Oil Developments at Bronte Looking Better Each Day

Bronte's oil situation was looking brighter all the time at the end of this week, as a potential was run on the Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 R. E. Hickman and found to be exceedingly good. American Republic No. 1 J. A. Percifull, was drilling at 3,550 feet in lime and shale, only

New Street Lights Installed This Week

West Texas Utilities men have been busy this week erecting the new street lights in Bronte. H. A. Springer, manager of the local West Texas Utilities office, stated that they hoped to complete the job this week.

Five new lights are being installed on the main street of Bronte in the first two blocks west of Highway 270. Eight lights will be erected on the U. S. Highway from the block containing the post office and First National Bank down through the block where the Karen-Gay hospital is located. Two lights in each of the alleys behind the buildings on Main Street and three lights on Church Street will be installed.

West Texas Utilities Company signed a contract with the City Council in October and agreed to remove the present lights in the center of Main Street and erect the new system for the privilege of furnishing the city with electricity.

The lights on Main Street are mounted on 26 foot poles and are attached to a 6 foot bracket.

The new lighting system will not only improve the appearance of the town but will eliminate entirely the traffic hazard which has been caused by the center lights used until now.

BRONTE LIONS MEET AND PUT UP CHRISTMAS LIGHTS WEDNESDAY

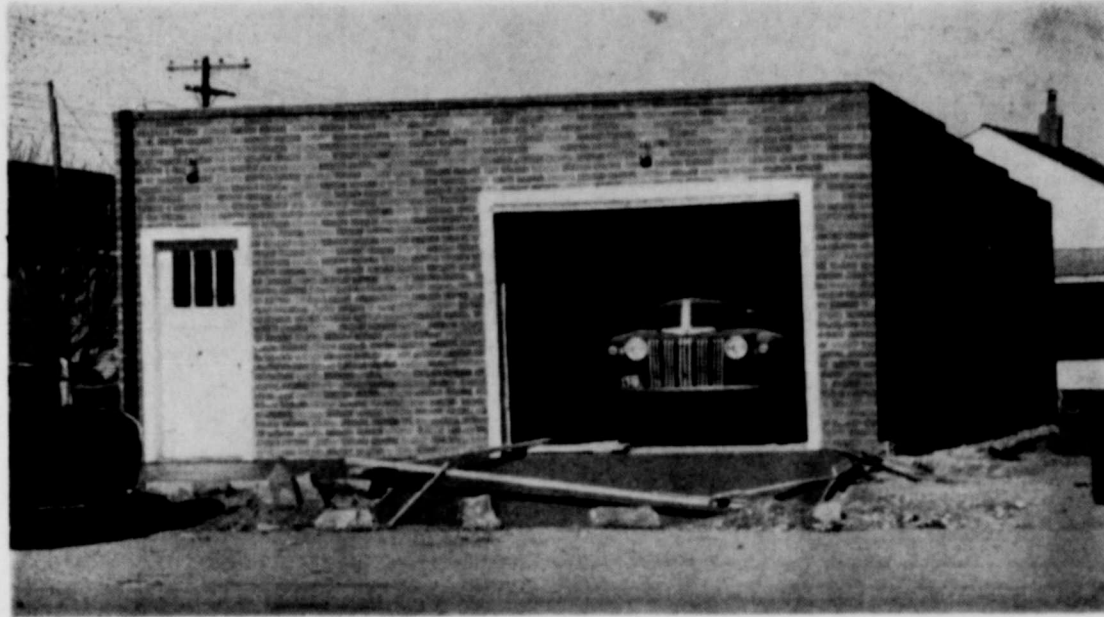

Bronte Lions met in regular session Wednesday at noon. J. T. Henry resigned as secretary of the Lions club and Ben Oglesby was elected secretary.

The club adjourned early in order that members might help in stringing the Christmas lights across Main Street. The work was completed in about an hour.

In addition to 13 members, four visitors were present for the meeting. Three of these visitors were employees of the West Texas Utilities Company and assisted in putting up the lights.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tatum, Rev. V. D. Price and Gail Hufstetler attended a workers conference of the Baptist church in Norton Tuesday night.

