Ground Broken For New Bank Building

Ground-breaking ceremonies were held Friday morning for the new Winters State Bank building, to be constructed on South Main St.

Representatives of the architects, Boone and Pope Inc., of Abilene, and the contractors, Rose Construction Co., joined members of the board and officers of the bank in the first ceremonies. Members of the board turned the first shovelfuls of dirt for the excavation which will be necessary for construction.

The building will not be ready for occupancy for many months, it was said.

Winters State Bank has occupied the present site on the northwest corner of the Main St. and Dale Ave. intersection for many decades.

County Keeps Ambulances

Complete operation of the Runnels County Emergency Service will remain under direct control of the county.

This decision was made at a called meeting of the Runnels County Commissioners last Friday morning. At a previous meeting Monday of last week, commissioners received a bid proposal from Glenn W. Pratt of Sweetwater to lease the service, to be subsidized by the county. A proposal by Bob McDaniel of Ballinger also was received, and studied. However, only the proposal from Pratt was accepted for a vote, which ended in a 2-2 tie. Commissioners Pat Pritchard and David Carroll voted to accept Pratt's proposal, with Commissioners Charles Bradshaw and Marvin Sallings casting negative votes. This tie vote left the final decision to County Judge Bill Stultz, who recess the meeting to convene again Friday, when he would break the tie.

On Friday morning, Judge Stultz voted to turn down Pratt's proposal. Charles Bradshaw of Ballinger made the motion that the county retain complete control and operation of the service. Marvin Sallings voted for retaining the service, and David Carroll of Winters and Pat Pritchard of Wingate voted against. Judge Stultz broke the tie again, to retain operation.

An emergency service committee had been named some time ago to operate and oversee the ambulance service in the county. Members of the committee are Judge Stultz, chairman; commissioners Marvin Sallings and Pat Pritchard, the mayors of Winters and Ballinger, and the administrators of the two hospitals in the county, North Runnels Hospital and Ballinger Memorial Hospital.

After all the action which resulted in the county retaining complete operation of the ambulance service, the commissioners were thrown a couple

Police Will Get Radar In Few Days

Winters Police Chief Doc Smith Monday night told the city council that a radar unit had been received for installation on one of the police cars, and would be installed within a few days.

The radar unit will be used in an effort to control speed mainly on Main Street, which has heavy traffic, in addition to areas around the schools and other main thoroughfares in town.

Once the radar unit is installed and operative, Smith said, the public will be notified that it is in operation.

Excessive speeds on the city's streets, especially on Main Street which is also US 83, have caused problems, it was understood.

GROUND BREAKING - Using "gold" shovels especially provided for the occasion, officers and directors of the Winters State Bank, and Winters' mayor, literally broke the ground Friday to begin construction of the bank's new home on South Main. Left to right are board members Audra L. Mitchell and John W. Norman; Chairman of the Board Kirby Robinson; Estella Bredemeyer, vice president; Mayor W. Lee Colburn; Mrs. Charles Hudson; and Charles Hudson, bank president.

Pet Owners Slow In Registering Animals

Pet owners in Winters are slow in registering their animals, Franklin O'Dell, Animal Control Officer, told the Winters City Council Monday night.

O'Dell reported to the council on activities within his department, and emphasized that there are many pets - dogs and cats - in Winters which have not been registered. Many pet owners are having their pets vaccinated for rabies, he said, but the surface has only been scratched.

The city ordinance providing for the animal control department sets out rules for vaccination of animals, and also requires registering the pets with the city department. O'Dell said he has special tags to be issued for each animal registered. Cost of registering is $2 per animal, and the registration must be renewed annually.

It was also pointed out that the ordinance calls for control of animals by their owners - in effect, a "leash law."

O'Dell told the council Monday night that cost of operation of the kennel, which includes dog and cat food, and other supplies, is only $183 per month. A small cost, it was indicated, compared with the terrible cost of a possible epidemic of rabies in the community. He reported that he has been killing many skunks within the city limits, and that some dogs have been destroyed because rabid skunks have come in contact with the domestic pets. He again warned of the dangers of a possible outbreak of rabies in the community, greater than has been experienced within the past few months, and urged that everyone who has pets have their animals vaccinated and registered immediately.

All-Stars Beat Ballinger; To Rotan

Eric Belk pitched a no-hitter, struck out seven, and hit a two-run homer in the fifth Monday night, to lead the Winters Little League Boys Major All-Stars to a 3-0 victory over Ballinger, at Ballinger.

