Winters VFD elects officers

The Winters Volunteer Fire Department held its annual officer election last week and named Buddy Miller as its new president and Johnny Merrill as the new fire chief.

Other officers elected included Jack Davis Jr. as first assistant chief, Leonard Bowden as second assistant chief. F.J. Malicoate was elected vice-president of the department, Marvin Bedford was returned to the post of secretary-treasurer and J.C. Hodnett was elected recording secretary.

The fire department senior sponsor is Jo Miller and the junior sponsor is Catherine Bowden. Fire department mascot is Tommy Thormeyer and the Sweetheart is Tina Merrill; Joe Emmert was elected department chaplain. Glenn Hoppe was elected to a three-year term on the pension board.

Richard Hamilton was named captain of first company and Arnold Thormeyer was elected assistant captain. Second company captain is Bob Webb and the assistant captain is Mike Meyer.

Both the new fire chief and president are 10-year veterans of the department and both have served as president of the Hill Country Firemen's Association.

Chief Merrill is an instructor at the fire training school at Texas A & M University and also at fire fighting schools at Abilene and San Angelo.

Snow creates unfavorable road conditions

Winter came to Winters last week bringing four to eight inches of snow and some mighty cold temperatures.

The snow covered all the roads in the area and created some unfavorable driving conditions. Local police officers said however, that only two accidents were related to the snow.

A week after the snow began falling there were still some remnants of the white stuff and temperatures had reached into the 60's and 70's.

The winter weather brought some very cold temperatures, in the single digits, to the area. There were reports of one, two, and three degrees late last week. The cold kept the city water department working overtime repairing water leaks and turning off water to give residents a chance to fix their own leaks.

Although the ground was covered with the freeze skid stuff and the mercury dipped so low, Winters fared well. Only two accidents and no major problems.

E.C. Grindstaff has served as Runnels County School Superintendent, Runnels County Judge, and District Attorney in Runnels County.

NRH Auxiliary to disband

The Winters Hospital Auxiliary has been forced to disband, due to lack of membership. Memorials will no longer be sought by the Hospital Auxiliary, but contributions and memorials may still be given to Ted Meyer. Current goal for the contributions is an Intensive Care Unit incubator needed in the hospital nursery.

McAdams WSB stock purchased by local men

Wingate banker Bobby Airhart and rancher Mike Odom have purchased the controlling interest in the Winters State Bank from the estate of John Q. McAdams. Bobby Airhart has been elected President of the Winters State Bank and he will also continue as President and Chairman of the Board of the Security State Bank in Wingate.

John Q. McAdams chartered and established the Winters State Bank in 1906 and the bank has remained in the ownership of the McAdams family for the past 75 years. The bank, established with capital accounts of approximately $25,000, has grown into an institution of more than $2,000,000 in capital accounts and a total of $36,000,000 in deposits. This growth is a result of confidence, good management, and the support of the people of the community and its surrounding area.

The bank was originally housed in the building at 100 West Dale at Main Street. Last year, because of its growth and in order to provide more updated banking services, a new building was built as 500 South Main.

The McAdams heirs, Clara Nell Moore and John Q. McAdams Jr., both of Houston, express their appreciation to the people of the area for their support of the bank.

Airhart said the Winters State Bank will continue to offer a complete line of banking services.

1982 Junior Livestock 'Show of Champions'

Sunday marked the beginning of the 1982 Winters Junior Livestock Show held here in Winters. Following a barbecue feast provided by the Livestock Association, judging began with the Lamb Show.

Many fine animals were shown, including Allison Alcorn's Champion Finewool, and Billy Frank Belew's Champion Finewool Cross and Champion Mediumwool. Receiving Reserve Championships in various categories were Bubba Mikeska, Wayne Poehls and Kimberly Deike.

On Monday, the second day of judging began with the Swine Show at 9 a.m. Taking honors with the Champion Duroc was Kenny Gibbs, with Brent Lancaster holding out with the Reserve Champion; Champion Hampshire went to Brandon Poe, and Reserve Champion Hampshire was shown by Barbara Henderson. Also taking top honors were Kimberly Deike with the Champion Crossbreed, and Barbara Henderson with the Reserve Champion Crossbreed. Champion OPB (Other Pure Breeds) was shown by Camiel Lancaster and Reserve Champion OPB belonged to Marie Pritchard. Kenny Gibbs showed the Grand Champion Market Swine, followed by Brandon Poe, who's animal was awarded Reserve Champion Market Swine.