New Water Mains Are Being Laid

New three and four inch water lines are being laid in the City of Bronte. Work on the project was begun Monday and it is progressing nicely, according to Cecil Kemp, water commissioner.

New type Transite pipe is being used rather than the conventional galvanized steel variety. This pipe has many advantages over the older type, authorities say.

Water Commissioner Kemp asks anyone who has an alley blocked to move whatever is in it, as the ditch digger will be along within the next few days.

ANNIVERSARY SALE

Pruitt's Store in Bronte is celebrating their third birthday this week. The local firm is carrying a large number of specials Friday and Saturday and invite all their friends and customers to come in and take advantage of the savings offered.

Refreshments will be served by the Pruitts Saturday and they ask that everyone come in to see them on their third birthday whether they buy groceries or not.

KICKAPOO WMU TO MEET DECEMBER 18

The Kickapoo WMU met Saturday, December 4, with Mrs. Arthur Wrinkle teaching the lesson. Next meeting of the club will be December 18 and members are asked to bring candy for the orphans' home. Lesson for the next meeting will be the 19th chapter of John.

Members present for the Saturday meeting were: Meses. Pat Beaver, Arthur Wrinkle, Billy Labenske, Eula Holman, Collie Warner, Cullen Clark, Garland Spencer, Claude Beaver, Ida Warner, Evert Best, Marshall Stephenson, Dink Beaver, Murl Andrews, George Wrinkle, Noah Pruitt, Truman Parker, and Misses Pauline, Ouida, Dean Beaver and Dorothy Scott.

OIL ACTIVITY, SANTA SHARE ATTENTION

It's only another couple weeks until Christmas and Santa Claus may be a little disappointed in Bronte this year because the recent oil developments near town have taken part of the usual attention which is focused on his yearly arrival. For some, they claim Santa arrived a little early this year in the form of oil wells, lease money and what have you. Parking places on the main "drag" have been at a premium for some ten days now and anyone who doesn't carry a legal looking document is a peculiar sight in the downtown area.

Local merchants, however, and others around have not forgotten that Christmas is a mere two weeks away and have their windows beautifully decorated and lighted for the occasion. They report a heavier trade in the last week and are expecting it to increase from now until December 25.

The City Council and Lions, too, have put away their legals long enough to string lights on the main street. The lights belong to the city and were put up by the local Lions. Plans to erect three more strings of lights on the highway were also announced and the lights will probably be put up next week. One local merchant is planning a Christmas Eve drawing event and some residences have already been decorated Christmas fashion.

BIBLE PROGRAM GIVEN BY PROGRESSIVE CLUB

Members of the Progressive club answered the roll call with their favorite quotation from the Bible at their regular meeting last Thursday in the home of Mrs. R. E. Cumbie.

Mrs. Alvin Mauldin gave a discussion of "Prominent Women of the Bible" and Mrs. Charlie Keeney spoke on the connection of art and paintings with the Bible.

Members of the club drew names for the Christmas party which will be given December 16 at the home of Mrs. L. T. Youngblood with Mrs. Will Gideon as joint hostess.

A salad plate was served to about 15 members and guests.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS HAS POT LUCK SUPPER

J. T. Henry's Sunday school class of the First Methodist church had a pot luck supper Tuesday night in the church annex. About 30 persons were present and the group played 42 for entertainment.

Hosting the group were Mr. and Mrs. Pete Gentry, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Millican and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Buford of Jal. New Mexico, visited this week in Bronte with friends and relatives.

Jess Best, of San Angelo, was a Bronte visitor Wednesday.

Mrs. Sammie Lane of San Angelo recently visited here.

Fire threatened the entire north side of the main street of Bronte Thursday morning when a blaze started in Kemp Kleaners and spread throughout the building in a short time. The cleaning establishment was entirely demolished by the blaze, and White Auto Store, to the east of Kemp's, and Lammers Lumber Company, to the west, were damaged by smoke.

