Vandalism investigated by police

Winters police say that several leads are being followed in the burglary of the Glenn Hoppe residence at 214 North Church street.

Assistant Police Chief Winfred Reel said that the burglary occurred sometime over the weekend while the Hoppe family was out of town. Reel said that the entire house was ransacked with drawers pulled out and emptied, cabinets emptied, and cushions removed from furniture. The investigator said that as far as could be determined nothing was taken in the break-in.

Assistant Chief Reel theorized that the burglars were searching for money but found none. A Hoppe family spokesman said that the would be thieves overlooked a large glass container that was almost full of coins.

Police say that entry to the house was gained by ripping a screen door then using a key to open a dead-bolt lock. Reel said that a key to the door had been left hidden near the door.

Police say that no arrests have been made in the burglary, but that officers are following up several pieces of information turned up by their investigation.

City accepts trash contract

The Winters City Council gave its approval Tuesday afternoon to the contract with Tony's Disposal Service for the city's sanitation service. The contract calls for the new sanitation service to begin on September 15 to coincide with the city's billing cycle and the new trash collection schedules will start on September 17.

City Administrator Glenn Brown said that under the new refuse collection system there will be two trash pick-ups per week for all residences in the city. For residences east of Main Street the pick-up days will Monday and Thursday and for residences west of Main Street the pick-up days will be Tuesday and Friday of each week.

Brown told the council that Tony's Disposal had already moved its own equipment to the sanitary landfill site and was ready to begin operations there. The disposal service asked the council to lease one of the city's garbage trucks on a monthly basis, but the council voted to lease the truck to the company for a period of one year.

The council also gave final approval to new rates to become effective in the next billing period for the trash pick-up. The new rates are $4.74 per month for residences inside the city limits and $7.50 for residences outside the city limits. Brown said that the rates for commercial customers would be about 60 per cent higher, but that each business would be notified by mail of their individual rates. The increased rates will show up on the city utility bills which will be mailed out after October 15.

In other business Tuesday, the council set October 5 as the date for a public hearing on a requested zoning change for the 400 block of north Main. Brown told the council that convenience store was interested in building a store across Main street from the Baptist Church parsonage.

The council accepted the bid of $2300 per year from Edwin Deike for the lease of the city sewer farm. The council's acceptance was contingent on a change in the lease term to a one year lease with a four year option with an escalating clause.

Low bids for two city vehicles were submitted by Robinson Chevrolet and were accepted by the council. The vehicles to be purchased by the council include a full-size pick up to be used by the water department and for a full size automobile, equipped with heavy duty suspension, heavy duty alternator, and heavy duty radiator and heater for the police department.

The council heard a letter from former mayor Homer Hodge offering to donate the old State Theatre building to the city. After some discussion the council decided to decline the give and stated that the offer was sincerely appreciated, but the city could find no way for the city to benefit from the building. City Administrator Glenn Brown told the council that if Winters were larger, the building could be used as a civic theatre, but at the present time the community center more than adequately fulfilled the need.

Before closing the meeting, Mayor Lee Colburn brought the council up to date on the progress being made in the construction of the new city lake. The mayor said that the progress was excellent and that the contractor was well ahead of schedule. Colburn said that the project was getting to the point where progress could really be seen. He said that the contractor would be moving a rock crusher to the site very soon to crush rock for rip-rap on the slopes on both the existing dam and on the dam being built.

WISD enrollment up for 1981-82

Enrollment in the Winters Independent School District is continuing to climb. At the end of the day last Friday, enrollment totaled 832 up from 802 on the first day of school. School officials said that the ending enrollment last year was 802 and that this year the figure increases each day.

The enrollment by grade level is: kindergarten, 52; 1, 83; 2, 75; 3, 74; 4, 67; 5, 77; 6, 53; 7, 73; 8, 55; 9, 67; 10, 47; 11, 45; 12, 55.

The school district spokesman said that the district was still in need of one coach and several teachers.

Both the enrollment figures and the need for teachers are to be discussed in this week's school board meeting along with an architect's report on the refurbishing program, the proposed purchase of a new school bus, and routine items.

Black, Chapmond named Outstanding Young Men

Bruce Alan Black of Winters and Stanley Thomas Chapmond of Sherman were recently named by a board of advisors to be included in the 1981 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America.

These men were selected from nominations received from Senators, Congressmen, Governors, Mayors, State Legislators, University and College Presidents and Deans as well as various civic groups, including the United States Jaycees which also endorses the Outstanding Young Men of America program.

In every community there are young men working diligently to make their cities, as well as their country, better places in which to live. These men, having distinguished themselves in one or more fields of endeavor, are outstanding and deserve to be recognized for their achievements. The criteria for selection include a man's voluntary service to community, professional leadership, academic achievement, business advancement, cultural accomplishments and civic and political participation.

Cattlemen's Round-up for Crippled Children to be biggest ever

The chairman of the Cattlemen's Round-up for Crippled Children horse sale says this year's sale will be the biggest ever.

Perhaps it's because this year, he is a patient at the West Texas Rehabilitation Center and has experienced first hand how the money raised at the horse sale will be used.

R.C. Williams, involved in CRCC since Conda Wylie brought in the first pen of calves in 1960, is known to everyone in the area as the voice of the Abilene Auction.

He has worked in the cattle business since 1924 and at the Abilene Auction for 32 years. In the 22 years since the first Cattlemen's Round-up, he has spent many hours preparing for sales, talking to donors, and handling the sales.

"I have never missed a sale," he said in an interview right after his daily treatment at the Re-Hab Center. William's therapist, physical therapist Lu Ann Farmer, says he never misses a treatment either.

A portion of William's right foot was amputated in May and the treatment that started in July is to promote healing. When the foot heals, he will be fitted with a prosthesis and will be taught to walk on it at WTRC.

"It's sure done me good," he said. "Everybody out here has been good to me."

Williams still goes out to the auction three days a week, Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday, and he broadcasts auction reports from his home.

Williams is already getting calls about the horse sale, set for October 3 at the Abilene Auction.

"Horses are bringing more money than cattle. It's going to be bigger than it's ever been," Williams said.

