All We Know is What We Hear

(By Rasmitum)

Another Lockney man has need of an education. This week Arthur Barker is in Dallas attending a Ford school. Now we are surprised at this attempt of Arthur's to consume more knowledge about the car Henry made a lady out of, as we thought what Barker didn't know about "Lizzies" had never been learned by any one else. The other auto peddlers won't have a chance in the world when Barker gets back from this school, for the line of "bull" he will be able to peddle will be incomprehensible, and the victim will just have to buy a Ford to get shut of him.

But the "bull" has got away. In the want column will be found an advertisement to locate a certain Jersey bull yearling which has strayed from the home of A. B. Blount, and Mr. Blount is very desirous of finding this bull and returning him to the place where he belongs. Mr. Blount says this bull is a very intelligent animal, and any one seeing such a bull can ascertain whether or not he is the right animal by calling him by his name, which is "U. S. Brasswell." Mr. Blount says he not only answers to the name, but resembles the name sake in many ways. Any one knowing the whereabouts of "U. S. Brasswell, Jr.," will please notify Mr. Blount immediately.

Gilbert also knows "his fish." There is no harm whatsoever in fishing on Sunday, and we know this is true for "Gilbert" says so, and especially if you catch "sixteen (!) fish." Gilbert Huls, local capitalist and head of the Lockney Drug Co., and Gip Hudson, local "capital handler," loaded their fishing utensils into a General Motors product Sunday, and as Monday was a holiday caused by Sam Houston showing Old Santa Anna what Texas was made out of, took a two day spree to inflict their torches upon the finny tribe in the region near the metropolis of Randall county. Every thing went well as far as we can ascertain until they returned home, and Gilbert attempted to induce the people who hang over the cigar case at the aforesaid emporium that the catch of these two ninny-rod were sixteen of the slick and sleek black bass. Now if Gilbert had have passed the matter off by saying that they caught enough fish to quell their appetites, he may have got away with it, but when he tries to poke down the goozles of the gang that infests the popular rendezvous, that is another question, and if Gilbert attempts to put over any such stuff again, without producing the evidence he will be initiated in the Annias club of this city.

You know this life is just "one darn thing after another" and this very fact asserts itself ever so often and especially when a man tries to be fair and square on any proposition that has two sides to the question. We were talking this week with a certain county official, and in the course of the conversation, he stated that he had made the parties on both sides of a certain controversy very sore at him, because he went right ahead and done his duty to both of them, relieving both sides of all the blame possible and letting them off without making it cost them a lot of money; that he had tried to show that he was a friend to both parties and as a result both parties had resented his friendliness, and in other words give him a poke in the neck. We have been on this terrestrial ball for nigh onto forty-five years, we ain't looking for a wife, so we are not ashamed of our age; during that period of our existence we have found that nine times out of ten, a fellow will like you better if you tell him to go straight to hell, than if you try to befriend him when he is in trouble, and as an officer you are forced to intervene. People expect to get it poured on them when they have done something that demands the attention of an officer, and if the officer arrests them just as soon as he can get to them, make them give bond, puts them in jail, and forces them to pay a good fine for their offence, they respect him for it, and thank him for being so nice to them about the matter; but if he tries to be civil and obliging to them, they curse him and say he took his spite out on them. This is a funny old world to say the least of it.

Now comes an individual of sterling character, who has spent many years of peaceable and prosperous life upon the "bailies" and begins to cut such capers as to put the people of this section to begin thinking what it is all about. Johns Casey, retired bachelor for no telling how many hard winters, let alone the hot summers, all of a sudden begins to act queer and start doing things that are plum out of reason for a man of standing in the community. For years Rev. and Mrs. Casey have had no occasion to be uneasy about Johns, and had reached the conclusion that Johns would spend the time until they were summoned beyond in the parental home and when all the other children had married off, they could depend upon this one son as their "main stay." But as we said, things have begun to happen, and those who are nearest and dearest to Johns are becoming uneasy. First, he is preparing to dig a well, and make other improvements on a certain tract of land that he holds in his name; and we are not certain whether he is fixing to resign from the bachelor class, or has gone clean crazy and begun to explore the bowels of the earth in the belief that he may bring forth a gusher of liquid gold. We are rather of the opinion that Johns' trouble will pan out to be a gold mine alright, but one of those that devours three squares a day, and tells the "boss" when and where to head in. Nevertheless, a certain piece of heretofore vacant farm land is going to be improved, and we advise Rev. and Mrs. Casey to seek out some steady and reliable woman who they can depend upon to administer to them during their declining days, as it is said "An old fool is the biggest fool of all," and maybe Johns has been stung with that bee that he has been escaping for lo these many years. However, we are gambling that Johns will be perfectly able to take care of the situation.