The fire started about 9 a. m. in the tumbler of the cleaners and the fumes and cleaning fluid in the establishment made the fire spread rapidly and burn with intense heat. The situation looked extremely bad for awhile, but with the assistance of the fire departments of Robert Lee, Ballinger and San Angelo, the blaze was brought under control about 11 a. m.

Robert Lee was the first out-of-town fire department to arrive at the scene, Ballinger was second and San Angelo arrived in time to take a major part in extinguishing the blaze. Some observers said that had it not been for Bronte's neighbors, the whole block would have been demolished, as Bronte's fire fighting equipment was inadequate to meet the situation.

The building housing the cleaning plant belonged to E. C. Rawlings. He estimated his damage at $3,000, while Kemp said that damage to his equipment would run to $5,000. Estimated damage to clothes in the cleaners, and smoke damage in White Auto and Lammers Lumber will make the cost of the fire exceed $15,000, some observers said.

Stocks from Bronte Jewelry, Keeney's Variety and White Auto Store were moved into the main street of town in order to save as much as possible, if the flames did engulf the buildings housing them. However, before noon everything had been moved back into these establishments and business was going on as usual, except in the cleaning plant, which was a complete loss.

Volunteers were on hand throughout the morning to assist in any way possible in fighting the fire.

B. C. Goodwin, superintendent of the Robert Lee school, served as toastmaster. On the program were tricks of magic furnished by Jack Hodges of the San Angelo club.

Jack Welch of Brownsville, district governor, gave the evening address and presented the charter to T. Farris, president of the newly organized Robert Lee club.

Other officers among the young people are: Vice-president, Bobbie Tomlinson; secretary-treasurer, Less Wilkins, Jr.; recreational chairman, Collen Arrott; refreshment chairman, Marlene Arrott.

Bobbie Tomlinson brought the devotional for the Sunday night meeting and Christmas carols, games and refreshments followed.

The officials of the organization extend an invitation to all young people of the community to meet with them at 7 p. m. in the educational building on Sunday nights.

Other members of the group at present are: Billie Milliken, Le Drew Arrott, Doyle Adair, Marlin McCutchen, Bobby Lasswell, Hattie Jane Snead, Jack Vaughn, Bobby Vaughn, Bernita Muston, Doris Adair, Bobby Clark, and Ben D. Snead.

COOPERATION

The merchant puts a price on his goods;
 The huckster does the same with his foods;
 The doctor says what his bill will be;
 And the lawyer names the price of his fee.
 No wonder it's hard for the farmer to live;
 He sets no price, but takes what they give.
 And then in turn, when he wants to buy,
 He gives what they ask, be it low or high.

Chalk Dust

Senior News: If the seniors start talking baby-talk, it's because they have given so many fairy tales lately in speech. Le Drew and Wayne are back from Chicago, but went to San Angelo instead of coming to school Tuesday. Really, boys, if you intend to graduate, you must come to classes. Seniors are upset because there are to be no examinations for mid-term exams.

Wanda Jean spent the weekend in Fluvanna last weekend. Juanell went with her. Nola has been going with an ex-Bronte high student, Frank White. Jean is worried about Christmas. Will she get a doll? Bobbie was really ready for Le Drew to come home.

Charles says he hasn't been going with anyone. Who does he think he is kidding? Loretha has begun working again on the annual. Joe seems to like English or at least he's taking three English courses.

Royce Dean is the class authority on wild animals. Does Douglas have a Toni? Warren spends his lunch hour (fifteen minutes) at the oil well. Odalia tried to confuse the Civics class by reviewing "Wuthering Heights" but everyone enjoyed her talk on marriage and death.

Waydell is awfully quiet this year. Could it be that he is really going to get out? Cecil Hunt was "absent" last week. Enjoy the vacation?

Junior News: Dorothy Walton wants help! Anyone having information on a Christmas gift that is 36 inches in circumference, weighs 40 pounds and is black with a hole in the middle—please let her in on the secret. Does that sound like a spare tire for her bicycle?

Everyone is glad to have Glenn Phillips back after an illness and a brief spell in the hospital. Marlene modeled her dress in the State dress review Tuesday. Juniors exchanged names and plan to have a Christmas party December 18 with a tree and all the trimmings.