How much will a horse bring in? "Whatever you can get—that what horse trading is all about," he said. Williams said that a horse that once went for $500 now will bring $600 to $700.

He says the cattle market is "pretty good," since he has seen both better and worse over the years. "The cattle business is a good one to go broke in," he said.

Williams is planning on handling the sale from his wheelchair if necessary and counting on the best sale ever. "Tell them to bring us the stock and

The Saturday evening service will be followed by an informal fellowship time and reception for Dr. Smith in the fellowship hall.

After the Sunday morning worship, a covered dish lunch (with each family bringing a dish of food, if possible), will follow in the fellowship hall, also. On Sunday evening, the youth-led service will be followed with a youth-only fellowship time with Dr. Smith.

An invitation from the Ballinger congregation has gone out to other churches in the area, and the public is cordially invited, according to the pastor. Correu said: "We feel very fortunate to be having Bob Smith with us again. He was with us two years ago and was popularly received. Bob is a world traveler, a dynamic speaker, a very sharp thinker and preacher. I cannot recommend him highly enough. On behalf of First Presbyterian Church of Ballinger I invite everyone to come hear Bob Smith. You will be glad you did!"

Dr. Smith is a native of Bath, South Carolina, holds a Master of Theology degree and two honorary doctors degrees, is a former Marine Corps enlisted man and an Air Force Reserve Chaplain with the rank of Captain. ## Mr. and Mrs. Frank Laird to be honored Sept. 13

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Laird will be honored by their children with a reception celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary on September 13, from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. at the Southside Baptist Church, 617 Crews Road in Winters.

Frank and Vela Laird were married in the home of Ross Summerhour on September 9, 1931. Mrs. Laird's uncle, Rev. T. E. Leak officiated.

Frank is a retired farmer and the couple have lived all their married life in the Winters area.

The Lairds have four sons, Charles of Coffeman; Carlton of Graham; Calvin of Hamlin; Chester of DeSota; and a daughter Charlotte, deceased. They have 12 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

All friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

two sons.

Mrs. Marion Connelly and Mrs. Mildred Gardner are in charge of special arrangements for the services, and will be assisted by a number of people in the congregation.

A nursery for small children will be provided for all services.

Firemen's Auxiliary enjoy salad supper

The Winters Firemen's Auxiliary met Tuesday evening for a salad supper in the Leonard Bowden home with Lue and Jeanne Hilliard as hostesses.

Members and retired firemen's wives enjoyed the occasion.

Members present were Francis Davis, Pat Simpson, Pat Staggs, Jo Miller, Nina Bedford, Beth Hamilton, Diann Whittenburg, Melba Emmert, Betty Easterly, Oleta Webb, Tommy Hodnett, and two visitors, Billie Middlebrook and Hortell McCaughan and hostesses.

Young Homemakers to meet Sept. 14

On September 14, Sue Prewitt will present a program to the Young Homemakers on health, entitled, "Cancer."

Young Homemakers is a statewide organization concerning the homemaker of today. The four main areas are community, children, home and health.

Young Homemakers meet on the second Monday of every month at the Homemaking Building where they have a program on one of the four areas Young Homemakers are involved in.

Dues are $3.00 per year and the time is from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Everyone is welcome and refreshments will be served.

Cotton tour announced

David Workman, Chairman of the Crops Committee, has announced that the tour of the Cotton Result Demonstrations in Runnels County will be on Monday, Sept. 14.

County Extension Agent Allen Turner encourages all cotton producers to go on this tour to see the different varieties of cotton that have been planted.

The group will leave the County Courthouse in Ballinger at 8:30 a.m., and should be completed by noon.

FACTS & FIGURES

In 1980, domestic producers met 61 percent of our nation's crude oil needs and 59 percent of our sugar requirements. GEPLACEA, an organization of 22 Latin American and Caribbean sugar producing countries, supplied almost 75 percent of U.S. sugar imports.

The U.S. Beet Sugar Association points out that any greater reliance on foreign sugar would (1) reduce the dependability of supplies (2) invite greater market volatility (3) eliminate more than 100,000 jobs and (4) add about a billion dollars to this country's trade deficit.

Even more disturbing is the likelihood of a cartel of sugar-exporting nations manipulating trade similar to the way OPEC countries control crude oil supplies.

Common Sense Tips

Hints For Homeowners

FREEZERS
When used properly, a freezer can really help homemakers pinch pennies to stretch the food budget. It lets you take advantage of special sale prices to stock up on family favorites.

It is important to select ingredients of good quality for freezing, and according to home economists from Whirlpool Corporation, blanching is one of the most important steps in freezing vegetables. Blanching is a heat process that arrests enzymatic action and stops ripening or maturing. It also helps vegetables retain color and stabilizes vitamin content. Quick frozen foods resemble fresh foods more closely and retain a higher proportion of their original nutritional value than foods preserved by any other process.

The home economists also advise against using containers or wraps not designed specifically for freezing because both the food quality and flavor can be lost through improper wrapping. Air tight packaging is the secret to success in freezing foods, they say, so don't fill containers too full—allow room for the contents to expand otherwise the lid may pop off exposing the food item.

In 1913 the highest building in the U.S. was the Woolworth building in New York City at 792 feet!

SUPPER TO OFFSET THE WEATHER

A spell of hot, humid weather takes its toll of nearly everyone, from sedentary citizens to gymnasts and joggers. Light suppers not only are appealing but also provide respites from hot, steamy kitchens. An antipasto platter can be prepared several hours in advance, and Double Duty Pink Frosted can serve as both beverage and dessert. Two scoops of lemonade flavor drink mix eliminate difficult beverage preparation, and the addition of grenadine lends just the right touch of color to this creamy, smooth concoction.

DOUBLE DUTY PINK FROSTED
2 scoops Country Time lemonade flavor drink mix
2 tablespoons water
1 cup milk
1/4 cup grenadine syrup
1 pint vanilla ice cream
1/2 cup club soda
Combine drink mix and water in electric blender container, blend until dissolved. Add milk, syrup and ice cream; blend again until smooth. Just before serving, stir in club soda. Makes about 3 cups or 3 servings.