The win advances the Winters Area Little League team another step in the post-season competition. They will meet Rotan at

Vo-Ag Teacher Resigns, Will Go To Coahoma

The board of trustees of Winters Independent School District last week accepted the resignation of Stanley Blackwell, who has been vocational agriculture teacher in the Winters school system for several years.

Blackwell is going to a similar position in the Coahoma school system.

The board also accepted the resignation of Ronny McQueen, manual arts teacher. McQueen is going to Olney.

No replacements for these two teachers have been employed.

The board approved employment of Annie Mills as a special education teacher.

Rotan Friday night, July 20, at 7:30 p.m.

John McNeil got a hit in the bottom of the fourth to get on base, and Brett Gray got a hit and brought John in for the first score of the game.

For the other two counters, Blain McGinnis walked, and then was driven in with Belk's homer, with two outs.

The Winters All-Stars are coached by Junior Guy. Manuel Vera is manager of the team.

Cong. Loeffler Will Visit County Aug. 15

Congressman Tom Loeffler's San Angelo office has notified the Enterprise that the congressman will be in Runnels County Wednesday, August 15, to visit with constituents.

The congressman will be at the Runnels County courthouse at 8:45 a.m. on that date.

Value of A Museum

"History belongs to all the people, not just to scholars and researchers..." said Governor John B. Connally at the first Texas Institute for small museums held in Woodville in 1966.

From the beginning of their organization, the Historical Survey Committees, now called commissions, have been interested in establishing museums and I was one of four people from Runnels County who attended this seminar sponsored by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee and the Smithsonian Institution of Washington, D.C.

We received many worthwhile ideas and suggestions at the institute and came home fired with ambition which gradually subsided as we realized there was no suitable building available.

Now, through the generosity of Nina Hale and her daughters there is an adequate building and the Z. I. Hale Museum will some day soon be a reality.

Winters has always been progressive and we have many people who are eager and enthusiastic about the venture. Most of us are inexperienced in this highly complex field, but every effort will be made to become professional in acquiring, preserving and exhibiting materials. Our first project is to visit area museums and gather information.

formation. "The future of our past is in our hands."

Historical interest is the mark of a cultured and educated man who better understands himself. "Since the golden ages of Greece and Rome, consequences have been grim for peoples who failed to build their future on the proven foundation of their heritage," said Governor Connally.

Not until I visited these places recently did I understand the implication of his words. Perhaps the great colosseum at Rome had been destroyed by wars or other means but one guide said it was the people themselves who hauled the stones away to use in building their homes. Great holes could be seen where they removed the metal pieces that held the rock walls together.

The Acropolis at Athens, Greece received extensive destruction by Byzantine emperors and barbarian invaders alike.

New excavations have been made at the colosseum and more foundations discovered. Italy has saved many beautiful paintings which can be seen at Vatican City. Michelangelo's greatest works are in the Sistene Chapel. Rome is also alert to the importance of museums of which they now have 45.

Most of the museums of the world have developed from small beginnings. Frank A. Taylor, Director, said that the Smithsonian museums not only began in a very small way, but against considerable resistance. In 1838, James Smithson of England bequeathed $550,000 to our country. His purpose was to found at Washington an "institution for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men." After eight years of discussion, the Congress, led by John Quincy Adams, accepted the bequest in trust for the people of the United States.

Businessmen have been heard to say they have difficulty in recruiting or keeping good men in places that lack cultural resources. When locating new plants they look at the schools and museums, as well as other cultural opportunities. Not only do museums help create cultural environment, but in this case aid in economic development of their communities.

Another contribution made by museums to the economic betterment of their communities is in encouraging tourists to visit them.

Museums may feature anything that is vital to the heritage of the area such as the Israel Museum where Myra Dorsett and I visited the Shrine of the Book to see the famous Dead Sea Scrolls which were found in 1947 by a shepherd boy at Qumran in the distant high caves of the Essenes.

The latest scrolls of Daniel from at least 200 B.C. were found, also the entire book of Isaiah which dates back to the middle ages.

These scrolls were found in a room called a Scriptorium where there was a disk, and other scrolls. There were other items such as woven baskets and eating utensils. This ranks as the greatest archeological discovery of all times.

We also visited Yad Vashem, memorial to the Holocaust, which was near our hotel on Mt. Herzl. Many of the national leaders are buried here in a garden which has been laid out in the last 20 years. Golda Meir is buried here. The garden contains the avenue of the Righteous where Carob trees are planted by non-Jews who befriended the Jews—the highest honor that they can bestow on anyone.

Hay Show Planned For September 8

The first Runnels County Hay and Equipment Show will be Saturday, Sept. 8 at the Ballinger Community Center. This announcement comes from the County Extension Agents office and the Vocational Agricultural Instructors in Runnels County.

