in time to do themselves justice. Again, maybe the precious minutes lost in getting from the Syndicate building to the Auto company will give the fire such headway as to result in additional and heavy loss to the fire victim.

If Brady intends to maintain her present efficient fire department; if Brady expects to maintain her present low fire rate; if Brady places the value of property above the spending of a sum sufficient to build permanent quarters for the fire boys, then Brady citizens will lose no time in getting behind the project and assuring the city council of their intention to help vote bonds for a permanent city hall and fire department building.

So far, not a word of opposition to the project of building a municipal hall has come to the ears of The Standard editor. It would appear that the entire citizenship is in favor of such a move, but is merely waiting for someone to take the lead in the matter of a bond issue.

Such a matter is indeed simple. If advocates of the bond issue will merely circulate a petition requesting the city council to pass an ordinance calling for such bond issue, we feel sure sufficient number of signatures can readily be secured to assure the desired bond election. As a word of caution, however, let the size of the bond issue be sufficiently large to assure Brady securing a municipal building that will endure as a monument and be a credit and a pride through the years to come.

WHITE WELL NO. 3 TESTS OUT TEN BBL. PRODUCTION—TO DRILL NO. 4 AT ONCE

PRODUCTION GREATLY INCREASED AS RESULT 20-QUART SHOT—DRILLER C. J. VATER NOW ENROUTE TO LOCATION TO SPUD IN NEW WELL.

C. J. Vater, driller of the wells in the White shallow field, on Survey 843, in the Mercury section, passed through Brady this morning enroute from his home at Mason, where he had been spending the past several days, to the scene of his successful operations. Mr. Vater was greatly pleased with the results obtained in White well No. 3, and reports the well having tested out ten barrels production the past week.

According to Mr. Vater, the well was given a shot with 20 quarts of

EARL S. NEAL GENERAL FACTORY SUPERVISOR FOR CHICAGO CLOTHING HOUSE

It is always a pleasure to hear of the success of McCulloch county citizens abroad, especially when such success comes as a reward for earnest, intelligent, hard and conscientious work. The following story, reprinted from the Brownwood Bulletin, tells of the success that Earl S. Neal, well-known Rochelle young man, and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Neal of that place, is making:

Leaving Brownwood less than a year ago and accepting a position in Chicago with the Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothing company as Labor and Employment Supervisor, Earl S. Neal has been promoted during the past few weeks to the position of supervisor of all the factories of the big clothing company, employing ten thousand people and constituting the largest clothing manufacturing concern in Chicago.

Mr. Neal is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Neal of Rochelle. He received the basis for his education in How-

Mr. Vater stated that as soon as he reached the site, the rig would be moved and well No. 4 would be spudded in, and that drilling would continue just as long as the results justified their efforts.

WOOL AND MOHAIR TO BE OFFERED FOR SALE ON MONDAY, JUNE 7TH

At a meeting of the sheep and goat growers on last Thursday it was decided that all Association wool and mohair would be offered for sale. All members are urged to get their wool and mohair in Mayhew's warehouse before that time, June 7th, if possible.

Mr. Magee, from College Station, was here and discussed the better sires movement at length. Those who were present owned nearly all the registered rams they needed so no order was given for any more. However, several members will give orders later for a number of rams, to be brought from the North. The sheep specialist was shot through with many important questions, the answers to which were a great help to all present.

KELLY FIELD BALL TEAM HERE THURS.-FRIDAY

Two of the greatest games of ball of the season are promised for this week, the crack ball team from Kelly Field, San Antonio, having arranged with Manager J. B. Whiteman for two games with the Brady Giants on Thursday and Friday afternoons. The Kelly Field team is part of a bunch of Uncle Sam's boys stationed at the San Antonio flying field, and are out on a recruiting expedition. They played at Lampasas the past week, and yesterday and today were scheduled for games at San Saba. They are reported a crack organization, and the locals are putting forth every effort to arrange their strongest line-up for the series.

