New Congressman

Under the new Congressional re-districting U.S. Representative Charles Stenholm of Stamford will represent Runnels County in Washington D.C. beginning the first of next year. Congressman Stenholm visited in Winters last Wednesday as the first stop on a swing through this county to meet with residents in the newly added part of his Congressional District.

E. O. Cambern

Cambert to replace Jennings as GTE division manager

E. O. Cambern has been named San Angelo division manager effective April 18, according to W. C. Wells, western area vice president-general manager. He is replacing Melvin Jennings, who was recently named vice president-service.

Cambert, western area operations manager for General Telephone Company in Brownwood since March, 1975, began his career in telephony in 1945 as a cable splicer helper in Sherman. Since then he has held positions including switchboardman, district manager, district commercial manager, and in 1969 was named division manager for the company in Robstown.

A native of Austin, Minnesota, Cambern graduated from high school there. Following graduation from high school he entered the United States Marine Corps and was discharged with the rank of corporal. Cambern attended North Texas Business College in Sherman, completed extension courses from Texas A&M University, attended the Executive Management Development Seminar at the University of Houston and has completed numerous technical and management company sponsored schools.

Active in civic affairs, Cambern served as United Fund Chairman in Robstown, was a director of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce, was president of the Robstown Rotary Club and served with the Robstown Chamber of Commerce. Since living in Brownwood, he has been active with the Comanche Trail Council of the Boy Scouts of America, serving in several capacities including president, and is a member of the Morning Rotary Club.

City renews contract for delinquent tax collection

The Winters City Council, in their regular meeting this week renewed and modified their contract with the Austin firm of McCreary, Healy, and Veselka, Attorneys at Law, specialists in delinquent tax collection.

City Administrator Glenn Brown said the law firm has handled the collection of delinquent taxes for the City of Winters for quite some time for a fee of 15 percent of the amount collected and their performance was very satisfactory.

The modification of the contract concerned beginning date on the contract and changing it from July 1 of each year to May 1 of each year. The reason for the change is that the first delinquent tax notices are mailed just after the first of May and with the present contract becoming effective in July the letters would not be mailed by the collection firm.

In other action, the council approved hiring attorney Mike Willet to represent the city before the Texas Department of Water Resources in the city's application for an amendment for its water certificate. The modification is needed because of the impounding of an additional 200 acre-feet of water in Lake Winters per year.

City Administrator Glenn Brown presented the council with a draft proposal of a Civil Defense plan for the city in the event of a disaster such as a tornado. The plan calls for the utilization of all city departments in the recovery and notification in the event of a disaster. The proposal was approved by the council and more work in this area is being planned.

Brown discussed with the city council the present warning system and pointed out its limitations. He said that to use special warning sirens, similar to those being installed in Abilene and San Angelo, it would cost the city

May 1 deadline for transfer students in ISD

The administration office of Winters Public Schools reminded this week that May 1 is the deadline for filing for transfer with the WISD.

Students who do not live within the Winters Independent School District, and who desire to attend the Winters schools next year, must fill out a transfer form by the deadline date, the school said.

Forms will be sent to transfer students in the Winters schools, the administration said. Extra forms are available at the school business office.

anywhere from $12,000 to $20,000 for each siren and that to get any federal assistance these sirens would have to meet specifications and could even cost more. The council advised Brown to continue to look into the warning system to see what could be done to improve our system without spending a lot of money.

Before closing the meeting the council approved three resolutions designating special weeks in Winters. April 24 is now designated WINTERS-ST. JUDE CHILDREN'S RESEARCH HOSPITAL DAY. The week of April 18 through 25 has been proclaimed "KEEP AMERICA BEAUTIFUL WEEK" in Winters. The Week of April 26 through 30 has been proclaimed "DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION WEEK" in Winters.

NR Hospital now offering RN scholarship

Funds are now being established by North Runnels Hospital for an RN scholarship to be offered to a qualifying applicant.

The scholarship will be toward an associate RN degree at Angelo State University, and will pay $300.00 for each 12-hour semester (Fall and Spring) and $28.00 per hour for the Summer semester.

The applicant must be a high school graduate or equivalent and be able to qualify for entrance into college, and must be a resident of North Runnels County for at least the past 12 months.

The applicant must also be able to pass a physical examination.

Anyone wishing to apply, must be willing to sign a contract with parents, legal guardians or spouse to North Runnels Hospital, Winters, Texas, to work as an RN for two (2) years at full pay upon completion of course and passing of the Register Examination.

In the event the course is not completed, the recipient must repay any portion of the scholarship used. Successful completion of the course, passing of the exam and two year service at North Runnels Hospital in Winters, will be considered as repayment of the scholarship in full. If the applicant refuses to work at North Runnels Hospital for two years after graduation, he/she will be required to repay the scholarship in full.

Applications may be picked up at North Runnels Hospital.

Anyone wishing to contribute money to the fund may do so at the Winters State Bank.

City looks at plans for park at Winters lake

The Winters City Council met Monday with Ken Choffal and Pete Mann of the HDR engineering firm to get a progress report on the construction of Lake Winters and to hear a recommendation from the engineers concerning the construction of a park at the lake proposed to be near a planned boat ramp.

The proposed park area would be on the east side of the new lake and the total area involved would be about 13 to 15 acres.

As presented, the park would feature paved roads, tables and shade trees and could possibly offer electricity and water to the table areas.

The park area would be located next to the boat launch facilities that will be jointly funded by the city and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The consultant told the council that if the park project is accepted, it would cost less to build now because the present contractor could handle the job and not have to move equipment to the job site to move fill dirt from the lake bed to the park area, construct the roads, and clear and grub the park areas.

The council agreed to discuss and consider the proposal and then get back into contact with the consulting engineers.

Mayor Lee Colburn told the council that he felt the city should not do anything less than a complete job for the taxpayers and that the council should seriously look into that proposal.

On the subject of the boat launching ramp, engineer Choffal, told the council that the total cost of the ramp would be about $48,000 with the state contributing $16,000 toward the project.

The top proposal would be for a 30-foot wide boat ramp and an accompanying 40 foot landing dock

Ten Boy Scouts to Order of the Arrow

Ten members of the Winters Boy Scouts were elected to the Order of the Arrow last week-end at a camp-out on the August McWilliams place.

At the camp-out, the scouts worked on their badges for progress in the scouting programs, among the badges were cooking, hiking, and camping skill awards.

