FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW REGARDING THE PROPOSED NEW COURT HOUSE, REGARDLESS OF YOUR STAND ON THE ISSUE

As per the statement that I made in last week's paper, I will give you the facts concerning this issue.

1st. The commissioners court's position on this matter is strictly unbiased. We desire to conform to the wishes of the majority of qualified voters.

2nd. Coke County can secure a forty-five per cent grant from the PWA in Federal funds, which would leave fifty-five per cent to be furnished by Coke County in the way of a bond issue. To build a court house that would meet the present demands and at the same time consider the future growth of this County, it would take approximately $182,000.00 to build the new structure and furnish the funds. This would necessitate the voting of a $72,000.00 bond issue.

3rd. No matter whether the voters of Coke County desire to build a new Court House or not, the Commissioners court has filed an application with the PWA for a forty-five per cent grant of the proposed costs in order to make these funds available should the voters of this County desire to build a new Court House— the dead line for such application being September 9th, 1938. Since filing this application I have been notified that it was necessary to have the bond issue voted on by October 1st 1938 in order to receive serious consideration by PWA. Further, if the voters of this county desire to build a new Court House, then the Commissioners court will make every effort to obtain an extension of this time, which I think can be accomplished.

4th. To maintain the present court house, it is costing the taxpayers about three cents on the hundred dollar valuation, this money going for repairs and for rent paid out for office space that has to be obtained outside the present court house.

5th. Should this bond issue be voted, the costs to the taxpayers will be approximately twelve cents on the hundred dollar valuation for a forty year period.

6th. This being a matter for the people to decide, I give you hereby all the information with the hope that the Commissioners' court may continue to receive that needed cooperation that you have heretofore given us, which is greatly appreciated. Again let me stress the Commissioners' court at all times refrains from trying to influence the vote of the people but only tries to give you facts that are apt to be voted and then the people may vote on their own sentiment.

Hoping that the above information is of some benefit to you, I beg to remain,

Sincerely,
McNeil Wylie, County Judge
Coke County, Texas.

CITY WATER O.K.

Fred O. Green received an official report, Tuesday, one specimen of water sent to the laboratories of the health department at Austin earlier in the month which says he is very satisfactory. The report read: "Good. No contamination."

Mr. Green explained that our city was chosen by the department to raw since it is not untreated and he says for a small body of untreated, that to be classed "good" means it is really good.

THERE is an old saying that good things come in small packages. That is particularly apt when we pause to consider the nutritive value of sugar in its various forms. For this nutrient is a powerhouse of energy, its value as does three-fourths cup of cooked farina, or one and one-third eggs, or the lean meat of one lamb chop. Sugar is highly concentrated food which burns quickly and completely in the body's furnace. The Sugar Bowl is a Dynamo

It has been said that our present-day civilization could not have reached its present stage of development without the driving force that sugar gives to men. This statement is based on the fact that it is a fuel that furnishes energy quickly and in large quantities, and that it is consumed in quantities... (more text to be added)

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Question from a Reader:... (more text to be added)
I had turned on the gas and the white water danced and played around the old floor. I closed the door and the rain sounded against the windows. It came down in sheets and made me lump like a foal.

I stood outside and waited. I had not been long there when I saw the door open again and the figure of a man appear in the doorway. He was a tall man, very straight, and he had a look of determination about him.

"What's this?" he asked.

I stepped forward and reached out my hand to shake. "I've come to see you, sir," I said. "I've come from your uncle in London."

He looked at me for a moment and then he said, "Well, what do you want?"

I explained about the letter and the message I had received from your uncle. He listened quietly and then he said, "I see. Have a seat, then."

I sat down and we talked for a while. He asked me about my journey and I told him about the journey to London and the voyage home. He listened attentively and then he said, "Well, it seems that your uncle has been quite ill."

I told him about the letter and the message about the illness. He nodded and then he said, "I see. What do you think we should do?"

I explained about the advice and the instructions given in the letter. He listened quietly and then he said, "Well, I think we should do as your uncle instructed."

I agreed and we made plans for the journey. He arranged for a carriage and we left for the journey immediately. We traveled for several days and arrived in London just in time to see your uncle before he passed away.

I told him about the visit and the journey. He listened quietly and then he said, "Well, I'm glad you were able to see your uncle."

I thanked him and we said goodbyes. He smiled and then he said, "Goodbye, then."

I turned and left, feeling relieved and grateful. I had done my best and I knew that I had done what your uncle wanted. I felt a sense of peace and contentment knowing that I had done what was right.