While nothing definite has so far been arranged, Roy Beasley of Mercury, it is thought, will be on the mound for Brady in one of the games, and Lee of Fredericksburg will probably be secured for the other.

The games will be called promptly at 4:00 o'clock on Thursday and Friday afternoons at the cotton yard ball grounds.

HONEST INJUN.

Most everyone has a hobby—but some folks exercise their steeds so infrequently that the "old hoss" gets stiff-legged from standing hitched so long.

MEXICO.

We had rather be editor of The Brady Standard than president of Mexico!

Now, pray tell us, what causes intelligent, influential and successful citizens of our southern neighbor to strive for the doubtful honor of becoming head of that turbulent hornet's nest? Is it patriotism? Honor? Glory? Or merely the desire to impose their own imperious will upon a subjugated and more or less treacherous peoples. Surely the job is one akin to sitting atop an active volcano.

Diaz ruled the Mexican a long time, only to become a fugitive, and to spend his declining years away from the land of his nativity. Madero was brutally murdered. Huerta was chased off the throne, and died, finally, a prisoner in America. Then Carranza began his despotic reign—only to find his end after a brief period, in a bloody grave. Now Obregon and Gonzales are candidates for the mantle that has been torn from Carranza's shoulders. What does the future hold in store for them? Will they, or either of them, be able to extinguish the eternal fires that burn in the hearts of our volcanic neighbors, or will they, too, eventually pay the price of their ambitions with their lives-blood?

Truly the United States and Texas and Brady and The Brady Standard are much to be preferred by this writer to anything the land of the Aztecs may have to offer.

MORE ABOUT MEXICO.

Let's tell the whole world frankly that Mexico ought to be under the American flag, and then put it there.—San Saba News.

Ever since "Billie" Smith organized his cavalry troop, San Saba's confines have been too narrow for him. Now he wants to spread all over Mexico. Rather late in the day to preach expansionist doctrine, isn't it, Billie? The United States has stood Carranza's insults, defies and oburgations for some five years or more now, without taking Mexico in. Now that Carranza has been sent to his grave, and Mexico for the first time in many years is in the hands of leaders who profess friendship and a desire to co-operate with the United States, why should Uncle Sam pick up his war club and beat them over the head? Answer us that!

The United States has too long been the bug-a-bear of Mexican so-called patriots. They have referred to the U. S. as a huge octopus ready at the least provocation to entwine them in its tentacles. Not now is the time to preach war doctrines. This is the opportune moment to greet our southern neighbors with a warm handclasp, with farming tools and mining machinery—not with the mailed fist, the sword and the machine gun.

Editor Billings of Menard is a wonderful agriculturist. He has it all figured out that if Menard could only get some of Brady's billion dollar rains, not only would they raise wonderful crops, but the population of the old burg might also grow. We wonder what brand of water he drinks.

HOLD YOUR BONDS.

Reports from various financial agencies over the country state that the various issues of liberty loan and victory bonds are steadily declining in the markets, the most recent quotations on the 4-3-4 per cent victory notes giving these bonds an interest rate of approximately seven per cent. This decline is not occasioned by any lack of faith in the government's ability to pay the interest on the bonds, or by a fear that the bonds themselves may not be paid in full upon maturity. Rather, this condition is brought about by the general condition of the money market, which is admittedly "tight."

Owners of liberty bonds of the several issues need not be alarmed by this decline in the market quotations. Such bonds are as good today as when they were bought, and nobody will lose anything on them except by ill-advised selling on a market that is demoralized by the general deflation of money values. The interest coupons may be clipped and cashed regularly, at full value. The principal will be paid promptly upon maturity. The bonds are gilt-edge collateral for any purpose. A market at par or above would make them no better.

Hold your bonds. Buy more bonds as long as you can get them for less than par, for on such basis they pay a remarkably high interest rate and they are all exempt from taxation. Don't worry about market quotations—sit steady and clip your coupons when they are due. For your own individual purposes your bonds will always be par.