Sometimes a fellow will double-cross the newspaperman in order to put one over the other fellow, and we believe that we have unearthed such a problem. Last week C. D. Moseley insinuated to us that a farmer with good sense would not attempt to plant cotton before the 10th of May, and convinced us that was the proper time to plant cotton on the Plains. Now the fact has come to light that C. D. had his eye on the first bale for this year, and while he advised the cotton farmers to plant cotton on and after May 10th, he got busy and planted a few acres early in order to get that first bale premium, but since there are others who have the same thing in view and are keeping their weather-eye on C. D. he is going to have a run for his money. I. W. LaFrance claims that he "knows his cotton" also, and says that C. D. doesn't know the half of the cotton raising business and he also has his cotton planter going and getting the seed that raises the fleecy staple in the ground, and says he will be a contender with C. D. on the first bale item, as well as he is a better cotton farmer in every way. M. D. Arterburn says they are both "big chumps" for fooling with cotton at all, as the way to make money on a farm is to raise other crops and chickens and milk some good cows and market the products in the way of hogs and calves, and lay off that cotton raising. M. D. never raises any cotton, neither does he plant all his farm in wheat, but he manages to get by every year without going in debt. C. D. says that he expects to see six cent cotton before long, but we remind him that a farmer can not live on six cent cotton, and that the cotton speculators know this, and are not going to cut the price so low, as they know if he can't live he can't raise cotton, and they will always keep the price high enough to make him believe he can make good at cotton plant next year, and therefore he will plant more cotton. We will watch with interest this battle to the finish between Moseley and LaFrance as to who is the superior cotton raiser and who gets bale No. 1 this year. Let the dance go on.

PERRYS RETURN TO MAKE LOCKNEY THEIR HOME

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Perry, who have been living at Edinburg, down in the Rio Grande Valley, for the past two years, have returned to Lockney, and Mr. Perry has again assumed his duties as manager of the Woodridge Lumber Co., which position he occupied before he left here and moved to the Valley.

M. L. Williams and family, have moved to Crosbyton, where Mr. Williams will be manager of the Woodridge Lumber Co. at that place.

We regret to see the Williams' leave Lockney, but we are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Pezy back to their former home. They are now living in the Livesay house, just north of the lumber yard.

"HIS FAVORITE DISH"

ABOUT THE OPENING OF HIGHWAY IN PRECINCT 1

The following letter has been received from Uncle Chas. Smith, of the Sand Hill community, in regard to the opening of the highway along the Denver road in Precinct No. 1, the letter is self-explanatory:

Floydada, Texas, Route four, April 19th, 1929, Editor Lockney Beacon, Dear sir,

We note that an election is to be held in Precinct No. 2, Floyd County, to open a highway along the Denver railroad through said precinct. Now we are very much interested in said road and would be glad to see this highway opened all the way from Lubbock to Silverton. This would be a most important road to our county. We would be glad to do all we can to get it through. We think if the people understood more fully all the advantages and the connections it would give us with other roads and the small cost it would entail on the county or the precincts they would not oppose its opening. But for our benefit and others we wish you would give us a full write up of its advantages, its cost, its length through the county. If its proposed to be built by Precincts No. 1 and 2 or by a bond issue on so many miles on each side of the right-of-way, how many quarter sections would be in said territory and how long the bond issue is to run? What would be the probable cost each year to the quarter and such other information as would be explanatory of the whole matter. We understand of course this is not to pave but to open up for us a good direct road along said railroad line.

C. W. SMITH, W. R. DOOLEY.

Williams have moved to Crosbyton, Texas, where he has become manager of the Woodridge Lumber Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown, superintendent of the oil mill, will occupy the Long place, vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Wall.

J. H. Hohaus and family, who have purchased the A. B. Brown home on West 2nd Street, will move to that place next week, and the Browns will move to Lubbock.