In the rabbit division, J. Don Miller and Monty Smith took the championship honors. Miller showed the best doe, and Smith showed the best buck.

Miller also exhibited the grand champion capon. His animal earned the first six places in that category.

Barbara Henderson took top honors in the steer show Monday afternoon. She locked up the first-place position in both the lightweight and heavyweight classes, to guarantee her the top spot.

All groups had a chance to compete in their own showmanship classes for the first time. There was a class for the best showman 13 and younger, as well as for 14 and older, with each receiving a showmanship buckle for effort.

And there were snowmen...

The heavy snowfall in Winters, four to eight inches of the stuff, was not all wasted. This snowman was built on S. Magnolia by Terry Fields, John and Jeremy DeLaCruz.

City Council lacks quorum

The routine Winters City Council meeting Monday evening was cut short due to the lack of a quorum.

Councilwoman Billie Alderman had been called out of town earlier in the day Monday and Councilman E.J. Bishop was unable to attend the meeting due to business out of town.

The meeting got underway with council members Randy Springer, Jim Hatler, Ted Meyer, and Mayor Lee Colburn on hand, enough to conduct the meeting. Soon after the meeting was underway, Councilman Meyer was called from the meeting and the session was ended with most action items being tabled until the next meeting.

Among the items discussed before the meeting closed was a lease request by the North Runnels Flying Club for space at the municipal airport. The flying club is wanting to build a hangar to house two air craft. The club proposed a 10-year lease for $30 per year. The proposed hangar would be of steel construction and would meet all building standards.

The council authorized the city administrator and the city attorney to draw up the lease agreement and authorized the mayor to sign the lease without further action from the council.

The council suggested the lease contain clauses to require the leasee to keep the area clean of debris and to call for immediate cancellation of the lease in the event of illegal activity at the airport by the lease holder.

The council discussed the appointment of two members to the Winters Housing Authority but deferred action until March filing deadline for the city election has passed. The council must appoint a successor to Charles Hudson who resigned from the Authority and for Gattis Neely whose term expires. Neely informed the council that he did not wish to serve another term on the Housing Authority.

The council expressed its desire that a council member be appointed to the authority to fill one of the vacancies. The council also noted that more citizens need to become involved in the operation of the city and its agencies.

Just before ending the meeting the council authorized Mayor Lee Colburn to sign the necessary papers for the city as a member of the Elm Creek Water Shed Plan. The plan, when finalized, will call for the construction of several flood control structures above Lake Winters. One of the projects will be on Elm Creek and the others on creeks that do not affect the Winters Lake. City Administrator said the construction of the project on Elm Creek would benefit Winters and its future water supply.

GTE's penalty lifted and increase request planned

Rates for General Telephone of the Southwest local exchange customers are going up as the result of the Public Utility Commission voting last week to lift the company's $4 million annual service penalty.

The commission first imposed the penalty on October 1, 1980, after evidence in a rate case showed that General Telephone was providing inadequate customer service. Since that time the penalty has cost the phone utility about $5 million.

Commission Chairman George Cowden and Commissioner H.M. Rollins voted to lift the penalty while Commissioner Garrett Morris opposed it. The commissioners still must look at a so-called rate tariff showing exactly how GTE proposes to impose the new rates.

Before the vote, Cowden assured the company that the commission will not be afraid to impose another penalty if the phone company fails to continue improving service.

In San Angelo, GTE's Division Manager Melvin Jennings told The Enterprise that the company would be seeking another rate increase very soon. Jennings said that his office would, within the next couple of weeks, be contacting the cities served to advise them of the pending rate increase request. That request would have to be approved by the Public Utilities Commission before it could be implemented.

City to receive sales tax rebate from state

State Comptroller Bob Bullock has sent payments totaling $34.7 million to Texas cities with the one percent city sales tax.