OVER 200 TONS OF FOOD DESTROYED AS UNFIT FOR SALE

Austin, May 22.—The destruction of two hundred and five tons of food-stuffs unfit for food since September 1st is the record of the State Food and Drug Department, according to Commissioner R. H. Hoffman. Nearly one hundred and forty-one tons of canned goods, and seventy-one tons of eggs were included in the food-stuffs destroyed.

In this lecture Mr. Jones pays tribute to the blood heritage of the South, and marks the course the South must take in a social, industrial and political way. It is a eloquent lecture that warms the heart and thrills the emotions.

SAYS IT KEPT HIM ON THE PAY ROLL

G. C. James Was Remarkably Built Up After Taking Tanlac.

"Nothing kept me on the payroll of the Illinois Meter Co., but Tanlac, for I had already made arrangements to give up my position when I began taking it," said G. C. James, who lives at 1419 Franklin Ave., Springfield, Illinois.

"I had suffered from rheumatism and stomach trouble for fifteen years," he continued, "and got in such bad shape I could hardly get about. The rheumatism was especially bad in my legs and sometimes my left leg would swell to twice its normal size. My kidneys were also in such a condition I could seldom get a good night's rest, and so far as eating was concerned—well, before I began taking Tanlac I had not enjoyed a meal in years. I suffered from indigestion, and I had such dizzy spells I would have to lie down. I became so weak I often gave out completely while at work and they would have to take me home in a car, so it is a wonder I held up at all.

"One day one of the men I work with suggested that I try Tanlac and as long as I live I will praise the day I bought it, for I haven't a trace of rheumatism now and I eat everything set before me without any bad after effects. The dizzy spells are things of the past and my kidneys never bother me any more; every night I sleep like a log and I weigh just thirty-eight pounds more than I did when I began taking Tanlac. I feel twenty years younger and am in perfect health, and there is nothing in the world I would take for the good Tanlac has done me."

Tanlac is sold in Brady by Trigg Drug Co., in Mercury by J. T. Matlock and in Rochelle by C. W. Carr.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Mrs. John I. Jones has been spending a few days here from Eldorado, and took advantage of the occasion to renew the subscriptions of her four sons and sons-in-law, stating they could not get along without The Standard.

The name of Miss Margaret McGhee appears in the list of graduates in Voice at Howard Payne college of Brownwood. Commencement exercises at the college were held during the past week. Miss McGhee is a former Brady young lady, and a sister of Mrs. B. L. Malone of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Kirk returned Saturday from Galveston, where they had been in attendance the past week upon the annual convention of Retail Clothiers. They report the most enjoyable of events, and royal entertainment throughout their stay. En route home they stopped in Houston, where they were so unfortunate as to be one of several score to partake of infected shrimp, resulting in the bunch being taken deathly ill with ptomaine poison. Fortunately, all of the number so affected recovered within a couple days, although "Nuf Sed" still feels the effects of the severe illness with which he suffered.

R. Davenport was here Monday from Eden and reported that his folks would probably leave today for Phoenix, Ariz., where they will make their home. Mr. Davenport, himself, expects to get off within the next couple weeks, making the trip with his shipment of household effects. He states that while he will, in all likelihood, continue in the teaching profession out in Arizona, he also expects to devote a good part of his time to raising long staple cotton and alfalfa. Mr. Davenport's father-in-law, S. W. Ballard, and numbers of old friends from the Richland Springs neighborhood are located at Phoenix, and are prospering there; consequently Friend Davenport has been tempted to "go west" and try for success along with them.

BRICK BUILDINGS ARE BEING TORN DOWN FOR THE MATERIAL.

Jeffersonville, Ind., May 23.—Many brick buildings of former days have been bought in Jeffersonville in the last few months for the value of the brick they contain. Builders assert that in many cases the brick is superior to any that can be bought at the present time. Some of the buildings that are changing hands are 100 years old. The old brick is going into modern structures with newer brick as a facing.

Carter-Rather Wedding.