An election team composed of Bill Adams, Kyle Wolfe, and David Lumby of the Order of the Arrow KOSO Lodge 330 in Abilene attended the camp-out Saturday night to conduct the Order of the Arrow elections.

The requirements for the Order of the Arrow nomination are: the candidate must be a first class scout; have 15 days and nights of camping; and have attended summer camp for a week.

The Winters troop had 15 members eligible for election, and 10 of the 15 scouts were elected to The Order of the Arrow. The scouts elected will be inducted into the Order of the Arrow on the last night of Summer camp in June.

The scouts attending the camp-out were: Robert Vera, David Childers, Scott Shifflett, Alan Williams, Marty Williams, Scott Pinkerton, Rene Cortez, Mike Holloway, Stephen Patterson, Joe Sanchez, Tony Sanchez, C.J. Young, Michael Ysa, James Carrillio, George Torres, Richard Barnett, Billy Garrett, Jason Young, Dudley Rainey, Dwain Horton, Monty Maxwell, Jimmy Rippley, Richard Lett, Shawn Bean, Butch Wood, Buster Powers, and Gregg Shifflett.

Adults helping with the camp-out were Eddie Childers, Joe Young, Junior Maxwell, and Manuel Vera.

next to the boat ramp. It also would include a 20 space paved parking area along with a paved roadway and trees around the area.

One item seemed to be left out of the plans for the park, the lake, and the boat ramp, and that is a swimming area. Only two areas could possibly offer a safe swimming area and those lack plans for any development.

In making the progress report on the construction of the new lake, the engineers told the city council that the progress at the lake is good with one exception, that of getting a pump motor to be used to pump water from the old lake into the new one. That motor should be here by August.

The lake, after some grading is done, will be able to hold up to one-third of its capacity and by August will be able to hold even more water. The engineers reassured

Winters receives sales tax rebate

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday sent checks totaling $31.8 million to 962 cities as their share of the one-percent city sales tax for April.

"Total payments we have sent to these cities so far this year are running more than 19 percent ahead of last year, which means sales of taxable merchandise in these cities are running that much more than 1981," Bullock said.

The City of Winters is receiving a check totaling $3,785.59 for the period, down about $1,100 from the same period last year, however the amount reflects an increase in the total payments received this year of 21.40 percent over 1981. So far in 1982, Winters has received $41,395.56 compared with the 1981 amount of $34,098.31.

Houston received the biggest check, $7 million, up 29.7 percent from the April 1981 check.

Dallas received $3.8 million compared with $2.7 million last April. San Antonio received $1.6 million, compared with $1.2 million last April.

Bullock also forwarded April rebates to the state's two Metropolitan Transit Authorities. The Houston MTA received $8 million and the San Antonio MTA got $914,000.

The city and MTA sales taxes are collected along with the state sales tax by merchants and businesses and rebated monthly to the cities in which they are collected by the Comptroller.

Around this area Ballinger received a check for $6,381.50; Buffalo Gap $988.67; Coleman $19,481.14; Eden $773.76; and Robert Lee $3,413.24.

Order of the Arrow

Members of the Order of the Arrow of KOSO Lodge 330 of Abilene were in Winters to attend Boy Scout Camp-out and to the council that the new lake will solve a great part of the problem of red water that is caused by the sediment on the bottom of the present lake.

The projected completion time of the project coincides with the planned dedication ceremonies planned by the city.

City again looking for police officer

The Winters Police Department is again looking for a police officer to fill a vacancy created with the resignation of officer Gerald Herridge.

Police Chief L.C. Foster said that Herridge resigned last week to accept a position with the Coleman Police Department.

Herridge had been with the local police force only several months and was part-way through the mandatory certification school.

The resignation of officer Herridge leaves the department with only three officers but, Chief Foster indicated that a replacement would soon be at work in the department.

RRC okays increases for Lone Star Gas

The Railroad Commission has approved increases in some service charges for customers of Lone Star Gas Company in unincorporated areas near 216 Texas cities including Winters.

However, the commission ruled that appliance service, gas light service, air conditioning service, and replacement of yard lines could also be performed by others in addition to the gas company. Therefore, charges for these services should be determined by the competitive market.

The new environs charges allowed by the Commission are identical to those already approved by the respective cities for customers inside their corporate limits.

With the changes, charges for reconects will be $20 and charges for returned checks will be $5.

Cities in our area besides Winters include: Abilene, Robert Lee, Bronte, Talpa, Clyde, Novice, and Paint Rock. Unincorporated areas around 216 Texas cities involving some 15,000 customers are affected by the ruling.

The Railroad Commission has the authority to approve rates for gas service in unincorporated areas of Texas. Proposed gas rates for these areas are examined in light of the company's operating efficiency and the rates that have been approved by the nearby city governments.

Poe's Corner

BY CHARLIE POE

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a three-part series written by Mrs. Charlise Poe, on the Noyes Monument, located on the courthouse lawn in Ballinger.)

In July of 1918 Coppini invited Mr. and Mrs. Noyes and Aileen to come to Chicago to see his progress on the statue. Coppini was worried about getting a good likeness of Charlie because the only pictures available were very poor snapshots taken by friends.

"The Noyes family were guests at our home. They had never been in a large city before and enjoyed being taken around by Miss Tauch, whom they had known since she was a small child when she lived on a ranch close to theirs," Coppini writes.

"Miss Tauch now was a well known sculptress. She was like our daughter and a valuable assistant when not engaged on her own commission."

Finally at the end of their visit, the Noyes accepted Coppini's work. He kept working until he heard the father say, "Please do not touch it anymore, as it is my Charlie now."

The model was cast in bronze at the Florentine Brotherhood Foundry in Chicago. However, the memorial was not to be located on the spot first selected by the father, a mile from the little station of Lightner on the Frisco railroad near Marco.

The Melvin cemetery was also considered, but Noyes feared that in years to come when the Noyes name was only a memory, there would be no one to care for the statue or appreciate the value of the sentiment attached. It was then he accepted Ballinger's invitation to place it on the courthouse lawn.

Noyes had an interest in a Ballinger bank, had long done business in Ballinger, and maintained a home there. Ralph Ervin, president of the bank for many years, was the one who worked closely with Noyes on the project. He was manager of the Noyes estate during his lifetime. He also had information concerning the statue and said that Gus and Lola Noyes erected the monument as a tribute to their son and to all Texas cowboys.

This monument was mounted on a composite base of Texas granite weighing more than fifty tons, which brought the cost up to $22,000. It was unveiled October 25, 1919.