County Extension Agent Allen Turner states "this is a project that numerous groups and individuals have suggested. We decided to make the Hay and Equipment Show a county-wide activity." Young Farmer organizations in Miles, Ballinger and Winters, as well as Extension Sub-Committees, will be working on the show.

The primary purpose of a Hay Show is to improve the quality of hay produced in the county. Rising grain and protein supplemental prices means high feed costs for livestock. A good quality hay can do a lot toward furnishing the requirements of cattle and sheep. However, to properly balance the supplemental feed, you need to know what your livestock are getting from the hay.

Entries need to be made to the County Extension Agents office or Vocational Agricultural Instructors by August 10, in order that samples can be taken and analysis returned by Show date. The entry fee will be $5.00 per entry (which covers the cost of the analysis). A full size

Keep a car well-tuned longer by keeping engine filters clean and using the gasoline octane and oil grade recommended for that car, advises Claudia Kerbel, a consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Other budget items are cantaloupe, watermelon and honeydew melons, but their prices are still only at the moderate level. FRESH VEGETABLES—Best buys are potatoes, onions, cucumbers, carrots and cooking greens.

COUPLE TO MARRY

Miss Clark and Mr. Allcorn Will Wed

Mrs. Robert Perry of Bronte and Royce Clark of Bronte announce the engagement of their daughter, Donna Clark, to Mr. Donald Allcorn, son of Mrs. Rita Flippan of San Angelo and Mr. Wilbert Allcorn of Crews.

They will be married Sept. 1.

Other good buys are soft-shell squash, okra, peppers, blackeye and purple hull peas, broccoli and corn.

Moderate prices appear on head and leaf lettuce cabbage, radishes and green onions.

GROCERY MARKET AISLES—Specials include cake and pizza mixes, tea bags and drink mixes.

Also, catsup, barbecue sauces, pickles, stuffed olives, peanut butter and jelly.

BEEF—Specials are chuck cuts, corned beef, ground beef, rib roasts and liver.

Christmas In July?

Christmas in July? Yes, if you want a "fight-inflation" plan for holiday gift giving, says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist.

Start shopping for "sale" items now and you can beat inflation, she says.

Mrs. Granovsky is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

First, make a list of people you want to remember with gifts at Christmas-time.

Then save some of those hot summer days for studying ads and shopping.

Many stores have "clearance sales" after the Fourth of July and other sales in August and more sales in the fall—to make room for fall and winter merchandise.

You can save substantial amounts of money if you shop carefully, but "careful shopping" is the key, Mrs. Granovsky stresses.

Remember that sale items are usually "final"—with no exchange or refund privileges.

Be sure you have the right size and color, and make sure there are no defects in the merchandise, she cautions.

Use the "sale guide" below to plan your shopping, since each month usually marks special sales on various items:

JULY—marks sales on women's shoes, appliances, air conditioners, floor coverings.

AUGUST—marks sales on children's play clothes, white sales, furniture, back-to-school specials.

SEPTEMBER—marks sales on housewares, "Labor Day" specials, flower and vegetable seeds.

OCTOBER—sales on lingerie, fabrics, fur-trimmed winter clothing and toys (pre-Christmas rush).

NOVEMBER—ladies coats and dresses, table linens, blankets, nursery plants.

DECEMBER—toys, winter clothing.

For more information about saving money at sales, contact you County Extension Office.

two years; George Lloyd, five years; O. J. Murray, eight years; Donald Kruse, 10 years; and James Gehrels, 17 years. Lloyd and Gehrels are city route carriers, while Mrs. Gehrels, Murray and Kruse are rural route carriers.

Health.

Congress passed the Safe Drinking Water Act in 1974, which, in effect, gives the states and the Environmental Protection Agency the responsibility for the new minimum drinking water standards established by the EPA.

"The Act requires your water supplier to periodically sample and test the water pumped to your tap," says Mark V. Lowry, Surveillance and Technical Assistance Branch Chief of the Water Hygiene Division. "If tests reveal that the national drinking water standards have been violated, then your supplier must take action to correct the situation."

"When violations of any maximum contaminant level occur, the supplier is required by the Safe Drinking Water Act to notify the user and to announce the violation to the newspapers, radio and television stations," Lowry added. "The supplier must also explain what is being done to correct the situation."

Lowry said it is important for water users not to panic if they receive or read a notice about their drinking water. "The announcement will explain the problem and tell you what precautions, if any, you should take. Most notices will not mean that your health is immediately endangered. A large safety margin was built into most standards so that it won't be harmful for people to drink water exceeding some of the maximum contaminant levels for short periods of time."