LEGISLATURE IN SPECIAL SESSION

Austin, April 22.—Revolt against the Governor's program broke out in the Senate at the special session with a proposed change of rules by which the State appropriations could be taken up before the matters submitted by the Governor.

"The people want us to make provision for the departments and institutions and the orderly carrying on of the State Government. They do not want us to stay around here all summer," declared Senator A. J. Wirtz.

An effort to put the House of Representatives of Texas on record against appointment of former Gov. O. B. Colquitt as member of the Federal Railroad Mediation Board was referred to the Committee on Federal Relations today.

The action was taken after the resolution disapproving of Colquitt's appointment was voted down viva voce and a vote was being taken on the electric voting machine to determine how it stood.

"It is largely a matter of fun, anyway, so far as the speaker is concerned," said Speaker W. S. Barron in stopping the vote and permitting the motion to refer to a committee.

S. E. Barnett of Greenville, author of the resolution, and others did not take it as a joke. Barnett declared Colquitt should not be appointed as a Democrat; that he had not been in accord with the Democrats of the state for thirteen years and could not get indorsement of the Democrats.

Both House and Senate adjourned until Tuesday morning.

The Governor's message to the special session was a short one. He said:

"To the members of the Forty-First Legislature:

"It is my desire to first submit for your consideration subjects under which I believe legislation may be passed that will improve departmental economy and efficiency. Therefore, the following subjects are respectfully submitted for your consideration:

"1. The enactment of laws providing for the concentration of the Texas prison system and the improvement of said system along modern and scientific lines.

"2. The enactment of laws with reference to the handling of prisoners confined in the State penitentiary, including the adoption of an adequate parole law.

"3. The enactment of laws carrying into effect the amendment to Section 8 of Article VII of the Constitution (Board of Education).

"4. The enactment of laws to place the selection of subordinate employees of the State Government upon a merit basis.

"5. The enactment of statutes to abolish the terms of the several District Courts of the State and to provide that such courts may hold sessions in any county of their several districts at any time to be determined by the Judge of such court, and to otherwise simplify and reform the procedure in civil cases. Respectfully submitted,

"DAN MOODY, Governor of Texas."

Location for New School Has Been Selected

Contract Will Be Let for New High School Building On May 7th In Lockney

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Lockney Independent School District the latter part of last week the location for the new high school building was decided upon. The site selected was an eight acre plat of land lying just west of the McKoy addition, in the west part of town, and we understand that the price paid for the land was $1,500. The site is located so that the main residence section of the town is to the east and northeast of the new building, and is said to be on the highest ground in that part of the city. The size of the block of land secured for the school will give ample grounds for the new building and plenty of play ground space for all the athletic associations of the school.

Bids will be received to be opened on May 7th, which will be the final day for the receiving of bids, on which date the contract will be let for the construction of the building.

The bonds have been approved by the state department and the money for the bonds will be on deposit within the next few days, so that work on the new building can be commenced just as soon as the contract is let. The plans for the building have been accepted along the lines as shown here some time ago by the Amarillo contractor.

SCHOOL CONSOLIDATIONS FAILED TO CARRY

In the election held Saturday of last week for the consolidation of the Lone Star and Prairie Chapel school districts, north of Lockney, the returns show that the Lone Star district gave a majority of one for the consolidation, and the Prairie Chapel district defeated the consolidation by a vote of twenty majority, so we are informed. We are also informed that another election is to be called, and the proposition voted on again in the near future.

We are informed that the election for the consolidation of the Sunset and Liberty districts, northeast of Lockney, was not held Saturday, as scheduled, as in some way the tickets for the election failed to arrive in time to be used on that date. What their future intention in regard to the holding of an election is, we have not learned.

ARE YOU IN FAVOR OF HELPING YOURSELF?

When most men are approached upon any certain question, the first thing they want to know is "Of what interest is it to me, and whether or not they will profit from same."

If we started out tomorrow and went to the home of every man in Floyd county and showed him beyond any reasonable doubt that we could sell every acre of his land for five or ten dollars an acre more than he wanted for same, if he wanted to sell the land, he would fall right in with us and would leave no stones unturned in getting ready to dispose of his holdings, because he would consider it to his interest to be in shape to receive the money when the land was transferred.

