BRONTE, TEXAS, AUGUST 27, 1948

Second Primary Tomorrow

The second primary in the Democratic elections in Texas will be held tomorrow, Saturday, August 28. Candidates have been very busy the past week making final pleas for votes in tomorrow's runoff.

The only race of state-wide interest is that between Lyndon Johnson and Coke Stevenson for the United States Senate post now held by W. Lee O'Daniel. Both candidates have been stumping the state, making addresses direct to the people and by radio, and using newspaper advertising to further their campaigns.

Of particular interest to citizens of Bronte is the race for Commissioner of precinct 2. Otis Smith, incumbent who is seeking his first elective term, and Lee Roy Scott are seeking the Pecan Meeting commissioner's job. Both have ads in this issue of The Enterprise.

The growers requested a price of 16c per pound for native pecans. It was pointed out that the prospective crop for this year is the highest in history, with an estimate of 152,000,-000 pounds, and that unless something is done to stabilize the price, the return may be very low to producers. million pounds.

The Department expressed sympathy for the growers, but gave no indication of what action may be taken. It was emphasized that it is most important for the growers to do more in the way of promotion of their product, which is highly nutritious. Assurance was given that, in any event, the Department of Agriculture will make available for the growers the facilities of its marketing branch.

During the two days of hearings, every angle of the industry was fully explored, including the shelling, R H which was also represented. A fur-0 ther study is presently being made of 0 the problem, and the Department is 1 due to make an announcement of its plans within the next few days.

For example, a label taken from a palm 11:00 a.r. beach suit contains this: "Wool 54 HAYRICK: per cent; Cotton 46 per cent." The fact is that a part of the 54 per cent of wool is actually mohair, though that fact is not indicated on the label. I want the manufacturers to designate the portion that is mohair, as well as the wool and cotton content. A lot of people wear clothing that contains a mohair blend, but never know it. The result is that mohair is not given the credit to which it is en-

OUR SCHOOLS THE BULWARK OF OUR COMMUNITY

It is fitting as good citizens that we occasionally take time out from our busy activities to give thought to our schools. Many of us are prone to take our schools for granted and do not realize what a tremendous part they play in making our community a better place in which to live.

Too few of us also really appreciate the good work done by our teachers and the important part they play in the life of our community. From the teachers who have to "go it alone" in our rural one room school houses to those who staff our fine schools in town, the thanks of the community should go for the fine work they do in molding the lives and characters of our children.

CHARLES and BILL

In fact there are many instances where the influence of good teachers in our schools has been a greater factor in directing our young people toward useful careers than has been the influence of busy parents themselves.

Besides their educational value, what an important part our schools play in the social and cultural life of our community. How drab our existence would be without the many activities that tie in with our schools. Parent Teachers Associations, athletic events, school parties, debates, oratorical contests, school bands and glee clubs, all add to the pleasure of every family in the community.

Why Silent Coke Fled to Washington to Take the Shortest Short Course in History on International Affairs

Reproduced below is the text of an address delivered by Carl Estes, East Texas publisher, Friday night over 20 stations of the Texas State Network in behalf of the candidacy of Lyndon B. Johnson for the United States Senate.

"Good evening, ladies and gentlemen:

"It has been 14 years since I came to you, the people of this state, over a radio network, and I do so at this time from my old house on the banks of a lake here in the country in the pine-clad red hills of East Texas where I am convalescing from a rather extended illness.

"Since my small newspapers in East Texas led the way in endorsing Congressman Lyndon B. Johnson for the United States Senate, literally scores of men and women from the more conservative voting strata have asked me why I — the only Democrat on earth who ever lived in a Republican governor's mansion —Pennsylvania—chose to support Johnson, against Coke Stevenson, who like myself, bears the conservative political label.

"First of all, I am for Lyndon Johnson because he, in my opinion, is the best qualified man for the post he seeks—qualified by virtue of his know-how and, may I add, knowing his way around in Washington where he will continue to serve you and me after January 1st.

"Lyndon Johnson never did a political favor of any kind for me in his entire life.

"Secondly, I support Lyndon Johnson because he knows war—the greatest danger facing all of us at this time. He knows war first hand. This I personally know, for the Commanding Officer under whom he fought in the Pacific, told me this one day: "Commander, you don't like Lyndon Johnson because in civilian life he supported Franklin D. Roosevelt; but I want you to know that he is one of the bravest men that I have ever fought with in my entire life."