The amount to be received by the City of Winters is $6,993,07. This amount marks a decrease of almost 17 percent in the amount of sales tax received by the city for the same period of last year.

The payments, the first of 1982 to nearly one thousand cities who collect the tax totaled $1.6 million more than these cities received in January of last year.

Other cities in the area also showed decreases in the amount of sales tax from the previous year. Ballinger showed a decrease of 14 percent, Bronte decreased 100 percent, Colorado City down 7.65 percent. Coleman, however, showed an increase of just over 37 percent.

The city sales taxes are collected along with the state sales tax by merchants and businesses and rebated monthly to the cities in which they are collected by the State Comptroller.

The biggest check this month went to the City of Houston in the amount of $7.4 million and marked an increase of almost 12 percent over the same period last year.

Father of Texas Education

At one time the birthday of Mirabeau B. Lamar, Father of Texas Education, was a state holiday, but time has almost erased him from our memory and January 26 is just another day.

Lamar, second president of The Republic of Texas, indicated in his inaugural address and in a ten thousand word message to congress, December 1838, that the conservative policies of the two preceding years would be abandoned for a more ambitious public program. Only a few of his proposals, however, were actually adopted.

An Act of January 20, 1839, provided that each County should be given three leagues of land for primary schools and that fifty leagues should be set aside for two colleges or universities. A year later a law gave an additional league for each county, one half of the proceeds to be used for the benefit of a county academy and the remainder to be distributed among the common school districts.

Congress also made land grants to several private institutions. Lands were cheap, the surveying was delayed, and many years were to pass before Texas was to have even the semblance of a system of public education; but these foundational laws enacted at Lamar's bequest link his name eternally with the schools of Texas.

Mirabeau B. Lamar offered a marked contrast to most of his contemporaries, who were products of the rough and ready backwoods school. A Georgian by birth, Lamar came to Texas in time to participate in the Revolution. He was immediately recognized for his all-around ability and was chosen Secretary of War during the government ad interim. He was first vice president of the Republic and succeeded Houston to become Texas' second president.

During the trouble between the United States and Mexico following the annexation of Texas, Lamar commanded a contingent of Texas soldiers on the border. He was later United States Minister to Argentina.

To Lamar goes the credit of initiating the free school system. His administration also fostered the first real international commerce and trade in Texas. The Republic experienced serious financial troubles at this time, but, as a whole, the period was one of progress. Lamar waged a vigorous campaign against the Indians in direct opposition to Houston's program. Although he did a number of things that aroused the ire of fellow Texans, he never failed to elicit admiration for his courtly manners, distinguished bearing and education. He died in 1859.

In a program to promote awareness of Texas history, the Texas Historical Foundation has instituted a historical education program named "The Texas Heritage Project". This committee has the support of the Texas Historical Commission and numerous Texas businesses and institutions.

The Project highlights seven areas: Touring Texas Heritage, Texas Heritage Days, Texas Heritage Exhibits & Presentations, The Hometown Heroes of Texas, Teaching Texas History, Free Enterprisers of Texas and New Texans.

The THP has county chairmen across the state who head the project in each county. The goal is to have every person so steeped in Texas lore that the history and beauty of the Lone Star State can be extolled to each visitor who will arrive in 1986 when Texas celebrates the sesquicentennial.

Area history teachers to be honored at program

Local Texas history teachers will be honored on January 23 by the Runnels County Historical Commission.

This program is in cooperation with a statewide proclamation signed by Gov. William P. Clements, Jr. designating the birthday of Mirabeau B. Lamar, January 26, as the Father of Education Day in Texas.

Certificate of appreciation will be given each history teacher at a program hosted by the Historical Commission at the courthouse on Saturday at 2 p.m. The ceremony will be followed by a social hour.

History teachers in the county to be recognized are: Brent Hollensed, John Rhiddehover, Randy Allen, Susie Campbell, Robert Wilson, Alton Patterson and Edwin Brink, all of Ballinger; Bobby Argo and Ulbaldo Elguea of Miles; Rebecca Airhart of Wingate; Gladys Hoelscher of Olfen; and John G. Key, Susan Mostad, Calvin Steen, Bill Cathey and Patsy Roach, all of Winters.