Picnic-Perfect Pound Cake

Late spring means so many things—graduations, weddings, the first barbecue and picnic of the season. And one of the most appropriate refreshments to serve on these occasions is delicious pound cake. A firm cake, it packs in picnic baskets without crumbling. So rich, it's ideal whenever something special is needed.
Pound cake gets its name from the original recipe which called for approximately one pound each of sugar, flour and butter. Today, pound cake can be made more easily and quickly with Betty Crocker® golden pound cake mix. All you add is water and 2 eggs; mix and bake. Even creaming shortening and measuring dry ingredients are eliminated.
Here's a refreshing recipe using pound cake that's perfect for a picnic or as a light refreshment for a reception. The fresh taste of citrus is so right for spring.

TINY CITRUS CAKES
Heat oven to 325°. Grease and flour fluted muffin cups or medium muffin cups, 2 1/2x1 1/4 inches. Prepare 1 package Betty Crocker® golden pound cake mix as directed except—fold 1 tablespoon grated orange or lemon peel into batter. Fill cups 1/2 full. Bake until top springs back when touched lightly in center, about 20 minutes. (If using only one muffin pan, store remaining batter in refrigerator until first pan has baked.) Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan. Invert cakes on wire rack; prick each with fork. Spoon 1 teaspoon Orange-Lemon Glaze (below) over each cake. 20 to 24 cakes.

Orange-Lemon Glaze: Mix 1 1/4 cups powdered sugar, 1 tablespoon grated orange peel, 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel, 2 tablespoons orange juice and 1 teaspoon lemon juice until smooth and of desired consistency.

PUT UP FREEZER JELLY TODAY

Think about tomorrow today when you see fresh plums and Concord grapes in the market. They're a delicious combination in a freezer Grape-Plum Jelly you can serve on fresh bread and muffins when fresh fruit is just a memory. This no-cook jelly is easily prepared with the help of powdered fruit pectin, which assures a good "set." Use standard jelly jars with lids or reusable glass or plastic containers of not over a pint capacity. Freezer jelly can be stored in the freezer for up to six months or, if freshly made or thawed from the freezer, it can be kept in the refrigerator up to three weeks. Select the best fruit available, have ingredients ready, follow the recipe accurately and write labels for the finished product with a flourish. That's good reason to congratulate yourself.

GRAPE-PLUM JELLY
3 cups prepared juice (about 1-1/2 lb. fully ripe Concord grapes and 1-1/2 lb. fully ripe plums)
3/4 cup water
1 box Sure-Jell fruit pectin
First prepare the juice. Thoroughly crush, one layer at a time, about 1-1/2 pounds Concord grapes. (For ease in extracting juice from grapes, heat fruit slightly; then crush with potato masher or in food mill.) Place crushed fruit in jelly cloth or bag and let drip. When dripping has almost ceased, press gently. Measure 1-1/2 cups into large bowl or pan. Pit about 1-1/2 pounds plums; do not peel. Chop very fine; then place in jelly cloth or bag and let drip. When dripping has almost ceased, press gently. Measure 1-1/2 cups; add to grape juice.
Then make the jelly. Thoroughly mix sugar into juices; let stand 10 minutes. Mix water and fruit pectin in small saucepan. Bring to a full boil and boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Stir into the juices. Continue stirring 3 minutes. (A few sugar crystals will remain.) Pour quickly into scalded containers. Cover at once with tight lids. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours; then store in freezer. Small amounts may be covered and stored in refrigerator up to 3 weeks. Makes about 6 cups or about 7 (8 fl. oz.) containers.

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

The first cool front out of the north for September brought some much needed moisture to West Texas in amounts of one to three inches. However, South Texas was almost washed away.

Traveling in some 10 counties following some of the rain and driving in additional rains last week, I noted the countryside already showing improvement. If temperatures come down, and so far they have, grass will have growing time before frost.

Visiting with Drake McKinney at Menard, he said good rains on his ranch country in Concho County had put terrain in good shape.

I saw D. K. McMullan of Big Lake in the coffee shop and received the countdown on that area's rainfall. D. K. said two inches fell in a general way across Reagan County in early September. Boze Hartgrove spoke up from across the table that it "rained everywhere but Stiles."

Keith Mitchell reports Sanderson country in good shape. "We are going to gather our calves for the Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children," he said. "...come rain or shine."

First CRCC sale of the fall drive will be in Abilene September 28.

Jack Herring states Rannels County is in good shape.

"We have received good moisture the last several weeks," he added but another good soaking rain won't hurt our feelings, though."

In neighboring Winters community, retired school superintendent turned full-time rancher, James Nevins says: "the whole territory is in better shape than it was a couple of months ago. We are going to make some good maize . . . much of it has been harvested . . . and the cotton is looking good as well."

Farmers in the Lapan Flat east of San Angelo are behind in milo harvest. Yet, there is a heck of a bumper crop coming off fields in every direction.

Sam Ellington was out the first few days of dove hunting season and commented afterward: "There are plenty of birds and they are fat but there's one problem this year . . . they are smarter and hard to bag," he laughed. "This plentiful crop of maize for the birds to feast on makes it difficult to catch a covery."

Sam said he shot up a whole box of shells and still didn't have a good mess at sundown.

Denny Sullivan spends most of his daylight hours raking and sacking Mesquite beans from his front yard in San Angelo. He and Mrs. Sullivan sold their country place near Cleo to get out of picking pecans. "I believe there was more profit in pecans than these beans," he joked.

Denny says they miss Bear Creek and their neighbors. Yet, when he starts to miss Cleo too much, he remembers how they almost washed away during the region's worst flood in history a couple of years back. "San Angelo and the Concho Valley looks pretty good at the moment!" he concluded.

Easy Spicy Corn Relish

Here's a simple recipe for a deliciously spicy corn relish you can make in a few minutes today and eat tomorrow. Take the relish on a picnic to spread on ham sandwiches, serve it with fried chicken, or bring it to a barbecue with hot dogs or hamburgers. Made with fresh corn which is plentiful now, the spiciness comes from instant minced onion, mustard seed, turmeric, celery seed and ground black pepper—all available on your supermarket spice shelf.