The theory behind the public notification provisions is that an informed populace will support bond issues and rate increases necessary to make required improvements to deficient drinking water system facilities. "But the majority of Texans have never seen any of the public notification required by the Safe Drinking Water Act," Lowry remarked. "Those persons who have seen the notification too often do not understand either the meaning of the notification or the reason for it."

Lowry said most non-compliance among Texas suppliers is the failure to submit bacteriological samples to the State Health Department. Failure of this type requires notification on the water bill only. "Repeated failure to submit samples indicates a lack of interest in the water system by responsible officials," said Lowry. "In such incidents, the utility's customer should contact the utility and urge them to submit proper samples so that the safety of the water can be determined."

At present, more than 10 million persons, or about 90 percent of the population of Texas, are served by the larger cities and water districts which meet the EPA standards. The remaining 10 percent of the population is served by water supply corporations, private companies, smaller cities and towns, and by single family wells.

Lowry said the EPA has set standards for 10 chemicals, six pesticides, bacteria, radioactivity, and turbidity—or what most people call cloudiness. Most of these substances occur naturally in the environment and in the foods people eat. The national drinking water standards reflect the levels that can be safely consumed in water, taking into account the amounts of exposure from other sources.

There are two substances that pose an immediate threat whenever they are exceeded. These are bacteria and the amount of nitrate found in the water.

Coliform bacteria are found in the waste products of all warm-blooded mammals. Although Coliform bacteria are not normally considered to be disease-producing organisms, their presence in drinking water indicates pollution or contamination of recent origin. When Coliforms are present, the organisms which cause water-borne diseases such as typhoid, cholera, infectious hepatitis, and dysentery may be present also.

Nitrate in drinking water above the national standard poses an immediate threat to children under three months of age. In some infants, excessive levels of nitrate have been known to react with the hemoglobin in the blood to produce an enemic condition commonly known as "blue baby."

Lowry said the ultimate solution to water utility problems is responsible and informed customer participation. The records of all water utilities throughout the state, as well as the State Health Department's records, are open to the public, he said.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Raymond T. Moore, M.D., Commissioner

While the threat of typhoid and cholera has almost been eliminated in drinking water, the Texas Department of Health must still deal with the danger of organic contaminants, viruses and other disease-carrying organisms in the water you drink every day.

Safe water has been the responsibility of the Department for 64 years. Regulation of public drinking water in Texas had its beginnings with a 1915 statute requiring that water be "chemically tested for any contaminated infusion of sand, dirt or filth or dangerous bacteria or disease-causing germs." Since that time, drinking water quality has been regulated by subsequent statutes and rules and regulations adopted by the Texas Department of

Tischler Named New Assistant At TSU

JERRY TISCHLER
Jerry Tischler, a 1973 graduate of Tarleton State University, and a graduate of Winters High School, has been named the new assistant coach in football for the TSU Texans this coming fall. Tischler joins seven year veterans Ronnie Giles and Joe Gillespie and second year man David Crume, a graduate assistant last year, as assistants to seven year head coach Buddy Fornes.

Tischler goes to Tarleton after a five year stint as varsity assistant at Friendship High School in Wolfforth. While at Wolfforth he coached the defensive ends and receivers.

Tischler's hometown is Winters, the same hometown as head coach Buddy Fornes. While at Winters High School he played four years of football and track, lettering two times in football and once in track. In football he played both right end and defensive end.

After graduating from Winters High School, he attended Tarleton and pursued a physical education major. It was Coach Fornes who convinced Tischler to go out for football in his senior year at TSU because the Texans were hurting for receivers. Tischler took the coach's advice and wound up playing slot end for the Texans in 1972, his senior year.

Tischler's decision to go back to Tarleton was again influenced by Coach

Fornes and the opportunity to coach football on the college level. Tischler will be the receivers coach and will also be assisting as the quarterback coach. Tischler is single and will reside at Crockett Hall where he will have additional responsibilities as dormitory supervisor.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Tischler of Winters.

Overtime Necessary To Determine Golf Winners

In "sudden death" overtime in the Guys & Dolls golf tournament Sunday at the Winters Country Club, John and Joanie McAdoo won over Vern Skarke and Mary L. Bauer on the first hole, to take the championship flight. Third place was won by George Brown and Sac Sprinkle.

Wilson and June Marks won the top honors in the first flight, with Barry and Bunny Sullivan second, and Virgil Peugh and Beth Whitlow third.