I walked back to the carriage and we continued the journey home. We traveled for several more days and arrived back in my village just in time. I thanked the driver and we said goodbyes. He smiled and then he said, "Goodbye, then.

In the Cause of

THOMAS W. COLE

In the Matter of the Estate of

R. R. COLE

Deceased

Petrov, Texas, County of Coke, State of Texas

Said Administration has terminated; and only he, his wife Daisy Henderson, Louella Henderson and their issue, Jerry B. Terrell, are claiming a forty acre mineral interest; James B. Henderson, an undivided 53-1/3 acre interest; Arthur T. Henderson, an undivided 53-1/3 acre interest; and R. R. Cole, an undivided 53 acre interest.

Plaintiffs further allege that the Defendant, J. R. Dennis, is a person having no right, title, or interest in said mineral interest and is not entitled to a life estate in said land and that the complaint and 48th section of the State of Texas; and

Let it be stated that the original publication of this Citation is the first of a series of periodic publications in the course of giving due notice to them, of the contents and purpose of the said Administration.

Therefore, it is prayed that this Writ of Partition be granted according to law, and that the mineral rights in said land be, and it be declared and adjudged that the said J. R. Dennis be and is entitled to a life estate in said land and that the judgment herein rendered is final and conclusive in all matters concerning the partition and division of said land and interest therein, to be handled in a conservative, efficient, and satisfactory manner and that the said land be handled in a manner that is not being carried for; that there is no one in authority to look after and care for said land and that the said land is property of two individuals who are being deprived of the same.

The mineral rights in said land are owned jointly by the following named parties to this suit in the following proportion:

It is impossible for said land and interest to be equally partitioned, and it is hereby prayed: That the mineral rights in said land be, and the same be determined by the Court for the purpose of renting and paying the taxes thereon and the costs of this suit.

Plaintiffs further allege that a receiver be authorized with full power and authority for the purpose of handling said land and interest.

Defendants, the receiver is that J. R. Dennis be canceled and moved as a cloud from the title, that the Court Adjudge and determine the legal heirs of Robert N. Henderson and Beth Henderson, deceased; that the respective interests of all parties to this suit, both Plaintiffs and Defendants, be adjudged and defined and that immediately upon the filing of this suit, the Receiver be appointed with ample power to protect, operate, manage, control, and sell said property and that commissioners be appointed and that said land be partitioned between the parties as found by the Court to be entitled to the same; but that if it cannot be equally partitioned, then that the heirs and assignees, said land and interest be partitioned according to the respective interest of Plaintiffs and Defendants as defined by the Court.

Hey, you have before said Court, in the above mentioned suit, the following notice, showing how you have executed the same:

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in San Angelo, Texas this the 2nd day of September, A.D. 1938.

William Smith.

District Court, Coke County.

Issued this 2nd day of September A.D. 1938.

William Smith, Clerk.

A Race to Safety

Kathleen’s older sister, putting her head down and bearing the weight of the pack with studied ease, had a keen eye on the distant wolves. She had covered about a mile and knew that the pack was gaining. Meanwhile, the children were safe, hidden behind a clump of bushes. They had reached a field where the brush was thick enough to hide them from the wolves. They had walked the whole distance in the morning, before the sun was up. And now they were ready to help their mother.

Mrs. Stevens gave the credit for the name "changeover" today to a Firestone fireside. This name was probably suggested by the late T. A. Dorgan (Tad), noted sports cartoonist. The name has been used in the newspaper business, and this is the reason for the changeover.

The wolves were doing their best, roaring against the trees, and their howls were a constant reminder of the danger that hung over them. They were a pack of hungry wolves, and they had been driven for miles by the cold night. They were hungry and desperate, and they would not give up.

Lesson for October 2

THE ONE TRUE GOD

There are many things concerning which we do not know. But the wise men and the doctors and the entrepreneurs of thought have given us a few axioms, which we do know to be true. There are three main axioms, the first of which is the axion of the One Creator of All.

The God of our Fathers.

1. The first axion of the One Creator of All,

2. The God of our Fathers.

3. The God of the Jewish Fathers.

Our humanity were a poor thing but for the divinity which stirs within us.—Bacon.

The consequences of violating the axioms of the One Creator of All, and the Ten Commandments,

1. The Ten Commandments.

2. The Ten Commandments.

3. The Ten Commandments.

4. The Ten Commandments.

5. The Ten Commandments.

The lessons begin at the right hand of God, and the only way to deliver the human soul from the clutches of death is to believe in the axioms of the One Creator of All, and to follow the Ten Commandments as the rule and standard of our lives.