Latest sob story—Toady and Juanell are having trouble. Will they make up in time to exchange those lovely Christmas gifts? More info next week!

Sophomore News: Sophomores drew names for their Christmas party, December 17. Who got who is a deep, dark secret. What's wrong with Tina and Billy Joe? Could Earl Rusk be seen near the Proctor home on Saturday night? Dean and Warren seem to disagree about dividing the time with their new car. Shorty is working nights—oh, well, you can always take up knitting, Juanetta.

Peggy wishes Rowland had his foot out of the cast. Information, Please—Are there any sophomore boys dating senior girls?

Freshman News: What do Felma and Joe Russell find so interesting at the lake? Volley ball girls are very stuck up about beating Water Valley. The Carrolls have a new Ford.

No one would care if they struck oil on the school grounds. At least there would be some excitement when everyone climbed the derrick. Freshman students get to clean the study hall for Mrs. Carroll every day.

Wayne Arrott was very generous to offer his mother's house as a place to have the annual Senior Christmas dinner. Seniors drew names, and of course no one is telling whose name he drew.

The photographer came to retake the annual pictures Tuesday. Many of the students put up sorrowful stories about how their pictures looked too much like them, but only blurred pictures and otherwise were taken over.

The Junior Class is looking forward to a nice Christmas party at the home of Billie Jean Millikin.

Everyone is glad to have Joe Russell back from his trip to Kansas City. He reported a very nice time.

Seems like everyone and his dog attended the Robert Lee game on Thanksgiving Day. Bronte did some very fine playing and showed the Bronte fans that they were hard to beat.

Mrs. Holcombe, were you surprised when the Junior English grades turned out to be above 70?

Toady had a party at his house Thursday night, and everyone had a rip-roaring time.

Lou Ella Stewart was a Bronte visitor over the holidays. Do come back sometime, Lou Ella.

Does Egg Head have a girl at San Angelo named Dorothy?

Wednesday of last week proved to be volley ball night. There was a series of games which included the school girls, school boys, grammar school girls, grammar school boys, college girls, and a duke's mixture of all.

Freshman favorites are Hattie Snead and Bobby Lasswell.

Mr. Gaddy reports that Bronte Hi students are lovesick. Of course, this is only an unconfirmed rumor!

Ouida Fay looks mighty low this week. Jack is gone again.

Looks like Jo Reid has a new FFA ring. Has anyone seen Charles Ray Brown wearing his ring lately?

Did anyone think the school house was on fire this week? Oh, that was only the Freshman girls in the cooking lab.

Is someone telling Joe Russell untruths, Felma?

Bobby Evans and Ginger are getting quite thick. Is this making Joanne Gentry jealous? Never try to keep two women at once, Bobby!

How does Ted like the hospital? Did Bobby Lasswell waste any of that precious gas going to see him?

Felma, is that pick-up built for nine passengers?

Does Gob go to the beauty parlor, or is his beauty really natural?

Jean spent the Thanksgiving Holidays in Andrews with the Jimmy Hambright's.

Bobbie is really staying at home this week. She's only getting sleep so she can stay out late when Le Drew gets home.

Wonder why Juanetta has to come home early? It couldn't be because Shorty has to work, could it?

Notice!!!!

Girls, there are only 28 more shopping days until Leap Year is over. However, there have been a few lucky girls. Two Juniors are engaged, and several more high school girls are going steady. Come on, girls, let's get busy, because you know Leap Year only comes every four years. Here's good luck!

Eighth grade notes: School pictures came in Tuesday and all the girls are carrying pictures of Billy Jack. Robert doesn't think his pictures are any good as they look too much like him. Jimmy Gray's arm is about well. Mr. Flores seems to think he is getting too fat.

SHALL WE DRIVE THEM AWAY?

(An Editorial)

An influx of new residents will be trying to move to Bronte in the next few months if we will let them come into our midst. By "letting them" we mean, if we will make living conditions pleasant enough to "make them" want to move to our town.