EASY CORN RELISH

- 1 cup cider vinegar
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons instant minced onion
- 1 1/2 teaspoons whole mustard seed
- 1 teaspoon turmeric
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon celery seed
- Pinch ground black pepper
- 4 cups fresh corn kernels
- 1/2 cup diced green pepper
- 1/2 cup diced red pepper

In medium saucepan combine vinegar, water, sugar, onion, mustard seed, turmeric, salt, celery seed and black pepper. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, for 15 minutes. Add corn and peppers. Simmer, covered, until vegetables are just tender, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and spoon into a container. Cover and refrigerate until ready to serve. YIELD: 5 cups.

PARENTS VITAL IN CONTROL OF LICE

When school opens this Fall, school administrators will be alert to the possibility of head lice (known medically as pediculosis) returning to school along with the children.

In recent years, both public and private schools have reported outbreaks of head lice. According to a spokesman for the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, the problem may actually start during summer vacations when children are in close contact during recreation. To prevent epidemics from spreading from affected children to their schoolmates, families, and to the community at large, a cooperative community approach has been found to be most effective with school personnel, local health department and parents all working together.

Parents play an important role in the control of head lice and experts urge that they learn how to check for head lice and to suspect their presence when a child persistently scratches his head.

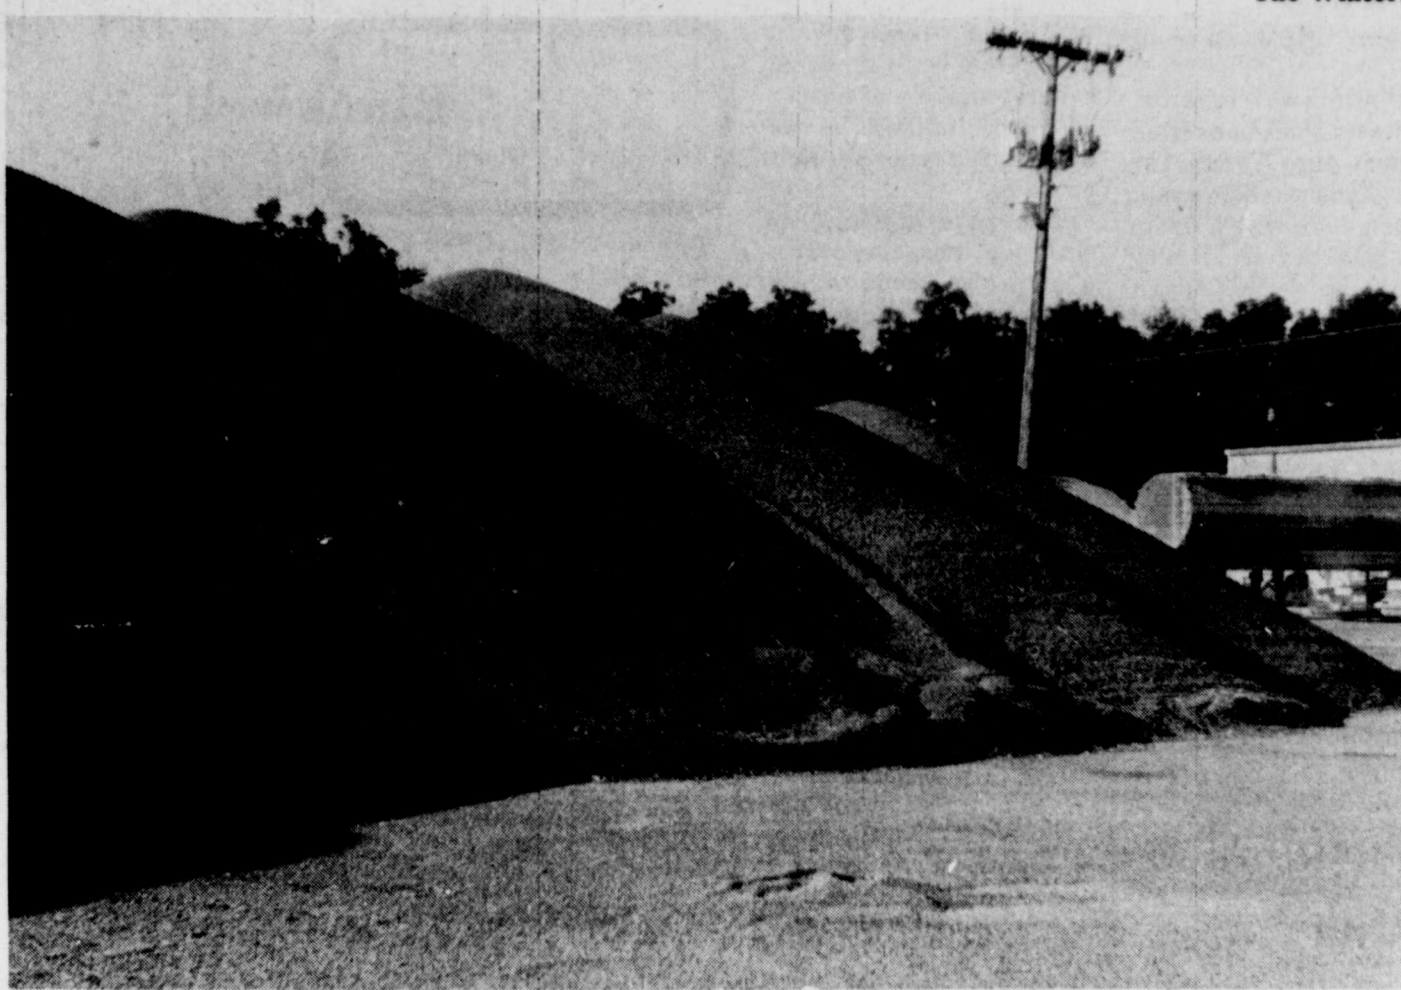

The approach that has proved successful begins with a meeting to which parents, teacher and school health personnel are invited by a letter from the principal. The school nurse often serves as moderator. Parents are provided with literature, and a film may be shown. Those who cannot attend are sent copies of the literature.

Several methods of treatment are available, but most physicians prescribe Kwell Shampoo, which should be used according to instructions. Perhaps because of both parents' and children's apprehension about lice, there is sometimes a tendency to overuse a treatment. A four-minute single shampoo with Kwell has been found to be nearly 100% effective. In severe cases, or when reinfestation has occurred, a physician may prescribe a second application after one week. (Physicians often recommend that other family members also use the shampoo as a prophylactic measure.)