Mr. Coppini was present and delivered an address. He presented a model of the statue to Mrs. Noyes and Aileen, but Gus Noyes was not present. He couldn't bear the renewed grief.

Gus Noyes was born July 1, 1852 in Augusta, Maine, and was about thirty years old when he showed up in Menard, Texas. He had a wagon, a pair of mules, and $1,500. He had some training as an engineer and became interested in the irrigation projects already underway at Menard along the San Saba River.

Noyes bought an interest in the Vaughan Ditch Agricultural Mechanical Company which had been chartered in 1874 at Menard for $50,000. Noyes and his partner had plans to extend the ditch and expand the farming operations but they ran out of money before the project was completed and Noyes went looking for additional financing. He found it from a bank in Ballinger, thus beginning his long business association with that city.

Noyes first had a dam constructed across the river, then he put men to work digging the ditch deeper and cutting across the side of the mountain above town. At times he had as many as one hundred men working, but at the end of two years he had a ditch about eight miles long that would carry the entire flow of the river. He had a ditch that proved a bonanza.

He had over a section of valley land that netted him an average of $20,000 a year for at least thirty years before he sold his interest in it. He raised cotton, corn and oats, but his main money crop was cotton, which made an average of two bales an acre.

Noyes also operated a cotton gin — powered by water from the river — at Menard and worked as many as forty Mexican families on the ditch and his cotton farm.

It was in Menard, too, that Noyes met his wife, Lula Kitchens, daughter of F. M. Kitchens who was also in the irrigation business farther down the river. Kitchens had organized his company in 1884.

Noyes built a home about five miles east of Menard on the river, and the house still stands. With the fortune he made from irrigated cotton, Noyes began acquiring ranch land in Menard, Concho, and McCulloch counties. And sometime after 1901, he moved his family to Concho County near Melvin.

One reason they moved, friends say, is that Mrs. Noyes was allergic to cottonwood trees, and the Menard home on the river had a wealth of these trees which filled the air with lint at certain times of the year.

The Noyes house on the Melvin ranch was a little "box house" — built like a box, with a single wall of 12-inch boards nailed upright. A strip of wood then was nailed over the joints. The inside was painted or wallpapered. The family traveled in a wagon from the ranch to the house in Ballinger which an acquaintance said was worse than the ranch house.

Noyes certainly could have afforded one of the early day automobiles, but traveling on those dirt roads, no better than cattle trails, was difficult and unreliable.

Noyes didn't speak Spanish, only enough to get by, but he had a good relationship with his Mexican ranch hands. Some who worked for him and still live in Melvin speak of him with kindness and respect. They had less respect, however, for some of his foremen.

The Mexicans came to Melvin in 1910-20 when the country was being cleared of brush and turned into a rich cotton farming area.

Melvin at the time was a thriving farm-ranch center with many more stores and enterprises than it has today. But Mexicans could not walk into any store and buy what they wanted. So, Noyes kept supplies at the ranch: food, drugs and tools. The ranch, in fact, was almost self sufficient and even operated its own bakery for the Noyes family and all the hands.

Noyes also operated a store in Melvin, NOYES AND CO., which he bought in 1909. The store had hardware, dry goods, drugs and funeral home, all under one roof. He paid his hands in tokens he issued himself, and the workers redeemed the tokens at the Noyes store. The building later burned.

Another unique arrangement with his ranch hands was carried on by Noyes. He let them raise crops on "all the land you can plow with six mules in six days." He figured that was all the land one man could farm by himself. He and the hands then shared in the crops produced.

Your Just Desserts

This no-bake dessert features double-peanutty flavor, for both the filling and crust are made with peanut butter chips. The chips couldn't be easier to use — simply chop them up and combine them with vanilla wafer crumbs and butter for the crust. Then melt them and blend into that luscious, smooth filling. (They even add a bonus of protein, niacin and riboflavin because they're made from real peanuts!)

FLUFFY FROZEN PEANUT BUTTER PIE

Peanut Butter Crust (below)
1-1/4 cups Reese's Peanut Butter Chips
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
2 cups frozen non-dairy whipped topping, thawed
Chocolate curls (optional)

Prepare Peanut Butter Crust. In top of double boiler over hot water, melt peanut butter chips; cool slightly. In medium mixing bowl, beat cream cheese until smooth; gradually add milk, blending well. Beat in sugar and melted peanut butter chips until smooth; fold in whipped topping. Spoon into prepared crust. Cover; freeze until firm. If desired, decorate with chocolate curls.

PEANUT BUTTER CRUST

3/4 cup Reese's Peanut Butter Chips, chopped
1 cup vanilla wafer or graham cracker crumbs
5 tablespoons butter or margarine

Chop peanut butter chips in blender or food processor, or with nut chopper; in 9-inch pie pan, combine chips and crumbs. Drizzle with melted butter or margarine; mix well. Press onto bottom and up sides of pie pan; freeze.

'War on Drugs' program opposes marijuana use

T-shirts, brochures and bumper stickers comprise a marijuana education program sponsored by the Texas Medical Association Auxiliary.

The project, conducted in cooperation with the state's War on Drugs campaign, carried the theme "Stop Pot!"

The green-and-white T-shirts include that message along with an insignia plant encircled and crossed out in the manner of a traffic sign.

The brochure, entitled "The Dirty Dozen - 12 Things You Need to Know About Marijuana," notes that:

HEY KIDS!

Time is running out! The deadline for registration will soon be over for the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-a-thon on May 8. If there is anyone who has not picked up their entry form, please do so, so that we can make this event bigger than ever.

You may pick up the forms at your school, or come by Smith Drug Company and pick up one there.

Good luck to each and every one of you.

Cystic Fibrosis Chairman,
RANDY SPRINGER

SILAGE SORGHUMS

NK 300

This widely adapted hybrid has excellent standability. An exceptionally high grain-to-forage ratio yields protein content of up to 15%. When planted early, NK 300 silage sorghum can be cut twice. It makes an excellent emergency haylage or bundle feed crop, with yields up to 31 tons/acre.

NK 326

Medium in height and maturity, NK 326 has the potential to produce two cuttings when planted early. It has good salt tolerance. Sweet stalks, heavy foliage and good-sized heads yield plenty of highly palatable feed.

Big, rugged NK 367 is very leafy with strong stalks. It resists Anthracnose and many other leaf diseases. NK 367 is proving to be a superior yielder: tests have revealed yields of 50 tons per acre and more.

WHAT TO DO IF YOUR LIGHTS GO OUT

We'll do our best to keep it from happening, but let's face it. Even with the miracles of modern technology, it sometimes occurs in the best of systems.