Prices are a prime consideration in moving to a new town. Prices for all the commodities of every day use have a great deal to do with the attractiveness of a town. Oil seems to make a difference in prices in lots of "boom" towns, particularly for the commodity of housing.

New residents like to get their money's worth just the same as anyone else, and the fact that they have money to spend doesn't give us the privilege of making them pay more than the commodity is worth.

They are just like anyone else. If they can get more for their money in neighboring towns than they can in Bronte, those towns will reap the benefits of the money that should

The COUNTY AGENT'S CORNER

By Travis B. Hicks

About 80 people, mostly Coke County land owners, gathered at the new home of Harry and Helen Weaver south of Robert Lee, Wednesday, December 1 for a meeting of the Coke County Game Management Association.

The nine-month-old group, organized to increase wildlife in the county, has signed up more than 57 landowners, representing about 178,892 acres, mostly rangelands, said Travis B. Hicks, county agent.

It was hoped Wednesday's meeting would increase interest in the county wildlife program and help in establishment of one of West Texas' largest unified hunting and game management projects.

If ranchmen will carry out good range management practices, wildlife will eventually flourish, said R. E. Callender, extension wildlife specialist. Ranchmen should consider wildlife to be a crop and regulate the kill of game on their land just as they regulate the sale of their livestock, he continued.

He pointed out that about 17,000 Texas landowners are carrying out wildlife conservation practices on 13,500,000 acres in 241 of Texas' 254 counties.

Grady Hill of the San Angelo Standard Times and past president of the Texas Wildlife Federation outlined four proposals his association is backing for passage by the next state legislature.

First is that the Game Commission be given regulatory power to set hunting and fishing seasons and means and methods of taking game and fish. This power now rests with the legislature.

Another proposal is that universal hunting and fishing licenses be issued stay here at home, whether this money is spent for house rent, groceries, dry goods, medicine, gasoline or amusement.

Is Bronte going to make the mistake of some towns where oil has been found? The question facing each of us who has anything to sell these folks: "Are we going to drive them to other towns to live and to spend money that should be used to build a bigger and better Bronte?"

to replace the 17 special licenses sold in the state. Income would be used to finance the wildlife program. Hunting licenses would cost $2, fishing licenses $1.10.

A third proposal is for public hunting and fishing areas. The fourth request is that the Game Commissioner's membership be boosted from six to nine, with the members selected on a geographical basis.

He pointed out that deer have become an important cash crop for landowners in many parts of the state.

Jim White, area game warden, called upon ranchmen to help him keep down illegal killing of game.

E. J. Hughes, soil conservationist, exhibited kinds of grasses found in Coke County and stressed the importance of a good cover of desirable grasses to the increase and flourishing of wildlife.

State Senator Dorsey B. Hardeman said landowners are only life tenants, with a duty to pass on to future generations the blessings of this one. Among these, he said, is wildlife.

After the program host Harry Weaver presented the visitors with all the barbecued venison, beans and other trimmings that they could pile on their plates, as many times as they could come back to the table.

The officers of the Game Management Association are: C. N. Webb, president; J. F. McCabe, vice-president; and Willis Smith, secretary-treasurer. Directors are: Harry Weaver, J. B. Leddy, L. R. Schooler, L. E. Smith, and C. E. Mathers.

Applications may be obtained at the county agent's office for any landowner who wishes to join the Game Management Association.

Dec. 1: B. Watkins, Mrs. Dave Brunson, J. T. Hanna dismissed and Mac Mathis and Douglas Baxter admitted.

Rev. and Mrs. Ed Tatum of San Angelo spent Thanksgiving day with his brother, Fred Tatum and family.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fry attended the ACC homecoming and the ACC-Howard Payne football game Thursday.

Marjorie Percifull, of San Angelo, spent Thanksgiving day and Friday here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Percifull.

Butane Due To Be Short This Winter

By J. Edward Morrow
Of "The Dallas News"

Many people who use butane, a liquefied petroleum gas, for heating their homes face another cold winter.