Rewards, bonuses are taxable income

Taxpayers should include as income on their 1981 federal income tax returns rewards and bonuses paid to them for outstanding work, the Internal Revenue Service says.

Rewards and bonuses include prizes such as a paid vacation trip awarded for attaining sales goals. If the prize or award is in the form of goods or services, its fair market value is the amount the taxpayer must include as income.

If the employer chooses to pay the bonus or award at a future time, it is not taxable until made available to the taxpayer, the IRS says.

If an employer distributes at Christmas or other holiday times turkeys, hams, or other items of nominal worth, the value of these gifts is not taxable. However, if the employer distributes cash, gift certificates or similar items that may be easily exchanged for cash, the value of the gifts is taxable.

Further information is detailed in Publication 525, "Taxable and Nontaxable Income." It is obtainable free by calling the IRS Tax Forms/Information number listed in the telephone directory under U.S. Government.

SSI program requires limit on resources

Knowing when to discuss financial resources with the Social Security Administration is important for those who receive Supplemental Security Income (SSI) checks. The SSI program, which is based on need, has definite resource limits. To be eligible, a single individual must have countable resources of $1500 or less. The resources of a couple, if either or both members are entitled, must be $2250 or less. Resource limits may be slightly higher for those who have been SSI recipients continuously since prior to January, 1974.

Those who receive SSI checks should contact their nearest social security office if cash on hand plus money in a bank account exceeds the limits outlined above. This is true for bank accounts owned individually or with others. Failure to report to the Social Security Administration when total resources reach the allowable limit will result in SSI overpayments.

Resources of parents, spouses, or sponsors of eligible aliens can also affect SSI eligibility. Anyone who receives SSI can get further information by contacting social security.

Defensive driving course saves money

New Texas law requires motorists to be covered by liability insurance.

Motorists who've never been covered may be surprised at the high cost of liability insurance. This cost can be lowered by taking the Defensive Driving Course (DDC).

Administered by the Texas Safety Association (TSA) the Defensive Driving Course was written and produced by the National Safety Council (NSC).

TSA statistics show those who complete the 8-hour DDC are better drivers. The Texas State Board of Insurance allows insurance companies to grant those who complete the course a ten percent reduction in insurance rates.

This ten percent discount applies for three years and can be renewed by taking the course again and is allowed for the principal driver of each family car. The discount applies to policies written by rate-regulated

Blackwell

Ruby (Thompson) Scott of Grand Prairie called her aunt Saturday night to tell her that her sister, Opal (Doodle Thompson) Turner of Santa Cruz, Calif., had called and that she and her husband were alright, but she had not been able to get either one of her children. Opal said they lived in the Old Part of Santa Cruz, Calif., and they did not think that part was in any danger.

Ruby had been trying to get Opal, but when Opal called, she said their telephone had been off and their electricity had been off for two days, so, as soon as the telephone came on she called her to let her hear from them.

Then after Opal called Ruby, Vesta (Sliger) Brownlee of Oregon called Ruby as she had been trying to get Opal and could not get her, so then Ruby called me (Savannah Thompson) so we hate to hear of the terrible loss out there in California but we were glad to know our family was alright, as far as we know now.

Funeral services for Ollie K. Modrall, 86, of Blackwell were at 2 p.m. Monday at the First Baptist Church in Blackwell, with the Rev. Cecil Tackett, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Blackwell Cemetery, directed by McCoy Funeral Home of Sweetwater.

Pallbearers were Kenneth Parker, Charlie Ray, Larry Dewayne, C. R. (Charlie Ray) Guy, Joyce Adams and Walter Sanders.

This was their first time to be in West Texas so they all had a very enjoyable weekend. Even if they did have to leave early after the windstorm blew in, which was a very bad one.

Blackwell had a very bad cold spell to blow in late Tuesday night, and then the Blackwell School dismissed classes early Wednesday morning, due to so many being absent and so many of the teachers were also reported absent all due to sickness, but the weather got better, so they resumed classes Thursday and Friday.