"I told the Admiral—who, remember, was a Regular Navy officer and who did not judge his fighting men on their politics—that I didn't care for Commander Johnson politically, but that I along with the multiplied thousands of other service men in Texas—Army, Navy, Air Corps, Marine Corps and Coast Guard—admired and respected any man who had fought and won the Silver Ştar, which comes only to those on the fighting end of a weapon of war.

"When we returned home from the Pacific, I began to study this man Johnson for the first time with an unprejudiced mind and the more I studied him the more I became convinced that this stalwart son of Texas was likewise possessed of those qualities of character and statesmanship which Texas needs in high places in peace time, as in war.

"I challenge any open-minded man or woman of Texas to take Lyndon Johnson's record of the past two years in the Congress of these United States, study it as I have, and find one single weakness or example of evasion, reservation, or cowardice. In my peace-time log book, he won the Silver Star in two Congressional skirmishes where a half-way man who believed in half-way measures would have retreated. I refer specifically to his relentless fight in the Congress against President Harry Truman and his yes men, for the appropriation providing for our 70 group air force, and for Lyndon Johnson's equally courageous and outspoken championing of the Taft-Hartley Law which halted the labor bosses who had all but throttled private industry and enterprise in this state and nation.

"Mind you, the same labor bosses which Lyndon Johnson helped to force into the raiment of Americanism are now down here in free Texas, using Coke Stevneson as a willing whip with which to punish this courageous Congressman at the ballot box.

"If Lyndon Johnson is defeated, every CIO-PAC-AFL labor boss in the country will hail the victory—"Operation Texas"—and the march of decentralized industry to Texas, I warn you, will stop—while Calculatin" Coke calmly lights his pipe.

"I also lay down the proposition, ladies and gentlemen, that the true working man in Texas, once he is in possession of all the facts, will not on August 28th be against Lyndon Johnson and the American way of life, and for the theories of Harry Bridges, John L. Lewis, Henry Wallace, and Vito Marcantonio—or any of the rest of the ragtag and the bobtail of those whose political coat, plainly speaking, ranges in hue from pale pink to blood red.

"Lyndon Johnson, wherever you are tonight, so far as I am concerned, take your peace-time Silver Star from your knapsack and pin it on—you have earned it. When you fought for the Taft-Hartley Law right under the noses of the labor bosses—power-drunk, politically vengeful labor barons of this country—this same threatening crew of industry-wreckers who are lined up, remember, tonight solidly shoulder to shoulder, behind Coke Stevenson—you won it there, Lyndon, so far as I and multiplied thousands of other conservatives and Americans who fought for their country, are concerned. Pin it on, Congressman Johnson, and keep pouring it on them and their silent partner—get that one, folks, he's their silent partner—Coke Sevenson.

"Ladies and gentlemen, I am for Lyndon Johnson on the basis of his experience in dealing with people, especially those in top echelons of government. Many other people must have liked his way of getting things done; otherwise he would not have been chosen as one of the nine men to serve on the all-important Atomic Energy Commission.

"Ask yourself this question: How has Congressman Lyndon Johnson gotten where he is if he was not possessed of character, courage and brains? Open your minds, won't you, as I did mine, and you will discover that this Texas country boy who has fought to keep ajar the door of opportunity for others, fought his way to the top by tugging at his own boot straps. Contrast him with his opponent in this race who for weeks has remained as silent about his stand on the issues in the campaign as a deaf and dumb man at a band concert, but who has the audacity—Coke Stevenson, I am speaking of—to reflect upon the intelligence of every man, woman and teen-age child in this state, by saying that international affairs are not an issue in this campaign.

"Well, what is an issue? So far as Coke Stevenson apparently feels, it is something to shake hands over and trade on in a back room with some labor bosses. Talk about a whispering campaign, ladies and gentlemen, Coke Stevenson is conducting the Granddaddy of 'em all right here in free Texas.

"Stevenson hasn't opened his mouth other than to say, 'Howdy,' 'Please vote for me,' or 'There ain't no international problems confronting us,' since this campaign opened. Who knows WHAT he has been whispering, and to WHOM? I don't, do you? One of the Truman yes men who fought the 70 group Air Force, whispered to him for fifteen minutes in Washington. He said—Coke, I mean—he said he came out able to see Stalin and Molotov doing the bear hug across the Atlantic and he was an Internationalist.

"Well, we, the voters of Texas, are expected, according to Coke, to take him like a political pig-in-a-poke. Well, I won't take Coke in a poke—or anyone else—he wants us to take him and follow his political covered wagon like an East Texas coon hound following a Hopkins County watermelon wagon.