Information gathered from many sources - oil refiners and other producers of butane, dealers and distributors, the Railroad Commission of Texas and the United States Bureau of Mines - in a survey completed Saturday, all point to a chilling conclusion:

Domestic users with small fuel tanks may not be able to get them refilled as often as needed during the severest weather of January and February.

The reason is simple: Not enough butane storage capacity all along the line - at the producing plants, on the dealers' lots, or on the consumers' premises.

Consumer demands for fuel for heating are five times greater in the winter months than in summer. Demands for butane in cold weather have jumped far ahead of the increases in storage capacity. Furthermore, consumption in the cold months far outstrips the slight rise in production during those months.

On an annual basis, the production of butane is more than enough to fill the demands, but the lack of sufficient storage to stockpile supplies in summer for the winter peak results in a shortage during cold weather.

Despite the fact that natural gas companies extended their lines this year into numerous communities which depended on butane for fuel, the number of butane users in Texas jumped from about 400,000 a year ago to about 410,000 currently.

Average consumption is up, too. In 1947 domestic consumers in Texas used an average of 700 gallons of liquefied gas. This year the demand is running at the rate of about 750 gallons. This indicates the 410,000 consumers will need at least 307,000,000 gallons in 1948, compared with 280,000,000 last year. Some estimates put this year's demand as high as 400,000,000 gallons.

If it weren't for the storage bottleneck in the flow of supplies to meet the peak, winter needs, there would be no shortage. Texas will produce about 735,000,000 gallons of liquefied petroleum gas this year, more than twice as much as the 307,000,000 which the 410,000 domestic consumers will need.

Contributing to the increase per consumer is the fact that butane appliances - ranges, stoves, water heaters and refrigerators - have become more plentiful. Furthermore, there has been an increase in the number of larger and better homes built in outlying and rural areas. Those which have installed butane systems require more fuel to heat than do smaller ones.

The use of butane for domestic purposes has more than doubled in three years. The consumption in 1945 was 20 per cent above that in 1944. The jump in 1946 was 44 per cent above 1945 and the rise in 1947 was 32 per cent over 1946. The gain this year over last year is estimated to reach at least 25 per cent.

The best immediate insurance for the small-tank owner against a recurrence of last winter's shortage is to buy or lease a larger tank.

PLAN SOIL AND WATER CONSERVATION ON FARMS AND RANCHES

Guy Denman, Weldon Fikes, I. M. Austin, and L. E. Wink completed the development of a complete coordinated soil and water conservation plan on their farms and ranches last week. These land owners received assistance from the district with the development of their plans. These plans include (1) protection of range grasses from close grazing, (2) seeding of winter and summer cover crops, such as Abbruzzi rye and Hairy vetch and Madrid sweet clover, (3) protecting crop residue and maintaining on or near the surface of the soil, (4) construction of large ridge type terraces, and (5) construction of road blocks and diversion terraces.

These land owners entered into an agreement with the board of supervisors to treat each acre of land according to its needs to keep it permanently productive and to receive technical assistance from the district in applying and maintaining the practices put on the ground.

B. F. Bridges and son, district co-operators with the Coke County Soil Conservation District, are planning to build three miles of terraces on their ranch five and one-half miles southeast of Bronte as soon as equipment can be located. The terraces are a part of their complete coordinated soil and water conservation plan. Other practices they plan to apply and maintain on their ranch are contour farming, reseeding of native grasses, and protection of crop residue.

W. C. Shamblin, district cooperator and supervisor of the Coke County Soil Conservation District, is constructing a series of small earthen dams on his ranch four miles west of Blackwell. These small dams will be used to impound runoff water from the watershed and slow up the flow of the water thus increasing the intake of water on the rangeland and retarding soil erosion.

Two miles of terrace lines were run last week on Weldon Fikes' farm located 2½ miles southeast of Sanco. Fikes will construct the terraces with his Ford tractor and a disc.

The county has completed construction of five miles of broad base ridge type terraces with the ends closed on L. E. and Finnell Smith's farm located 1 mile west of Edith store.

Mrs. Edna McAulay of Fort Worth visited Thursday and Friday with Mrs. Fewell Sims.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Irwin and children of Hamlin visited Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Keeney last week.