NEWS OF HEALTH

Hay Fever in Winter? No, But The Symptoms Are The Same

It begins with a sneezing fit, then comes stuffiness in the nose, followed by an overall feeling of general misery.

Hay Fever? Not quite, although the symptoms are the same and doctors treat it with the same medication. They call it "perennial rhinitis."

Hay fever—which is misnamed, since it isn't caused by hay and doesn't produce a fever—is known medically as "seasonal allergic rhinitis." It's caused by airborne pollens from weeds, grasses and trees. It occurs at different times of the year depending on what region of the country the allergic person lives in.

People afflicted with perennial rhinitis, on the other hand, are plagued throughout the year by nasal congestion and other hay fever-type symptoms caused by a variety of things, including: house dust and microscopic mites that thrive in house dust, air pollution, fumes, animal dander—minute scales from the skin of pets, such as dogs, cats, and horses—; as well as other harder-to-identify causes.

Many of these conditions exist right in the home. During the winter months, the windows and doors are kept closed, the thermostats are turned up and cats and dogs spend more time indoors. Pet dander accumulates, house dust increases—as well as the mites living

PERENNIAL RHINITIS

Despite intensive research, medical scientists have not yet devised a cure for either perennial rhinitis or hay fever, which together affect more than 15 million Americans. Relief is now available, however. For example: Vancenase, a new prescription medication, which was recently approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. Administered directly into the nose by a nasal inhaler, the medication appears to be the best remedy so far against the debilitating symptoms of perennial and seasonal rhinitis.

There is virtually no known method to avoid permanently the causes of perennial or seasonal rhinitis. That's why sufferers must rely on their doctor's examination and advice and follow faithfully the course of therapy he or she prescribes. Medications prescribed for you must be taken precisely as the doctor has prescribed to achieve a helpful effect. The new medication mentioned earlier has been widely and safely used in many nations around the world for the past ten years.

1/4 cups raisins
2 Tbsp. rum or water
1/4 cup chopped nuts
1/2 teaspoon fresh grated lemon peel

Soften tortillas: wrap in foil and heat in warm oven for 8-10 minutes OR put in plastic bag and microwave on medium power for 2 minutes. Spread butter on one surface of tortillas.

Soak raisins in rum for 15 minutes (or in microwave for 1 minute). Combine raisins and remaining ingredients. Place about 3 tablespoons filling on each tortilla and roll up. Place seam down on buttered baking dish. Brush rolls with some melted butter. Bake at 400°F for 20 minutes. If not golden brown, brush again with butter and broil 6-inches from element for a few minutes. Watch carefully!

Very Best Raisin Recipes Now Available In New Booklet

Chewy and naturally sweet raisins are an all-time favorite ingredient in all kinds of recipes.

The home economists for the California Raisin Industry have gathered together the very best raisin recipes in a new 36-page recipe booklet, "Raisins—Everything Under the Sun" is a collection of 88 family-favorite recipes.

HOT CROSS BUNS is only one of the tasty ideas. For a copy of the recipe booklet, send 25¢ in coin to: Raisins—Everything Under the Sun, California Raisin Advisory Board, Dept. NP, P.O. Box 5172, Eureka, California 93755. United States coins only. No stamps, checks or C.O.D. orders please.

HOT CROSS BUNS
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 package active dry yeast
1/4 cup warm water (110 to 115 degrees)
4 cups flour
1/3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup raisins
1/2 cup candied fruit
2 eggs, well beaten
1 egg yolk diluted with 1 teaspoon water for topping
Lemon icing

Stir down dough, pinch off pieces, and form smooth, rounded balls about 1 1/2" in diameter. Place balls of dough on greased baking sheet about 2" apart. Brush each bun lightly with diluted egg yolk. Snip a 1/2" deep cross in center of each bun with greased scissors. Let buns rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk, about 30 minutes. Bake at 400 degrees for about 8 to 10 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool on wire racks about 5 minutes. Then, with a spoon or the tip of a knife, drizzle icing on cross. Makes 30.

Lemon Icing: Combine 1 cup powdered sugar, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, and 1 teaspoon water; beat until smooth.

