Easter Seals Money Aids Handicapped

"Do you know a handicapped person who needs help and isn't getting it?" is the question being asked by Bill Allen, who is Coke County's Easter Seal Representative and the person to contact for services from the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas.

The Easter Seal Society offers rehabilitation services to help disabled persons and their families to find and make the most effective use of resources which will be helpful to them in developing their abilities and living more purposeful lives, Allen said.

This is accomplished through direct treatments, services, education, research, and cooperative efforts with all health agencies, private, state and federal. The Easter Seal Society does not duplicate services, but strives to fill all unmet needs of the disabled, he added.

The Texas Easter Seal Society is carrying out its fortieth annual Easter Seal Appeal to finance a program of rehabilitation services for crippled children and adults. The Texas Easter Seal Society helps support 21 treatment facilities where children and adults are treated regardless of ability to pay. Physical therapy and speech and hearing programs are offered to help the disabled make their lives fuller, despite their handicaps.

Allen urged everyone in Coke County to increase his or her support of the Texas Easter Seal Society and its program services to the crippled children and adults.

He added that anyone who could benefit from rehabilitation services should contact him at Robert Lee State Bank to request services from the Easter Seal Society.

AUSTIN, Tex. — Showdown time is near in the Legislature. That's when the time comes for crucial issues of spending and taxation.

Moving at a billion-dollars-a-minute clip, the Senate whipped through a record $5.8 billion 1970-71 appropriations bill which would require a minimum $63.3 million in new taxes.

Of this $5.8 billion budget, $69.7 million is recommended for support of the State Department of Public Safety, an increase of $10.2 million over the current level of spending by that agency. Difference would pay for the hiring of 150 more highway patrolmen, 50 more narcotics agents and 10 additional intelligence agents, as well as $864,638 for an addition to the Homer Garrison Jr. Police Training Academy in Austin.

Despite all its help, the Senate bill contained no funds for the anticipated $220 million teacher-pay-raises, the contemplated $30 million lift in the welfare ceiling, $16.5 million for two new medical schools, $7.5 million for a new dental school or $6 million for planning new colleges.

Include these high-priority items and you are looking at a tax bill a lot closer to $345 million than $63.3 million.

However, House Speaker Gus Mutscher has called for an appropriations bill which will require no new revenue. It would include money for new medical school, dental school and college planning.

Major difference in the bills is in the area of higher education, where the Senate would raise general fund appropriations of 22 senior colleges and universities $106.5 million, public junior colleges $19.3 million.

First hearings on major tax bills are getting under way. Hearing on Gov. Preston Smith's supplemental revenue recommendation, to place a one half of one percent levy on chemical producers and raise the cigarette rate to 15 cents a pack, will be set for mid-April.

House may very well pass its version of the budget next week. It would permit a $240 million increase in general revenue spending without additional taxes. Difference between lean House and fat Senate spending measures must be ironed out in conference committee during the next two months.

Tax battle, which must stir in the House, will see-saw back and forth from House-to-Senate and viceversa. Senators have some revenue ideas of their own.

LEGISLATURE MOVES ON — Senators stole the spotlight from the House by churning out 53 bills to 38 for their colleagues across the rotunda.

What's more, included on the Senate's things-done list were such monumental accomplishments as passage of constitutional amendments to legalize local option sale of liquor-by-the-drink and to raise the water revenue bond ceiling to $3.5 billion to finance the statewide water plan. Senators further approved their $5.8 billion version of the budget and voted for a constitutional amendment to remove the welfare ceiling.

Voting date on the water bond and welfare amendment was set at August 5. Hopefully, several other constitutional amendments, including volunteer fireman's benefits, college student loans, and an increase in the interest rate on constitutional bond funds will be submitted on the same date. To get on the August ballot, measures must be finally passed by the Legislature no later than April 16, due to the 90-day advertising requirements.

West Texas Boys Ranch Areas Defined

SAN ANGELO, TEXAS — Adoption of a plan to redefine geographical regions served by West Texas Boys Ranch, election of two new directors and initial reports on the annual Boys Ranch Roundup highlighted the recent Boys Ranch board meeting, according to Executive director Morris Craig.

According to Craig, the primary area the Ranch serves has been divided into three regions, then sub-divided into districts in order to afford a more cohesive effort on the annual Roundup.

The Roundup will start in April with the eastern region and move westward, climaxing in November.

Murray Faskens, Midland, and Gene Newman, San Angelo, were elected to and installed on the Board of Directors.

According to Dennis Q. Lilly, Board President of Brownfield, the Board also adopted a plan to appoint county leaders for Boys Ranch Activities. These leaders, although not actually members of the Board of Directors, would enjoy similar stature in the operation of the Ranch.

Claude Collins, Jr., chairman of the nominating committee, reported that nominees for next year will be presented during the annual board meeting on May 24.

Ranch superintendent Kenneth Howell told board members that a 66 mm sound and color movie on the Ranch is meeting excellent response, with booking dates being made all over the area. They urged civic clubs and other groups interested in showing the film to contact Ranch headquarters for booking dates.

J. O. Rudd of Robert Lee is a director of West Texas Boys Ranch.