Precinct No. 2 in Floyd county will vote on road improvements on May 11th, every man living in Precinct No. 2 will be benefitted more than five dollars on every acre of land he has if this road improvement is voted. Land in Floyd county would like far more than five dollars an acre being worth as much as it is today if there were no roads in Precinct No. 2.

pastures and cattle would be grazing over the fields that are now producing crops. There was a day when this was true, but as the people came in they made roads, they built homes, they built schools, they laid out roads and opened them, they got awful mad at the men who did not want the country settled up and tried to keep them from having roads opened where they would be worth something to the country, and so that people living beyond them could go to and from their homes without taking down wire fences and going across pastures. Floyd county has lots of roads, but she needs more roads and better roads. A few years ago if the State of Texas had said to the people of Precinct No. 2 "if you will open a road for us to cross your precinct, we will maintain it for all time," the "old timers" who had much trouble in getting roads opened, and at a great expense would have jumped at the opportunity. The people living in various sections of the county have said to the people of Lockney upon many occasions "we want the road leading to our community worked, put up in good shape," and many times they have expressed their opinion for allowing the roads to get in bad shape, when the town and the commissioner were not to blame any more than the community that wanted the road worked. At various times the business men of the town have made up money to work roads in this precinct, mostly to fill up lake bog-hole, but it is not the towns place to see that the roads are kept up any more than it is the farmers place that lives in the precinct. The town man and the farmers are partners in the precinct business, both are equally responsible for the conditions that exist and one can not do much that will be of value without the help of the other. The commissioner can only take care of the roads in accordance with the amount of road money available for him to work roads with. We have an opportunity at this time to open and turn over to the state a stretch of road across the western part of the county that will be maintained by the state, and the expense other than for opening and grading will be taken off the hands of the county for all time to come. This will mean that the burden upon the commissioner will be lightened, as this road will serve hundreds of people who now have to go in a roundabout way to get to town, or other towns in this section, and it will give the commissioner a chance to make better roads that will intersect this road. Then in regard to the other part of the road improvement program it will allow the people in the northeast part of this precinct to have a direct road to Lockney from South Plains, saving a distance of at least three or four miles, and a first class road to travel over in coming and going from town. Again the people east of town will have a good road, put up in first class shape to use. The people in the Prairie Chapel and Providence communities will have a first class road to Lockney, something that they have not had, and as long as the state of affairs rest as they do at this time, will never have. To the west in the Aiken country the roads must also be included and taken care of. The bond issue is to be used for the purpose of opening and putting up to grade the highway along the Denver Railroad, which will take one-half of the amount asked, the other one-half is to be expended on the lateral roads of the precinct, making some of the roads now in existence into first class roads so that they can be traveled the year round. The expenditures will be made so that they will do the most people the most good possible, and that will mean that the bond issue will be a paying proposition to every foot of land in Precinct No. 2. You would not care to live in one mile of the best school house in West Texas if you could not reach that school, and if you did not have a road from your house to that school. If you lived that close to a school and the people of your community would not build a road to the school that you could travel, you would say that they wasted their money when they built the school. The same thing applies in the road matters in this precinct now, whether you want to help the people in town get good roads in Precinct No. 2 or not, you are hurting yourself worse than you are hurting the town when you refuse to assist to get good roads. You are going to some town every few days, you can't stay out in the country and make a hermit of yourself, you may not want to come to Lockney, but if you don't come to Lockney, you are going to want to go to Floydada, Plainview, Silverton, or some other town; you live in Precinct No. 2 and you are going to travel the roads of Precinct No. 2 whether you want to or not, your car, your wagon, or what ever may be your mode of travel is going to go over the home roads, and if you make a mud hole and keet it, you are the one that will pay for it while it gets worse and worse each time the rain comes. It is your business to better your own conditions, and we people that live in town are willing to help you if you will allow us to. We can refuse to better conditions with more ease than the farmer if we might choose to do so. The Lee highway runs through Lockney, the state maintains it, and we are assured that it will be a first-class dirt road for all time to come. We can get in our cars and get out of the country any time we want to with little or no trouble, because the road is kept in good shape, but the farmer that lives several miles from this highway might have a very hard and costly time reaching it at some seasons of the year. We are trying to tell you that you are hurting your own interests more than do anybody else's when you oppose the things that mean the most to your individual prosperity. Town men are not so particular about having good lateral roads, and there is only one reason that they are willing to go into their pockets and pay special taxes in order to get them, and that is to help the farmer get his products to the markets easily and readily, if the man in the small town like Lockney would oppose all kinds of road building it might mean more dollars in his pocket,

Spring Showing of General Motors Cars.