Rough Weather Driving Techniques

If you want to be a truly safe driver, you must know the behavior of your car in all situations, particularly under slippery road conditions. Under these circumstances, extra care is essential when cornering, braking and accelerating.

Always allow a little extra time before setting out on a journey in bad weather and always drive at a speed slightly below that which you are certain you can handle the car safely. According to the experts at Saab, the Swedish car company that offers front-wheel-drive cars built and driven in snowy Sweden, you should take extra care if the road is icy or covered with new snow and when the visibility is impaired by falling snow, fog or darkness.

One of the most important skills to develop in order to have more confidence when driving on slippery surfaces is the correct braking technique. Never "slam" on the brakes in a critical situation. Apply the brakes fairly hard—at most so that the wheels lock for an instant—and then ease off (don't take your foot off the brake pedal so that the wheels are almost at the

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

The upcoming San Angelo Stock Show & Rodeo, March 8-14, will be special, because it will be the 50th anniversary, but to thousands of West Texans, it will hold another special memory.

For more than a year now, planning for the celebration has been underway in a small office on the banks of the Concho River. The setting, a rollopt desk, an old grandfather's clock on the wall near a fireplace, has been the office of Harold W. "Brookie" Broome and the headquarters for Southwestern Stockmen's Supply for many years. Broome was the chairman of the 50th anniversary celebration.

Last Tuesday night, January 12, at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet, Brookie was named Citizen of the Year. Accepting the plaque, he said: "San Angelo's been good to me. It continued to be."

Holding the plaque, he walked off the stage and was returning to his seat. Suddenly, he stopped, reached out as though to steady himself, collapsed and died.

This editor has been very close to Brookie since last summer as we worked on plans for the 50th stock show. He hired me to research and write a book commemorating the San Angelo stock show & rodeo history.

That book was written and left my desk for the printers, a week before Brookie died. He okayed the manuscript and was able to see much of it in type.

He had served many years as a director of the San Angelo Stock Show & Rodeo Association and two terms as president. His grandfather was the first president of the organization in 1932. Broome was president of the San Angelo Stock Show & Rodeo Foundation at the time of his death.

Robert Kensing, current president of the Stock Show Association, commented: "There has never been anyone more giving of their time and talent to civic organizations than Brookie. He was that sort of guy, you couldn't help but respect and admire."

In 1967 and 1968 he was chairman of the River Parade Committee for the Miss Wool of America pageant, and he was a member of the pageant board for three years, beginning in 1966. He was chairman of the Board of City Development agricultural committee in 1970 and from 1970 through 1973 was a member of the BCD board of directors.

"Brookie didn't make a big fuss over the things he did," said one of his longtime friends. "He did things more quietly than anyone I know," another said.

It could hardly be said more accurately. Either in person or by phone, on his rollopt desk which he inherited from his grandfather, Brookie dealt with each project one by one, quietly, without fanfare. Whether plugging away year after year in his role as a leader of the San Angelo Stock Show & Rodeo Association or in some other civic role, Brookie always did so without any air of seeking personal glory. He was most dedicated, never shirking his duty.

Broome was, in fact, the most modest of men, soft-spoken and unfailingly good-humored.

From an editorial in the San Angelo Standard Times, the writer put it very well: "To most of West Texans, Brookie Broome is best known for his work with the Stock Show. It is in that vein we will continue to remember him, riding into the arena at each rodeo performance, reining his horse to a stop and tipping his hat to the crowd, wide smile in place. It's a happy memory."

Because of that inspiration, a lifetime for Brookie Broome, the 50th anniversary Stock Show & Rodeo in March, 1982 will be extra special. His horse will enter the arena, without a rider in the memory of Brookie Broome.

Millard Fillmore's wife, Abigail, found no books in the White House after he took office as the 13th president. She set aside a room for a library and got an appropriation of $250 from Congress to buy books.

Now that you've quit smoking, don't start again

Everyone who cares about your health wants you to quit smoking. The Texas Medical Association (TMA) does also. But realistically speaking, quitting isn't the big problem. Staying off cigarettes is.