Remaining nits (eggs) or their shells may be removed, when the hair is dry, using a fine-tooth metal comb or tweezers, or by slipping the nits down the entire hair shaft, one by one. To prevent reinfestation, contaminated clothing should be laundered or dry cleaned. Contaminated surfaces, such as upholstery, rugs and bedding, can be sprayed with R&C Spray Insecticide which was especially developed to kill lice and nits on anything in the home that cannot be laundered or dry cleaned.

Some schools schedule routine head checks during the year. It is now an established fact that clean children from families in every economic bracket may become infested with head lice, but that the problem can be solved fairly quickly and simply with the help of everyone concerned.

Using light colors in a small room makes it seem larger.

Test forage for feeding value

Just how "good" was the hay you harvested this year?

It's really hard to tell without a forage test, says Allen Turner, County Extension agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The forage test is the only way that a definite feed value can be assigned to a particular lot of hay.

While a forage test may cost a few dollars, it can save you dollars in supplemental feed or livestock condition, contends Turner.

Feeding low quality hay without supplementation can result in livestock weight losses and reduced rebreeding percentages. At the same time, feeding supplement with top quality hay may not always be necessary.

Only when your hay's feeding value is known, can you make a useful decision on the necessity of a protein or energy supplement. The hay's feeding value might be such that no supplement is needed or it might be such that the animal is slowly starving without a supplement.

A forage test can give a positive value on which to base a feeding program, and it's the high cost of feed, that's essential for a sound management program, believe the County Agent.

Feed value of hay varies tremendously due to the stage of plant maturity when harvested, soil fertility and plant type. Crude protein value of hay samples in the Rannels County Hay Show varied from 3 percent to 20 percent. Crude Protein value must be at least 6 percent to maintain a dry cow.

Anyone interested in getting hay tested for protein, fiber, nutrient and mineral content can bring samples to the County Extension office where information forms and mailing containers are available. Forage samples will be sent to the Extension Forage Testing Laboratory, Soil & Crop Sciences Department, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas.

Treat mildew with sunshine, suds

Mildew can ruin clothing, upholstery, leather goods and even wood, says Bonnie Piernot, a family resource management specialist.

To stop mildew, let the sun shine in! she advises.

Piernot is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

Ventilation helps remove excess moisture from the house.

If natural breezes are not sufficient, use electric fans, air conditioners or dehumidifiers.

If the house is very damp, turn on the heat for a short time, then open doors and windows to let moist air out.

An electric light burned in a closet will help dry this area.

To remove mildew from upholstered pieces, mattresses, rugs and carpets, take the pieces outside and brush the mold away with a broom.

Then run the vacuum cleaner — using the correct attachment — over the surface to draw out more mold. Remember, mildew can penetrate these items deeply.

Be careful with the vacuum cleaner bag — spores will be inside, so dispose of the bag outside to avoid taking spores inside the house and scattering them.

If the article is still damp, use an electric heater or fan to dry it. Sun it and air it thoroughly to stop mold growth.

If mildew remains, sponge upholstered pieces or mattresses with thick dry soap or detergent suds and wipe with a clean, damp cloth.

sponge mildewed rugs and carpets with thick dry soap or detergent suds and with a clean damp cloth — or use an electric shampoo machine.

If possible, let the article dry in the sun.

To remove mildew from clothing or household fabrics, first brush off the mold outside so mildew spores do not scatter in the house.

For washables, launder with soap or detergent and chlorine bleach, if safe for the fabric.

Otherwise, soak the item in an oxygen bleach, then wash it.

mothers and babies

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS
Although some babies may feed themselves before they're a year old—and others not till they're two or more, most try it by a year and if allowed practice can eat without help by 15 months.

Babies may learn to spoon feed themselves faster, if at around six months they're given bread crusts and other "finger-foods" to hold. Many babies enjoy learning to feed themselves in attractive high chairs such as this one, made of maple and available from Mothercare, retailing specialists for mothers-to-be, babies and children under seven. It has a hinged back, a safety belt and a removable tray with sure-hold hardware.

Pediatricians point out that parents needn't worry about table manners in babies just learning to feed themselves. Children tend to want to eat more expertly, more neatly all by themselves, they want to graduate from fingers to spoon and from spoon to fork, as soon as they feel equal to the challenge.

Dry it in a current of air.

If mildew remains, wash with thick suds from a light-duty soap or detergent or saddle soap.

Then wipe with a damp cloth and dry in an airy place.

If you live in an area of Texas where flooding occurs in the spring, summer or fall — or in an area where damp air is the norm, know certain mildew-prevention tactics:

1. keep the house well ventilated — with special attention to closets, cellars, and crawl spaces — since mildew needs moisture in order to start growing.

2. keep everything as clean as possible, since mildew also needs soil on which to "feed", and

3. once mildew starts, take prompt action to prevent serious mildew damage.

Jim Nugent blasts natural gas policy

Texans face the "looming spectre of living in the midst of rich gas fields, unable to get adequate supplies, and paying artificially bloated prices for the privilege of doing without," said Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Nugent at press conferences in Austin and Dallas this week.

Nugent said Texas consumers face higher natural gas prices and probable shortages in supply unless changes are made in the federal Natural Gas Policy Act.

As the act now stands, an estimated 40 percent of all U.S. natural gas will remain under federal price controls after 1985.

Most of the low-cost, price-controlled gas will continue to flow to other states under the federal law. The Department of Energy estimates that this so-called "old interstate" gas will cost $1.01 per thousand cubic feet in 1985, compared to 93 cents in 1978.

By contrast, old intrastate gas prices will cost Texans $3.29 per thousand cubic feet in 1985 under the NGPA.

"This is the gas you and I burn every day, and we'll be paying over three times what it costs our northern neighbors," said Nugent.

Problems multiply for Texans when interstate customers use the dollars they save to bid up the price of new gas supplies. Nugent seriously questions whether the interstate pipelines can compete for these new supplies without a base of controlled low-price gas. He cited a recent Department of Energy study which estimates that half-a-trillion cubic feet of gas will be transferred from intra- to interstate markets in 1985 under the NGPA. Even if state pipelines do compete successfully, Nugent said they will have to pay higher-than-market price for the gas.

