An entirely new travel service, consolidating the high speed of the modern raidroad train with the mobility of the private automobile, will be inaugurated May 1st by eleven leading Western railroads.

Complete arrangements for this train-auto service, which will place 2000 current model 5-passenger sedans at the disposal of railroad passengers in more than 150 key cities throughout the West, have been made between Railway Extension, Inc., and the following rail lines:

Burlington Lines, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific, Chicago, St Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha, Great Northern, Illinois Central, Northern Pacific, Rock Island Lines, Santa Fe System Lines and Union Pacific Railroad.

Announcement of the new 'trainauto' service was made by Hugh W. Siddall, Chairman of the Trans Continental-Western Passenger Association, on behalf of the participating railroads. #### TEXAS OIL RESERVES MAIN COLLATERAL FOR LIVING OF ONE MILLION TEXANS

Dallas, Texas, February 12 --Texas oil reserves are the main collateral for living of more than one million Texans who get their livelihood from the State's petvoleum industry, Captain J. F. Lucey, Dallas independent oil oper ator, told the Texas Bankers' Association at its East Texas district meeting here Monday morning.

Each year the Texas oil and gas industry spends more than $750,-000,000 in payrolls, lease payments to Texas farmers, taxes and other operating expenses and plant inwestments, Captain Lucey reported. Any industry which spends three-fourths of a BILLION dollars a year in Texas is bound to bring profound economic benefits to the entire state and its citizens, he declared.

"As a matter of fact," the speaker said, "the Texas oil industry has spent altogether about $600,000,000 MORE in Texas than it has ever got back. Official facts show that for every dollar's worth of crude oil produced in Texas in the past fifty years, the oil industry has spent $1.10 here. "Yet the bankers who has supplied the Texas industry with the borrowed capital necessary to carry on our great industrial development are not alarmed by this excess. They know that they have a margin of safety in the grtat underground reserves of recover able oil which constitute a valuable form of collateral. "The men, women and children of Texas making up more than one-sixth of our population who depend upon the petroleum industry for their immediate and future livelihood, also have come to look gin of safety. Oil is the bulwark candles; however Mrs. Sheffy inof their present needs and for their future existence. With oil likely to be found and produced in Texas for the next 100 years or ore, certainly these million Texshould be able to view their with confidence. it is difficult to see how an face the future with any

Pee of assurance when those salfighanviewa internate ar constantly threatening to stifle the normal progress of the oil industry by the imposition of excessive tax burdens upon the production of crude oil. "The human element in the petroleum industry, of course, transcends all economic considerations. The banker can stop lending oilmen money, and the investor can keep his funds in his boot when conditions reach that stage where continued development is made unprofitable and the margin of safety is wiped out by burdensome legislation. But what will happen to that sixth of our population who get their living from oil? I wonder if those who seek constantly to load greater taxes on oil ever stop to consider this. "Underground oil reserves already discovered and yet to be Tound in Texas constitute the main stay of the banker, the investor. the tax collector, and the oil worker and his family. Each has an important stake in the ultimate recovery of oil on a reasonable pro fitable basis. If continued development and production of the State's underground oil reserves are retirded by unsound and unreasonable statutory measures, all must suffer from the resulting economic repercussions.

Taxes on Texas oil already have exceeded normal proportions. In fact, they are the highest of a short description of each. Also any oil state of the nation. Any further increase might not only cause you bankers to call in loans outstanding but also would result in premature abandonment of pro ducing wells with attendant unemployment and serious economic loss to the respective communities and the entire State. When the general public fully understands these facts, there will be less tendency to accept ill-advised and unfounded statements concerning the Texas oil industry by those who would destroy the margin of saiety for a million of our people."