Out of all the people who manage to go through the trouble, or agony, of quitting, nearly half of them return to smoking within a year. Don't be one of them. Here are some ideas to help you keep off the habit once you've kicked it.

First of all, realize when it is that you really crave a smoke. Is it when you're nervous, or bored, or depressed, or relaxed, or after eating, or instead of eating? Once you realize what your smoking craving relates to, you have some hints on how to deal with those awful moments when you really want to light up.

If your primary need is to hold something, start a hobby that involves the hands, such as needlework, or writing. Or just fiddle with a toothpick. If it's the hand-to-mouth action you crave, be sure to drink loads of water or juice after you quit. And keep low-calorie nibbles such as carrot sticks and gum around.

Avoid situations where you used to smoke until you feel that you can trust yourself. Cocktail parties and coffee get-togethers can be hazardous to your smoking cessation. Spend as much free time as possible in non-smoking environments such as museums, theaters and stores. If necessary, avoid being with people who smoke for a while. Also, avoid alcohol or coffee, or any other substance that you've usually associated with smoking.

Hide all traces of your former smoking self. Get rid of ashtrays, lighters and, of course, cigarettes. Enjoy the fresh smell of your smoke-free home and office.

When the desire to smoke is intense — and it may be for a few months after you quit — take a few deep breaths until the urge passes. If it's still there, call a friend who wants you to stay off cigarettes. You need moral support, and don't be afraid to ask for it. Tell everyone around that you've kicked the habit.

That way lots of people will be rooting for you, giving you the encouragement you need when the going gets a little tougher than usual.

Reward yourself for your achievement. After all, you've exercised a lot of will-power. So do something special with the money you've saved from not buying cigarettes. Give yourself a "reward day" every month to look forward to.

If you do happen to smoke one cigarette, don't take that one transgression to mean that you have relapsed. After all, eating just one cream puff doesn't mean that you haven't lost those 20 pounds.

Two graduate during ASU fall semester

Two Winters graduate students at Angelo State University were among 186 students who were graduated at the end of the 1981 fall semester.

Aylen Betty White received a master of education degree, and Jo Dee Meyer received a bachelor of arts degree.

December graduates may, upon request, participate in spring commencement exercises slated May 14.

If you're a consumer with a complaint there are two ways you can communicate the problem.
 • You can gripe to friends about the injustice you've suffered.
 • You can complain in a way that gets the problem corrected to your satisfaction.

To get action, experts advise putting a complaint in writing. And make sure the complaint goes to the proper person or department.
 Don't send a handwritten note. It might be thrown out because it's too hard to read or doesn't attract the attention of "serious businesspeople."
 Be specific about your complaint. Don't waste words but include all pertinent information.
 A Western Union Mailgram message can help you get action. It has more impact and sense of urgency than a typed letter. It stands out in the mail and usually gets opened first and read.
 Timing is important in resolving consumer problems. You should register your complaint as soon as possible after the problem has occurred. A Mailgram message is transmitted for delivery with the next day's mail and can be sent 24 hours a day, seven days a week.
 Mailgram messages cost as little as $3.90, and for a small additional charge you can ask that a copy of the message be sent to you for your records.
 No matter how you communicate, a well-reasoned complaint can bring you prompt satisfaction. Your facts should help the other side get to the bottom of the situation without your blood pressure going over the top!

Regulations proposed to require calf vaccination

Regulations to require calfhood vaccination for brucellosis control under certain conditions are being proposed by the Texas Animal Health Commission.

"This does not mean a 100 percent mandatory or compulsory vaccination program for all heifer calves," Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, TAHC, said.

Amendments to the Texas brucellosis program now proposed by Commissioners of the TAHC would require official calfhood vaccination of all heifers born after Jan. 1, 1982 which fit into these categories:

1. Heifers being moved into the state;
2. Heifers changing ownership.

The following are exceptions:

Heifers consigned to slaughter, to a quarantined feedlot, to a quarantined pasture, or those S branded and consigned to a special regulated pasture. "Heifers fitting

Expenses for education may be deductible

Expenses for education relating to your current employment may be deductible on your federal tax return.