Other factors add to the problem, noted Nugent. Not only will interstate customers have privileged access to new supplies as well.

With few exceptions, once gas is placed in the interstate market, it is forever committed to that market. In many cases, the sale of gas from a single well binds the gas from an entire field until the field is depleted and abandoned. In other words, gas can move freely from Texas markets to the interstate markets, but not back again.

Finally, Nugent said, federal rules effectively preclude intrastate pipelines from bidding on any gas produced from the Outer Continental Shelf, one of the most promising new areas for gas discoveries.

Nugent called on Congress and the Administration to change the federal law which guarantees privileged prices to interstate buyers, and change the federal laws which guarantee privileged access to interstate buyers.

It is said to be a sign of good luck to find a white button.

Runnels RTA meet Sept. 14

The Runnels County Retired Teachers Association will have its first meeting of the 1981-82 year at 2:30 p.m. on Monday, September 14, in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church in Ballinger.

The Rev. Ferris Akins will speak on "Staying Younger While Growing Older." His message will be an application of the 1981-82 motto, "Counting time is not so important as making time count."

Also in keeping with the motto, will be a "show and tell" feature. Members are urged to bring one or more clocks for display. Prizes will be awarded for the oldest, most unusual, and most beautiful clocks.

Officers for the year include, Eleanor Burgess, president; Beatrice Schroeder, vice-president; Marguerite Mathis, secretary; Eula Mae Kruse, parliamentarian; Iola Crawford, treasurer; and Carmen Dewey, historian and public relations director.

Having increased the number of yearly meetings from four to six, Runnels County RTA will meet the second Monday of September, November, December, February, April and June. November and December meetings are to be in Winters at St. John's Lutheran Church.

National, state, and local RTAs seek to promote the welfare of retired teachers and to encourage them to use their talents, training and experience to further the educational, social and civic growth of their community, state and nation.

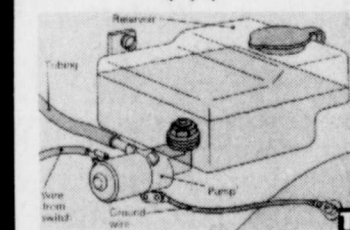

RTA is not for retired classroom teachers alone. Retired school administrators and college professors are also a part of the system.

Former educators of public, parochial and private schools are all eligible.

Tips For More Safety, Economy, Convenience

Summertime bugs on your windshield bug you? To keep it clean, not only the wipers, but the washer as well, must be in good operating condition. The Reader's Digest Complete Car Care Manual—480 pages of do-it-yourself repair and maintenance tips—offers a step-by-step procedure to check out poorly or inoperative windshield washers.

If your washer's not working properly or at all, it could be in the nozzles or tubes. Check them for dirt, kinks or cracks. If all these parts are in good order, the problem could be in the pump or the electrical connections between it and the dashboard switch.

A word of caution: use only washer fluid, diluted to the strength specified on the container. Never use plain water. It freezes in winter and can crack the reservoir. Never use engine antifreeze. It damages car paint. The Reader's Digest book offers information on car insurance and warranty protection. As a gift—to yourself or someone else—the manual could be one of the best money-saving, frustration-sparing ideas of the season. Available at your bookstore.

Caffeinism: too much of a good thing

When caffeine was first introduced to the Western world it was considered to be an intoxicating drug, and was ranked alongside morphine as dangerous to health. Nevertheless, coffee, which contains more caffeine than any other common beverage, has gained social acceptance. It is now one of the most popular drinks in America.

Caffeine is a potent drug. It is a central nervous system stimulant, a heart muscle stimulant, a stimulant of stomach acid, and it increases the frequency of urination. As drugs go it is safe when used in moderation, but too much of it will cause unwanted and even dangerous side-effects, says the Texas Medical Association (TMA).

Low doses of caffeine, one or two cups of coffee per day, can have desirable effects. It increases alertness, reduces drowsiness and lessens fatigue. But heavy doses of caffeine produce the syndrome known as "caffeinism."

Caffeinism is a collection of symptoms brought about by too much caffeine. Just how much is too much? According to the American Dietetic Association, 500 mg of caffeine per day, is a heavy dose for most people. Tea contains half as much caffeine as coffee, and cola drinks even less. Caffeine's effects peak after about one hour, and last for approximately three hours. The more caffeine you regularly consume, the greater your tolerance for it will be.

Symptoms of caffeinism include nervousness, anxiety, irritability, headaches, muscle twitches, insomnia, stomach disturbances, palpitations, mental confusion and even delirium, with higher doses.

Caffeinism can be easily mistaken for chronic anxiety and it can also worsen existing symptoms of anxiety and depression. Although caffeine is a stimulant, long-term heavy use has a "rebound effect" and causes depression. Regular users may not even notice these symptoms or associate them with caffeine.

Children and elderly individuals are prime candidates for caffeinism. As we age our tolerance for caffeine lessens, so we are more apt to suffer the effects of caffeinism at lower doses. Children, whose body weights are lower than adults, may experience caffeinism with as few as three cola drinks per day.

Caffeine is addictive. If it is eliminated, habitual heavy users will experience withdrawal symptoms such as sluggishness and "caffeine headache." Symptoms disappear by taking more caffeine — a vicious cycle. That aspirin which seems to help your headache actually works because of the caffeine contained in many headache preparations.

Happily for caffeine addicts, caffeine withdrawal only lasts a few days. It may be time to think twice about that second cup of morning coffee.

ECA course to start Sept. 21

The Runnels County Emergency Service and the Winters Volunteer Fire Department are jointly sponsoring a 30 hour course for Emergency Care Attendants. Upon satisfactory completion of the ECA course, participants will become certified and registered Emergency Care Attendants.

The classes will be taught on Monday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m. on the second floor of the fire station through Monday, October 19.

Southern states support Texas in medfly suit

All of the southern states have filed written testimony in support of Texas' position on medfly control as the state entered a suit against the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown is attempting to have the federal quarantine against the Mediterranean fruit fly expanded to California and to be allowed to fumigate all producebearing vehicles entering Texas from California.