So, if your power goes off, we hope you'll help us get it back on as quickly as possible.

HERE'S WHAT YOU SHOULD DO:

1. Check your neighbors. Call them or go outside and see how widespread the outage is.
2. If your house is the only one affected, check your breaker box.
3. If the trouble is not on your side of the meter, call us - your local WTU office - and give us the following information:
 - Your name and address
 - Time of the outage
 - The area affected (as many addresses as possible)

We'll take it from there. Please don't prolong the call with questions that can't be answered. We'll be getting many other calls, depending on how widespread the outage is. And, if you're answered by a recorded message, it means that the dispatcher already has been swamped with calls and that we're working on the problem.

Remember, our goal, as always, is to provide reliable electric service at the lowest practical cost. And if an outage does occur, we aim to restore service without delay. We appreciate your help.

Winters bank, school receive certificates of commendation

The Winters Public Schools and the Winters State Bank have been awarded a Certificate of Commendation from the Sons of the Republic of Texas.

— More than three-fifths of all high school seniors have tried marijuana. In the last five years, the number of teenagers smoking it daily has almost doubled.

— The ingredient that causes the high in marijuana is THC, which tends to collect in fat. Since the brain has abundant fat, THC heads there. It also collects in the liver, lungs, kidneys and glands. The chemical remains long after the buzz has gone away.

— Recent tests show that it may take as much as a month for the body to clear out the THC from only one cigarette. Because the body still has almost half of the dose left after one week, even weekend smokers have it in their bodies all week.

— Marijuana adversely affects the growth and division of all kinds of cells. It may be worse on the lungs than cigarettes. Even light, but regular, smokers show mile lung damage in less than two months. Heavy marijuana smoking narrows the breathing passages. In addition, tests on monkeys indicate that marijuana may damage brain cells permanently.

— In pregnant women who smoke marijuana, THC goes directly to the unborn baby and interferes with protein formation and the growth of new cells the baby needs.

— Regular users often cannot drive well, have difficulty remembering details, show a loss of willpower, have problems concentrating and are paranoid.

The brochure also offers tips to parents in dealing with the situation.

Order blanks for the T-shirts can be obtained from county medical society auxiliaries or from the TMA Auxiliary, 1801 N. Lamar Blvd., Austin 78701. Brochures also can be obtained there. The bumper stickers will be available by May.

Texas and the Texas Heritage Project of the Texas Historical Foundation for regularly flying the Texas Flag.

The certificate was presented by Charlie Poe, Runnels Project Chairman, as a part of the statewide commemoration of San Jacinto Day.

Sam Houston was chosen commander-in-chief of the Texas army after the Texas Declaration of Independence at Washington-on-the-Brazos on March 2, 1836.

On April 21, 1836, Houston, with 700 to 800 men, attacked and defeated the Mexican General Santa Anna and his force of about 1,600 in the battle of San Jacinto. Of great historic effect, this battle led to Texas' independence and its later annexation by the United States.

Services held Tuesday for O. Z. Foreman

Ottie Z. Foreman, 84, of Abilene, died Saturday night at Happy Haven Nursing Home in Abilene.

Services were held at Elliott-Hamil Chapel of Memories. Graveside services were held at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at Crews Cemetery, with the Rev. Joe Gayle, pastor of Lakeside Baptist Church, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Ed Nowell, retired Baptist minister.

He was born June 27, 1897, in Erath County. He was a retired farmer and married Georgia Ina Perkins in 1919 in Comanche County. After her death, he married Lillie Young in 1973 at Ballinger. He moved to Abilene that year. He was a Baptist.

Survivors include three sons, Coleman of Talpa, Wayne of Arlington and Weldon of Snyder; five daughters, Imogene Rutland of Stockdale, Dean Tate of San Angelo, Joyce Yoes of Shelbyville, Tenn., Ilene Canion of Fort Worth, and Twila Nowell of Abilene; a stepson, Allen Young of San Angelo; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Dub McMillon of Ballinger; five brothers, Roscoe of Carlsbad, N.M., Glenn of Brownwood, Ganarah, Jimmy and Thomas, all of Comanche; 23 grandchildren; five step-grandchildren, 15 great-grandchildren and four step-great-grandchildren.

He was predeceased in death by two wives, two sons, two sisters, and a brother.

Services held for former Winters woman

Mary Eldon Mote, 62, of Abilene, died at 8:13 p.m. Sunday at Hendrick Medical Center.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Elliott-Hamil Chapel of Faith, with the Rev. Paul Kenley, pastor of Southwest Park Baptist Church of Abilene, officiating.

Graveside services were held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at Lewisville Cemetery near Denton, directed by Jack Schmitz and Son Funeral Home in Denton.

Born June 14, 1919, in Mount Pleasant, she married Charles Russell Mote Sept. 12, 1938, in Greenville. They moved to Abilene from Winters in 1976. She was a Baptist.

Survivors include her husband; two daughters, Sherry Clark of Anchorage, Alaska, and Brynn Parrott of Houston; her mother, Jewell Kennedy of Sulphur Springs; a sister, Evelyn Sanders of Sulphur Springs; five grandchildren and a great-grandson.

710 acres in Runnels County registered as foreign owned

Three parcels of agricultural land in Runnels County amounting to 710 acres have been registered as foreign owned by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) since a Federal law was passed in 1976.

This total is .1 percent of the agricultural land in the county, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

Foreign ownership in the state has increased only slightly from .5 percent in the first compilation in 1980 to .6 percent

San Jacinto celebration April 24

The annual San Jacinto Day celebration will be held Saturday, April 24 at the San Jacinto Monument, southeast of Houston. San Jacinto Day, April 21, is a Texas Heritage Day which commemorates the Battle of San Jacinto fought in 1836.

A barbecue will begin at 11:30 a.m. on the park grounds followed by formal ceremonies with keynote speaker, U.S. Congressman Jack Fields. The program is sponsored by the Sons and Daughters of the Republic of Texas and the Texas Heritage Project.

The skirmish at San Jacinto, considered one of the most decisive battles of the world, was the concluding military event of the Texas Revolution. The freedom from Mexico the Texans won in this 18-minute battle assured the establishment of the Republic.

The Texas Heritage Project is a committee of the Texas Historical Foundation. For more information about the Foundation and its many programs, contact the Texas Historical Foundation, P.O. Box 12243, Austin, Tx. 78711, 512/472-6784.