"Me, I'd like to know what's in that covered wagon. What makes it so attractive to the labor bosses of this state? Coke, here he is sitting up there not even holding the reins, while the strangest team in the history of Texas politics is pulling his wagon. On the flank of one mule is the brand of the CIO-PAC-AFL bosses and a lot of us over here in East Texas don't think that one was put on at his goat ranch at Junction, either. Over on the other mule's shoulder is the brand of 'Us Conservatives and Anti-New Dealers.' (Don't forget my residence in the governor's mansion at Harrisburg—and he was a Republican, ladies and gentlemen, and I didn't get there with a New Deal

"Coke doesn't tell us whether he's for or against the Taft-Hartley Law—why, the man hasn't even said till yet whether he's neutral or not. You smoke that in your pipe, Mr. and Mrs. Texas; try as hard as I will, it just won't light in mine.

"What's this man running on? When is he going to make those issues that he said, he alone—oh, no, not you, the mere voter—he was going to do the issue making. When is he going to tell us about it? Why, folks, it's just like kissing a woman in the dark—this Stevenson campaign I mean—he knows what he's doing and stands for, he says, but none of the rest of us do. Don't you think it's time we at least got a look at what we're expected to kiss, politically and senatorially speaking—before we are handcuffed to the bride on August 28th? I do.

"May I remind Coke Stevenson and his hear-nothing, seenothing and say-nothing (out loud) followers, they had better stop, look and listen for the scratching of Joe Stalin's Russian bear before they follow this politically blind old gentleman one step nearer to the Munich of tomorrow.

"Some of my well-meaning friends told me that I should talk with you Texans tonight in dispassionate language, but I ask you in all honesty, when the forces of anti-God are on the march, when the world is smoldering with the ashes of unquenched war, ready at any moment to blaze into flame, how else can anyone speak but plainly and forcefully?

Remember, early in the campaign Coke Stevenson said, and I quote 'The people of Texas are not interested in foreign Let's see about that. On election day he found out that over 700,000 out of the 1,200,000 Texans who voted were vitally interested in foreign affairs-interested to the point that over 700,000 of 'em went to the polls and voted against Coke Stevenson. You smoke that in your pipe and think it over. When he saw the handwriting on the wall, he also saw beside it a vision of his political hide tacked to a Texas barn door. Panic gripped him, so he fled to Washington to take the shortest short course in the history of the world on international affairs. Forty-eight hours was all he considered necessary to find out what he already knew after the votes were counted on July 24th. If you ask me, it was a very, very short, short course about Stevenson's face and how to save it - and the easiest way to do an international about-face and a face-lifting job — before the people of Texas isolated this Isolationist on his goat ranch permanently.

"The day of Silent Cal or Silent Coke in Texas and the nation, for that matter, is past. The time has come to stand up and be counted — counted in the line of free Americanism while there is yet time even tonight, and not under the watchful eye of a commissar in the cold line of slavery and despair

"The choice is yours, Mr. and Mrs. Texas. I have made mine — it is Lyndon B. Johnson for United States Senator from Texas — the man who knows where he stands, doesn't mind telling us, knows where he is going, and what to do when he gets there. I thank you."

Bronte Lions Hear San Angelo Prof

Bronte Lions heard a very interesting discussion on "World Government" at their noon day meeting Wednesday. The talk was made by William H. Taylor, government instructor at San Angelo college. Otis Smith had charge of the program.

Taylor brought out facts that are confronting this country and the world today in living peaceably together. He started his discussion by illustrating how times have changed in the last century and even in the last week at the court house in Robert last 50 years, to show the need for Lee. They were issued to James our country's getting along with the

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Ozona, Texas August 23, 1948

Bronte Enterprise, Bronte, Texas.

Centlemen An alleged writeup of our game yesterday in Bronte, carried in this morning's Standard-Times, inferred that I made some remarks concerning the playing field in Bronte. This is to advise you that absolutely no mention whatsoever was made of the playing field there. The fact is that your field was in fine condition and I did not hear one word of complaint from our players. As I was leaving the newspaper office I made that remark that we have one of the nicest baseball plants in this part of West Texas, and I invited the reporter to next Sunday's game. How this was construed to mean that Bronte does NOT have a fine playing field is beyond me. Although there was no basis for such a statement, I apologize to you. to Spoonts, Lee Roy Scott, and the other boys for such a report appearing in this morning's paper. I assure you that no such thought existed in my mind or in the mind of any of the players.