This week, throughout America, the public is viewing the newest models of General Motors products.

Check and mail the coupon below. It will bring this Spring Showing into your own home.

CHEVROLET—Last year the public bought more than 1,000,000 Chevrolets. This enabled Chevrolet and General Motors to effect one of the most remarkable feats in industrial history: almost overnight, Chevrolet was changed from a 4-cylinder car to a Six in the price range of the five. The new Chevrolet Six is new in every respect: smoother, more powerful, and luxurious bodies by Fisher. 7 models—$525 to $725

OAKLAND—General Motors' policy of continuous improvement is nowhere more noticeable than in the new models of the Oakland All-American Six. The distinctive style and advanced engineering principles which Oakland represents have made it a center of unusual public interest at automobile shows. All-American in name, the new Oakland is All-American in its qualities of speed, snap, power and stamina. Fisher makes the bodies. 8 models—$1145 to $1575

BUICK—This famous member of the General Motors family, year after year, has given increasing value. Over 2,000,000 Buicks have been built and sold and of this total 1,500,000 are still serving their owners. The new Silver Anniversary Buick, with masterpiece Bodies by Fisher, comes in three wheel-base lengths. All are powered by the Buick Valve-in-Head engine, which is vibrationless beyond belief. 19 models—$1195 to $2145

PONTIAC—Since General Motors introduced the Pontiac Six three years ago, its sales have practically doubled each year. Now General Motors offers, in the new Pontiac, a "Big Six," at the same base price. It has big-car power, big-car performance and big-car luxury in the Bodies by Fisher. It is appealing particularly to families which are "stepping up" in car ownership. 7 models—$745 to $895

VIKING—There was demand for an 8-cylinder car of General Motors quality in the medium price field. General Motors chose Oldsmobile to design and build the new car, and three years were spent in its development and test. The result was revealed last month in the Viking, the latest member of the General Motors family. Viking has the world-famous 90-degree V-type engine and Fisher's newest creations in bodies. 3 models—$1595

LASALLE—When General Motors introduced LaSalle, two years ago, it set a style which was widely copied both in America and Europe. The new models are as distinguished as the first. Built by Cadillac, LaSalle enjoys the same mechanical excellence: 90-degree V-type engine of 8 cylinders, transmission that permits gear shifting without noise or clashing at any speed. The bodies, by Fisher and Fleetwood, offer a choice of colors to express individuality. 14 models—$1295 to $4900

OLDSMOBILE—General Motors took this long-established car and remade it to provide a fine car at low price. Last year the value of Oldsmobile was so marked that the public bought over 50 per cent more than the year before. The new Oldsmobile models, with Bodies by Fisher, offer still further improvements—and the prices have been reduced! Oldsmobile also has new Special and De Luxe models, with extra features, at slightly higher prices. 7 models—$875 to $1035 et, for first, he would save the extra taxation, and that means a great deal, for the man owning town property and the industries with headquarters in the town pay more than 50% of all road taxes in Precinct No. 2; second, if there were no roads, highways, or lateral roads that could be traveled easily, the farmers would be forced to go to the nearest town they could reach to do their trading, and the merchants of the little towns would have considerably more business than they now have. We contend that the farmer is the man that needs the road improvements that are asked for in the bond election to be held on May 11th.

SOMETHING ELSE TO BE THANKFUL FOR

Not long ago, I wrote about something to be thankful for. Now I shall write about something else to be thankful for.

You know we seldom think of the Bible and what it has done for us. But if you were asked what the most potent influence in forming our present civilization has been, you would have to admit that the Bible and the religion that it conveys, has been the influence that has had most to do with it. Religion is the most influential thing that has ever been upon the earth. No other thing has had so much influence upon our civilization, our art, our lives, as religion has. We can see religion in great paintings, in great books, and in great lives. It has permeated all our civilization.

Do you think that our civilization would have been of as high degree as it now is if we had not had faith in a superhuman power to direct us? I am sure that we will have to admit that man has no hope, no ambition, and no joy without religion. It is a question as to whether man can live without religion. Every race has its religion, and the civilization of the various races differs with their religion.