Second flight honors went to Leonard Smith and Mary McCreight. Jim and Mary Morrow won second and Randy Springer and Barbara Reese, third.

The next best ball tournament will be Aug. 28, with 18 holes of play. Supper will be served to all golfers and their wives or husbands after play. Additional information will be announced at a later date.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Raymond T. Moore, M.D., Commissioner

When you crank up your power lawnmower, your thoughts may be just on the job ahead and the beauty of a well-kept yard.

But you should be thinking safety, say experts at the Texas Department of Health. Often, it's the little things which can cause tragedy. Consider these accidents.

*A 27-year-old man in cutting grass around pecan trees, when a nut ricochets off the blade and strikes his three-year-old daughter who is blinded in the left eye.

*A 25-year-old man is using a riding mower on a steep backyard terrace when it rolls over on him. One leg has to be amputated.

*A 29-year-old mother is mowing with a garden tractor when she backs over her small son who is following the machine. His foot is crushed.

These accidents follow patterns which happen time after time, says Harold R. Ray, Director of the Product Safety Division of the Texas Department of Health. These patterns are:

1. Contact with the rotating blade. This often happens when the victim is clearing the discharge chute, adjusting the machine without turning it off and waiting for the blade to stop, or when the machine hits a rock and the victim's foot slips under the housing.
2. Propelled objects—wire, rocks and twigs can be shot out either through the discharge chute or from under the housing. Many victims in these cases are bystanders.
3. Overturning—riding mowers used on steep slopes are involved in this type of accident most often.
4. Mower running over the victim. This often happens when a riding mower or garden tractor is being driven in reverse. Push mowers are dangerous when the operator pulls the mower backward over the foot, or slips going uphill, allowing the mower to roll backward.

More than 50,000 adults and children are treated each year in hospital emergency rooms for injuries associated with power lawn mowers, says the US Consumer Product Safety Commission. "These are the more serious injuries requiring medical treatment," says Ray. "There is no clear picture on the number of painful, minor injuries treated at home."

"Cuts, bruises and puncture wounds are typical of the injuries which the machines can inflict," he added. "The gasoline used to power these mowers causes fires which have killed people and burned down the homes of others."

Ray says that reel lawn mowers are safer than rotary lawn mowers primarily because their blades move more slowly than those of rotary mowers. "A common accident pattern with reel

Church Volleyball League

Winner of the Church Volleyball League will be determined by championship games Sunday. The first game will pit the Lutheran team and the Church of Christ. Winner of that game will play Catholic I for the year's championship.

Trophies will be awarded to the outstanding teams.

An all-star game Sunday night will be played, with each team to select two players.

Children Invited To Reading Hour

All children from 3 to 6 are invited to attend the reading hour at the Winters Public Library each Wednesday from 3 to 4 p.m.

The reading hour is sponsored by the library and the Junior Culture Club.

"If you tell the truth, you don't have to remember anything." Mark Twain can be as explosive as a stick of dynamite."

Gasoline should be kept in a well-ventilated area well away from the living quarters and in tightly-capped safety cans. Don't refuel a mower while it is running or while the engine is hot. Never refuel a mower indoors because the 'unseen vapors may be ignited by a spark.

"Never start your motor or work on it with the motor running in an enclosed area where the carbon monoxide can collect," Ray advises.

The gateway to a fortress built 700 years ago near Poona, India, rests on a foundation of solid gold worth $40 million.

O'Connor's Column

Solve Puckered Seam, Skipped Stitch Problems

Solve common sewing problems such as puckered seams or skipped stitches with minor machine adjustments.

Or, simply check for correct threading and needle size or condition, advises Mrs. O'Connor.

Puckered Seams—Puckered seams may result from too tight thread tension, a damaged needle, too heavy pressure on the presser foot, improper threading, or too heavy thread for fabric.

Skipped Stitches—Skipped stitches may occur from a damaged needle, needle inserted incorrectly, or the wrong type needle for the fabric. Other causes include incorrect presser foot pressure, incorrect threading or too heavy thread for needle and fabric.

Avoid these problems by checking several items first, the agent recommends.

Threading—Before sewing, be sure the machine is threaded correctly—both the machine head and the bobbin. Also, make sure the thread is not crossed and flows easily through tension discs.

Needle—Check the condition and size of the needle. Coordinate size with weight of fabric. Use a size 9 (65) needle for very fine, delicate fabrics, a size 11 (75) for lightweight, a size 14 (90) for medium weight, a size 16 (100) for medium heavy, and a size 18 (110) for heavy fabrics.