A Budget-Balancing Amendment

Year in and year out, in prosperity and in recession, the Federal budget seems to end up in deficit. Spending has exceeded revenues in every year except one since 1960, and the Treasury is forced to make up the difference by borrowing. In 1974, Congress passed a budget act that it thought would impose a sterner discipline on its own spending practices. Eight years later that proposition is still left wanting. Annual deficits have persisted. The Office of Management and Budget now projects a string of deficits and no black ink for five years or more.

Meanwhile, borrowing to finance this year's deficit is driving the Federal debt steadily higher. Within a few weeks the Administration will ask the Congress to raise the statutory ceiling on the debt. Because refusal to do so would stop the Treasury from borrowing the money it must have to pay the government's bills, the Congress will be forced to acquiesce. No one looks forward to voting to raise the debt ceiling, a fact that has brought about increasing support for a budget-balancing constitutional amendment.

The Senate is expected to vote sometime in May on the proposed amendment to the Constitution that would require a balanced Federal budget.

If the Senate sponsors get a two-thirds vote which the Constitution requires for amendments, the matter will come to the House of Representatives. If a two-thirds majority of the House approves, the amendment goes to the states for ratification. Three-fourths of the states, or 38, must ratify it within seven years for it to become part of the Constitution.

The budget-balancing resolution has several provisions. Congress would be directed to draw up a budget for the approaching fiscal year in which total outlays are no greater than total receipts. This section authorizes a deficit budget only if 60 percent of the entire membership of each house of Congress votes to accept one. The Congress and the President are also required to ensure that actual outlays do not exceed the outlays set forth in such statement.

The second section directs that taxes shall not rise more rapidly than the growth of national income unless a majority of the entire membership of each house has approved legislation to do so in separate votes, and such a bill has become law.

Section three states that the Congress may waive the provisions of the article for any fiscal year in which a declaration of war is in effect. The fourth section lays down definitions of "total receipts" and "total outlays" that are meant to avoid circumvention of the amendment by later definitions. The final section says the amendment shall take effect for the second fiscal year beginning after its ratification by 38 states.

The essential argument for a budget amendment is that Congress is incapable of resisting deficit financing without more rigorous discipline than exists now. Those opposed to the amendment say that it is inappropriate and risky to elevate a particular economic policy to the status of constitutional command. I, as well as many other members, support this constitutional amendment because it imposes a discipline the Congress must have.

We simply must get away from budget-busting appropriation bills that finance the government well above our efforts to halt the excessive growth in domestic spending we have witnessed in recent years. Such spending has fueled inflation and high interest rates and destroyed investments for new jobs. We have even risked the interruption of government activities and services. This method of past operations is one of the principal reasons why the growth of government spending is still not under control.

We are long overdue in getting our fiscal house in order. The time has come for us to face the facts and make the tough decisions about the budget process. A constitutional amendment is a step in the right direction. We must see the job through.

Emergency Reactions
How much time do you have to react when you're faced with an emergency traffic situation? Researchers at the University of Southern California studied more than 900 motorcycle accidents to learn that riders, on the average, had less than 1.9 seconds to respond. And, during that 1.9 seconds they had to see the threat, decide how to handle it and carry out their decision properly.

What can you do to be better prepared? The Motorcycle Safety Foundation offers these tips:

- Constantly scan the road up ahead for possible problems. Never let your eyes rest for more than a few seconds on any one spot.
- Maintain a two-second following distance to allow yourself a better view, more maneuvering room and a chance to be seen by others in traffic around you.
- Play a mental game with yourself. Map out, in your head, how you would handle emergency situations that might crop up as you ride.

Time to clean, restock for better fish production

April is the month landowners should start preparing their livestock ponds or small lakes for fish production, according to Carl Smith, Range Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service in Ballinger.

To restock a pond, it is best to start with a clean pond. This can be done by eradicating the existing fish life in a pond with Rotenone, according to label instructions. Ten to fourteen days after Rotenone treatment, a pond is safe to be restocked with fish.

Fish fingerlings will grow faster in ponds that are fertilized to produce beneficial algae, said Smith. This can be accomplished by adding enough commercial fertilizer such as 8-8-2, or an equivalent, to cloud the water to a depth of 14 to 18 inches. It generally takes 100-150 lbs. of fertilizer per surface acre of water to produce a good algae bloom, according to Smith. Fertilizer should be applied in 10-day intervals and 50-75 lb. increments when the water temperature has warmed to 55-60 degrees. It may be necessary to add fertilizer throughout the summer months to maintain the algae bloom until the water cools to 55 degrees in the fall.

Another important benefit from the algae bloom is the suppression of aquatic weed and moss growth in the shallower areas. Water weeds will not grow in water that sunlight cannot penetrate. Beneficial algae blooms in livestock water are not harmful to domestic livestock, Smith said.

Various species of fish fingerlings can be obtained from private landowners. Assistance with stocking rates, species and other technical information can be obtained by contacting the SCS office in Ballinger. SCS also has lists of commercial fish producers throughout the State.

Senator Tower now accepting service academy applications

Senator John Tower (R-Texas) has announced that he is accepting applications from Texas students who wish to compete for his nomination to one of the nation's four service academies.

Potential candidates must be between the ages of 17 and 22, unmarried, and a United States citizen. Students should specify whether they wish to attend the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colorado; the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, New York; The Military Academy at West Point, New York; or the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland.

"The four service academies offer cadets and midshipmen outstanding educational opportunities," Tower said in making the announcement. "In return, these young men and women commit themselves to serving as leaders in guaranteeing our national security."

Applications may be obtained from Tower's Dallas office at 1100 Commerce, Dallas, Texas 75242. The deadline for completing the application is December 15.

Now serving his fourth term, Tower is chairman of the Armed Services Committee and also is a member of the Budget Committee and the Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee. He is also chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee and now ranks second in seniority among GOP members of the senate.

WHAT'S IN IT FOR YOU?

Services ranging from medical and dental care to summer camp experiences; providing fuel, food, clothing and shelter to the destitute; and individual and emergency services are just some of the good works that a group of men and women who have dedicated their lives, their skills and service completely to God are bringing to the people in their communities. The group is The Salvation Army and its credo is to give aid wherever and whenever the need is apparent without distinction as to race or creed, and without demand for adherence, simulated or real, to the group's religious principles.

Other services offered by The Salvation Army include special day care centers for children, "Education for Parenthood" projects, family service bureaus, prisoner programs, summer camps, emergency disaster service, missing persons bureaus, hospital visitation services known as "The League of Mercy" and community center programs.