Some one has said that man is not made for religion, but religion for man.

Now I come to my subject—something to be thankful for. We should be thankful for the fact that we have the true religion. Look at our civilization, and then look at that of pagan peoples.

Recently I heard Bro. J. S. Kelly, a missionary who went to India in 1897, preach at the West Side Church of Christ. This man knows the Indians, and the filth, squalor and ignorance of their lives and it was certainly a treat to hear him tell of conditions of that far away country. We, who have traveled little, can hardly realize that there is such a country and that three-fourths of the world's population lives there and in adjacent territories. He told of the almost incredible conditions of the towns, where the inhabitants are so crowded that they die with dreadful and contagious diseases. He said, "I have seen those poor heathen dying like rats in those awful holes of filth." He told us that some of those natives lived on less than a dollar a month, but he said that he would not attempt to tell us how they did it.

He said that, according to their religion, certain places are designated as "holy." For instance, the Ganges is a holy river, but anything less holy could not be imagined, he said. The millions of people who bathe in its waters annually leave it indescribably filthy. Almost certainly the bather will catch some contagious disease and die a loathsome death amid the filth and poverty of the cities. There are very few places where civilization has a lower standard than in those countries where these man-made religions prevail. So we ought to be "exceedingly joyful" that we have a perfect religion.

And if any one should say that our religion is not perfect because our civilization is not, we can say with truth that it is not the fault of our religion, but the weakness of humanity, that keeps us from having a Utopian civilization.

The Gas

Many people have died
 From stepping on rusty nails; alas
 But not so many as
 From stepping on the gas.

SENIORS TO HAVE SENIOR DAY

The seniors met in the science lecture room at three-fifteen o'clock Monday afternoon to make preparations for Senior Day. This is a day to which all boys and girls look forward from the day they enter high school. It is a day given the seniors to celebrate their fast ending school days. This is the one day when seniors realize that they are the privileged characters of high school. So the Senior Class of '29 are planning to enjoy themselves one day next week. Miss Thomas, their sponsor, will chaperone them. The seniors wish to express their gratitude and thanks to Mr. Biggers and Miss Thomas, who made this day of entertainment possible.

Among the Sands of English III

"Miss Bridges, go and call the students home,
 And call the students home,
 And call the students home,
 To the sands of English III."
 The English themes were wild and dark with D's
 And all alone went she.

The tide of themes crept up along her desk,
 And o'er and o'er her desk,
 And round and round her desk,
 As far as eye could see.
 A mist of posters came up and hid her desk
 And never out came she.

Oh! Is it her ability or talent there,
 Her golden talent there,
 Miss Bridge's talent there,
 Alone the themes I see?
 Was never teacher yet that shone so fair
 Among the sands of English III.

They brought her in from out the themes
 The cruel crawling themes
 The cruel galling themes
 To her home with English III.
 But still we hear her call "Themes! Themes!"
 Among the sands of English III.

SOLILOQUY OF A GRADUATE

Years ago I thought I would be very happy the day that I bade my Alma Mater goodbye, but a few months ago I wished that I could be just "a little child" forever.

Is it really true that I must be grown up? Must I now share a responsibility as men and women are doing? My teachers, father, and mother say that I must. And a little imp or elf of some kind is standing on my left shoulder, whispering a little message something like this:

"How could the world have progressed had it not been for men and women, who grasped every opportunity to better the conditions of inhabitants of the earth? The characters that have made the United States what it is should be inspiring to any 'lagging' or 'lazy' person. The boys and girls of today are the men and women of tomorrow. If all boys and girls were to not share any responsibility in the progress of civilization, the nation would be on a downward course to isolation and anarchy. So cheer up, my graduates, for there are thrills in being a man or woman the same as being a boy or girl."