In general, use sharps for woven fabrics and ballpoints for knits. Or, use a universal needle—the correct size—for either. For leather or vinyl, use a wedge needle. Be sure the needle is smooth—free of burrs—and is not bent. Change needles often—synthetic fabrics dull needles quickly. Coordinate thread size with fabric weight. Use thread designed for light weight fabrics (size 80-150), regular size (40-60) for medium and medium heavy fabrics, and heavy duty (size 20-40) for heavy fabrics. Also, use the same type thread in the bobbin used in the needle.

Tension—Check thread tension by stitching through a double layer sample of the fashion fabric. For balanced tension and a smooth seam, the thread should lock between the layers of the fabric. If the stitch locks on the top side, loosen the top tension. If the stitch locks on the bottom side, increase the top tension.

Bobbin—If the seam still puckers, the bobbin tension may be too tight. To correct, loosen the bobbin tension and adjust the top tension accordingly.

Pressure Foot—Different fabrics require different amounts of pressure on the presser foot. In general, soft, sheer fabrics require light pressure while heavy, dense fabrics require heavy pressure. Other fabrics fall in between. If your machine does not have self-adjusting pressure, adjust the pressure dial or screw until you have a smooth seam with even stitches.

To increase either tension or pressure, turn the dial or screw clockwise or to a greater number. To decrease, turn counter clockwise or to a smaller number. Do not be afraid to adjust the tension and pressure. The dials or screws were put on the machine specifically for that purpose.

They may need readjusting each time you change fabric type or weight.

Potatoes for Menu Boosters

Potatoes offer menu planners the kind of "cooking magic" that makes mealtime fare tasty, delicious and different. Potatoes take their place as a staple food—standard fare to be included in all menus in the traditional boiled, mashed or baked style. But world-wide, the potato is viewed as a "miracle spud" to be used in "spicing-up" a meal.

According to the U.S. Department of Agricultural marketing specialists, potatoes are in heavy supply throughout June. So, try these tasty tater menu boosters.

Fried Sweet-Sour Potatoes

4 slices bacon
2 1/2 to 3 cups diced raw potatoes

1/4 cup finely chopped onion
3/4 tsp. salt
1/2 cup water
1/4 cup vinegar
1 tbsp. sugar

Cook bacon in a fry pan until crisp. Remove from pan and chop. Using 2 tbsp. of the bacon fat, cook potatoes over medium heat, without turning, for 15 to 20 minutes or until they are brown on the bottom. Turn the potatoes with a wide spatula. Add onion and cook for 5 minutes more. Add sugar, salt and water. Cover and simmer for 15 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Remove from heat and pour vinegar over potatoes. Cover and let stand for 15 minutes. Add chopped bacon and reheat. Serves 4 or 5.

Potato Strips With Cheese

3 cups raw potato strips (cut as for French fries)
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup thinly cut processed cheese
1/2 cup milk
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
Pepper

COUPLE TO WED

Miss Plumley and Mr. Fields To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Plumley announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Josephine, to Mr. Keith Fields.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Fields.

The couple will be married Saturday, Sept. 8, at 7 p.m., in the Wilmeth Baptist Church.

Friends and relatives of the couple are invited.

1 tbsp. finely cut parsley

Put the strips into a greased baking dish and pour the milk over them. Dot with butter or margarine and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 40 minutes or until the potatoes are tender. Sprinkle with cheese and parsley and bake, covered, for 5 minutes. Serves 4.

Select processed fruits packed in light rather than heavy syrups to save money, advises Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

There are many different kinds of bath soap—clear, castile, cocoa-butter, fruit, deodorant and more, a clothing specialist says.

Use one that doesn't dry your skin—and remember to rinse thoroughly, advises Nancy Brown with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

A job change affects the whole family unit, not just the individual involved, points out a family life education specialist, Diane Welch, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Grain Sorghum Has Begun Blooming

Grain sorghum in this area has begun blooming so it's time to be watching for sorghum midge, one of the most potentially damaging insects to grain sorghum in Texas.

The adult sorghum midge is a tiny, fragile looking, reddish-orange fly. Damage to sorghum begins when the female midge lay eggs in spikelets of flowering sorghum heads. Each female may deposit from 50 to 250 tiny yellowish-white eggs during her short lifetime of 24 to 48 hours. A pinkish-orange maggot hatches from the egg and feeds on the developing seed. "Blasted" heads result from maggot feeding damage as seeds fail to develop.

To determine the presence of sorghum midge, fields should be inspected during the morning or early evening hours when midge are most active. Carefully inspect fields daily beginning when heads first start to bloom at the tip. Midge adults can be seen crawling or flying about flowering grain heads. They only attack the sorghum when it is flowering, when the anthers on individual spikelets are yellow. Once the anthers turn orange, that portion of the head is safe from midge damage. A clear plastic bag may be used as a trapping device; slipped quickly over the sorghum head, it is helpful in detecting and counting midge adults.