If you have a desire to work for others or if you are ever in need of physical necessities or spiritual guidance, a Salvation Army center can be of help. For free leaflets, write to: The Salvation Army National Headquarters, 799 Bloomfield Avenue, Verona, NJ 07044.

Who is ??? JIM PARKER

Farming is a part of everyday life of the Parker family and Jim is deeply concerned with the situation the farmers of our district face on a daily basis. Jim is also co-owner of a business in Eastland and a manufacturing concern in DeLeon. Jim realizes the plight of the small businessman and the benefits business and commerce brings to our local communities. Jim feels that State government must be run much as any sound and efficient business.

Jim has been married for 20 years to the former Martha Wade Hamrick of Comanche. Jim and Martha are the parents of Shane Parker, age 19 and a student at Ranger Junior College, and Kent Parker, age 17 and a student of DeLeon High School. Jim and Martha are members of the Baptist Church and make their home on a farm 2 miles south of DeLeon. Jim and Martha are well acquainted with the many problems, moral, economic and otherwise, encountered in rearing children in today's complex society. Jim can, because of his family background, offer maturity and good judgment in dealing with education, economic reality and social problems of our time. Jim and Martha firmly believe the family unit has been our strength in the past and is our best hope for the future.

Museums' hat display 'brought back memories'

Many attractive and varied color hats were displayed at the Z. I. Hale Museum open house on Sunday.

Memories were stirred as visitors recognized types of hats they had worn to weddings, church, social functions and football games.

The Minnie Beliz collection included several flower covered hats and a number of tailored ones.

The Myra Dorsett collection featured the small, close-fitting hat, either in straw or felt, and several of the sailor type.

Both the Frances Campbell and the Mildred Gardner displays included the more formal type hats with tall crowns and brims, either of straw or felt. Mildred's more modern football cap created a lot of interest.

Dickie Lloyd chose to wear a tall brim, flower covered hat as they visited the museum.

Included in Charlsie Poe's collection was a Paris creation bought by Jeannine Poe when she visited France in 1952. Others were several tailored felts, and pill box types.

A Sunday bonnet of black with white fluted trim vied for attention among the hats. It was worn by Mrs. H. J. Butts more than 40 years ago.

The next open house at the museum will be held May 16, with the theme, 'Heritage Entertainment', which includes everything from favorite toys to horse shoe pitching.

Bethany SS Class met in fellowship hall

The Bethany Sunday School Class met recently in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Nina Bedford and Mrs. Ethel Mae Clark.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Myrtle Duncan and the opening prayer was given by Mrs. Nina Bedford. Members answered roll call with their favorite Bible verse. Committee reports were given by chairmen of each committee.

Mrs. Nina Bedford gave the devotional, "How to Live With Your Prayer Life".

Refreshments were served to Mes. Tina Million, Omega Priddy, Nina Bedford, Hortell McCaughan, Ethel Mae Clark, Lucille Tierce, Myra Dorsett, Myrtle Duncan, Billie Whitlow, Louise Waggoner, and Lorene Moreland.

"Wheels for Life" seeks Bike-a-thon sponsors

Riders for the April 24 St. Jude Children's Research Hospital "Wheels for Life" Bike-a-thon are now asking Winters citizens to back their efforts by pledging a contribution for each mile they ride.

"The money our riders earn will help continue St. Jude's life-saving study of childhood cancer that has become so important to children all over the world," said Bike-a-thon chairman Bill Hooten.

"We'll be showing that we care about children by helping this cause," Hooten said. "Please support your rider with a generous pledge, and then get the funds to us as soon as the ride is over."

"Each rider will be given a lap card when they register at City Park on April 24," Hooten said. "Everytime they ride through the check points, we'll initial the card. At the end of the ride, we'll check it and sign it to show that the rider earned what the sponsor pledged. Riders will then return to the sponsors to collect the pledge."

"We'll also be giving them a hospital bracelet saying 'I'm riding for Terry' to wear during the ride. I'm sure most of them will still be wearing them while they make their collections." Terry is a St. Jude patient who represents all victims of the illnesses under study at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

Several local merchants have pledged valuable prizes to those who raise the most money. To the boy or girl who raises the most money, the grand prize will be a $50.00 Savings Bond from Winters State Bank and a $50.00 Gift Certificate from O'Neal's General Store. For the boy, 13 and over, who raises the most money Western Auto will give a new ball glove, and for the girl, 13 and over, Bahlman Jewelers will give an add-a-head necklace. For the boy and girl, 12 and under, that raises the most money, Winn's will be giving an outdoor fun fountain. The 5 boys or girls who ride the most miles in the 3 hour period, will receive a free meal compliments of the Burger Hut. Also, every boy or girl who raises $25.00 will receive from St. Jude's a T-shirt that says, "I rode in the St. Jude Bike-a-thon." If there are those who raise $75.00, they will receive a vinyl wind breaker that says the same thing.

The ride starts at the City Park at 9 a.m. and lasts until noon.

"If you have not been asked to sponsor a rider, please call 754-4182 and we'll get one to call on you," Hooten said. Riders can still obtain sponsor/registration forms at Winters State Bank, Western Auto, Bahlman Jewelers, the elementary school office, Winn's, North Main Church of Christ, First Baptist Church, St. John's Lutheran Church, and First United Methodist Church.

TDA commended for pesticide enforcement

The Texas Department of Agriculture received a final assessment of "excellent" from the Environmental Protection Agency for its pesticide enforcement and procedures for certifying applicators in fiscal 1981.

"Some groups in the state have criticized the Department on our enforcement and applicator certification, and we are pleased by this report," Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said. "To have safe use of pesticides in the state, we have been very conscientious in enforcing EPA regulations as well as Texas laws through our testing and investigations."

Since 1979, the EPA and the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) have been working under a grand agreement, primarily initiated to eliminate duplication of duties.

In the fiscal year 1981 the Department made inspections on 646 formal complaints of possible pesticide or herbicide damage. Of these 154 were valid.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Every spring, many new high school graduates ready to enter the job market find they do not have the training for available jobs. In fact, lack of skills in an increasingly technical world is one of the major reasons for high unemployment rates among young people.

But vocational education can provide a path around this barrier, and I am gratified at the progress Texas has made in these programs. In 1981, vocational education in Texas served nearly 900,000 persons, 75 percent more than in 1970. These training programs were offered in 950 school districts, 48 community college districts, and through the Texas State Institute System.

Participants learned occupational skills to use in business, industry, and homemaking. Additionally, career exploratory programs were offered for junior and senior high school students to help them understand where employment opportunities lie, and to help them make realistic career choices.