These were the words of the little elf, so I am now resolving to bid a cheerful farewell to my school and my teachers. I am going to face the world with far-seeing eyes and a light step, yet I am going to devote my life to the betterment of my fellowman. So farewell, dear Alma Mater; I want to honor you and make you proud of me. Some day when I reach the "last rung in the ladder," I will proclaim to the world that my Alma Mater and its instructors were the "first rungs in the ladder" that led upward to my success.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

This permanent message to the Public is one that we are more than pleased to hand out. It is a message of mutual benefit between our store and customers. It is a well known fact that we must have our Home Merchants and they must have enough profit to hold up or go out of business. We have been in the grocery business ten years and have tried to sell goods on a live and let live basis, which you all should believe, as we have stayed with our trade with our means and you have been the means of our staying, thereby all of us have been made the better by it. It does no good for people to go broke, but only creates a loss to all parties concerned and creates a cloud on the financial sky of the merchants that survive, and seldom ever the flaming walls of time can erase. Then if you, who see your way clear, can co-operate with us in our business, we will endeavor at all times to be your friend as you are ours, there will come to pass the Proverb: "Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for friends to walk and dwell together in unity."

KNOW TEXAS

Most of the Texas honey crop comes from cotton blossoms and the millions of acres of cotton put Texas in second place in honey production, exceeded only by California.

Texas leads the United States in the number of domestic livestock animals on farms and ranches.

Two Texas counties—Brazoria and Matagorda—furnish most of the world's sulphur.

In addition to the public schools and state supported higher institutions of learning, there are in Texas more than 100 educational institutions of university, college, and sub-college rank supported by churches, private individuals and endowments.

Brewster—with an area of 3,798,400 acres—is the largest Texas county.

"Electricity Brings Increased Comfort"

Says Herbert Hoover, President of the United States:

"We are in the midst of a great transformation in the development of electric power—it is reducing the burden of human toil; it is increasing productivity; it is bringing increased comfort to our people."

What each workman in the United States can do with his hands is multiplied ten times by the electric power he uses. Sixty-eight million people are also using labor-saving electrical devices in their homes.

Electrical service has its greatest value because it is delivered at the time and place where it is needed. That is what ELECTRICAL SERVICE means, and the foresight and enterprise of the country's light and power companies have helped make it possible.

Because power companies built power plants and transmission lines that would take care of the growing demand for service many years in advance, every new electrical invention has found an abundance of power ready to serve it. Now even the small communities get electrical service through interconnected power systems.

Enthusiastic public acceptance has done much to help build this electrical service. These million investors own the securities of electric power companies and the whole public has benefited from greater service made possible through increased use of labor-saving devices.

To insure the complete fulfillment of the promise of comfort and happiness which electricity offers, the American principle of individual initiative must be maintained.

A trial in your own home will convince you of the truth that "money cannot buy a finer washer." Haag quality is nationally famous—and the Haag Vortex is Haag's supreme achievement.

HOOVER ASKS ENFORCEMENT OF ALL LAWS

New York, April 22.—President Hoover today at a luncheon here called upon the press of the Nation to throw its influence unreservedly into the fight for law enforcement.

He asked for a quickening of the public conscience on the whole problem of lawlessness. He represented prohibition enforcement as merely a part of the problem, declaring that only 8 per cent of felony convictions last year came from that source.

"Its solution," he said, referring to the problems of law enforcement, "is more vital to the preservation of our institutions than any other question before us.

"If law can be upheld only by enforcement officers, then our scheme of government is at an end.

"No individual has the right to determine what law shall be obeyed and what law shall not be enforced.

"If a law is wrong, its rigid enforcement is the surest guaranty of its repeal. If it is right, its enforcement is the quickest method of compelling respect for it.

"The duty to enforce the laws rests upon every public official and the duty to obey it rests upon every citizen."

The President's address, his first since he entered the White House March 4, was delivered at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press, at the Waldorf. His audience was composed almost entirely of newspaper editors and publishers, representing every section of the country.

Like the measure to Congress last week, President Hoover's address was brief. Its 2,000 words dealt with but one subject.

MISSISSIPPI AT HIGHEST IN HISTORY

National Guard Is Called Out and Dynamiting Begun

Helena, Ark., April 22.—A private levee along the bank side of the Mississippi, eight miles above Laconia, Ark., broke shortly before 10 a. m. today and loosened flood waters of the White River, the district engineer's office here reported.

Backwaters of the White River were pouring through a 150-foot break above Laconia. The engineer's office here estimated there were 1,500 to 2,000 persons within the area which will be flooded by the break.

Quincy, Ill., April 22.—The Mississippi River reached its highest point in history here today when it rose to twenty-one feet. Fully 500 men residing along the levee district were rushed to strategic points to strengthen weakened levees, as word that the Mississippi was on another rampage—the third of this spring—was flashed along sixty miles of levee front.