Friends of Charles W. Carter will be interested in learning of his marriage May 15th, to Miss Lucile Rather of Brownwood, the ceremony taking place in that city. Mr. Carter was in Brady as an employe of Crawford-Goscho Co. several years ago. Later he volunteered for service and won a lieutenant's commission upon his merits. The Brownwood Bulletin gives the following account of the marriage:

"A pretty wedding of the late spring season was solemnized at 9:15 o'clock on Saturday evening, May 15, at the Shropshire residence on Fisk avenue when Miss Lucile Rather was married to Charles W. Carter. A few friends were present for the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. W. Bristow Gray.

"Preceding the ceremony Miss Mary Taylor sang, 'O Promis Me.' She was accompanied by Collis Bradt on the violin. Announcing the approach of the bridal couple Miss Taylor played Lohengrin's wedding march and during the ceremony soft strains of the 'Spring Song' were heard.

"The parlors of the home were adorned with potted plants, ferns and palms which formed a beautiful improved altar. Baskets of blossoms added pleasing colors to the scene.

"Dainty little Helen Morrow led the way to the altar. She was prettily clad in a frock of blue organdy. She carried the ring in the heart of a lily.

"Mary Nell Morrow, prettily dressed in a frock of pale green organdy, carried a colonial basket from which she strew sweet peas in the path of the bride and groom.

"The bride and groom entered next. The bride was most attractive with a gown of shell pink georgette and crepe de chine. Her veil was a beautiful creation formed of bridal tulle caught at the back with a bow. She carried an exquisite bouquet of pink gladioli and white sweet peas.

"Miss Mary Rather of San Angelo, sister of the bride, the maid of honor, entered with Lieutenant Warren B. Carter, of Kelly Field, brother of the groom. Miss Rather wore a beautiful costume of fellow taffeta. Her flowers were pink carnations and ferns.

"Mrs. C. E. Morrow, matron of honor, and Mr. Paschal B. Melton entered last. Mrs. Morrow was most attractively dressed in pink organdy. She carried an arm bouquet of gladioli and ferns.

"Mr. and Mrs. Carter went to their new apartment at 902 Main avenue, where they will be located temporarily.

"The bride has been in Brownwood for only a few months but during this time she has endeared herself to hosts of friends. She holds a position of stenographer in the Citizens National bank.

"The groom is a young business man who has made Brownwood his home since returning from overseas service. He holds a responsible position with A. H. Richardson Company."

ARE OIL MEN SUPERSTITIOUS? "THIRTEEN" PLAYS PART IN PETROLEUM; OTHER "HUNCHES"

Here's a peculiar thing in connection with the oil game in McCulloch county. About a week ago a traveling man was at the Queen hotel, and in conversation with a local man, suddenly inquired if oil had been found in McCulloch county. Being assured that oil was being produced in the county, he then related this peculiar circumstance. "Some two years or more ago, I was in St. Louis and chanced to attend a Spiritualist meeting. The meeting was held in a large auditorium, and after it had been in progress some time, a party away in the rear of the auditorium arose and inquired, 'Will oil be found in McCulloch county, Texas?' to which the medium unhesitatingly replied that it would. I had never before heard of McCulloch county, Texas, but then and there made up my mind that if I was ever in Texas I would inquire as to whether or no the spiritualist's predictions came true."

Wichita Falls, Texas—"Are oil men superstitious?" I asked a man in Vernon yesterday he had evidently selected me as his next customer for the leases on acreage three or four miles from the new Sigler well, which is responsible for all the crowds in this section. My purpose in asking the question was principally to avoid the disappointing admission to him that I did not have the several thousand dollars on my person which he wished.

"Well," he replied, with evident reluctance to leave the original topic of discussion, "that depends. Some are and some ain't. It just depends upon what luck they've had. Now these lads in the Peoria-Prescott Company, for instance, ain't superstitious any more. They believe thirteen is lucky and if it had treated me like it has them I would be the same way.

"There's thirteen fellows in the Peoria-Prescott Company. They have drilled twelve wells. All of them were gushers except one, and that is a producer. This last well is the thirteenth. It was started on the thirteenth and is thirteen miles south of Vernon. And I reckon they've made about thirteen million dollars out of the strikes they've made, counting this one. How any one can be superstitious enough to believe thirteen is unlucky after that I don't see."