Most of the Texas vocational programs with which I am familiar are structured in close cooperation with local business and industry -- enabling young people to train for jobs that will be readily available in their areas. This cooperative relationship pays off in two ways -- putting young people to work and providing needed skilled labor to the local economy.

The results are gratifying. Some 28 percent of vocational education graduates pursue additional education and training. Of the 63 percent who make themselves immediately available for employment, seven of 10 find jobs in a career field related to their training.

The unemployment rate among vocational education graduates in 1981 was just over 7 percent -- one third the unemployment rate for other people and adults in the same age brackets.

The cost of these programs, compared to the benefits received, is small. Texas spent nearly $350 million on its vocational - technical programs in fiscal year 1981, for an overall average per pupil cost of $372.

But these statistics are less meaningful than the plight of the individual young person who looks at pages and pages of classified ads for jobs, and can't find a single one for which he qualifies.

Our world is becoming increasingly complex. We have developed technology which depends more and more on skilled labor. This trend will continue. In fact, it must if we are to improve our productivity enough to compete aggressively on the world market.

We cannot afford to waste our human resources. We must improve our ability to match willing workers with productive careers.

The federal government has a long history of support for local vocational programs. As with many other educational programs, the Administration proposes a new block grant program for vocational and adult education. This action is intended to reduce paperwork and administrative burdens, and make it possible for state and local governments to target money to the most pressing local needs.

In this way, we can continue the federal-local partnership which built these fine training programs, even though our budget crisis requires us to cut overall federal spending levels.

Finally I would encourage local districts and communities to look at the large return for each dollar spent in vocational education, and to make the necessary investment in the future of their young people and their economies.

Springtime always inspires conversation on the subject of weather. Consequently, in West Texas the last several weeks, we have experienced a lot of weather.

Forecasters did not predict the rain we received in San Angelo and Abilene last week, however, I knew it was coming. Being a pipe smoker, I noticed my tobacco became moist and would not stay lit. That happens before a rain. We received over one-half inch.

My grandfather was also a pipe smoker. He used to say when the aroma of the tobacco was stronger and lasted longer, a storm was coming.

Looking back to last week, storms danced all over West Texas. People lost their lives from lightning. A Mexican national was hit by a bolt of lightning on a farm south of San Angelo last Wednesday.

April showers are supposed to bring May flowers, so goes the song, by April always brings fears of tornados in our area, too. One hit Winters a few weeks back and evidence of its path is still obvious. Other areas of the state have been torn apart by funnel clouds. They are all bad news, but when lives are lost, it is always worse.

On the good news side of the picture, spring is apparent in just about every direction these days. Although moisture has been short, enough has come to get weeds and grass up and growing. Of course, ranchers always need more rain even the day after receiving ten inches — that's part of their nature.

From firsthand observation, I can testify that terrain from Junction up to Ballinger and Abilene and around to Sterling City and San Angelo could use more rain. Already, daytime temperatures have hit 98 and 100 degrees, and the ground dries out fast at that rate. The Eden and Brady areas received more snow last winter and it shows as spring blooms.

Planting from family gardens to fields of maize has been in full swing for several weeks now. Many followed generations of prophecy and set their gardens out on Good Friday of Easter weekend.

Farmers in the Wall, Miles and Rowena areas were busy a week earlier putting seed underground. Sprinkled about one could see beautiful crops of wheat and oats maturing.

Visiting with friends on the Alfred Multer farm at Olfen, that's behind Rowena, there was talk of who would get their planting done first. The race was on between Multer, Benny Schroeder of Lowake, or Benny Willberg of Paint Rock.

The answer is yes to the folks who call me annually about the Bluebonnets. Every year I receive several phone calls concerning the blooming of Bluebonnets and other wildflowers in the Texas Hill Country. Even if I am a native of those parts, I am no authority on the subject and took the things for granted half my life. Nonetheless, if you're planning a weekend outing to view the flower trails, the next few weeks will be prime time for that. I would suggest the Mason, Llano, and Fredericksburg areas. Oh, don't pack a picnic lunch — there are too many good places to eat down that way which you will want to try!

Speaking of flowers and lore, here's another one: The scent of flowers is more perceptible prior to a shower, the air being damp.

Hold your temper, your rain is coming.

TAHC launches statewide brucellosis control program

Commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission are launching a statewide program aimed at encouraging livestock producers to vaccinate their animals for brucellosis control.

"Vaccination is a key element of the Texas brucellosis control program. We can build up immunity in the Texas cattle population by vaccination of all eligible heifers," John Armstrong, Kingsville, chairman, Texas Animal Health Commission, explained.

He noted these are other advantages for vaccination:

1. Vaccinated cattle can move more freely in accordance with brucellosis regulations;

2. Vaccinated cattle have more value.

"Financial assistance is available. You should contact your veterinarian or area Texas Animal Health Commission office for details," Armstrong said.

The program to encourage vaccination is a part of the ongoing efforts of the TAHC in this phase of the Texas brucellosis program. Recently, a statewide committee, made up of several livestock organizations, recommended that the TAHC pursue an educational program among livestock producers and the general public informing them of the economic advantages of vaccination.

"In the past three years, Texas cowmen have shown their awareness of the need for vaccination for brucellosis. In 1979, about 20 percent of the eligible calf crop in Texas was vaccinated; in 1981, this figure had increased to almost 32 percent. This is a good record, but we need to improve it," Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, TAHC, said. He said a 70 percent level of vaccination of eligible calves is needed to significantly reduce the disease.

Vaccination ages for heifers as official vaccines are 4 to 12 months of age. A one-time vaccination is normally sufficient for the life of the animal. Bulls are not vaccinated. The reduced dosage of Strain 19 vaccine is recommended.

"Although vaccination alone is not the single answer to the Texas' brucellosis problem, it is the single most important thing cowmen can do now in their efforts to control brucellosis," Armstrong said.

Farm profits to continue trend

1981 sales from Texas agriculture products are estimated at $9.5 billion, up about a half billion dollars from the previous year. However, net profits of farmers and ranchers continue a downward trend.

"Farmers and ranchers had a lot to sell in 1981 but they had less income due to low farm prices and rising production costs," pointed out Dr. Carl Anderson, an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System.

Yet the total impact of agricultural sales bolstered the Texas economy to the tune of some $35 billion. Farm and ranch assets stood at some $80 billion, or an average investment of $430,000 per farm (based on some 186,000 farms in Texas). Of course, many Texas farmers and ranchers have more than a million dollars invested in their operations, says Anderson.