Answering the plea of officers here, Adj. Gen. Carlos Black today ordered out Company G, Illinois National Guard Infantry of Quincy. The troop was assigned to South Quincy district, where the water is within a foot of the levee top.

St. Louis, Mo., April 22.—The Mississippi River will reach the highest flood stage in seventy-five years, United States Weather Bureau observes and veteran rivermen in this vicinity predicted today after a survey of stages of tributaries showed extensive rains had caused serious floods in Canton and other Missouri points.

A Mississippi River levee was dynamited in an effort to divert the Fabius River flood away from the Quincy (Ill.) dikes, weakening rapidly the extensive improvements completed there since the 1927 Mississippi flood.

Over Fifty Homes Are Already Under Water

Canton, Mo., April 22.—With more than fifty homes already under water from crumbling Mississippi River levees and highway and rail traffic virtually paralyzed, residents in bottom lands have prepared for the worst flood in seventy-five years, predicted by United States Weather Bureau observers.

The waters continued to rise today, rapidly increasing the area under water as they neared a crest expected some time this afternoon.

No loss of life was reported and authorities were moving families from homes within the danger zone.

SPEARMAN ELECTION AS HANSFORD SEAT IS POPULAR RESULT

Spearman, April 22.—The county seat election held in Hansford county Saturday resulted in Spearman winning with 74 votes over the necessary two-thirds majority.

Votes were, Spearman 876, Gruver 390, Hansford 11. This was the 4th election held since 1922.

January, 1922, Spearman failed by 15 votes in getting the two-thirds majority. In March, 1927, it failed 15 votes. In August, 1928, it carried under a new law where a majority vote alone was necessary for Spearman but later was ruled out by the courts. Good feeling prevailed all through the election. John Collard, R. W. Morton, S. B. Hale, and others have waged a long fight for Spearman, dating over a period of several years. Everyone seems well pleased with the results.

You Need Never Guess What Happens to Your Grain

THE NEXT time you see a Case combine at work, you will notice two things. It works along steadily with no delays. The operator seems to have little to do, and yet he knows that every head of grain is being cut, threshed, cleaned and saved.

He has only two points to watch—the header and the recleaner. Finger movements keep the header at the proper cutting height. An occasional glance at the recleaner tells him just how the separating and cleaning mechanism is operating. Here's why there is no guess work about cleaning and saving grain with a Case combine:

1. It has a four section, balanced straw rack, with a combined rotary and vibrating movement that completely separates the grain from the straw.

2. The straw rack is made of sheet steel, with no joints or cracks to collect beads or chaff that cut off part of the separating area.

3. Two counterbalanced, corrugated grain pans, extending under the complete separating mechanism, deliver the grain evenly to the shoe, whether traveling up hill or down.

4. To insure thorough cleaning, two highly efficient cleaning shoes are provided. The second, or recleaner, is placed under the eyes of the operator where it furnishes him with a constant, accurate check on threshing, separating and cleaning.

With a Case combine, you need never guess what happens to your grain. And more, the Case combine lasts so long that it pays for itself many times over. This is worth investigating. Let's talk it over the next time you're in town.

There is a Case combine for every farm, four months'—width of cut from 8 to 20 ft.

What is the "Carcass" of a TIRE?

You can't see it—yet it largely decides how long a tire will last.

The "carcass" of a tire is the body composed of plies of cord fabric. It is continually being flexed, bent and punched between the road and the wheel.

It has to be built of elastic cords, cords that can stretch and "come back" repeatedly. The more elastic these cords and the more stretch they stand before breaking—the more miles of trouble-free service you get.

Repairing all kinds of tires, as we do, has shown us the great superiority of the SUPER-TWIST cords used in Goodyear tires. SUPER-TWIST cords—patented by Goodyear—stretch 60% further than regular cord, flex and recover almost limitlessly. They make early blowouts, sidewall breaks, etc., almost a curiosity. Even after long service, when an ordinary "good" tire would be broken down, the average SUPER-TWIST body is still lively, sound and worth repairing or retreading.

It hurts the repair business to sell Goodyears, but it makes us a lot of friends.

- 4. Roller and Ball Bearings. Light draft and long life result from the use of high-grade bearings at all friction points.
- 5. Easy to Oil. High-pressure grease gun oiling system makes oiling a swift and easy job.