Apply an approved insecticide when 25-30 percent of the heads are blooming and the number

Mrs. Hughes Died Thursday In Glen Rose

Mrs. J. P. (Josie) Hughes of Granbury, a former resident of Winters, died last Thursday in Glen Rose Hospital.

Funeral services were held Saturday in Martin Funeral Home Chapel, with the Rev. Darrell Strickland, pastor of the Granbury Southside Baptist Church, officiating. Born Oct. 24, 1905, in Rockwall County, she married J. P. Hughes July 20, 1923. Mr. Hughes died March 4, 1956.

A former Winters resident, she had lived in Granbury for the past 29 years. She was a member of the Southside Baptist Church in Granbury.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Bill (Bonnie) Potter of Snyder, and Mrs. W. D. (Jessie) Sterling of Granbury; one son, Gene of Aledo; three sisters, Mrs. Gladys Seaborn of Buffalo Gap, Mrs. F. M. Seay of Lamesa and Mrs. Charles Wearden of Winters; two brothers, Illis Simpson of Winters and Clarence Simpson of San Antonio; eight grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Nephews served as pallbearers.

of midge adults averages 1 per head. If adults are still active 3 to 5 days later, apply a second treatment. Johnsongrass is an alternate host for sorghum midge and therefore, fields with this weed around the margins are more likely to have reinfestations of midge after treatment.

Communications Subcommittee Assignment

I reported to you a couple of weeks ago that there has been a realignment of the Republican leadership in the House of Representatives due to Congressman John Anderson's announced candidacy for President.

As a result, I have been appointed to another subcommittee on the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. Now, in addition to my seat on the Energy and Power Subcommittee, I will also be serving on the Communications Subcommittee.

This will be a great and exciting challenge. The Communications Subcommittee is currently in the process of conducting hearings and formulating the final wording on the Communications Act of 1979 — a sweeping undertaking, in that it is a complete re-write of the Communications Act of 1934.

This legislation will be one of the most ambitious undertakings of this Congress, and the results will affect the lives of all Americans.

The Communications Act of 1979 will lay new groundwork for the operation and regulation of all interstate and foreign communications, including all broadcast, radio, television, cable, wire, telephone, microwave, satellite, CATV systems, or other modes of transmittal of information.

The entire structure of the telephone industry in the United States will be reevaluated and changes made. Radio and television stations will begin to operate with more freedom, and many small changes will be made which will eventually effect the type and variety of programs and newscasts you will be watching.

Opportunities may open up for your family and mine to be able to communicate — through our home television sets — with doctor's offices ... with computer terminals ... with our banks ... perhaps pay our bills by phone and television ... do our shopping without ever leaving our houses ... the potentials are really enormous!

International communications via satellite and other forms will be affected, and new worldwide standards will be addressed.

The very kinds of telephone equipment you will be able to buy for your home will change — and the variety will be much greater.

The list of changes goes on and on, but to me, if nothing else but television came under the jurisdiction of the Communications Subcommittee, it would still be one of the most important responsibilities I could undertake as a Congressman. As the hours of viewing time by the average American child grows longer, television exerts an ever-stronger influence over our children.

Based on thousands of hours of exposure to television programming, our children form life-long opinions and attitudes about almost every aspect of living, and this influence must be carefully directed.

I am hopeful that, as I become familiar with the problems and prospects of the industry, through my service on the Communications Subcommittee, I can contribute to the kinds of influence television will have on our children in the future.

It will be a tremendous challenge, and one I eagerly look forward to.

Home Gadgets, Outdoor Antennas Can Kill

"Breaker one-nine" for a warning on CB radio base station antennas—and other home gadgets. They pose a death threat—by electrocution.

1,200 ELECTROCUTED
Almost 1,200 people died from 1975-1977 in the United States from accidental electrocution, says Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Antennas for television and CB radio base stations were the number-one hazard, she adds.

ANTENNAS HIT POWER LINES
Most deaths linked with antennas happened when the device hit an overhead power line as the victim put it up or took it down.

As a result, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission now requires manufacturers and importers to include warning labels—and insulation instructions—with all outdoor television antennas and those for CB base stations.

They must do the same with masts or other devices intended to support these antennas.

HOME GADGETS CAN KILL
Other electrocutions involved hair-care equipment and other devices.

Hair dryers were a major culprit—killing children who dropped a plugged-in hair dryer into a sink full of water or into a bathtub while bathing.