This One Lost.

However, I had heard in Wichita of the unfortunate William McLeod, a driller who invested thirteen thousand dollars in a drilling company. Oil was struck on the thirteenth of the month and thirteen days later it caught fire, causing a total loss of his outfit. He has since made money through other wells, but has been quite careful to avoid anything connected with thirteen. As a result I was still in doubt as to the virtues of thirteen.

I have questioned other men, though, and I find that those whose money has been derived from oil are inclined to be more superstitious than those in other lines of business which provide less possibilities for chance and romance. It is not strange either when one considers that they are constantly witnessing the queer pranks which fortune plays with men with no apparent reason.

Graveyards Considered Lucky.

One of the beliefs of which they adhere is that wells sunk near a graveyard are more likely to be favored by good fortune. Most of them are unable to give a reason for their views, but point to the many wells which have been brought in near the dead. The Northwest Extension was opened up by a wildcat sunk near a cemetery. The same was true of Iowa Park, and it is quite common along the road to see wildcats far from fields of production pinning their hope to a graveyard.

A school house is regarded as an equally good omen and acreage on which such an institution of learning is located commands and receives a higher price than other property which has no such possession.

On the other hand a saw mill is regarded as a harbinger of misfortune. Superstition needs no logic but quite frequently its inspiration can be traced to logical sources. One man explained to me that oil is most frequently found on ridges or raised structures. A graveyard or a school house is, as a rule, to be found on high, well drained land, while a saw mill, on the contrary, is usually placed in the hollows so that it will facilitate hauling the logs to it.

Some have gained their wealth by their reliance on dreams, the most striking illustration is Fowler's Folly, which owes its existence to the fact that Mrs. S. T. Fowler had dreamed oil would be found on her property and would not allow her husband to sell his property until he had verified the value of her vision by sinking a hole in the ground. The rich development of the Burkburnett field was the sequel.

Even large companies are not always quite sure that there "isn't something in luck" and will sometimes be guided in their purchases of acreage near a wild cat which has struck oil by the direction in which some notably successful lease operator has bought his holdings.

The Helpful "Doodle-Bug."

Recently a man came to the offices of a big oil company. "I've got a 'doodle-bug,'" he said, "which will tell you just where to

"A SPLENDID TONIC"

Says Hixson Lady Who, On Doctor's Advice, Took Cardui And Is Now Well.

Hixson, Tenn.—"About 10 years ago I was..." says Mrs. J. B. Gadd, of this place. "I suffered with a pain in my left side, could not sleep at night with this pain, always in the left side..."

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still there.

I at first let it go, but began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try some more Cardui, which I did.

This last Cardui which I took made me much better, in fact, cured me. It has been a number of years, still I have no return of this trouble. I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommend it as a splendid female tonic."

Don't allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. It should surely help you, as it has so many thousands of other women in the past 40 years. Headache, backache, stinache, nervousness, sleeplessness, tired-out feeling, are all signs of womanly troubles. Other women get relief by taking Cardui. Why not you? All druggists.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. BICYCLE IS STRANGE SIGHT FOR INDIANS UP IN WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, May 23.—Indians who were brought to Winnipeg from the far North to participate in the Hudson's Bay anniversary pageant, some of whom have never been in a large city before, when asked what they thought was the most wonderful thing witnessed here, declared it to be the bicycle.

The reason for this, it is said, was because the Indian could see the working of the bicycle, whereas he failed to understand the complicated mechanism of the locomotive engine, the airplane, the automobile or the immense structures of the city.

Kindergarten Helps for Parents

This is No. 38 of a series of articles issued by the National Kindergarten Association. They will appear weekly in these columns.

By MRS. PRINCESS B. TROWBRIDGE.