Brown has requested a buffer zone of 5 counties bordering the five already infested by the fly.

In a further effort to prevent the fruit fly from entering Texas, Brown appointed TDA entomologist Mark Trostle to coordinate the state's detection program and ordered 10,000 traps placed around the state.

By the end of August traps had been placed at terminal markets, airports, ports and other locations where shipments arrive from California regularly. Traps were also set in host plant at a density of five per square mile, the minimum established by the USDA to detect an infestation.

Brown said contingency plans have been drawn for aerial spraying in case of an outbreak.

Hints For Homeowners

Fiber Glass Shingles Are Fire Resistant

If your home needs a new roof, shingles made with fiber glass instead of a felt-base offer you some interesting advantages.

Fiber glass shingles are relatively new in the roofing market, having been introduced commercially only seven years ago. Since then, they have gained a 13 percent share of the market, and by 1984 some industry experts expect that share to grow to around 40 percent.

Fiber glass shingles carry Class A fire ratings and warranties averaging 20 years, according to experts at PPG Industries, a major manufacturer of fiber glass. In comparison, conventional felt-based shingles are fire-rated as Class C and carry lesser warranties averaging 15 years.

Fiber glass shingles were first introduced on the West Coast in response to homeowners' need for a fire-resistant shingle in areas where large brush fires are commonplace. The fiber glass mat that makes up the internal composition of the shingle also prevents moisture saturation, warping, curling, shrinking and stretching.

Fiber glass shingles are made with 30 percent less asphalt—an expensive oil derivative. In addition a time-consuming presaturation step is bypassed in the manufacturing process, which also saves on production costs.

available in several color variations to complement any home. For low-profile homes, PPG construction experts suggest a light, warm color that harmonizes with the siding to give a taller and larger appearance. For a point of contrast, the front door can be painted a darker or brighter color.

The proportions of some homes are enhanced by a roof of contrasting color. For example, a two-story home with light siding can be set off with a dark roof, as well as dark shutters.

When the time comes to put a new roof over your head, PPG experts say shingles made of fiber glass give the best performance at the best price.

My Kind of Baseball

Some years ago, when we learned that Rogers Hornsby, Baseball Hall of Famer, was a Winters native, people began calling and writing for information concerning him and his career. I didn't know anything about him and couldn't find anyone who did except Fred Young. He recalled that the family lived on a farm north of town in the vicinity of the old airport, on what was later the D. C. Robertson place. The family moved away when Rogers was small. Fred follows baseball, and knew that Hornsby had also been a manager, but knew no specific details.

When Mrs. Bill Russell learned of my search, she wrote her brother, Jon Johnson, in Greenwood, Arkansas an avid baseball fan. He sent us the following information, some of which was taken from Hornsby's book, My Kind of Baseball, now out of print, I assume.

Rogers Hornsby is often regarded as best right-handed hitter of all time. Some regard him as the best all-around hitter of all. Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth were left-handed batters. Ruth hit more home runs than Hornsby, but had a lower batting average, Cobb's average was slightly higher, but had fewer home runs.

Hornsby began his career in 1915 as a shortstop with the St. Louis Cardinals but was quickly moved to second base. Although noted for his batting record, he was a fine fielder. In 1922 he led the National league with a .967 fielding record.

It is said that Hornsby would not go to movies or read by artificial light because he thought those activities would hurt his eyes and his batting would suffer.

Hornsby became a playing manager while still with the Cardinals. He took over the helm at mid-season in 1925 from Branch Rickey, the famous baseball executive. He finished the season with a record of 64-51.

In 1926 he managed the entire season with an enviable record of 889-65. The Cards played seven games against the New York Yankees and walked of with the National League Pennant. The 1926 Series is notable for the brilliant pitching of the aging Grover Alexander and Tony Lazzeri's long foul.

In 1927, St. Louis and the New York Giants traded second basemen. Frank Frisch went to the Cards, and Hornsby went to the Giants.

Hornsby played only one season with the Giants. He chalked up 361 hits (26 home runs) and 125 RBIs.

1928 found Hornsby with one of the poorest teams in the league, the Boston Braves. Hornsby averaged .387 to lead the league, but the team ended up next to the cellar. Early in the season, he had taken over as manager, but with little to work with, he ended the season with 39-83. One of his team mates on that 1928 team was the famous, but now fading slugger George Sisler. Sisler had been on the finest American League hitters in the early 1920's, however, after an eye injury, his batting dropped, but he still managed to turn in a .340 for Hornsby.

Hornsby was back on second base in 1929 with the Chicago Cubs. The manager was the famous Joe McCarthy. Hornsby batted .380 (40 homers) and brought in 149 runs. Chicago won the Pennant that year, but lost to the Philadelphia Athletics in the Series.

The 1929 World Series is notable for the 10-run inning in game No. 4. The Athletics were ahead in the series, two games to one. But in game four in Philadelphia, Chicago was ahead 8-0 in the 7th inning with two out and none on. The Philadelphia batters started tagging the cob hurlers. Before the inning was over, the Athletics had scored 10 runs. The final score was 10-8. In game five, also played in Philadelphia, the Cubs were ahead 2-0, going into the bottom of the ninth, but the Athletics scored three runs to win the game and the series.

Hornsby only played in 42 games in 1930, but the season was important to him just the same. Toward the end of the season, when it was clear that the Cubs would finish behind Gabby Street's Redbirds, manager Joe McCarthy was fired. Hornsby again was manager. There were only four games left in the season but the Cubs won all of them.

In 1931 Hornsby played his last season as a full time starter. He also managed. Although his .331 average was still one of the best in the league, Rogers was beginning to slip some. As manager, he led the Cubs to an 84-70 season. The team finished 3rd, 17 games behind Gabby Street's Cardinals, who ran away with the pennant that year.

In 1932, Hornsby only played 19 games. He also lost his job as manager. With a record of 53-44 and the team in second place, Rogers was replaced by Charley Crumm as manager. The team went on to win the pennant and meet the Yankees in the World Series. Hornsby didn't play in the series. The '32 series is notable because of Ruth's "called" home run in game three in Chicago. Ruth is supposed to have pointed with his bat toward the center field fence as though to say, "that's where it's going." He then hit a home run to that spot. Ruth did indeed point to something out there distracting him and that it should be removed. Whether the homer was called or not, we'll probably never know for sure, but most people believe it, so it is now part of baseball lore.