As far as last year's agricultural sales are concerned, the economist points out that the livestock sector, including dairy and poultry production, contributed about $4.9 billion while sales from agriculturally related sources such as timber, horses, fish farming, and hunting leases added another $600 million.

Beef cattle receipts alone totaled about $3.5 billion to lead all commodities, notes Anderson. Cotton sales topped all crops at $1.3 billion even with the depressed prices.

Poultry and dairy product sales were about even at $565 million and $570 million, respectively, while sheep and goats brought in $146 million and swine, $116 million.

Following cotton in crop receipts were wheat, $517 million; grain sorghum, $410 million; other feedgrains, $367 million; vegetables, $298 million; rice $290 million; and nursery plants, $225 million. Peanut sales totaled $115 million while forage sales stood at $114 million. Other crop sales included soybeans, $70 million; citrus, $65 million; pecans, $45 million; and peaches, plums and other fruit, $19 million.

Texas continues to rank third in total cash receipts from agricultural products behind California and Iowa, says Anderson. However, Texas leads the nation in sales of cattle and calves, cotton, grain sorghum, sheep and wool, goats and mohair, cabbage and spinach.

As far as the total agricultural industry in Texas is concerned, about 20 percent of the state's population is involved in agriculture in some way, from production to marketing and retailing of food and fiber products. Thus agriculture continues to have a strong base in Texas even though less than three percent of the people actually live on farms and ranches, notes the economist.

Top farm leaders to support Brown

AUSTIN—Texas farmers, ranchers and agricultural leaders are working to keep Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown on the job. Here's a sample of what a few of them are saying about Commissioner Brown:

"Reagan Brown has been on the job for Texas agriculture for 32 years as county extension agent, community builder and Texas Commissioner of Agriculture," said Carl King, Dimmitt corn grower and president of the Texas Corn Growers Association. "He is one of the finest spokesmen for agriculture in the nation, and has constantly worked to develop new markets for Texas farm and ranch products."

"Today's economy demands an agriculture commissioner who spends our tax dollars wisely, and who gets the job done right," according to Lamar Golding, publisher of the Texas Farm and Ranch Journal. "Reagan Brown has cut excess spending, increased services, beat the Medfly, and even managed to return $1,400,000 in tax money to the state Treasury. He has built the finest Department of Agriculture in the nation."

Ray Nolen, executive director of the Texas Grain and Feed Association, said, "Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has gained the support of some of the most respected agricultural and business groups in the state. Commissioner Brown stands for free enterprise and good government, and I commend him for his work for the farmers and ranchers of Texas."

Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has received virtual across-the-board support from knowledgeable farm and ranch leaders throughout the state, including those in the wheat, cotton, livestock, grain sorghum, soybean, corn, citrus, vegetable, and poultry industries.

Brown's reelection campaign has been endorsed by Rep. E. "Kika" de la Garza, chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture, who said, "Reagan Brown is one of the most effective spokesmen for agriculture in the nation." Former Cong. Bob Poage, who chaired the House Ag Committee longer than any other person, also endorses Brown, as do Rep. Leroy Weiting and Sen. Bill Sarpalus.

Miss Emma M. Nutt broke the male monopoly on telephone company jobs when she was hired as an operator for the Telephone Dispatch Company in Boston on September 1, 1878.

Area IV Young Farmers officers hold meeting in Buffalo Gap

The Area IV Young Farmers of Texas officers met in Buffalo Gap on Tuesday, April 13. Those present from the Winters Chapter were Scotty Belew, State President; Michael Deike, Past Area IV President; Dale Dugan, Bob Prewit, and Gary Jacob.

Several topics were discussed and plans finalized. The Munday Chapter will host the Area IV Field Day in June and the Miles Chapter will host the Area IV Convention in September.

The officers decided to use welded horseshoe cowboys for centerpieces and mugs as favors for table decorations that Area IV is sponsoring at one of the meal functions at the National Young Farmer Institute to be held in December in San Antonio.

Good turnout for '900' pistol match

Thirteen shooters enjoyed the April "900" pistol match held this past Saturday. Some very good scores were posted despite the unfavorable wind conditions.

Join the coupon campaign. Send in for refunds, advises Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist.

In 1980, the average household sent in for five refunds as compared to four in 1977. Families with an average income of $15,000-$25,000 were the most frequent participants, she says.

McCormack is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Dawson McGuffin posted an 827 to secure first place in the match. For second place M. Wagner tallied a 781, Van Whittenburg posted a 760 for third place in the match.

The shoot scheduled for May will probably include some international type slow pistol courses.

Persons interested in competing are cordially invited to do so by contacting Jane Spill.

With marriage rates increasing steadily, more wedding gowns, bridesmaid dresses and mother-of-the-bride dresses are homesewn, so check sewing catalogues for bridal fashions, says alma Fonseca, a clothing specialist.

Easy-To-Fix Party Foods

There's nothing more pleasing than a lovely buffet filled with delectable make-ahead treats. Pretty party foods need not be difficult—a few fresh flowers or a fluffy coconut topping lift old favorites and easy new recipes into starring roles.

PECAN SANDIE TORTE

- One 8-inch cake
- 2 1/2 cups coarse pecan sandie cookie crumbs
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 6 large eggs, separated
- 1/3 cup water
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 1 teaspoon almond extract
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 1/2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin (1/2 packet)
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 3 tablespoons powdered sugar
- 2 teaspoons grated orange peel

Stir together pecan sandie crumbs and baking powder. In medium mixing bowl, beat egg yolks, water, vanilla extract and almond extract until frothy. Add 1/2 cup sugar and beat until thick and lemon colored. Pour egg yolk mixture over crumbs; blend gently. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually add 1/4 cup sugar and beat until stiff, but not dry, peaks form. Fold egg whites into batter. Pour or spoon mixture into 2 greased and waxpaper lined 8-inch round pans.

Bake in preheated 350°F oven 30 to 35 minutes. Cool cakes in pans 15 minutes. Remove from pans; peel wax paper off layers. Split cooled layers in half.

In small saucepan, sprinkle gelatin over water. Let stand 5 minutes. Cook over medium heat until gelatin mixture dissolves and is very hot. Cool to room temperature. Combine cooled mixture with whipping cream and beat until stiff. Stir in powdered sugar and orange peel. Spread 1/4 of whipped cream mixture on each layer and on top. Store in refrigerator until ready to serve. Garnish top with coarse pecan sandie crumbs if desired.