Many appliances can kill when NOT turned on—only PLUGGED IN, Ms. Kerbel warns.

Never leave electrical appliances in the bathroom plugged in, she says.

Even better, do not use electrical appliances in the bathroom.

Industry has agreed to put stronger warnings and more visible markings on hair dryers to caution against their use in or near water.

Still other electric-shock accidents involved drills, saws, other electric power tools, ladders and electric garden equipment, she adds.

When outside temperature is 75 degrees or below, save energy by turning off the air conditioning system.

Use a fan instead, advises Pat Seaman, a housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The outer green leaves of lettuce are coarser than the inner, tender leaves, but have higher calcium, iron and vitamin A value, reports Gwendolyne Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Use the outer leaves when possible, especially in a tossed salad, she recommends.

Lack of consistency and negative examples set by parents, however unintentional, produce confusing situations for young children who do not have the abilities to sort and select "expected behavior," says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Don't confuse hypertension with nervous tension.

A very calm person may still have high blood pressure, explains a health education specialist, Carla Shearer, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Prevent a green ring from forming around the yolk of a hard cooked egg by cooking only for recommended time and cooling immediately, says Marilyn Haggard, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Seersucker for menswear trends toward vertical designs, crisp summer cords in suits and sportswear, interest in texture, and light and pastel colors, a clothing specialist reports.

This lightweight, easy-care fabric comes in polyester, cotton and blends such as 75/25 polyester/cotton and 65/35 polyester/cotton, says Nancy Brown with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Many accidents involving children happen because the parents are unaware of the child's curiosity toward his immediate surroundings, says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Eighty percent of all Americans spend 70 percent of their income on four basic necessities—food, housing, health care and energy, reports Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

New Tax Laws Cause Action By Officials

The new state tax laws governing school districts and other political entities are causing public officials to take entirely new approaches in working out budgets and setting annual taxes. Procedures which have been followed for years have been discarded, and officials must now learn new methods of evaluation, rate setting, and budget preparation and adoption.

The board of trustees of Winters Independent School District will meet July 30 to discuss the financial situation of the district, and make recommendations for any needed changes in the tax structures. Then on August 13, a public hearing will be scheduled, at which time the board will hear input from school district taxpayers, before setting the rate and preparing the budget. Then on August 20, in a regular meeting, the board will adopt the budget which will be in force for 1979-80.

Dance At Teen Center July 19

The Night Riders will play for a dance at the Winters Teen Center Thursday, July 19.

The dance will be for young people 13 to 19, and will begin at 8:30 and last until 12:30. Admission will be $2 per person.

Ambulance—

(Continued from Page 1) more curves to deal with. Bob McDaniel, who had submitted a proposal to lease the service for $64,200 per year subsidy from the county, with a three-year contract, submitted a letter to the commissioners, making suggestions for operation of the service, and proposed that the county lease or purchase an ambulance vehicle he had purchased in anticipation of receiving a contract from the county. He stated that if the county did not lease the 1977 high-top ambulance, he would go into an independent ambulance service, in competition with the county service.

Also, Pratt told the commissioners that he had signed the contract (originally proffered and accepted at an earlier meeting, which was declared illegal action) and that he had hired some people to man the units. He said he also had purchased some equipment in anticipation of operating the county's service. He indicated he believed he was due some compensation.

The county emergency service committee will meet Thursday of this week to discuss operation of the service.

SS Rep Sets August Visits

Garland Gregg, representative of the San Angelo Social Security office, has scheduled his August visits to Winters on Monday, Aug. 13 and Aug. 27. He will be in the office of the Winters Housing Authority from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on the scheduled days.

Anyone who wants to file claims for benefits, get information, or transact other business with the Social Security Administration may contact the representative while he is in Winters.

The people at the Social Security office will need proof of your age to complete application for social security benefits. Documents such as a birth certificate or baptismal record can be used to establish your age.

Terry Gerhart State FFA Vice President

Terry Gerhart, member of Winters chapter, Future Farmers of America, was named a state vice president during the state FFA convention in Lubbock.

Gerhart, a 1979 graduate of Winters High School, had been a candidate for state president, in a field of nine candidates, but failed to make the top office in the final voting of delegates.

As a vice president, he will be called upon to travel about the state, visiting local chapters, and filling in for the state president.

Gerhart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Gerhart of Winters, and has filled several local FFA offices along with district and area IV offices. He also has received numerous awards in recognition of his work in the FFA.

Gerhart this week expressed thanks to individuals and organizations who helped him in his candidacy for the state presidency.