In 1933, Hornsby was first with the St. Louis Cardinals, then the St. Louis Browns of the American League. He played in a total of 57 games and batted .326. When he went to the Browns, he was again a manager. The team had a record of 20-34 under Rogers but still finished in last place.

Hornsby managed the Browns until 1937. In '34 the team was 67-85 and finished 6th. In '35 their record was 65-87 and 7th place. In '36 the team was 57-98 and again finished 7th. In '37 with a record of 25-50 and the team in last place, Hornsby was replaced by Jim Bottomley.

Years later, in 1952, Hornsby was again the manager of the Browns. After 50 games, the team had a record of 22-28 and Rogers was again replaced, this time by Marty Marion. The Browns did not better and still finished 7th.

After leaving the Browns in '52, Hornsby immediately went to Cincinnati and became manager there. He finished the season with a record of 27-24, and the Reds finished in 6th place.

In 1953 Hornsby was again replaced as manager. This would finish his managerial career. The team record was 64-82 when he was replaced with only 8 games left in the season.

Winters 6, Ballinger 16

In their first game of the season, the Winters Blizzards fell to defeat at the hands of the Ballinger Bearcats. The final score was Ballinger 16 and Winters 6.

Winters Head Coach Dan Slaughter summed up the game this way, "Ballinger controlled the ball the first half while Winters had possession of the ball for only 14 plays in the first two quarters of play, but in the second half the teams played evenly."

"The game started with Winters kicking off to Ballinger, and on Ballinger's second offensive play Andy Smith intercepted a pass to give the Blizzards the ball with good field position from the Ballinger 40 yard line. On the second play from that position, Winters fumbled the ball for the first of four turnovers the Blizzards would have for the night. Ballinger then took the ball and drove down to score for their first touchdown of the night. The Bearcats missed their extra point but the Blizzards were penalized for roughing the holder and Ballinger made good on their second extra point try. Ballinger continued to make large holes in the Blizzards defense to get into scoring position three more times, but the Blizzards goalline defense turned the Bearcats back two times."

"Just before the half, Jeff Butts intercepted a pass on the Winters goalline and almost ran it back for a touchdown, but was downed on the Ballinger 47 yard line. Butts then threw a pass to Ronnie Lujano for a 20 yard gain to the Ballinger 27 yard line. Time ran out before the Blizzards could get in for the touchdown. The only other points that were scored in the first half was a safety. A bad snap to Donnie Daily in the end zone during a punt forced Donnie to fall on the ball for a safety to keep Ballinger from recovering the ball for a touchdown. The score at the half was 9-0 in favor of Ballinger."

"In the second half," Coach Slaughter said, "Winters played much better. Ballinger scored in the third quarter to make the lead 16-0, but Winters didn't quit. Scoring in the fourth quarter on a drive set up with a 24 yard pass from Jeff Butts to Brett Mikeska. Jeff then threw a 30 yard pass to Perry Bedford for the touchdown. Butts missed the goalline by only a few inches in his bid to make the two extra points. The final score was 16-6, Ballinger."

The coach said, "The Blizzards hurt themselves with poor tackling and four turnovers during the game. If the team will work on their mistakes and correct the errors they will still have a good year."

The Blizzards take on the Roscoe Plowboys here Friday at 8 p.m. Roscoe beat Rotan last week, and they appear to have their team working well together. Head Coach Dan Slaughter invited everyone to come out and see your Blizzards in action as they go for their first win of the season against Roscoe Friday.

J-V loses opener to Ballinger

The Winters Blizzards Junior Varsity lost their season opener to the Ballinger junior varsity last week by a score of 20-0.

Calvin Steen, Blizzards junior varsity coach, said that turnovers were the main reason for the loss. Steen said, "Because of turnovers, six fumbles and one interception, the Blizzards JV spent most of the night on the defense. Both Greg Guevara and Paul Trevio had a fine offensive game for Winters."

"With two weeks before the next game, we'll be expecting a much improved offense."

The Blizzards Junior Varsity will play Rotan here on September 17, at 7:30 p.m.

enough traffic it took three diesel-electric locomotives (2,000 horsepower each) just to pull the cars loaded with milo. During the wheat harvest over 200 of the jumbo hopper cars were used to haul wheat and before all the milo is shipped out another hundred will be used.

WASTE NOT, WANT NOT - FRENCH CHEESE SPREADS

The French cook is as conscious of thrift as she is of fine taste... never, never is good food wasted. For the problem of bits of leftover cheeses she has an ingenious solution... a mélange of morsels of overripe fromage combined with pungent seasoning to complement the robust cheese flavors.

The mixtures are easy to make... simply combine in a crock leftover cheeses such as Beaumont, Brie, Explorateur, Roquefort and Chèvre. Beaumont is a semi-soft variety from the French Alps with a fine nutty flavor and distinctive "eyes"; Brie is one of the most celebrated soft-ripened cheeses from the Ile de France region; Explorateur is a luscious triple-crème also from Ile de France; Roquefort, made exclusively of sheep's milk, is known as king of the blue-veined family; Chèvre is the tangy goat's milk cheese of France. Add butter to gentle the taste, some Herbes de Provence, the French all-in-one seasoning, and a lacing of Côtes du Rhône red wine. Serve on slices of French baguette and accompany with a simple carafe of wine—red Côtes du Rhône or chilled Mâcon blanc.

CHEESE SPREAD A LA FRANCAISE (Makes about 3 cups)

2 cups (1 lb.) well-packed French cheeses: Beaumont, Brie, Explorateur, Roquefort, Chèvre, etc.
 1/2 cup butter
 1/4 cup Côtes du Rhône red wine
 1/4 cup Herbes de Provence

Combine all ingredients and beat until well-blended. Pack into a crock, cover and chill until ready to serve. Spread on thin slices of French baguette. Can also be used to stuff mushroom caps, celery pieces, or cherry tomatoes.