A worsted ball, if kept clean, makes an excellent plaything for a little baby. If it is suspended from his carriage or crib it will help him to learn to focus his eyes, and he will be amused by it for a long time. When the child is a little older, let him sit on a quilt on the floor and play with several balls in the six colors, red, orange, yellow, green, blue and violet. Each ball should have a worsted string of the same color attached to it. When the child is a little older still, play simple little games with him, such as rock-a-bye baby, pendulum of a clock, swinging the ball back and forth and up and down, and in other ways that will occur to every mother. Unconsciously the child will acquire a sense of form, color, motion and position by such games. Say to him, "See the pretty round ball," "See the pretty red paper," and the child will delight to find and bring to you other things that are round like a ball, and red like the paper. A set of worsted balls in the six colors can be obtained from kindergarten supply houses. Milton Bradley Co., Springfield, Mass., or E. Steiger & Co., 49 Murray street, N. Y.

Long, slim clothespins make excellent play things for babies. They can be used as babies or soldiers, or to make fences, trees, log houses and many other interesting things. Playthings that can be taken apart and put together again are good to have; also blocks with which the child can build all kinds of objects—engines that he can push along the floor, balls to bounce and throw, doll carriages, washing sets, etc. Dolls with clothes that button, and unbutton and come off may be used to teach the children how to dress and undress themselves.

For older children kindergarten beads are very useful and helpful. They are in the form of half-inch wooden balls, cubes and cylinders, in the six colors, and also in the natural unstained wood. A shoelace or bodkin and cord is used for stringing them. I would suggest, to begin with, that the child string balls only, and all in one color. After he has made a long string of these ask if he would like to use two colors. He will probably string them in irregular order at first, and if so it will be necessary to suggest alternating the colors, putting on two of one color and one of another, and so on. In this way he will soon learn all the colors and numbers perhaps up to six or eight and will know one form.

What else is there with which little children's hands can be kept occupied? First of all, sand. Just turn the children loose in a pile or box of sand with a spoon, a pail, a cup, or anything with which they can dig or shovel. I personally do not like to have sand in the house, but if you have a suitable place for it, it need not make any trouble. An old kitchen table turned upside down with the legs cut short and put on the other side makes a good table for sand. A piece of burlap or denim placed under the table keeps the sand from being scattered over the house. Children can early be taught not to scatter it.

With clay, a simple little cradle may be made. The child first rolls a ball, cuts it in half, and then forms the lower part of the cradle. The other half cuts in two, using one piece for the top and remodeling the other into a ball for baby.

Birds' nests with eggs can be made with clay; also apples, oranges, cups and saucers, and even animals may be attempted. In fact, clay has almost endless possibilities as play material. Plasticine is the best kind of clay to use, as it is easily handled and is always ready.

For little children, before they are old enough to use scissors, tearing paper is an engaging occupation. Tear a piece of old newspaper into an oblong shape—it may be any size, about 2x4 inches we will say. By folding this in the middle, it will make a little tent. Again, fold in thirds, turn both ends down for a table. The child can tear paper into trees, a ball, doll babies and many other simple shapes.

When the child is old enough he can begin to use scissors, but be sure to provide a pair with blunt points that cannot possibly hurt him. These will afford endless hours of amusement and profit. Have you found that "he cuts papers all over the floor?" Of course he does, but use this occasion to teach him neatness. Let him have his own little wastebasket, and he will delight in picking up the papers.

Let him cut pictures from old magazines and paste them into a book made from manilla wrapping paper. To make the book, take any desired size of paper, fold several sheets in half and sew them together along the crease. A pretty picture might be pasted on the front page, or the child could draw one on it. This will take many days' work, but all the time he will be learning many lessons in accuracy, and will practice patience, concentration, neatness and accuracy, and will be developing artistic talent if he is apt at drawing. Best of all, he will be gaining power to do things. If, in his cutting, he comes to a picture that has a story, tell it to him. Do not criticize his work, as this may discourage him, but see to it that he does the best he can.

Let the child draw with colored crayons or "crayolas." You will be surprised at how soon and how well under proper guidance, he will be able to use this means of expressing himself.