To qualify, the expenses must meet one of two specific guidelines. Taking the course of study must be mandatory for continuance in your current employment status — for example, a teacher required to take a course to retain a teaching position. If not, the course must be helpful in maintaining or improving skills which are required in your present employment — for instance, a television repairman taking a special course to keep up with the latest changes.

Educational expenses include amounts spent on tuition, books, supplies, laboratory fees, and similar items, and certain travel and transportation costs. Except for reimbursement expenses included in income, travel, and transportation, educational expenses are an itemized deduction and should be listed on Schedule A (Form 1040) as a miscellaneous deduction. Travel, transportation, reimbursement expenses, and all outside salesperson's educational expenses are deducted as an adjustment to income using Form 2106.

Additional information on educational expenses appears in the free IRS Publication 508, "Educational Expenses," available by using the mail-order form in your tax package.

Hominy, so popular in Southern states, got its name from the Indian word tak-hummin, meaning "to grind corn."

Corn is a pretty popular food today, but the ladies of 18th century French Louisiana once staged a "petticoat rebellion" because they felt they had to eat too much of it. They were accustomed to the fancier meals they had back home in France.

The first television panel game show was a six-a-side Spelling Bee, presented by the BBC May 31, 1938.

Blizzard Boys, Girls, shut out Rotan Friday

The win was total. The Winters Blizzards soundly defeated Rotan in basketball action last Friday. The scores were like this: Blizzard Varsity 73, Rotan 52; Girls Varsity 50, Rotan 41; Girls Varsity 21, Rotan 27.

The Blizzard Varsity extended their district record to 3-1 and their season record 16-5.

Leading the way for the Blizzards were Gabe Ibarra 16, Jeff Butts 12, Donnie Daily 11, Jeff McDorman 10, Brett Mikeska 8, Don Kvapil 8, Dwight Hubbard 4, Perry Bedford 2, and Darrel Daily 2.

Rotan stayed close through the first quarter to end the period 17-16 in favor of Winters. In the second quarter however, a devastating press applied by the Blizzards extended their lead to 37-26 at half-time. In the second half the Blizzards coasted to their 73-52 win.

The Girls Varsity posted a 50-41 win over Rotan. The girls scoring was led by Anna Vera and Rosalinda Vera who posted 14 points each.

The junior varsity girls stumped their toe and lost to Rotan by a score of 21-27. The junior girls were led in scoring by Louise Davis and Maggie Campos who both tallied for 6 points each. Friday night the varsity teams go to Anson for the final game in the first half of district play.

The junior varsity teams will be in Miles Thursday through Saturday in the Miles Junior Varsity Tournament.

GOVERNMENTAL ODDITIES

Entertaining Curiosities And Blunders That Have Affected Millions

"Excessive regulations governing land use may account for as much as 20 percent of the price of new and existing homes," says Harry G. Elmstrom, president of the National Association of Realtors.

Government at all levels must share some of the responsibility for rapidly increasing home prices. Elmstrom cites a study conducted by Dr. George Sternlieb at Rutgers University on the relationship of government regulations and housing costs.

The study deals with the impact of government controls on the cost of housing, including growth controls, zoning ordinances, building codes and environmental restrictions.

Excessive government regulations are defined in the study as those regulations "that exceed minimum health, safety and welfare considerations in the provision of housing."

Added costs resulting from such regulations on a three-bedroom house, located on a half-acre lot and priced at $50,000 could exceed $9,800, the study concludes.

"Realtors recognize the need for planning in the development of land," Elmstrom said.

"However, we do not believe such restrictions as sewer hooking moratoriums and no-growth policies are satisfactory responses to community development problems.

"We support reasonable, carefully planned actions that will improve the environment," said Elmstrom. "The net result of higher home values created artificially by a housing shortage is higher property taxes," he said.

Land use controls have been growing at the state and federal levels in recent years, Elmstrom said: Hawaii unveiled the first comprehensive statewide program in 1961, and at least nine states have mandated local planning.

"Realtors don't dispute the need for certain controls," Elmstrom concluded. "However, we feel that a certain balance must be struck between local, state and national interests if young people and first-time homebuyers are ever to get the opportunity to purchase their own homes."
